be rooted out.⁵ The imperfect branches shall be broken off, their fruit unprofitable, not ripe to eat, yea, meet for nothing.⁶ For children begotten of unlawful beds are witnesses of wickedness against their parents in their trial.⁷ But though the righteous be prevented with death, yet shall he be in rest.⁸ For honourable age is not that which stands in length of time, nor that is measured by number of years.⁹ But wisdom is the gray hair to men, and an unspotted life is old age.¹⁰ He pleased Alahayam, and was beloved of him: so that living among sinners he was translated.¹¹ Yea speedily was he taken away, lest that wickedness should alter his understanding, or deceit beguile his soul.¹² For the bewitching of naughtiness does obscure things that are honest; and the wandering of concupiscence does undermine the simple mind.¹³ He, being made perfect in a short time, fulfilled a long time:¹⁴ For his soul pleased the Adanay: therefore hastened he to take him away from among the wicked.¹⁵ This the people saw, and understood it not, neither laid they up this in their minds, That his grace and mercy is with his saints, and that he has respect to his chosen.¹⁶ Thus the righteous that is dead shall condemn the ungodly which are living; and youth that is soon perfected the many years and old age of the unrighteous.¹⁷ For they shall see the end of the wise, and shall not understand what Alahayam in his counsel has decreed of him, and to what end the Adanay has set him in safety.¹⁸ They shall see him, and despise him; but Alahayam shall laugh them to scorn: and they shall hereafter be a vile carcase, and a reproach among the dead for evermore.¹⁹ For he shall rend them, and cast them down headlong, that they shall be speechless; and he shall shake them from the foundation; and they shall be utterly laid waste, and be in sorrow; and their memorial shall perish.²⁰ And when they cast up the accounts of their sins, they shall come with fear: and their own iniquities shall convince them to their face.

5 Then shall the righteous man stand in great boldness before the face of such as have afflicted him, and made no account of his labours.² When they see it, they shall be troubled with terrible fear, and shall be amazed at the strangeness of his salvation, so far beyond all that they looked for.³ And they repenting and groaning for anguish of spirit shall say within themselves, This was he, whom we had sometimes in derision, and a proverb of reproach:⁴ We fools accounted his life madness, and his end to be without honour:⁵ How is he numbered among the children of Alahayam, and his lot is among the saints!⁶ Therefore have we erred from the way of truth, and the light of righteousness has not shined to us, and the sun of righteousness rose not upon us.⁷ We wearied ourselves in the way of wickedness and destruction: yea, we have gone through deserts, where there lay no way: but as for the way of the Adanay, we have not known it.⁸ What has pride profited us? or what good has riches with our vaunting brought us?⁹ All those things are passed away like a shadow, and as a post that hastened by;¹⁰ And as a ship that passes over the waves of the water, which when it is gone by, the trace thereof cannot be found, neither the pathway of the keel in the waves;¹¹ Or as when a bird has flown through the air, there is no token of her way to be found, but the light air being beaten with the stroke of her wings and parted with the violent noise and motion of them, is passed through, and therein afterwards no sign where she went is to be found;¹² Or like as when an arrow is shot at a mark, it parts the air, which immediately comes together again, so that a man cannot know where it went through:¹³ Even so we in like manner, as soon as we were born, began to draw to our end, and had no sign of virtue to show; but were consumed in our own wickedness.¹⁴ For the hope of the ungodly is like dust that is blown away with the wind; like a thin froth that is driven away with the storm; like as the smoke which is dispersed here and there with a tempest, and passes away as the remembrance of a guest that tarries but a day.¹⁵ But the righteous live for evermore; their reward also is with the Adanay, and the care of them is with the most High.¹⁶ Therefore shall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautiful crown from the Adanay's hand: for with his right hand shall he cover them, and with his arm shall he protect them.¹⁷ He shall take to him his jealousy for complete armour, and make the creature his weapon for the revenge of his enemies.¹⁸ He shall put on righteousness as a breastplate, and true judgment instead of an helmet.¹⁹ He shall take holiness for an invincible shield.²⁰ His severe wrath shall he sharpen for a sword, and the world shall fight with him against the unwise.²¹ Then shall the right aiming thunderbolts go abroad; and from the clouds, as from a well drawn bow, shall they fly to the mark.²² And hailstones full of wrath shall be cast as out of a stone bow, and the water of the sea shall rage against them, and the floods shall cruelly drown them.²³ Yea, a mighty wind shall stand up against them, and like a storm shall blow them away: thus iniquity shall lay waste the whole earth, and ill dealing shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

6 Hear therefore, O you kings, and understand; learn, you that be judges of the ends of the earth.² Give ear, you that rule the people, and glory in the multitude of nations.³ For power is given you of the Adanay, and sovereignty from the Highest, who shall try your works, and search out your counsels.⁴ Because, being ministers of his kingdom, you have not judged aright, nor kept the law, nor walked after the counsel of Alahayam;⁵ Horribly and speedily shall he come upon you: for a sharp judgment shall be to them that be in high places.⁶ For mercy will soon pardon the mean: but mighty men shall be mightily tormented.⁷ For he which is Adanay over all shall fear no man's person, neither shall he stand in awe of any man's greatness: for he has made the small and great, and cares for all alike.⁸ But a sore trial shall come upon the mighty.⁹ To you therefore, O kings, do I speak, that you may learn wisdom, and not fall away.¹⁰ For they that keep holiness holily shall be judged holy: and they that have learned such things shall find what to answer.¹¹ Therefore set your affection upon my words; desire them, and you shall be instructed.¹² Wisdom is glorious, and never fades away: yea, she is easily seen of them that love her, and found of such as seek her.¹³ She prevents them that desire her, in making herself first known to them.¹⁴ Whoso seeks her early shall have no great travail: for he shall find her sitting at his doors.¹⁵ To think therefore upon her is perfection of wisdom: and whoso watches for her shall quickly be without care.¹⁶ For she goes about seeking such as are worthy of her, shows herself favourably to them in the ways, and meets them in every thought.¹⁷ For the very true beginning of her is the desire of discipline; and the care of discipline is love;¹⁸ And love is the keeping of her laws; and the giving heed to her laws is the assurance of incorruption;¹⁹ And incorruption makes us near to Alahayam:²⁰ Therefore the desire of wisdom brings to a kingdom.²¹ If your delight be then in thrones and sceptres, O you kings of the people, honour wisdom, that you may reign for evermore.²² As for wisdom, what she is, and how she came up, I will tell you, and will not hide mysteries from you: but will seek her out from the beginning of her nativity, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not pass over the truth.²³ Neither will I go with consuming envy; for such a man shall have no fellowship with wisdom.²⁴ But the multitude of the wise is the welfare of the world: and a wise king is the upholding of the people.²⁵ Receive therefore instruction through my words, and it shall do you good.

7 I myself also am a mortal man, like to all, and the offspring of him that was first made of the earth,² And in my mother's womb was fashioned to be flesh in the time of ten months, being compacted in blood, of the seed of man, and the pleasure that came with sleep.³ And when I was born, I drew in the common air, and fell upon the earth, which is of like nature, and the first voice which I uttered was crying, as all others do.⁴ I was nursed in swaddling clothes, and that with cares.⁵ For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.⁶ For all men have one entrance into life, and the like going out.⁷ Therefore I prayed, and understanding was given me: I called upon Alahayam, and the spirit of wisdom came to me.⁸ I preferred her before sceptres and thrones, and esteemed riches nothing in comparison of her.⁹ Neither compared I to her any precious stone, because all gold in respect of her is as a little sand, and silver shall be counted as clay before her.¹⁰ I loved her above health and beauty, and chose to have her instead of light: for the light that comes from her never goes out.¹¹ All good things together came to me with her, and innumerable riches in her hands.¹² And I rejoiced in them all, because wisdom goes before them: and I knew not that she was the mother of them.¹³ I learned diligently, and do communicate her liberally: I do not hide her riches.¹⁴ For she is a treasure to men that never fails: which they that use become the friends of Alahayam, being commended for the gifts that come from learning.¹⁵ Alahayam has granted me to speak as I would, and to conceive as is meet for the things that are given me: because it is he that leads to wisdom, and directeth the wise.¹⁶ For in his hand are both we and our words; all wisdom also, and knowledge of workmanship.¹⁷ For he has given me certain knowledge of the things that are, namely, to know how the world was made, and the operation of the elements:¹⁸ The beginning, ending, and midst of the times: the alterations of the turning of the sun, and the change of seasons:¹⁹ The circuits of years, and the positions of stars:²⁰ The natures of living creatures, and the furies of wild beasts: the violence of winds, and the reasonings of men: the diversities of plants and the virtues of roots.²¹ And all such things as are either secret or manifest, them I know.²² For wisdom, which is the worker of all things, taught me: for in her is an understanding spirit holy, one only, manifold, subtil, lively, clear, undefiled, plain, not subject to hurt, loving the thing that is good quick, which cannot be letted, ready to do good,²³ Kind to man, steadfast, sure, free from care, having all power, overseeing all things, and going through all understanding, pure, and most subtil, spirits.²⁴ For wisdom is more moving than any motion: she passes and goes through all things by reason of her pureness.²⁵ For she is the breath of the power of Alahayam, and a pure influence flowing from the glory of the Shaday: therefore can no defiled thing fall into her.²⁶ For she is the brightness of the everlasting light, the unspotted mirror of the power of Alahayam, and the image of his goodness.²⁷ And being but one, she can do all things: and remaining in herself, she makes all things new: and in all ages entering into holy souls, she makes them friends of Alahayam, and prophets.²⁸ For Alahayam loves none but him that dwells with wisdom.²⁹ For she is more beautiful than the sun, and above all the order of stars: being compared with the light, she is found before it.³⁰ For after this comes night: but vice shall not prevail against wisdom.

8 Wisdom reacheth from one end to another mightily: and sweetly does she order all things.² I loved her, and sought her out from my youth, I desired to make her my spouse, and I was a lover of her beauty.³ In that she is conversant with Alahayam, she magnifies her nobility: yea, the Adanay of all things himself loved her.⁴ For she is privy to the mysteries of the knowledge of Alahayam, and a lover of his works.⁵ If riches be a possession to be desired in this life; what is richer than wisdom, that works all things?⁶ And if prudence work; who of all that are is a more cunning workman than she?⁷ And if a man love righteousness her labours are virtues: for she teaches temperance and prudence, justice and fortitude: which are such things, as men can have nothing more profitable in their life.⁸ If a man desire much experience, she knows things of old, and conjectureth aright what is to come: she knows the subtilties of speeches, and can expound dark sentences: she foreseeeth signs and wonders, and the events of seasons and times.⁹ Therefore I purposed to take her to me to live with me, knowing that she would be a counsellor of good things, and a comfort in cares and grief.¹⁰ For her sake I shall have estimation among the multitude, and honour with the elders, though I be young.¹¹ I shall be found of a quick conceit in judgment, and shall be admired in the sight of great men.¹² When I hold my tongue, they shall bide my leisure, and when I speak, they shall give good ear to me: if I talk much, they shall lay their hands upon their mouth.¹³ Moreover by the means of her I shall obtain immortality, and leave behind me an everlasting memorial to them that come after me.¹⁴ I shall set the people in order, and the nations shall be subject to me.¹⁵ Horrible tyrants shall be afraid, when they do but hear of me; I shall be found good among the multitude, and valiant in war.¹⁶ After I am come into mine house, I will repose myself with her: for her conversation has no bitterness; and to live with her has no sorrow, but mirth and joy.¹⁷ Now when I considered these things in myself, and pondered them in my heart, how that to be allied to wisdom is immortality;¹⁸ And great pleasure it is to have her friendship; and in the works of her hands are infinite riches; and in the exercise of conference with her, prudence; and in talking with her, a good report; I went about seeking how to take her to me.¹⁹ For I was a witty child, and had a good spirit.²⁰ Yea rather, being good, I came into a body undefiled.²¹ Nevertheless, when I perceived that I could not otherwise obtain her, except Alahayam gave her me; and that was a point of wisdom also to know whose gift she was; I prayed to the Adanay, and besought him, and with my whole heart I said,

9 O Alahayam of my fathers, and Adanay of mercy, who have made all things with your word,² And ordained man through your wisdom, that he should have dominion over the creatures which you have made,³ And order the world according to equity and righteousness, and execute judgment with an upright heart:⁴ Give me wisdom, that sits by your throne; and reject me not from among your children:⁵ For I your servant and son of your handmaid am a feeble person, and of a short time, and too young for the understanding of judgment and laws.⁶ For though a man be never so perfect among the children of men, yet if your wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.⁷ You have chosen me to be a king of your people, and a judge of your sons and daughters:⁸ You have commanded me to build a temple upon your holy mount, and an altar in the city wherein you dwell, a resemblance of the holy tabernacle, which you have prepared from the beginning.⁹ And wisdom was with you: which knows your works, and was present when you made the world, and knew what was acceptable in your sight, and right in your commandments.¹⁰ O send her out of your holy heavens, and from the throne of your glory, that being present she may labour with me, that I may know what is pleasing to you.¹¹ For she knows and understands all things, and she shall lead me soberly in my doings, and preserve me in her power.¹² So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I judge your people righteously, and be worthy to sit in my father's seat.¹³ For what man is he that can know the counsel of Alahayam? or who can think what the will of the Adanay is?¹⁴ For the thoughts of mortal men are miserable, and our devices are but uncertain.¹⁵ For the corruptible body presseth down the soul, and the earthy tabernacle weighs down the mind that museth upon many things.¹⁶ And hardly do we guess aright at things that are upon earth, and with labour do we find the things that are before us: but the things that are in heaven who has searched out?¹⁷ And your counsel who has known, except you give wisdom, and send your Holy Spirit from above?¹⁸ For so the ways of them which lived on the earth were reformed, and men were taught the things that are pleasing to you, and were saved through wisdom.

10 She preserved the first formed father of the world, that was created alone, and brought him out of his fall,² And gave him power to rule all things.³ But when the unrighteous went away from her in his anger, he perished also in the fury wherewith he murdered his brother.⁴ For whose cause the earth being drowned with the flood, wisdom again preserved it, and directed the course of the righteous in a piece of wood of small value.⁵ Moreover, the nations in their wicked conspiracy being confounded, she found out the righteous, and preserved him blameless to Alahayam, and kept him strong against his tender compassion toward his son.⁶ When the ungodly perished, she delivered the righteous man, who fled from the fire which fell down upon the five cities.⁷ Of whose wickedness even to this day the waste land that smoketh is a testimony, and plants bearing fruit that never come to ripeness; and a standing pillar of salt is a monument of an unbelieving soul.⁸ For regarding not wisdom, they gat not only this hurt, that they knew not the things which were good; but also left behind them to the world a memorial of their foolishness: so that in the things wherein they offended they could not so much as be hid.⁹ But wisdom delivered from pain those that attended upon her.¹⁰ When the righteous fled from his brother's wrath she guided him in right paths, showed him the kingdom of Alahayam, and gave him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his travels, and multiplied the fruit of his labours.¹¹ In the covetousness of such as oppressed him she stood by him, and made him rich.¹² She defended him from his enemies, and kept him safe from those that lay in wait, and in a sore conflict she gave him the victory; that he might know that goodness is stronger than all.¹³ When the righteous was sold, she forsook him not, but delivered him from sin: she went down with him into the pit,¹⁴ And left him not in bonds, till she brought him the sceptre of the kingdom, and power against those that oppressed him: as for them that had accused him, she showed them to be liars, and gave him perpetual glory.¹⁵ She delivered the righteous people and blameless seed from the nation that oppressed them.¹⁶ She entered into the soul of the servant of the Adanay, and withstood dreadful kings in wonders and signs;¹⁷ Rendered to the righteous a reward of their labours, guided them in a marvellous way, and was to them for a cover by day, and a light of stars in the night season;¹⁸ Brought them through the Sawap, and led them through much water:¹⁹ But she drowned their enemies, and cast them up out of the bottom of the deep.²⁰ Therefore the righteous spoiled the ungodly, and praised your holy name, O Adanay, and magnified with one accord your hand, that fought for them.²¹ For wisdom opened the mouth of the dumb, and made the tongues of them that cannot speak eloquent.

11 She prospered their works in the hand of the holy prophet.² They went through the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched tents in places where there lay no way.³ They stood against their enemies, and were avenged of their adversaries.⁴ When they were thirsty, they called upon you, and water was given them out of the flinty rock, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.⁵ For by what things their enemies were punished, by the same they in their need were benefited.⁶ For instead of a perpetual running river troubled with foul blood,⁷ For a manifest reproof of that commandment, whereby the infants were slain, you gave to them abundance of water by a means which they hoped not for:⁸ Declaring by that thirst then how you had punished their adversaries.⁹ For when they were tried albeit but in mercy chastised, they knew how the ungodly were judged in wrath and tormented, thirsting in another manner than the just.¹⁰ For these you did admonish and try, as a father: but the other, as a severe king, you did condemn and punish.¹¹ Whether they were absent or present, they were vexed alike.¹² For a double grief came upon them, and a groaning for the remembrance of things past.¹³ For when they heard by their own punishments the other to be benefited, they had some feeling of the Adanay.¹⁴ For whom they respected with scorn, when he was long before thrown out at the casting forth of the infants, him in the end, when they saw what came to pass, they admired.¹⁵ But for the foolish devices of their wickedness, wherewith being deceived they worshipped serpents void of reason, and vile beasts, you did send a multitude of unreasonable beasts upon them for vengeance;¹⁶ That they might know, that wherewithal a man sins, by the same also shall he be punished.¹⁷ For your Shaday hand, that made the world of matter without form, wanted not means to send among them a multitude of bears or fierce lions,¹⁸ Or unknown wild beasts, full of rage, newly created, breathing out either a fiery vapour, or filthy scents of scattered smoke, or shooting horrible sparkles out of their eyes:¹⁹ Whereof not only the harm might dispatch them at once, but also the terrible sight utterly destroy them.²⁰ Yea, and without these might they have fallen down with one blast, being persecuted of vengeance, and scattered abroad through the breath of your power: but you have ordered all things in measure and number and weight.²¹ For you can show your great strength at all times when you will; and who may withstand the power of your arm?²² For the whole world before you is as a little grain of the balance, yea, as a drop of the morning dew that falls down upon the earth.²³ But you have mercy upon all; for you can do all things, and winkest at the sins of men, because they should amend.²⁴ For you love all the things that are, and abhorrest nothing which you have made: for never would you have made any thing, if you had hated it.²⁵ And how could any thing have endured, if it had not been your will? or been preserved, if not called by you?²⁶ But you sparest all: for they are your, O Adanay, you lover of souls.

12 For your incorruptible Spirit is in all things.² Therefore chastenest you them by little and little that offend, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance wherein they have offended, that leaving their wickedness they may believe on you, O Adanay.³ For it was your will to destroy by the hands of our fathers both those old inhabitants of your holy land,⁴ Whom you hatedst for doing most odious works of witchcrafts, and wicked sacrifices;⁵ And also those merciless murderers of children, and devourers of man's flesh, and the feasts of blood,⁶ With their priests out of the midst of their idolatrous crew, and the parents, that killed with their own hands souls destitute of help:⁷ That the land, which you esteemedst above all other, might receive a worthy colony of Alahayam's children.⁸ Nevertheless even those you sparedst as men, and did send wasps, forerunners of your host, to destroy them by little and little.⁹ Not that you were unable to bring the ungodly under the hand of the righteous in battle, or to destroy them at once with cruel beasts, or with one rough word:¹⁰ But executing your judgments upon them by little and little, you gave them place of repentance, not being ignorant that they were a naughty generation, and that their malice was bred in them, and that their cogitation would never be changed.¹¹ For it was a cursed seed from the beginning; neither did you for fear of any man give them pardon for those things wherein they sinned.¹² For who shall say, What have you done? or who shall withstand your judgment? or who shall accuse you for the nations that perish, whom you made? or who shall come to stand against you, to be revenged for the unrighteous men?¹³ For neither is there any Alahayam but you that cares for all, to whom you might show that your judgment is not unright.¹⁴ Neither shall king or tyrant be able to set his face against you for any whom you have punished.¹⁵ Forsomuch then as you are righteous yourself, you order all things righteously: thinking it not agreeable with your power to condemn him that has not deserved to be punished.¹⁶ For your power is the beginning of righteousness, and because you are the Adanay of all, it makes you to be gracious to all.¹⁷ For when men will not believe that you are of a full power, you show your strength, and among them that know it you make their boldness manifest.¹⁸ But you, mastering your power, judge with equity, and order us with great favour: for you may use power when you will.¹⁹ But by such works have you taught your people that the just man should be merciful, and have made your children to be of a good hope that you give repentance for sins.²⁰ For if you did punish the enemies of your children, and the condemned to death, with such deliberation, giving them time and place, whereby they might be delivered from their malice:²¹ With how great circumspection did you judge your own sons, to whose fathers you have sworn, and made covenants of good promises?²² Therefore, whereas you do chasten us, you scourgest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that, when we judge, we should carefully think of your goodness, and when we ourselves are judged, we should look for mercy.²³ Therefore, whereas men have lived dissolutely and unrighteously, you have tormented them with their own abominations.²⁴ For they went astray very far in the ways of error, and held them for gods, which even among the beasts of their enemies were despised, being deceived, as children of no understanding.²⁵ Therefore to them, as to children without the use of reason, you did send a judgment to mock them.²⁶ But they that would not be reformed by that correction, wherein he dallied with them, shall feel a judgment worthy of Alahayam.²⁷ For, look, for what things they grudged, when they were punished, that is, for them whom they thought to be gods; now being punished in them, when they saw it, they acknowledged him to be the true Alahayam, whom before they denied to know: and therefore came extreme damnation upon them.

13 Surely vain are all men by nature, who are ignorant of Alahayam, and could not out of the good things that are seen know him that is: neither by considering the works did they acknowledge the workmaster; ² But deemed either fire, or wind, or the swift air, or the circle of the stars, or the violent water, or the lights of heaven, to be the gods which govern the world. ³ With whose beauty if they being delighted took them to be gods; let them know how much better the Adanay of them is: for the first author of beauty has created them. ⁴ But if they were astonished at their power and virtue, let them understand by them, how much mightier he is that made them. ⁵ For by the greatness and beauty of the creatures proportionably the maker of them is seen. ⁶ But yet for this they are the less to be blamed: for they peradventure err, seeking Alahayam, and desirous to find him. ⁷ For being conversant in his works they search him diligently, and believe their sight: because the things are beautiful that are seen. ⁸ Howbeit neither are they to be pardoned. ⁹ For if they were able to know so much, that they could aim at the world; how did they not sooner find out the Adanay thereof? ¹⁰ But miserable are they, and in dead things is their hope, who call them gods, which are the works of men's hands, gold and silver, to show art in, and resemblances of beasts, or a stone good for nothing, the work of an ancient hand. ¹¹ Now a carpenter that felleth timber, after he has sawn down a tree meet for the purpose, and taken off all the bark skilfully round about, and has wrought it handsomely, and made a vessel thereof fit for the service of man's life; ¹² And after spending the refuse of his work to dress his meat, has filled himself; ¹³ And taking the very refuse among those which served to no use, being a crooked piece of wood, and full of knots, has carved it diligently, when he had nothing else to do, and formed it by the skill of his understanding, and fashioned it to the image of a man; ¹⁴ Or made it like some vile beast, laying it over with vermilion, and with paint colouring it red, and covering every spot therein; ¹⁵ And when he had made a convenient room for it, set it in a wall, and made it fast with iron: ¹⁶ For he provided for it that it might not fall, knowing that it was unable to help itself; for it is an image, and has need of help: ¹⁷ Then makes he prayer for his goods, for his wife and children, and is not ashamed to speak to that which has no life. ¹⁸ For health he calls upon that which is weak: for life prays to that which is dead; for aid humbly beseeches that which has least means to help: and for a good journey he asks of that which cannot set a foot forward: ¹⁹ And for gaining and getting, and for good success of his hands, asks ability to do of him, that is most unable to do any thing.

14 Again, one preparing himself to sail, and about to pass through the raging waves, calls upon a piece of wood more rotten than the vessel that carries him. ² For truly desire of gain devised that, and the workman built it by his skill. ³ But your providence, O Father, governeth it: for you have made a way in the sea, and a safe path in the waves; ⁴ Shewing that you can save from all danger: yea, though a man went to sea without art. ⁵ Nevertheless you would not that the works of your wisdom should be idle, and therefore do men commit their lives to a small piece of wood, and passing the rough sea in a weak vessel are saved. ⁶ For in the old time also, when the proud giants perished, the hope of the world governed by your hand escaped in a weak vessel, and left to all ages a seed of generation. ⁷ For blessed is the wood whereby righteousness comes. ⁸ But that which is made with hands is cursed, as well it, as he that made it: he, because he made it; and it, because, being corruptible, it was called god. ⁹ For the ungodly and his ungodliness are both alike hateful to Alahayam. ¹⁰ For that which is made shall be punished together with him that made it. ¹¹ Therefore even upon the idols of the Gentiles shall there be a visitation: because in the creature of Alahayam they are become an abomination, and stumblingblocks to the souls of men, and a snare to the feet of the unwise. ¹² For the devising of idols was the beginning of spiritual fornication, and the invention of them the corruption of life. ¹³ For neither were they from the beginning, neither shall they be for ever. ¹⁴ For by the vain glory of men they entered into the world, and therefore shall they come shortly to an end. ¹⁵ For a father afflicted with untimely mourning, when he has made an image of his child soon taken away, now honoured him as a god, which was then a dead man, and delivered to those that were under him ceremonies and sacrifices. ¹⁶ Thus in process of time an ungodly custom grown strong was kept as a law, and graven images were worshipped by the commandments of kings. ¹⁷ Whom men could not honour in presence, because they dwelt far off, they took the counterfeit of his visage from far, and made an express image of a king whom they honoured, to the end that by this their forwardness they might flatter him that was absent, as if he were present. ¹⁸ Also the singular diligence of the artificer did help to set forward the ignorant to more superstition. ¹⁹ For he, peradventure willing to please one in authority, forced all his skill to make the resemblance of the best fashion. ²⁰ And so the multitude, allured by the grace of the work, took him now for a god, which a little before was but honoured. ²¹ And this was an occasion to deceive the world: for men, serving either calamity or tyranny, did ascribe to stones and stocks the incommunicable name. ²² Moreover this was not enough for them, that they erred in the knowledge of Alahayam; but whereas they lived in the great war of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace. ²³ For whilst they slew their children in sacrifices, or used secret ceremonies, or made revellings of strange rites; ²⁴ They kept neither lives nor marriages any longer undefiled: but either one slew another traiterously, or grieved him by adultery. ²⁵ So that there reigned in all men without exception blood, manslaughter, theft, and dissimulation, corruption, unfaithfulness, tumults, perjury, ²⁶ Disquieting of good men, forgetfulness of good turns, defiling of souls, changing of kind, disorder in marriages, adultery, and shameless uncleanness. ²⁷ For the worshipping of idols not to be named is the beginning, the cause, and the end, of all evil. ²⁸ For either they are mad when they be merry, or prophesy lies, or live unjustly, or else lightly forswear themselves. ²⁹ For insomuch as their trust is in idols, which have no life; though they swear falsely, yet they look not to be hurt. ³⁰ Howbeit for both causes shall they be justly punished: both because they thought not well of Alahayam, giving heed to idols, and also unjustly swore in deceit, despising holiness. ³¹ For it is not the power of them by whom they swear: but it is the just vengeance of sinners, that punishes always the offence of the ungodly.

15 But you, O Alahayam, art gracious and true, longsuffering, and in mercy ordering all things, ² For if we sin, we are your, knowing your power: but we will not sin, knowing that we are counted your. ³ For to know you is perfect righteousness: yea, to know your power is the root of immortality. ⁴ For neither did the mischievous invention of men deceive us, nor an image spotted with divers colours, the painter's fruitless labour; ⁵ The sight whereof enticeth fools to lust after it, and so they desire the form of a dead image, that has no breath. ⁶ Both they that make them, they that desire them, and they that worship them, are lovers of evil things, and are worthy to have such things to trust upon. ⁷ For the potter, tempering soft earth, fashioneth every vessel with much labour for our service: yea, of the same clay he makes both the vessels that serve for clean uses, and likewise also all such as serve to the contrary: but what is the use of either sort, the potter himself is the judge. ⁸ And employing his labours lewdly, he makes a vain god of the same clay, even he which a little before was made of earth himself, and within a little while after returns to the same, out when his life which was lent him shall be demanded. ⁹ Notwithstanding his care is, not that he shall have much labour, nor that his life is short: but striveth to excel goldsmiths and silversmiths, and endeavours to do like the workers in brass, and counts it his glory to make counterfeit things. ¹⁰ His heart is ashes, his hope is more vile than earth, and his life of less value than clay: ¹¹ Forasmuch as he knew not his Maker, and him that inspired into him an active soul, and breathed in a living spirit. ¹² But they counted our life a pastime, and our time here a market for gain: for, say they, we must be getting every way, though it be by evil means. ¹³ For this man, that of earthly matter makes brittle vessels and graven images, knows himself to offend above all others. ¹⁴ And all the enemies of your people, that hold them in subjection, are most foolish, and are more miserable than very babes.¹⁵ For they counted all the idols of the heathen to be gods: which neither have the use of eyes to see, nor noses to draw breath, nor ears to hear, nor fingers of hands to handle; and as for their feet, they are slow to go.¹⁶ For man made them, and he that borrowed his own spirit fashioned them: but no man can make a god like to himself.¹⁷ For being mortal, he works a dead thing with wicked hands: for he himself is better than the things which he worships: whereas he lived once, but they never.¹⁸ Yea, they worshipped those beasts also that are most hateful: for being compared together, some are worse than others.¹⁹ Neither are they beautiful, so much as to be desired in respect of beasts: but they went without the praise of Alahayam and his blessing.

16 Therefore by the like were they punished worthily, and by the multitude of beasts tormented.² Instead of which punishment, dealing graciously with your own people, you preparedst for them meat of a strange taste, even quails to stir up their appetite:³ To the end that they, desiring food, might for the ugly sight of the beasts sent among them lothe even that, which they must needs desire; but these, suffering penury for a short space, might be made partakers of a strange taste.⁴ For it was requisite, that upon them exercising tyranny should come penury, which they could not avoid: but to these it should only be showed how their enemies were tormented.⁵ For when the horrible fierceness of beasts came upon these, and they perished with the stings of crooked serpents, your wrath endured not for ever:⁶ But they were troubled for a small season, that they might be admonished, having a sign of salvation, to put them in remembrance of the commandment of your law.⁷ For he that turned himself toward it was not saved by the thing that he saw, but by you, that art the Saviour of all.⁸ And in this you made your enemies confess, that it is you who deliver from all evil:⁹ For them the bitings of grasshoppers and flies killed, neither was there found any remedy for their life: for they were worthy to be punished by such.¹⁰ But your sons not the very teeth of venomous dragons overcame: for your mercy was ever by them, and healed them.¹¹ For they were pricked, that they should remember your words; and were quickly saved, that not falling into deep forgetfulness, they might be continually mindful of your goodness.¹² For it was neither herb, nor mollifying plaister, that restored them to health: but your word, O Adanay, which heals all things.¹³ For you have power of life and death: you lead to the gates of hell, and bring up again.¹⁴ A man indeed kills through his malice: and the spirit, when it is gone forth, returns not; neither the soul received up comes again.¹⁵ But it is not possible to escape your hand.¹⁶ For the ungodly, that denied to know you, were scourged by the strength of your arm: with strange rains, hails, and showers, were they persecuted, that they could not avoid, and through fire were they consumed.¹⁷ For, which is most to be wondered at, the fire had more force in the water, that quencheth all things: for the world fights for the righteous.¹⁸ For sometime the flame was mitigated, that it might not burn up the beasts that were sent against the ungodly; but themselves might see and perceive that they were persecuted with the judgment of Alahayam.¹⁹ And at another time it burns even in the midst of water above the power of fire, that it might destroy the fruits of an unjust land.²⁰ Instead whereof you feddest your own people with angels' food, and did send them from heaven bread prepared without their labour, able to content every man's delight, and agreeing to every taste.²¹ For your sustenance declared your sweetness to your children, and serving to the appetite of the eater, tempered itself to every man's liking.²² But snow and ice endured the fire, and melted not, that they might know that fire burning in the hail, and sparkling in the rain, did destroy the fruits of the enemies.²³ But this again did even forget his own strength, that the righteous might be nourished.²⁴ For the creature that serves you, who art the Maker increases his strength against the unrighteous for their punishment, and abateth his strength for the benefit of such as put their trust in you.²⁵ Therefore even then was it altered into all fashions, and was obedient to your grace, that nourisheth all things, according to the desire of them that had need:²⁶ That your children, O Adanay, whom you love, might know, that it is not the growing of fruits that nourisheth man: but that it is your word, which preserves them that put their trust in you.²⁷ For that which was not destroyed of the fire, being warmed with a little sunbeam, soon melted away:²⁸ That it might be known, that we must prevent the sun to give you thanks, and at the dayspring pray to you.²⁹ For the hope of the unthankful shall melt away as the winter's hoar frost, and shall run away as unprofitable water.

17 For great are your judgments, and cannot be expressed: therefore unnurtured souls have erred.² For when unrighteous men thought to oppress the holy nation; they being shut up in their houses, the prisoners of darkness, and fettered with the bonds of a long night, lay there exiled from the eternal providence.³ For while they supposed to lie hid in their secret sins, they were scattered under a dark veil of forgetfulness, being horribly astonished, and troubled with strange apparitions.⁴ For neither might the corner that held them keep them from fear: but noises as of waters falling down sounded about them, and sad visions appeared to them with heavy countenances.⁵ No power of the fire might give them light: neither could the bright flames of the stars endure to lighten that horrible night.⁶ Only there appeared to them a fire kindled of itself, very dreadful: for being much terrified, they thought the things which they saw to be worse than the sight they saw not.⁷ As for the illusions of art magick, they were put down, and their vaunting in wisdom was reprov'd with disgrace.⁸ For they, that promised to drive away terrors and troubles from a sick soul, were sick themselves of fear, worthy to be laughed at.⁹ For though no terrible thing did fear them; yet being scared with beasts that passed by, and hissing of serpents,¹⁰ They died for fear, denying that they saw the air, which could of no side be avoided.¹¹ For wickedness, condemned by her own witness, is very timorous, and being pressed with conscience, always forecasteth grievous things.¹² For fear is nothing else but a betraying of the succours which reason offers.¹³ And the expectation from within, being less, counts the ignorance more than the cause which brings the torment.¹⁴ But they sleeping the same sleep that night, which was indeed intolerable, and which came upon them out of the bottoms of inevitable hell,¹⁵ Were partly vexed with monstrous apparitions, and partly fainted, their heart failing them: for a sudden fear, and not looked for, came upon them.¹⁶ So then whosoever there fell down was straitly kept, shut up in a prison without iron bars,¹⁷ For whether he were husbandman, or shepherd, or a labourer in the field, he was overtaken, and endured that necessity, which could not be avoided: for they were all bound with one chain of darkness.¹⁸ Whether it were a whistling wind, or a melodious noise of birds among the spreading branches, or a pleasing fall of water running violently,¹⁹ Or a terrible sound of stones cast down, or a running that could not be seen of skipping beasts, or a roaring voice of most savage wild beasts, or a rebounding echo from the hollow mountains; these things made them to swoon for fear.²⁰ For the whole world shined with clear light, and none were hindered in their labour:²¹ Over them only was spread an heavy night, an image of that darkness which should afterward receive them: but yet were they to themselves more grievous than the darkness.

18 Nevertheless your saints had a very great light, whose voice they hearing, and not seeing their shape, because they also had not suffered the same things, they counted them happy.² But for that they did not hurt them now, of whom they had been wronged before, they thanked them, and besought them pardon for that they had been enemies.³ Instead whereof you gave them a burning pillar of fire, both to be a guide of the unknown journey, and an harmless sun to entertain them honourably.⁴ For they were worthy to be deprived of light and imprisoned in darkness, who had kept your sons shut up, by whom the uncorrupt light of the law was to be given to the world.⁵ And when they had determined to slay the babes of the saints, one child being cast forth, and saved, to reprove them, you took away the multitude of their children, and destroyedst them altogether in a mighty water.⁶ Of that night were our fathers certified afore, that assuredly knowing to what oaths they had given credence, they might afterwards be of good cheer.⁷ So of your people was accepted both the salvation of the righteous, and destruction of the enemies.⁸ For wherewith you did punish our adversaries, by the same you did glorify us, whom you had called.⁹ For the righteous children of good men did sacrifice secretly, and with one consent made a holy law, that the saints should be like partakers of the same good and evil, the fathers now singing out the songs of praise.¹⁰ But on the other side there sounded an ill according cry of the enemies, and a lamentable noise was carried abroad for children that were bewailed.¹¹ The master and the servant were punished after one manner; and like as the king, so suffered the common person.¹² So they all together had innumerable dead with one kind of death; neither were the living sufficient to bury them: for in one moment the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.¹³ For whereas they would not believe any thing by reason of the enchantments; upon the destruction of the firstborn, they acknowledged this people to be the sons of Alahayam.¹⁴ For while all things were in quiet silence, and that night was in the midst of her swift course,¹⁵ Your Shaday word leaped down from heaven out of your royal throne, as a fierce man of war into the midst of a land of destruction,¹⁶ And brought your unfeigned commandment as a sharp sword, and standing up filled all things with death; and it touched the heaven, but it stood upon the earth.¹⁷ Then suddenly visions of horrible dreams troubled them sore, and terrors came upon them unlooked for.¹⁸ And one thrown here, and another there, half dead, showed the cause of his death.¹⁹ For the dreams that troubled them did foreshew this, lest they should perish, and not know why they were afflicted.²⁰ Yea, the tasting of death touched the righteous also, and there was a destruction of the multitude in the wilderness: but the wrath endured not long.²¹ For then the blameless man made haste, and stood forth to defend them; and bringing the shield of his proper ministry, even prayer, and the propitiation of incense, set himself against the wrath, and so brought the calamity to an end, declaring that he was your servant.²² So he overcame the destroyer, not with strength of body, nor force of arms, but with a word subdued him that punished, alleging the oaths and covenants made with the fathers.²³ For when the dead were now fallen down by heaps one upon another, standing between, he stayed the wrath, and parted the way to the living.²⁴ For in the long garment was the whole world, and in the four rows of the stones was the glory of the fathers graven, and your Majesty upon the daidem of his head.²⁵ To these the destroyer gave place, and was afraid of them: for it was enough that they only tasted of the wrath.

19 As for the ungodly, wrath came upon them without mercy to the end: for he knew before what they would do;² How that having given them leave to depart, and sent them hastily away, they would repent and pursue them.³ For whilst they were yet mourning and making lamentation at the graves of the dead, they added another foolish device, and pursued them as fugitives, whom they had intreated to be gone.⁴ For the destiny, whereof they were worthy, drew them to this end, and made them forget the things that had already happened, that they might fulfil the punishment which was wanting to their torments:⁵ And that your people might pass a wonderful way: but they might find a strange death.⁶ For the whole creature in his proper kind was fashioned again anew, serving the peculiar commandments that were given to them, that your children might be kept without hurt:⁷ As namely, a cloud shadowing the camp; and where water stood before, dry land appeared; and out of the Sawap a way without impediment; and out of the violent stream a green field:⁸ Wherethrough all the people went that were defended with your hand, seeing your marvellous strange wonders.⁹ For they went at large like horses, and leaped like lambs, praising you, O Adanay, who had delivered them.¹⁰ For they were yet mindful of the things that were done while they sojourned in the strange land, how the ground brought forth flies instead of cattle, and how the river cast up a multitude of frogs instead of fishes.¹¹ But afterwards they saw a new generation of fowls, when, being led with their appetite, they asked delicate meats.¹² For quails came up to them from the sea for their contentment.¹³ And punishments came upon the sinners not without former signs by the force of thunders: for they suffered justly according to their own wickedness, insomuch as they used a more hard and hateful behaviour toward strangers.¹⁴ For the Sodomites did not receive those, whom they knew not when they came: but these brought friends into bondage, that had well deserved of them.¹⁵ And not only so, but peradventure some respect shall be had of those, because they used strangers not friendly:¹⁶ But these very grievously afflicted them, whom they had received with feastings, and were already made partakers of the same laws with them.¹⁷ Therefore even with blindness were these stricken, as those were at the doors of the righteous man: when, being compassed about with horrible great darkness, every one sought the passage of his own doors.¹⁸ For the elements were changed in themselves by a kind of harmony, like as in a psalterly notes change the name of the tune, and yet are always sounds; which may well be perceived by the sight of the things that have been done.¹⁹ For earthly things were turned into watery, and the things, that before swam in the water, now went upon the ground.²⁰ The fire had power in the water, forgetting his own virtue: and the water forgot his own quenching nature.²¹ On the other side, the flames wasted not the flesh of the corruptible living things, though they walked therein; neither melted they the icy kind of heavenly meat that was of nature apt to melt.²² For in all things, O Adanay, you did magnify your people, and glorify them, neither did you lightly regard them: but did assist them in every time and place.

1 All wisdom comes from the Adanay, and is with him for ever.
² Who can number the sand of the sea, and the drops of rain, and the days of eternity? ³ Who can find out the height of heaven, and the breadth of the earth, and the deep, and wisdom? ⁴ Wisdom has been created before all things, and the understanding of prudence from everlasting. ⁵ The word of Alahayam most high is the fountain of wisdom; and her ways are everlasting commandments. ⁶ To whom has the root of wisdom been revealed? or who has known her wise counsels? ⁷ To whom has the knowledge of wisdom been made manifest? and who has understood her great experience? ⁸ There is one wise and greatly to be feared, the Adanay sitting upon his throne. ⁹ He created her, and saw her, and numbered her, and poured her out upon all his works. ¹⁰ She is with all flesh according to his gift, and he has given her to them that love him. ¹¹ The fear of the Adanay is honour, and glory, and gladness, and a crown of rejoicing. ¹² The fear of the Adanay makes a merry heart, and gives joy, and gladness, and a long life. ¹³ Whoso fears the Adanay, it shall go well with him at the last, and he shall find favour in the day of his death. ¹⁴ To fear the Adanay is the beginning of wisdom: and it was created with the faithful in the womb. ¹⁵ She has built an everlasting foundation with men, and she shall continue with their seed. ¹⁶ To fear the Adanay is fulness of wisdom, and fills men with her fruits. ¹⁷ She fills all their house with things desirable, and the garners with her increase. ¹⁸ The fear of the Adanay is a crown of wisdom, making peace and perfect health to flourish; both which are the gifts of Alahayam: and it enlargeth their rejoicing that love him. ¹⁹ Wisdom rains down skill and knowledge of understanding standing, and exalts them to honour that hold her fast. ²⁰ The root of wisdom is to fear the Adanay, and the branches thereof are long life. ²¹ The fear of the Adanay drives away sins: and where it is present, it turns away wrath. ²² A furious man cannot be justified; for the sway of his fury shall be his destruction. ²³ A patient man will tear for a time, and afterward joy shall spring up to him. ²⁴ He will hide his words for a time, and the lips of many shall declare his wisdom. ²⁵ The parables of knowledge are in the treasures of wisdom: but godliness is an abomination to a sinner. ²⁶ If you desire wisdom, keep the commandments, and the Adanay shall give her to you. ²⁷ For the fear of the Adanay is wisdom and instruction: and faith and meekness are his delight. ²⁸ Distrust not the fear of the Adanay when you are poor: and come not to him with a double heart. ²⁹ Be not an hypocrite in the sight of men, and take good heed what you speak. ³⁰ Exalt not yourself, lest you fall, and bring dishonour upon your soul, and so Alahayam discover your secrets, and cast you down in the midst of the congregation, because you came not in truth to the fear of the Adanay, but your heart is full of deceit.

2 My son, if you come to serve the Adanay, prepare your soul for temptation. ² Set your heart aright, and constantly endure, and make not haste in time of trouble. ³ Cleave to him, and depart not away, that you may be increased at your last end. ⁴ Whatsoever is brought upon you take cheerfully, and be patient when you are changed to a low estate. ⁵ For gold is tried in the fire, and acceptable men in the furnace of adversity. ⁶ Believe in him, and he will help you; order your way aright, and trust in him. ⁷ You that fear the Adanay, wait for his mercy; and go not aside, lest you fall. ⁸ You that fear the Adanay, believe him; and your reward shall not fail. ⁹ You that fear the Adanay, hope for good, and for everlasting joy and mercy. ¹⁰ Look at the generations of old, and see; did ever any trust in the Adanay, and was confounded? or did any abide in his fear, and was forsaken? or whom did he ever despise, that called upon him? ¹¹ For the Adanay is full of compassion and mercy, longsuffering, and very pitiful, and forgives sins, and saves in time of affliction. ¹² Woe be to fearful hearts, and faint hands, and the sinner that goes two ways! ¹³ Woe to him that is fainthearted! for he believes not; therefore shall he not be defended. ¹⁴ Woe to you that have lost patience! and what will you do when the Adanay shall visit you? ¹⁵ They that fear the Adanay will not disobey his Word; and they that love him will keep his ways. ¹⁶ They that fear the Adanay will seek that which is well, pleasing to him; and they that love him shall be filled with the law. ¹⁷ They that fear the Adanay will prepare their hearts, and humble their souls in his sight, ¹⁸ Saying, We will fall into the hands of the Adanay, and not into the hands of men: for as his majesty is, so is his mercy.

3 Hear me your father, O children, and do thereafter, that you may be safe. ² For the Adanay has given the father honour over the children, and has confirmed the authority of the mother over the sons. ³ Whoso honours his father makes an atonement for his sins: ⁴ And he that honours his mother is as one that lays up treasure. ⁵ Whoso honours his father shall have joy of his own children; and when he makes his prayer, he shall be heard. ⁶ He that honours his father shall have a long life; and he that is obedient to the Adanay shall be a comfort to his mother. ⁷ He that fears the Adanay will honour his father, and will do service to his parents, as to his masters. ⁸ Honour your father and mother both in word and deed, that a blessing may come upon you from them. ⁹ For the blessing of the father establishes the houses of children; but the curse of the mother roots out foundations. ¹⁰ Glory not in the dishonour of your father; for your father's dishonour is no glory to you. ¹¹ For the glory of a man is from the honour of his father; and a mother in dishonour is a reproach to the children. ¹² My son, help your father in his age, and grieve him not as long as he lives. ¹³ And if his understanding fail, have patience with him; and despise him not when you are in your full strength. ¹⁴ For the relieving of your father shall not be forgotten: and instead of sins it shall be added to build you up. ¹⁵ In the day of your affliction it shall be remembered; your sins also shall melt away, as the ice in the fair warm weather. ¹⁶ He that forsakes his father is as a blasphemer; and he that angereth his mother is cursed: of Alahayam. ¹⁷ My son, go on with your business in meekness; so shall you be beloved of him that is approved. ¹⁸ The greater you are, the more humble yourself, and you shall find favour before the Adanay. ¹⁹ Many are in high place, and of renown: but mysteries are revealed to the meek. ²⁰ For the power of the Adanay is great, and he is honoured of the lowly. ²¹ Seek not out things that are too hard for you, neither search the things that are above your strength. ²² But what is commanded you, think thereupon with reverence, for it is not needful for you to see with your eyes the things that are in secret. ²³ Be not curious in unnecessary matters: for more things are showed to you than men understand. ²⁴ For many are deceived by their own vain opinion; and an evil suspicion has overthrown their judgment. ²⁵ Without eyes you shall want light: profess not the knowledge therefore that you have not. ²⁶ A stubborn heart shall fare evil at the last; and he that loves danger shall perish therein. ²⁷ An obstinate heart shall be laden with sorrows; and the wicked man shall heap sin upon sin. ²⁸ In the punishment of the proud there is no remedy; for the plant of wickedness has taken root in him. ²⁹ The heart of the prudent will understand a parable; and an attentive ear is the desire of a wise man. ³⁰ Water will quench a flaming fire; and alms makes an atonement for sins. ³¹ And he that requites good turns is mindful of that which may come hereafter; and when he falls, he shall find a stay.

4 My son, defraud not the poor of his living, and make not the needy eyes to wait long. ² Make not an hungry soul sorrowful; neither provoke a man in his distress. ³ Add not more trouble to an heart that is vexed; and defer not to give to him that is in need. ⁴ Reject not the supplication of the afflicted; neither turn away your face from a poor man. ⁵ Turn not away your eye from the needy, and give him none occasion to curse you: ⁶ For if he curse you in the bitterness of his soul, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him. ⁷ Get yourself the love of the congregation, and bow your head to a great man. ⁸ Let it not grieve you to bow down your ear to the poor, and give him a friendly answer with meekness. ⁹ Deliver him that suffers wrong from the hand of the oppressor; and be not fainthearted when you sit in judgment. ¹⁰ Be as a father to the fatherless, and instead of an husband to their mother: so shall you be as the son of the most High, and he shall love you more than your mother does. ¹¹ Wisdom exalts her children, and lays hold of them that seek her. ¹² He that loves her loves life; and they that seek to her early shall be filled with joy. ¹³ He that holds her fast shall inherit glory; and wheresoever she enters, the Adanay will bless. ¹⁴ They that serve her shall minister to the Holy One: and them that love her the Adanay does love. ¹⁵ Whoso gives ear to her shall judge the nations: and he that attends to her shall dwell securely. ¹⁶ If a man commit himself to her, he shall inherit her; and his generation shall hold her in possession. ¹⁷ For at the first she will walk with him by crooked ways, and bring fear and dread upon him, and torment him with her discipline, until she may trust his soul, and try him by her laws. ¹⁸ Then will she return the straight way to him, and comfort him, and show him her secrets. ¹⁹ But if he go wrong, she will forsake him, and give him over to his own ruin. ²⁰ Observe the opportunity, and beware of evil; and be not ashamed when it concerns your soul. ²¹ For there is a shame that brings sin; and there is a shame which is glory and grace. ²² Accept no person against your soul, and let not the reverence of any man cause you to fall. ²³ And refrain not to speak, when there is occasion to do good, and hide not your wisdom in her beauty. ²⁴ For by speech wisdom shall be known: and learning by the word of the tongue. ²⁵ In no wise speak against the truth; but be abashed of the error of your ignorance. ²⁶ Be not ashamed to confess your sins; and force not the course of the river. ²⁷ Make not yourself an underling to a foolish man; neither accept the person of the mighty. ²⁸ Strive for the truth to death, and the Adanay shall fight for you. ²⁹ Be not hasty in your tongue, and in your deeds slack and remiss. ³⁰ Be not as a lion in your house, nor frantick among your servants. ³¹ Let not your hand be stretched out to receive, and shut when you should repay.

5 Set your heart upon your goods; and say not, I have enough for my life. ² Follow not your own mind and your strength, to walk in the ways of your heart: ³ And say not, Who shall controul me for my works? for the Adanay will surely revenge your pride. ⁴ Say not, I have sinned, and what harm has happened to me? for the Adanay is longsuffering, he will in no wise let you go. ⁵ Concerning propitiation, be not without fear to add sin to sin: ⁶ And say not His mercy is great; he will be pacified for the multitude of my sins: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation rests upon sinners. ⁷ Make no tarrying to turn to the Adanay, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Adanay come forth, and in your security you shall be destroyed, and perish in the day of vengeance. ⁸ Set not your heart upon goods unjustly gotten, for they shall not profit you in the day of calamity. ⁹ Winnow not with every wind, and go not into every way: for so does the sinner that has a double tongue. ¹⁰ Be stedfast in your understanding; and let your word be the same. ¹¹ Be swift to hear; and let your life be sincere; and with patience give answer. ¹² If you have understanding, answer your neighbour; if not, lay your hand upon your mouth. ¹³ Honour and shame is in talk: and the tongue of man is his fall. ¹⁴ Be not called a whisperer, and lie not in wait with your tongue: for a foul shame is upon the thief, and an evil condemnation upon the double tongue. ¹⁵ Be not ignorant of any thing in a great matter or a small.

6 Instead of a friend become not an enemy; for thereby you shall inherit an ill name, shame, and reproach: even so shall a sinner that has a double tongue. ² Extol not yourself in the counsel of your own heart; that your soul be not torn in pieces as a bull straying alone. ³ You shall eat up your leaves, and lose your fruit, and leave yourself as a dry tree. ⁴ A wicked soul shall destroy him that has it, and shall make him to be laughed to scorn of his enemies. ⁵ Sweet language will multiply friends: and a fairspeaking tongue will increase kind greetings. ⁶ Be in peace with many: nevertheless have but one counsellor of a thousand. ⁷ If you would get a friend, prove him first and be not hasty to credit him. ⁸ For some man is a friend for his own occasion, and will not abide in the day of your trouble. ⁹ And there is a friend, who being turned to enmity, and strife will discover your reproach. ¹⁰ Again, some friend is a companion at the table, and will not continue in the day of your affliction. ¹¹ But in your prosperity he will be as yourself, and will be bold over your servants. ¹² If you be brought low, he will be against you, and will hide himself from your face. ¹³ Separate yourself from your enemies, and take heed of your friends. ¹⁴ A faithful friend is a strong defence: and he that has found such an one has found a treasure. ¹⁵ Nothing does countervail a faithful friend, and his excellency is invaluable. ¹⁶ A faithful friend is the medicine of life; and they that fear the Adanay shall find him. ¹⁷ Whoso fears the Adanay shall direct his friendship aright: for as he is, so shall his neighbour be also. ¹⁸ My son, gather instruction from your youth up: so shall you find wisdom till your old age. ¹⁹ Come to her as one that plows and sows, and wait for her good fruits: for you shall not toil much in labouring about her, but you shall eat of her fruits right soon. ²⁰ She is very unpleasant to the unlearned: he that is without understanding will not remain with her. ²¹ She will lie upon him as a mighty stone of trial; and he will cast her from him ere it be long. ²² For wisdom is according to her name, and she is not manifest to many. ²³ Give ear, my son, receive my advice, and refuse not my counsel. ²⁴ And put your feet into her fetters, and your neck into her chain. ²⁵ Bow down your shoulder, and bear her, and be not grieved with her bonds. ²⁶ Come to her with your whole heart, and keep her ways with all your power. ²⁷ Search, and seek, and she shall be made known to you: and when you have got hold of her, let her not go. ²⁸ For at the last you shall find her rest, and that shall be turned to your joy. ²⁹ Then shall her fetters be a strong defence for you, and her chains a robe of glory. ³⁰ For there is a golden ornament upon her, and her bands are purple lace. ³¹ You shall put her on as a robe of honour, and shall put her about you as a crown of joy. ³² My son, if you will, you shall be taught: and if you will apply your mind, you shall be prudent. ³³ If you love to hear, you shall receive understanding: and if you bow your ear, you shall be wise. ³⁴ Stand in the multitude of the elders; and cleave to him that is wise. ³⁵ Be willing to hear every godly discourse; and let not the parables of understanding escape you. ³⁶ And if you see a man of understanding, get you betimes to him, and let your foot wear the steps of his door. ³⁷ Let your mind be upon the ordinances of the Adanay and meditate continually in his commandments: he shall establish your heart, and give you wisdom at your own desire.

7 Do no evil, so shall no harm come to you. ² Depart from the unjust, and iniquity shall turn away from you. ³ My son, sow not upon the furrows of unrighteousness, and you shall not reap them sevenfold. ⁴ Seek not of the Adanay preeminence, neither of the king the seat of honour. ⁵ Justify not yourself before the Adanay; and boast not of your wisdom before the king. ⁶ Seek not to be judge, being not able to take away iniquity; lest at any time you fear the person of the mighty, an stumblingblock in the way of your uprightness. ⁷ Offend not against the multitude of a city, and then you shall not cast yourself down among the people. ⁸ Bind not one sin upon another; for in one you shall not be unpunished. ⁹ Say not, Alahayam will look upon the multitude of my oblations, and when I offer to the most high Alahayam, he will accept it. ¹⁰ Be not fainthearted when you make your prayer, and neglect not to give alms. ¹¹ Laugh no man to scorn in the bitterness of his soul: for there is one which humbles and exalts. ¹² Devise not a lie against your brother; neither do the like to your friend.¹³ Use not to make any manner of lie: for the custom thereof is not good.¹⁴ Use not many words in a multitude of elders, and make not much babbling when you pray.¹⁵ Hate not laborious work, neither husbandry, which the most High has ordained.¹⁶ Number not yourself among the multitude of sinners, but remember that wrath will not tarry long.¹⁷ Humble yourself greatly: for the vengeance of the ungodly is fire and worms.¹⁸ Change not a friend for any good by no means; neither a faithful brother for the gold of Awapayar.¹⁹ Forego not a wise and good woman: for her grace is above gold.²⁰ Whereas your servant works truly, entreat him not evil. nor the hireling that bestows himself wholly for you.²¹ Let your soul love a good servant, and defraud him not of liberty.²² Have you cattle? have an eye to them: and if they be for your profit, keep them with you.²³ Have you children? instruct them, and bow down their neck from their youth.²⁴ Have you daughters? have a care of their body, and show not yourself cheerful toward them.²⁵ Marry your daughter, and so shall you have performed a weighty matter: but give her to a man of understanding.²⁶ Have you a wife after your mind? forsake her not: but give not yourself over to a light woman.²⁷ Honour your father with your whole heart, and forget not the sorrows of your mother.²⁸ Remember that you were begotten of them; and how can you recompense them the things that they have done for you?²⁹ Fear the Adanay with all your soul, and reverence his priests.³⁰ Love him that made you with all your strength, and forsake not his ministers.³¹ Fear the Adanay, and honor the priest; and give him his portion, as it is commanded you; the firstfruits, and the trespass offering, and the gift of the shoulders, and the sacrifice of sanctification, and the firstfruits of the holy things.³² And stretch your hand to the poor, that your blessing may be perfected.³³ A gift has grace in the sight of every man living; and for the dead detain it not.³⁴ Fail not to be with them that weep, and mourn with them that mourn.³⁵ Be not slow to visit the sick: for that shall make you to be beloved.³⁶ Whatsoever you take in hand, remember the end, and you shall never do amiss.

8 Strive not with a mighty man' lest you fall into his hands.² Be not at variance with a rich man, lest he overweigh you: for gold has destroyed many, and perverted the hearts of kings.³ Strive not with a man that is full of tongue, and heap not wood upon his fire.⁴ Jest not with a rude man, lest your ancestors be disgraced.⁵ Reproach not a man that turns from sin, but remember that we are all worthy of punishment.⁶ Dishonour not a man in his old age: for even some of us wax old.⁷ Rejoice not over your greatest enemy being dead, but remember that we die all.⁸ Despise not the discourse of the wise, but acquaint yourself with their proverbs: for of them you shall learn instruction, and how to serve great men with ease.⁹ Miss not the discourse of the elders: for they also learned of their fathers, and of them you shall learn understanding, and to give answer as need requires.¹⁰ Kindle not the coals of a sinner, lest you be burnt with the flame of his fire.¹¹ Rise not up in anger at the presence of an injurious person, lest he lie in wait to entrap you in your words.¹² Lend not to him that is mightier than yourself; for if you lendest him, count it but lost.¹³ Be not surety above your power: for if you be surety, take care to pay it.¹⁴ Go not to law with a judge; for they will judge for him according to his honour.¹⁵ Travel not by the way with a bold fellow, lest he become grievous to you: for he will do according to his own will, and you shall perish with him through his folly.¹⁶ Strive not with an angry man, and go not with him into a solitary place: for blood is as nothing in his sight, and where there is no help, he will overthrow you.¹⁷ Consult not with a fool; for he cannot keep counsel.¹⁸ Do no secret thing before a stranger; for you know not what he will bring forth.¹⁹ Open not your heart to every man, lest he requite you with a shrewd turn.

9 Be not jealous over the wife of your bosom, and teach her not an evil lesson against yourself.² Give not your soul to a woman to set her foot upon your substance.³ Meet not with an harlot, lest you fall into her snares.⁴ Use not much the company of a woman that is a singer, lest you be taken with her attempts.⁵ Gaze not on a maid, that you fall not by those things that are precious in her.⁶ Give not your soul to harlots, that you lose not your inheritance.⁷ Look not round about you in the streets of the city, neither wander you in the solitary place thereof.⁸ Turn away your eye from a beautiful woman, and look not upon another's beauty; for many have been deceived by the beauty of a woman; for herewith love is kindled as a fire.⁹ Sit not at all with another man's wife, nor sit down with her in your arms, and spend not your money with her at the wine; lest your heart incline to her, and so through your desire you fall into destruction.¹⁰ Forsake not an old friend; for the new is not comparable to him: a new friend is as new wine; when it is old, you shall drink it with pleasure.¹¹ Envy not the glory of a sinner: for you know not what shall be his end.¹² Delight not in the thing that the ungodly have pleasure in; but remember they shall not go unpunished to their grave.¹³ Keep you far from the man that has power to kill; so shall you not doubt the fear of death: and if you come to him, make no fault, lest he take away your life presently: remember that you go in the midst of snares, and that you walk upon the battlements of the city.¹⁴ As near as you can, guess at your neighbour, and consult with the wise.¹⁵ Let your talk be with the wise, and all your communication in the law of the most High.¹⁶ And let just men eat and drink with you; and let your glorying be in the fear of the Adanay.¹⁷ For the hand of the artificer the work shall be commended: and the wise ruler of the people for his speech.¹⁸ A man of an ill tongue is dangerous in his city; and he that is rash in his talk shall be hated.

10 A wise judge will instruct his people; and the government of a prudent man is well ordered.² As the judge of the people is himself, so are his officers; and what manner of man the ruler of the city is, such are all they that dwell therein.³ An unwise king destroys his people; but through the prudence of them which are in authority the city shall be inhabited.⁴ The power of the earth is in the hand of the Adanay, and in due time he will set over it one that is profitable.⁵ In the hand of Alahayam is the prosperity of man: and upon the person of the scribe shall he lay his honour.⁶ Bear not hatred to your neighbour for every wrong; and do nothing at all by injurious practices.⁷ Pride is hateful before Alahayam and man: and by both does one commit iniquity.⁸ Because of unrighteous dealings, injuries, and riches got by deceit, the kingdom is translated from one people to another.⁹ Why is earth and ashes proud? There is not a more wicked thing than a covetous man: for such an one sets his own soul to sale; because while he lives he casts away his bowels.¹⁰ The physician cutteth off a long disease; and he that is to day a king to morrow shall die.¹¹ For when a man is dead, he shall inherit creeping things, beasts, and worms.¹² The beginning of pride is when one departs from Alahayam, and his heart is turned away from his Maker.¹³ For pride is the beginning of sin, and he that has it shall pour out abomination: and therefore the Adanay brought upon them strange calamities, and overthrew them utterly.¹⁴ The Adanay has cast down the thrones of proud princes, and set up the meek in their stead.¹⁵ The Adanay has plucked up the roots of the proud nations, and planted the lowly in their place.¹⁶ The Adanay overthrew countries of the heathen, and destroyed them to the foundations of the earth.¹⁷ He took some of them away, and destroyed them, and has made their memorial to cease from the earth.¹⁸ Pride was not made for men, nor furious anger for them that are born of a woman.¹⁹ They that fear the Adanay are a sure seed, and they that love him an honourable plant: they that regard not the law are a dishonourable seed; they that transgress the commandments are a deceivable seed.²⁰ Among brethren he that is chief is honorable; so are they that fear the Adanay in his eyes.²¹ The fear of the Adanay goes before the obtaining of authority: but roughness and pride is the losing thereof.²² Whether he be rich, noble, or poor, their glory is the fear of the Adanay.²³ It is not meet to despise the poor man that has understanding; neither is it convenient to magnify a sinful man.²⁴ Great men, and judges, and potentates, shall be honoured; yet is there none of them greater than he that fears the Adanay.²⁵ To the servant that is wise shall they that are free do service: and he that has knowledge will not grudge when he is reformed.²⁶ Be not overwise in doing your business; and boast not yourself in the time of your distress.²⁷ Better is he that laboureth, and aboundeth in all things, than he that boasteth himself, and wanteth bread.²⁸ My son, glorify your soul in meekness, and give it honour according to the dignity thereof.²⁹ Who will justify him that sins against his own soul? and who will honour him that dishonoureth his own life?³⁰ The poor man is honoured for his skill, and the rich man is honoured for his riches.³¹ He that is honoured in poverty, how much more in riches? and he that is dishonourable in riches, how much more in poverty?

11 Wisdom lifts up the head of him that is of low degree, and makes him to sit among great men.² Commend not a man for his beauty; neither abhor a man for his outward appearance.³ The bee is little among such as fly; but her fruit is the chief of sweet things.⁴ Boast not of your clothing and raiment, and exalt not yourself in the day of honour: for the works of the Adanay are wonderful, and his works among men are hidden.⁵ Many kings have sat down upon the ground; and one that was never thought of has worn the crown.⁶ Many mighty men have been greatly disgraced; and the honourable delivered into other men's hands.⁷ Blame not before you have examined the truth: understand first, and then rebuke.⁸ Answer not before you have heard the cause: neither interrupt men in the midst of their talk.⁹ Strive not in a matter that concerns you not; and sit not in judgment with sinners.¹⁰ My son, meddle not with many matters: for if you meddle much, you shall not be innocent; and if you follow after, you shall not obtain, neither shall you escape by fleeing.¹¹ There is one that laboureth, and takes pains, and makes haste, and is so much the more behind.¹² Again, there is another that is slow, and has need of help, wanting ability, and full of poverty; yet the eye of the Adanay looked upon him for good, and set him up from his low estate.¹³ And lifted up his head from misery; so that many that saw from him is peace over all the¹⁴ Prosperity and adversity, life and death, poverty and riches, come of the Adanay.¹⁵ Wisdom, knowledge, and understanding of the law, are of the Adanay: love, and the way of good works, are from him.¹⁶ Error and darkness had their beginning together with sinners: and evil shall wax old with them that glory therein.¹⁷ The gift of the Adanay remains with the ungodly, and his favour brings prosperity for ever.¹⁸ There is that waxeth rich by his wariness and pinching, and this his the portion of his reward:¹⁹ Whereas he says, I have found rest, and now will eat continually of my goods; and yet he knows not what time shall come upon him, and that he must leave those things to others, and die.²⁰ Be stedfast in your covenant, and be conversant therein, and wax old in your work.²¹ Marvel not at the works of sinners; but trust in the Adanay, and abide in your labour: for it is an easy thing in the sight of the Adanay on the sudden to make a poor man rich.²² The blessing of the Adanay is in the reward of the godly, and suddenly he makes his blessing flourish.²³ Say not, What profit is there of my service? and what good things shall I have hereafter?²⁴ Again, say not, I have enough, and possess many things, and what evil shall I have hereafter?²⁵ In the day of prosperity there is a forgetfulness of affliction: and in the day of affliction there is no more remembrance of prosperity.²⁶ For it is an easy thing to the Adanay in the day of death to reward a man according to his ways.²⁷ The affliction of an hour makes a man forget pleasure: and in his end his deeds shall be discovered.²⁸ Judge none blessed before his death: for a man shall be known in his children.²⁹ Bring not every man into your house: for the deceitful man has many trains.³⁰ Like as a partridge taken and kept in a cage, so is the heart of the proud; and like as a spy, watches he for your fall:³¹ For he lies in wait, and turns good into evil, and in things worthy praise will lay blame upon you.³² Of a spark of fire a heap of coals is kindled: and a sinful man lays wait for blood.³³ Take heed of a mischievous man, for he works wickedness; lest he bring upon you a perpetual blot.³⁴ Receive a stranger into your house, and he will disturb you, and turn you out of your own.

12 When you will do good know to whom you do it; so shall you be thanked for your benefits.² Do good to the godly man, and you shall find a recompence; and if not from him, yet from the most High.³ There can no good come to him that is always occupied in evil, nor to him that gives no alms.⁴ Give to the godly man, and help not a sinner.⁵ Do well to him that is lowly, but give not to the ungodly: hold back your bread, and give it not to him, lest he overmaster you thereby: for else you shall receive twice as much evil for all the good you shall have done to him.⁶ For the most High hates sinners, and will repay vengeance to the ungodly, and keeps them against the mighty day of their punishment.⁷ Give to the good, and help not the sinner.⁸ A friend cannot be known in prosperity: and an enemy cannot be hidden in adversity.⁹ In the prosperity of a man enemies will be grieved: but in his adversity even a friend will depart.¹⁰ Never trust your enemy: for like as iron rusteth, so is his wickedness.¹¹ Though he humble himself, and go crouching, yet take good heed and beware of him, and you shall be to him as if you had wiped a lookingglass, and you shall know that his rust has not been altogether wiped away.¹² Set him not by you, lest, when he has overthrown you, he stand up in your place; neither let him sit at your right hand, lest he seek to take your seat, and you at the last remember my words, and be pricked therewith.¹³ Who will pity a charmer that is bitten with a serpent, or any such as come nigh wild beasts?¹⁴ So one that goes to a sinner, and is defiled with him in his sins, who will pity?¹⁵ For a while he will abide with you, but if you begin to fall, he will not tarry.¹⁶ An enemy speaks sweetly with his lips, but in his heart he imagineth how to throw you into a pit: he will weep with his eyes, but if he find opportunity, he will not be satisfied with blood.¹⁷ If adversity come upon you, you shall find him there first; and though he pretend to help you, yet shall he undermine you.¹⁸ He will shake his head, and clap his hands, and whisper much, and change his countenance.

13 He that touches pitch shall be defiled therewith; and he that has fellowship with a proud man shall be like to him.² Burden not yourself above your power while you live; and have no fellowship with one that is mightier and richer than yourself: for how agree the kettle and the earthen pot together? for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.³ The rich man has done wrong, and yet he threateneth withal: the poor is wronged, and he must intreat also.⁴ If you be for his profit, he will use you: but if you have nothing, he will forsake you.⁵ If you have any thing, he will live with you: yea, he will make you bore, and will not be sorry for it.⁶ If he have need of you, he will deceive you, and smile upon you, and put you in hope; he will speak you fair, and say, What wastest you?⁷ And he will shame you by his meats, until he have drawn you dry twice or thrice, and at the last he will laugh you to scorn afterward, when he sees you, he will forsake you, and shake his head at you.⁸ Beware that you be not deceived and brought down in your jollity.⁹ If you be invited of a mighty man, withdraw yourself, and so much the more will he invite you.¹⁰ Press you not upon him, lest you be put back; stand not far off, lest you be forgotten.¹¹ Affect not to be made equal to him in talk, and believe not his many words: for with much communication will he tempt you, and smiling upon you will get out your secrets:¹² But cruelly he will lay up your words, and will not spare to do you hurt, and to put you in prison.¹³ Observe, and take good heed, for you walk in peril of your overthrowing: when you hear these things, awake in your sleep.¹⁴ Love the Adanay all your life, and call upon him for your salvation.¹⁵ Every beast loves his like, and every man loves his neighbor.¹⁶ All flesh consorteth according to kind, and a man will cleave to his like.¹⁷ What fellowship has the wolf with the lamb? so the sinner with the godly.¹⁸ What agreement is there between the hyena and a dog? and what peace between the rich and the poor?¹⁹ As the wild ass is the lion's prey in the wilderness: so the rich eat up the poor.²⁰ As the proud hate humility: so does the rich abhor the poor.²¹ A rich man beginning to fall is held up of his friends: but a poor man being down is thrust away by his friends.²² When a rich man is fallen, he has many helpers: he speaks things not to be spoken, and yet men justify him: the poor man slipped, and yet they rebuked him too; he spoke wisely, and could have no place.²³ When a rich man speaks, every man holds his tongue, and, look, what he says, they extol it to the clouds: but if the poor man speak, they say, What fellow is this? and if he stumble, they will help to overthrow him.²⁴ Riches are good to him that has no sin, and poverty is evil in the mouth of the ungodly.²⁵ The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether it be for good or evil: and a merry heart makes a cheerful countenance.²⁶ A cheerful countenance is a token of a heart that is in prosperity; and the finding out of parables is a wearisome labour of the mind.

14 Blessed is the man that has not slipped with his mouth, and is not pricked with the multitude of sins.² Blessed is he whose conscience has not condemned him, and who is not fallen from his hope in the Adanay.³ Riches are not comely for a niggard: and what should an envious man do with money?⁴ He that gathers by defrauding his own soul gathers for others, that shall spend his goods riotously.⁵ He that is evil to himself, to whom will he be good? he shall not take pleasure in his goods.⁶ There is none worse than he that envies himself; and this is a recompence of his wickedness.⁷ And if he does good, he does it unwillingly; and at the last he will declare his wickedness.⁸ The envious man has a wicked eye; he turns away his face, and despises men.⁹ A covetous man's eye is not satisfied with his portion; and the iniquity of the wicked drieth up his soul.¹⁰ A wicked eye envies his bread, and he is a niggard at his table.¹¹ My son, according to your ability do good to yourself, and give the Adanay his due offering.¹² Remember that death will not be long in coming, and that the covenant of the grave is not showed to you.¹³ Do good to your friend before you die, and according to your ability stretch out your hand and give to him.¹⁴ Defraud not yourself of the good day, and let not the part of a good desire overpass you.¹⁵ Shall you not leave your travails to another? and your labours to be divided by lot?¹⁶ Give, and take, and sanctify your soul; for there is no seeking of dainties in the grave.¹⁷ All flesh waxeth old as a garment: for the covenant from the beginning is, You shall die the death.¹⁸ As of the green leaves on a thick tree, some fall, and some grow; so is the generation of flesh and blood, one comes to an end, and another is born.¹⁹ Every work rotteth and consumeth away, and the worker thereof shall go withal.²⁰ Blessed is the man that does meditate good things in wisdom, and that reasoneth of holy things by his understanding.²¹ He that considers her ways in his heart shall also have understanding in her secrets.²² Go after her as one that traceth, and lie in wait in her ways.²³ He that prieth in at her windows shall also hearken at her doors.²⁴ He that does lodge near her house shall also fasten a pin in her walls.²⁵ He shall pitch his tent nigh to her, and shall lodge in a lodging where good things are.²⁶ He shall set his children under her shelter, and shall lodge under her branches.²⁷ By her he shall be covered from heat, and in her glory shall he dwell.

15 He that fears the Adanay will do good, and he that has the knowledge of the law shall obtain her.² And as a mother shall she meet him, and receive him as a wife married of a virgin.³ With the bread of understanding shall she feed him, and give him the water of wisdom to drink.⁴ He shall be stayed upon her, and shall not be moved; and shall rely upon her, and shall not be confounded.⁵ She shall exalt him above his neighbours, and in the midst of the congregation shall she open his mouth.⁶ He shall find joy and a crown of gladness, and she shall cause him to inherit an everlasting name.⁷ But foolish men shall not attain to her, and sinners shall not see her.⁸ For she is far from pride, and men that are liars cannot remember her.⁹ Praise is not seemly in the mouth of a sinner, for it was not sent him of the Adanay.¹⁰ For praise shall be uttered in wisdom, and the Adanay will prosper it.¹¹ Say not you, It is through the Adanay that I fell away: for you ought not to do the things that he hates.¹² Say not you, He has caused me to err: for he has no need of the sinful man.¹³ The Adanay hates all abomination; and they that fear Alahayam love it not.¹⁴ He himself made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsel;¹⁵ If you will, to keep the commandments, and to perform acceptable faithfulness.¹⁶ He has set fire and water before you: stretch forth your hand to whether you will.¹⁷ Before man is life and death; and whether him liketh shall be given him.¹⁸ For the wisdom of the Adanay is great, and he is mighty in power, and beholds all things:¹⁹ And his eyes are upon them that fear him, and he knows every work of man.²⁰ He has commanded no man to do wickedly, neither has he given any man licence to sin.

16 Desire not a multitude of unprofitable children, neither delight in ungodly sons.² Though they multiply, rejoice not in them, except the fear of the Adanay be with them.³ Trust not you in their life, neither respect their multitude: for one that is just is better than a thousand; and better it is to die without children, than to have them that are ungodly.⁴ For by one that has understanding shall the city be replenished: but the kindred of the wicked shall speedily become desolate.⁵ Many such things have I seen with mine eyes, and mine ear has heard greater things than these.⁶ In the congregation of the ungodly shall a fire be kindled; and in a rebellious nation wrath is set on fire.⁷ He was not pacified toward the old giants, who fell away in the strength of their foolishness.⁸ Neither spared he the place where Lawat sojourned, but abhorred them for their pride.⁹ He pitied not the people of perdition, who were taken away in their sins:¹⁰ Nor the six hundred thousand footmen, who were gathered together in the hardness of their hearts.¹¹ And if there be one stiffnecked among the people, it is marvel if he escape unpunished: for mercy and wrath are with him; he is mighty to forgive, and to pour out displeasure.¹² As his mercy is great, so is his correction also: he judges a man according to his works.¹³ The sinner shall not escape with his spoils: and the patience of the godly shall not be frustrate.¹⁴ Make way for every work of mercy: for every man shall find according to his works.¹⁵ The Adanay hardened Paraih, that he should not know him, that his powerful works might be known to the world.¹⁶ His mercy is manifest to every creature; and he has separated his light from the darkness with an adamant.¹⁷ Say not you, I will hide myself from the Adanay: shall any remember me from above? I shall not be remembered among so many people: for what is my soul among such an infinite number of creatures?¹⁸ Behold, the heaven, and the heaven of heavens, the deep, and the earth, and all that therein is, shall be moved when he shall visit.¹⁹ The mountains also and foundations of the earth be shaken with trembling, when the Adanay looks upon them.²⁰ No heart can think upon these things worthily: and who is able to conceive his ways?²¹ It is a tempest which no man can see: for the most part of his works are hid.²² Who can declare the works of his justice? or who can endure them? for his covenant is afar off, and the trial of all things is in the end.²³ He that wanteth understanding will think upon vain things: and a foolish man erring imagineth follies.²⁴ by son, hearken to me, and learn knowledge, and mark my words with your heart.²⁵ I will show forth doctrine in weight, and declare his knowledge exactly.²⁶ The works of the Adanay are done in judgment from the beginning; and from the time he made them he disposed the parts thereof.²⁷ He garnished his works for ever, and in his hand are the chief of them to all generations: they neither labour, nor are weary, nor cease from their works.²⁸ None of them hinders another, and they shall never disobey his word.²⁹ After this the Adanay looked upon the earth, and filled it with his blessings.³⁰ With all manner of living things has he covered the face thereof; and they shall return into it again.

17 The Adanay created man of the earth, and turned him into it again.² He gave them few days, and a short time, and power also over the things therein.³ He endued them with strength by themselves, and made them according to his image,⁴ And put the fear of man upon all flesh, and gave him dominion over beasts and fowls.⁵ They received the use of the five operations of the Adanay, and in the sixth place he imparted them understanding, and in the seventh speech, an interpreter of the cogitations thereof.⁶ Counsel, and a tongue, and eyes, ears, and a heart, gave he them to understand.⁷ Withal he filled them with the knowledge of understanding, and showed them good and evil.⁸ He set his eye upon their hearts, that he might show them the greatness of his works.⁹ He gave them to glory in his marvellous acts for ever, that they might declare his works with understanding.¹⁰ And the elect shall praise his holy name.¹¹ Beside this he gave them knowledge, and the law of life for an heritage.¹² He made an everlasting covenant with them, and showed them his judgments.¹³ Their eyes saw the majesty of his glory, and their ears heard his glorious voice.¹⁴ And he said to them, Beware of all unrighteousness; and he gave every man commandment concerning his neighbour.¹⁵ Their ways are ever before him, and shall not be hid from his eyes.¹⁶ Every man from his youth is given to evil; neither could they make to themselves fleshy hearts for stony.¹⁷ For in the division of the nations of the whole earth he set a ruler over every people; but Yasharaal is the Adanay's portion:¹⁸ Whom, being his firstborn, he nourisheth with discipline, and giving him the light of his love does not forsake him.¹⁹ Therefore all their works are as the sun before him, and his eyes are continually upon their ways.²⁰ None of their unrighteous deeds are hid from him, but all their sins are before the Adanay.²¹ But the Adanay being gracious and knowing his workmanship, neither left nor forsook them, but spared them.²² The alms of a man is as a signet with him, and he will keep the good deeds of man as the apple of the eye, and give repentance to his sons and daughters.²³ Afterwards he will rise up and reward them, and render their recompence upon their heads.²⁴ But to them that repent, he granted them return, and comforted those that failed in patience.²⁵ Return to the Adanay, and forsake your sins, make your prayer before his face, and offend less.²⁶ Turn again to the most High, and turn away from iniquity: for he will lead you out of darkness into the light of health, and hate you abomination vehemently.²⁷ Who shall praise the most High in the grave, instead of them which live and give thanks?²⁸ Thanksgiving perisheth from the dead, as from one that is not: the living and sound in heart shall praise the Adanay.²⁹ How great is the lovingkindness of the Adanay our Alahayam, and his compassion to such as turn to him in holiness!³⁰ For all things cannot be in men, because the son of man is not immortal.³¹ What is brighter than the sun? yet the light thereof fails; and flesh and blood will imagine evil.³² He vieweth the power of the height of heaven; and all men are but earth and ashes.

18 He that lives for ever Has created all things in general.² The Adanay only is righteous, and there is none other but he,³ Who governeth the world with the palm of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he is the King of all, by his power dividing holy things among them from profane.⁴ To whom has he given power to declare his works? and who shall find out his noble acts?⁵ Who shall number the strength of his majesty? and who shall also tell out his mercies?⁶ As for the wondrous works of the Adanay, there may nothing be taken from them, neither may any thing be put to them, neither can the ground of them be found out.⁷ When a man has done, then he begins; and when he leaves off, then he shall be doubtful.⁸ What is man, and whereto serves he? what is his good, and what is his evil?⁹ The number of a man's days at the most are an hundred years.¹⁰ As a drop of water to the sea, and a gravestone in comparison of the sand; so are a thousand years to the days of eternity.¹¹ Therefore is Alahayam patient with them, and pours forth his mercy upon them.¹² He saw and perceived their end to be evil; therefore he multiplied his compassion.¹³ The mercy of man is toward his neighbour; but the mercy of the Adanay is upon all flesh: he reproveth, and nutureth, and teaches and brings again, as a shepherd his flock.¹⁴ He has mercy on them that receive discipline, and that diligently seek after his judgments.¹⁵ My son, blemish not your good deeds, neither use uncomfortable words when you give any thing.¹⁶ Shall not the dew assuage the heat? so is a word better than a gift.¹⁷ Lo, is not a word better than a gift? but both are with a gracious man.¹⁸ A fool will upbraid churlishly, and a gift of the envious consumeth the eyes.¹⁹ Learn before you speak, and use physick or ever you be sick.²⁰ Before judgment examine yourself, and in the day of visitation you shall find mercy.²¹ Humble yourself before you be sick, and in the time of sins show repentance.²² Let nothing hinder you to pay your vow in due time, and defer not until death to be justified.²³ Before you pray, prepare yourself; and be not as one that tempteth the Adanay.²⁴ Think upon the wrath that shall be at the end, and the time of vengeance, when he shall turn away his face.²⁵ When you have enough, remember the time of hunger: and when you are rich, think upon poverty and need.²⁶ From the morning until the evening the time is changed, and all things are soon done before the Adanay.²⁷ A wise man will fear in every thing, and in the day of sinning he will beware of offence: but a fool will not observe time.²⁸ Every man of understanding knows wisdom, and will give praise to him that found her.²⁹ They that were of understanding in sayings became also wise themselves, and poured forth exquisite parables.³⁰ Go not after your lusts, but refrain yourself from your appetites.³¹ If you give your soul the desires that please her, she will make you a laughingstock to your enemies that malign you.³² Take not pleasure in much good cheer, neither be tied to the expence thereof.³³ Be not made a beggar by banqueting upon borrowing, when you have nothing in your purse: for you shall lie in wait for your own life, and be talked on.

19 A labouring man that A is given to drunkenness shall not be rich: and he that contemneth small things shall fall by little and little.² Wine and women will make men of understanding to fall away: and he that cleaves to harlots will become impudent.³ Moths and worms shall have him to heritage, and a bold man shall be taken away.⁴ He that is hasty to give credit is lightminded; and he that sins shall offend against his own soul.⁵ Whoso takes pleasure in wickedness shall be condemned: but he that resists pleasures crowns his life.⁶ He that can rule his tongue shall live without strife; and he that hates babbling shall have less evil.⁷ Rehearse not to another that which is told to you, and you shall fare never the worse.⁸ Whether it be to friend or foe, talk not of other men's lives; and if you can without offence, reveal them not.⁹ For he heard and observed you, and when time comes he will hate you.¹⁰ If you have heard a word, let it die with you; and be bold, it will not burst you.¹¹ A fool travaileth with a word, as a woman in labour of a child.¹² As an arrow that sticketh in a man's thigh, so is a word within a fool's belly.¹³ Admonish a friend, it may be he has not done it: and if he have done it, that he do it no more.¹⁴ Admonish your friend, it may be he has not said it: and if he have, that he speak it not again.¹⁵ Admonish a friend: for many times it is a slander, and believe not every tale.¹⁶ There is one that slippeth in his speech, but not from his heart; and who is he that has not offended with his tongue?¹⁷ Admonish your neighbour before you threaten him; and not being angry, give place to the law of the most High.¹⁸ The fear of the Adanay is the first step to be accepted of him, and wisdom obtaineth his love.¹⁹ The knowledge of the commandments of the Adanay is the doctrine of life: and they that do things that please him shall receive the fruit of the tree of immortality.²⁰ The fear of the Adanay is all wisdom; and in all wisdom is the performance of the law, and the knowledge of his omnipotency.²¹ If a servant say to his master, I will not do as it pleases you; though afterward he do it, he angereth him that nourisheth him.²² The knowledge of wickedness is not wisdom, neither at any time the counsel of sinners prudence.²³ There is a wickedness, and the same an abomination; and there is a fool wanting in wisdom.²⁴ He that has small understanding, and fears Alahayam, is better than one that has much wisdom, and transgresseth the law of the most High.²⁵ There is an exquisite subtilty, and the same is unjust; and there is one that turns aside to make judgment appear; and there is a wise man that justifies in judgment.²⁶ There is a wicked man that hangeth down his head sadly; but inwardly he is full of deceit,²⁷ Casting down his countenance, and making as if he heard not: where he is not known, he will do you a mischief before you be aware.²⁸ And if for want of power he be hindered from sinning, yet when he finds opportunity he will do evil.²⁹ A man may be known by his look, and one that has understanding by his countenance, when you meet him.³⁰ A man's attire, and excessive laughter, and gait, show what he is.

20 There is a reproof that is not comely: again, some man holds his tongue, and he is wise.² It is much better to reprove, than to be angry secretly; and he that confesseth his fault shall be preserved from hurt.³ How good is it, when you are reprov'd, to show repentance! for so shall you escape wilful sin.⁴ As is the lust of an

eunuch to deflower a virgin; so is he that executeth judgment with violence.⁵ There is one that keeps silence, and is found wise: and another by much babbling becomes hateful.⁶ Some man holds his tongue, because he has not to answer: and some keeps silence, knowing his time.⁷ A wise man will hold his tongue till he see opportunity: but a babbler and a fool will regard no time.⁸ He that useth many words shall be abhorred; and he that takes to himself authority therein shall be hated.⁹ There is a sinner that has good success in evil things; and t,1);The Adanay created man of the earth, and turned him into it again.¹⁰ There is a gift that shall not profit you; and there is a gift whose recompence is double.¹¹ There is an abasement because of glory; and there is that lifts up his head from a low estate.¹² There is that buyeth much for a little, and repayeth it sevenfold.¹³ A wise man by his words makes him beloved: but the graces of fools shall be poured out.¹⁴ The gift of a fool shall do you no good when you have it; neither yet of the envious for his necessity: for he looks to receive many things for one.¹⁵ He gives little, and upbraideth much; he opens his mouth like a crier; to day he lendeth, and to morrow will he ask it again: such an one is to be hated of Alahayam and man.¹⁶ The fool says, I have no friends, I have no thank for all my good deeds, and they that eat my bread speak evil of me.¹⁷ How oft, and of how many shall he be laughed to scorn! for he knows not aright what it is to have; and it is all one to him as if he had it not.¹⁸ To slip upon a pavement is better than to slip with the tongue: so the fall of the wicked shall come speedily.¹⁹ An unseasonable tale will always be in the mouth of the unwise.²⁰ A wise sentence shall be rejected when it comes out of a fool's mouth; for he will not speak it in due season.²¹ There is that is hindered from sinning through want: and when he takes rest, he shall not be troubled.²² There is that destroys his own soul through bashfulness, and by accepting of persons overthroweth himself.²³ There is that for bashfulness promiseth to his friend, and makes him his enemy for nothing.²⁴ A lie is a foul blot in a man, yet it is continually in the mouth of the untaught.²⁵ A thief is better than a man that is accustomed to lie: but they both shall have destruction to heritage.²⁶ The disposition of a liar is dishonourable, and his shame is ever with him.²⁷ A wise man shall promote himself to honour with his words: and he that has understanding will please great men.²⁸ He that tilleth his land shall increase his heap: and he that pleases great men shall get pardon for iniquity.²⁹ Presents and gifts blind the eyes of the wise, and stop up his mouth that he cannot reprove.³⁰ Wisdom that is hid, and treasure that is hoarded up, what profit is in them both?³¹ Better is he that hides his folly than a man that hides his wisdom.³² Necessary patience in seeking ing the Adanay is better than he that leads his life without a guide.

21 My son, have you sinned? do so no more, but ask pardon for your former sins.² Flee from sin as from the face of a serpent: for if you come too near it, it will bite you: the teeth thereof are as the teeth of a lion, slaying the souls of men.³ All iniquity is as a two edged sword, the wounds whereof cannot be healed.⁴ To terrify and do wrong will waste riches: thus the house of proud men shall be made desolate.⁵ A prayer out of a poor man's mouth reacheth to the ears of Alahayam, and his judgment comes speedily.⁶ He that hates to be reprov'd is in the way of sinners: but he that fears the Adanay will repent from his heart.⁷ An eloquent man is known far and near; but a man of understanding knows when he slippeth.⁸ He that builds his house with other men's money is like one that gathers himself stones for the tomb of his burial.⁹ The congregation of the wicked is like tow wrapped together: and the end of them is a flame of fire to destroy them.¹⁰ The way of sinners is made plain with stones, but at the end thereof is the pit of hell.¹¹ He that keeps the law of the Adanay gets the understanding thereof: and the perfection of the fear of the Adanay is wisdom.¹² He that is not wise will not be taught: but there is a wisdom which multiplies bitterness.¹³ The knowledge of a wise man shall abound like a flood: and his counsel is like a pure fountain of life.¹⁴ The inner parts of a fool are like a broken vessel, and he will hold no knowledge as long as he lives.¹⁵ If a skilful man hear a wise word, he will commend it, and add to it: but as soon as one of no understanding hears it, it displeaseth him, and he casts it behind his back.¹⁶ The talking of a fool is like a burden in the way: but grace shall be found in the lips of the wise.¹⁷ They enquire at the mouth of the wise man in the congregation, and they shall ponder his words in their heart.¹⁸ As is a house that is destroyed, so is wisdom to a fool: and the knowledge of the unwise is as talk without sense.¹⁹ Doctrine to fools is as fetters on the feet, and like manacles on the right hand.²⁰ A fool lifts up his voice with laughter; but a wise man does scarce smile a little.²¹ Learning is to a wise man as an ornament of gold, and like a bracelet upon his right arm.²² A foolish man's foot is soon in his neighbour's house: but a man of experience is ashamed of him.²³ A fool will peep in at the door into the house: but he that is well nurtured will stand without.²⁴ It is the rudeness of a man to hearken at the door: but a wise man will be grieved with the disgrace.²⁵ The lips of talkers will be telling such things as pertain not to them: but the words of such as have understanding are weighed in the balance.²⁶ The heart of fools is in their mouth: but the mouth of the wise is in their heart.²⁷ When the ungodly curses Satan, he curses his own soul.²⁸ A whisperer defiles his own soul, and is hated wheresoever he dwells.

22 A slothful man is compared to a filthy stone, and every one will hiss him out to his disgrace.² A slothful man is compared to the filth of a dunghill: every man that takes it up will shake his hand.³ An evilnurtured man is the dishonour of his father that begat him: and a foolish daughter is born to his loss.⁴ A wise daughter shall bring an inheritance to her husband: but she that lives dishonestly is her father's heaviness.⁵ She that is bold dishonoureth both her father and her husband, but they both shall despise her.⁶ A tale out of season is as musick in mourning: but stripes and correction of wisdom are never out of time.⁷ Whoso teaches a fool is as one that glueth a potsherd together, and as he that wakes one from a sound sleep.⁸ He that tells a tale to a fool speaks to one in a slumber: when he has told his tale, he will say, What is the matter?⁹ If children live honestly, and have wherewithal, they shall cover the baseness of their parents.¹⁰ But children, being haughty, through disdain and want of nurture do stain the nobility of their kindred.¹¹ Weep for the dead, for he has lost the light: and weep for the fool, for he wanteth understanding: make little weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of the fool is worse than death.¹² Seven days do men mourn for him that is dead; but for a fool and an ungodly man all the days of his life.¹³ Talk not much with a fool, and go not to him that has no understanding: beware of him, lest you have trouble, and you shall never be defiled with his fooleries: depart from him, and you shall find rest, and never be disquieted with madness.¹⁴ What is heavier than lead? and what is the name thereof, but a fool?¹⁵ Sand, and salt, and a mass of iron, is easier to bear, than a man without understanding.¹⁶ As timber girt and bound together in a building cannot be loosed with shaking: so the heart that is stablished by advised counsel shall fear at no time.¹⁷ A heart settled upon a thought of understanding is as a fair plaistering on the wall of a gallery.¹⁸ Pales set on an high place will never stand against the wind: so a fearful heart in the imagination of a fool cannot stand against any fear.¹⁹ He that pricketh the eye will make tears to fall: and he that pricketh the heart makes it to show her knowledge.²⁰ Whoso casts a stone at the birds frayeth them away: and he that upbraideth his friend breaks friendship.²¹ Though you drewest a sword at your friend, yet despair not: for there may be a returning to favour.²² If you have opened your mouth against your friend, fear not; for there may be a reconciliation: except for upbraiding, or pride, or disclosing of secrets, or a treacherous wound: for for these things every friend will depart.²³ Be faithful to your neighbour in his poverty, that you may rejoice in his prosperity: abide stedfast to him in the time of his trouble, that you may be heir with him in his heritage: for a mean estate is not always to be contemned: nor the rich that is foolish to be had in admiration.²⁴ As the vapour and smoke of a furnace goes before the fire; so reviling before blood.²⁵ I will not be ashamed to defend a friend; neither will I hide myself from him.²⁶ And if any evil happen to me by him, every one that hears it will beware of him.²⁷ Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a seal of wisdom upon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

23 O Adanay, Father and Governor of all my whole life, leave me not to their counsels, and let me not fall by them.² Who will set scourges over my thoughts, and the discipline of wisdom over mine heart? that they spare me not for mine ignorances, and it pass not by my sins:³ Lest mine ignorances increase, and my sins abound to my destruction, and I fall before mine adversaries, and mine enemy rejoice over me, whose hope is far from your mercy.⁴ O Adanay, Father and Alahayam of my life, give me not a proud look, but turn away from your servants always a haughty mind.⁵ Turn away from me vain hopes and concupiscence, and you shall hold him up that is desirous always to serve you.⁶ Let not the greediness of the belly nor lust of the flesh take hold of me; and give not over me your servant into an impudent mind.⁷ Hear, O you children, the discipline of the mouth: he that keeps it shall never be taken in his lips.⁸ The sinner shall be left in his foolishness: both the evil speaker and the proud shall fall thereby.⁹ Accustom not your mouth to swearing; neither use yourself to the naming of the Holy One.¹⁰ For as a servant that is continually beaten shall not be without a blue mark: so he that swears and nameth Alahayam continually shall not be faultless.¹¹ A man that useth much swearing shall be filled with iniquity, and the plague shall never depart from his house: if he shall offend, his sin shall be upon him: and if he acknowledge not his sin, he makes a double offence: and if he swear in vain, he shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of calamities.¹² There is a word that is clothed about with death: Alahayam grant that it be not found in the heritage of Yaiqab; for all such things shall be far from the godly, and they shall not wallow in their sins.¹³ Use not your mouth to intemperate swearing, for therein is the word of sin.¹⁴ Remember your father and your mother, when you sit among great men. Be not forgetful before them, and so you by your custom become a fool, and wish that you had not been born, and curse they day of your nativity.¹⁵ The man that is accustomed to opprobrious words will never be reformed all the days of his life.¹⁶ Two sorts of men multiply sin, and the third will bring wrath: a hot mind is as a burning fire, it will never be quenched till it be consumed: a fornicator in the body of his flesh will never cease till he has kindled a fire.¹⁷ All bread is sweet to a whoremonger, he will not leave off till he die.¹⁸ A man that breaks wedlock, saying thus in his heart, Who sees me? I am compassed about with darkness, the walls cover me, and no body sees me; what need I to fear? the most High will not remember my sins:¹⁹ Such a man only fears the eyes of men, and knows not that the eyes of the Adanay are ten thousand times brighter than the sun, beholding all the ways of men, and considering the most secret parts.²⁰ He knew all things ere ever they were created; so also after they were perfected he looked upon them all.²¹ This man shall be punished in the streets of the city, and where he suspecteth not he shall be taken.²² Thus shall it go also with the wife that leaves her husband, and brings in an heir by another.²³ For first, she has disobeyed the law of the most High; and secondly, she has trespassed against her own husband; and thirdly, she has played the whore in adultery, and brought children by another man.²⁴ She shall be brought out into the congregation, and inquisition shall be made of her children.²⁵ Her children shall not take root, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.²⁶ She shall leave her memory to be cursed, and her reproach shall not be blotted out.²⁷ And they that remain shall know that there is nothing better than the fear of the Adanay, and that there is nothing sweeter than to take heed to the commandments of the Adanay.²⁸ It is great glory to follow the Adanay, and to be received of him is long life.

24 Wisdom shall praise herself, and shall glory in the midst of her people.² In the congregation of the most High shall she open her mouth, and triumph before his power.³ I came out of the mouth of the most High, and covered the earth as a cloud.⁴ I dwelt in high places, and my throne is in a cloudy pillar.⁵ I alone compassed the circuit of heaven, and walked in the bottom of the deep.⁶ In the waves of the sea and in all the earth, and in every people and nation, I got a possession.⁷ With all these I sought rest: and in whose inheritance shall I abide?⁸ So the Creator of all things gave me a commandment, and he that made me caused my tabernacle to rest, and said, Let your dwelling be in Yaiqab, and your inheritance in Yasharaal.⁹ He created me from the beginning before the world, and I shall never fail.¹⁰ In the holy tabernacle I served before him; and so was I established in Shayaan.¹¹ Likewise in the beloved city he gave me rest, and in Yarawashalam was my power.¹² And I took root in an honourable people, even in the portion of the Adanay's inheritance.¹³ I was exalted like a cedar in Libanus, and as a cypress tree upon the mountains of Charamawan.¹⁴ I was exalted like a palm tree in En-Gaday, and as a rose plant in Yarayachaw, as a fair olive tree in a pleasant field, and grew up as a plane tree by the water.¹⁵ I gave a sweet smell like cinnamon and aspalathus, and I yielded a pleasant odour like the best myrrh, as galbanum, and onyx, and sweet storax, and as the fume of frankincense in the tabernacle.¹⁶ As the turpentine tree I stretched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.¹⁷ As the vine brought I forth pleasant savour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.¹⁸ I am the mother of fair love, and fear, and knowledge, and holy hope: I therefore, being eternal, am given to all my children which are named of him.¹⁹ Come to me, all you that be desirous of me, and fill yourselves with my fruits.²⁰ For my memorial is sweeter than honey, and mine inheritance than the honeycomb.²¹ They that eat me shall yet be hungry, and they that drink me shall yet be thirsty.²² He that obeys me shall never be confounded, and they that work by me shall not do amiss.²³ All these things are the book of the covenant of the most high Alahayam, even the law which Mashah commanded for an heritage to the congregations of Yaiqab.²⁴ Faint not to be strong in the Adanay; that he may confirm you, cleave to him: for the Adanay Shaday is Alahayam alone, and beside him there is no other Saviour.²⁵ He fills all things with his wisdom, as Phison and as Tigris in the time of the new fruits.²⁶ He makes the understanding to abound like Parath, and as Yaradan in the time of the harvest.²⁷ He makes the doctrine of knowledge appear as the light, and as Geon in the time of vintage.²⁸ The first man knew her not perfectly: no more shall the last find her out.²⁹ For her thoughts are more than the sea, and her counsels profounder than the great deep.³⁰ I also came out as a brook from a river, and as a conduit into a garden.³¹ I said, I will water my best garden, and will water abundantly my garden bed: and, lo, my brook became a river, and my river became a sea.³² I will yet make doctrine to shine as the morning, and will send forth her light afar off.³³ I will yet pour out doctrine as prophecy, and leave it to all ages for ever.³⁴ Behold that I have not laboured for myself only, but for all them that seek wisdom.

25 In three things I was beautified, and stood up beautiful both before Alahayam and men: the unity of brethren, the love of neighbours, a man and a wife that agree together.² Three sorts of men my soul hates, and I am greatly offended at their life: a poor man that is proud, a rich man that is a liar, and an old adulterer that doateth.³ If you have gathered nothing in your youth, how can you find any thing in your age?⁴ O how comely a thing is judgment for gray hairs, and for ancient men to know counsel!⁵ O how comely is the wisdom of old men, and understanding and counsel to men of honour.⁶ Much experience is the crown of old men, and the fear of Alahayam is their glory.⁷ There be nine things which I have judged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth I will utter with my tongue: A man that has joy of his children; and he that lives to see the fall of his enemy:⁸ Well is him that dwells with a wife of understanding, and that has not slipped with his tongue, and that has not served a man more unworthy than himself:⁹ Well is him that has found prudence, and he that speaks in the ears of them that will hear:¹⁰ O how great is he that finds wisdom! yet is there none above him that fears the Adanay.¹¹ But the love of the Adanay passes all things for illumination: he that holds it, whereto shall he be likened?¹² The fear of the Adanay is the beginning of his love: and faith is the beginning of cleaving to him.¹³ Give me any plague, but the plague of the heart: and any wickedness, but the wickedness of a woman:¹⁴ And any affliction, but the affliction from them that hate me: and any revenge, but the revenge of enemies.¹⁵ There is no head above the head of a serpent; and there is no wrath above the wrath of an enemy.¹⁶ I had rather dwell with a lion and a dragon, than to keep house with a wicked woman.¹⁷ The wickedness of a woman changeth her face, and darkens her countenance like sackcloth.¹⁸ Her husband shall sit among his neighbours; and when he hears it shall sigh bitterly.¹⁹ All wickedness is but little to the wickedness of a woman: let the portion of a sinner fall upon her.²⁰ As the climbing up a sandy way is to the feet of the aged, so is a wife full of words to a quiet man.²¹ Stumble not at the beauty of a woman, and desire her not for pleasure.²² A woman, if she maintain her husband, is full of anger, impudence, and much reproach.²³ A wicked woman abateth the courage, makes an heavy countenance and a wounded heart: a woman that will not comfort her husband in distress makes weak hands and feeble knees.²⁴ Of the woman came the beginning of sin, and through her we all die.²⁵ Give the water no passage; neither a wicked woman liberty to gad abroad.²⁶ If she go not as you would have her, cut her off from your flesh, and give her a bill of divorce, and let her go.

26 Blessed is the man that has a virtuous wife, for the number of his days shall be double.² A virtuous woman rejoices her husband, and he shall fulfil the years of his life in peace.³ A good wife is a good portion, which shall be given in the portion of them that fear the Adanay.⁴ Whether a man be rich or poor, if he have a good heart toward the Adanay, he shall at all times rejoice with a cheerful countenance.⁵ There be three things that mine heart fears; and for the fourth I was sore afraid: the slander of a city, the gathering together of an unruly multitude, and a false accusation: all these are worse than death.⁶ But a grief of heart and sorrow is a woman that is jealous over another woman, and a scourge of the tongue which communicateth with all.⁷ An evil wife is a yoke shaken to and fro: he that has hold of her is as though he held a scorpion.⁸ A drunken woman and a gadder abroad causes great anger, and she will not cover her own shame.⁹ The whoredom of a woman may be known in her haughty looks and eyelids.¹⁰ If your daughter be shameless, keep her in straitly, lest she abuse herself through overmuch liberty.¹¹ Watch over an impudent eye: and marvel not if she trespass against you.¹² She will open her mouth, as a thirsty traveller when he has found a fountain, and drink of every water near her: by every hedge will she sit down, and open her quiver against every arrow.¹³ The grace of a wife delights her husband, and her discretion will fatten his bones.¹⁴ A silent and loving woman is a gift of the Adanay; and there is nothing so much worth as a mind well instructed.¹⁵ A shamefaced and faithful woman is a double grace, and her continent mind cannot be valued.¹⁶ As the sun when it arises in the high heaven; so is the beauty of a good wife in the ordering of her house.¹⁷ As the clear light is upon the holy candlestick; so is the beauty of the face in ripe age.¹⁸ As the golden pillars are upon the sockets of silver; so are the fair feet with a constant heart.¹⁹ My son, keep the flower of your age sound; and give not your strength to strangers.²⁰ When you have gotten a fruitful possession through all the field, sow it with your own seed, trusting in the goodness of your stock.²¹ So your race which you leave shall be magnified, having the confidence of their good descent.²² An harlot shall be accounted as spittle; but a married woman is a tower against death to her husband.²³ A wicked woman is given as a portion to a wicked man: but a godly woman is given to him that fears the Adanay.²⁴ A dishonest woman contemneth shame: but an honest woman will reverence her husband.²⁵ A shameless woman shall be counted as a dog; but she that is shamefaced will fear the Adanay.²⁶ A woman that honours her husband shall be judged wise of all; but she that dishonoureth him in her pride shall be counted ungodly of all.²⁷ A loud crying woman and a scold shall be sought out to drive away the enemies.²⁸ There be two things that grieve my heart; and the third makes me angry: a man of war that suffers poverty; and men of understanding that are not set by; and one that returns from righteousness to sin; the Adanay prepares such an one for the sword.²⁹ A merchant shall hardly keep himself from doing wrong; and an huckster shall not be freed from sin.

27 Many have sinned for a small matter; and he that seeks for abundance will turn his eyes away.² As a nail sticketh fast between the joinings of the stones; so does sin stick close between buying and selling.³ Unless a man hold himself diligently in the fear of the Adanay, his house shall soon be overthrown.⁴ As when one sifteth with a sieve, the refuse remains; so the filth of man in his talk.⁵ The furnace proveth the potter's vessels; so the trial of man is in his reasoning.⁶ The fruit declares if the tree have been dressed; so is the utterance of a conceit in the heart of man.⁷ Praise no man before you hear him speak; for this is the trial of men.⁸ If you follow righteousness, you shall obtain her, and put her on, as a glorious long robe.⁹ The birds will resort to their like; so will truth return to them that practise in her.¹⁰ As the lion lies in wait for the prey; so sin for them that work iniquity.¹¹ The discourse of a godly man is always with wisdom; but a fool changeth as the moon.¹² If you be among the indiscreet, observe the time; but be continually among men of understanding.¹³ The discourse of fools is irksome, and their sport is the wantonness of sin.¹⁴ The talk of him that swears much makes the hair stand upright; and their brawls make one stop his ears.¹⁵ The strife of the proud is bloodshedding, and their revilings are grievous to the ear.¹⁶ Whoso discovereth secrets loseth his credit; and shall never find friend to his mind.¹⁷ Love your friend, and be faithful to him: but if you betray his secrets, follow no more after him.¹⁸ For as a man has destroyed his enemy; so have you lost the love of your neighbor.¹⁹ As one that lets a bird go out of his hand, so have you let your neighbour go, and shall not get him again.²⁰ Follow after him no more, for he is too far off; he is as a roe escaped out of the snare.²¹ As for a wound, it may be bound up; and after reviling there may be reconciliation: but he that betrays secrets is without hope.²² He that winketh with the eyes works evil: and he that knows him will depart from him.²³ When you are present, he will speak sweetly, and will admire your words: but at the last he will writhe his mouth, and slander your sayings.²⁴ I have hated many things, but nothing like him; for the Adanay will hate him.²⁵ Whoso casts a stone on high casts it on his own head; and a deceitful stroke shall make wounds.²⁶ Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein: and he that sets a trap shall be taken therein.²⁷ He that works mischief, it shall fall upon him, and he shall not know whence it comes.²⁸ Mockery and reproach are from the proud; but vengeance, as a lion, shall lie in wait for them.²⁹ They that rejoice at the fall of the righteous shall be taken in the snare; and anguish shall consume them before they die.³⁰ Malice and wrath, even these are abominations; and the sinful man shall have them both.

28 He that revengeth shall find vengeance from the Adanay, and he will surely keep his sins in remembrance.² Forgive your neighbour the hurt that he has done to you, so shall your sins also be forgiven when you pray.³ One man bears hatred against another, and does he seek pardon from the Adanay?⁴ He shows no mercy to a man, which is like himself: and does he ask forgiveness of his own sins?⁵ If he that is but flesh nourish hatred, who will intreat for pardon of his sins?⁶ Remember your end, and let enmity cease; remember corruption and death, and abide in the commandments.⁷ Remember the commandments, and bear no malice to your neighbour: remember the covenant of the Highest, and wink at ignorance.⁸ Abstain from strife, and you shall diminish your sins: for a furious man will kindle strife.⁹ A sinful man disquieteth friends, and makes debate among them that be at peace.¹⁰ As the matter of the fire is, so it burns: and as a man's strength is, so is his wrath; and according to his riches his anger rises; and the stronger they are which contend, the more they will be inflamed.¹¹ An hasty contention kindles a fire: and an hasty fighting sheds blood.¹² If you blow the spark, it shall burn: if you spit upon it, it shall be quenched: and both these come out of your mouth.¹³ Curse the whisperer and doubletongued: for such have destroyed many that were at peace.¹⁴ A backbiting tongue has disquieted many, and driven them from nation to nation: strong cities has it pulled down, and overthrown the houses of great men.¹⁵ A backbiting tongue has cast out virtuous women, and deprived them of their labours.¹⁶ Whoso hearkens to it shall never find rest, and never dwell quietly.¹⁷ The stroke of the whip makes marks in the flesh: but the stroke of the tongue breaks the bones.¹⁸ Many have fallen by the edge of the sword: but not so many as have fallen by the tongue.¹⁹ Well is he that is defended through the venom thereof; who has not drawn the yoke thereof, nor has been bound in her bands.²⁰ For the yoke thereof is a yoke of iron, and the bands thereof are bands of brass.²¹ The death thereof is an evil death, the grave were better than it.²² It shall not have rule over them that fear Alahayam, neither shall they be burned with the flame thereof.²³ Such as forsake the Adanay shall fall into it; and it shall burn in them, and not be quenched; it shall be sent upon them as a lion, and devour them as a leopard.²⁴ Look that he hedge your possession about with thorns, and bind up your silver and gold,²⁵ And weigh your words in a balance, and make a door and bar for your mouth.²⁶ Beware you slide not by it, lest you fall before him that lies in wait.

29 He that is merciful will lend to his neighbour; and he that strengthens his hand keeps the commandments.² Lend to your neighbour in time of his need, and pay you your neighbour again in due season.³ Keep your word, and deal faithfully with him, and you shall always find the thing that is necessary for you.⁴ Many, when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and put them to trouble that helped them.⁵ Till he has received, he will kiss a man's hand; and for his neighbour's money he will speak submissly: but when he should repay, he will prolong the time, and return words of grief, and complain of the time.⁶ If he prevail, he shall hardly receive the half, and he will count as if he had found it: if not, he has deprived him of his money, and he has gotten him an enemy without cause: he payeth him with cursings and railings; and for honour he will pay him disgrace.⁷ Many therefore have refused to lend for other men's ill dealing, fearing to be defrauded.⁸ Yet have you patience with a man in poor estate, and delay not to show him mercy.⁹ Help the poor for the commandment's sake, and turn him not away because of his poverty.¹⁰ Lose your money for your brother and your friend, and let it not rust under a stone to be lost.¹¹ Lay up your treasure according to the commandments of the most High, and it shall bring you more profit than gold.¹² Shut up alms in your storehouses: and it shall deliver you from all affliction.¹³ It shall fight for you against your enemies better than a mighty shield and strong spear.¹⁴ An honest man is surety for his neighbour: but he that is impudent will forsake him.¹⁵ Forget not the friendship of your surety, for he has given his life for you.¹⁶ A sinner will overthrow the good estate of his surety:¹⁷ And he that is of an unthankful mind will leave him in danger that delivered him.¹⁸ Suretiship has undone many of good estate, and shaken them as a wave of the sea: mighty men has it driven from their houses, so that they wandered among strange nations.¹⁹ A wicked man transgressing the commandments of the Adanay shall fall into suretiship: and he that undertakes and follows other men's business for gain shall fall into suits.²⁰ Help your neighbour according to your power, and beware that you yourself fall not into the same.²¹ The chief thing for life is water, and bread, and clothing, and an house to cover shame.²² Better is the life of a poor man in a mean cottage, than delicate fare in another man's house.²³ Be it little or much, hold you contented, that you hear not the reproach of your house.²⁴ For it is a miserable life to go from house to house: for where you are a stranger, you darest not open your mouth.²⁵ You shall entertain, and feast, and have no thanks: moreover you shall hear bitter words:²⁶ Come, you stranger, and furnish a table, and feed me of that you have ready.²⁷ Give place, you stranger, to an honourable man; my brother comes to be lodged, and I have need of mine house.²⁸ These things are grievous to a man of understanding; the upbraiding of houseroom, and reproaching of the lender.

30 He that loves his son causes him oft to feel the rod, that he may have joy of him in the end.² He that chastiseth his son shall have joy in him, and shall rejoice of him among his acquaintance.

⁹ Cocker your child, and he shall make you afraid: play with him, and he will bring you to heaviness.¹⁰ Laugh not with him, lest you have sorrow with him, and lest you gnash your teeth in the end.

¹² Bow down his neck while he is young, and beat him on the sides while he is a child, lest he wax stubborn, and be disobedient to you, and so bring sorrow to your heart.¹³ Chastise your son, and hold him to labour, lest his lewd behaviour be an offence to you.

31 Watching for riches consumeth the flesh, and the care thereof drives away sleep.² Watching care will not let a man slumber, as a sore disease breaks sleep,³ The rich has great labour in gathering riches together; and when he rests, he is filled with his delicates.

⁴ The poor laboureth in his poor estate; and when he leaves off, he is still needy.⁵ He that loves gold shall not be justified, and he that follows corruption shall have enough thereof.⁶ Gold has been the ruin of many, and their destruction was present.⁷ It is a stumblingblock to them that sacrifice to it, and every fool shall be taken therewith.⁸ Blessed is the rich that is found without blemish, and has not gone after gold.⁹ Who is he? and we will call him blessed: for wonderful things has he done among his people.

the report of his good housekeeping will be believed.²⁴ But against him that is a niggard of his meat the whole city shall murmur; and the testimonies of his niggardness shall not be doubted of.²⁵ Show not your valiantness in wine; for wine has destroyed many.²⁶ The furnace proveth the edge by dipping: so does wine the hearts of the proud by drunkenness.²⁷ Wine is as good as life to a man, if it be drunk moderately: what life is then to a man that is without wine? for it was made to make men glad.²⁸ Wine measurably drunk and in season brings gladness of the heart, and cheerfulness of the mind:²⁹ But wine drunken with excess makes bitterness of the mind, with brawling and quarrelling.³⁰ Drunkenness increases the rage of a fool till he offend: it diminisheth strength, and makes wounds.³¹ Rebuke not your neighbour at the wine, and despise him not in his mirth: give him no despicable words, and press not upon him with urging him to drink.

32 If you be made the master of a feast, lift not yourself up, but be among them as one of the rest; take diligent care for them, and so sit down.² And when you have done all your office, take your place, that you may be merry with them, and receive a crown for your well ordering of the feast.³ Speak, you that art the elder, for it becomes you, but with sound judgment; and hinder not musick.⁴ Pour not out words where there is a musician, and show not forth wisdom out of time.⁵ A concert of musick in a banquet of wine is as a signet of carbuncle set in gold.⁶ As a signet of an emerald set in a work of gold, so is the melody of musick with pleasant wine.⁷ Speak, young man, if there be need of you: and yet scarcely when you are twice asked.⁸ Let your speech be short, comprehending much in few words; be as one that knows and yet holds his tongue.⁹ If you be among great men, make not yourself equal with them; and when ancient men are in place, use not many words.¹⁰ Before the thunder goes lightning; and before a shamefaced man shall go favour.¹¹ Rise up betimes, and be not the last; but get you home without delay.¹² There take your pastime, and do what you will: but sin not by proud speech.¹³ And for these things bless him that made you, and has replenished you with his good things.¹⁴ Whoso fears the Adanay will receive his discipline; and they that seek him early shall find favour.¹⁵ He that seeks the law shall be filled therewith: but the hypocrite will be offended thereat.¹⁶ They that fear the Adanay shall find judgment, and shall kindle justice as a light.¹⁷ A sinful man will not be reproved, but finds an excuse according to his will.¹⁸ A man of counsel will be considerate; but a strange and proud man is not daunted with fear, even when of himself he has done without counsel.¹⁹ Do nothing without advice; and when you have once done, repent not.²⁰ Go not in a way wherein you may fall, and stumble not among the stones.²¹ Be not confident in a plain way.²² And beware of your own children.²³ In every good work trust your own soul; for this is the keeping of the commandments.²⁴ He that believes in the Adanay takes heed to the commandment; and he that trusts in him shall fare never the worse.

33 There shall no evil happen to him that fears the Adanay; but in temptation even again he will deliver him.² A wise man hates not the law; but he that is an hypocrite therein is as a ship in a storm.³ A man of understanding trusts in the law; and the law is faithful to him, as an oracle.⁴ Prepare what to say, and so you shall be heard: and bind up instruction, and then make answer.⁵ The heart of the foolish is like a cartwheel; and his thoughts are like a rolling axletree.⁶ A stallion horse is as a mocking friend, he neigheth under every one that sits upon him.⁷ Why does one day excel another, when as all the light of every day in the year is of the sun? ⁸ By the knowledge of the Adanay they were distinguished: and he altered seasons and feasts.⁹ Some of them has he made high days, and hallowed them, and some of them has he made ordinary days.¹⁰ And all men are from the ground, and Adam was created of earth:¹¹ In much knowledge the Adanay has divided them, and made their ways diverse.¹² Some of them has he blessed and exalted and some of them he sanctified, and set near himself: but some of them has he cursed and brought low, and turned out of their places.¹³ As the clay is in the potter's hand, to fashion it at his pleasure: so man is in the hand of him that made him, to render to them as liketh him best.

¹⁴ Good is set against evil, and life against death: so is the godly against the sinner, and the sinner against the godly.¹⁵ So look upon all the works of the most High; and there are two and two, one against another.¹⁶ I awaked up last of all, as one that gathers after the grapegatherers: by the blessing of the Adanay I profited, and tread my winepress like a gatherer of grapes.¹⁷ Consider that I laboured not for myself only, but for all them that seek learning.¹⁸ Hear me, O you great men of the people, and hearken with your ears, you rulers of the congregation.¹⁹ Give not your son and wife, your brother and friend, power over you while you live, and give not your goods to another: lest it repent you, and you intreat for the same again.²⁰ As long as you live and have breath in you, give not yourself over to any.²¹ For better it is that your children should seek to you, than that you should stand to their courtesy.²² In all your works keep to yourself the preeminence; leave not a stain in your honour.²³ At the time when you shall end your days, and finish your life, distribute your inheritance.²⁴ Fodder, a wand, and burdens, are for the ass; and bread, correction, and work, for a servant.²⁵ If you set your servant to labour, you shall find rest: but if you let him go idle, he shall seek liberty.²⁶ A yoke and a collar do bow the neck: so are tortures and torments for an evil servant.²⁷ Send him to labour, that he be not idle; for idleness teaches much evil.²⁸ Set him to work, as is fit for him: if he be not obedient, put on more heavy fetters.²⁹ But be not excessive toward any; and without discretion do nothing.³⁰ If you have a servant, let him be to you as yourself, because you have bought him with a price.³¹ If you have a servant, entreat him as a brother: for you have need of him, as of your own soul: if you entreat him evil, and he run from you, which way will you go to seek him?

34 The hopes of a man void of understanding are vain and false: and dreams lift up fools.² Whoso regards dreams is like him that catcheth at a shadow, and follows after the wind.³ The vision of dreams is the resemblance of one thing to another, even as the likeness of a face to a face.⁴ Of an unclean thing what can be cleansed? and from that thing which is false what truth can come?⁵ Divinations, and soothsayings, and dreams, are vain: and the heart fancieth, as a woman's heart in travail.⁶ If they be not sent from the most High in your visitation, set not your heart upon them.⁷ For dreams have deceived many, and they have failed that put their trust in them.⁸ The law shall be found perfect without lies: and wisdom is perfection to a faithful mouth.⁹ A man that has travelled knows many things; and he that has much experience will declare wisdom.¹⁰ He that has no experience knows little: but he that has travelled is full of prudence.¹¹ When I travelled, I saw many things; and I understand more than I can express.¹² I was oftentimes in danger of death: yet I was delivered because of these things.¹³ The spirit of those that fear the Adanay shall live; for their hope is in him that saves them.¹⁴ Whoso fears the Adanay shall not fear nor be afraid; for he is his hope.¹⁵ Blessed is the soul of him that fears the Adanay: to whom does he look? and who is his strength?¹⁶ For the eyes of the Adanay are upon them that love him, he is their mighty protection and strong stay, a defence from heat, and a cover from the sun at noon, a preservation from stumbling, and an help from falling.¹⁷ He raises up the soul, and lighteneth the eyes: he gives health, life, and blessing.¹⁸ He that sacrificeth of a thing wrongfully gotten, his offering is ridiculous; and the gifts of unjust men are not accepted.¹⁹ The most High is not pleased with the offerings of the wicked; neither is he pacified for sin by the multitude of sacrifices.²⁰ Whoso brings an offering of the goods of the poor does as one that kills the son before his father's eyes.²¹ The bread of the needy is their life: he that defrauds him thereof is a man of blood.²² He that takes away his neighbour's living slayeth him; and he that defrauds the labourer of his hire is a bloodshedder.²³ When one builds, and another pulleth down, what profit have they then but labour?²⁴ When one prays, and another curses, whose voice will the Adanay hear?²⁵ He that washes himself after the touching of a dead body, if he touch it again, what availeth his washing?²⁶ So is it with a man that fasteth for his sins, and goes again, and does the same: who will hear his prayer? or what does his humbling profit him?

35 He that keeps the law brings offerings enough: he that takes heed to the commandment offers a peace offering.² He that requites a goodturn offers fine flour; and he that gives alms sacrificeth praise.³ To depart from wickedness is a thing pleasing to the Adanay; and to forsake unrighteousness is a propitiation.⁴ You shall not appear empty before the Adanay.⁵ For all these things are to be done because of the commandment.⁶ The offering of the righteous makes the altar fat, and the sweet savour thereof is before the most High.⁷ The sacrifice of a just man is acceptable, and the memorial thereof shall never be forgotten.⁸ Give the Adanay his honour with a good eye, and diminish not the firstfruits of your hands.⁹ In all your gifts show a cheerful countenance, and dedicate your tithes with gladness.¹⁰ Give to the most High according as he has enriched you; and as you have gotten, give with a cheerful eye.¹¹ For the Adanay recompenses, and will give you seven times as much.¹² Do not think to corrupt with gifts; for such he will not receive: and trust not to unrighteous sacrifices; for the Adanay is judge, and with him is no respect of persons.¹³ He will not accept any person against a poor man, but will hear the prayer of the oppressed.¹⁴ He will not despise the supplication of the fatherless; nor the widow, when she pours out her complaint.¹⁵ Do not the tears run down the widow's cheeks? and is not her cry against him that causes them to fall? ¹⁶ He that serves the Adanay shall be accepted with favour, and his prayer shall reach to the clouds.¹⁷ The prayer of the humble pierceth the clouds: and till it come nigh, he will not be comforted; and will not depart, till the most High shall behold to judge righteously, and execute judgment.¹⁸ For the Adanay will not be slack, neither will the Mighty be patient toward them, till he have smitten in sunder the loins of the unmerciful, and repayed vengeance to the heathen; till he have taken away the multitude of the proud, and broken the sceptre of the unrighteous; ¹⁹ Till he have rendered to every man according to his deeds, and to the works of men according to their devices; till he have judged the cause of his people, and made them to rejoice in his mercy.²⁰ Mercy is seasonable in the time of affliction, as clouds of rain in the time of drought.

36 Have mercy upon us, O Adanay Alahayam of all, and behold us:² And send your fear upon all the nations that seek not after you.³ Lift up your hand against the strange nations, and let them see your power.⁴ As you were sanctified in us before them: so be you magnified among them before us.⁵ And let them know you, as we have known you, that there is no Alahayam but only you, O Alahayam.⁶ Show new signs, and make other strange wonders: glorify your hand and your right arm, that they may set forth your wondrous works.⁷ Raise up indignation, and pour out wrath: take away the adversary, and destroy the enemy.⁸ Sake the time short, remember the covenant, and let them declare your wonderful works.⁹ Let him that escapes be consumed by the rage of the fire; and let them perish that oppress the people.¹⁰ Smite in sunder the heads of the rulers of the heathen, that say, There is none other but we.¹¹ Gather all the tribes of Yaiqab together, and inherit you them, as from the beginning.¹² O Adanay, have mercy upon the people that is called by your name, and upon Yasharaal, whom you have named your firstborn.¹³ O be merciful to Yarawashalam, your holy city, the place of your rest.¹⁴ Fill Shayaan with your unspeakable oracles, and your people with your glory:¹⁵ Give testimony to those that you have possessed from the beginning, and raise up prophets that have been in your name.¹⁶ Reward them that wait for you, and let your prophets be found faithful.¹⁷ O Adanay, hear the prayer of your servants, according to the blessing of Aharan over your people, that all they which dwell upon the earth may know that you are the Adanay, the eternal Alahayam.¹⁸ The belly devours all meats, yet is one meat better than another.¹⁹ As the palate tasteth divers kinds of venison: so does an heart of understanding false speeches.²⁰ A froward heart causes heaviness: but a man of experience will recompense him.²¹ A woman will receive every man, yet is one daughter better than another.²² The beauty of a woman cheereth the countenance, and a man loves nothing better.²³ If there be kindness, meekness, and comfort, in her tongue, then is not her husband like other men.²⁴ He that gets a wife begins a possession, a help like to himself, and a pillar of rest.²⁵ Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that has no wife will wander up and down mourning.²⁶ Who will trust a thief well appointed, that skippeth from city to city? so who will believe a man that has no house, and lodgeth wheresoever the night takes him?

37 Every friend says, I am his friend also: but there is a friend, which is only a friend in name.² Is it not a grief to death, when a companion and friend is turned to an enemy?³ O wicked imagination, whence came you in to cover the earth with deceit?⁴ There is a companion, which rejoices in the prosperity of a friend, but in the time of trouble will be against him.⁵ There is a companion, which helps his friend for the belly, and takes up the buckler against the enemy.⁶ Forget not your friend in your mind, and be not unmindful of him in your riches.⁷ Every counsellor extollet counsel; but there is some that counselleth for himself.⁸ Beware of a counsellor, and know before what need he has; for he will counsel for himself; lest he cast the lot upon you,⁹ And say to you, Your way is good: and afterward he stand on the other side, to see what shall befall you.¹⁰ Consult not with one that suspecteth you: and hide your counsel from such as envy you.¹¹ Neither consult with a woman touching her of whom she is jealous; neither with a coward in matters of war; nor with a merchant concerning exchange; nor with a buyer of selling; nor with an envious man of thankfulness; nor with an unmerciful man touching kindness; nor with the slothful for any work; nor with an hireling for a year of finishing work; nor with an idle servant of much business: hearken not to these in any matter of counsel.¹² But be continually with a godly man, whom you know to keep the commandments of the Adanay, whose mind is according to your mind, and will sorrow with you, if you shall miscarry.¹³ And let the counsel of your own heart stand: for there is no man more faithful to you than it.¹⁴ For a man's mind is sometime wont to tell him more than seven watchmen, that sit above in an high tower.¹⁵ And above all this pray to the most High, that he will direct your way in truth.¹⁶ Let reason go before every enterprize, and counsel before every action.¹⁷ The countenance is a sign of changing of the heart.¹⁸ Four manner of things appear: good and evil, life and death: but the tongue rules over them continually.¹⁹ There is one that is wise and teaches many, and yet is unprofitable to himself.²⁰ There is one that shows wisdom in words, and is hated: he shall be destitute of all food.²¹ For grace is not given, him from the Adanay, because he is deprived of all wisdom.²² Another is wise to himself; and the fruits of understanding are commendable in his mouth.²³ A wise man instructeth his people; and the fruits of his understanding fail not.²⁴ A wise man shall be filled with blessing; and all they that see him shall count him happy.²⁵ The days of the life of man may be numbered: but the days of Yasharaal are innumerable.²⁶ A wise man shall inherit glory among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.²⁷ My son, prove your soul in your life, and see what is evil for it, and give not that to it.²⁸ For all things are not profitable for all men, neither has every soul pleasure in every thing.²⁹ Be not unsatiable in any dainty thing, nor too greedy upon meats:³⁰ For excess of meats brings sickness, and surfeiting will turn into choler.³¹ By surfeiting have many perished; but he that takes heed prolongeth his life.

38 Honour a physician with the honour due to him for the uses which you may have of him: for the Adanay has created him.² For of the most High comes healing, and he shall receive honour of the king.³ The skill of the physician shall lift up his head: and in the sight of great men he shall be in admiration.⁴ The Adanay has created medicines out of the earth; and he that is wise will not abhor them.⁵ Was not the water made sweet with wood, that the virtue thereof might be known?⁶ And he has given men skill, that he might be honoured in his marvellous works.⁷ With such does he heal men, and takes away their pains.⁸ Of such does the apothecary make a confection; and of his works there is no end; and from him is peace over all the earth,⁹ My son, in your sickness be not negligent: but pray to the Adanay, and he will make you whole.¹⁰ Leave off from sin, and order your hands aright, and cleanse your heart from all wickedness.¹¹ Give a sweet savour, and a memorial of fine flour; and make a fat offering, as not being.¹² Then give place to the physician, for the Adanay has created him: let him not go from you, for you have need of him.¹³ There is a time when in their hands there is good success.¹⁴ For they shall also pray to the Adanay, that he would prosper that, which they give for ease and remedy to prolong life.¹⁵ He that sins before his Maker, let him fall into the hand of the physician.¹⁶ My son, let tears fall down over the dead, and begin to lament, as if you had suffered great harm yourself; and then cover his body according to the custom, and neglect not his burial.¹⁷ Weep bitterly, and make great moan, and use lamentation, as he is worthy, and that a day or two, lest you be evil spoken of: and then comfort yourself for your heaviness.¹⁸ For of heaviness comes death, and the heaviness of the heart breaks strength.¹⁹ In affliction also sorrow remains: and the life of the poor is the curse of the heart.²⁰ Take no heaviness to heart: drive it away, and member the last end.²¹ Forget it not, for there is no turning again: you shall not do him good, but hurt yourself.²² Remember my judgment: for your also shall be so; yesterday for me, and to day for you.²³ When the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest; and be comforted for him, when his Spirit is departed from him.²⁴ The wisdom of a learned man comes by opportunity of leisure: and he that has little business shall become wise.²⁵ How can he get wisdom that holds the plough, and that glorieth in the goad, that drives oxen, and is occupied in their labours, and whose talk is of bullocks?²⁶ He gives his mind to make furrows; and is diligent to give the kine fodder.²⁷ So every carpenter and workmaster, that laboureth night and day: and they that cut and grave seals, and are diligent to make great variety, and give themselves to counterfeit imagery, and watch to finish a work:²⁸ The smith also sitting by the anvil, and considering the iron work, the vapour of the fire wasteth his flesh, and he fights with the heat of the furnace: the noise of the hammer and the anvil is ever in his ears, and his eyes look still upon the pattern of the thing that he makes; he sets his mind to finish his work, and watches to polish it perfectly.²⁹ So does the potter sitting at his work, and turning the wheel about with his feet, who is always carefully set at his work, and makes all his work by number;³⁰ He fashioneth the clay with his arm, and boweth down his strength before his feet; he applieth himself to lead it over; and he is diligent to make clean the furnace:³¹ All these trust to their hands: and every one is wise in his work.³² Without these cannot a city be inhabited: and they shall not dwell where they will, nor go up and down:³³ They shall not be sought for in publick counsel, nor sit high in the congregation: they shall not sit on the judges' seat, nor understand the sentence of judgment: they cannot declare justice and judgment; and they shall not be found where parables are spoken.³⁴ But they will maintain the state of the world, and all their desire is in the work of their craft.

39 But he that gives his mind to the law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, will seek out the wisdom of all the ancient, and be occupied in prophecies.² He will keep the sayings of the renowned men: and where subtil parables are, he will be there also.³ He will seek out the secrets of grave sentences, and be conversant in dark parables.⁴ He shall serve among great men, and appear before princes: he will travel through strange countries; for he has tried the good and the evil among men.⁵ He will give his heart to resort early to the Adanay that made him, and will pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and make supplication for his sins.⁶ When the great Adanay will, he shall be filled with the spirit of understanding: he shall pour out wise sentences, and give thanks to the Adanay in his prayer.⁷ He shall direct his counsel and knowledge, and in his secrets shall he meditate.⁸ He shall show forth that which he has learned, and shall glory in the law of the covenant of the Adanay.⁹ Many shall commend his understanding; and so long as the world endures, it shall not be blotted out; his memorial shall not depart away, and his name shall live from generation to generation.¹⁰ Nations shall show forth his wisdom, and the congregation shall declare his praise.¹¹ If he die, he shall leave a greater name than a thousand: and if he live, he shall increase it.¹² Yet have I more to say, which I have thought upon; for I am filled as the moon at the full.¹³ Hearken to me, you holy children, and bud forth as a rose growing by the brook of the field:¹⁴ And give you a sweet savour as frankincense, and flourish as a lily, send forth a smell, and sing a song of praise, bless the Adanay in all his works.¹⁵ Magnify his name, and show forth his praise with the songs of your lips, and with harps, and in praising him you shall say after this manner:¹⁶ All the works of the Adanay are exceeding good, and whatsoever he commands shall be accomplished in due season.¹⁷ And none may say, What is this? therefore is that? for at time convenient they shall all be sought out: at his commandment the waters stood as an heap, and at the words of his mouth the receptacles of waters.¹⁸ At his commandment is done whatsoever pleases him; and none can hinder, when he will save.¹⁹ The works of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.²⁰ He sees from everlasting to everlasting; and there is nothing wonderful before him.²¹ A man need not to say, What is this? therefore is that? for he has made all things for their uses.²² His blessing covered the dry land as a river, and watered it as a flood.²³ As he has turned the waters into saltness: so shall the heathen inherit his wrath.²⁴ As his ways are plain to the holy; so are they stumblingblocks to the wicked.²⁵ For the good are good things created from the beginning: so evil things for sinners.²⁶ The principal things for the whole use of man's life are water, fire, iron, and salt, flour of wheat, honey, milk, and the blood of the grape, and oil, and clothing.²⁷ All these things are for good to the godly: so to the sinners they are turned into evil.²⁸ There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their fury lay on sore strokes; in the time of destruction they pour out their force, and appease the wrath of him that made them.²⁹ Fire, and hail, and famine, and death, all these were created for vengeance;³⁰ Teeth of wild beasts, and scorpions, serpents, and the sword punishing the wicked to destruction.³¹ They shall rejoice in his commandment, and they shall be ready upon earth, when need is; and when their time is come, they shall not transgress his word.³² Therefore from the beginning I was resolved, and thought upon these things, and have left them in writing.³³ All the works of the Adanay are good: and he will give every needful thing in due season.³⁴ So that a man cannot say, This is worse than that: for in time they shall all be well approved.³⁵ And therefore praise you the Adanay with the whole heart and mouth, and bless the name of the Adanay.

40 Great travail is created for every man, and an heavy yoke is upon the sons of Adam, from the day that they go out of their mother's womb, till the day that they return to the mother of all things.² Their imagination of things to come, and the day of death, trouble their thoughts, and cause fear of heart;³ From him that sits on a throne of glory, to him that is humbled in earth and ashes;⁴ From him that wears purple and a crown, to him that is clothed with a linen frock.⁵ Wrath, and envy, trouble, and unquietness, fear of death, and anger, and strife, and in the time of rest upon his bed his night sleep, do change his knowledge.⁶ A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward he is in his sleep, as in a day of keeping watch, troubled in the vision of his heart, as if he were escaped out of a battle.⁷ When all is safe, he awaketh, and marvelleth that the fear was nothing.⁸ Such things happen to all flesh, both man and beast, and that is sevenfold more upon sinners.⁹ Death, and bloodshed, strife, and sword, calamities, famine, tribulation, and the scourge;¹⁰ These things are created for the wicked, and for their sakes came the flood.¹¹ All things that are of the earth shall turn to the earth again: and that which is of the waters does return into the sea.¹² All bribery and injustice shall be blotted out: but true dealing shall endure for ever.¹³ The goods of the unjust shall be dried up like a river, and shall vanish with noise, like a great thunder in rain.¹⁴ While he opens his hand he shall rejoice: so shall transgressors come to nought.¹⁵ The children of the ungodly shall not bring forth many branches: but are as unclean roots upon a hard rock.¹⁶ The weed growing upon every water and bank of a river shall be pulled up before all grass.¹⁷ Bountifulness is as a most fruitful garden, and mercifulness endures for ever.¹⁸ To labour, and to be content with that a man has, is a sweet life: but he that finds a treasure is above them both.¹⁹ Children and the building of a city continue a man's name: but a blameless wife is counted above them both.²⁰ Wine and musick rejoice the heart: but the love of wisdom is above them both.²¹ The pipe and the psaltery make sweet melody: but a pleasant tongue is above them both.²² Your eye desires favour and beauty: but more than both corn while it is green.²³ A friend and companion never meet amiss: but above both is a wife with her husband.²⁴ Brethren and help are against time of trouble: but alms shall deliver more than them both.²⁵ Gold and silver make the foot stand sure: but counsel is esteemed above them both.²⁶ Riches and strength lift up the heart: but the fear of the Adanay is above them both: there is no want in the fear of the Adanay, and it needs not to seek help.²⁷ The fear of the Adanay is a fruitful garden, and covers him above all glory.²⁸ My son, lead not a beggar's life; for better it is to die than to beg.²⁹ The life of him that dependeth on another man's table is not to be counted for a life; for he polluteth himself with other men's meat: but a wise man well nurtured will beware thereof.³⁰ Begging is sweet in the mouth of the shameless: but in his belly there shall burn a fire.

41 O death, how bitter is the remembrance of you to a man that lives at rest in his possessions, to the man that has nothing to vex him, and that has prosperity in all things: yea, to him that is yet able to receive meat!² O death, acceptable is your sentence to the needy, and to him whose strength fails, that is now in the last age, and is vexed with all things, and to him that despaireth, and has lost patience!³ Fear not the sentence of death, remember them that have been before you, and that come after; for this is the sentence of the Adanay over all flesh.⁴ And why are you against the pleasure of the most High? there is no inquisition in the grave, whether you have lived ten, or an hundred, or a thousand years.⁵ The children of sinners are abominable children, and they that are conversant in the dwelling of the ungodly.⁶ The inheritance of sinners' children shall perish, and their posterity shall have a perpetual reproach.⁷ The children will complain of an ungodly father, because they shall be reproached for his sake.⁸ Woe be to you, ungodly men, which have forsaken the law of the most high Alahayam! for if you increase, it shall be to your destruction:⁹ And if you be born, you shall be born to a curse: and if you die, a curse shall be your portion.¹⁰ All that are of the earth shall turn to earth again: so the ungodly shall go from a curse to destruction.¹¹ The mourning of men is about their bodies: but an ill name of sinners shall be blotted out.¹² Have regard to your name; for that shall continue with you above a thousand great treasures of gold.¹³ A good life has but few days: but a good name endures for ever.¹⁴ My children, keep discipline in peace: for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not seen, what profit is in them both?¹⁵ A man that hides his foolishness is better than a man that hides his wisdom.¹⁶ Therefore be shamefaced according to my word: for it is not good to retain all shamefacedness; neither is it altogether approved in every thing.¹⁷ Be ashamed of whoredom before father and mother: and of a lie before a prince and a mighty man; ¹⁸ Of an offence before a judge and ruler; of iniquity before a congregation and people; of unjust dealing before your partner and friend; ¹⁹ And of theft in regard of the place where you sojournest, and in regard of the truth of Alahayam and his covenant; and to lean with your elbow upon the meat; and of scorning to give and take; ²⁰ And of silence before them that salute you; and to look upon an harlot; ²¹ And to turn away your face from your kinsman; or to take away a portion or a gift; or to gaze upon another man's wife. ²² Or to be overbusy with his maid, and come not near her bed; or of upbraiding speeches before friends; and after you have given, upbraid not; ²³ Or of iterating and speaking again that which you have heard; and of revealing of secrets. ²⁴ So shall you be truly shamefaced and find favour before all men.

42 Of these things be not you ashamed, and accept no person to sin thereby:² Of the law of the most High, and his covenant; and of judgment to justify the ungodly;³ Of reckoning with your partners and travellers; or of the gift of the heritage of friends;⁴ Of exactness of balance and weights; or of getting much or little;⁵ And of merchants' indifferent selling; of much correction of children; and to make the side of an evil servant to bleed.⁶ Sure keeping is good, where an evil wife is; and shut up, where many hands are.⁷ Deliver all things in number and weight; and put all in writing that you give out, or receive in.⁸ Be not ashamed to inform the unwise and foolish, and the extreme aged that contends with those that are young: thus shall you be truly learned, and approved of all men living.⁹ The father wakes for the daughter, when no man knows; and the care for her takes away sleep: when she is young, lest she pass away the flower of her age; and being married, lest she should be hated:¹⁰ In her virginity, lest she should be defiled and gotten with child in her father's house; and having an husband, lest she should misbehave herself; and when she is married, lest she should be barren.¹¹ Keep a sure watch over a shameless daughter, lest she make you a laughingstock to your enemies, and a byword in the city, and a reproach among the people, and make you ashamed before the multitude.¹² Behold not every body's beauty, and sit not in the midst of women.¹³ For from garments comes a moth, and from women wickedness.¹⁴ Better is the churlishness of a man than a courteous woman, a woman, I say, which brings shame and reproach.¹⁵ I will now remember the works of the Adanay, and declare the things that I have seen: In the words of the Adanay are his works.¹⁶ The sun that gives light looks upon all things, and the work thereof is full of the glory of the Adanay.¹⁷ The Adanay has not given power to the saints to declare all his marvellous works, which the Shaday Adanay firmly settled, that whatsoever is might be established for his glory.¹⁸ He seeks out the deep, and the heart, and considers their crafty devices: for the Adanay knows all that may be known, and he beholds the signs of the world.¹⁹ He declares the things that are past, and for to come, and reveals the steps of hidden things.²⁰ No thought escapes him, neither any word is hidden from him.²¹ He has garnished the excellent works of his wisdom, and he is from everlasting to everlasting: to him may nothing be added, neither can he be diminished, and he has no need of any counsellor.²² Oh how desirable are all his works! and that a man may see even to a spark.²³ All these things live and remain for ever for all uses, and they are all obedient.²⁴ All things are double one against another: and he has made nothing imperfect.²⁵ One thing establishes the good or another: and who shall be filled with beholding his glory?

43 The pride of the height, the clear firmament, the beauty of heaven, with his glorious show;² The sun when it appears, declaring at his rising a marvellous instrument, the work of the most High:³ At noon it parcheth the country, and who can abide the burning heat thereof?⁴ A man blowing a furnace is in works of heat, but the sun burns the mountains three times more; breathing out fiery vapours, and sending forth bright beams, it dimmeth the eyes.⁵ Great is the Adanay that made it; and at his commandment runs hastily.⁶ He made the moon also to serve in her season for a declaration of times, and a sign of the world.⁷ From the moon is the sign of feasts, a light that decreaseth in her perfection.⁸ The month is called after her name, increasing wonderfully in her changing, being an instrument of the armies above, shining in the firmament of heaven;⁹ The beauty of heaven, the glory of the stars, an ornament giving light in the highest places of the Adanay.¹⁰ At the commandment of the Holy One they will stand in their order, and never faint in their watches.¹¹ Look upon the rainbow, and praise him that made it; very beautiful it is in the brightness thereof.¹² It compasses the heaven about with a glorious circle, and the hands of the most High have bended it.¹³ By his commandment he makes the snow to fall apace, and sends swiftly the lightnings of his judgment.¹⁴ Through this the treasures are opened: and clouds fly forth as fowls.¹⁵ By his great power he makes the clouds firm, and the hailstones are broken small.¹⁶ At his sight the mountains are shaken, and at his will the south wind bloweth.¹⁷ The noise of the thunder makes the earth to tremble: so does the northern storm and the whirlwind: as birds flying he scatters the snow, and the falling down thereof is as the lighting of grasshoppers: ¹⁸ The eye marvelleth at the beauty of the whiteness thereof, and the heart is astonished at the raining of it. ¹⁹ The hoarfrost also as salt he pours on the earth, and being congealed, it lies on the top of sharp stakes. ²⁰ When the cold north wind bloweth, and the water is congealed into ice, it abides upon every gathering together of water, and clotheth the water as with a breastplate. ²¹ It devours the mountains, and burns the wilderness, and consumeth the grass as fire. ²² A present remedy of all is a mist coming speedily, a dew coming after heat refreshes. ²³ By his counsel he appeaseth the deep, and plants islands therein. ²⁴ They that sail on the sea tell of the danger thereof; and when we hear it with our ears, we marvel thereat. ²⁵ For therein be strange and wondrous works, variety of all kinds of beasts and whales created. ²⁶ By him the end of them has prosperous success, and by his word all things consist. ²⁷ We may speak much, and yet come short: therefore in sum, he is all. ²⁸ How shall we be able to magnify him? for he is great above all his works. ²⁹ The Adanay is terrible and very great, and marvellous is his power. ³⁰ When you glorify the Adanay, exalt him as much as you can; for even yet will he far exceed: and when you exalt him, put forth all your strength, and be not weary; for you can never go far enough. ³¹ Who has seen him, that he might tell us? and who can magnify him as he is? ³² There are yet hid greater things than these be, for we have seen but a few of his works. ³³ For the Adanay has made all things; and to the godly has he given wisdom.

44 Let us now praise famous men, and our fathers that begat us. ² The Adanay has wrought great glory by them through his great power from the beginning. ³ Such as did bear rule in their kingdoms, men renowned for their power, giving counsel by their understanding, and declaring prophecies: ⁴ Leaders of the people by their counsels, and by their knowledge of learning meet for the people, wise and eloquent are their instructions: ⁵ Such as found out musical tunes, and recited verses in writing: ⁶ Rich men furnished with ability, living peaceably in their habitations: ⁷ All these were honoured in their generations, and were the glory of their times. ⁸ There be of them, that have left a name behind them, that their praises might be reported. ⁹ And some there be, which have no memorial; who are perished, as though they had never been; and are become as though they had never been born; and their children after them. ¹⁰ But these were merciful men, whose righteousness has not been forgotten. ¹¹ With their seed shall continually remain a good inheritance, and their children are within the covenant. ¹² Their seed stands fast, and their children for their sakes. ¹³ Their seed shall remain for ever, and their glory shall not be blotted out. ¹⁴ Their bodies are buried in peace; but their name lives for evermore. ¹⁵ The people will tell of their wisdom, and the congregation will show forth their praise. ¹⁶ Chanawak pleased the Adanay, and was translated, being an example of repentance to all generations. ¹⁷ Nach was found perfect and righteous; in the time of wrath he was taken in exchange for the world; therefore was he left as a remnant to the earth, when the flood came. ¹⁸ An everlasting covenant was made with him, that all flesh should perish no more by the flood. ¹⁹ Abaraham was a great father of many people: in glory was there none like to him; ²⁰ Who kept the law of the most High, and was in covenant with him: he established the covenant in his flesh; and when he was proved, he was found faithful. ²¹ Therefore he assured him by an oath, that he would bless the nations in his seed, and that he would multiply him as the dust of the earth, and exalt his seed as the stars, and cause them to inherit from sea to sea, and from the river to the utmost part of the land. ²² With Yatzachaq did he establish likewise for Abaraham his father's sake the blessing of all men, and the covenant, And made it rest upon the head of Yaiqab. He acknowledged him in his blessing, and gave him an heritage, and divided his portions; among the twelve tribes did he part them.

45 And he brought out of him a merciful man, which found favour in the sight of all flesh, even Mashah, beloved of Alahayam and men, whose memorial is blessed. ² He made him like to the glorious saints, and magnified him, so that his enemies stood in fear of him. ³ By his words he caused the wonders to cease, and he made him glorious in the sight of kings, and gave him a commandment for his people, and showed him part of his glory. ⁴ He sanctified him in his faithfulness and meekness, and chose him out of all men. ⁵ He made him to hear his voice, and brought him into the dark cloud, and gave him commandments before his face, even the law of life and knowledge, that he might teach Yaiqab his covenants, and Yasharaal his judgments. ⁶ He exalted Aharan, an holy man like to him, even his brother, of the tribe of Laway. ⁷ An everlasting covenant he made with him and gave him the priesthood among the people; he beautified him with comely ornaments, and clothed him with a robe of glory. ⁸ He put upon him perfect glory; and strengthened him with rich garments, with breeches, with a long robe, and the ephod. ⁹ And he compassed him with pomegranates, and with many golden bells round about, that as he went there might be a sound, and a noise made that might be heard in the temple, for a memorial to the children of his people; ¹⁰ With an holy garment, with gold, and blue silk, and purple, the work of the embroidere, with a breastplate of judgment, and with Urim and Thummim; ¹¹ With twisted scarlet, the work of the cunning workman, with precious stones graven like seals, and set in gold, the work of the jeweller, with a writing engraved for a memorial, after the number of the tribes of Yasharaal. ¹² He set a crown of gold upon the mitre, wherein was engraved Holiness, an ornament of honour, a costly work, the desires of the eyes, goodly and beautiful. ¹³ Before him there were none such, neither did ever any stranger put them on, but only his children and his children's children perpetually. ¹⁴ Their sacrifices shall be wholly consumed every day twice continually. ¹⁵ Mashah consecrated him, and anointed him with holy oil: this was appointed to him by an everlasting covenant, and to his seed, so long as the heavens should remain, that they should minister to him, and execute the office of the priesthood, and bless the people in his name. ¹⁶ He chose him out of all men living to offer sacrifices to the Adanay, incense, and a sweet savour, for a memorial, to make reconciliation for his people. ¹⁷ He gave to him his commandments, and authority in the statutes of judgments, that he should teach Yaiqab the testimonies, and inform Yasharaal in his laws. ¹⁸ Strangers conspired together against him, and maligned him in the wilderness, even the men that were of Dathan's and Abiron's side, and the congregation of Core, with fury and wrath. ¹⁹ This the Adanay saw, and it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignation were they consumed: he did wonders upon them, to consume them with the fiery flame. ²⁰ But he made Aharan more honourable, and gave him an heritage, and divided to him the firstfruits of the increase; especially he prepared bread in abundance: ²¹ For they eat of the sacrifices of the Adanay, which he gave to him and his seed. ²² Howbeit in the land of the people he had no inheritance, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Adanay himself is his portion and inheritance. ²³ The third in glory is Phinees the son of Alaizar, because he had zeal in the fear of the Adanay, and stood up with good courage of heart: when the people were turned back, and made reconciliation for Yasharaal. ²⁴ Therefore was there a covenant of peace made with him, that he should be the chief of the sanctuary and of his people, and that he and his posterity should have the dignity of the priesthood for ever: ²⁵ According to the covenant made with Dawad son of Yashay, of the tribe of Juda, that the inheritance of the king should be to his posterity alone: so the inheritance of Aharan should also be to his seed. ²⁶ Alahayam give you wisdom in your heart to judge his people in righteousness, that their good things be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for ever.

46 Yashawai the son a Nave was valiant in the wars, and was the successor of Mashah in prophecies, who according to his name was made great for the saving of the elect of Alahayam, and taking vengeance of the enemies that rose up against them, that he might set Yasharaal in their inheritance. ² How great glory gat he, when he did lift up his hands, and stretched out his sword against the cities! ³ Who before him so stood to it? for the Adanay himself brought his enemies to him.⁴ Did not the sun go back by his means? and was not one day as long as two?⁵ He called upon the most high Adanay, when the enemies pressed upon him on every side; and the great Adanay heard him.⁶ And with hailstones of mighty power he made the battle to fall violently upon the nations, and in the descent of Bayath he destroyed them that resisted, that the nations might know all their strength, because he fought in the sight of the Adanay, and he followed the Mighty One.⁷ In the time of Mashah also he did a work of mercy, he and Kalab the son of Jephunne, in that they withstood the congregation, and withheld the people from sin, and appeased the wicked murmuring.⁸ And of six hundred thousand people on foot, they two were preserved to bring them in to the heritage, even to the land that flows with milk and honey.⁹ The Adanay gave strength also to Kalab, which remained with him to his old age: so that he entered upon the high places of the land, and his seed obtained it for an heritage:¹⁰ That all the children of Yasharaal might see that it is good to follow the Adanay.¹¹ And concerning the judges, every one by name, whose heart went not a whoring, nor departed from the Adanay, let their memory be blessed.¹² Let their bones flourish out of their place, and let the name of them that were honoured be continued upon their children.¹³ Shamawaal, the prophet of the Adanay, beloved of his Adanay, established a kingdom, and anointed princes over his people.¹⁴ By the law of the Adanay he judged the congregation, and the Adanay had respect to Yaiqab.¹⁵ By his faithfulness he was found a true prophet, and by his word he was known to be faithful in vision.¹⁶ He called upon the mighty Adanay, when his enemies pressed upon him on every side, when he offered the sucking lamb.¹⁷ And the Adanay thundered from heaven, and with a great noise made his voice to be heard.¹⁸ And he destroyed the rulers of the Tyrians, and all the princes of the Palashath.¹⁹ And before his long sleep he made protestations in the sight of the Adanay and his anointed, I have not taken any man's goods, so much as a shoe: and no man did accuse him.²⁰ And after his death he prophesied, and showed the king his end, and lifted up his voice from the earth in prophecy, to blot out the wickedness of the people.

47 And after him rose up Nathan to prophesy in the time of Dawad.² As is the fat taken away from the peace offering, so was Dawad chosen out of the children of Yasharaal.³ He played with lions as with kids, and with bears as with lambs.⁴ Slew he not a giant, when he was yet but young? and did he not take away reproach from the people, when he lifted up his hand with the stone in the sling, and beat down the boasting of Galayath?⁵ For he called upon the most high Adanay; and he gave him strength in his right hand to slay that mighty warrior, and set up the horn of his people.⁶ So the people honoured him with ten thousands, and praised him in the blessings of the Adanay, in that he gave him a crown of glory.⁷ For he destroyed the enemies on every side, and brought to nought the Palashath his adversaries, and broke their horn in sunder to this day.⁸ In all his works he praised the Holy One most high with words of glory; with his whole heart he sung songs, and loved him that made him.⁹ He set singers also before the altar, that by their voices they might make sweet melody, and daily sing praises in their songs.¹⁰ He beautified their feasts, and set in order the solemn times until the end, that they might praise his holy name, and that the temple might sound from morning.¹¹ The Adanay took away his sins, and exalted his horn for ever: he gave him a covenant of kings, and a throne of glory in Yasharaal.¹² After him rose up a wise son, and for his sake he dwelt at large.¹³ Shalamah reigned in a peaceable time, and was honoured; for Alahayam made all quiet round about him, that he might build an house in his name, and prepare his sanctuary for ever.¹⁴ How wise were you in your youth and, as a flood, filled with understanding!¹⁵ Your soul covered the whole earth, and you filledst it with dark parables.¹⁶ Your name went far to the islands; and for your peace you were beloved.¹⁷ The countries marvelled at you for your songs, and proverbs, and parables, and interpretations.¹⁸ By the name of the Adanay Alahayam, which is called the Adanay Alahayam of Yasharaal, you did gather gold as tin and did multiply silver as lead.¹⁹ You did bow your loins to women, and by your body you were brought into subjection.²⁰ You did stain your honour, and pollute your seed: so that you brought wrath upon your children, and were grieved for your folly.²¹ So the kingdom was divided, and out of Aparayam ruled a rebellious kingdom.²² But the Adanay will never leave off his mercy, neither shall any of his works perish, neither will he abolish the posterity of his elect, and the seed of him that loves him he will not take away: therefore he gave a remnant to Yaiqab, and out of him a root to Dawad.²³ Thus rested Shalamah with his fathers, and of his seed he left behind him Roboam, even the foolishness of the people, and one that had no understanding, who turned away the people through his counsel. There was also Yarabaim the son of Nabat, who caused Yasharaal to sin, and showed Aparayam the way of sin:²⁴ And their sins were multiplied exceedingly, that they were driven out of the land.²⁵ For they sought out all wickedness, till the vengeance came upon them.

48 Then stood up Elias the prophet as fire, and his word burned like a lamp.² He brought a sore famine upon them, and by his zeal he diminished their number.³ By the word of the Adanay he shut up the heaven, and also three times brought down fire.⁴ O Elias, how were you honoured in your wondrous deeds! and who may glory like to you!⁵ Who did raise up a dead man from death, and his soul from the place of the dead, by the word of the most High:⁶ Who brought kings to destruction, and honorable men from their bed:⁷ Who heardest the rebuke of the Adanay in Sayanay, and in Charab the judgment of vengeance:⁸ Who annointedst kings to take revenge, and prophets to succeed after him:⁹ Who was taken up in a whirlwind of fire, and in a chariot of fiery horses:¹⁰ Who were ordained for reproofs in their times, to pacify the wrath of the Adanay's judgment, before it broke forth into fury, and to turn the heart of the father to the son, and to restore the tribes of Yaiqab.¹¹ Blessed are they that saw you, and slept in love; for we shall surely live.¹² Elias it was, who was covered with a whirlwind: and Eliseus was filled with his spirit: whilst he lived, he was not moved with the presence of any prince, neither could any bring him into subjection.¹³ No word could overcome him; and after his death his body prophesied.¹⁴ He did wonders in his life, and at his death were his works marvellous.¹⁵ For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sins, till they were spoiled and carried out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth: yet there remained a small people, and a ruler in the house of Dawad:¹⁶ Of whom some did that which was pleasing to Alahayam, and some multiplied sins.¹⁷ Ezekias fortified his city, and brought in water into the midst thereof: he digged the hard rock with iron, and made wells for waters.¹⁸ In his time Sanacharayab came up, and sent Rabsaces, and lifted up his hand against Shayaan, and boasted proudly.¹⁹ Then trembled their hearts and hands, and they were in pain, as women in travail.²⁰ But they called upon the Adanay which is merciful, and stretched out their hands toward him: and immediately the Holy One heard them out of heaven, and delivered them by the ministry of Esay.²¹ He smote the host of the Ashawar, and his angel destroyed them.²² For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Adanay, and was strong in the ways of Dawad his father, as Esay the prophet, who was great and faithful in his vision, had commanded him.²³ In his time the sun went backward, and he lengthened the king's life.²⁴ He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to pass at the last, and he comforted them that mourned in Shayaan.²⁵ He showed what should come to pass for ever, and secret things or ever they came.

49 The remembrance of Josias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the art of the apothecary: it is sweet as honey in all mouths, and as musick at a banquet of wine.² He behaved himself uprightly in the conversion of the people, and took away the abominations of iniquity.³ He directed his heart to the Adanay, and in the time of the ungodly he established the worship of Alahayam.⁴ All, except Dawad and Ezekias and Josias, were defective: for they forsook the law of the most High, even the kings of Juda failed.⁵ Therefore he gave their power to others, and their glory to a strange nation.⁶ They burnt the chosen city of the sanctuary, and made the streets desolate, according to the prophecy of Jeremias.⁷ For they entreated him evil, who nevertheless was a prophet, sanctified in his mother's womb, that he might root out, and afflict, and destroy; and that he might build up also, and plant.⁸ It was Yachazaqaal who saw the glorious vision, which was showed him upon the chariot of the cherubims.⁹ For he made mention of the enemies under the figure of the rain, and directed them that went right.¹⁰ And of the twelve prophets let the memorial be blessed, and let their bones flourish again out of their place: for they comforted Yaiqab, and delivered them by assured hope.

¹¹ How shall we magnify Zorobabel? even he was as a signet on the right hand: ¹² So was Yashawai the son of Josedec: who in their time builded the house, and set up an holy temple to the Adanay, which was prepared for everlasting glory.¹³ And among the elect was Neemias, whose renown is great, who raised up for us the walls that were fallen, and set up the gates and the bars, and raised up our ruins again.¹⁴ But upon the earth was no man created like Chanawak; for he was taken from the earth.¹⁵ Neither was there a young man born like Yawasap, a governor of his brethren, a stay of the people, whose bones were regarded of the Adanay.¹⁶ Sham and Shath were in great honour among men, and so was Adam above every living thing in creation.

50 Shamaiwan the high priest, the son of Onias, who in his life repaired the house again, and in his days fortified the temple:² And by him was built from the foundation the double height, the high fortress of the wall about the temple:³ In his days the cistern to receive water, being in compass as the sea, was covered with plates of brass:⁴ He took care of the temple that it should not fall, and fortified the city against besieging:⁵ How was he honoured in the midst of the people in his coming out of the sanctuary! ⁶ He was as the morning star in the midst of a cloud, and as the moon at the full:⁷ As the sun shining upon the temple of the most High, and as the rainbow giving light in the bright clouds:⁸ And as the flower of roses in the spring of the year, as lilies by the rivers of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of summer:⁹ As fire and incense in the censer, and as a vessel of beaten gold set with all manner of precious stones:¹⁰ And as a fair olive tree budding forth fruit, and as a cypress tree which grows up to the clouds.¹¹ When he put on the robe of honour, and was clothed with the perfection of glory, when he went up to the holy altar, he made the garment of holiness honourable.¹² When he took the portions out of the priests' hands, he himself stood by the hearth of the altar, compassed about, as a young cedar in Libanus; and as palm trees compassed they him round about.¹³ So were all the sons of Aharan in their glory, and the oblations of the Adanay in their hands, before all the congregation of Yasharaal.¹⁴ And finishing the service at the altar, that he might adorn the offering of the most high Shaday,¹⁵ He stretched out his hand to the cup, and poured of the blood of the grape, he poured out at the foot of the altar a sweet-smelling savour to the most high King of all.¹⁶ Then shouted the sons of Aharan, and sounded the silver trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.¹⁷ Then all the people together hasted, and fell down to the earth upon their faces to worship their Adanay Al Shaday, the most High.¹⁸ The singers also sang praises with their voices, with great variety of sounds was there made sweet melody.¹⁹ And the people besought the Adanay, the most High, by prayer before him that is merciful, till the solemnity of the Adanay was ended, and they had finished his service.²⁰ Then he went down, and lifted up his hands over the whole congregation of the children of Yasharaal, to give the blessing of the Adanay with his lips, and to rejoice in his name.²¹ And they bowed themselves down to worship the second time, that they might receive a blessing from the most High.²² Now therefore bless you the Alahayam of all, which only does wondrous things every where, which exalts our days from the womb, and dealeth with us according to his mercy.²³ He grant us joyfulness of heart, and that peace may be in our days in Yasharaal for ever:²⁴ That he would confirm his mercy with us, and deliver us at his time!²⁵ There be two manner of nations which my heart abhorreth, and the third is no nation:²⁶ They that sit upon the mountain of Shamarawan, and they that dwell among the Palashath, and that foolish people that dwell in Sichein.²⁷ Yashawai the son of Sirach of Yawashalam has written in this book the instruction of understanding and knowledge, who out of his heart poured forth wisdom.²⁸ Blessed is he that shall be exercised in these things; and he that lays them up in his heart shall become wise.²⁹ For if he do them, he shall be strong to all things: for the light of the Adanay leads him, who gives wisdom to the godly. Blessed be the name of the Adanay for ever. Amen, Amen.

51 I will thank you, O Adanay and King, and praise you, O Alahayam my Saviour: I do give praise to your name:² For you are my defender and helper, and has preserved my body from destruction, and from the snare of the slanderous tongue, and from the lips that forge lies, and has been mine helper against mine adversaries:³ And have delivered me, according to the multitude of thy mercies and greatness of your name, from the teeth of them that were ready to devour me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had;⁴ From the choking of fire on every side, and from the midst of the fire which I kindled not;⁵ From the depth of the belly of hell, from an unclean tongue, and from lying words.⁶ By an accusation to the king from an unrighteous tongue my soul drew near even to death, my life was near to the hell beneath.⁷ They compassed me on every side, and there was no man to help me: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.⁸ Then thought I upon your mercy, O Adanay, and upon your acts of old, how you deliver such as wait for you, and save them out of the hands of the enemies.⁹ Then lifted I up my supplications from the earth, and prayed for deliverance from death.¹⁰ I called upon the Adanay, the Father of my Adanay, that he would not leave me in the days of my trouble, and in the time of the proud, when there was no help.¹¹ I will praise your name continually, and will sing praises with thanksgiving; and so my prayer was heard:¹² For you savedst me from destruction, and deliveredst me from the evil time: therefore will I give thanks, and praise you, and bless thy name, O Adanay.¹³ When I was yet young, or ever I went abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.¹⁴ I prayed for her before the temple, and will seek her out even to the end.¹⁵ Even from the flower till the grape was ripe has my heart delighted in her: my foot went the right way, from my youth up sought I after her.¹⁶ I bowed down mine ear a little, and received her, and gat much learning.¹⁷ I profited therein, therefore will I ascribe glory to him that gives me wisdom.¹⁸ For I purposed to do after her, and earnestly I followed that which is good; so shall I not be confounded.¹⁹ My soul has wrestled with her, and in my doings I was exact: I stretched forth my hands to the heaven above, and bewailed my ignorances of her.²⁰ I directed my soul to her, and I found her in pureness: I have had my heart joined with her from the beginning, therefore shall I not be forsaken.²¹ My heart was troubled in seeking her: therefore have I gotten a good possession.²² The Adanay has given me a tongue for my reward, and I will praise him therewith.²³ Draw near to me, you unlearned, and dwell in the house of learning.²⁴ Therefore are you slow, and what say you to these things, seeing your souls are very thirsty?²⁵ I opened my mouth, and said, Buy her for yourselves without money.²⁶ Pawat your neck under the yoke, and let your soul receive instruction: she is hard at hand to find.²⁷ Behold with your eyes, how that I have but little labour, and have gotten to me much rest.²⁸ Get learning with a great sum of money, and get much gold by her.²⁹ Let your soul rejoice in his mercy, and be not ashamed of his praise.³⁰ Work your work betimes, and in his time he will give you your reward.

1 The vision of Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz, which he saw concerning Yahawadah and Yarawashalam, in the days of Izayahaw, Yawatham, Achaz, and Chazaqayahaw, kings of Yahawadah. ² Hear, heavens, And listen, earth; for Yahawah has spoken: I have nourished and brought up children, And they have rebelled against me. ³ The ox knows his owner, And the donkey his master's crib; But Yasharaal doesn't know, My people don't consider. ⁴ Ah sinful nation, A people laden with iniquity, A seed of Awayal-doers, Children who deal corruptly! They have forsaken Yahawah. They have despised the Holy One of Yasharaal. They are estranged and backward. ⁵ Why should you be beaten more, That you revolt more and more? The whole head is sick, And the whole heart faint. ⁶ From the sole of the foot even to the head there is no soundness in it: Wounds, welts, and open sores. They haven't been closed, neither bandaged, neither soothed with oil. ⁷ Your country is desolate. Your cities are burned with fire. Strangers devour your land in your presence, And it is desolate, As overthrown by strangers. ⁸ The daughter of Tzayawan is left as a booth in a vineyard, As a lodge in a garden of cucumbers, As a besieged city. ⁹ Unless Yahawah of hosts had left to us a very small remnant, We would have been as Sadam; We would have been like Imarah. ¹⁰ Hear the word of Yahawah, you rulers of Sadam. Listen to the law of our Alahayam, you people of Imarah. ¹¹ What are the multitude of your sacrifices to me?, says Yahawah. I have had enough of the burnt offerings of rams, And the fat of fed animals. I don't delight in the blood of bulls, Or of lambs, Or of male goats. ¹² When you come to appear before me, Who has required this at your hand, to trample my courts? ¹³ Bring no more vain offerings. Incense is an abomination to me; New moons, Sabbaths, and convocations: I can't bear with evil assemblies. ¹⁴ My soul hates your New Moons and your appointed feasts; they are a trouble to me; I am weary of bearing them. ¹⁵ When you spread forth your hands, I will hide my eyes from you; yes, when you make many prayers, I will not hear: your hands are full of blood. ¹⁶ Wash you, make you clean; put away the evil of your doings from before my eyes; cease to do evil; ¹⁷ learn to do well; seek justice, relieve the oppressed, judge the fatherless, plead for the widow. ¹⁸ Come now, and let us reason together, says Yahawah: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow; though they be red like crimson, they shall be as wool. ¹⁹ If you be willing and obedient, you shall eat the good of the land: ²⁰ but if you refuse and rebel, you shall be devoured with the sword; for the mouth of Yahawah has spoken it. ²¹ How is the faithful city become a prostitute! she who was full of justice! righteousness lodged in her, but now murderers. ²² Your silver is become dross, your wine mixed with water. ²³ Your princes are rebellious, and companions of thieves; everyone loves bribes, and follows after rewards: they don't judge the fatherless, neither does the cause of the widow come to them. ²⁴ Therefore says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Mighty One of Yasharaal, Ah, I will ease me of my adversaries, and avenge me of my enemies; ²⁵ and I will turn my hand on you, and thoroughly purge away your dross, and will take away all your tin; ²⁶ and I will restore your judges as at the first, and your counselors as at the beginning: afterward you shall be called The city of righteousness, a faithful town. ²⁷ Tzayawan shall be redeemed with justice, and her converts with righteousness. ²⁸ But the destruction of transgressors and sinners shall be together, and those who forsake Yahawah shall be consumed. ²⁹ For they shall be ashamed of the oaks which you have desired, and you shall be confounded for the gardens that you have chosen. ³⁰ For you shall be as an oak whose leaf fades, and as a garden that has no water. ³¹ The strong will be like tinder, and his work like a spark. They will both burn together, and no one will quench them.

2 The word that Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz saw concerning Yahawadah and Yarawashalam. ² It shall happen in the latter days, that the mountain of Yahawah's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and shall be raised above the hills; and all nations shall flow to it. ³ Many peoples shall go and say, Come you, and let us go up to the mountain of Yahawah, to the house of the Alahayam of Yaiqab; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths: for out of Tzayawan shall go forth the law, and the word of Yahawah from Yarawashalam. ⁴ He will judge between the nations, and will decide concerning many peoples; and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. ⁵ House of Yaiqab, come, and let us walk in the light of Yahawah. ⁶ For you have forsaken your people the house of Yaiqab, because they are filled [with customs] from the east, and [are] soothsayers like the Palashath, and they clasp hands with the children of foreigners. ⁷ Their land is full of silver and gold, neither is there any end of their treasures; their land also is full of horses, neither is there any end of their chariots. ⁸ Their land also is full of idols; they worship the work of their own hands, that which their own fingers have made. ⁹ Man is bowed down, and mankind is humbled; therefore don't forgive them. ¹⁰ Enter into the rock, and hide in the dust, from before the terror of Yahawah, and from the glory of his majesty. ¹¹ The lofty looks of man shall be brought low, and the haughtiness of men shall be bowed down, and Yahawah alone shall be exalted in that day. ¹² For there shall be a day of Yahawah Tzabaawath on all that is proud and haughty, and on all that is lifted up; and it shall be brought low; ¹³ and on all the cedars of Labanawan, that are high and lifted up, and on all the oaks of Bashan, ¹⁴ and on all the high mountains, and on all the hills that are lifted up, ¹⁵ and on every lofty tower, and on every fortified wall, ¹⁶ and on all the ships of Tharashayash, and on all pleasant imagery. ¹⁷ The loftiness of man shall be bowed down, and the haughtiness of men shall be brought low; and Yahawah alone shall be exalted in that day. ¹⁸ The idols shall utterly pass away. ¹⁹ Men shall go into the caves of the rocks, and into the holes of the earth, from before the terror of Yahawah, and from the glory of his majesty, when he arises to shake mightily the earth. ²⁰ In that day men shall cast away their idols of silver, and their idols of gold, which have been made for them to worship, to the moles and to the bats; ²¹ to go into the caverns of the rocks, and into the clefts of the ragged rocks, from before the terror of Yahawah, and from the glory of his majesty, when he arises to shake mightily the earth. ²² Cease you from man, whose breath is in his nostrils; for wherein is he to be accounted of?

3 For, behold, the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, does take away from Yarawashalam and from Yahawadah stay and staff, the whole stay of bread, and the whole stay of water; ² the mighty man, and the man of war; the judge, and the prophet, and the diviner, and the elder; ³ the captain of fifty, and the honorable man, and the counselor, and the expert artificer, and the skillful enchanter. ⁴ I will give children to be their princes, and babes shall rule over them. ⁵ The people shall be oppressed, everyone by another, and everyone by his neighbor: the child shall behave himself proudly against the old man, and the base against the honorable. ⁶ When a man shall take hold of his brother in the house of his father, [saying], You have clothing, be you our ruler, and let this ruin be under your hand; ⁷ in that day shall he lift up [his voice], saying, I will not be a healer; for in my house is neither bread nor clothing: you shall not make me ruler of the people. ⁸ For Yarawashalam is ruined, and Yahawadah is fallen; because their tongue and their doings are against Yahawah, to provoke the eyes of his glory.⁹ The show of their face testifies against them. They declare their sin as Adam. They don't hide it. Woe to their soul! For they have done evil to themselves.¹⁰ Say you of the righteous, that [it shall be] well [with him]; for they shall eat the fruit of their doings.¹¹ Woe to the wicked! [it shall be] ill [with him]; for what his hands have done shall be done to him.¹² As for my people, children are their oppressors, and women rule over them. My people, those who lead you cause you to err, and destroy the way of your paths.¹³ Yahawah stands up to contend, and stands to judge the peoples.¹⁴ Yahawah will enter into judgment with the elders of his people, and the princes of it: It is you who have eaten up the vineyard; the spoil of the poor is in your houses:¹⁵ what do you mean that you crush my people, and grind the face of the poor? says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath.¹⁶ Moreover Yahawah said, Because the daughters of Tzayawan are haughty, and walk with outstretched necks and wanton eyes, walking and mincing as they go, and making a tinkling with their feet;¹⁷ therefore the Adanay will strike with a scab the crown of the head of the daughters of Tzayawan, and Yahawah will lay bare their secret parts.¹⁸ In that day the Adanay will take away the beauty of their anklets, and the headbands, and the crescents;¹⁹ the pendants, and the bracelets, and the mufflers;²⁰ the headdresses, and the ankle chains, and the sashes, and the perfume-boxes, and the amulets;²¹ the rings, and the nose-jewels;²² the festival robes, and the mantles, and the shawls, and the satchels;²³ the hand-mirrors, and the fine linen, and the turbans, and the veils.²⁴ It shall happen that instead of sweet spices there shall be rottenness; and instead of a belt, a rope; and instead of well set hair, baldness; and instead of a robe, a girding of sackcloth; branding instead of beauty.²⁵ Your men shall fall by the sword, and your mighty in the war.²⁶ Her gates shall lament and mourn; and she shall be desolate and sit on the ground.

4 Seven women shall take hold of one man in that day, saying, We will eat our own bread, and wear our own clothing: only let us be called by your name; take away our reproach.² In that day shall the branch of Yahawah be beautiful and glorious, and the fruit of the land shall be excellent and comely for those who are escaped of Yasharaal.³ It shall happen, that he who is left in Tzayawan, and he who remains in Yarawashalam, shall be called holy, even everyone who is written among the living in Yarawashalam;⁴ when the Adanay shall have washed away the filth of the daughters of Tzayawan, and shall have purged the blood of Yarawashalam from the midst of it, by the spirit of justice, and by the spirit of burning.⁵ Yahawah will create over the whole habitation of Mount Tzayawan, and over her assemblies, a cloud and smoke by day, and the shining of a flaming fire by night; for over all the glory [shall be spread] a covering.⁶ There shall be a pavilion for a shade in the day-time from the heat, and for a refuge and for a covert from storm and from rain.

5 Let me sing for my well beloved a song of my beloved touching his vineyard. My well beloved had a vineyard in a very fruitful hill:² and he dug it, and gathered out the stones of it, and planted it with the choicest vine, and built a tower in the midst of it, and also hewed out a winepress therein: and he looked that it should bring forth grapes, and it brought forth wild grapes.³ Now, inhabitants of Yarawashalam and men of Yahawadah, please judge between me and my vineyard.⁴ What could have been done more to my vineyard, that I have not done in it? why, when I looked that it should bring forth grapes, brought it forth wild grapes?⁵ Now I will tell you what I will do to my vineyard: I will take away the hedge of it, and it shall be eaten up; I will break down the wall of it, and it shall be trodden down:⁶ and I will lay it waste; it shall not be pruned nor hoed; but there shall come up briars and thorns: I will also command the clouds that they rain no rain on it.⁷ For the vineyard of Yahawah Tzabaawath is the house of Yasharaal, and the men of Yahawadah his pleasant plant: and he looked for justice, but, behold, oppression; for righteousness, but, behold, a cry.⁸ Woe to those who join house to house, who lay field to field, until there be no room, and you be made to dwell alone in the midst of the land!⁹ In my ears [says] Yahawah Tzabaawath, Of a truth many houses shall be desolate, even great and beautiful, without inhabitant.¹⁰ For ten acres of vineyard shall yield one bath, and a homer of seed shall yield [but] an ephah.¹¹ Woe to those who rise up early in the morning, that they may follow strong drink; who stay late into the night, until wine inflame them!¹² The harp and the lute, the tambourine and the pipe, and wine, are [in] their feasts; but they don't regard the work of Yahawah, neither have they considered the operation of his hands.¹³ Therefore my people are gone into captivity for lack of knowledge; and their honorable men are famished, and their multitude are parched with thirst.¹⁴ Therefore Sheol has enlarged its desire, and opened its mouth without measure; and their glory, and their multitude, and their pomp, and he who rejoices among them, descend [into it].¹⁵ The mean man is bowed down, and the great man is humbled, and the eyes of the lofty are humbled:¹⁶ but Yahawah Tzabaawath is exalted in justice, and Alahayam the Holy One is sanctified in righteousness.¹⁷ Then shall the lambs feed as in their pasture, and the waste places of the fat ones shall wanderers eat.¹⁸ Woe to those who draw iniquity with cords of falsehood, and sin as it were with a cart rope;¹⁹ who say, Let him make speed, let him hasten his work, that we may see it; and let the counsel of the Holy One of Yasharaal draw near and come, that we may know it!²⁰ Woe to those who call evil good, and good evil; who put darkness for light, and light for darkness; who put bitter for sweet, and sweet for bitter!²¹ Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes, and prudent in their own sight!²² Woe to those who are mighty to drink wine, and men of strength to mingle strong drink;²³ who justify the wicked for a bribe, and take away the righteousness of the righteous from him!²⁴ Therefore as the tongue of fire devours the stubble, and as the dry grass sinks down in the flame, so their root shall be as rottenness, and their blossom shall go up as dust; because they have rejected the law of Yahawah Tzabaawath, and despised the word of the Holy One of Yasharaal.²⁵ Therefore is the anger of Yahawah kindled against his people, and he has stretched forth his hand against them, and has struck them; and the mountains tremble, and their dead bodies are as refuse in the midst of the streets. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.²⁶ He will lift up an ensign to the nations from far, and will hiss for them from the end of the earth; and, behold, they shall come with speed swiftly.²⁷ None shall be weary nor stumble among them; none shall slumber nor sleep; neither shall the belt of their loins be loosed, nor the latchet of their shoes be broken:²⁸ whose arrows are sharp, and all their bows bent; their horses' hoofs shall be accounted as flint, and their wheels as a whirlwind:²⁹ their roaring shall be like a lioness, they shall roar like young lions; yes, they shall roar, and lay hold of the prey, and carry it away safe, and there shall be none to deliver.³⁰ They shall roar against them in that day like the roaring of the sea: and if one look to the land, behold, darkness [and] distress; and the light is darkened in the clouds of it.

6 In the year that king Izayahaw died I saw the Adanay sitting on a throne, high and lifted up; and his train filled the temple.² Above him stood the seraphim: each one had six wings; with two he covered his face, and with two he covered his feet, and with two he did fly.³ One cried to another, and said, Holy, holy, holy, is Yahawah Tzabaawath: the whole earth is full of his glory.⁴ The foundations of the thresholds shook at the voice of him who cried, and the house was filled with smoke.⁵ Then said I, Woe is me! for I am undone; because I am a man of unclean lips, and I dwell in the midst of a people of unclean lips: for my eyes have seen the King, Yahawah Tzabaawath.⁶ Then flew one of the seraphim to me, having a live coal in his hand, which he had taken with the tongs from off the altar:⁷ and he touched my mouth with it, and said, Behold, this has touched your lips; and your iniquity is taken away, and your sin forgiven.⁸ I heard the voice of the Adanay, saying, Whom shall I send, and who will go for us? Then I said, Here am I; send me.⁹ He said, Go, and tell this people, Hear you indeed, but don't understand; and see you indeed, but don't perceive.¹⁰ Make the heart of this people fat, and make their ears heavy, and shut their eyes; lest they see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and turn again, and be healed.¹¹ Then said I, Adanay, how long? He answered, Until cities be waste without inhabitant, and houses without man, and the land become utterly waste,¹² and Yahawah have removed men far away, and the forsaken places be many in the midst of the land.¹³ If there be yet a tenth in it, it also shall in turn be eaten up: as a terebinth, and as an oak, whose stock remains, when they are felled; so the holy seed is the stock of it.

7 It happened in the days of Achaz the son of Yawatham, the son of Izayahaw, king of Yahawadah, that Ratzayan the king of Aram, and Paqach the son of Ramalayahaw, king of Yasharaal, went up to Yarawashalam to war against it, but could not prevail against it.² It was told the house of Dawad, saying, Aram is confederate with Aparayam. His heart trembled, and the heart of his people, as the trees of the forest tremble with the wind.³ Then said Yahawah to Yashaiyahaw, Go forth now to meet Achaz, you, and Yashawab your son, at the end of the conduit of the upper pool, in the highway of the fuller's field;⁴ and say to him, Take heed, and be quiet; don't be afraid, neither let your heart be faint, because of these two tails of smoking firebrands, for the fierce anger of Ratzayan and Aram, and of the son of Ramalayahaw.⁵ Because Aram, Aparayam, and the son of Ramalayahaw, have purposed evil against you, saying,⁶ Let us go up against Yahawadah, and vex it, and let us make a breach therein for us, and set up a king in the midst of it, even the son of Tabaal;⁷ thus says the Adanay Yahawah, It shall not stand, neither shall it happen.⁸ For the head of Aram is Damashaq, and the head of Damashaq is Ratzayan; and within sixty-five years shall Aparayam be broken in pieces, so that it shall not be a people:⁹ and the head of Aparayam is Shamarawan, and the head of Shamarawan is Ramalayahaw's son. If you will not believe, surely you shall not be established.¹⁰ Yahawah spoke again to Achaz, saying,¹¹ Ask you a sign of Yahawah your Alahayam; ask it either in the depth, or in the height above.¹² But Achaz said, I will not ask, neither will I tempt Yahawah.¹³ He said, "Listen now, house of Dawad: Is it a small thing for you to weary men, that you will weary my Alahayam also?"¹⁴ Therefore the Adanay himself will give you a sign: behold, a virgin shall conceive, and bear a son, and shall call his name Imanawaal.¹⁵ Butter and honey shall he eat, when he knows to refuse the evil, and choose the good.¹⁶ For before the child shall know to refuse the evil, and choose the good, the land whose two kings you abhor shall be forsaken.¹⁷ Yahawah will bring on you, and on your people, and on your father's house, days that have not come, from the day that Aparayam departed from Yahawadah [even] the king of Ashawar.¹⁸ It shall happen in that day, that Yahawah will hiss for the fly that is in the uttermost part of the rivers of Matzarayam, and for the bee that is in the land of Ashawar.¹⁹ They shall come, and shall rest all of them in the desolate valleys, and in the clefts of the rocks, and on all thorn-hedges, and on all pastures.²⁰ In that day will the Adanay shave with a razor that is hired in the parts beyond the River, [even] with the king of Ashawar, the head and the hair of the feet; and it shall also consume the beard.²¹ It shall happen in that day, that a man shall keep alive a young cow, and two sheep;²² and it shall happen, that because of the abundance of milk which they shall give he shall eat butter: for butter and honey shall everyone eat that is left in the midst of the land.²³ It shall happen in that day, that every place, where there were a thousand vines at a thousand silver shekels, shall be for briers and thorns.²⁴ With arrows and with bow shall one come there, because all the land shall be briers and thorns.²⁵ All the hills that were dug with the mattock, you shall not come there for fear of briers and thorns; but it shall be for the sending forth of oxen, and for the treading of sheep."

8 Yahawah said to me, Take a great tablet, and write on it with the pen of a man, For Mahar-Shalal-hash-Baz;³ and I will take to me faithful witnesses to record, Awarayah the priest, and Zakarayah the son of Yabarakayahaw.⁴ I went to the prophetess; and she conceived, and bore a son. Then said Yahawah to me, Call his name Mahar-Shalal-hash-Baz.⁵ For before the child shall have knowledge to cry, My father, and, My mother, the riches of Damashaq and the spoil of Shamarawan shall be carried away before the king of Ashawar.⁶ Yahawah spoke to me yet again, saying,⁷ Because this people have refused the waters of Shalach that go softly, and rejoice in Ratzayan and Ramalayahaw's son;⁸ now therefore, behold, the Adanay brings up on them the waters of the River, strong and many, [even] the king of Ashawar and all his glory; and it shall come up over all its channels, and go over all its banks;⁹ and it shall sweep onward into Yahawadah; it shall overflow and pass through; it shall reach even to the neck; and the stretching out of its wings shall fill the breadth of your land, Imanawaal.¹⁰ Make an uproar, O you peoples, and be broken in pieces! And give ear, all you of far countries: gird yourselves, and be broken in pieces! Gird yourselves, and be broken in pieces!¹¹ Take counsel together, and it shall be brought to nothing; speak the word, and it shall not stand: for Alahayam is with us.¹² For Yahawah spoke thus to me with a strong hand, and instructed me not to walk in the way of this people, saying,¹³ Don't you say, "A conspiracy!" concerning all whereof this people shall say, "A conspiracy!" neither fear you their fear, nor be in dread [of it].¹⁴ Yahawah of hosts, him shall you sanctify; and let him be your fear, and let him be your dread.¹⁵ He shall be for a sanctuary; but for a stone of stumbling and for a rock of offense to both the houses of Yasharaal, for a gin and for a snare to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam.¹⁶ Many shall stumble thereon, and fall, and be broken, and be snared, and be taken.¹⁷ Bind you up the testimony, seal the law among my disciples.¹⁸ I will wait for Yahawah, who hides his face from the house of Yaiqab, and I will look for him.¹⁹ Behold, I and the children whom Yahawah has given me are for signs and for wonders in Yasharaal from Yahawah Tzabaawath, who dwells in Mount Tzayawan.²⁰ When they shall tell you, "Consult with those who have familiar spirits and with the wizards, who chirp and who mutter:" shouldn't a people consult with their Alahayam? on behalf of the living [should they consult] with the dead?²¹ To the law and to the testimony! if they don't speak according to this word, surely there is no morning for them.²² They shall pass through it, sore distressed and hungry; and it shall happen that when they shall be hungry, they shall fret themselves, and curse by their king and by their Alahayam, and turn their faces upward:²³ and they shall look to the earth, and see, distress and darkness, the gloom of anguish; and into thick darkness [they shall be] driven away.

9 But there shall be no gloom to her who was in anguish. In the former time he brought into contempt the land of Zabawalan and the land of Napathalay; but in the latter time has he made it glorious, by the way of the sea, beyond the Yaradan, Galayal of the nations.² The people who walked in darkness have seen a great light: those who lived in the land of the shadow of death, on them has the light shined.³ You have multiplied the nation, you have increased their joy: they joy before you according to the joy in harvest, as men rejoice when they divide the spoil.⁴ For the yoke of his burden, and the staff of his shoulder, the rod of his oppressor, you have broken as in the day of Madayan.⁵ For all the armor of the armed man in the tumult, and the garments rolled in blood, shall be for burning, for fuel of fire.⁶ For to us a child is born, to us a son is given; and the government shall be on his shoulder: and his name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, Mighty Alahayam, Everlasting Father, Prince of Peace.⁷ Of the increase of his government and of peace there shall be no end, on the throne of Dawad, and on his kingdom, to establish it, and to uphold it with justice and with righteousness from henceforth even forever. The zeal of Yahawah Tzabaawath will perform this.⁸ The Adanay sent a word into Yaiqab, and it has lighted on Yasharaal.⁹ All the people shall know, [even] Aparayam and the inhabitant of Shamarawan, who say in pride and in arrogance of heart,¹⁰ The bricks are fallen, but we will build with hewn stone; the sycamores are cut down, but we will put cedars in their place.¹¹ Therefore Yahawah will set up on high against him the adversaries of Ratzayan, and will stir up his enemies,¹² the Aram before, and the Palashath behind; and they shall devour Yasharaal with open mouth. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.¹³ Yet the people have not turned to him who struck them, neither have they sought Yahawah Tzabaawath.¹⁴ Therefore Yahawah will cut off from Yasharaal head and tail, palm-branch and rush, in one day.¹⁵ The elder and the honorable man, he is the head; and the prophet who teaches lies, he is the tail.¹⁶ For those who lead this people cause them to err; and those who are led of them are destroyed.¹⁷ Therefore the Adanay will not rejoice over their young men, neither will he have compassion on their fatherless and widows; for everyone is profane and an Awayal-doer, and every mouth speaks folly. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.¹⁸ For wickedness burns as the fire; it devours the briers and thorns; yes, it kindles in the thickets of the forest, and they roll upward in a column of smoke.¹⁹ Through the wrath of Yahawah of hosts is the land burnt up; and the people are as the fuel of fire: no man spares his brother.²⁰ One shall snatch on the right hand, and be hungry; and he shall eat on the left hand, and they shall not be satisfied: they shall eat every man the flesh of his own arm:

10 Woe to those who decree unrighteous decrees, and to the writers who write perverseness;² to turn aside the needy from justice, and to rob the poor of my people of their right, that widows may be their spoil, and that they may make the fatherless their prey!³ What will you do in the day of visitation, and in the desolation which shall come from far? to whom will you flee for help? and where will you leave your glory?⁴ They shall only bow down under the prisoners, and shall fall under the slain. For all this his anger is not turned away, but his hand is stretched out still.⁵ Ho Assyrian, the rod of my anger, the staff in whose hand is my indignation!⁶ I will send him against a profane nation, and against the people of my wrath will I give him a charge, to take the spoil, and to take the prey, and to tread them down like the mire of the streets.⁷ However he doesn't mean so, neither does his heart think so; but it is in his heart to destroy, and to cut off not a few nations.⁸ For he says, Aren't my princes all of them kings?⁹ Isn't Kalanah as Karakamayash? Isn't Chamath as Arapad? Isn't Shamarawan as Damashaq?¹⁰ As my hand has found the kingdoms of the idols, whose engraved images did excel them of Yarawashalam and of Shamarawan;¹¹ shall I not, as I have done to Shamarawan and her idols, so do to Yarawashalam and her idols?¹² Therefore it shall happen that, when the Adanay has performed his whole work on Mount Tzayawan and on Yarawashalam, I will punish the fruit of the stout heart of the king of Ashawar, and the glory of his high looks.¹³ For he has said, By the strength of my hand I have done it, and by my wisdom; for I have understanding; and I have removed the bounds of the peoples, and have robbed their treasures, and like a valiant man I have brought down those who sit [on thrones];¹⁴ and my hand has found as a nest the riches of the peoples; and as one gathers eggs that are forsaken, have I gathered all the earth: and there was none that moved the wing, or that opened the mouth, or chirped.¹⁵ Shall the ax boast itself against him who hews therewith? Shall the saw magnify itself against him who wields it? as if a rod should wield those who lift it up, [or] as if a staff should lift up [him who is] not wood.¹⁶ Therefore will the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, send among his fat ones leanness; and under his glory there shall be kindled a burning like the burning of fire.¹⁷ The light of Yasharaal will be for a fire, and his Holy One for a flame; and it will burn and devour his thorns and his briers in one day.¹⁸ He will consume the glory of his forest, and of his fruitful field, both soul and body: and it shall be as when a standard-bearer faints.¹⁹ The remnant of the trees of his forest shall be few, so that a child may write them.²⁰ It shall come to pass in that day, that the remnant of Yasharaal, and those who are escaped of the house of Yaiqab, shall no more again lean on him who struck them, but shall lean on Yahawah, the Holy One of Yasharaal, in truth.²¹ A remnant shall return, [even] the remnant of Yaiqab, to the mighty Alahayam.²² For though your people, Yasharaal, be as the sand of the sea,

[only] a remnant of them shall return: a destruction [is] determined, overflowing with righteousness.²³ For a full end, and that determined, will the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, make in the midst of all the earth.²⁴ Therefore thus says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, my people who dwell in Tzayawan, don't be afraid of the Assyrian, though he strike you with the rod, and lift up his staff against you, after the manner of Matzarayam.²⁵ For yet a very little while, and the indignation [against you] shall be accomplished, and my anger [shall be directed] to his destruction.²⁶ Yahawah Tzabaawath will stir up against him a scourge, as in the slaughter of Madayan at the rock of Irab: and his rod will be over the sea, and he will lift it up after the manner of Matzarayam.²⁷ It shall happen in that day, that his burden shall depart from off your shoulder, and his yoke from off your neck, and the yoke shall be destroyed by reason of fatness.²⁸ He is come to Aiath, he is passed through Magarawan; at Michmash he lays up his baggage;²⁹ they are gone over the pass; they have taken up their lodging at Gabai; Ramah trembles; Gabaih of Shaawal is fled.³⁰ Cry aloud with your voice, daughter of Galayam! listen, Laishah! You poor Inathawath!³¹ Madamanah is a fugitive; the inhabitants of Gabayam flee for safety.³² This very day shall he halt at Nab: he shakes his hand at the mountain of the daughter of Tzayawan, the hill of Yarawashalam.³³ Behold, the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, will lop the boughs with terror: and the high of stature shall be hewn down, and the lofty shall be brought low.³⁴ He will cut down the thickets of the forest with iron, and Labanawan shall fall by a mighty one.

11 There shall come forth a shoot out of the stock of Yashay, and a branch out of his roots shall bear fruit.² The Spirit of Yahawah shall rest on him, the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and of the fear of Yahawah.³ His delight shall be in the fear of Yahawah; and he shall not judge after the sight of his eyes, neither decide after the hearing of his ears;⁴ but with righteousness shall he judge the poor, and decide with equity for the humble of the earth; and he shall strike the earth with the rod of his mouth; and with the breath of his lips shall he kill the wicked.⁵ Righteousness shall be the belt of his waist, and faithfulness the belt of his loins.⁶ The wolf shall dwell with the lamb, and the leopard shall lie down with the kid; and the calf and the young lion and the fattened calf together; and a little child shall lead them.⁷ The cow and the bear shall feed; their young ones shall lie down together; and the lion shall eat straw like the ox.⁸ The sucking child shall play on the hole of the asp, and the weaned child shall put his hand on the adder's den.⁹ They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain; for the earth shall be full of the knowledge of Yahawah, as the waters cover the sea.¹⁰ It shall happen in that day, that the root of Yashay, who stands for an ensign of the peoples, to him shall the nations seek; and his resting-place shall be glorious.¹¹ It shall happen in that day, that the Adanay will set his hand again the second time to recover the remnant of his people, who shall remain, from Ashawar, and from Matzarayam, and from Patharawas, and from Kawash, and from Iyalam, and from Shanair, and from Chamath, and from the islands of the sea.¹² He will set up an ensign for the nations, and will assemble the outcasts of Yasharaal, and gather together the dispersed of Yahawadah from the four corners of the earth.¹³ The envy also of Aparayam shall depart, and those who vex Yahawadah shall be cut off: Aparayam shall not envy Yahawadah, and Yahawadah shall not vex Aparayam.¹⁴ They shall fly down on the shoulder of the Palashath on the west; together shall they despoil the children of the east: they shall put forth their hand on Adawam and Mawaab; and the children of Imawan shall obey them.¹⁵ Yahawah will utterly destroy the tongue of the Matzarayam sea; and with his scorching wind will he wave his hand over the River, and will strike it into seven streams, and cause men to march over in sandals.¹⁶ There shall be a highway for the remnant of his people, who shall remain, from Ashawar; like as there was for Yasharaal in the day that he came up out of the land of Matzarayam.

12 In that day you will say, "I will give thanks to you, Yahawah; for though you were angry with me, your anger has turned away and you comfort me. ² Behold, Alahayam is my salvation. I will trust, and will not be afraid; for Yah, Yahawah, is my strength and song; and he has become my salvation." ³ Therefore with joy you shall draw water out of the wells of salvation. ⁴ In that day you will say, "Give thanks to Yahawah! Call on his name. Declare his doings among the peoples. Proclaim that his name is exalted! ⁵ Sing to Yahawah, for he has done excellent things! Let this be known in all the earth! ⁶ Cry aloud and shout, you inhabitant of Tzayawan; for great in the midst of you is the Holy One of Yasharaal!"

13 The burden of Babal, which Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz did see. ² Set you up an ensign on the bare mountain, lift up the voice to them, wave the hand, that they may go into the gates of the nobles. ³ I have commanded my consecrated ones, yes, I have called my mighty men for my anger, even my proudly exulting ones. ⁴ The noise of a multitude in the mountains, as of a great people! the noise of a tumult of the kingdoms of the nations gathered together! Yahawah Tzabaawath is mustering the host for the battle. ⁵ They come from a far country, from the uttermost part of heaven, even Yahawah, and the weapons of his indignation, to destroy the whole land. ⁶ Wail you; for the day of Yahawah is at hand; as destruction from the Shaday shall it come. ⁷ Therefore shall all hands be feeble, and every heart of man shall melt; ⁸ and they shall be dismayed; pangs and sorrows shall take hold [of them]; they shall be in pain as a woman in travail: they shall look in amazement one at another; their faces [shall be] faces of flame. ⁹ Behold, the day of Yahawah comes, cruel, with wrath and fierce anger; to make the land a desolation, and to destroy the sinners of it out of it. ¹⁰ For the stars of the sky and the constellations of it shall not give their light; the sun shall be darkened in its going forth, and the moon shall not cause its light to shine. ¹¹ I will punish the world for [their] evil, and the wicked for their iniquity: and I will cause the arrogance of the proud to cease, and will lay low the haughtiness of the terrible. ¹² I will make a man more rare than fine gold, even a man than the pure gold of Awapayar. ¹³ Therefore I will make the heavens to tremble, and the earth shall be shaken out of its place, in the wrath of Yahawah of hosts, and in the day of his fierce anger. ¹⁴ It shall happen, that as the chased roe, and as sheep that no man gathers, they shall turn every man to his own people, and shall flee every man to his own land. ¹⁵ Everyone who is found shall be thrust through; and everyone who is taken shall fall by the sword. ¹⁶ Their infants also shall be dashed in pieces before their eyes; their houses shall be rifled, and their wives ravished. ¹⁷ Behold, I will stir up the Maday against them, who shall not regard silver, and as for gold, they shall not delight in it. ¹⁸ [Their] bows shall dash the young men in pieces; and they shall have no pity on the fruit of the womb; their eye shall not spare children. ¹⁹ Babal, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Kashadayam` pride, shall be as when Alahayam overthrew Sadam and Imarah. ²⁰ It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be lived in from generation to generation: neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there; neither shall shepherds make their flocks to lie down there. ²¹ But wild animals of the desert shall lie there; and their houses shall be full of doleful creatures; and ostriches shall dwell there, and wild goats shall dance there. ²² Wolves shall cry in their castles, and jackals in the pleasant palaces: and her time is near to come, and her days shall not be prolonged.

14 For Yahawah will have compassion on Yaiqab, and will yet choose Yasharaal, and set them in their own land: and the sojourner shall join himself with them, and they shall cleave to the house of Yaiqab. ² The peoples shall take them, and bring them to their place; and the house of Yasharaal shall possess them in the land of Yahawah for servants and for handmaids: and they shall take them captive whose captives they were; and they shall rule over their oppressors. ³ It shall happen in the day that Yahawah shall give you rest from your sorrow, and from your trouble, and from the hard service in which you were made to serve, ⁴ that you shall take up this parable against the king of Babal, and say, How has the oppressor ceased! the golden city ceased! ⁵ Yahawah has broken the staff of the wicked, the scepter of the rulers; ⁶ who struck the peoples in wrath with a continual stroke, who ruled the nations in anger, with a persecution that none restrained. ⁷ The whole earth is at rest, [and] is quiet: they break forth into singing. ⁸ Yes, the fir-trees rejoice at you, [and] the cedars of Labanawan, [saying], Since you are laid low, no lumberjack is come up against us. ⁹ Sheol from beneath is moved for you to meet you at your coming; it stirs up the dead for you, even all the chief ones of the earth; it has raised up from their thrones all the kings of the nations. ¹⁰ All they shall answer and tell you, Are you also become weak as we? are you become like us? ¹¹ Your pomp is brought down to Sheol, [and] the noise of your viols: the worm is spread under you, and worms cover you. ¹² How you are fallen from heaven, day-star, son of the morning! How you are cut down to the ground, who laid the nations low! ¹³ You said in your heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of Alahayam; and I will sit on the mountain of congregation, in the uttermost parts of the north; ¹⁴ I will ascend above the heights of the clouds; I will make myself like the Ilayawan. ¹⁵ Yet you shall be brought down to Sheol, to the uttermost parts of the pit. ¹⁶ Those who see you shall gaze at you, they shall consider you, [saying], "Is this the man who made the earth to tremble, who shook kingdoms; ¹⁷ who made the world as a wilderness, and overthrew the cities of it; who didn't let loose his prisoners to their home?" ¹⁸ All the kings of the nations, all of them, sleep in glory, everyone in his own house. ¹⁹ But you are cast forth away from your tomb like an abominable branch, clothed with the slain, who are thrust through with the sword, who go down to the stones of the pit; as a dead body trodden under foot. ²⁰ You shall not be joined with them in burial, because you have destroyed your land, you have killed your people; the seed of Awayal-doers shall not be named forever. ²¹ Prepare slaughter for his children for the iniquity of their fathers, that they not rise up, and possess the earth, and fill the surface of the world with cities. ²² I will rise up against them, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, and cut off from Babal name and remnant, and son and son's son, says Yahawah. ²³ I will also make it a possession for the porcupine, and pools of water: and I will sweep it with the broom of destruction, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ²⁴ Yahawah Tzabaawath has sworn, saying, Surely, as I have thought, so shall it happen; and as I have purposed, so shall it stand: ²⁵ that I will break the Assyrian in my land, and on my mountains tread him under foot: then shall his yoke depart from off them, and his burden depart from off their shoulder. ²⁶ This is the purpose that is purposed on the whole earth; and this is the hand that is stretched out on all the nations. ²⁷ For Yahawah Tzabaawath has purposed, and who shall annul it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turn it back? ²⁸ In the year that king Achaz died was this burden. ²⁹ Don't rejoice, O Palashath, all of you, because the rod that struck you is broken; for out of the serpent's root shall come forth an adder, and his fruit shall be a fiery flying serpent. ³⁰ The firstborn of the poor shall feed, and the needy shall lie down in safety; and I will kill your root with famine, and your remnant shall be killed. ³¹ Howl, gate; cry, city; you are melted away, Palashath, all of you; for there comes a smoke out of the north, and there is no straggler in his ranks. ³² What then shall one answer the messengers of the nation? That Yahawah has founded Tzayawan, and in her shall the afflicted of his people take refuge.

15 The burden of Mawaab. For in a night Ar of Mawaab is laid waste, [and] brought to nothing; for in a night Qayar of Mawaab is laid waste, [and] brought to nothing. ² They are gone up to Bayith, and to Dayaban, to the high places, to weep: Mawaab wails over Nabaw, and over Mayadabaa; on all their heads is baldness, every beard is cut off. ³ In their streets they gird themselves with sackcloth; on their housetops, and in their broad places, everyone wails, weeping abundantly. ⁴ Chashabawan cries out, and Alailah; their voice is heard even to Yahatz: therefore the armed men of Mawaab cry aloud; his soul trembles within him. ⁵ My heart cries out for Mawaab; her nobles [flee] to Tzair, to Eglath-shelishi-yah: for by the ascent of Lawachayath with weeping they go up; for in the way of Chawaranayam they raise up a cry of destruction.⁶ For the waters of Namarayam shall be desolate; for the grass is withered away, the tender grass fails, there is no green thing.⁷ Therefore the abundance they have gotten, and that which they have laid up, shall they carry away over the brook of the willows.⁸ For the cry is gone round about the borders of Mawaab; the wailing of it to Agalayam, and the wailing of it to Ayalayam.⁹ For the waters of Dayamawan are full of blood; for I will bring yet more on Dayamawan, a lion on them of Mawaab that escape, and on the remnant of the land.

16 Send you the lambs for the ruler of the land from Selah to the wilderness, to the mountain of the daughter of Tzayawan.² For it shall be that, as wandering birds, as a scattered nest, so shall the daughters of Mawaab be at the fords of the Aranawan.³ Give counsel, execute justice; make your shade as the night in the midst of the noonday; hide the outcasts; don't betray the fugitive.⁴ Let my outcasts dwell with you; as for Mawaab, be you a covert to him from the face of the destroyer. For the extortioner is brought to nothing, destruction ceases, the oppressors are consumed out of the land.⁵ A throne shall be established in lovingkindness; and one shall sit thereon in truth, in the tent of Dawad, judging, and seeking justice, and swift to do righteousness.⁶ We have heard of the pride of Mawaab, [that] he is very proud; even of his arrogance, and his pride, and his wrath; his boastings are nothing.⁷ Therefore shall Mawaab wail for Mawaab, everyone shall wail: for the raisin-cakes of Qayar shall you mourn, utterly stricken.⁸ For the fields of Chashabawan languish, [and] the vine of Shabamah; the lords of the nations have broken down the choice branches of it, which reached even to Yaizar, which wandered into the wilderness; its shoots were spread abroad, they passed over the sea.⁹ Therefore I will weep with the weeping of Yaizar for the vine of Shabamah; I will water you with my tears, Chashabawan, and Alailah: for on your summer fruits and on your harvest the [battle] shout is fallen.¹⁰ Gladness is taken away, and joy out of the fruitful field; and in the vineyards there shall be no singing, neither joyful noise: nobody shall tread out wine in the presses; I have made the [vintage] shout to cease.¹¹ Why my heart sounds like a harp for Mawaab, and my inward parts for Qayar.¹² It shall happen, when Mawaab presents himself, when he wears himself on the high place, and shall come to his sanctuary to pray, that he shall not prevail.¹³ This is the word that Yahawah spoke concerning Mawaab in time past.¹⁴ But now Yahawah has spoken, saying, Within three years, as the years of a hireling, the glory of Mawaab shall be brought into contempt, with all his great multitude; and the remnant shall be very small and of no account.

17 The burden of Damashaq. Behold, Damashaq is taken away from being a city, and it shall be a ruinous heap.² The cities of Irair are forsaken; they shall be for flocks, which shall lie down, and none shall make them afraid.³ The fortress shall cease from Aparayam, and the kingdom from Damashaq, and the remnant of Aram; they shall be as the glory of the children of Yasharaal, says Yahawah Tzabaawath.⁴ It shall happen in that day, that the glory of Yaiqab shall be made thin, and the fatness of his flesh shall wax lean.⁵ It shall be as when the harvester gathers the standing grain, and his arm reaps the ears; yes, it shall be as when one glean ears in the valley of Rephaim.⁶ Yet there shall be left therein gleanings, as the shaking of an olive-tree, two or three berries in the top of the uppermost bough, four or five in the outmost branches of a fruitful tree, says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal.⁷ In that day shall men look to their Maker, and their eyes shall have respect to the Holy One of Yasharaal.⁸ They shall not look to the altars, the work of their hands; neither shall they have respect to that which their fingers have made, either the Asherim, or the sun-images.⁹ In that day shall their strong cities be as the forsaken places in the wood and on the mountain top, which were forsaken from before the children of Yasharaal; and it shall be a desolation.¹⁰ For you have forgotten the Alahayam of your salvation, and have not been mindful of the rock of your strength; therefore you plant pleasant plants, and set it with strange slips.¹¹ In the day of your planting you hedge it in, and in the morning you make your seed to blossom; but the harvest flees away in the day of grief and of desperate sorrow.¹² Ah, the uproar of many peoples, who roar like the roaring of the seas; and the rushing of nations, that rush like the rushing of mighty waters!¹³ The nations shall rush like the rushing of many waters: but he shall rebuke them, and they shall flee far off, and shall be chased as the chaff of the mountains before the wind, and like the whirling dust before the storm.¹⁴ At evening, behold, terror; [and] before the morning they are no more. This is the portion of those who despoil us, and the lot of those who rob us.

18 Ah, the land of the rustling of wings, which is beyond the rivers of Kawash;² that sends ambassadors by the sea, even in vessels of papyrus on the waters, [saying], Go, you swift messengers, to a nation tall and smooth, to a people awesome from their beginning onward, a nation that measures out and treads down, whose land the rivers divide!³ All you inhabitants of the world, and you dwellers on the earth, when an ensign is lifted up on the mountains, see you; and when the trumpet is blown, hear you.⁴ For thus has Yahawah said to me, I will be still, and I will see in my dwelling-place, like clear heat in sunshine, like a cloud of dew in the heat of harvest.⁵ For before the harvest, when the blossom is over, and the flower becomes a ripening grape, he will cut off the sprigs with pruning-hooks, and the spreading branches will he take away [and] cut down.⁶ They shall be left together to the ravenous birds of the mountains, and to the animals of the earth; and the ravenous birds shall summer on them, and all the animals of the earth shall winter on them.⁷ In that time shall a present be brought to Yahawah Tzabaawath [from] a people tall and smooth, even from a people awesome from their beginning onward, a nation that measures out and treads down, whose land the rivers divide, to the place of the name of Yahawah Tzabaawath, Mount Tzayawan.

19 The burden of Matzarayam. Behold, Yahawah rides on a swift cloud, and comes to Matzarayam: and the idols of Matzarayam shall tremble at his presence; and the heart of Matzarayam shall melt in the midst of it.² I will stir up the Matzarayam against the Matzarayam: and they shall fight everyone against his brother, and everyone against his neighbor; city against city, [and] kingdom against kingdom.³ The spirit of Matzarayam shall fail in the midst of it; and I will destroy the counsel of it: and they shall seek to the idols, and to the charmers, and to those who have familiar spirits, and to the wizards.⁴ I will give over the Matzarayam into the hand of a cruel lord; and a fierce king shall rule over them, says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath.⁵ The waters shall fail from the sea, and the river shall be wasted and become dry.⁶ The rivers shall become foul; the streams of Matzarayam shall be diminished and dried up; the reeds and flags shall wither away.⁷ The meadows by the Nile, by the brink of the Nile, and all the sown fields of the Nile, shall become dry, be driven away, and be no more.⁸ The fishermen shall lament, and all those who cast angle into the Nile shall mourn, and those who spread nets on the waters shall languish.⁹ Moreover those who work in combed flax, and those who weave white cloth, shall be confounded.¹⁰ The pillars [of Matzarayam] shall be broken in pieces; all those who work for hire [shall be] grieved in soul.¹¹ The princes of Tzain are utterly foolish; the counsel of the wisest counselors of Paraih is become brutish: how say you to Paraih, I am the son of the wise, the son of ancient kings?¹² Where then are your wise men? and let them tell you now; and let them know what Yahawah Tzabaawath has purposed concerning Matzarayam.¹³ The princes of Tzain are become fools, the princes of Map are deceived; they have caused Matzarayam to go astray, who are the corner-stone of her tribes.¹⁴ Yahawah has mingled a spirit of perverseness in the midst of her; and they have caused Matzarayam to go astray in every work of it, as a drunken man staggers in his vomit.¹⁵ Neither shall there be for Matzarayam any work, which head or tail, palm-branch or rush, may do.¹⁶ In that day shall the Matzarayam be like women; and they shall tremble and fear because of the shaking of the hand of Yahawah Tzabaawath, which he shakes over them.¹⁷ The land of Yahawadah shall become a terror to Matzarayam; everyone to whom mention is made of it shall be afraid, because of the purpose of Yahawah Tzabaawath, which he purposes against it.¹⁸ In that day there shall be five cities in the land of Matzarayam that speak the language of Kanain, and swear to Yahawah of hosts; one shall be called The city of destruction.¹⁹ In that day shall there be an altar to Yahawah in the midst of the land of Matzarayam, and a pillar at the border of it to Yahawah.²⁰ It shall be for a sign and for a witness to Yahawah Tzabaawath in the land of Matzarayam; for they shall cry to Yahawah because of oppressors, and he will send them a savior, and a defender, and he will deliver them.²¹ Yahawah shall be known to Matzarayam, and the Matzarayam shall know Yahawah in that day; yes, they shall worship with sacrifice and offering, and shall vow a vow to Yahawah, and shall perform it.²² Yahawah will strike Matzarayam, smiting and healing; and they shall return to Yahawah, and he will be entreated of them, and will heal them.²³ In that day shall there be a highway out of Matzarayam to Ashawar, and the Assyrian shall come into Matzarayam, and the Matzarayam into Ashawar; and the Matzarayam shall worship with the Ashawar.²⁴ In that day shall Yasharaal be the third with Matzarayam and with Ashawar, a blessing in the midst of the earth;²⁵ because Yahawah Tzabaawath has blessed them, saying, Blessed be Matzarayam my people, and Ashawar the work of my hands, and Yasharaal my inheritance.

20 In the year that Tharathan came to Ashadawad, when Saragawan the king of Ashawar sent him, and he fought against Ashadawad and took it;² at that time Yahawah spoke by Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz, saying, Go, and loose the sackcloth from off your loins, and put your shoe from off your foot. He did so, walking naked and barefoot.³ Yahawah said, Like as my servant Yashaiyahaw has walked naked and barefoot three years for a sign and a wonder concerning Matzarayam and concerning Kawash;⁴ so shall the king of Ashawar lead away the captives of Matzarayam, and the exiles of Kawash, young and old, naked and barefoot, and with buttocks uncovered, to the shame of Matzarayam.⁵ They shall be dismayed and confounded, because of Kawash their expectation, and of Matzarayam their glory.⁶ The inhabitant of this coast-land shall say in that day, Behold, such is our expectation, where we fled for help to be delivered from the king of Ashawar: and we, how shall we escape?

21 The burden of the wilderness of the sea. As whirlwinds in the South sweep through, it comes from the wilderness, from an awesome land.² A grievous vision is declared to me; the treacherous man deals treacherously, and the destroyer destroys. Go up, Iyalam; besiege, Maday; all the sighing of it have I made to cease.³ Therefore are my loins filled with anguish; pangs have taken hold on me, as the pangs of a woman in travail: I am pained so that I can't hear; I am dismayed so that I can't see.⁴ My heart flutters, horror has frightened me; the twilight that I desired has been turned into trembling to me.⁵ They prepare the table, they set the watch, they eat, they drink: rise up, you princes, anoint the shield.⁶ For thus has the Adanay said to me, Go, set a watchman: let him declare what he sees:⁷ and when he sees a troop, horsemen in pairs, a troop of donkeys, a troop of camels, he shall listen diligently with much heed.⁸ He cried as a lion: Adanay, I stand continually on the watch-tower in the day-time, and am set in my ward whole nights;⁹ and, behold, here comes a troop of men, horsemen in pairs. He answered, Fallen, fallen is Babal; and all the engraved images of her gods are broken to the ground.¹⁰ You my threshing, and the grain of my floor! that which I have heard from Yahawah of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, have I declared to you.¹¹ The burden of Dawamah. One calls to me out of Shaiyar, Watchman, what of the night? Watchman, what of the night?¹² The watchman said, The morning comes, and also the night: if you will inquire, inquire you: turn you, come.¹³ The burden on Irab. In the forest in Irab shall you lodge, you caravans of Dedanites.¹⁴ To him who was thirsty they brought water; the inhabitants of the land of Thayamaa did meet the fugitives with their bread.¹⁵ For they fled away from the swords, from the drawn sword, and from the bent bow, and from the heat of battle.¹⁶ For thus has the Adanay said to me, Within a year, according to the years of a hireling, all the glory of Qadar shall fail;¹⁷ and the residue of the number of the archers, the mighty men of the children of Qadar, shall be few; for Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, has spoken it.

22 The burden of the valley of vision. What ails you now, that you are wholly gone up to the housetops?² You that are full of shouting, a tumultuous city, a joyous town; your slain are not slain with the sword, neither are they dead in battle.³ All your rulers fled away together, they were bound by the archers; all who were found of you were bound together; they fled afar off.⁴ Therefore said I, Look away from me, I will weep bitterly; don't labor to comfort me for the destruction of the daughter of my people.⁵ For it is a day of confusion, and of treading down, and of perplexity, from the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, in the valley of vision; a breaking down of the walls, and a crying to the mountains.⁶ Iyalam bore the quiver, with chariots of men [and] horsemen; and Qayar uncovered the shield.⁷ It happened that your choicest valleys were full of chariots, and the horsemen set themselves in array at the gate.⁸ He took away the covering of Yahawadah; and you did look in that day to the armor in the house of the forest.⁹ You saw the breaches of the city of Dawad, that they were many; and you gathered together the waters of the lower pool;¹⁰ and you numbered the houses of Yarawashalam, and you broke down the houses to fortify the wall;¹¹ you made also a reservoir between the two walls for the water of the old pool. But you didn't look to him who had done this, neither had you respect to him who purposed it long ago.¹² In that day did the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, call to weeping, and to mourning, and to baldness, and to girding with sackcloth:¹³ and behold, joy and gladness, killing oxen and killing sheep, eating flesh and drinking wine: let us eat and drink, for tomorrow we shall die.¹⁴ Yahawah Tzabaawath revealed himself in my ears, Surely this iniquity shall not be forgiven you until you die, says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath.¹⁵ Thus says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, Go, get you to this treasurer, even to Shabanaa, who is over the house, [and say],¹⁶ "What do you here? and whom has you here, that you have hewed you out here a tomb? Cutting him out a tomb on high, chiseling a habitation for himself in the rock!"¹⁷ Behold, Yahawah, like a [strong] man, will hurl you away violently; yes, he will wrap you up closely.¹⁸ He will surely wind you round and round, [and toss you] like a ball into a large country; there shall you die, and there shall be the chariots of your glory, you shame of your lord's house.¹⁹ I will thrust you from your office; and from your station shall you be pulled down.²⁰ It shall happen in that day, that I will call my servant Alayaqayam the son of Hilkiyah:²¹ and I will cloth him with your robe, and strengthen him with your belt, and I will commit your government into his hand; and he shall be a father to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, and to the house of Yahawadah.²² The key of the house of Dawad will I lay on his shoulder; and he shall open, and none shall shut; and he shall shut, and none shall open.²³ I will fasten him as a nail in a sure place; and he shall be for a throne of glory to his father's house.²⁴ They shall hang on him all the glory of his father's house, the offspring and the issue, every small vessel, from the cups even to all the pitchers.²⁵ In that day, says Yahawah of hosts, shall the nail that was fastened in a sure place give way; and it shall be hewn down, and fall; and the burden that was on it shall be cut off; for Yahawah has spoken it.

23 The burden of Tzar. Howl, you ships of Tharashayash; for it is laid waste, so that there is no house, no entering in: from the land of Kathayam it is revealed to them.² Be still, you inhabitants of the coast, you whom the merchants of Tzayadawan, that pass over the sea, have replenished.³ On great waters the seed of the Shayachawar, the harvest of the Nile, was her revenue; and she was the market of nations.⁴ Be you ashamed, Tzayadawan; for the sea has spoken, the stronghold of the sea, saying, I have not travailed, nor brought forth, neither have I nourished young men, nor brought up virgins.⁵ When the report comes to Matzarayam, they shall be sorely pained at the report of Tzar.⁶ Pass you over to Tharashayash; wail, you inhabitants of the coast.⁷ Is this your joyous [city], whose antiquity is of ancient days, whose feet carried her afar off to sojourn?⁸ Who has purposed this against Tzar, the giver of crowns, whose merchants are princes, whose traffickers are the honorable of the earth?⁹ Yahawah of hosts has purposed it, to stain the pride of all glory, to bring into contempt all the honorable of the earth.¹⁰ Pass through your land as the Nile, daughter of Tharashayash; there is no restraint any more.¹¹ He has stretched out his hand over the sea, he has shaken the kingdoms: Yahawah has given commandment concerning Kanain, to destroy the strongholds of it.¹² He said, You shall no more rejoice, you oppressed virgin daughter of Tzayadawan: arise, pass over to Kathayam; even there shall you have no rest.¹³ Behold, the land of the Kashadayam: this people was not; the Assyrian founded it for those who dwell in the wilderness; they set up their towers; they overthrew the palaces of it; they made it a ruin.¹⁴ Howl, you ships of Tharashayash; for your stronghold is laid waste.¹⁵ It shall come to pass in that day, that Tzar shall be forgotten seventy years, according to the days of one king: after the end of seventy years it shall be to Tzar as in the song of the prostitute.¹⁶ Take a harp, go about the city, you prostitute that has been forgotten; make sweet melody, sing many songs, that you may be remembered.¹⁷ It shall happen after the end of seventy years, that Yahawah will visit Tzar, and she shall return to her hire, and shall play the prostitute with all the kingdoms of the world on the surface of the earth.¹⁸ Her merchandise and her hire shall be holiness to Yahawah: it shall not be treasured nor laid up; for her merchandise shall be for those who dwell before Yahawah, to eat sufficiently, and for durable clothing.

24 Behold, Yahawah makes the earth empty, and makes it waste, and turns it upside down, and scatters abroad the inhabitants of it.² It shall be, as with the people, so with the priest; as with the servant, so with his master; as with the maid, so with her mistress; as with the buyer, so with the seller; as with the creditor, so with the debtor; as with the taker of interest, so with the giver of interest to him.³ The earth shall be utterly emptied, and utterly laid waste; for Yahawah has spoken this word.⁴ The earth mourns and fades away, the world languishes and fades away, the lofty people of the earth do languish.⁵ The earth also is polluted under the inhabitants of it; because they have transgressed the laws, violated the statutes, broken the everlasting covenant.⁶ Therefore has the curse devoured the earth, and those who dwell therein are found guilty; therefore the inhabitants of the earth are burned, and few men left.⁷ The new wine mourns, the vine languishes, all the merry-hearted do sigh.⁸ The mirth of tambourines ceases, the noise of those who rejoice ends, the joy of the harp ceases.⁹ They shall not drink wine with a song; strong drink shall be bitter to those who drink it.¹⁰ The waste city is broken down; every house is shut up, that no man may come in.¹¹ There is a crying in the streets because of the wine; all joy is darkened, the mirth of the land is gone.¹² In the city is left desolation, and the gate is struck with destruction.¹³ For thus shall it be in the midst of the earth among the peoples, as the shaking of an olive-tree, as the gleanings when the vintage is done.¹⁴ These shall lift up their voice, they shall shout; for the majesty of Yahawah they cry aloud from the sea.¹⁵ Why glorify you Yahawah in the east, even the name of Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, in the isles of the sea.¹⁶ From the uttermost part of the earth have we heard songs: Glory to the righteous. But I said, I pine away, I pine away, woe is me! the treacherous have dealt treacherously; yes, the treacherous have dealt very treacherously.¹⁷ Fear, and the pit, and the snare, are on you, O inhabitant of the earth.¹⁸ It shall happen, that he who flees from the noise of the fear shall fall into the pit; and he who comes up out of the midst of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for the windows on high are opened, and the foundations of the earth tremble.¹⁹ The earth is utterly broken, the earth is torn apart, the earth is shaken violently.²⁰ The earth shall stagger like a drunken man, and shall sway back and forth like a hammock; and the disobedience of it shall be heavy on it, and it shall fall, and not rise again.²¹ It shall happen in that day, that Yahawah will punish the host of the high ones on high, and the kings of the earth on the earth.²² They shall be gathered together, as prisoners are gathered in the pit, and shall be shut up in the prison; and after many days shall they be visited.²³ Then the moon shall be confounded, and the sun ashamed; for Yahawah Tzabaawath will reign on Mount Tzayawan, and in Yarawashalam; and before his elders shall be glory.

25 Yahawah, you are my Alahayam; I will exalt you, I will praise your name; for you have done wonderful things, [even] counsels of old, in faithfulness [and] truth.² For you have made of a city a heap, of a fortified city a ruin, a palace of strangers to be no city; it shall never be built.³ Therefore shall a strong people glorify you; a city of awesome nations shall fear you.⁴ For you have been a stronghold to the poor, a stronghold to the needy in his distress, a refuge from the storm, a shade from the heat, when the blast of the awesome ones is as a storm against the wall.⁵ As the heat in a dry place will you bring down the noise of strangers; as the heat by the shade of a cloud, the song of the awesome ones shall be brought low.⁶ In this mountain will Yahawah Tzabaawath make to all peoples a feast of fat things, a feast of wines on the lees, of fat things full of marrow, of wines on the lees well refined.⁷ He will destroy in this mountain the surface of the covering that covers all peoples, and the veil that is spread over all nations.⁸ He has swallowed up death forever; and the Adanay Yahawah will wipe away tears from off all faces; and the reproach of his people will he take away from off all the earth: for Yahawah has spoken it.⁹ It shall be said in that day, Behold, this is our Alahayam; we have waited for him, and he will save us: this is Yahawah; we have waited for him, we will be glad and rejoice in his salvation.¹⁰ For in this mountain will the hand of Yahawah rest; and Mawaab shall be trodden down in his place, even as straw is trodden down in the water of the dung-hill.¹¹ He shall spread forth his hands in the midst of it, as he who swims spreads forth [his hands] to swim; but [Yahawah] will lay low his pride together with the craft of his hands.¹² The high fortress of your walls has he brought down, laid low, and brought to the ground, even to the dust.

26 In that day shall this song be sung in the land of Yahawadah: we have a strong city; salvation will he appoint for walls and bulwarks.² Open you the gates, that the righteous nation which keeps faith may enter in.³ You will keep [him] in perfect peace, [whose] mind [is] stayed [on you]; because he trusts in you.⁴ Trust in Yahawah forever; for in Yah, Yahawah, is an everlasting Rock.⁵ For he has brought down those who dwell on high, the lofty city: he lays it low, he lays it low even to the ground; he brings it even to the dust.⁶ The foot shall tread it down; even the feet of the poor, and the steps of the needy.⁷ The way of the just is uprightness: you that are upright do direct the path of the just.⁸ Yes, in the way of your judgments, Yahawah, have we waited for you; to your name, even to your memorial [name], is the desire of our soul.⁹ With my soul have I desired you in the night; yes, with my spirit within me will I seek you earnestly: for when your judgments are in the earth, the inhabitants of the world learn righteousness.¹⁰ Let favor be showed to the wicked, yet will he not learn righteousness; in the land of uprightness will he deal wrongfully, and will not see the majesty of Yahawah.¹¹ Yahawah, your hand is lifted up, yet they don't see; but they shall see [your] zeal for the people, and be put to shame; yes, fire shall devour your adversaries.¹² Yahawah, you will ordain peace for us; for you have also worked all our works for us.¹³ Yahawah our Alahayam, other lords besides you have had dominion over us; but by you only will we make mention of your name.¹⁴ [They are] dead, they shall not live; [they are] deceased, they shall not rise: therefore have you visited and destroyed them, and made all memory of them to perish.¹⁵ You have increased the nation, O Yahawah, you have increased the nation; you are glorified; you have enlarged all the borders of the land.¹⁶ Yahawah, in trouble have they visited you; they poured out a prayer [when] your chastening was on them.¹⁷ Like as a woman with child, who draws near the time of her delivery, is in pain and cries out in her pangs; so we have been before you, Yahawah.¹⁸ We have been with child, we have been in pain, we have as it were brought forth wind;

we have not worked any deliverance in the earth; neither have the inhabitants of the world fallen.¹⁹ Your dead shall live; my dead bodies shall arise. Awake and sing, you who dwell in the dust; for your dew is [as] the dew of herbs, and the earth shall cast forth the dead.²⁰ Come, my people, enter you into your chambers, and shut your doors about you: hide yourself for a little moment, until the indignation be past.²¹ For, behold, Yahawah comes forth out of his place to punish the inhabitants of the earth for their iniquity: the earth also shall disclose her blood, and shall no more cover her slain.

27 In that day Yahawah with his hard and great and strong sword will punish leviathan the swift serpent, and leviathan the crooked serpent; and he will kill the monster that is in the sea.² In that day: A vineyard of wine, sing you to it.³ I Yahawah am its keeper; I will water it every moment: lest any hurt it, I will keep it night and day.⁴ Wrath is not in me: would that the briers and thorns were against me in battle! I would march on them, I would burn them together.⁵ Or else let him take hold of my strength, that he may make peace with me; [yes], let him make peace with me.⁶ In days to come shall Yaiqab take root; Yasharaal shall blossom and bud; and they shall fill the surface of the world with fruit.⁷ Has he struck them as he struck those who struck them? or are they slain according to the slaughter of those who were slain by them?⁸ In measure, when you send them away, you do content with them; he has removed [them] with his rough blast in the day of the east wind.⁹ Therefore by this shall the iniquity of Yaiqab be forgiven, and this is all the fruit of taking away his sin: that he makes all the stones of the altar as chalk stones that are beaten in sunder, [so that] the Asherim and the sun-images shall rise no more.¹⁰ For the fortified city is solitary, a habitation deserted and forsaken, like the wilderness: there shall the calf feed, and there shall he lie down, and consume the branches of it.¹¹ When the boughs of it are withered, they shall be broken off; the women shall come, and set them on fire; for it is a people of no understanding; therefore he who made them will not have compassion on them, and he who formed them will show them no favor.¹² It shall happen in that day, that Yahawah will beat off [his fruit] from the flood of the River to the brook of Matzarayam; and you shall be gathered one by one, you children of Yasharaal.¹³ It shall happen in that day, that a great trumpet shall be blown; and they shall come who were ready to perish in the land of Ashawar, and those who were outcasts in the land of Matzarayam; and they shall worship Yahawah in the holy mountain at Yarawashalam.

28 Woe to the crown of pride of the drunkards of Aparayam, and to the fading flower of his glorious beauty, which is on the head of the fat valley of those who are overcome with wine!² Behold, the Adanay has a mighty and strong one; as a tempest of hail, a destroying storm, as a tempest of mighty waters overflowing, will he cast down to the earth with the hand.³ The crown of pride of the drunkards of Aparayam shall be trodden under foot:⁴ and the fading flower of his glorious beauty, which is on the head of the fat valley, shall be as the first-ripe fig before the summer; which when he who looks on it sees, while it is yet in his hand he eats it up.⁵ In that day will Yahawah Tzabaawath become a crown of glory, and a diadem of beauty, to the residue of his people;⁶ and a spirit of justice to him who sits in judgment, and strength to those who turn back the battle at the gate.⁷ Even these reel with wine, and stagger with strong drink; the priest and the prophet reel with strong drink, they are swallowed up of wine, they stagger with strong drink; they err in vision, they stumble in judgment.⁸ For all tables are full of vomit [and] filthiness, [so that there is] no place [clean].⁹ Whom will he teach knowledge? and whom will he make to understand the message? those who are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts?¹⁰ For it is precept on precept, precept on precept; line on line, line on line; here a little, there a little.¹¹ No, but by [men of] strange lips and with another language will he speak to this people;¹² to whom he said, This is the rest, give you rest to him who is weary; and this is the refreshing; yet they would not hear.¹³ Therefore shall the word of Yahawah be to them precept on precept, precept on precept; line on line, line on line; here a little, there a little; that they may go, and fall backward, and be broken, and snared, and taken.¹⁴ Why hear the word of Yahawah, you scoffers, that rule this people that is in Yarawashalam:¹⁵ Because you have said, We have made a covenant with death, and with Sheol are we at agreement; when the overflowing scourge shall pass through, it shall not come to us; for we have made lies our refuge, and under falsehood have we hid ourselves:¹⁶ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Behold, I lay in Tzayawan for a foundation a stone, a tried stone, a precious corner -[stone] of sure foundation: he who believes shall not be in haste.¹⁷ I will make justice the line, and righteousness the plummet; and the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies, and the waters shall overflow the hiding-place.¹⁸ Your covenant with death shall be annulled, and your agreement with Sheol shall not stand; when the overflowing scourge shall pass through, then you shall be trodden down by it.¹⁹ As often as it passes though, it shall take you; for morning by morning shall it pass through, by day and by night: and it shall be nothing but terror to understand the message.²⁰ For the bed is shorter than that a man can stretch himself on it; and the covering narrower than that he can wrap himself in it.²¹ For Yahawah will rise up as on Mount Paratzayam, he will be angry as in the valley of Gabaiwan; that he may do his work, his strange work, and bring to pass his act, his strange act.²² Now therefore don't you be scoffers, lest your bonds be made strong; for a decree of destruction have I heard from the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, on the whole earth.²³ Give you ear, and hear my voice; listen, and hear my speech.²⁴ Does he who plows to sow plow continually? does he [continually] open and harrow his ground?²⁵ When he has leveled the surface of it, doesn't he cast abroad the dill, and scatter the cumin, and put in the wheat in rows, and the barley in the appointed place, and the spelt in the border of it?²⁶ For his Alahayam does instruct him aright, [and] does teach him.²⁷ For the dill are not threshed with a sharp [threshing] instrument, neither is a cart wheel turned about on the cumin; but the dill are beaten out with a staff, and the cumin with a rod.²⁸ Bread [grain] is ground; for he will not be always threshing it: and though the wheel of his cart and his horses scatter it, he does not grind it.²⁹ This also comes forth from Yahawah Tzabaawath, who is wonderful in counsel, and excellent in wisdom.

29 Ho Arayaal, Arayaal, the city where Dawad encamped! add you year to year; let the feasts come round:² then will I distress Arayaal, and there shall be mourning and lamentation; and she shall be to me as Arayaal.³ I will encamp against you round about, and will lay siege against you with posted troops, and I will raise siege works against you.⁴ You shall be brought down, and shall speak out of the ground, and your speech shall be low out of the dust; and your voice shall be as of one who has a familiar spirit, out of the ground, and your speech shall whisper out of the dust.⁵ But the multitude of your foes shall be like small dust, and the multitude of the awesome ones as chaff that passes away: yes, it shall be in an instant suddenly.⁶ She shall be visited of Yahawah Tzabaawath with thunder, and with earthquake, and great noise, with whirlwind and tempest, and the flame of a devouring fire.⁷ The multitude of all the nations that fight against Arayaal, even all who fight against her and her stronghold, and who distress her, shall be as a dream, a vision of the night.⁸ It shall be as when a hungry man dreams, and, behold, he eats; but he awakes, and his soul is empty: or as when a thirsty man dreams, and, behold, he drinks; but he awakes, and, behold, he is faint, and his soul has appetite: so shall the multitude of all the nations be, that fight against Mount Tzayawan.⁹ Stay you and wonder; take your pleasure and be blind: they are drunken, but not with wine; they stagger, but not with strong drink.¹⁰ For Yahawah has poured out on you the spirit of deep sleep, and has closed your eyes, the prophets; and your heads, the seers, has he covered.¹¹ All vision is become to you as the words of a book that is sealed, which men deliver to one who is learned, saying, Read this, I pray you; and he says, I can't, for it is sealed:¹² and the book is delivered to him who is not learned, saying, Read this, I pray you; and he says, I am not learned.¹³ The Adanay said, Because this people draw near [to me], and with their mouth and with their lips to honor me, but have removed their heart far from me, and their fear of me is a commandment of men which has been taught [them]; ¹⁴ therefore, behold, I will proceed to do a marvelous work among this people, even a marvelous work and a wonder; and the wisdom of their wise men shall perish, and the understanding of their prudent men shall be hid. ¹⁵ Woe to those who hide deep their counsel from Yahawah, and whose works are in the dark, and who say, Who sees us? and who knows us? ¹⁶ You turn things upside down! Shall the potter be esteemed as clay; that the thing made should say of him who made it, He didn't make me; or the thing formed say of him who formed it, He has no understanding? ¹⁷ Is it not yet a very little while, and Labanawan shall be turned into a fruitful field, and the fruitful field shall be esteemed as a forest?

30 Woe to the rebellious children, says Yahawah, who take counsel, but not of me; and who make a league, but not of my Spirit, that they may add sin to sin, ² that set out to go down into Matzarayam, and have not asked at my mouth; to strengthen themselves in the strength of Paraih, and to take refuge in the shadow of Matzarayam! ³ Therefore shall the strength of Paraih be your shame, and the refuge in the shadow of Matzarayam your confusion. ⁴ For their princes are at Tzain, and their ambassadors are come to Chanas. ⁵ They shall all be ashamed because of a people that can't profit them, that are not a help nor profit, but a shame, and also a reproach. ⁶ The burden of the animals of the South. Through the land of trouble and anguish, from whence come the lioness and the lion, the viper and fiery flying serpent, they carry their riches on the shoulders of young donkeys, and their treasures on the humps of camels, to a people that shall not profit [them]. ⁷ For Matzarayam helps in vain, and to no purpose: therefore have I called her Rachab who sits still. ⁸ Now go, write it before them on a tablet, and inscribe it in a book, that it may be for the time to come forever and ever. ⁹ For it is a rebellious people, lying children, children who will not hear the law of Yahawah;

ensign on a hill. ¹⁸ Therefore will Yahawah wait, that he may be gracious to you; and therefore will he be exalted, that he may have mercy on you: for Yahawah is an Alahayam of justice; blessed are all those who wait for him. ¹⁹ For the people shall dwell in Tzayawan at Yarawashalam; you shall weep no more; he will surely be gracious to you at the voice of your cry; when he shall hear, he will answer you. ²⁰ Though the Adanay give you the bread of adversity and the water of affliction, yet shall not your teachers be hidden anymore, but your eyes shall see your teachers; ²¹ and your ears shall hear a word behind you, saying, This is the way, walk you in it; when you turn to the right hand, and when you turn to the left. ²² You shall defile the overlaying of your engraved images of silver, and the plating of your molten images of gold: you shall cast them away as an unclean thing; you shall tell it, Get you hence. ²³ He will give the rain for your seed, with which you shall sow the ground; and bread of the increase of the ground, and it shall be fat and plenteous. In that day shall your cattle feed in large pastures; ²⁴ the oxen likewise and the young donkeys that till the ground shall eat savory provender, which has been winnowed with the shovel and with the fork. ²⁵ There shall be on every lofty mountain, and on every high hill, brooks [and] streams of waters, in the day of the great slaughter, when the towers fall. ²⁶ Moreover the light of the moon shall be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun shall be sevenfold, as the light of seven days, in the day that Yahawah binds up the hurt of his people, and heals the stroke of their wound. ²⁷ Behold, the name of Yahawah comes from far, burning with his anger, and in thick rising smoke: his lips are full of indignation, and his tongue is as a devouring fire; ²⁸ and his breath is as an overflowing stream, that reaches even to the neck, to sift the nations with the sieve of destruction: and a bridle that causes to err [shall be] in the jaws of the peoples. ²⁹ You shall have a song as in the night when a holy feast is kept; and gladness of heart, as when one goes with a pipe to come to the mountain of Yahawah, to the Rock of Yasharaal. ³⁰ Yahawah will cause his glorious voice to be heard, and will show the lighting down of his arm, with the indignation of [his] anger, and the flame of a devouring fire, with a blast, and tempest, and hailstones. ³¹ For through the voice of Yahawah shall the Assyrian be dismayed; with his rod will he strike [him]. ³² Every stroke of the appointed staff, which Yahawah shall lay on him, shall be with [the sound of] tambourines and harps; and in battles with the brandishing [of his arm] will he fight with them. ³³ For a Thapath is prepared of old; yes, for the king it is made ready; he has made it deep and large; the pile of it is fire and much wood; the breath of Yahawah, like a stream of sulfur, does kindle it.

31 Woe to those who go down to Matzarayam for help, and rely on horses, and trust in chariots because they are many, and in horsemen because they are very strong, but they don't look to the Holy One of Yasharaal, neither seek Yahawah! ² Yet he also is wise, and will bring evil, and will not call back his words, but will arise against the house of the Awayal-doers, and against the help of those who work iniquity. ³ Now the Matzarayam are men, and not Alahayam; and their horses flesh, and not spirit: and when Yahawah shall stretch out his hand, both he who helps shall stumble, and he who is helped shall fall, and they all shall be consumed together. ⁴ For thus says Yahawah to me, As the lion and the young lion growling over his prey, if a multitude of shepherds are called forth against him, will not be dismayed at their voice, nor abase himself for the noise of them: so will Yahawah Tzabaawath come down to fight on Mount Tzayawan, and on the hill of it. ⁵ As birds hovering, so will Yahawah Tzabaawath protect Yarawashalam; he will protect and deliver [it], he will pass over and preserve [it]. ⁶ Turn you to him from whom you have deeply revolted, children of Yasharaal. ⁷ For in that day they shall cast away every man his idols of silver, and his idols of gold, which your own hands have made to you for a sin. ⁸ The Assyrian shall fall by the sword, not of man; and the sword, not of men, shall devour him; and he shall flee from the sword, and his young men shall become subject to forced labor. ⁹ His rock shall pass away by reason of terror, and his princes shall be dismayed at the ensign, says Yahawah, whose fire is in Tzayawan, and his furnace in Yarawashalam.

32 Behold, a king shall reign in righteousness, and princes shall rule in justice.² A man shall be as a hiding-place from the wind, and a covert from the tempest, as streams of water in a dry place, as the shade of a great rock in a weary land.³ The eyes of those who see shall not be dim, and the ears of those who hear shall listen.⁴ The heart of the rash shall understand knowledge, and the tongue of the stammerers shall be ready to speak plainly.⁵ The fool shall be no more called noble, nor the churl said to be bountiful.⁶ For the fool will speak folly, and his heart will work iniquity, to practice profanity, and to utter error against Yahawah, to make empty the soul of the hungry, and to cause the drink of the thirsty to fail.⁷ The instruments of the churl are evil: he devises wicked devices to destroy the humble with lying words, even when the needy speaks right.⁸ But the noble devises noble things; and in noble things shall he continue.⁹ Rise up, you women who are at ease, [and] hear my voice; you careless daughters, give ear to my speech.¹⁰ For days beyond a year shall you be troubled, you careless women; for the vintage shall fail, the harvest shall not come.¹¹ Tremble, you women who are at ease; be troubled, you careless ones; strip you, and make you bare, and gird [sackcloth] on your loins.¹² They shall strike on the breasts for the pleasant fields, for the fruitful vine.¹³ On the land of my people shall come up thorns and briers; yes, on all the houses of joy in the joyous city.¹⁴ For the palace shall be forsaken; the populous city shall be deserted; the hill and the watch-tower shall be for dens forever, a joy of wild donkeys, a pasture of flocks;¹⁵ until the Spirit be poured on us from on high, and the wilderness become a fruitful field, and the fruitful field be esteemed as a forest.¹⁶ Then justice shall dwell in the wilderness; and righteousness shall abide in the fruitful field.¹⁷ The work of righteousness shall be peace; and the effect of righteousness, quietness and confidence forever.¹⁸ My people shall abide in a peaceable habitation, and in safe dwellings, and in quiet resting-places.¹⁹ But it shall hail in the downfall of the forest; and the city shall be utterly laid low.²⁰ Blessed are yet who sow beside all waters, who send forth the feet of the ox and the donkey.

33 Woe to you who destroy, and you weren't destroyed; and deal treacherously, and they didn't deal treacherously with you! When you have ceased to destroy, you shall be destroyed; and when you have made an end of dealing treacherously, they shall deal treacherously with you.² Yahawah, be gracious to us; we have waited for you: be you our arm every morning, our salvation also in the time of trouble.³ At the noise of the tumult the peoples are fled; at the lifting up of yourself the nations are scattered.⁴ Your spoil shall be gathered as the caterpillar gathers: as locusts leap shall men leap on it.⁵ Yahawah is exalted; for he dwells on high: he has filled Tzayawan with justice and righteousness.⁶ There shall be stability in your times, abundance of salvation, wisdom, and knowledge: the fear of Yahawah is your treasure.⁷ Behold, their valiant ones cry outside; the ambassadors of peace weep bitterly.⁸ The highways lie waste, the wayfaring man ceases: [the enemy] has broken the covenant, he has despised the cities, he doesn't regard man.⁹ The land mourns and languishes; Labanawan is confounded and withers away; Sharawan is like a desert; and Bashan and Karamal shake off [their leaves].¹⁰ Now will I arise, says Yahawah; now will I lift up myself; now will I be exalted.¹¹ You shall conceive chaff, you shall bring forth stubble: your breath is a fire that shall devour you.¹² The peoples shall be as the burning of lime, as thorns cut down, that are burned in the fire.¹³ Hear, you who are far off, what I have done; and, you who are near, acknowledge my might.¹⁴ The sinners in Tzayawan are afraid; trembling has seized the godless ones: Who among us can dwell with the devouring fire? who among us can dwell with everlasting burning?¹⁵ He who walks righteously, and speaks blamelessly; he who despises the gain of oppressions, who shakes his hands from taking a bribe, who stops his ears from hearing of blood, and shuts his eyes from looking on evil:¹⁶ He shall dwell on high; his place of defense shall be the munitions of rocks; his bread shall be given [him]; his waters shall be sure.

¹⁷ Your eyes shall see the king in his beauty: they shall see a land that reaches afar.¹⁸ Your heart shall muse on the terror: Where is he who counted, where is he who weighed [the tribute]? where is he who counted the towers?¹⁹ You shall not see the fierce people, a people of a deep speech that you can not comprehend, of a strange language that you can not understand.²⁰ Look on Tzayawan, the city of our solemnities: your eyes shall see Yarawashalam a quiet habitation, a tent that shall not be removed, the stakes whereof shall never be plucked up, neither shall any of the cords of it be broken.²¹ But there Yahawah will be with us in majesty, a place of broad rivers and streams, in which shall go no galley with oars, neither shall gallant ship pass thereby.²² For Yahawah is our judge, Yahawah is our lawgiver, Yahawah is our king; he will save us.²³ Your rigging is loosed; they could not strengthen the foot of their mast, they could not spread the sail: then was the prey of a great spoil divided; the lame took the prey.²⁴ The inhabitant shall not say, I am sick: the people who dwell therein shall be forgiven their iniquity.

34 Come near, you nations, to hear; and listen, you peoples: let the earth hear, and the fullness of it; the world, and all things that come forth from it.² For Yahawah has indignation against all the nations, and wrath against all their host: he has utterly destroyed them, he has delivered them to the slaughter.³ Their slain also shall be cast out, and the stench of their dead bodies shall come up; and the mountains shall be melted with their blood.⁴ All the host of the sky shall be dissolved, and the heavens shall be rolled together as a scroll; and all their host shall fade away, as the leaf fades from off the vine, and as a fading [leaf] from the fig-tree.⁵ For my sword has drunk its fill in the sky: behold, it shall come down on Adawam, and on the people of my curse, to judgment.⁶ The sword of Yahawah is filled with blood, it is made fat with fatness, with the blood of lambs and goats, with the fat of the kidneys of rams; for Yahawah has a sacrifice in Batzarah, and a great slaughter in the land of Adawam.⁷ The wild-oxen shall come down with them, and the bulls with the bulls: and their land shall be drunken with blood, and their dust made fat with fatness.⁸ For Yahawah has a day of vengeance, a year of recompense for the cause of Tzayawan.⁹ The streams of [Adawam] shall be turned into pitch, and the dust of it into sulfur, and the land of it shall become burning pitch.¹⁰ It shall not be quenched night nor day; the smoke of it shall go up for ever; from generation to generation it shall lie waste; none shall pass through it forever and ever.¹¹ But the pelican and the porcupine shall possess it; and the owl and the raven shall dwell therein: and he will stretch over it the line of confusion, and the plummet of emptiness.¹² They shall call the nobles of it to the kingdom, but none shall be there; and all its princes shall be nothing.¹³ Thorns shall come up in its palaces, nettles and thistles in the fortresses of it; and it shall be a habitation of jackals, a court for ostriches.¹⁴ The wild animals of the desert shall meet with the wolves, and the wild goat shall cry to his fellow; yes, the night-monster shall settle there, and shall find her a place of rest.¹⁵ There shall the dart-snake make her nest, and lay, and hatch, and gather under her shade; yes, there shall the kites be gathered, everyone with her mate.¹⁶ Seek you out of the book of Yahawah, and read: no one of these shall be missing, none shall want her mate; for my mouth, it has commanded, and his Spirit, it has gathered them.¹⁷ He has cast the lot for them, and his hand has divided it to them by line: they shall possess it forever; from generation to generation shall they dwell therein.

35 The wilderness and the dry land shall be glad; and the desert shall rejoice, and blossom as the rose.² It shall blossom abundantly, and rejoice even with joy and singing; the glory of Labanawan shall be given to it, the excellency of Karamal and Sharawan: they shall see the glory of Yahawah, the excellency of our Alahayam.³ Strengthen you the weak hands, and confirm the feeble knees.⁴ Tell those who are of a fearful heart, Be strong, don't be afraid: behold, your Alahayam will come [with] vengeance, [with] the recompense of Alahayam; he will come and save you.⁵ Then the eyes of the blind shall be opened, and the ears of the deaf shall be unstopped.⁶ Then shall the lame man leap as a hart, and the tongue of the mute shall sing; for in the wilderness shall waters break out, and streams in the desert.⁷ The glowing sand shall become a pool, and the thirsty ground springs of water: in the habitation of jackals, where they lay, shall be grass with reeds and rushes.⁸ A highway shall be there, and a way, and it shall be called The way of holiness. The unclean shall not pass over it, but it shall be for him who walks in the Way. Wicked fools will not go there.⁹ No lion shall be there, nor shall any ravenous animal go up thereon; they shall not be found there; but the redeemed shall walk [there]:¹⁰ and the ransomed of Yahawah shall return, and come with singing to Tzayawan; and everlasting joy shall be on their heads: they shall obtain gladness and joy, and sorrow and sighing shall flee away.

36 Now it happened in the fourteenth year of king Chazaqayahaw, that Sanacharayab king of Ashawar came up against all the fortified cities of Yahawadah, and took them.² The king of Ashawar sent Shaqah from Lakayash to Yarawashalam to king Chazaqayahaw with a great army. He stood by the conduit of the upper pool in the highway of the fuller's field.³ Then came forth to him Alayaqayam the son of Hilkiyah, who was over the household, and Shabanaa the scribe, and Yawaach, the son of Asap, the recorder.⁴ Shaqah said to them, Say you now to Chazaqayahaw, Thus says the great king, the king of Ashawar, What confidence is this in which you trust?⁵ I say, [your] counsel and strength for the war are but vain words: now on whom do you trust, that you have rebelled against me?⁶ Behold, you trust on the staff of this bruised reed, even on Matzarayam, whereon if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it: so is Paraih king of Matzarayam to all who trust on him.⁷ But if you tell me, We trust in Yahawah our Alahayam: isn't that he, whose high places and whose altars Chazaqayahaw has taken away, and has said to Yahawadah and to Yarawashalam, You shall worship before this altar?⁸ Now therefore, please give pledges to my master the king of Ashawar, and I will give you two thousand horses, if you be able on your part to set riders on them.⁹ How then can you turn away the face of one captain of the least of my master's servants, and put your trust on Matzarayam for chariots and for horsemen?¹⁰ Am I now come up without Yahawah against this land to destroy it? Yahawah said to me, Go up against this land, and destroy it.¹¹ Then said Alayaqayam and Shabanaa and Yawaach to Shaqah, Please speak, to your servants in the Syrian language; for we understand it: and don't speak to us in the Jews' language, in the ears of the people who are on the wall.¹² But Shaqah said, Has my master sent me to your master, and to you, to speak these words? [has he] not [sent me] to the men who sit on the wall, to eat their own dung, and to drink their own water with you?¹³ Then Shaqah stood, and cried with a loud voice in the Jews' language, and said, Hear you the words of the great king, the king of Ashawar.¹⁴ Thus says the king, Don't let Chazaqayahaw deceive you; for he will not be able to deliver you:¹⁵ neither let Chazaqayahaw make you trust in Yahawah, saying, Yahawah will surely deliver us; this city shall not be given into the hand of the king of Ashawar.¹⁶ Don't listen to Chazaqayahaw: for thus says the king of Ashawar, Make your peace with me, and come out to me; and eat you everyone of his vine, and everyone of his fig-tree, and drink you everyone the waters of his own cistern;¹⁷ until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and new wine, a land of bread and vineyards.¹⁸ Beware lest Chazaqayahaw persuade you, saying, Yahawah will deliver us. Has any of the gods of the nations delivered his land out of the hand of the king of Ashawar?¹⁹ Where are the gods of Chamath and Arapad? where are the gods of Sepharvaim? and have they delivered Shamarawan out of my hand?²⁰ Who are they among all the gods of these countries, that have delivered their country out of my hand, that Yahawah should deliver Yarawashalam out of my hand?²¹ But they held their peace, and answered him not a word; for the king's commandment was, saying, Don't answer him.²² Then came Alayaqayam the son of Hilkiyah, who was over the household, and Shabanaa the scribe, and Yawaach, the son of Asap, the recorder, to Chazaqayahaw with their clothes torn, and told him the words of Shaqah.

37 It happened, when king Chazaqayahaw heard it, that he tore his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of Yahawah.² He sent Alayaqayam, who was over the household, and Shabanaa the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Yashaiyahaw the prophet the son of Amawatz.³ They said to him, Thus says Chazaqayahaw, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke, and of rejection; for the children have come to the birth, and there is no strength to bring forth.⁴ It may be Yahawah your Alahayam will hear the words of Shaqah, whom the king of Ashawar his master has sent to defy the living Alahayam, and will rebuke the words which Yahawah your Alahayam has heard: why lift up your prayer for the remnant that is left?⁵ So the servants of king Chazaqayahaw came to Yashaiyahaw.⁶ Yashaiyahaw said to them, Thus shall you tell your master, Thus says Yahawah, Don't be afraid of the words that you have heard, with which the servants of the king of Ashawar have blasphemed me.⁷ Behold, I will put a spirit in him, and he shall hear news, and shall return to his own land; and I will cause him to fall by the sword in his own land.⁸ So Shaqah returned, and found the king of Ashawar warring against Labanah; for he had heard that he was departed from Lakayash.⁹ He heard say concerning Tharahaqah king of Kawash, He is come out to fight against you. When he heard it, he sent messengers to Chazaqayahaw, saying,¹⁰ Thus shall you speak to Chazaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, saying, Don't let your Alahayam in whom you trust deceive you, saying, Yarawashalam shall not be given into the hand of the king of Ashawar.¹¹ Behold, you have heard what the kings of Ashawar have done to all lands, by destroying them utterly: and shall you be delivered?¹² Have the gods of the nations delivered them, which my fathers have destroyed, Gawazan, and Charan, and Ratzap, and the children of Idan who were in Thalaashar?¹³ Where is the king of Chamath, and the king of Arapad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hanai, and Iwah?¹⁴ Chazaqayahaw received the letter from the hand of the messengers, and read it; and Chazaqayahaw went up to the house of Yahawah, and spread it before Yahawah.¹⁵ Chazaqayahaw prayed to Yahawah, saying,¹⁶ Yahawah of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, who sits [above] the cherubim, you are the Alahayam, even you alone, of all the kingdoms of the earth; you have made heaven and earth.¹⁷ Turn your ear, Yahawah, and hear; open your eyes, Yahawah, and behold; and hear all the words of Sanacharayab, who has sent to defy the living Alahayam.¹⁸ Of a truth, Yahawah, the kings of Ashawar have laid waste all the countries, and their land,¹⁹ and have cast their gods into the fire: for they were no gods, but the work of men's hands, wood and stone; therefore they have destroyed them.²⁰ Now therefore, Yahawah our Alahayam, save us from his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that you are Yahawah, even you only.²¹ Then Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz sent to Chazaqayahaw, saying, Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Whereas you have prayed to me against Sanacharayab king of Ashawar,²² this is the word which Yahawah has spoken concerning him: The virgin daughter of Tzayawan has despised you and laughed you to scorn; the daughter of Yarawashalam has shaken her head at you.²³ Whom have you defied and blasphemed? and against whom have you exalted your voice and lifted up your eyes on high? [even] against the Holy One of Yasharaal.²⁴ By your servants have you defied the Adanay, and have said, With the multitude of my chariots am I come up to the height of the mountains, to the innermost parts of Labanawan; and I will cut down the tall cedars of it, and the choice fir-trees of it; and I will enter into its farthest height, the forest of its fruitful field;²⁵ I have dug and drunk water, and with the sole of my feet will I dry up all the rivers of Matzarayam.²⁶ Have you not heard how I have done it long ago, and formed it of ancient times? now have I brought it to pass, that it should be your to lay waste fortified cities into ruinous heaps.²⁷ Therefore their inhabitants were of small power, they were dismayed and confounded; they were as the grass of the field, and as the green herb, as the grass on the housetops, and as a field [of grain] before it is grown up.²⁸ But I know your sitting down, and your going out, and your coming in, and your raging against me.²⁹ Because of your raging against me, and because your arrogance is come up into my ears, therefore will I put my hook in your nose, and my bridle in your lips, and I will turn you back by the way by which you came.³⁰ This shall be the sign to you: you shall eat this year that which grows of itself, and in the second year that which springs of the same; and in the third year sow you, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of it.³¹ The remnant that is escaped of the house of Yahawadah shall again take root downward, and bear fruit upward.³² For out of Yarawashalam shall go forth a remnant, and out of Mount Tzayawan those who shall escape. The zeal of Yahawah Tzabaawath will perform this.³³ Therefore thus says Yahawah concerning the king of Ashawar, He shall not come to this city, nor shoot an arrow there, neither shall he come before it with shield, nor cast up a mound against it.³⁴ By the way that he came, by the same shall he return, and he shall not come to this city, says Yahawah.³⁵ For I will defend this city to save it, for my own sake, and for my servant Dawad's sake.³⁶ The angel of Yahawah went forth, and struck in the camp of the Ashawar one hundred and eighty-five thousand; and when men arose early in the morning, behold, these were all dead bodies.³⁷ So Sanacharabay king of Ashawar departed, and went and returned, and lived at Nayanawah.³⁸ It happened, as he was worshipping in the house of Nasarak his god, that Adaramalak and Sharaatzar his sons struck him with the sword; and they escaped into the land of Ararat. Asar his son reigned in his place.

38 In those days was Chazaqayahaw sick to death. Yashaiyahaw the prophet the son of Amawatz came to him, and said to him, Thus says Yahawah, Set your house in order; for you shall die, and not live.² Then Chazaqayahaw turned his face to the wall, and prayed to Yahawah,³ and said, Remember now, Yahawah, I beg you, how I have walked before you in truth and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in your sight. Chazaqayahaw wept sore.⁴ Then came the word of Yahawah to Yashaiyahaw, saying,⁵ Go, and tell Chazaqayahaw, Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Dawad your father, I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears: behold, I will add to your days fifteen years.⁶ I will deliver you and this city out of the hand of the king of Ashawar; and I will defend this city.⁷ This shall be the sign to you from Yahawah, that Yahawah will do this thing that he has spoken:⁸ behold, I will cause the shadow on the steps, which is gone down on the dial of Achaz with the sun, to return backward ten steps. So the sun returned ten steps on the dial whereon it was gone down.⁹ The writing of Chazaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, when he had been sick, and was recovered of his sickness.¹⁰ I said, In the noontide of my days I shall go into the gates of Sheol: I am deprived of the residue of my years.¹¹ I said, I shall not see Yah, Yah in the land of the living: I shall see man no more with the inhabitants of the world.¹² My dwelling is removed, and is carried away from me as a shepherd's tent: I have rolled up, like a weaver, my life; he will cut me off from the loom: From day even to night will you make an end of me.¹³ I quieted [myself] until morning; as a lion, so he breaks all my bones: From day even to night will you make an end of me.¹⁴ Like a swallow [or] a crane, so did I chatter; I did moan as a dove; my eyes fail [with looking] upward: Adanay, I am oppressed, be you my collateral.¹⁵ What shall I say? he has both spoken to me, and himself has done it: I shall go softly all my years because of the bitterness of my soul.¹⁶ Adanay, by these things men live; Wholly therein is the life of my spirit: Why recover you me, and make me to live.¹⁷ Behold, [it was] for [my] peace [that] I had great bitterness: But you have in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of corruption; For you have cast all my sins behind your back.¹⁸ For Sheol can't praise you, death can't celebrate you: Those who go down into the pit can't hope for your truth.¹⁹ The living, the living, he shall praise you, as I do this day: The father to the children shall make known your truth.²⁰ Yahawah is [ready] to save me: Therefore we will sing my songs with stringed instruments All the days of our life in the house of Yahawah.²¹ Now Yashaiyahaw had said, Let them take a cake of figs, and lay it for a plaster on the boil, and he shall recover.²² Chazaqayahaw also had said, What is the sign that I shall go up to the house of Yahawah?

39 At that time Balaadan the son of Balaadan, king of Babal, sent letters and a present to Chazaqayahaw; for he heard that he had been sick, and was recovered.² Chazaqayahaw was glad of them, and showed them the house of his precious things, the silver, and the gold, and the spices, and the precious oil, and all the house of his armor, and all that was found in his treasures: there was nothing in his house, nor in all his dominion, that Chazaqayahaw didn't show them.³ Then came Yashaiyahaw the prophet to king Chazaqayahaw, and said to him, What said these men? and from whence came they to you? Chazaqayahaw said, They are come from a far country to me, even from Babal.⁴ Then said he, What have they seen in your house? Chazaqayahaw answered, All that is in my house have they seen: there is nothing among my treasures that I have not showed them.⁵ Then said Yashaiyahaw to Chazaqayahaw, Hear the word of Yahawah Tzabaawath:⁶ Behold, the days are coming, when all that is in your house, and that which your fathers have laid up in store until this day, shall be carried to Babal: nothing shall be left, says Yahawah.⁷ Of your sons who shall issue from you, whom you shall father, shall they take away; and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babal.⁸ Then said Chazaqayahaw to Yashaiyahaw, Good is the word of Yahawah which you have spoken. He said moreover, For there shall be peace and truth in my days.

40 Comfort you, comfort you my people, says your Alahayam.² Speak comfortably to Yarawashalam; and cry to her, that her warfare is accomplished, that her iniquity is pardoned, that she has received of Yahawah's hand double for all her sins.³ The voice of one who cries, Prepare you in the wilderness the way of Yahawah; make level in the desert a highway for our Alahayam.⁴ Every valley shall be exalted, and every mountain and hill shall be made low; and the uneven shall be made level, and the rough places a plain:⁵ and the glory of Yahawah shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together; for the mouth of Yahawah has spoken it.⁶ The voice of one saying, Cry. One said, What shall I cry? All flesh is grass, and all the glory of it is as the flower of the field.⁷ The grass withers, the flower fades, because the breath of Yahawah blows on it; surely the people is grass.⁸ The grass withers, the flower fades; but the word of our Alahayam shall stand forever.⁹ You who tell good news to Tzayawan, get you up on a high mountain; you who tell good news to Yarawashalam, lift up your voice with strength; lift it up, don't be afraid; say to the cities of Yahawadah, Behold, your Alahayam!¹⁰ Behold, the Adanay Yahawah will come as a mighty one, and his arm will rule for him: Behold, his reward is with him, and his recompense before him.¹¹ He will feed his flock like a shepherd, he will gather the lambs in his arm, and carry them in his bosom, [and] will gently lead those who have their young.¹² Who has measured the waters in the hollow of his hand, and meted out the sky with the span, and comprehended the dust of the earth in a measure, and weighed the mountains in scales, and the hills in a balance?¹³ Who has directed the Spirit of Yahawah, or being his counselor has taught him?¹⁴ With whom took he counsel, and who instructed him, and taught him in the path of justice, and taught him knowledge, and showed to him the way of understanding?¹⁵ Behold, the nations are as a drop of a bucket, and are accounted as the small dust of the balance: Behold, he takes up the isles as a very little thing.¹⁶ Labanawan is not sufficient to burn, nor the animals of it sufficient for a burnt offering.¹⁷ All the nations are as nothing before him; they are accounted by him as less than nothing, and vanity.¹⁸ To whom then will you liken Alahayam? or what likeness will you compare to him?¹⁹ The image, a workman has cast [it], and the goldsmith overlays it with gold, and casts [for it] silver chains.²⁰ He who is too impoverished for [such] an offering chooses a tree that will not rot; he seeks to him a skillful workman to set up an engraved image, that shall not be moved.²¹ Have you not known? have you not heard? has it not been told you from the beginning? have you not understood from the foundations of the earth?²² [It is] he who sits above the circle of the earth, and the inhabitants of it are as grasshoppers; who stretches out the heavens as a curtain, and spreads them out as a tent to dwell in; ²³ who brings princes to nothing; who makes the judges of the earth as vanity. ²⁴ Yes, they have not been planted; yes, they have not been sown; yes, their stock has not taken root in the earth: moreover he blows on them, and they wither, and the whirlwind takes them away as stubble. ²⁵ To whom then will you liken me, that I should be equal [to him]? says the Holy One. ²⁶ Lift up your eyes on high, and see who has created these, who brings out their host by number; he calls them all by name; by the greatness of his might, and because he is strong in power, not one is lacking. ²⁷ Why say you, Yaiqab, and speak, Yasharaal, My way is hid from Yahawah, and the justice [due] to me is passed away from my Alahayam? ²⁸ Have you not known? have you not heard? The everlasting Alahayam, Yahawah, the Creator of the ends of the earth, doesn't faint, neither is weary; there is no searching of his understanding. ²⁹ He gives power to the faint; and to him who has no might he increases strength. ³⁰ Even the youths shall faint and be weary, and the young men shall utterly fall: ³¹ but those who wait for Yahawah shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles; they shall run, and not be weary; they shall walk, and not faint.

41 Keep silence before me, islands; and let the peoples renew their strength: let them come near; then let them speak; let us come near together to judgment. ² Who has raised up one from the east, whom he calls in righteousness to his foot? he gives nations before him, and makes him rule over kings; he gives them as the dust to his sword, as the driven stubble to his bow. ³ He pursues them, and passes on safely, even by a way that he had not gone with his feet. ⁴ Who has worked and done it, calling the generations from the beginning? I, Yahawah, the first, and with the last, I am he. ⁵ The isles have seen, and fear; the ends of the earth tremble; they draw near, and come. ⁶ They help everyone his neighbor; and [every one] says to his brother, Be of good courage. ⁷ So the carpenter encourages the goldsmith, [and] he who smoothes with the hammer him who strikes the anvil, saying of the soldering, It is good; and he fastens it with nails, that is should not be moved. ⁸ But you, Yasharaal, my servant, Yaiqab whom I have chosen, the seed of Abraham my friend, ⁹ you whom I have taken hold of from the ends of the earth, and called from the corners of it, and said to you, You are my servant, I have chosen you and not cast you away; ¹⁰ Don't you be afraid, for I am with you; don't be dismayed, for I am your Alahayam; I will strengthen you; yes, I will help you; yes, I will uphold you with the right hand of my righteousness. ¹¹ Behold, all those who are incensed against you shall be put to shame and confounded: those who strive with you shall be as nothing, and shall perish. ¹² You shall seek them, and shall not find them, even those who contend with you: those who war against you shall be as nothing, and as a thing of nothing. ¹³ For I, Yahawah your Alahayam, will hold your right hand, saying to you, Don't be afraid; I will help you. ¹⁴ Don't be afraid, you worm Yaiqab, and you men of Yasharaal; I will help you, says Yahawah, and your Redeemer is the Holy One of Yasharaal. ¹⁵ Behold, I have made you [to be] a new sharp threshing instrument having teeth; you shall thresh the mountains, and beat them small, and shall make the hills as chaff. ¹⁶ You shall winnow them, and the wind shall carry them away, and the whirlwind shall scatter them; and you shall rejoice in Yahawah, you shall glory in the Holy One of Yasharaal. ¹⁷ The poor and needy seek water, and there is none, and their tongue fails for thirst; I, Yahawah, will answer them, I, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, will not forsake them. ¹⁸ I will open rivers on the bare heights, and springs in the midst of the valleys; I will make the wilderness a pool of water, and the dry land springs of water. ¹⁹ I will put in the wilderness the cedar, the acacia, and the myrtle, and the oil-tree; I will set in the desert the fir-tree, the pine, and the box-tree together: ²⁰ that they may see, and know, and consider, and understand together, that the hand of Yahawah has done this, and the Holy One of Yasharaal has created it. ²¹ Produce your cause, says Yahawah; bring forth your strong reasons, says the King of Yaiqab. ²² Let them bring forth, and declare to us what shall happen: declare you the former things, what they are, that we may consider them, and know the latter end of them; or show us things to come. ²³ Declare the things that are to come hereafter, that we may know that you are gods: yes, do good, or do evil, that we may be dismayed, and see it together. ²⁴ Behold, you are of nothing, and your work is of nothing; an abomination is he who chooses you. ²⁵ I have raised up one from the north, and he has come; from the rising of the sun one who calls on my name; and he shall come on rulers as on mortar, and as the potter treads clay. ²⁶ Who has declared it from the beginning, that we may know? and before, that we may say, [He is] right? yes, there is none who declares, yes, there is none who shows, yes, there is none who hears your words. ²⁷ [I am the] first [who says] to Tzayawan, Behold, behold them; and I will give to Yarawashalam one who brings good news. ²⁸ When I look, there is no man: even among them there is no counselor who, when I ask of them, can answer a word. ²⁹ Behold, all of them, their works are vanity [and] nothing; their molten images are wind and confusion.

42 Behold, my servant, whom I uphold; my chosen, in whom my soul delights: I have put my Spirit on him; he will bring forth justice to the Gentiles. ² He will not cry, nor lift up his voice, nor cause it to be heard in the street. ³ A bruised reed will he not break, and a dimly burning wick will he not quench: he will bring forth justice in truth. ⁴ He will not fail nor be discouraged, until he have set justice in the earth; and the isles shall wait for his law. ⁵ Thus says Alahayam Yahawah, he who created the heavens, and stretched them forth; he who spread abroad the earth and that which comes out of it; he who gives breath to the people on it, and spirit to those who walk therein: ⁶ I, Yahawah, have called you in righteousness, and will hold your hand, and will keep you, and give you for a covenant of the people, for a light of the Gentiles; ⁷ to open the blind eyes, to bring out the prisoners from the dungeon, and those who sit in darkness out of the prison-house. ⁸ I am Yahawah, that is my name; and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to engraved images. ⁹ Behold, the former things have happened, and new things do I declare. Before they spring forth I tell you of them. ¹⁰ Sing to Yahawah a new song, and his praise from the end of the earth; you who go down to the sea, and all that is therein, the isles, and the inhabitants of it. ¹¹ Let the wilderness and the cities of it lift up [their voice], the villages that Qadar does inhabit; let the inhabitants of Sela sing, let them shout from the top of the mountains. ¹² Let them give glory to Yahawah, and declare his praise in the islands. ¹³ Yahawah will go forth as a mighty man; he will stir up [his] zeal like a man of war: he will cry, yes, he will shout aloud; he will do mightily against his enemies. ¹⁴ I have long time held my peace; I have been still, and refrained myself: [now] will I cry out like a travailing woman; I will gasp and pant together. ¹⁵ I will lay waste mountains and hills, and dry up all their herbs; and I will make the rivers islands, and will dry up the pools. ¹⁶ I will bring the blind by a way that they don't know; in paths that they don't know will I lead them; I will make darkness light before them, and crooked places straight. These things will I do, and I will not forsake them. ¹⁷ They shall be turned back, they shall be utterly put to shame, who trust in engraved images, who tell molten images, You are our gods. ¹⁸ Hear, you deaf; and look, you blind, that you may see. ¹⁹ Who is blind, but my servant? or deaf, as my messenger whom I send? Who is blind as he who is at peace, and blind as Yahawah's servant? ²⁰ You see many things, but don't observe. His ears are open, but he doesn't hear. ²¹ It pleased Yahawah, for his righteousness' sake, to magnify the law, and make it honorable. ²² But this is a people robbed and plundered; they are all of them snared in holes, and they are hid in prison-houses: they are for a prey, and none delivers; for a spoil, and none says, Restore. ²³ Who is there among you who will give ear to this? who will listen and hear for the time to come? ²⁴ Who gave Yaiqab for a spoil, and Yasharaal to the robbers? Didn't Yahawah? he against whom we have sinned, and in whose ways they would not walk, neither were they obedient to his law. ²⁵ Therefore he poured on him the fierceness of his anger, and the strength of battle; and it set him on fire round about, yet he didn't know; and it burned him, yet he didn't lay it to heart.

43 But now thus says Yahawah who created you, Yaiqab, and he who formed you, Yasharaal: Don't be afraid, for I have redeemed you; I have called you by your name, you are mine.² When you pass through the waters, I will be with you; and through the rivers, they shall not overflow you: when you walk through the fire, you shall not be burned, neither shall the flame kindle on you.³ For I am Yahawah your Alahayam, the Holy One of Yasharaal, your Savior; I have given Matzarayam as your ransom, Kawash and Sabaa in your place.⁴ Since you have been precious in my sight, [and] honorable, and I have loved you; therefore will I give men in your place, and peoples instead of your life.⁵ Don't be afraid; for I am with you: I will bring your seed from the east, and gather you from the west;⁶ I will tell the north, Give up; and to the south, Don't keep back; bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the end of the earth;⁷ everyone who is called by my name, and whom I have created for my glory, whom I have formed, yes, whom I have made.⁸ Bring forth the blind people who have eyes, and the deaf who have ears.⁹ Let all the nations be gathered together, and let the peoples be assembled: who among them can declare this, and show us former things? let them bring their witnesses, that they may be justified; or let them hear, and say, It is truth.¹⁰ You are my witnesses, says Yahawah, and my servant whom I have chosen; that you may know and believe me, and understand that I am he: before me there was no Alahayam formed, neither shall there be after me.¹¹ I, even I, am Yahawah; and besides me there is no savior.¹² I have declared, and I have saved, and I have showed; and there was no strange [god] among you: therefore you are my witnesses, says Yahawah, and I am Alahayam.¹³ Yes, since the day was I am he; and there is none who can deliver out of my hand: I will work, and who can hinder it?¹⁴ Thus says Yahawah, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Yasharaal: For your sake I have sent to Babal, and I will bring down all of them as fugitives, even the Kashadayam, in the ships of their rejoicing.¹⁵ I am Yahawah, your Holy One, the Creator of Yasharaal, your King.¹⁶ Thus says Yahawah, who makes a way in the sea, and a path in the mighty waters;¹⁷ who brings forth the chariot and horse, the army and the mighty man (they lie down together, they shall not rise; they are extinct, they are quenched as a wick):¹⁸ Don't remember the former things, neither consider the things of old.¹⁹ Behold, I will do a new thing; now shall it spring forth; shall you not know it? I will even make a way in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert.²⁰ The animals of the field shall honor me, the jackals and the ostriches; because I give waters in the wilderness, and rivers in the desert, to give drink to my people, my chosen,²¹ the people which I formed for myself, that they might set forth my praise.²² Yet you have not called on me, Yaiqab; but you have been weary of me, Yasharaal.²³ You have not brought me of your sheep for burnt offerings; neither have you honored me with your sacrifices. I have not burdened you with offerings, nor wearied you with frankincense.²⁴ You have bought me no sweet cane with money, neither have you filled me with the fat of your sacrifices; but you have burdened me with your sins, you have wearied me with your iniquities.²⁵ I, even I, am he who blots out your transgressions for my own sake; and I will not remember your sins.²⁶ Pawat me in remembrance; let us plead together: set you forth [your cause], that you may be justified.²⁷ Your first father sinned, and your teachers have transgressed against me.²⁸ Therefore I will profane the princes of the sanctuary; and I will make Yaiqab a curse, and Yasharaal a reviling.

44 Yet now hear, Yaiqab my servant, and Yasharaal, who I have chosen:² Thus says Yahawah who made you, and formed you from the womb, who will help you: Don't be afraid, Yaiqab my servant; and you, Yasharawan, whom I have chosen.³ For I will pour water on him who is thirsty, and streams on the dry ground; I will pour my Spirit on your seed, and my blessing on your offspring:⁴ and they shall spring up among the grass, as willows by the watercourses.⁵ One shall say, I am Yahawah's; and another shall call [himself] by the name of Yaiqab; and another shall subscribe with his hand to Yahawah, and surname [himself] by the name of Yasharaal.⁶ Thus says Yahawah, the King of Yasharaal, and his Redeemer, Yahawah Tzabaawath: I am the first, and I am the last; and besides me there is no Alahayam.⁷ Who, as I, shall call, and shall declare it, and set it in order for me, since I established the ancient people? and the things that are coming, and that shall happen, let them declare.⁸ Don't fear, neither be afraid: haven't I declared to you of old, and showed it? You are my witnesses. Is there a Alahayam besides me? Indee, there is not. I don't know any Rock.⁹ Those who fashion an engraved image are all of them vanity; and the things that they delight in shall not profit; and their own witnesses don't see, nor know: that they may be put to shame.¹⁰ Who has fashioned a god, or molten an image that is profitable for nothing?¹¹ Behold, all his fellows shall be put to shame; and the workmen, they are of men: let them all be gathered together, let them stand up; they shall fear, they shall be put to shame together.¹² The smith [makes] an ax, and works in the coals, and fashions it with hammers, and works it with his strong arm: yes, he is hungry, and his strength fails; he drinks no water, and is faint.¹³ The carpenter stretches out a line; he marks it out with a pencil; he shapes it with planes, and he marks it out with the compasses, and shapes it after the figure of a man, according to the beauty of a man, to dwell in a house.¹⁴ He cuts down cedars for himself, and takes the cypress and the oak, and strengthens for himself one among the trees of the forest: he plants a fir-tree, and the rain nourishes it.¹⁵ Then shall it be for a man to burn; and he takes of it, and warms himself; yes, he kindles it, and bakes bread: yes, he makes a god, and worships it; he makes it an engraved image, and falls down to it.¹⁶ He burns part of it in the fire; with part of it he eats flesh; he roasts roast, and is satisfied; yes, he warms himself, and says, Aha, I am warm, I have seen the fire.¹⁷ The residue of it he makes a god, even his engraved image; he falls down to it and worships, and prays to it, and says, Deliver me; for you are my god.¹⁸ They don't know, neither do they consider: for he has shut their eyes, that they can't see; and their hearts, that they can't understand.¹⁹ None calls to mind, neither is there knowledge nor understanding to say, I have burned part of it in the fire; yes, also I have baked bread on the coals of it; I have roasted flesh and eaten it: and shall I make the residue of it an abomination? shall I fall down to the stock of a tree?²⁰ He feeds on ashes; a deceived heart has turned him aside; and he can't deliver his soul, nor say, Is there not a lie in my right hand?²¹ Remember these things, Yaiqab, and Yasharaal; for you are my servant: I have formed you; you are my servant: Yasharaal, you shall not be forgotten by me.²² I have blotted out, as a thick cloud, your transgressions, and, as a cloud, your sins: return to me; for I have redeemed you.²³ Sing, you heavens, for Yahawah has done it; shout, you lower parts of the earth; break forth into singing, you mountains, O forest, and every tree therein: for Yahawah has redeemed Yaiqab, and will glorify himself in Yasharaal.²⁴ Thus says Yahawah, your Redeemer, and he who formed you from the womb: I am Yahawah, who makes all things; who stretches forth the heavens alone; who spreads abroad the earth (who is with me?);²⁵ who frustrates the signs of the liars, and makes diviners mad; who turns wise men backward, and makes their knowledge foolish;²⁶ who confirms the word of his servant, and performs the counsel of his messengers; who says of Yarawashalam, She shall be inhabited; and of the cities of Yahawadah, They shall be built, and I will raise up the waste places of it;²⁷ who says to the deep, Be dry, and I will dry up your rivers;²⁸ Who says of Kawarash, [He is] my shepherd, and shall perform all my pleasure, even saying of Yarawashalam, She shall be built; and of the temple, Your foundation shall be laid.

45 Thus says Yahawah to his anointed, to Kawarash, whose right hand I have held, to subdue nations before him, and I will loose the loins of kings; to open the doors before him, and the gates shall not be shut:² I will go before you, and make the rough places smooth; I will break in pieces the doors of brass, and cut in sunder the bars of iron;³ and I will give you the treasures of darkness, and hidden riches of secret places, that you may know that it is I, Yahawah, who call you by your name, even the Alahayam of Yasharaal. ⁴ For Yaiqab my servant's sake, and Yasharaal my chosen, I have called you by your name: I have surnamed you, though you have not known me. ⁵ I am Yahawah, and there is none else; besides me there is no Alahayam. I will gird you, though you have not known me; ⁶ that they may know from the rising of the sun, and from the west, that there is none besides me: I am Yahawah, and there is no one else. ⁷ I form the light, and create darkness; I make peace, and create evil. I am Yahawah, who does all these things. ⁸ Distil, you heavens, from above, and let the skies pour down righteousness: let the earth open, that it may bring forth salvation, and let it cause righteousness to spring up together; I, Yahawah, have created it. ⁹ Woe to him who strives with his Maker -- a potsherd among the potsherds of the earth! Shall the clay ask him who fashions it, "What are you making?" or your work, "He has no hands?" ¹⁰ Woe to him who says to a father, "What have you become the father of?" or to a woman, "With what do you travail?" ¹¹ Thus says Yahawah, the Holy One of Yasharaal, and his Maker: Ask me of the things that are to come; concerning my sons, and concerning the work of my hands, command you me. ¹² I have made the earth, and created man on it: I, even my hands, have stretched out the heavens; and all their host have I commanded. ¹³ I have raised him up in righteousness, and I will make straight all his ways: he shall build my city, and he shall let my exiles go free, not for price nor reward, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹⁴ Thus says Yahawah: "The labor of Matzarayam, and the merchandise of Kawash, and the Shabaa, men of stature, shall come over to you, and they shall be yours. They shall go after you. In chains they shall come over; and they shall fall down to you. They shall make supplication to you: 'Surely Alahayam is in you; and there is none else, there is no other god. ¹⁵ Most assuredly you are a Alahayam who hid yourself, Alahayam of Yasharaal, the Savior.' " ¹⁶ They shall be put to shame, yes, confounded, all of them; they shall go into confusion together who are makers of idols. ¹⁷ [But] Yasharaal shall be saved by Yahawah with an everlasting salvation: you shall not be put to shame nor confounded world without end. ¹⁸ For thus says Yahawah who created the heavens, the Alahayam who formed the earth and made it, who established it and didn't create it a waste, who formed it to be inhabited: I am Yahawah; and there is no one else. ¹⁹ I have not spoken in secret, in a place of the land of darkness; I didn't say to the seed of Yaiqab, Seek you me in vain: I, Yahawah, speak righteousness, I declare things that are right. ²⁰ Assemble yourselves and come; draw near together, you who have escaped from the nations: they have no knowledge who carry the wood of their engraved image, and pray to a god that can't save. ²¹ Declare you, and bring [it] forth; yes, let them take counsel together: who has showed this from ancient time? who has declared it of old? Haven't I, Yahawah? and there is no Alahayam else besides me, a just Alahayam and a Savior; there is no one besides me. ²² Look to me, and be you saved, all the ends of the earth; for I am Alahayam, and there is none else. ²³ By myself have I sworn, the word is gone forth from my mouth [in] righteousness, and shall not return, that to me every knee shall bow, every tongue shall swear. ²⁴ Only in Yahawah, it is said of me, is righteousness and strength; even to him shall men come; and all those who were incensed against him shall be put to shame. ²⁵ In Yahawah shall all the seed of Yasharaal be justified, and shall glory.

46 Bal bows down, Nabaw stoops; their idols are on the animals, and on the cattle: the things that you carried about are made a load, a burden to the weary [animal]. ² They stoop, they bow down together; they could not deliver the burden, but themselves are gone into captivity. ³ Listen to me, house of Yaiqab, and all the remnant of the house of Yasharaal, that have been borne [by me] from their birth, that have been carried from the womb; ⁴ and even to old age I am he, and even to gray hairs will I carry you. I have made, and I will bear; yes, I will carry, and will deliver. ⁵ To whom will you liken me, and make me equal, and compare me, that we may be like? ⁶ Some pour out gold from the bag, and weigh silver in the balance. They hire a goldsmith, and he makes it a god. They fall down -- yes, they worship. ⁷ They bear it on the shoulder, they carry it, and set it in its place, and it stands, from its place it shall not move: yes, one may cry to it, yet it can not answer, nor save him out of his trouble. ⁸ Remember this, and show yourselves men; bring it again to mind, you transgressors. ⁹ Remember the former things of old: for I am Alahayam, and there is none else; [I am] Alahayam, and there is none like me; ¹⁰ declaring the end from the beginning, and from ancient times things that are not [yet] done; saying, My counsel shall stand, and I will do all my pleasure; ¹¹ calling a ravenous bird from the east, the man of my counsel from a far country; yes, I have spoken, I will also bring it to pass; I have purposed, I will also do it. ¹² Listen to me, you stout-hearted, who are far from righteousness: ¹³ I bring near my righteousness, it shall not be far off, and my salvation shall not wait; and I will place salvation in Tzayawan for Yasharaal my glory.

47 Come down, and sit in the dust, virgin daughter of Babal; sit on the ground without a throne, daughter of the Kashadayam: for you shall no more be called tender and delicate. ² Take the millstones, and grind meal; remove your veil, strip off the train, uncover the leg, pass through the rivers. ³ Your nakedness shall be uncovered, yes, your shame shall be seen: I will take vengeance, and will spare no man. ⁴ Our Redeemer, Yahawah of hosts is his name, the Holy One of Yasharaal. ⁵ Sit you silent, and get you into darkness, daughter of the Kashadayam; for you shall no more be called The mistress of kingdoms. ⁶ I was angry with my people, I profaned my inheritance, and gave them into your hand: you did show them no mercy; on the aged have you very heavily laid your yoke. ⁷ You said, I shall be mistress forever; so that you did not lay these things to your heart, neither did remember the latter end of it. ⁸ Now therefore hear this, you who are given to pleasures, who sit securely, who say in your heart, I am, and there is none else besides me; I shall not sit as a widow, neither shall I know the loss of children: ⁹ but these two things shall come to you in a moment in one day, the loss of children, and widowhood; in their full measure shall they come on you, in the multitude of your sorceries, and the great abundance of your enchantments. ¹⁰ For you have trusted in your wickedness; you have said, None sees me; your wisdom and your knowledge, it has perverted you, and you have said in your heart, I am, and there is none else besides me. ¹¹ Therefore shall evil come on you; you shall not know the dawning of it: and mischief shall fall on you; you shall not be able to put it away: and desolation shall come on you suddenly, which you don't know. ¹² Stand now with your enchantments, and with the multitude of your sorceries, in which you have labored from your youth; if so be you shall be able to profit, if so be you may prevail. ¹³ You are wearied in the multitude of your counsels: let now the astrologers, the star-gazers, the monthly prognosticators, stand up, and save you from the things that shall come on you. ¹⁴ Behold, they shall be as stubble; the fire shall burn them; they shall not deliver themselves from the power of the flame: it shall not be a coal to warm at, nor a fire to sit before. ¹⁵ Thus shall the things be to you in which you have labored: those who have trafficked with you from your youth shall wander everyone to his quarter; there shall be none to save you.

48 Hear you this, house of Yaiqab, who are called by the name of Yasharaal, and are come forth out of the waters of Yahawadah; who swear by the name of Yahawah, and make mention of the Alahayam of Yasharaal, but not in truth, nor in righteousness ² (for they call themselves of the holy city, and stay themselves on the Alahayam of Yasharaal; Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name): ³ I have declared the former things from of old; yes, they went forth out of my mouth, and I showed them: suddenly I did them, and they happened. ⁴ Because I knew that you are obstinate, and your neck is an iron sinew, and your brow brass; ⁵ therefore I have declared it to you from of old; before it came to pass I showed it you; lest you should say, My idol has done them, and my engraved image, and my molten image, has commanded them. ⁶ You have heard it; see all this; and you, will you not declare it? I have showed you new things from this time, even hidden things, which you have not known. ⁷ They are created now, and not from of old; and before this day you didn't hear them; lest you should say, Behold, I knew them.⁸ Yes, you didn't hear; yes, you didn't know; yes, from of old your ear was not opened: for I knew that you did deal very treacherously, and was called a transgressor from the womb.⁹ For my name's sake will I defer my anger, and for my praise will I refrain for you, that I not cut you off.¹⁰ Behold, I have refined you, but not as silver; I have chosen you in the furnace of affliction.¹¹ For my own sake, for my own sake, will I do it; for how should [my name] be profaned? and my glory I will not give to another.¹² Listen to me, O Yaiqab, and Yasharaal my called: I am he; I am the first, I also am the last.¹³ Yes, my hand has laid the foundation of the earth, and my right hand has spread out the heavens: when I call to them, they stand up together.¹⁴ Assemble yourselves, all you, and hear; who among them has declared these things? He whom Yahawah loves shall perform his pleasure on Babal, and his arm [shall be on] the Kashadayam.¹⁵ I, even I, have spoken; yes, I have called him; I have brought him, and he shall make his way prosperous.¹⁶ Come you near to me, hear you this; from the beginning I have not spoken in secret; from the time that it was, there am I: and now the Adanay Yahawah has sent me, and his Spirit.¹⁷ Thus says Yahawah, your Redeemer, the Holy One of Yasharaal: I am Yahawah your Alahayam, who teaches you to profit, who leads you by the way that you should go.¹⁸ Oh that you had listened to my commandments! then had your peace been as a river, and your righteousness as the waves of the sea:¹⁹ your seed also had been as the sand, and the offspring of your loins like the grains of it: his name would not be cut off nor destroyed from before me.²⁰ Go you forth from Babal, flee you from the Kashadayam; with a voice of singing declare you, tell this, utter it even to the end of the earth: say you, Yahawah has redeemed his servant Yaiqab.²¹ They didn't thirst when he led them through the deserts; he caused the waters to flow out of the rock for them; he split the rock also, and the waters gushed out.²² There is no peace, says Yahawah, to the wicked.

49 Listen, isles, to me; and listen, you peoples, from far: Yahawah has called me from the womb; from the bowels of my mother has he made mention of my name:² and he has made my mouth like a sharp sword; in the shadow of his hand has he hid me; and he has made me a polished shaft; in his quiver has he kept me close:³ and he said to me, You are my servant; Yasharaal, in whom I will be glorified.⁴ But I said, I have labored in vain, I have spent my strength for nothing and vanity; yet surely the justice [due] to me is with Yahawah, and my recompense with my Alahayam.⁵ Now says Yahawah who formed me from the womb to be his servant, to bring Yaiqab again to him, and that Yasharaal be gathered to him (for I am honorable in the eyes of Yahawah, and my Alahayam is become my strength);⁶ yes, he says, It is too light a thing that you should be my servant to raise up the tribes of Yaiqab, and to restore the preserved of Yasharaal: I will also give you for a light to the Gentiles, that you may be my salvation to the end of the earth.⁷ Thus says Yahawah, the Redeemer of Yasharaal, [and] his Holy One, to him whom man despises, to him whom the nation abhors, to a servant of rulers: Kings shall see and arise; princes, and they shall worship; because of Yahawah who is faithful, [even] the Holy One of Yasharaal, who has chosen you.⁸ Thus says Yahawah, In an acceptable time have I answered you, and in a day of salvation have I helped you; and I will preserve you, and give you for a covenant of the people, to raise up the land, to make them inherit the desolate heritage:⁹ saying to those who are bound, Go forth; to those who are in darkness, Show yourselves. They shall feed in the ways, and on all bare heights shall be their pasture.¹⁰ They shall not hunger nor thirst; neither shall the heat nor sun strike them: for he who has mercy on them will lead them, even by springs of water will he guide them.¹¹ I will make all my mountains a way, and my highways shall be exalted.¹² Behold, these shall come from far; and, behold, these from the north and from the west; and these from the land of Sayanayam.¹³ Sing, heavens; and be joyful, earth; and break forth into singing, mountains: for Yahawah has comforted his people, and will have compassion on his afflicted.¹⁴ But Tzayawan said, Yahawah has forsaken me, and the Adanay has forgotten me.¹⁵ Can a woman forget her sucking child, that she should not have compassion on the son of her womb? yes, these may forget, yet I will not forget you.¹⁶ Behold, I have engraved you on the palms of my hands; your walls are continually before me.¹⁷ Your children make haste; your destroyers and those who made you waste shall go forth from you.¹⁸ Lift up your eyes round about, and see: all these gather themselves together, and come to you. As I live, says Yahawah, you shall surely clothe you with them all as with an ornament, and gird yourself with them, like a bride.¹⁹ For, as for your waste and your desolate places, and your land that has been destroyed, surely now shall you be too strait for the inhabitants, and those who swallowed you up shall be far away.²⁰ The children of your bereavement shall yet say in your ears, The place is too strait for me; give place to me that I may dwell.²¹ Then shall you say in your heart, Who has conceived these for me, seeing I have been bereaved of my children, and am solitary, an exile, and wandering back and forth? and who has brought up these? Behold, I was left alone; these, where were they?²² Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Behold, I will lift up my hand to the nations, and set up my ensign to the peoples; and they shall bring your sons in their bosom, and your daughters shall be carried on their shoulders.²³ Kings shall be your nursing fathers, and their queens your nursing mothers: they shall bow down to you with their faces to the earth, and lick the dust of your feet; and you shall know that I am Yahawah; and those who wait for me shall not be put to shame.²⁴ Shall the prey be taken from the mighty, or the lawful captives be delivered?²⁵ But thus says Yahawah, Even the captives of the mighty shall be taken away, and the prey of the terrible shall be delivered; for I will contend with him who contends with you, and I will save your children.²⁶ I will feed those who oppress you with their own flesh; and they shall be drunken with their own blood, as with sweet wine: and all flesh shall know that I, Yahawah, am your Savior, and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Yaiqab.

50 Thus says Yahawah, Where is the bill of your mother's divorce, with which I have put her away? or which of my creditors is it to whom I have sold you? Behold, for your iniquities were you sold, and for your transgressions was your mother put away.² Why, when I came, was there no man? when I called, was there none to answer? Is my hand shortened at all, that it can't redeem? or have I no power to deliver? Behold, at my rebuke I dry up the sea, I make the rivers a wilderness: their fish stink, because there is no water, and die for thirst.³ I clothe the heavens with blackness, and I make sackcloth their covering.⁴ The Adanay Yahawah has given me the tongue of those who are taught, that I may know how to sustain with words him who is weary: he wakens morning by morning, he wakens my ear to hear as those who are taught.⁵ The Adanay Yahawah has opened my ear, and I was not rebellious, neither turned away backward.⁶ I gave my back to the strikers, and my cheeks to those who plucked off the hair; I didn't hide my face from shame and spitting.⁷ For the Adanay Yahawah will help me; therefore I have not been confounded: therefore have I set my face like a flint, and I know that I shall not be put to shame.⁸ He is near who justifies me; who will bring charges against me? Let us stand up together: who is my adversary? Let him come near to me.⁹ Behold, the Adanay Yahawah will help me; who is he who shall condemn me? Behold, all they shall wax old as a garment, the moth shall eat them up.¹⁰ Who is among you who fears Yahawah, who obeys the voice of his servant? He who walks in darkness, and has no light, let him trust in the name of Yahawah, and rely on his Alahayam.¹¹ Behold, all you who kindle a fire, who gird yourselves about with firebrands; walk you in the flame of your fire, and among the brands that you have kindled. This shall you have of my hand; you shall lie down in sorrow.

51 Listen to me, you who follow after righteousness, you who seek Yahawah: look to the rock whence you were hewn, and to the hold of the pit whence you were dug.² Look to Abraham your father, and to Sarah who bore you; for when he was but one I called him, and I blessed him, and made him many.³ For Yahawah has comforted Tzayawan; he has comforted all her waste places, and has made her wilderness like Idan, and her desert like the garden of Yahawah; joy and gladness shall be found therein, thanksgiving, and the voice of melody.⁴ Attend to me, my people; and give ear to me, my nation: for a law shall go forth from me, and I will establish my justice for a light of the peoples.⁵ My righteousness is near, my salvation is gone forth, and my arms shall judge the peoples; the isles shall wait for me, and on my arm shall they trust.⁶ Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look on the earth beneath; for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment; and those who dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be forever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished.⁷ Listen to me, you who know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law; don't you fear the reproach of men, neither be you dismayed at their insults.⁸ For the moth shall eat them up like a garment, and the worm shall eat them like wool; but my righteousness shall be forever, and my salvation to all generations.⁹ Awake, awake, put on strength, arm of Yahawah; awake, as in the days of old, the generations of ancient times. Isn't it you who did cut Rachab in pieces, who pierced the monster?¹⁰ Isn't it you who dried up the sea, the waters of the great deep; who made the depths of the sea a way for the redeemed to pass over?¹¹ The ransomed of Yahawah shall return, and come with singing to Tzayawan; and everlasting joy shall be on their heads: they shall obtain gladness and joy; [and] sorrow and sighing shall flee away.¹² I, even I, am he who comforts you: who are you, that you are afraid of man who shall die, and of the son of man who shall be made as grass;¹³ and have forgotten Yahawah your Maker, who stretched forth the heavens, and laid the foundations of the earth; and fear continually all the day because of the fury of the oppressor, when he makes ready to destroy? and where is the fury of the oppressor?¹⁴ The captive exile shall speedily be loosed; and he shall not die [and go down] into the pit, neither shall his bread fail.¹⁵ For I am Yahawah your Alahayam, who stirs up the sea, so that the waves of it roar: Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name.¹⁶ I have put my words in your mouth, and have covered you in the shadow of my hand, that I may plant the heavens, and lay the foundations of the earth, and tell Tzayawan, You are my people.¹⁷ Awake, awake, stand up, Yarawashalam, that have drunk at the hand of Yahawah the cup of his wrath; you have drunken the bowl of the cup of staggering, and drained it.¹⁸ There is none to guide her among all the sons whom she has brought forth; neither is there any who takes her by the hand among all the sons who she has brought up.¹⁹ These two things are befallen you, who shall bemoan you? desolation and destruction, and the famine and the sword; how shall I comfort you?²⁰ Your sons have fainted, they lie at the head of all the streets, as an antelope in a net; they are full of the wrath of Yahawah, the rebuke of your Alahayam.²¹ Therefore hear now this, you afflicted, and drunken, but now with wine:²² Thus says your Adanay Yahawah, and your Alahayam who pleads the cause of his people, Behold, I have taken out of your hand the cup of staggering, even the bowl of the cup of my wrath; you shall no more drink it again:²³ and I will put it into the hand of those who afflict you, who have said to your soul, Bow down, that we may go over; and you have laid your back as the ground, and as the street, to those who go over.

52 Awake, awake, put on your strength, Tzayawan; put on your beautiful garments, Yarawashalam, the holy city: for henceforth there shall no more come into you the uncircumcised and the unclean.² Shake yourself from the dust; arise, sit [on your throne], Yarawashalam: loose yourself from the bonds of your neck, captive daughter of Tzayawan.³ For thus says Yahawah, You were sold for nothing; and you shall be redeemed without money.⁴ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah, My people went down at the first into Matzarayam to sojourn there: and the Assyrian has oppressed them without cause.⁵ Now therefore, what do I here, says Yahawah, seeing that my people is taken away for nothing? those who rule over them do howl, says Yahawah, and my name continually all the day is blasphemed.⁶ Therefore my people shall know my name: therefore [they shall know] in that day that I am he who does speak; behold, it is I.⁷ How beautiful on the mountains are the feet of him who brings good news, who publishes peace, who brings good news of good, who publishes salvation, who says to Tzayawan, Your Alahayam reigns!⁸ The voice of your watchmen! they lift up the voice, together do they sing; for they shall see eye to eye, when Yahawah returns to Tzayawan.⁹ Break forth into joy, sing together, you waste places of Yarawashalam; for Yahawah has comforted his people, he has redeemed Yarawashalam.¹⁰ Yahawah has made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all the nations; and all the ends of the earth have seen the salvation of our Alahayam.¹¹ Depart you, depart you, go you out from there, touch no unclean thing; go you out of the midst of her; cleanse yourselves, you who bear the vessels of Yahawah.¹² For you shall not go out in haste, neither shall you go by flight: for Yahawah will go before you; and the Alahayam of Yasharaal will be your rearward.¹³ Behold, my servant shall deal wisely, he shall be exalted and lifted up, and shall be very high.¹⁴ Like as many were astonished at you (his visage was so marred more than any man, and his form more than the sons of men),¹⁵ so shall he sprinkle many nations; kings shall shut their mouths at him: for that which had not been told them shall they see; and that which they had not heard shall they understand.

53 Who has believed our message? and to whom has the arm of Yahawah been revealed?² For he grew up before him as a tender plant, and as a root out of a dry ground: he has no form nor comeliness; and when we see him, there is no beauty that we should desire him.³ He was despised, and rejected of men; a man of sorrows, and acquainted with grief: and as one from whom men hide their face he was despised; and we didn't respect him.⁴ Surely he has borne our infirmities, and carried our sorrows; yet we esteemed him stricken, struck of Alahayam, and afflicted.⁵ But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was on him; and with his stripes we are healed.⁶ All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way; and Yahawah has laid on him the iniquity of us all.⁷ He was oppressed, yet when he was afflicted he didn't open his mouth; as a lamb that is led to the slaughter, and as a sheep that before its shearers is mute, so he didn't open his mouth.⁸ By oppression and judgment he was taken away; and as for his generation, who [among them] considered that he was cut off out of the land of the living for the disobedience of my people to whom the stroke [was due]?⁹ They made his grave with the wicked, and with a rich man in his death; although he had done no violence, neither was any deceit in his mouth.¹⁰ Yet it pleased Yahawah to bruise him; he has put him to grief: when you shall make his soul an offering for sin, he shall see [his] seed, he shall prolong his days, and the pleasure of Yahawah shall prosper in his hand.¹¹ He shall see of the travail of his soul, [and] shall be satisfied: by the knowledge of himself shall my righteous servant justify many; and he shall bear their iniquities.¹² Therefore will I divide him a portion with the great, and he shall divide the spoil with the strong; because he poured out his soul to death, and was numbered with the transgressors: yet he bore the sin of many, and made intercession for the transgressors.

54 Sing, barren, you who didn't bear; break forth into singing, and cry aloud, you who did not travail with child: for more are the children of the desolate than the children of the married wife, says Yahawah.² Enlarge the place of your tent, and let them stretch forth the curtains of your habitations; don't spare: lengthen your cords, and strengthen your stakes.³ For you shall spread aboard on the right hand and on the left; and your seed shall possess the nations, and make the desolate cities to be inhabited.⁴ Don't be afraid; for you shall not be ashamed: neither be you confounded; for you shall not be put to shame: for you shall forget the shame of your youth; and the reproach of your widowhood shall you remember no more.⁵ For your Maker is your husband; Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name: and the Holy One of Yasharaal is your Redeemer; the Alahayam of the whole earth shall he be called.⁶ For Yahawah has called you as a wife forsaken and grieved in spirit, even a wife of youth, when she is cast off, says your Alahayam.⁷ For a small moment have I forsaken you; but with great mercies will I gather you.⁸ In overflowing wrath I hid my face from you for a moment; but with everlasting lovingkindness will I have mercy on you, says Yahawah your Redeemer.⁹ For this is [as] the waters of Nach to me; for as I have sworn that the waters of Nach shall no more go over the earth, so have I sworn that I will not be angry with you, nor rebuke you.¹⁰ For the mountains may depart, and the hills be removed; but my lovingkindness shall not depart from you, neither shall my covenant of peace be removed, says Yahawah who has mercy on you.¹¹ you afflicted, tossed with tempest, and not comforted, behold, I will set your stones in beautiful colors, and lay your foundations with sapphires.¹² I will make your pinnacles of rubies, and your gates of emeralds, and all your border of precious stones.¹³ All your children shall be taught of Yahawah; and great shall be the peace of your children.¹⁴ In righteousness shall you be established: you shall be far from oppression, for you shall not be afraid; and from terror, for it shall not come near you.¹⁵ Behold, they may gather together, but not by me: whoever shall gather together against you shall fall because of you.¹⁶ Behold, I have created the smith who blows the fire of coals, and brings forth a weapon for his work; and I have created the waster to destroy.¹⁷ No weapon that is formed against you shall prosper; and every tongue that shall rise against you in judgment you shall condemn. This is the heritage of the servants of Yahawah, and their righteousness which is of me, says Yahawah.

55 Ho, everyone who thirsts, come you to the waters, and he who has no money; come you, buy, and eat; yes, come, buy wine and milk without money and without price.² Why do you spend money for that which is not bread? and your labor for that which doesn't satisfy? listen diligently to me, and eat you that which is good, and let your soul delight itself in fatness.³ Turn your ear, and come to me; hear, and your soul shall live: and I will make an everlasting covenant with you, even the sure mercies of Dawad.⁴ Behold, I have given him for a witness to the peoples, a leader and commander to the peoples.⁵ Behold, you shall call a nation that you don't know; and a nation that didn't know you shall run to you, because of Yahawah your Alahayam, and for the Holy One of Yasharaal; for he has glorified you.⁶ Seek you Yahawah while he may be found; call you on him while he is near:⁷ let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return to Yahawah, and he will have mercy on him; and to our Alahayam, for he will abundantly pardon.⁸ For my thoughts are not your thoughts, neither are your ways my ways, says Yahawah.⁹ For as the heavens are higher than the earth, so are my ways higher than your ways, and my thoughts than your thoughts.¹⁰ For as the rain comes down and the snow from the sky, and doesn't return there, but waters the earth, and makes it bring forth and bud, and gives seed to the sower and bread to the eater;¹¹ so shall my word be that goes forth out of my mouth: it shall not return to me void, but it shall accomplish that which I please, and it shall prosper in the thing whereto I sent it.¹² For you shall go out with joy, and be led forth with peace: the mountains and the hills shall break forth before you into singing; and all the trees of the fields shall clap their hands.¹³ Instead of the thorn shall come up the fir-tree; and instead of the brier shall come up the myrtle-tree: and it shall be to Yahawah for a name, for an everlasting sign that shall not be cut off.

56 Thus says Yahawah, Keep you justice, and do righteousness; for my salvation is near to come, and my righteousness to be revealed.² Blessed is the man who does this, and the son of man who holds it fast; who keeps the Sabbath from profaning it, and keeps his hand from doing any evil.³ Neither let the foreigner, who has joined himself to Yahawah, speak, saying, Yahawah will surely separate me from his people; neither let the eunuch say, Behold, I am a dry tree.⁴ For thus says Yahawah of the eunuchs who keep my Sabbaths, and choose the things that please me, and hold fast my covenant:⁵ To them will I give in my house and within my walls a memorial and a name better than of sons and of daughters; I will give them an everlasting name, that shall not be cut off.⁶ Also the foreigners who join themselves to Yahawah, to minister to him, and to love the name of Yahawah, to be his servants, everyone who keeps the Sabbath from profaning it, and holds fast my covenant;⁷ even them will I bring to my holy mountain, and make them joyful in my house of prayer: their burnt offerings and their sacrifices shall be accepted on my altar; for my house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples.⁸ The Adanay Yahawah, who gathers the outcasts of Yasharaal, says, Yet will I gather [others] to him, besides his own who are gathered.⁹ All you animals of the field, come to devour, [yes], all you animals in the forest.¹⁰ His watchmen are blind, they are all without knowledge; they are all mute dogs, they can't bark; dreaming, lying down, loving to slumber.¹¹ Yes, the dogs are greedy, they can never have enough; and these are shepherds who can't understand: they have all turned to their own way, each one to his gain, from every quarter.¹² Come you, [say they], I will get wine, and we will fill ourselves with strong drink; and tomorrow shall be as this day, [a day] great beyond measure.

57 The righteous perishes, and no man lays it to heart; and merciful men are taken away, none considering that the righteous is taken away from the evil [to come].² He enters into peace; they rest in their beds, each one who walks in his uprightness.³ But draw near here, you sons of the sorceress, the seed of the adulterer and the prostitute.⁴ Against whom do you sport yourselves? against whom make you a wide mouth, and put out the tongue? Aren't you children of disobedience, a seed of falsehood,⁵ you who inflame yourselves among the oaks, under every green tree; who kill the children in the valleys, under the clefts of the rocks?⁶ Among the smooth [stones] of the valley is your portion; they, they are your lot; even to them have you poured a drink-offering, you have offered an offering. Shall I be appeased for these things?⁷ On a high and lofty mountain have you set your bed; there also went you up to offer sacrifice.⁸ Behind the doors and the posts have you set up your memorial: for you have uncovered [yourself] to another than me, and are gone up; you have enlarged your bed, and made you a covenant with them: you loved their bed where you saw it.⁹ You went to the king with oil, and did increase your perfumes, and did send your ambassadors far off, and did debase yourself even to Sheol.¹⁰ You were wearied with the length of your way; yet you didn't say, It is in vain: you found a reviving of your strength; therefore you weren't faint.¹¹ Of whom have you been afraid and in fear, that you lie, and have not remembered me, nor laid it to your heart? Haven't I held my peace even of long time, and you don't fear me?¹² I will declare your righteousness; and as for your works, they shall not profit you.¹³ When you cry, let those who you have gathered deliver you; but the wind shall take them, a breath shall carry them all away: but he who takes refuge in me shall possess the land, and shall inherit my holy mountain.¹⁴ He will say, Cast you up, cast you up, prepare the way, take up the stumbling-block out of the way of my people.¹⁵ For thus says the high and lofty One who inhabits eternity, whose name is Holy: I dwell in the high and holy place, with him also who is of a contrite and humble spirit, to revive the spirit of the humble, and to revive the heart of the contrite.¹⁶ For I will not contend forever, neither will I be always angry; for the spirit would faint before me, and the souls who I have made.¹⁷ For the iniquity of his covetousness was I angry, and struck him; I hid [my face] and was angry; and he went on backsliding in the way of his heart.¹⁸ I have seen his ways, and will heal him: I will lead him also, and restore comforts to him and to his mourners.¹⁹ I create the fruit of the lips: Peace, peace, to him who is far off and to him who is near, says Yahawah; and I will heal him.²⁰ But the wicked are like the troubled sea; for it can't rest, and its waters cast up mire and dirt.²¹ There is no peace, says my Alahayam, to the wicked.

58 Cry aloud, don't spare, lift up your voice like a trumpet, and declare to my people their disobedience, and to the house of Yaiqab their sins.² Yet they seek me daily, and delight to know my ways:

as a nation that did righteousness, and didn't forsake the ordinance of their Alahayam, they ask of me righteous judgments; they delight to draw near to Alahayam. ³ Why have we fasted, [say they], and you don't see? [why] have we afflicted our soul, and you take no knowledge? Behold, in the day of your fast you find [your own] pleasure, and exact all your labors. ⁴ Behold, you fast for strife and contention, and to strike with the fist of wickedness: you don't fast this day so as to make your voice to be heard on high. ⁵ Is such the fast that I have chosen? the day for a man to afflict his soul? Is it to bow down his head as a rush, and to spread sackcloth and ashes under him? will you call this a fast, and an acceptable day to Yahawah? ⁶ Isn't this the fast that I have chosen: to loose the bonds of wickedness, to undo the bands of the yoke, and to let the oppressed go free, and that you break every yoke? ⁷ Isn't it to deal your bread to the hungry, and that you bring the poor who are cast out to your house? when you see the naked, that you cover him; and that you not hide yourself from your own flesh? ⁸ Then shall your light break forth as the morning, and your healing shall spring forth speedily; and your righteousness shall go before you; the glory of Yahawah shall be your rearward. ⁹ Then shall you call, and Yahawah will answer; you shall cry, and he will say, Here I am. If you take away from the midst of you the yoke, the putting forth of the finger, and speaking wickedly; ¹⁰ and if you draw out your soul to the hungry, and satisfy the afflicted soul: then shall your light rise in darkness, and your obscurity be as the noonday; ¹¹ and Yahawah will guide you continually, and satisfy your soul in dry places, and make strong your bones; and you shall be like a watered garden, and like a spring of water, whose waters don't fail. ¹² Those who shall be of you shall build the old waste places; you shall raise up the foundations of many generations; and you shall be called The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in. ¹³ If you turn away your foot from the Sabbath, from doing your pleasure on my holy day; and call the Sabbath a delight, [and] the holy of Yahawah honorable; and shall honor it, not doing your own ways, nor finding your own pleasure, nor speaking [your own] words: ¹⁴ then shall you delight yourself in Yahawah; and I will make you to ride on the high places of the earth; and I will feed you with the heritage of Yaiqab your father: for the mouth of Yahawah has spoken it.

59 Behold, Yahawah's hand is not shortened, that it can't save; neither his ear heavy, that it can't hear: ² but your iniquities have separated between you and your Alahayam, and your sins have hidden his face from you, so that he will not hear. ³ For your hands are defiled with blood, and your fingers with iniquity; your lips have spoken lies, your tongue mutters wickedness. ⁴ None sues in righteousness, and none pleads in truth: they trust in vanity, and speak lies; they conceive mischief, and bring forth iniquity. ⁵ They hatch adders' eggs, and weave the spider's web: he who eats of their eggs dies; and that which is crushed breaks out into a viper. ⁶ Their webs shall not become garments, neither shall they cover themselves with their works: their works are works of iniquity, and the act of violence is in their hands. ⁷ Their feet run to evil, and they make haste to shed innocent blood: their thoughts are thoughts of iniquity; desolation and destruction are in their paths. ⁸ The way of peace they don't know; and there is no justice in their goings: they have made them crooked paths; whoever goes therein does not know peace. ⁹ Therefore is justice far from us, neither does righteousness overtake us: we look for light, but, behold, darkness; for brightness, but we walk in obscurity. ¹⁰ We grope for the wall like the blind; yes, we grope as those who have no eyes: we stumble at noonday as in the twilight; among those who are lusty we are as dead men. ¹¹ We roar all like bears, and moan sore like doves: we look for justice, but there is none; for salvation, but it is far off from us. ¹² For our transgressions are multiplied before you, and our sins testify against us; for our transgressions are with us, and as for our iniquities, we know them: ¹³ transgressing and denying Yahawah, and turning away from following our Alahayam, speaking oppression and revolt, conceiving and uttering from the heart words of falsehood. ¹⁴ Justice is turned away backward, and righteousness stands afar off; for truth is fallen in the street, and uprightness can't enter. ¹⁵ Yes, truth is lacking; and he who departs from evil makes himself a prey. Yahawah saw it, and it displeased him who there was no justice. ¹⁶ He saw that there was no man, and wondered that there was no intercessor: therefore his own arm brought salvation to him; and his righteousness, it upheld him. ¹⁷ He put on righteousness as a breastplate, and a helmet of salvation on his head; and he put on garments of vengeance for clothing, and was clad with zeal as a mantle. ¹⁸ According to their deeds, accordingly he will repay, wrath to his adversaries, recompense to his enemies; to the islands he will repay recompense. ¹⁹ So shall they fear the name of Yahawah from the west, and his glory from the rising of the sun; for he will come as a rushing stream, which the breath of Yahawah drives. ²⁰ A Redeemer will come to Tzayawan, and to those who turn from disobedience in Yaiqab, says Yahawah. ²¹ As for me, this is my covenant with them, says Yahawah: my Spirit who is on you, and my words which I have put in your mouth, shall not depart out of your mouth, nor out of the mouth of your seed, nor out of the mouth of your seed's seed, says Yahawah, from henceforth and forever.

60 Arise, shine; for your light is come, and the glory of Yahawah is risen on you. ² For, behold, darkness shall cover the earth, and gross darkness the peoples; but Yahawah will arise on you, and his glory shall be seen on you. ³ Nations shall come to your light, and kings to the brightness of your rising. ⁴ Lift up your eyes round about, and see: they all gather themselves together, they come to you; your sons shall come from far, and your daughters shall be carried in the arms. ⁵ Then you shall see and be radiant, and your heart shall thrill and be enlarged; because the abundance of the sea shall be turned to you, the wealth of the nations shall come to you. ⁶ The multitude of camels shall cover you, the dromedaries of Madayan and Iyapah; all they from Shabaa shall come; they shall bring gold and frankincense, and shall proclaim the praises of Yahawah. ⁷ All the flocks of Qadar shall be gathered together to you, the rams of Nabayawath shall minister to you; they shall come up with acceptance on my altar; and I will glorify the house of my glory. ⁸ Who are these who fly as a cloud, and as the doves to their windows? ⁹ Surely the isles shall wait for me, and the ships of Tharashayash first, to bring your sons from far, their silver and their gold with them, for the name of Yahawah your Alahayam, and for the Holy One of Yasharaal, because he has glorified you. ¹⁰ Foreigners shall build up your walls, and their kings shall minister to you: for in my wrath I struck you, but in my favor have I had mercy on you. ¹¹ Your gates also shall be open continually; they shall not be shut day nor night; that men may bring to you the wealth of the nations, and their kings led captive. ¹² For that nation and kingdom that will not serve you shall perish; yes, those nations shall be utterly wasted. ¹³ The glory of Labanawan shall come to you, the fir-tree, the pine, and the box-tree together, to beautify the place of my sanctuary; and I will make the place of my feet glorious. ¹⁴ The sons of those who afflicted you shall come bending to you; and all those who despised you shall bow themselves down at the soles of your feet; and they shall call you The city of Yahawah, The Tzayawan of the Holy One of Yasharaal. ¹⁵ Whereas you have been forsaken and hated, so that no man passed through you, I will make you an eternal excellency, a joy of many generations. ¹⁶ You shall also suck the milk of the nations, and shall suck the breast of kings; and you shall know that I, Yahawah, am your Savior, and your Redeemer, the Mighty One of Yaiqab. ¹⁷ For brass I will bring gold, and for iron I will bring silver, and for wood brass, and for stones iron. I will also make your officers peace, and righteousness your ruler. ¹⁸ Violence shall no more be heard in your land, desolation nor destruction within your borders; but you shall call your walls Salvation, and your gates Praise. ¹⁹ The sun shall be no more your light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light to you: but Yahawah will be to you an everlasting light, and your Alahayam your glory. ²⁰ Your sun shall no more go down, neither shall your moon withdraw itself; for Yahawah will be your everlasting light, and the days of your mourning shall be ended.

²¹ Your people also shall be all righteous; they shall inherit the land forever, the branch of my planting, the work of my hands, that I may be glorified. ²² The little one shall become a thousand, and the small one a strong nation; I, Yahawah, will hasten it in its time.

61 The Spirit of the Adanay Yahawah is on me; because Yahawah has anointed me to preach good news to the humble; he has sent me to bind up the broken-hearted, to proclaim liberty to the captives, and the opening [of the prison] to those who are bound; ² to proclaim the year of Yahawah's favor, and the day of vengeance of our Alahayam; to comfort all who mourn; ³ to appoint to those who mourn in Tzayawan, to give to them a garland for ashes, the oil of joy for mourning, the garment of praise for the spirit of heaviness; that they may be called trees of righteousness, the planting of Yahawah, that he may be glorified. ⁴ They shall build the old wastes, they shall raise up the former desolations, and they shall repair the waste cities, the desolations of many generations. ⁵ Strangers shall stand and feed your flocks, and foreigners shall be your plowmen and your vine-dressers. ⁶ But you shall be named the priests of Yahawah; men shall call you the ministers of our Alahayam: you shall eat the wealth of the nations, and in their glory shall you boast yourselves. ⁷ Instead of your shame [you shall have] double; and instead of dishonor they shall rejoice in their portion: therefore in their land they shall possess double; everlasting joy shall be to them. ⁸ For I, Yahawah, love justice, I hate robbery with iniquity; and I will give them their recompense in truth, and I will make an everlasting covenant with them. ⁹ Their seed shall be known among the nations, and their offspring among the peoples; all who see them shall acknowledge them, that they are the seed which Yahawah has blessed. ¹⁰ I will greatly rejoice in Yahawah, my soul shall be joyful in my Alahayam; for he has clothed me with the garments of salvation, he has covered me with the robe of righteousness, as a bridegroom decks himself with a garland, and as a bride adorns herself with her jewels. ¹¹ For as the earth brings forth its bud, and as the garden causes the things that are sown in it to spring forth; so the Adanay Yahawah will cause righteousness and praise to spring forth before all the nations.

62 For Tzayawan's sake will I not hold my peace, and for Yarawashalam's sake I will not rest, until her righteousness go forth as brightness, and her salvation as a lamp that burns. ² The nations shall see your righteousness, and all kings your glory, and you shall be called by a new name, which the mouth of Yahawah shall name. ³ You shall also be a crown of beauty in the hand of Yahawah, and a royal diadem in the hand of your Alahayam. ⁴ You shall no more be termed Forsaken; neither shall your land any more be termed Desolate: but you shall be called Bah, and your land Beulah; for Yahawah delights in you, and your land shall be married. ⁵ For as a young man marries a virgin, so shall your sons marry you; and as the bridegroom rejoices over the bride, so shall your Alahayam rejoice over you. ⁶ I have set watchmen on your walls, Yarawashalam; they shall never hold their peace day nor night: you who call on Yahawah, take no rest, ⁷ and give him no rest, until he establish, and until he make Yarawashalam a praise in the earth. ⁸ Yahawah has sworn by his right hand, and by the arm of his strength, Surely I will no more give your grain to be food for your enemies; and foreigners shall not drink your new wine, for which you have labored: ⁹ but those who have garnered it shall eat it, and praise Yahawah; and those who have gathered it shall drink it in the courts of my sanctuary. ¹⁰ Go through, go through the gates; prepare you the way of the people; cast up, cast up the highway; gather out the stones; lift up an ensign for the peoples. ¹¹ Behold, Yahawah has proclaimed to the end of the earth, Say you to the daughter of Tzayawan, Behold, your salvation comes; behold, his reward is with him, and his recompense before him. ¹² They shall call them The holy people, The redeemed of Yahawah: and you shall be called Sought out, A city not forsaken.

greatness of his strength? I who speak in righteousness, mighty to save. ² Why are you red in your clothing, and your garments like him who treads in the wine vat? ³ I have trodden the winepress alone; and of the peoples there was no man with me: yes, I trod them in my anger, and trampled them in my wrath; and their lifeblood is sprinkled on my garments, and I have stained all my clothing. ⁴ For the day of vengeance was in my heart, and the year of my redeemed is come. ⁵ I looked, and there was none to help; and I wondered that there was none to uphold: therefore my own arm brought salvation to me; and my wrath, it upheld me. ⁶ I trod down the peoples in my anger, and made them drunk in my wrath, and I poured out their lifeblood on the earth. ⁷ I will make mention of the lovingkindnesses of Yahawah, [and] the praises of Yahawah, according to all that Yahawah has bestowed on us, and the great goodness toward the house of Yasharaal, which he has bestowed on them according to his mercies, and according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses. ⁸ For he said, Surely, they are my people, children who will not deal falsely: so he was their Savior. ⁹ In all their affliction he was afflicted, and the angel of his presence saved them: in his love and in his pity he redeemed them; and he bore them, and carried them all the days of old. ¹⁰ But they rebelled, and grieved his holy Spirit: therefore he was turned to be their enemy, [and] himself fought against them. ¹¹ Then he remembered the days of old, Mashah [and] his people, [saying], Where is he who brought them up out of the sea with the shepherds of his flock? where is he who put his holy Spirit in the midst of them? ¹² who caused his glorious arm to go at the right hand of Mashah? who divided the waters before them, to make himself an everlasting name? ¹³ who led them through the depths, as a horse in the wilderness, so that they didn't stumble? ¹⁴ As the cattle that go down into the valley, the Spirit of Yahawah caused them to rest; so did you lead your people, to make yourself a glorious name. ¹⁵ Look down from heaven, and see from the habitation of your holiness and of your glory: where are your zeal and your mighty acts? the yearning of your heart and your compassion is restrained toward me. ¹⁶ For you are our Father, though Abaraham doesn't know us, and Yasharaal does not acknowledge us: you, Yahawah, are our Father; our Redeemer from everlasting is your name. ¹⁷ O Yahawah, why do you make us to err from your ways, and harden our heart from your fear? Return for your servants' sake, the tribes of your inheritance. ¹⁸ Your holy people possessed [it] but a little while: our adversaries have trodden down your sanctuary. ¹⁹ We are become as they over whom you never bear rule, as those who were not called by your name.

64 Oh that you would tear the heavens, that you would come down, that the mountains might quake at your presence, ² as when fire kindles the brushwood, [and] the fire causes the waters to boil; to make your name known to your adversaries, that the nations may tremble at your presence! ³ When you did terrible things which we didn't look for, you came down, the mountains quaked at your presence. ⁴ For from of old men have not heard, nor perceived by the ear, neither has the eye seen a Alahayam besides you, who works for him who waits for him. ⁵ You meet him who rejoices and works righteousness, those who remember you in your ways: behold, you were angry, and we sinned: in them [have we been] of long time; and shall we be saved? ⁶ For we are all become as one who is unclean, and all our righteousness are as a polluted garment: and we all do fade as a leaf; and our iniquities, like the wind, take us away. ⁷ There is none who calls on your name, who stirs up himself to take hold of you; for you have hid your face from us, and have consumed us by means of our iniquities. ⁸ But now, Yahawah, you are our Father; we are the clay, and you our potter; and we all are the work of your hand. ⁹ Don't be angry very sore, Yahawah, neither remember iniquity forever: see, look, we beg you, we are all your people. ¹⁰ Your holy cities are become a wilderness, Tzayawan is become a wilderness, Yarawashalam a desolation. ¹¹ Our holy and our beautiful house, where our fathers praised you, is burned with fire; and all our pleasant places are laid waste.

65 I am inquired of by those who didn't ask; I am found by those who didn't seek me: I said, See me, see me, to a nation that was not called by my name. ² I have spread out my hands all the day to a rebellious people, who walk in a way that is not good, after their own thoughts; ³ a people who provoke me to my face continually, sacrificing in gardens, and burning incense on bricks; ⁴ who sit among the graves, and lodge in the secret places; who eat pig's flesh, and broth of abominable things is in their vessels; ⁵ who say, Stand by yourself, don't come near to me, for I am holier than you. These are a smoke in my nose, a fire that burns all the day. ⁶ Behold, it is written before me: I will not keep silence, but will recompense, yes, I will recompense into their bosom, ⁷ your own iniquities, and the iniquities of your fathers together, says Yahawah, who have burned incense on the mountains, and blasphemed me on the hills; therefore will I first measure their work into their bosom. ⁸ Thus says Yahawah, As the new wine is found in the cluster, and one says, Don't destroy it, for a blessing is in it: so will I do for my servants' sake, that I may not destroy them all. ⁹ I will bring forth a seed out of Yaiqab, and out of Yahawadah an inheritor of my mountains; and my chosen shall inherit it, and my servants shall dwell there. ¹⁰ Sharawan shall be a fold of flocks, and the valley of Ikawar a place for herds to lie down in, for my people who have sought me. ¹¹ But you who forsake Yahawah, who forget my holy mountain, who prepare a table for Fortune, and who fill up mingled wine to Destiny; ¹² I will destine you to the sword, and you shall all bow down to the slaughter; because when I called, you did not answer; when I spoke, you did not hear; but you did that which was evil in my eyes, and chose that in which I didn't delight. ¹³ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Behold, my servants shall eat, but you shall be hungry; behold, my servants shall drink, but you shall be thirsty; behold, my servants shall rejoice, but you shall be put to shame; ¹⁴ behold, my servants shall sing for joy of heart, but you shall cry for sorrow of heart, and shall wail for vexation of spirit. ¹⁵ You shall leave your name for a curse to my chosen; and the Adanay Yahawah will kill you; and he will call his servants by another name: ¹⁶ so that he who blesses himself in the earth shall bless himself in the Alahayam of truth; and he who swears in the earth shall swear by the Alahayam of truth; because the former troubles are forgotten, and because they are hid from my eyes. ¹⁷ For, behold, I create new heavens and a new earth; and the former things shall not be remembered, nor come into mind. ¹⁸ But be you glad and rejoice forever in that which I create; for, behold, I create Yarawashalam a rejoicing, and her people a joy. ¹⁹ I will rejoice in Yarawashalam, and joy in my people; and there shall be heard in her no more the voice of weeping and the voice of crying. ²⁰ There shall be no more there an infant of days, nor an old man who has not filled his days; for the child shall die one hundred years old, and the sinner being one hundred years old shall be accursed. ²¹ They shall build houses, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and eat the fruit of them. ²² They shall not build, and another inhabit; they shall not plant, and another eat: for as the days of a tree shall be the days of my people, and my chosen shall long enjoy the work of their hands. ²³ They shall not labor in vain, nor bring forth for calamity; for they are the seed of the blessed of Yahawah, and their offspring with them. ²⁴ It shall happen that, before they call, I will answer; and while they are yet speaking, I will hear. ²⁵ The wolf and the lamb shall feed together, and the lion shall eat straw like the ox; and dust shall be the serpent's food. They shall not hurt nor destroy in all my holy mountain, says Yahawah.

66 Thus says Yahawah, heaven is my throne, and the earth is my footstool: what manner of house will you build to me? and what place shall be my rest? ² For all these things has my hand made, and [so] all these things came to be, says Yahawah: but to this man will I look, even to him who is poor and of a contrite spirit, and who trembles at my word. ³ He who kills an ox is as he who kills a man; he who sacrifices a lamb, as he who breaks a dog's neck; he who offers an offering, [as he who offers] pig's blood; he who burns frankincense, as he who blesses an idol. Yes, they have chosen their own ways, and their soul delights in their abominations: ⁴ I also will choose their delusions, and will bring their fears on them; because when I called, none did answer; when I spoke, they did not hear: but they did that which was evil in my eyes, and chose that in which I didn't delight. ⁵ Hear the word of Yahawah, you who tremble at his word: Your brothers who hate you, who cast you out for my name's sake, have said, Let Yahawah be glorified, that we may see your joy; but it is those who shall be put to shame. ⁶ A voice of tumult from the city, a voice from the temple, a voice of Yahawah that renders recompense to his enemies. ⁷ Before she travailed, she brought forth; before her pain came, she was delivered of a man-child. ⁸ Who has heard such a thing? who has seen such things? Shall a land be born in one day? shall a nation be brought forth at once? for as soon as Tzayawan travailed, she brought forth her children. ⁹ Shall I bring to the birth, and not cause to bring forth? says Yahawah: shall I who cause to bring forth shut [the womb]? says your Alahayam. ¹⁰ Rejoice you with Yarawashalam, and be glad for her, all you who love her: rejoice for joy with her, all you who mourn over her; ¹¹ that you may suck and be satisfied with the breasts of her consolations; that you may milk out, and be delighted with the abundance of her glory. ¹² For thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will extend peace to her like a river, and the glory of the nations like an overflowing stream: and you shall suck [of it]; you shall be borne on the side, and shall be dandled on the knees. ¹³ As one whom his mother comforts, so will I comfort you; and you shall be comforted in Yarawashalam. ¹⁴ You shall see [it], and your heart shall rejoice, and your bones shall flourish like the tender grass: and the hand of Yahawah shall be known toward his servants; and he will have indignation against his enemies. ¹⁵ For, behold, Yahawah will come with fire, and his chariots shall be like the whirlwind; to render his anger with fierceness, and his rebuke with flames of fire. ¹⁶ For by fire will Yahawah execute judgment, and by his sword, on all flesh; and the slain of Yahawah shall be many. ¹⁷ Those who sanctify themselves and purify themselves [to go] to the gardens, behind one in the midst, eating pig's flesh, and the abomination, and the mouse, they shall come to an end together, says Yahawah. ¹⁸ For I [know] their works and their thoughts: [the time] comes, that I will gather all nations and languages; and they shall come, and shall see my glory. ¹⁹ I will set a sign among them, and I will send such as escape of them to the nations, to Tharashayash, Pawal, and Lawad, who draw the bow, to Thabal and Yawan, to the isles afar off, who have not heard my fame, neither have seen my glory; and they shall declare my glory among the nations. ²⁰ They shall bring all your brothers out of all the nations for an offering to Yahawah, on horses, and in chariots, and in litters, and on mules, and on dromedaries, to my holy mountain Yarawashalam, says Yahawah, as the children of Yasharaal bring their offering in a clean vessel into the house of Yahawah. ²¹ Of them also will I take for priests [and] for Levites, says Yahawah. ²² For as the new heavens and the new earth, which I will make, shall remain before me, says Yahawah, so shall your seed and your name remain. ²³ It shall happen, that from one new moon to another, and from one Sabbath to another, shall all flesh come to worship before me, says Yahawah. ²⁴ They shall go forth, and look on the dead bodies of the men who have transgressed against me: for their worm shall not die, neither shall their fire be quenched; and they shall be an abhorring to all flesh.

1 And it came to pass in the twenty-sixth year of the reign of Hezediah king of Yahawadah that he called Manashah his son. Now he was his only one. ² And he called him into the presence of Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz the prophet, and into the presence of Josab the son of Yashaiyahaw, in order to deliver to him the words of righteousness which the king himself had seen: ³ And of the eternal judgments and torments of Gehenna, and of the prince of this world, and of his angels, and his authorities and his powers. ⁴ And the words of the faith of the Beloved which he himself had seen in the fifteenth year of his reign during his illness. ⁵ And he delivered to him the written words which Samnas the scribe had written, and also those which Yashaiyahaw, the son of Amawatz, had given to him, and also to the prophets, that they might write and store up with him what he himself had seen in the king's house regarding the judgment of the angels, and the destruction of this world, and regarding the garments of the saints and their going forth, and regarding their transformation and the persecution and ascension of the Beloved. ⁶ In the twentieth year of the reign of Chazaqayahaw, Yashaiyahaw had seen the words of this prophecy and had delivered them to Josab his son. And whilst he (Chazaqayahaw) gave commands, Josab the son of Yashaiyahaw standing by. ⁷ Yashaiyahaw said to Chazaqayahaw the king, but not in the presence of Manashah only did he say to him: "As the Adanay lives, and th3e Spirit which speaks in me lives, all these commands and these words will be made of none effect by Manashah your son, and through the agency of his hands I shall depart mid the torture of my body. ⁸ And Sammael Malchira will serve Manashah, and execute all his desire, and he will become a follower of Beliar rather than of me: ⁹ And many in Yarawashalam and in Yahawadah he will cause to abandon the true faith, and Beliar will dwell in Manashah, and by his hands I shall be sawn asunder." ¹⁰ And when Chazaqayahaw heard these words he wept very bitterly, and rent his garments, and placed earth upon his head, and fell on his face. ¹¹ And Yashaiyahaw said to him: "The counsel of Sammael against Manashah is consummated: nought will avail you." ¹² And on that day Chazaqayahaw resolved in his heart to slay Manashah his son. ¹³ And Yashaiyahaw said to Chazaqayahaw: "The Beloved has made of none effect your design, and the purpose of your heart will not be accomplished, for with this calling have I been called and I shall inherit the heritage of the Beloved."

2 And it came to pass after that Chazaqayahaw died and Manashah became king, that he did not remember the commands of Chazaqayahaw his father, but forgot them, and Sammael abode in Manashah and clung fast to him. ² And Manashah forsook the service of the Alahayam of his father, and he served Satan and his angels and his powers. ³ And he turned aside the house of his father, which had been before the face of Chazaqayahaw (from) the words of wisdom and from the service of Alahayam. ⁴ And Manashah turned aside his heart to serve Beliar; for the angel of lawlessness, who is the ruler of this world, is Beliar, whose name is Mantanbuchus. and he delighted in Yarawashalam because of Manashah, and he made him strong in apostatizing (Yasharaal) and in the lawlessness which were spread abroad in Yarawashalam. ⁵ And witchcraft and magic increased and divination and auguration, and fornication, a [and adultery], and the persecution of the righteous by Manashah and [Belachira, and] Tobia the Canaanite, and Yawachanan of Inathawath, an by (Tzadawaq) the chief of the works. ⁶ And the rest of the acts, behold they are written in the book of the Kings of Yahawadah and Yasharaal. ⁷ And, when Yashaiyahaw, the son of Amawatz, saw the lawlessness which was being perpetrated in Yarawashalam and the worship of Satan and his wantonness, he withdrew from Yarawashalam and settled in Bayathalacham of Yahawadah. ⁸ And there also there was much lawlessness, and withdrawing from Bayathalacham he settled on a mountain in a desert place. ⁹ And Mayakah the prophet, and the aged Ananias, and Yawaal and Chabaqawaq, and his son Josab, and many of the faithful who believed in the ascension into heaven, withdrew and settled on the mountain. ¹⁰ They were all clothed with garments of hair, and they were all prophets. And they had nothing with them but were naked, and they all lamented with a great lamentation because of the going astray of Yasharaal. ¹¹ And these eat nothing save wild herbs which they gathered on the mountains, and having cooked them, they lived thereon together with Yashaiyahaw the prophet. And they spent two years of days on the mountains and hills. ¹² And after this, whilst they were in the desert, there was a certain man in Shamarawan named Belchira, of the family of Tzadaqayahaw, the son of Chanaan, a false prophet, whose dwelling was in Bayathalacham. Now Chazaqayahaw the son of Chananay, who was the brother of his father, and in the days of Achaab, king of Yasharaal, had been the teacher of the 400. prophets of Bail, had himself smitten and reproved Mayakah the son of Amada the prophet. ¹³ And he, Mayakah, had been reproved by Achaab and cast into prison. (And he was) with Tzadaqayahaw the prophet: they were with Achazayahaw the son of Achaab, king in Shamarawan. ¹⁴ And Alayahaw the prophet of Tebon of Galaid was reproving Achazayahaw and Shamarawan, and prophesied regarding Achazayahaw that he should die on his bed of sickness, and that Shamarawan should be delivered into the had of Leba Nasr because he had slain the prophets of Alahayam. ¹⁵ And when the false prophets, who were with Achazayahaw the son of Achaab and their teacher Jalerjas of Mount Yawaal, had heard- ¹⁶ Now he was a brother of Tzadaqayahaw - when they persuaded Achazayahaw the king of Aguaron and (slew) Mayakah.

3 And Belchira recognized and saw the place of Yashaiyahaw and the prophets who were with him; for he dwelt in the region of Bayathalacham, and was an adherent of Manashah. And he prophesied falsely in Yarawashalam, and many belonging to Yarawashalam were confederate with him, and he was a Samaritan. ² And it came to pass when Alagar Zagar, king of Ashawar, had come and captive, and led them away to the mountains of the medes and the rivers of Tazon; ³ This (Belchira), whilst still a youth, had escaped and come to Yarawashalam in the days of Chazaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, but he walked not in the ways of his father of Shamarawan; for he feared Chazaqayahaw. ⁴ And he was found in the days of Chazaqayahaw speaking words of lawlessness in Yarawashalam. ⁵ And the servants of Chazaqayahaw accused him, and he made his escape to the region of Bayathalacham. And they persuaded... ⁶ And Belchira accused Yashaiyahaw and the prophets who were with him, saying: "Yashaiyahaw and those who are with him prophesy against Yarawashalam and against the cities of Yahawadah that they shall be laid waste and (against the children of Yahawadah and) Banayaman also that they shall go into captivity, and also against you, O lord the king, that you shall go (bound) with hooks and iron chains": ⁷ But they prophesy falsely against Yasharaal and Yahawadah. ⁸ And Yashaiyahaw himself has said: "I see more than Mashah the prophet." ⁹ But Mashah said: "No man can see Alahayam and live"; and Yashaiyahaw has said: "I have seen Alahayam and behold I live." ¹⁰ Know, therefore, O king, that he is lying. And Yarawashalam also he has called Sadam, and the princes of Yahawadah and Yarawashalam he has declared to be the people of Imarah. And he brought many accusations against Yashaiyahaw and the prophets before Manashah. ¹¹ But Beliar dwelt in the heart of Manashah and in the heart of the princes of Yahawadah and Banayaman and of the eunuchs and of the counsellors of the king.¹² And the words of Belchira pleased him [exceedingly], and he sent and seized Yashaiyahaw.¹³ For Beliar was in great wrath against Yashaiyahaw by reason of the vision, and because of the exposure wherewith he had exposed Sammael, and because through him the going forth of the Beloved from the seventh heaven had been made known, and His transformation and His descent and the likeness into which He should be transformed (that is) the likeness of man, and the persecution wherewith he should be persecuted, and the torturers wherewith the children of Yasharaal should torture Him, and the coming of His twelve disciples, and the teaching, and that He should before the sabbath be crucified upon the tree, and should be crucified together with wicked men, and that He should be buried in the sepulchre,¹⁴ And the twelve who were with Him should be offended because of Him: and the watch of those who watched the sepulchre:¹⁵ And the descent of the angel of the Christian Church, which is in the heavens, whom He will summon in the last days.¹⁶ And that (Gabarayaal) the angel of the Holy Spirit, and Mayakaal, the chief of the holy angels, on the third day will open the sepulchre:¹⁷ And the Beloved sitting on their shoulders will come forth and send out His twelve disciples;¹⁸ And they will teach all the nations and every tongue of the resurrection of the Beloved, and those who believe in His cross will be saved, and in His ascension into the seventh heaven whence He came:¹⁹ And that many who believe in Him will speak through the Holy Spirit:²⁰ And many signs and wonders will be wrought in those days.²¹ And afterwards, on the eve of His approach, His disciples will forsake the teachings of the Twelve Apostles, and their faith, and their love and their purity.²² And there will be much contention on the eve of [His advent and] His approach.²³ And in those days many will love office, though devoid of wisdom.²⁴ And there will be many lawless elders, and shepherds dealing wrongly by their own sheep, and they will ravage (them) owing to their not having holy shepherds.²⁵ And many will change the honour of the garments of the saints for the garments of the covetous, and there will be much respect of persons in those days and lovers of the honour of this world.²⁶ And there will be much slander and vainglory at the approach of the Adanay, and the Holy Spirit will withdraw from many.²⁷ And there will not be in those days many prophets, nor those who speak trustworthy words, save one here and there in divers places,²⁸ On account of the spirit of error and fornication and of vainglory, and of covetousness, which shall be in those, who will be called servants of that One and in those who will receive that One.²⁹ And there will be great hatred in the shepherds and elders towards each other.³⁰ For there will be great jealousy in the last days; for every one will say what is pleasing in his own eyes.³¹ And they will make of none effect the prophecy of the prophets which were before me, and these my visions also will they make of none effect, in order to speak after the impulse of their own hearts.

4 And now Chazaqayahaw and Josab my son, these are the days of the completion of the world.² After it is consummated, Beliar the great ruler, the king of this world, will descend, who has ruled it since it came into being; yea, he will descend from his firmament in the likeness of a man, a lawless king, the slayer of his mother: who himself (even) this king.³ Will persecute the plant which the Twelve Apostles of the Beloved have planted. Of the Twelve one will be delivered into his hands.⁴ This ruler in the form of that king will come and there will come and there will come with him all the powers of this world, and they will hearken to him in all that he desires.⁵ And at his word the sun will rise at night and he will make the moon to appear at the sixth hour.⁶ And all that he has desired he will do in the world: he will do and speak like the Beloved and he will say: "I am Alahayam and before me there has been none."⁷ And all the people in the world will believe in him.⁸ And they will sacrifice to him and they will serve him saying: "This is Alahayam and beside him there is no other."⁹ And they greater number of those who shall have been associated together in order to receive the Beloved, he will turn aside after him.¹⁰ And there will be the power of his miracles in every city and region.¹¹ And he will set up his image before him in every city.¹² And he shall bear sway three years and seven months and twenty-seven days.¹³ And many believers and saints having seen Him for whom they were hoping, who was crucified, Yashawai the Adanay Mashayach, [after that I, Yashaiyahaw, had seen Him who was crucified and ascended] and those also who were believers in Him - of these few in those days will be left as His servants, while they flee from desert to desert, awaiting the coming of the Beloved.¹⁴ And after (one thousand) three hundred and thirty-two days the Adanay will come with His angels and with the armies of the holy ones from the seventh heaven with the glory of the seventh heaven, and He will drag Beliar into Gehenna and also his armies.¹⁵ And He will give rest of the godly whom He shall find in the body in this world, [and the sun will be ashamed]:¹⁶ And to all who because of (their) faith in Him have execrated Beliar and his kings. But the saints will come with the Adanay with their garments which are (now) stored up on high in the seventh heaven: with the Adanay they will come, whose spirits are clothed, they will descend and be present in the world, and He will strengthen those, who have been found in the body, together with the saints, in the garments of the saints, and the Adanay will minister to those who have kept watch in this world.¹⁷ And afterwards they will turn themselves upward in their garments, and their body will be left in the world.¹⁸ Then the voice of the Beloved will in wrath rebuke the things of heaven and the things of earth and the things of earth and the mountains and the hills and the cities and the desert and the forests and the angel of the sun and that of the moon, and all things wherein Beliar manifested himself and acted openly in this world, and there will be [a resurrection and] a judgment in their midst in those days, and the Beloved will cause fire to go forth from Him, and it will consume all the godless, and they will be as though they had not been created.¹⁹ And the rest of the words of the vision is written in the vision of Babal.²⁰ And the rest of the vision regarding the Adanay, behold, it is written in three parables according to my words which are written in the book which I publicly prophesied.²¹ And the descent of the Beloved into Sheol, behold, it is written in the section, where the Adanay says: "Behold my Son will understand." And all these things, behold they are written [in the Psalms] in the parables of Dawad, the son of Yashay, and in the Proverbs of Shalamah his son, and in the words of Qarach, and Ayathan the Israelite, and in the words of Asap, and in the rest of the Psalms also which the angel of the Spirit inspired.²² (Namely) in those which have not the name written, and in the words of my father Imawas, and of Hawashai the prophet, and of Mayakah and Yawaal and Nachawam and Yawanah and Ibadayah and Chabaqawaq and Chagay and Malaakay, and in the words of Yawasap the Just and in the words of Wadan.

5 On account of these visions, therefore, Beliar was wroth with Yashaiyahaw, and he dwelt in the heart of Manashah and he sawed him in sunder with a wooden saw.² And when Yashaiyahaw was being sawn in sunder, Belchira stood up, accusing him, and all the false prophets stood up, laughing and rejoicing because of Yashaiyahaw.³ And Belchira, with the aid of Mechembechus, stood up before Yashaiyahaw, [laughing] deriding;⁴ And Belchira said to Yashaiyahaw: "Say, 'I have lied in all that I have spoken, and likewise the ways of Manashah are good and right.'⁵ And the ways also of Belchira and of his associates are good."⁶ And this he said to him when he began to be sawn in sunder.⁷ But Yashaiyahaw was (absorbed) in a vision of the Adanay, and though his eyes were open, he saw them (not).⁸ And Belchira spoke thus to Yashaiyahaw: "Say what I say to you and I will turn their hearts, and I will compel Manashah and the princes of Yahawadah and the people and all Yawashalam to reverence you."⁹ And Yashaiyahaw answered and said: "So far as I have utterance (I say): Damned and accused be you and all they powers and all your house."¹⁰ For you can not take (from me) aught save the skin of my body."¹¹ And they seized and sawed in sunder Yashaiyahaw, the son of Amawatz, with a wooden saw.¹² And Manashah and Belchira and the false prophets and the princes and the people [and] all stood looking on.¹³ And to the prophets who were with him he said before he had been sawn in sunder: "Go you to the region of Tzar and Tzayadawan; for for me only has Alahayam mingled the cup."¹⁴ And when Yashaiyahaw was being sawn in sunder, he neither cried aloud nor wept, but his lips spoke with the Holy Spirit until he was sawn in twain.¹⁵ This, Beliar did to Yashaiyahaw through Belchira and Manashah; for Sammael was very wrathful against Yashaiyahaw from the days of Chazaqayahaw, king of Yahawadah, on account of the things which he had seen regarding the Beloved.¹⁶ And on account of the destruction of Sammael, which he had seen through the Adanay, while Chazaqayahaw his father was still king. And he did according to the will of Satan.

6 The Vision Which Yashaiyahaw the Son of Amawatz Saw:¹ In the twentieth year of the reign of Chazaqayahaw, king of Yahawadah, came Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz, and Josab the son of Yashaiyahaw to Chazaqayahaw to Yarawashalam from Galgala.² And (having entered) he sat down on the couch of the king, and they brought him a seat, but he would not sit (thereon).³ And when Yashaiyahaw began to speak the words of faith and truth with King Chazaqayahaw, all the princes of Yasharaal were seated and the eunuchs and the councillors of the king. And there were there forty prophets and sons of the prophets: they had come from the villages and from the mountains and the plains when they had heard that Yashaiyahaw was coming from Galgala to Chazaqayahaw.⁴ And they had come to salute him and to hear his words.⁵ And that he might place his hands upon them, and that they might prophesy and that he might hear their prophecy: and they were all before Yashaiyahaw.⁶ And when Yashaiyahaw was speaking to Chazaqayahaw the words of truth and faith, they all heard a door which one had opened and the voice of the Holy Spirit.⁷ And the king summoned all the prophets and all the people who were found there, and they came. and Macaiah and the aged Ananias and Yawaal and Josab sat on his right hand (and on the left).⁸ And it came to pass when they had all heard the voice of the Holy Spirit, they all worshipped on their knees, and glorified the Alahayam of truth, the Ilayawan who is in the upper world and who sits on High the Holy One and who rest among His holy ones.⁹ And they gave glory to Him who had thus bestowed a door in an alien world had bestowed (it) on a man.¹⁰ And as he was speaking in the Holy Spirit in the hearing of all, he became silent and his mind was taken up from him and he saw not the men that stood before him.¹¹ Though his eyes indeed were open. Moreover his lips were silent and the mind in his body was taken up from him.¹² But his breath was in him; for he was seeing a vision.¹³ And the angel who was sent to make him see was not of this firmament, nor was he of the angels of glory of this world, but he had come from the seventh heaven.¹⁴ And the people who stood near did (not) think, but the circle of the prophets (did), that the holy Yashaiyahaw had been taken up.¹⁵ And the vision which the holy Yashaiyahaw saw was not from this world but from the world which is hidden from the flesh.¹⁶ And after Yashaiyahaw had seen this vision, he narrated it to Chazaqayahaw, and to Josab his son and to the other prophets who had come.¹⁷ But the leaders and the eunuchs and the people did not hear, but only Samna the scribe, and Ijoaqem, and Asap the recorder; for these also were doers of righteousness, and the sweet smell of the Spirit was upon them. But the people had not heard; for Mayakah and Josab his son had caused them to go forth, when the wisdom of this world had been taken from him and he became as one dead.

7 And the vision which Yashaiyahaw saw, he told to Chazaqayahaw and Josab his son and Mayakah and the rest of the prophets, (and) said:² At this moment, when I prophesied according to the (words) heard which you heard, I saw a glorious angel not like to the glory of the angels which I used always to see, but possessing such glory ad position that I cannot describe the glory of that angel.³ And having seized me by my hand he raised me on high, and I said to him: "Who are you, and what is your name, and where are you raising me on high? for strength was given me to speak with him."⁴ And he said to me: "When I have raised you on high [though the (various) degrees] and made you see the vision, on account of which I have been sent, then you will understand who I am: but my name you do not know."⁵ Because you will return into this your body, but where I am raising you on high, you will see; for for this purpose have I been sent."⁶ And I rejoiced because he spoke courteously to me.⁷ And he said to me: "Have you rejoiced because I have spoken courteously to you?" And he said: "And you will see how a grater also that I am will speak courteously and peaceably with you."⁸ And His Father also who is greater you will see; for for this purpose have I been sent from the seventh heaven in order to explain all these things to you."⁹ And we ascended to the firmament, I and he, and there I saw Sammael and his hosts, and there was great fighting therein and the angels of Satan were envying one another.¹⁰ And as above so on the earth also; for the likeness of that which is in the firmament is here on the earth.¹¹ And I said to the angel (who was with me): "(What is this war and) what is this envying?"¹² And he said to me: "So has it been since this world was made until now, and this war (will continue) till He, whom you shall see will come and destroy him."¹³ And afterwards he caused me to ascend (to that which is) above the firmament: which is the (first) heaven.¹⁴ And there I saw a throne in the midst, and on his right and on his left were angels.¹⁵ And (the angels on the left were) not like to the angels who stood on the right, but those who stood on the right had the greater glory, and they all praised with one voice, and there was a throne in the midst, and those who were out he left gave praise after them; but their voice was not such as the voice of those on the right, nor their praise like the praise of those.¹⁶ And I asked the angel who conducted me, and I said to him: "To whom is this praise sent?"¹⁷ And he said to me: "(it is sent) to the praise of (Him who sits in) the seventh heaven: to Him who rests in the holy world, and to His Beloved, whence I have been sent to you. [There is it sent.]"¹⁸ And again, he made me to ascend to the second heaven. now the height of that heaven is the same as from the haven to the earth [and to the firmament].¹⁹ And (I saw there, as) in the first heaven, angels on the right and on the left, and a throne in the midst, and the praise of the angels in the second heaven; and he who sat on the throne in the second heaven was more glorious than all (the rest).²⁰ And there was great glory in the second heaven, and the praise also was not like the praise of those who were in the first heaven.²¹ And I fell on my face to worship him, but he angel who conducted me did not permit me, but said to me: "Worship neither throne nor angel which belongs to the six heavens - for for this cause I was sent to conduct you j- until I tell you in the seventh heaven."²² For above all the heavens and their angels has your throne been placed, and your garments and your crown which you shall see."²³ And I rejoiced with great joy, that those who love the Ilayawan and His Beloved will afterwards ascend there by the angel of the Holy Spirit.²⁴ And he raise me to the third heaven, and in like manner I saw those upon the right and upon the left, and there was a throne there in the midst; but the memorial of this world is there unheard of.²⁵ And I said to the angel who was with me; for the glory of my appearance was undergoing transformation as I ascended to each heaven in turn: "Nothing of the vanity of that world is here named."²⁶ And he answered me, and said to me: "Nothing is named on account of its weakness, and nothing is hidden there of what is done."²⁷ And I wished to learn how it is know, and he answered me saying: "When I have raised you to the seventh heaven whence I was sent, to that which is above these, then you shall know that there is nothing hidden from the thrones and from those who dwell in the heavens and from the angels. And the praise wherewith they praised and glory of him who sat on the throne was great, and the glory of the angels on the right hand and on the left was beyond that of the heaven which was below them."²⁸ And again he raised me to the fourth heaven, and the height from the third to the height from the third to the forth heaven was greater than from the earth to the firmament.²⁹ And there again I saw those who were on the right hand and those who were on the left, and him who sat on the throne was in the midst, and there also they were praising.³⁰ And the praise and glory of the angels on the right was greater than that of those on the left.³¹ And again the glory of him who sat on the throne was greater than that of the angels on the right, and their glory was beyond that of those who were below.³² And he raised me to the fifth heaven.³³ And again I saw those upon the right hand and on the left, and him who sat on the throne possessing greater glory than those of the fourth heaven.³⁴ And the glory of those on the right hand was greater than that of those on the left [from the third to the fourth].³⁵ And the glory of him who was on the throne was greater than that of the angels on the right hand.³⁶ And their praise was more glorious than that of the fourth heaven.³⁷ And I praised Him, who is not named and the Only-begotten who dwells in the heavens, whose name is not known to any flesh, who has bestowed such glory on the several heavens, and who makes great the glory of the angels, and more excellent the glory of Him who sits on the throne.

8 And again he raised me into the air of the sixth heaven, and I saw such glory as I had not seen in the five heavens.² For I saw angels possessing great glory.³ And the praise there was holy and wonderful.⁴ And I said to the angel who conducted me: "What is this which I see, my Adanay?"⁵ And he said: "I am not your lord, but your fellow servant."⁶ And again I asked him, and I said to him: "Why are there not angelic fellow servants (on the left)?"⁷ And he said: "From the sixth heaven there are no longer angels on the left, nor a throne set in the midst, but (they are directed) by the power of the seventh heaven, where dwells He that is not named and the Elect One, whose name has not been made known, and none of the heavens can learn His name."⁸ For it is He alone to whose voice all the heavens and thrones give answer. I have therefore been empowered and sent to raise you here that you may see this glory.⁹ And that you may see the Adanay of all those heavens and these thrones.¹⁰ Undergoing (successive) transformation until He resembles your form and likeness.¹¹ I indeed say to you, Yashaiyahaw; No man about to return into a body of that world has ascended or seen what you see or perceived what you have perceived and what you will see.¹² For it has been permitted to you in the lot of the Adanay to come here. [And from thence comes the power of the sixth heaven and of the air]."¹³ And I magnified my Adanay with praise, in that through His lot I should come here.¹⁴ And he said: "Hear, furthermore, therefore, this also from your fellow servant: when from the body by the will of Alahayam you have ascended here, then you will receive the garment which you see, and likewise other numbered garments laid up (there) you will see."¹⁵ And then you will become equal to the angels of the seventh heaven.¹⁶ And he raised me up into the sixth heaven, and there were no (angels) on the left, nor a throne in the midst, but all had one appearance and their (power of) praise was equal.¹⁷ And (power) was given to me also, and I also praised along with them and that angel also, and our praise was like theirs.¹⁸ And there they all named the primal Father and His Beloved, the Mashayach, and the Holy Spirit, all with one voice.¹⁹ And (their voice) was not like the voice of the angels in the five heavens.²⁰ [Nor like their discourse] but the voice was different there, and there was much light there.²¹ And then, when I was in the sixth heaven I thought the light which I had seen in the five heavens to be but darkness.²² And I rejoiced and praised Him who has bestowed such lights on those who wait for His promise.²³ And I besought the angel who conducted me that I should not henceforth return to the carnal world.²⁴ I say indeed to you, Chazaqayahaw and Josab my son and Mayakah, that there is much darkness here.²⁵ And the angel who conducted me discovered what I thought and said: "If in this light you do rejoice, how much more will you rejoice, when in the seventh heaven you see the light where is the Adanay and His Beloved [whence I have been sent, who is to be called "Son" in this world].²⁶ Not (yet) has been manifested he shall be in the corruptible world] and the garments, and the thrones, and the crowns which are laid up for the righteous, for those who trust in that Adanay who will descend in your form. For the light which is there is great and wonderful."²⁷ And as concerning your not returning into the body your days are not yet fulfilled for coming here."²⁸ And when I heard (that) I was troubled, and he said: "Do not be troubled."

9 And he took me into the air of the seventh heaven, and moreover I heard a voice saying: "How far will he ascend that dwells in the flesh?" And I feared and trembled.² And when I trembled, behold, I heard from hence another voice being sent forth, and saying: "It is permitted to the holy Yashaiyahaw to ascend here; for here is his garment."³ And I asked the angel who was with me and said: "Who is he who forbade me and who is he who permitted me to ascend?"⁴ And he said to me: "He who forbade you, is he who is over the praise-giving of the sixth heaven."⁵ And He who permitted you, this is your Adanay Alahayam, the Adanay Mashayach, who will be called "Yashawai" in the world, but His name you can not hear till you have ascended out of your body."⁶ And he raised me up into the seventh heaven, and I saw there a wonderful light and angels innumerable.⁷ And there I saw the holy Habal and all the righteous.⁸ And there I saw Chanawak and all who were with him, stripped of the garments of the flesh, and I saw them in their garments of the upper world, and they were like angels, standing there in great glory.⁹ And there I saw Chanawak and all who were with him, stripped of the garments of the flesh, and I saw them in their garments of the upper world, and they were like angels, standing there in great glory.¹⁰ But they sat not on their thrones, nor were their crowns of glory on them.¹¹ And I asked the angel who was with me: "How is it that they have received the garments, but have not the thrones and the crowns?"¹² And he said to me: "Crowns and thrones of glory they do not receive, till the Beloved will descent in the form in which you will see Him descent [will descent, I say] into the world in the last days the Adanay, who will be called Mashayach."¹³ Nevertheless they see and know whose will be thrones, and whose the crowns when He has descended and been made in your form, and they will think that He is flesh and is a man.¹⁴ And the god of that world will stretch forth his hand against the Son, and they will crucify Him on a tree, and will slay Him not knowing who He is.¹⁵ And thus His descent, as you will see, will be hidden even from the heavens, so that it will not be known who He is.¹⁶ And when He has plundered the angel of death, He will ascend on the third day, [and he will remain in that world five hundred and forty-five days].¹⁷ And then many of the righteous will ascend with Him, whose spirits do not receive their garments till the Adanay Mashayach ascend and they ascend with Him.¹⁸ Then indeed they will receive their [garments and] thrones and crowns, when He has ascended into the seventh heaven."¹⁹ And I said to him that which I had asked him in the third heaven:²⁰ "Show me how everything which is done in that world is here made known."²¹ And whilst I was still speaking with him, behold one of the angels who stood nigh, more glorious than the glory of that angel, who had raised me up from the world.²² Showed me a book, [but not as a book of this world] and he opened it, and the book was written, but not as a book of this world. And he gave (it) to me and I read it, and lo! the deeds of the children of Yasharaal were written therein, and the deeds of those whom I know (not), my son Josab.²³ And I said: "In truth, there is nothing hidden in the seventh heaven, which is done in this world."²⁴ And I saw there many garments laid up, and many thrones and many crowns.²⁵ And I said to the angel: "Whose are these garments and thrones and crowns?"²⁶ And he said to me: "These garments many from that world will receive, believing in the words of That One, who shall be named as I told you, and they will observe those things, and believe in them, and believe in His cross: for them are these laid up."²⁷ And I saw a certain One standing, whose glory surpassed that of all, and His glory was great and wonderful.²⁸ And after I had seen Him, all the righteous whom I had seen and also the angels whom I had seen came to Him. And Adam and Habal and Shath and all the righteous first drew near and worshipped Him, and they all praised Him with one voice, and I myself also gave praise with them, and my giving of praise was as theirs.²⁹ And then all the angels drew nigh and worshipped and gave praise.³⁰ And I was (again) transformed and became like an angel.³¹ And thereupon the angel who conducted me said to me: "Worship this One," and I worshipped and praised.³² And the angel said to me: "This is the Adanay of all the praise-givings which you have seen."³³ And whilst he was still speaking, I saw another Glorious One who was like Him, and the righteous drew nigh and worshipped and praised, and I praised together with them. But my glory was not transformed into accordance with their form.³⁴ And thereupon the angels drew near and worshipped Him.³⁵ And I saw the Adanay and the second angel, and they were standing.³⁶ And the second whom I saw was on he left of my Adanay. And I asked: "Who is this?" and he said to me: "Worship Him, for He is the angel of the Holy Spirit, who speaks in you and the rest of the righteous."³⁷ And I saw the great glory, the eyes of my spirit being open, and I could not thereupon see, nor yet could the angel who was with me, nor all the angels whom I had seen worshipping my Adanay.³⁸ But I saw the righteous beholding with great power the glory of that One.³⁹ And my Adanay drew nigh to me and the angel of the Spirit and He said: "See how it is given to you to see Alahayam, and on your account power is given to the angel who is with you."⁴⁰ And I saw how my Adanay and the angel of the Spirit worshipped, and they both together praised Alahayam.⁴¹ And thereupon all the righteous drew near and worshipped.⁴² And the angels drew near and worshipped and all the angels praised.

10 And thereupon I heard the voices and the giving of praise, which I had heard in each of the six heavens, ascending and being heard there:² And all were being sent up to that Glorious One whose glory I could not behold.³ And I myself was hearing and beholding the praise (which was given) to Him.⁴ And the Adanay and the angel of the Spirit were beholding all and hearing all.⁵ And all the praises which are sent up from the six heavens are not only heard, but seen.⁶ And I heard the angel who conducted me and he said: "This is the Ilayawan of the high ones, dwelling in the holy world, and resting in His holy ones, who will be called by the Holy Spirit through the lips of the righteous the Father of the Adanay."⁷ And I heard the voice of the Ilayawan, the Father of my Adanay, saying to my Adanay Mashayach who will be called Yashawai:⁸ "Go forth and descent through all the heavens, and you will descent to the firmament and that world: to the angel in Sheol you will descent, but to Haguel you will not go.⁹ And you will become like to the likeness of all who are in the five heavens.¹⁰ And you will be careful to become like the form of the angels of the firmament [and the angels also who are in Sheol].¹¹ And none of the angels of that world shall know that You are with Me of the seven heavens and of their angels.¹² And they shall not know that You are with Me, till with a loud voice I have called (to) the heavens, and their angels and their lights, (even) to the sixth heaven, in order that you may judge and destroy the princes and angels and gods of that world, and the world that is dominated by them:¹³ For they have denied Me and said: "We alone are and there is none beside us."¹⁴ And afterwards from the angels of death You will ascend to Your place. And You will not be transformed in each heaven, but in glory will you ascend and sit on My right hand.¹⁵ And thereupon the princes and powers of that world will worship You."¹⁶ These commands I heard the Great Glory giving to my Adanay.¹⁷ And so I saw my Adanay go forth from the seventh heaven into the sixth heaven.¹⁸ And the angel who conducted me [from this world was with me and] said to me: "Understand, Yashaiyahaw, and see the transformation and descent of the Adanay will appear."¹⁹ And I saw, and when the angels saw Him, thereupon those in the sixth heaven praised and lauded Him; for He had not been transformed after the shape of the angels there, and they praised Him and I also praised with them.²⁰ And I saw when He descended into the fifth heaven, that in the fifth heaven He made Himself like to the form of the angels there, and they did not praise Him (nor worship Him); for His form was like to theirs.²¹ And then He descended into the forth heaven, and made Himself like to the form of the angels there.²² And when they saw Him, they did not praise or laud Him; for His form was like to their form.²³ And again I saw when He descended into the third heaven, and He made Himself like to the form of the angels in the third heaven.²⁴ And those who kept the gate of the (third) heaven demanded the password, and the Adanay gave (it) to them in order that He should not be recognized. And when they saw Him, they did not praise or laud Him; for His form was like to their form.²⁵ And again I saw when He descended into the second heaven, and again He gave the password there; those who kept the gate proceeded to demand and the Adanay to give.²⁶ And I saw when He made Himself like to the form of the angels in the second heaven, and they saw Him and they did not praise Him; for His form was like to their form.²⁷ And again I saw when He descended into the first heaven, and there also He gave the password to those who kept the gate, and He made Himself like to the form of the angels who were on the left of that throne, and they neither praised nor lauded Him; for His form was like to their form.²⁸ But as for me no one asked me on account of the angel who conducted me.²⁹ And again He descended into the firmament where dwells the ruler of this world, and He gave the password to those on the left, and His form was like theirs, and they did not praise Him there; but they were envying one another and fighting; for here there is a power of evil and envying about trifles.³⁰ And I saw when He descended and made Himself like to the angels of the air, and He was like one of them.³¹ And He gave no password; for one was plundering and doing violence to another.

11 After this I saw, and the angel who spoke with me, who conducted me, said to me: "Understand, Yashaiyahaw son of Amawatz; for for this purpose have I been sent from Alahayam."² And I indeed saw a woman of the family of Dawad the prophet, named Marayam, and Virgin, and she was espoused to a man named Yawasap, a carpenter, and he also was of the seed and family of the righteous Dawad of Bayathalacham Yahawadah.³ And he came into his lot. And when she was espoused, she was found with child, and Yawasap the carpenter was desirous to put her away.⁴ But the angel of the Spirit appeared in this world, and after that Yawasap did not put her away, but kept Marayam and did not reveal this matter to any one.⁵ And he did not approach May, but kept her as a holy virgin, though with child.⁶ And he did not live with her for two months.⁷ And after two months of days while Yawasap was in his house, and Marayam his wife, but both alone.⁸ It came to pass that when they were alone that Marayam straight-way looked with her eyes and saw a small babe, and she was astonished.⁹ And after she had been astonished, her womb was found as formerly before she had conceived.¹⁰ And when her husband Yawasap said to her: "What has astonished you?" his eyes were opened and he saw the infant and praised Alahayam, because into his portion Alahayam had come.¹¹ And a voice came to them: "Tell this vision to no one."¹² And the story regarding the infant was noised broad in Bayathalacham.¹³ Some said: "The Virgin Marayam has borne a child, before she was married two months."¹⁴ And many said: "She has not borne a child, nor has a midwife gone up (to her), nor have we heard the cries of (labour) pains." And they were all blinded respecting Him and they all knew regarding Him, though they knew not whence He was.¹⁵ And they took Him, and went to Natzarath in Galayal.¹⁶ And I saw, O Chazaqayahaw and Josab my son, and I declare to the other prophets also who are standing by, that (this) has escaped all the heavens and all the princes and all the gods of this world.¹⁷ And I saw: In Natzarath He sucked the breast as a babe and as is customary in order that He might not be recognized.¹⁸ And when He had grown up he worked great signs and wonders in the land of Yasharaal and of Yarawashalam.¹⁹ And after this the adversary envied Him and roused the children of Yasharaal against Him, not knowing who He was, and they delivered Him to the king, and crucified Him, and He descended to the angel (of Sheol).²⁰ In Yarawashalam indeed I was Him being crucified on a tree:²¹ And likewise after the third day rise again and remain days.²² And the angel who conducted me said: "Understand, Yashaiyahaw": and I saw when He sent out the Twelve Apostles and ascended.²³ And I saw Him, and He was in the firmament, but He had not changed Himself into their form, and all the angels of the firmament and the Satans saw Him and they worshipped.²⁴ And there was much sorrow there, while they said: "How did our Adanay descend in our midst, and we perceived not the glory [which has been upon Him], which we see has been upon Him from the sixth heaven?"²⁵ And He ascended into the second heaven, and He did not transform Himself, but all the angels who were on the right and on the left and the throne in the midst.²⁶ Both worshipped Him and praised Him and said: "How did our Adanay escape us whilst descending, and we perceived not?"²⁷ And in like manner He ascended into the third heaven, and they praised and said in like manner.²⁸ And in the fourth heaven and in the fifth also they said precisely after the same manner.²⁹ But there was one glory, and from it He did not change Himself.³⁰ And I saw when He ascended into the sixth heaven, and they worshipped and glorified Him.³¹ But in all the heavens the praise increased (in volume).³² And I saw how He ascended into the seventh heaven, and all the righteous and all the angels praised Him. And then I saw Him sit down on the right hand of that Great Glory whose glory I told you that I could not behold.³³ And also the angel of the Holy Spirit I saw sitting on the left hand.³⁴ And this angel said to me: "Yashaiyahaw, son of Amawatz, it is enough for you;... for you have seen what no child of flesh has seen."³⁵ And you will return into your garment (of the flesh) until your days are completed. Then you will come here."³⁶ These things Yashaiyahaw saw and told to all that stood before him, and they praised. And he spoke to Chazaqayahaw the King and said: "I have spoken these things."³⁷ Both the end of this world;³⁸ And all this vision will be consummated in the last generations.³⁹ And Yashaiyahaw made him swear that he would not tell (it) to the people of Yasharaal, nor give these words to any man to transcribe.⁴⁰ ...such things you will read, and watch you in the Holy Spirit in order they you may receive your garments and thrones and crowns of glory which are laid up in the seventh heaven.⁴¹ On account of these visions and prophecies Sammael Satan sawed in sunder Yashaiyahaw the son of Amawatz, the prophet, by the hand of Manashah.⁴² And all these things Chazaqayahaw delivered to Manashah in the twenty-sixth year.⁴³ But Manashah did not remember them nor place these things in his heart, but becoming the servant of Satan he was destroyed. Here endeth the vision of Yashaiyahaw the prophet with his ascension.

1 The words of Yaramayahaw the son of Hilkiah, of the priests who were in Inathawath in the land of Banayaman: ² to whom the word of Yahawah came in the days of Yaashayahaw the son of Amawan, king of Yahawadah, in the thirteenth year of his reign. ³ It came also in the days of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, to the end of the eleventh year of Tzadaqayahaw, the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, to the carrying away of Yarawashalam captive in the fifth month. ⁴ Now the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ⁵ Before I formed you in the belly I knew you, and before you came forth out of the womb I sanctified you; I have appointed you a prophet to the nations. ⁶ Then said I, Ah, Adanay Yahawah! behold, I don't know how to speak; for I am a child. ⁷ But Yahawah said to me, Don't say, I am a child; for to whoever I shall send you, you shall go, and whatever I shall command you, you shall speak. ⁸ Don't be afraid because of them; for I am with you to deliver you, says Yahawah. ⁹ Then Yahawah put forth his hand, and touched my mouth; and Yahawah said to me, Behold, I have put my words in your mouth: ¹⁰ behold, I have this day set you over the nations and over the kingdoms, to pluck up and to break down and to destroy and to overthrow, to build and to plant. ¹¹ Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, Yaramayahaw, what see you? I said, I see a rod of an almond-tree. ¹² Then said Yahawah to me, You have well seen: for I watch over my word to perform it. ¹³ The word of Yahawah came to me the second time, saying, What see you? I said, I see a boiling caldron; and the face of it is from the north. ¹⁴ Then Yahawah said to me, Out of the north evil shall break forth on all the inhabitants of the land. ¹⁵ For, behold, I will call all the families of the kingdoms of the north, says Yahawah; and they shall come, and they shall set everyone his throne at the entrance of the gates of Yarawashalam, and against all the walls of it round about, and against all the cities of Yahawadah. ¹⁶ I will utter my judgments against them touching all their wickedness, in that they have forsaken me, and have burned incense to other gods, and worshipped the works of their own hands. ¹⁷ You therefore gird up your loins, and arise, and speak to them all that I command you: don't be dismayed at them, lest I dismay you before them. ¹⁸ For, behold, I have made you this day a fortified city, and an iron pillar, and brazen walls, against the whole land, against the kings of Yahawadah, against the princes of it, against the priests of it, and against the people of the land. ¹⁹ They shall fight against you; but they shall not prevail against you: for I am with you, says Yahawah, to deliver you.

2 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Go, and cry in the ears of Yarawashalam, saying, Thus says Yahawah, I remember for you the kindness of your youth, the love of your weddings; how you went after me in the wilderness, in a land that was not sown. ³ Yasharaal [was] holiness to Yahawah, the first-fruits of his increase: all who devour him shall be held guilty; evil shall come on them, says Yahawah. ⁴ Hear you the word of Yahawah, O house of Yaiqab, and all the families of the house of Yasharaal: ⁵ thus says Yahawah, What unrighteousness have your fathers found in me, that they have gone far from me, and have walked after vanity, and are become vain? ⁶ Neither said they, Where is Yahawah who brought us up out of the land of Matzarayam, who led us through the wilderness, through a land of deserts and of pits, through a land of drought and of the shadow of death, through a land that none passed through, and where no man lived? ⁷ I brought you into a plentiful land, to eat the fruit of it and the goodness of it; but when you entered, you defiled my land, and made my heritage an abomination. ⁸ The priests didn't say, Where is Yahawah? and those who handle the law didn't know me: the rulers also transgressed against me, and the prophets prophesied by Bail, and walked after things that do not profit. ⁹ Therefore I will yet contend with you, says Yahawah, and with your children's children will I contend.

¹⁰ For pass over to the isles of Kathayam, and see; and send to Qadar, and consider diligently; and see if there has been such a thing. ¹¹ Has a nation changed [its] gods, which yet are no gods? but my people have changed their glory for that which does not profit.

¹² Be astonished, you heavens, at this, and be horribly afraid, be you very desolate, says Yahawah. ¹³ For my people have committed two evils: they have forsaken me, the spring of living waters, and hewed them out cisterns, broken cisterns, that can hold no water. ¹⁴ Is Yasharaal a servant? is he a home-born [slave]? why is he become a prey? ¹⁵ The young lions have roared on him, and yelled; and they have made his land waste: his cities are burned up, without inhabitant. ¹⁶ The children also of Map and Thachapanachas have broken the crown of your head. ¹⁷ Haven't you procured this to yourself, in that you have forsaken Yahawah your Alahayam, when he led you by the way? ¹⁸ Now what have you to do in the way to Matzarayam, to drink the waters of the Shayachawar? or what have you to do in the way to Ashawar, to drink the waters of the River?

¹⁹ Your own wickedness shall correct you, and your backsliding shall reprove you: know therefore and see that it is an evil thing and a bitter, that you have forsaken Yahawah your Alahayam, and that my fear is not in you, says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath.

²⁰ For of old time I have broken your yoke, and burst your bonds; and you said, I will not serve; for on every high hill and under every green tree you did bow yourself, playing the prostitute. ²¹ Yet I had planted you a noble vine, wholly a right seed: how then are you turned into the degenerate branches of a foreign vine to me? ²² For though you wash you with lye, and use much soap, yet your iniquity is marked before me, says the Adanay Yahawah. ²³ How can you say, I am not defiled, I have not gone after the Baals? see your way in the valley, know what you have done: [you are] a swift dromedary traversing her ways; ²⁴ a wild donkey used to the wilderness, that snuffs up the wind in her desire; in her occasion who can turn her away? all those who seek her will not weary themselves; in her month they shall find her. ²⁵ Withhold your foot from being unshod, and your throat from thirst: but you said, It is in vain; no, for I have loved strangers, and after them will I go. ²⁶ As the thief is ashamed when he is found, so is the house of Yasharaal ashamed; they, their kings, their princes, and their priests, and their prophets; ²⁷ who tell a stock, You are my father; and to a stone, You have brought me forth: for they have turned their back to me, and not their face; but in the time of their trouble they will say, Arise, and save us. ²⁸ But where are your gods that you have made you? let them arise, if they can save you in the time of your trouble: for according to the number of your cities are your gods, Yahawadah.

²⁹ Why will you contend with me? you all have transgressed against me, says Yahawah. ³⁰ In vain have I struck your children; they received no correction: your own sword has devoured your prophets, like a destroying lion. ³¹ Generation, see the word of Yahawah. Have I been a wilderness to Yasharaal? or a land of thick darkness? why say my people, We are broken loose; we will come no more to you? ³² Can a virgin forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number.

³³ How trimmest you your way to seek love! therefore even the wicked women have you taught your ways. ³⁴ Also in your skirts is found the blood of the souls of the innocent poor: you did not find them breaking in; but it is because of all these things. ³⁵ Yet you said, I am innocent; surely his anger is turned away from me. Behold, I will enter into judgment with you, because you say, I have not sinned.³⁶ Why go you about so much to change your way? you shall be ashamed of Matzarayam also, as you were ashamed of Ashawar.³⁷ From there also shall you go forth, with your hands on your head: for Yahawah has rejected those in whom you trust, and you shall not prosper with them.

3 They say, If a man put away his wife, and she go from him, and become another man's, will he return to her again? Won't that land be greatly polluted? But you have played the prostitute with many lovers; yet return again to me, says Yahawah.² Lift up your eyes to the bare heights, and see; where have you not been lain with? By the ways have you sat for them, as an Arabian in the wilderness; and you have polluted the land with your prostitution and with your wickedness.³ Therefore the showers have been withheld, and there has been no latter rain; yet you have a prostitute's forehead, you refused to be ashamed.⁴ Will you not from this time cry to me, My Father, you are the guide of my youth?⁵ Will he retain [his anger] forever? will he keep it to the end? Behold, you have spoken and have done evil things, and have had your way.⁶ Moreover Yahawah said to me in the days of Yaashayahaw the king, Have you seen that which backsliding Yasharaal has done? she is gone up on every high mountain and under every green tree, and there has played the prostitute.⁷ I said after she had done all these things, She will return to me; but she didn't return: and her treacherous sister Yahawadah saw it.⁸ I saw, when, for this very cause that backsliding Yasharaal had committed adultery, I had put her away and given her a bill of divorce, yet treacherous Yahawadah, her sister, didn't fear; but she also went and played the prostitute.⁹ It happened through the lightness of her prostitution, that the land was polluted, and she committed adultery with stones and with stocks.¹⁰ Yet for all this her treacherous sister Yahawadah has not returned to me with her whole heart, but only in pretense, says Yahawah.¹¹ Yahawah said to me, Backsliding Yasharaal has showed herself more righteous than treacherous Yahawadah.¹² Go, and proclaim these words toward the north, and say, Return, you backsliding Yasharaal, says Yahawah; I will not look in anger on you; for I am merciful, says Yahawah, I will not keep [anger] forever.¹³ Only acknowledge your iniquity, that you have transgressed against Yahawah your Alahayam, and have scattered your ways to the strangers under every green tree, and you have not obeyed my voice, says Yahawah.¹⁴ Return, backsliding children, says Yahawah; for I am a husband to you: and I will take you one of a city, and two of a family, and I will bring you to Tzayawan:¹⁵ and I will give you shepherds according to my heart, who shall feed you with knowledge and understanding.¹⁶ It shall come to pass, when you are multiplied and increased in the land, in those days, says Yahawah, they shall say no more, The ark of the covenant of Yahawah; neither shall it come to mind; neither shall they remember it; neither shall they miss it; neither shall it be made any more.¹⁷ At that time they shall call Yarawashalam the throne of Yahawah; and all the nations shall be gathered to it, to the name of Yahawah, to Yarawashalam: neither shall they walk any more after the stubbornness of their evil heart.¹⁸ In those days the house of Yahawadah shall walk with the house of Yasharaal, and they shall come together out of the land of the north to the land that I gave for an inheritance to your fathers.¹⁹ But I said, How I will put you among the children, and give you a pleasant land, a goodly heritage of the hosts of the nations! and I said, You shall call me My Father, and shall not turn away from following me.²⁰ Surely as a wife treacherously departs from her husband, so have you dealt treacherously with me, house of Yasharaal, says Yahawah.²¹ A voice is heard on the bare heights, the weeping [and] the petitions of the children of Yasharaal; because they have perverted their way, they have forgotten Yahawah their Alahayam.²² Return, you backsliding children, I will heal your backsliding. Behold, we are come to you; for you are Yahawah our Alahayam.²³ Truly in vain is [the help that is looked for] from the hills, the tumult on the mountains: truly in Yahawah our Alahayam is the salvation of Yasharaal.²⁴ But the shameful thing has devoured the labor of our fathers from our youth, their flocks and their herds, their sons and their daughters.²⁵ Let us lie down in our shame, and let our confusion cover us; for we have sinned against Yahawah our Alahayam, we and our fathers, from our youth even to this day; and we have not obeyed the voice of Yahawah our Alahayam.

4 If you will return, Yasharaal, says Yahawah, if you will return to me, and if you will put away your abominations out of my sight; then you shall not be removed;² and you shall swear, As Yahawah lives, in truth, in justice, and in righteousness; and the nations shall bless themselves in him, and in him shall they glory.³ For thus says Yahawah to the men of Yahawadah and to Yarawashalam, Break up your fallow ground, and don't sow among thorns.⁴ Circumcise yourselves to Yahawah, and take away the foreskins of your heart, you men of Yahawadah and inhabitants of Yarawashalam; lest my wrath go forth like fire, and burn so that none can quench it, because of the evil of your doings.⁵ Declare you in Yahawadah, and publish in Yarawashalam; and say, Blow you the trumpet in the land: cry aloud and say, Assemble yourselves, and let us go into the fortified cities.⁶ Set up a standard toward Tzayawan: flee for safety, don't stay; for I will bring evil from the north, and a great destruction.⁷ A lion is gone up from his thicket, and a destroyer of nations; he is on his way, he is gone forth from his place, to make your land desolate, that your cities be laid waste, without inhabitant.⁸ For this gird you with sackcloth, lament and wail; for the fierce anger of Yahawah hasn't turned back from us.⁹ It shall happen at that day, says Yahawah, that the heart of the king shall perish, and the heart of the princes; and the priests shall be astonished, and the prophets shall wonder.¹⁰ Then said I, Ah, Adanay Yahawah! surely you have greatly deceived this people and Yarawashalam, saying, You shall have peace; whereas the sword reaches to the life.¹¹ At that time shall it be said to this people and to Yarawashalam, A hot wind from the bare heights in the wilderness toward the daughter of my people, not to winnow, nor to cleanse;¹² a full wind from these shall come for me: now will I also utter judgments against them.¹³ Behold, he shall come up as clouds, and his chariots [shall be] as the whirlwind: his horses are swifter than eagles. Woe to us! for we are ruined.¹⁴ Yarawashalam, wash your heart from wickedness, that you may be saved. How long shall your evil thoughts lodge within you?¹⁵ For a voice declares from Wadan, and publishes evil from the hills of Aparayam:¹⁶ make you mention to the nations; behold, publish against Yarawashalam, [that] watchers come from a far country, and give out their voice against the cities of Yahawadah.¹⁷ As keepers of a field are they against her round about, because she has been rebellious against me, says Yahawah.¹⁸ Your way and your doings have procured these things to you; this is your wickedness; for it is bitter, for it reaches to your heart.¹⁹ My anguish, my anguish! I am pained at my very heart; my heart is disquieted in me; I can't hold my peace; because you have heard, O my soul, the sound of the trumpet, the alarm of war.²⁰ Destruction on destruction is cried; for the whole land is laid waste: suddenly are my tents destroyed, [and] my curtains in a moment.²¹ How long shall I see the standard, and hear the sound of the trumpet?²² For my people are foolish, they know don't me; they are foolish children, and they have no understanding; they are wise to do evil, but to do good they have no knowledge.²³ I saw the earth, and, behold, it was waste and void; and the heavens, and they had no light.²⁴ I saw the mountains, and, behold, they trembled, and all the hills moved back and forth.²⁵ I saw, and, behold, there was no man, and all the birds of the sky were fled.²⁶ I saw, and, behold, the fruitful field was a wilderness, and all the cities of it were broken down at the presence of Yahawah, [and] before his fierce anger.²⁷ For thus says Yahawah, The whole land shall be a desolation; yet will I not make a full end.²⁸ For this shall the earth mourn, and the heavens above be black; because I have spoken it, I have purposed it, and I have not repented, neither will I turn back from it.²⁹ Every city flees for the noise of the horsemen and archers; they go into the thickets, and climb up on the rocks: every city is forsaken, and not a man dwells therein.³⁰ You, when you are made desolate, what will you do? Though you clothe yourself with scarlet, though you deck you with ornaments of gold, though you enlarge your eyes with paint, in vain do you make yourself beautiful; [your] lovers despise you, they seek your life.³¹ For I have heard a voice as of a woman in travail, the anguish as of her who brings forth her first child, the voice of the daughter of Tzayawan, who gasps for breath, who spreads her hands, [saying], Woe is me now! for my soul faints before the murderers.

5 Run you back and forth through the streets of Yarawashalam, and see now, and know, and seek in the broad places of it, if you can find a man, if there are any who does justly, who seeks truth; and I will pardon her.² Though they say, As Yahawah lives; surely they swear falsely.³ O Yahawah, don't your eyes look on truth? you have stricken them, but they were not grieved; you have consumed them, but they have refused to receive correction: they have made their faces harder than a rock; they have refused to return.⁴ Then I said, Surely these are poor; they are foolish; for they don't know the way of Yahawah, nor the law of their Alahayam:⁵ I will get me to the great men, and will speak to them; for they know the way of Yahawah, and the law of their Alahayam. But these with one accord have broken the yoke, and burst the bonds.⁶ Therefore a lion out of the forest shall kill them, a wolf of the evenings shall destroy them, a leopard shall watch against their cities; everyone who goes out there shall be torn in pieces; because their transgressions are many, [and] their backsliding is increased.⁷ How can I pardon you? your children have forsaken me, and sworn by them that are no gods: when I had fed them to the full, they committed adultery, and assembled themselves in troops at the prostitutes' houses.⁸ They were as fed horses roaming at large; everyone neighed after his neighbor's wife.⁹ Shall I not visit for these things? says Yahawah; and shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?¹⁰ Go you up on her walls, and destroy; but don't make a full end: take away her branches; for they are not Yahawah's.¹¹ For the house of Yasharaal and the house of Yahawadah have dealt very treacherously against me, says Yahawah.¹² They have denied Yahawah, and said, It is not he; neither shall evil come on us; neither shall we see sword nor famine:¹³ and the prophets shall become wind, and the word is not in them: thus shall it be done to them.¹⁴ Therefore thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, Because you speak this word, behold, I will make my words in your mouth fire, and this people wood, and it shall devour them.¹⁵ Behold, I will bring a nation on you from far, house of Yasharaal, says Yahawah: it is a mighty nation, it is an ancient nation, a nation whose language you don't know, neither understand what they say.¹⁶ Their quiver is an open tomb, they are all mighty men.¹⁷ They shall eat up your harvest, and your bread, [which] your sons and your daughters should eat; they shall eat up your flocks and your herds; they shall eat up your vines and your fig-trees; they shall beat down your fortified cities, in which you trust, with the sword.¹⁸ But even in those days, says Yahawah, I will not make a full end with you.¹⁹ It shall happen, when you shall say, Why has Yahawah our Alahayam done all these things to us? then shall you say to them, Like as you have forsaken me, and served foreign gods in your land, so shall you serve strangers in a land that is not yours.²⁰ Declare you this in the house of Yaiqab, and publish it in Yahawadah, saying,²¹ Hear now this, foolish people, and without understanding; who have eyes, and don't see; who have ears, and don't hear:²² Don't you fear me? says Yahawah: won't you tremble at my presence, who have placed the sand for the bound of the sea, by a perpetual decree, that it can't pass it? and though the waves of it toss themselves, yet they can't prevail; though they roar, yet they can't pass over it.²³ But this people has a revolting and a rebellious heart; they are revolted and gone.²⁴ Neither say they in their heart, Let us now fear Yahawah our Alahayam, who gives rain, both the former and the latter, in its season; who preserves to us the appointed weeks of the harvest.²⁵ Your iniquities have turned away these things, and your sins have withheld good from you.²⁶ For among my people are found wicked men: they watch, as fowlers lie in wait; they set a trap, they catch men.²⁷ As a cage is full of birds, so are their houses full of deceit:

therefore they are become great, and grew rich.²⁸ They are grew fat, they shine: yes, they overpass in deeds of wickedness; they don't plead the cause, the cause of the fatherless, that they may prosper; and the right of the needy they don't judge.²⁹ Shall I not visit for these things? says Yahawah; shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this?³⁰ A wonderful and horrible thing is happen in the land:³¹ the prophets prophesy falsely, and the priests bear rule by their means; and my people love to have it so: and what will you do in the end of it?

6 Flee for safety, you children of Banayaman, out of the midst of Yarawashalam, and blow the trumpet in Thaqawai, and raise up a signal on Bayath-haccherem; for evil looks forth from the north, and a great destruction.² The comely and delicate one, the daughter of Tzayawan, will I cut off.³ Shepherds with their flocks shall come to her; they shall pitch their tents against her round about; they shall feed everyone in his place.⁴ Prepare you war against her; arise, and let us go up at noon. Woe to us! for the day declines, for the shadows of the evening are stretched out.⁵ Arise, and let us go up by night, and let us destroy her palaces.⁶ For thus has Yahawah Tzabaawath said, Hew you down trees, and cast up a mound against Yarawashalam: this is the city to be visited; she is wholly oppression in the midst of her.⁷ As a well casts forth its waters, so she casts forth her wickedness: violence and destruction is heard in her; before me continually is sickness and wounds.⁸ Be you instructed, Yarawashalam, lest my soul be alienated from you; lest I make you a desolation, a land not inhabited.⁹ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, They shall thoroughly glean the remnant of Yasharaal as a vine: turn again your hand as a grape-gatherer into the baskets.¹⁰ To whom shall I speak and testify, that they may hear? behold, their ear is uncircumcised, and they can't listen: behold, the word of Yahawah is become to them a reproach; they have no delight in it.¹¹ Therefore I am full of the wrath of Yahawah; I am weary with holding in: pour it out on the children in the street, and on the assembly of young men together; for even the husband with the wife shall be taken, the aged with him who is full of days.¹² Their houses shall be turned to others, their fields and their wives together; for I will stretch out my hand on the inhabitants of the land, says Yahawah.¹³ For from the least of them even to the greatest of them everyone is given to covetousness; and from the prophet even to the priest everyone deals falsely.¹⁴ They have healed also the hurt of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.¹⁵ Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore they shall fall among those who fall; at the time that I visit them they shall be cast down, says Yahawah.¹⁶ Thus says Yahawah, Stand you in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the good way; and walk therein, and you shall find rest for your souls: but they said, We will not walk [therein].¹⁷ I set watchmen over you, [saying], Listen to the sound of the trumpet; but they said, We will not listen.¹⁸ Therefore hear, you nations, and know, congregation, what is among them.¹⁹ Hear, earth: behold, I will bring evil on this people, even the fruit of their thoughts, because they have not listened to my words; and as for my law, they have rejected it.²⁰ To what purpose comes there to me frankincense from Shabaa, and the sweet cane from a far country? your burnt offerings are not acceptable, nor your sacrifices pleasing to me.²¹ Therefore thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will lay stumbling-blocks before this people; and the fathers and the sons together shall stumble against them; the neighbor and his friend shall perish.²² Thus says Yahawah, Behold, a people comes from the north country; and a great nation shall be stirred up from the uttermost parts of the earth.²³ They lay hold on bow and spear; they are cruel, and have no mercy; their voice roars like the sea, and they ride on horses, everyone set in array, as a man to the battle, against you, daughter of Tzayawan.²⁴ We have heard the report of it; our hands wax feeble: anguish has taken hold of us, [and] pangs as of a woman in travail.²⁵ Don't go forth into the field, nor walk by the way; for the sword of the enemy, [and] terror, are on every side.²⁶ Daughter of my people, gird you with sackcloth, and wallow yourself in ashes: make you mourning, as for an only son, most bitter lamentation; for the destroyer shall suddenly come on us.²⁷ I have made you a tester of metals [and] a fortress among my people; that you may know and try their way.²⁸ They are all grievous rebels, going about with slanders; they are brass and iron: they all of them deal corruptly.²⁹ The bellows blow fiercely; the lead is consumed of the fire: in vain do they go on refining; for the wicked are not plucked away.³⁰ Refuse silver shall men them, because Yahawah has rejected them.

² Stand in the gate of Yahawah's house, and proclaim there this word, and say, Hear the word of Yahawah, all you of Yahawadah, who enter in at these gates to worship Yahawah.³ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Amend your ways and your doings, and I will cause you to dwell in this place.
⁴ Don't you trust in lying words, saying, The temple of Yahawah, the temple of Yahawah, the temple of Yahawah, are these.⁵ For if you thoroughly amend your ways and your doings; if you thoroughly execute justice between a man and his neighbor;⁶ if you don't oppress the sojourner, the fatherless, and the widow, and don't shed innocent blood in this place, neither walk after other gods to your own hurt:⁷ then will I cause you to dwell in this place, in the land that I gave to your fathers, from of old even forevermore.⁸ Behold, you trust in lying words, that can't profit.
⁹ Will you steal, murder, and commit adultery, and swear falsely, and burn incense to Bail, and walk after other gods that you have not known,¹⁰ and come and stand before me in this house, which is called by my name, and say, We are delivered; that you may do all these abominations?¹¹ Is this house, which is called by my name, become a den of robbers in your eyes? Behold, I, even I, have seen it, says Yahawah.¹² But go you now to my place which was in Shalah, where I caused my name to dwell at the first, and see what I did to it for the wickedness of my people Yasharaal.¹³ Now, because you have done all these works, says Yahawah, and I spoke to you, rising up early and speaking, but you didn't hear; and I called you, but you didn't answer:¹⁴ therefore will I do to the house which is called by my name, in which you trust, and to the place which I gave to you and to your fathers, as I did to Shalah.¹⁵ I will cast you out of my sight, as I have cast out all your brothers, even the whole seed of Aparayam.¹⁶ Therefore don't you pray for this people, neither lift up a cry nor prayer for them, neither make intercession to me; for I will not hear you.¹⁷ Don't you see what they do in the cities of Yahawadah and in the streets of Yarawashalam?¹⁸ The children gather wood, and the fathers kindle the fire, and the women knead the dough, to make cakes to the queen of the sky, and to pour out drink-offerings to other gods, that they may provoke me to anger.¹⁹ Do they provoke me to anger? says Yahawah; [do they] not [provoke] themselves, to the confusion of their own faces?²⁰ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, my anger and my wrath shall be poured out on this place, on man, and on animal, and on the trees of the field, and on the fruit of the ground; and it shall burn, and shall not be quenched.²¹ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Add your burnt offerings to your sacrifices, and eat you flesh.²² For I didn't speak to your fathers, nor command them in the day that I brought them out of the land of Matzarayam, concerning burnt offerings or sacrifices:²³ but this thing I commanded them, saying, Listen to my voice, and I will be your Alahayam, and you shall be my people; and walk you in all the way that I command you, that it may be well with you.²⁴ But they didn't listen nor turn their ear, but walked in [their own] counsels [and] in the stubbornness of their evil heart, and went backward, and not forward.²⁵ Since the day that your fathers came forth out of the land of Matzarayam to this day, I have sent to you all my servants the prophets, daily rising up early and sending them:²⁶ yet they didn't listen to me, nor inclined their ear, but made their neck stiff: they did worse than their fathers.²⁷ You shall speak all these words to them; but they will not listen to you: you shall also call to them; but they will not answer you.²⁸ You shall tell them, This is the nation that has not listened to the voice of Yahawah their Alahayam, nor received instruction: truth is perished, and is cut off from their mouth.²⁹ Cut off your hair, [Yarawashalam], and cast it away, and take up a lamentation on the bare heights; for Yahawah has rejected and forsaken the generation of his wrath.³⁰ For the children of Yahawadah have done that which is evil in my sight, says Yahawah: they have set their abominations in the house which is called by my name, to defile it.³¹ They have built the high places of Thapath, which is in the valley of the son of Hanam, to burn their sons and their daughters in the fire; which I didn't command, neither came it into my mind.³² Therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that it shall no more be called Thapath, nor The valley of the son of Hanam, but The valley of Slaughter: for they shall bury in Thapath, until there be no place [to bury].³³ The dead bodies of this people shall be food for the birds of the sky, and for the animals of the earth; and none shall frighten them away.³⁴ Then will I cause to cease from the cities of Yahawadah, and from the streets of Yarawashalam, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride; for the land shall become a waste.

8 At that time, says Yahawah, they shall bring out the bones of the kings of Yahawadah, and the bones of his princes, and the bones of the priests, and the bones of the prophets, and the bones of the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, out of their graves;³ and they shall spread them before the sun, and the moon, and all the host of the sky, which they have loved, and which they have served, and after which they have walked, and which they have sought, and which they have worshipped: they shall not be gathered, nor be buried, they shall be for dung on the surface of the earth.⁴ Death shall be chosen rather than life by all the residue that remain of this evil family, that remain in all the places where I have driven them, says Yahawah Tzabaawath.⁵ Moreover you shall tell them, Thus says Yahawah: Shall men fall, and not rise up again? Shall one turn away, and not return?⁶ Why then is this people of Yarawashalam slidden back by a perpetual backsliding? they hold fast deceit, they refuse to return.⁷ I listened and heard, but they didn't speak aright: no man repents him of his wickedness, saying, What have I done? everyone turns to his course, as a horse that rushes headlong in the battle.⁸ Yes, the stork in the sky knows her appointed times; and the turtle-dove and the swallow and the crane observe the time of their coming; but my people don't know the law of Yahawah.⁹ How do you say, We are wise, and the law of Yahawah is with us? But, behold, the false pen of the scribes has worked falsely.¹⁰ The wise men are put to shame, they are dismayed and taken: behold, they have rejected the word of Yahawah; and what manner of wisdom is in them?¹¹ Therefore will I give their wives to others, and their fields to those who shall possess them: for everyone from the least even to the greatest is given to covetousness; from the prophet even to the priest every one deals falsely.¹² They have healed the hurt of the daughter of my people slightly, saying, Peace, peace; when there is no peace.¹³ Were they ashamed when they had committed abomination? nay, they were not at all ashamed, neither could they blush: therefore shall they fall among those who fall; in the time of their visitation they shall be cast down, says Yahawah.¹⁴ I will utterly consume them, says Yahawah: there shall be no grapes on the vine, nor figs on the fig-tree, and the leaf shall fade; and [the things that] I have given them shall pass away from them.¹⁵ Why do we sit still? assemble yourselves, and let us enter into the fortified cities, and let us be silent there; for Yahawah our Alahayam has put us to silence, and given us water of gall to drink, because we have sinned against Yahawah.¹⁶ We looked for peace, but no good came; [and] for a time of healing, and, behold, dismay!¹⁷ The snorting of his horses is heard from Wadan: at the sound of the neighing of his strong ones the whole land trembles; for they are come, and have devoured the land and all that is in it; the city and those who dwell therein.¹⁸ For, behold, I will send serpents, adders, among you, which will not be charmed; and they shall bite you, says Yahawah.¹⁹ Oh that I could comfort myself against sorrow! my heart is faint within me.²⁰ Behold, the voice of the cry of the daughter of my people from a land that is very far off: isn't Yahawah in Tzayawan? Isn't her King in her? Why have they provoked me to anger with their engraved images, and with foreign vanities? ²¹ The harvest is past, the summer is ended, and we are not saved. ²² For the hurt of the daughter of my people am I hurt: I mourn; dismay has taken hold on me. ²³ Is there no balm in Galaid? is there no physician there? why then isn't the health of the daughter of my people recovered?

9 Oh that my head were waters, and my eyes a spring of tears, that I might weep day and night for the slain of the daughter of my people! ² Oh that I had in the wilderness a lodging-place of wayfaring men; that I might leave my people, and go from them! for they are all adulterers, an assembly of treacherous men. ³ They bend their tongue, [as it were] their bow, for falsehood; and they are grown strong in the land, but not for truth: for they proceed from evil to evil, and they don't know me, says Yahawah. ⁴ Take you heed everyone of his neighbor, and don't you trust in any brother; for every brother will utterly supplant, and every neighbor will go about with slanders. ⁵ They will deceive everyone his neighbor, and will not speak the truth: they have taught their tongue to speak lies; they weary themselves to commit iniquity. ⁶ Your habitation is in the midst of deceit; through deceit they refuse to know me, says Yahawah. ⁷ Therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, Behold, I will melt them, and try them; for how [else] should I do, because of the daughter of my people? ⁸ Their tongue is a deadly arrow; it speaks deceit: one speaks peaceably to his neighbor with his mouth, but in his heart he lays wait for him. ⁹ Shall I not visit them for these things? says Yahawah; shall not my soul be avenged on such a nation as this? ¹⁰ For the mountains will I take up a weeping and wailing, and for the pastures of the wilderness a lamentation, because they are burned up, so that none passes through; neither can men hear the voice of the cattle; both the birds of the sky and the animals are fled, they are gone. ¹¹ I will make Yarawashalam heaps, a dwelling-place of jackals; and I will make the cities of Yahawadah a desolation, without inhabitant. ¹² Who is the wise man, that may understand this? and [who is] he to whom the mouth of Yahawah has spoken, that he may declare it? why is the land perished and burned up like a wilderness, so that none passes through? ¹³ Yahawah says, Because they have forsaken my law which I set before them, and have not obeyed my voice, neither walked therein, ¹⁴ but have walked after the stubbornness of their own heart, and after the Baals, which their fathers taught them; ¹⁵ therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Behold, I will feed them, even this people, with wormwood, and give them water of gall to drink. ¹⁶ I will scatter them also among the nations, whom neither they nor their fathers have known; and I will send the sword after them, until I have consumed them. ¹⁷ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, Consider you, and call for the mourning women, that they may come; and send for the skillful women, that they may come: ¹⁸ and let them make haste, and take up a wailing for us, that our eyes may run down with tears, and our eyelids gush out with waters. ¹⁹ For a voice of wailing is heard out of Tzayawan, How are we ruined! we are greatly confounded, because we have forsaken the land, because they have cast down our dwellings. ²⁰ Yet hear the word of Yahawah, you women, and let your ear receive the word of his mouth; and teach your daughters wailing, and everyone her neighbor lamentation. ²¹ For death is come up into our windows, it is entered into our palaces; to cut off the children from outside, [and] the young men from the streets. ²² Speak, Thus says Yahawah, The dead bodies of men shall fall as dung on the open field, and as the handful after the harvester; and none shall gather [them]. ²³ Thus says Yahawah, Don't let the wise man glory in his wisdom, neither let the mighty man glory in his might, don't let the rich man glory in his riches; ²⁴ but let him who glories glory in this, that he has understanding, and knows me, that I am Yahawah who exercises lovingkindness, justice, and righteousness, in the earth: for in these things I delight, says Yahawah. ²⁵ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will punish all those who are circumcised in [their] uncircumcision:

10 Hear you the word which Yahawah speaks to you, house of Yasharaal: ² thus says Yahawah, "Don't learn the way of the nations, and don't be dismayed at the signs of the sky; for the nations are dismayed at them. ³ For the customs of the peoples are vanity; for one cuts a tree out of the forest, the work of the hands of the workman with the ax. ⁴ They deck it with silver and with gold; they fasten it with nails and with hammers, that it not move. ⁵ They are like a palm-tree, of turned work, and don't speak: they must be carried, because they can't go. Don't be afraid of them; for they can't do evil, neither is it in them to do good. ⁶ There is none like you, Yahawah; you are great, and your name is great in might. ⁷ Who should not fear you, King of the nations? for to you does it appertain; because among all the wise men of the nations, and in all their royal estate, there is none like you. ⁸ But they are together brutish and foolish: the instruction of idols! it is but a stock. ⁹ There is silver beaten into plates, which is brought from Tharashayash, and gold from Awapaz, the work of the artificer and of the hands of the goldsmith; blue and purple for their clothing; they are all the work of skillful men. ¹⁰ But Yahawah is the true Alahayam; he is the living Alahayam, and an everlasting King: at his wrath the earth trembles, and the nations are not able to abide his indignation. ¹¹ Thus shall you say to them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, these shall perish from the earth, and from under the heavens. ¹² He has made the earth by his power, he has established the world by his wisdom, and by his understanding has he stretched out the heavens: ¹³ when he utters his voice, there is a tumult of waters in the heavens, and he causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; he makes lightnings for the rain, and brings forth the wind out of his treasures. ¹⁴ Every man is become brutish [and is] without knowledge; every goldsmith is put to shame by his engraved image; for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them. ¹⁵ They are vanity, a work of delusion: in the time of their visitation they shall perish. ¹⁶ The portion of Yaiqab is not like these; for he is the former of all things; and Yasharaal is the tribe of his inheritance: Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name. ¹⁷ Gather up your wares out of the land, you who abide in the siege. ¹⁸ For thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will sling out the inhabitants of the land at this time, and will distress them, that they may feel [it]. ¹⁹ Woe is me because of my hurt! my wound is grievous: but I said, Truly this is [my] grief, and I must bear it. ²⁰ My tent is destroyed, and all my cords are broken: my children are gone forth from me, and they are no more: there is none to spread my tent any more, and to set up my curtains. ²¹ For the shepherds are become brutish, and have not inquired of Yahawah: therefore they have not prospered, and all their flocks are scattered. ²² The voice of news, behold, it comes, and a great commotion out of the north country, to make the cities of Yahawadah a desolation, a dwelling-place of jackals. ²³ Yahawah, I know that the way of man is not in himself: it is not in man who walks to direct his steps. ²⁴ Yahawah, correct me, but in measure: not in your anger, lest you bring me to nothing. ²⁵ Pour out your wrath on the nations that don't know you, and on the families that don't call on your name: for they have devoured Yaiqab, yes, they have devoured him and consumed him, and have laid waste his habitation. 11 The word that came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, saying, ² Hear you the words of this covenant, and speak to the men of Yahawadah, and to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam; ³ and say you to them, Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Cursed be the man who doesn't hear the words of this covenant, ⁴ which I commanded your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Matzarayam, out of the iron furnace, saying, Obey my voice, and do them, according to all which I command you: so shall you be my people, and I will be your Alahayam; ⁵ that I may establish the oath which I swore to your fathers, to give them a land flowing with milk and honey, as at this day. Then answered I, and said, Amen, Yahawah. ⁶ Yahawah said to me, Proclaim all these words in the cities of Yahawadah, and in the streets of Yarawashalam, saying, Hear you the words of this covenant, and do them. ⁷ For I earnestly protested to your fathers in the day that I brought them up out of the land of Matzarayam, even to this day, rising early and protesting, saying, Obey my voice.⁸ Yet they didn't obey, nor turn their ear, but walked everyone in the stubbornness of their evil heart: therefore I brought on them all the words of this covenant, which I commanded them to do, but they didn't do them.⁹ Yahawah said to me, A conspiracy is found among the men of Yahawadah, and among the inhabitants of Yarawashalam.¹⁰ They are turned back to the iniquities of their forefathers, who refused to hear my words; and they are gone after other gods to serve them: the house of Yasharaal and the house of Yahawadah have broken my covenant which I made with their fathers.¹¹ Therefore thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will bring evil on them, which they shall not be able to escape; and they shall cry to me, but I will not listen to them.¹² Then shall the cities of Yahawadah and the inhabitants of Yarawashalam go and cry to the gods to which they offer incense: but they will not save them at all in the time of their trouble.¹³ For according to the number of your cities are your gods, Yahawadah; and according to the number of the streets of Yarawashalam have you set up altars to the shameful thing, even altars to burn incense to Bail.¹⁴ Therefore don't you pray for this people, neither lift up cry nor prayer for them; for I will not hear them in the time that they cry to me because of their trouble.¹⁵ What has my beloved to do in my house, seeing she has worked lewdness [with] many, and the holy flesh is passed from you? when you do evil, then you rejoice.¹⁶ Yahawah called your name, A green olive-tree, beautiful with goodly fruit: with the noise of a great tumult he has kindled fire on it, and the branches of it are broken.¹⁷ For Yahawah Tzabaawath, who planted you, has pronounced evil against you, because of the evil of the house of Yasharaal and of the house of Yahawadah, which they have worked for themselves in provoking me to anger by offering incense to Bail.¹⁸ Yahawah gave me knowledge of it, and I knew it: then you showed me their doings.¹⁹ But I was like a gentle lamb that is led to the slaughter; and I didn't know that they had devised devices against me, [saying], Let us destroy the tree with the fruit of it, and let us cut him off from the land of the living, that his name may be no more remembered.²⁰ But, Yahawah Tzabaawath, who judge righteously, who try the heart and the mind, I shall see your vengeance on them; for to you have I revealed my cause.²¹ Therefore thus says Yahawah concerning the men of Inathawath, who seek your life, saying, You shall not prophesy in the name of Yahawah, that you not die by our hand;²² therefore thus says Yahawah of hosts, Behold, I will punish them: the young men shall die by the sword; their sons and their daughters shall die by famine;²³ and there shall be no remnant to them: for I will bring evil on the men of Inathawath, even the year of their visitation.

12 Righteous are you, Yahawah, when I contend with you; yet would I reason the cause with you: why does the way of the wicked prosper? why are all they at ease who deal very treacherously?² You have planted them, yes, they have taken root; they grow, yes, they bring forth fruit: you are near in their mouth, and far from their heart.³ But you, Yahawah, know me; you see me, and try my heart toward you: pull them out like sheep for the slaughter, and prepare them for the day of slaughter.⁴ How long shall the land mourn, and the herbs of the whole country wither? for the wickedness of those who dwell therein, the animals are consumed, and the birds; because they said, He shall not see our latter end.⁵ If you have run with the footmen, and they have wearied you, then how can you contend with horses? and though in a land of peace you are secure, yet how will you do in the pride of the Yaranan?⁶ For even your brothers, and the house of your father, even they have dealt treacherously with you; even they have cried aloud after you: don't believe them, though they speak beautiful words to you.⁷ I have forsaken my house, I have cast off my heritage; I have given the dearly beloved of my soul into the hand of her enemies.⁸ My heritage is become to me as a lion in the forest: she has uttered her voice against me; therefore I have hated her.⁹ Is my heritage to me as a speckled bird of prey? are the birds of prey against her round about? go you, assemble all the animals of the field, bring them to devour.¹⁰ Many shepherds have destroyed my vineyard, they have trodden my portion under foot, they have made my pleasant portion a desolate wilderness.¹¹ They have made it a desolation; it mourns to me, being desolate; the whole land is made desolate, because no man lays it to heart.¹² Destroyers are come on all the bare heights in the wilderness; for the sword of Yahawah devours from the one end of the land even to the other end of the land: no flesh has peace.¹³ They have sown wheat, and have reaped thorns; they have put themselves to pain, and profit nothing; and you shall be ashamed of your fruits, because of the fierce anger of Yahawah.¹⁴ Thus says Yahawah against all my evil neighbors, who touch the inheritance which I have caused my people Yasharaal to inherit: behold, I will pluck them up from off their land, and will pluck up the house of Yahawadah from among them.¹⁵ It shall happen, after that I have plucked them up, I will return and have compassion on them; and I will bring them again, every man to his heritage, and every man to his land.¹⁶ It shall happen, if they will diligently learn the ways of my people, to swear by my name, As Yahawah lives; even as they taught my people to swear by Bail; then shall they be built up in the midst of my people.¹⁷ But if they will not hear, then will I pluck up that nation, plucking up and destroying it, says Yahawah.

13 Thus says Yahawah to me, Go, and buy you a linen belt, and put it on your loins, and don't put it in water.² So I bought a belt according to the word of Yahawah, and put it on my loins.³ The word of Yahawah came to me the second time, saying,⁴ Take the belt that you have bought, which is on your loins, and arise, go to the Parath, and hide it there in a cleft of the rock.⁵ So I went, and hid it by the Parath, as Yahawah commanded me.⁶ It happened after many days, that Yahawah said to me, Arise, go to the Parath, and take the belt from there, which I commanded you to hide there.⁷ Then I went to the Parath, and dug, and took the belt from the place where I had hid it; and, behold, the belt was marred, it was profitable for nothing.⁸ Then the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,⁹ Thus says Yahawah, After this manner will I mar the pride of Yahawadah, and the great pride of Yarawashalam.¹⁰ This evil people, who refuse to hear my words, who walk in the stubbornness of their heart, and are gone after other gods to serve them, and to worship them, shall even be as this belt, which is profitable for nothing.¹¹ For as the belt cleaves to the loins of a man, so have I caused to cleave to me the whole house of Yasharaal and the whole house of Yahawadah, says Yahawah; that they may be to me for a people, and for a name, and for a praise, and for a glory: but they would not hear.¹² Therefore you shall speak to them this word: Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Every bottle shall be filled with wine: and they shall tell you, Do we not certainly know that every bottle shall be filled with wine?¹³ Then shall you tell them, Thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will fill all the inhabitants of this land, even the kings who sit on Dawad's throne, and the priests, and the prophets, and all the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, with drunkenness.¹⁴ I will dash them one against another, even the fathers and the sons together, says Yahawah: I will not pity, nor spare, nor have compassion, that I should not destroy them.¹⁵ Hear you, and give ear; don't be proud; for Yahawah has spoken.¹⁶ Give glory to Yahawah your Alahayam, before he cause darkness, and before your feet stumble on the dark mountains, and, while you look for light, he turn it into the shadow of death, and make it gross darkness.¹⁷ But if you will not hear it, my soul shall weep in secret for [your] pride; and my eye shall weep sore, and run down with tears, because Yahawah's flock is taken captive.¹⁸ Say you to the king and to the queen-mother, Humble yourselves, sit down; for your headdresses are come down, even the crown of your glory.¹⁹ The cities of the South are shut up, and there is none to open them: Yahawadah is carried away captive, all of it; it is wholly carried away captive.²⁰ Lift up your eyes, and see those who come from the north: where is the flock that was given you, your beautiful flock?²¹ What will you say, when he shall set over you as head those whom you have yourself taught to be friends to you? shall not sorrows take hold of you, as of a woman in travail?²² If you say in your heart, Why are these things come on me? for the greatness of your iniquity are your skirts uncovered, and your heels suffer violence.²³ Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may you also do good, who are accustomed to do evil.²⁴ Therefore will I scatter them, as the stubble that passes away, by the wind of the wilderness.²⁵ This is your lot, the portion measured to you from me, says Yahawah; because you have forgotten me, and trusted in falsehood.²⁶ Therefore will I also uncover your skirts on your face, and your shame shall appear.²⁷ I have seen your abominations, even your adulteries, and your neighing, the lewdness of your prostitution, on the hills in the field. Woe to you, Yarawashalam! you will not be made clean; how long shall it yet be?

14 The word of Yahawah that came to Yaramayahaw concerning the drought.² Yahawadah mourns, and the gates of it languish, they sit in black on the ground; and the cry of Yarawashalam is gone up.³ Their nobles send their little ones to the waters: they come to the cisterns, and find no water; they return with their vessels empty; they are put to shame and confounded, and cover their heads.⁴ Because of the ground which is cracked, because no rain has been in the land, the plowmen are put to shame, they cover their heads.⁵ Yes, the hind also in the field calves, and forsakes [her young], because there is no grass.⁶ The wild donkeys stand on the bare heights, they pant for air like jackals; their eyes fail, because there is no herbage.⁷ Though our iniquities testify against us, work you for your name's sake, Yahawah; for our backslidings are many; we have sinned against you.⁸ You hope of Yasharaal, the Savior of it in the time of trouble, why should you be as a sojourner in the land, and as a wayfaring man who turns aside to stay for a night?⁹ Why should you be like a scared man, as a mighty man who can't save? yet you, Yahawah, are in the midst of us, and we are called by your name; don't leave us.¹⁰ Thus says Yahawah to this people, Even so have they loved to wander; they have not refrained their feet: therefore Yahawah does not accept them; now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins.¹¹ Yahawah said to me, Don't pray for this people for [their] good.¹² When they fast, I will not hear their cry; and when they offer burnt offering and meal-offering, I will not accept them; but I will consume them by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence.¹³ Then said I, Ah, Adanay Yahawah! behold, the prophets tell them, You shall not see the sword, neither shall you have famine; but I will give you assured peace in this place.¹⁴ Then Yahawah said to me, The prophets prophesy lies in my name; I didn't send them, neither have I commanded them, neither spoke I to them: they prophesy to you a lying vision, and divination, and a thing of nothing, and the deceit of their own heart.¹⁵ Therefore thus says Yahawah concerning the prophets who prophesy in my name, and I didn't send them, yet they say, Sword and famine shall not be in this land: By sword and famine shall those prophets be consumed.¹⁶ The people to whom they prophesy shall be cast out in the streets of Yarawashalam because of the famine and the sword; and they shall have none to bury them-them, their wives, nor their sons, nor their daughters: for I will pour their wickedness on them.¹⁷ You shall say this word to them, Let my eyes run down with tears night and day, and let them not cease; for the virgin daughter of my people is broken with a great breach, with a very grievous wound.¹⁸ If I go forth into the field, then, behold, the slain with the sword! and if I enter into the city, then, behold, those who are sick with famine! for both the prophet and the priest go about in the land, and have no knowledge.¹⁹ Have you utterly rejected Yahawadah? has your soul loathed Tzayawan? why have you struck us, and there is no healing for us? We looked for peace, but no good came; and for a time of healing, and, behold, dismay!²⁰ We acknowledge, Yahawah, our wickedness, and the iniquity of our fathers; for we have sinned against you.²¹ Do not abhor [us], for your name's sake; do not disgrace the throne of your glory: remember, don't break your covenant with us.²² Are there any among the vanities of the nations that can cause rain? or can the sky give showers? Aren't you he, Yahawah our Alahayam? therefore we will wait for you; for you have made all these things.

15 Then said Yahawah to me, Though Mashah and Shamawaal stood before me, yet my mind would not be toward this people: cast them out of my sight, and let them go forth.² It shall happen, when they tell you, Where shall we go forth? then you shall tell them, Thus says Yahawah: Such as are for death, to death; and such as are for the sword, to the sword; and such as are for the famine, to the famine; and such as are for captivity, to captivity.³ I will appoint over them four kinds, says Yahawah: the sword to kill, and the dogs to tear, and the birds of the sky, and the animals of the earth, to devour and to destroy.⁴ I will cause them to be tossed back and forth among all the kingdoms of the earth, because of Manashah, the son of Chazaqayahaw, king of Yahawadah, for that which he did in Yarawashalam.⁵ For who will have pity on you, Yarawashalam? or who will bemoan you? or who will turn aside to ask of your welfare?⁶ You have rejected me, says Yahawah, you are gone backward: therefore have I stretched out my hand against you, and destroyed you; I am weary with repenting.⁷ I have winnowed them with a fan in the gates of the land; I have bereaved [them] of children, I have destroyed my people; they didn't return from their ways.⁸ Their widows are increased to me above the sand of the seas; I have brought on them against the mother of the young men a destroyer at noonday: I have caused anguish and terrors to fall on her suddenly.⁹ She who has borne seven languishes; she has given up the spirit; her sun is gone down while it was yet day; she has been put to shame and confounded: and the residue of them will I deliver to the sword before their enemies, says Yahawah.¹⁰ Woe is me, my mother, that you have borne me a man of strife and a man of contention to the whole earth! I have not lent, neither have men lent to me; [yet] everyone of them does curse me.¹¹ Yahawah said, Most assuredly I will strengthen you for good; most assuredly I will cause the enemy to make supplication to you in the time of evil and in the time of affliction.¹² Can one break iron, even iron from the north, and brass?¹³ Your substance and your treasures will I give for a spoil without price, and that for all your sins, even in all your borders.¹⁴ I will make [them] to pass with your enemies into a land which you don't know; for a fire is kindled in my anger, which shall burn on you.¹⁵ Yahawah, you know; remember me, and visit me, and avenge me of my persecutors; don't take me away in your longsuffering: know that for your sake I have suffered reproach.¹⁶ Your words were found, and I ate them; and your words were to me a joy and the rejoicing of my heart: for I am called by your name, Yahawah, Alahayam of hosts.¹⁷ I didn't sit in the assembly of those who make merry, nor rejoiced; I sat alone because of your hand; for you have filled me with indignation.¹⁸ Why is my pain perpetual, and my wound incurable, which refuses to be healed? will you indeed be to me as a deceitful [brook], as waters that fail?¹⁹ Therefore thus says Yahawah, If you return, then will I bring you again, that you may stand before me; and if you take forth the precious from the vile, you shall be as my mouth: they shall return to you, but you shall not return to them.²⁰ I will make you to this people a fortified brazen wall; and they shall fight against you, but they shall not prevail against you; for I am with you to save you and to deliver you, says Yahawah.²¹ I will deliver you out of the hand of the wicked, and I will redeem you out of the hand of the terrible.

16 The word of Yahawah came also to me, saying,² You shall not take a wife, neither shall you have sons or daughters, in this place.³ For thus says Yahawah concerning the sons and concerning the daughters who are born in this place, and concerning their mothers who bore them, and concerning their fathers who became the father of them in this land:⁴ They shall die grievous deaths: they shall not be lamented, neither shall they be buried; they shall be as dung on the surface of the ground; and they shall be consumed by the sword, and by famine; and their dead bodies shall be food for the birds of the sky, and for the animals of the earth.⁵ For thus says Yahawah, Don't enter into the house of mourning, neither go to lament, neither bemoan them; for I have taken away my peace from this people, says Yahawah, even lovingkindness and tender mercies.⁶ Both great and small shall die in this land; they shall not be buried, neither shall men lament for them, nor cut themselves, nor make themselves bald for them; ⁷ neither shall men break [bread] for them in mourning, to comfort them for the dead; neither shall men give them the cup of consolation to drink for their father or for their mother. ⁸ You shall not go into the house of feasting to sit with them, to eat and to drink. ⁹ For thus says Yahawah Tzabaaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Behold, I will cause to cease out of this place, before your eyes and in your days, the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride. ¹⁰ It shall happen, when you shall show this people all these words, and they shall tell you, Why has Yahawah pronounced all this great evil against us? or what is our iniquity? or what is our sin that we have committed against Yahawah our Alahayam? ¹¹ Then shall you tell them, Because your fathers have forsaken me, says Yahawah, and have walked after other gods, and have served them, and have worshipped them, and have forsaken me, and have not kept my law; ¹² and you have done evil more than your fathers; for, behold, you walk every one after the stubbornness of his evil heart, so that you don't listen to me: ¹³ therefore will I cast you forth out of this land into the land that you have not known, neither you nor your fathers; and there shall you serve other gods day and night; for I will show you no favor. ¹⁴ Therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that it shall no more be said, As Yahawah lives, who brought up the children of Yasharaal out of the land of Matzarayam; ¹⁵ but, As Yahawah lives, who brought up the children of Yasharaal from the land of the north, and from all the countries where he had driven them. I will bring them again into their land that I gave to their fathers. ¹⁶ Behold, I will send for many fishermen, says Yahawah, and they shall fish them up; and afterward I will send for many hunters, and they shall hunt them from every mountain, and from every hill, and out of the clefts of the rocks. ¹⁷ For my eyes are on all their ways; they are not hidden from my face, neither is their iniquity concealed from my eyes. ¹⁸ First I will recompense their iniquity and their sin double, because they have polluted my land with the carcasses of their detestable things, and have filled my inheritance with their abominations. ¹⁹ Yahawah, my strength, and my stronghold, and my refuge in the day of affliction, to you shall the nations come from the ends of the earth, and shall say, Our fathers have inherited nothing but lies, [even] vanity and things in which there is no profit. ²⁰ Shall a man make to himself gods, which yet are no gods? ²¹ Therefore, behold, I will cause them to know, this once will I cause them to know my hand and my might; and they shall know that my name is Yahawah.

17 The sin of Yahawadah is written with a pen of iron, [and] with the point of a diamond: it is engraved on the tablet of their heart, and on the horns of your altars; ² while their children remember their altars and their Asherim by the green trees on the high hills. ³ My mountain in the field, I will give your substance and all your treasures for a spoil, [and] your high places, because of sin, throughout all your borders. ⁴ You, even of yourself, shall discontinue from your heritage that I gave you; and I will cause you to serve your enemies in the land which you don't know: for you have kindled a fire in my anger which shall burn forever. ⁵ Thus says Yahawah: Cursed is the man who trusts in man, and makes flesh his arm, and whose heart departs from Yahawah. ⁶ For he shall be like the heath in the desert, and shall not see when good comes, but shall inhabit the parched places in the wilderness, a salt land and not inhabited. ⁷ Blessed is the man who trusts in Yahawah, and whose trust Yahawah is. ⁸ For he shall be as a tree planted by the waters, who spreads out its roots by the river, and shall not fear when heat comes, but its leaf shall be green; and shall not be careful in the year of drought, neither shall cease from yielding fruit. ⁹ The heart is deceitful above all things, and it is exceedingly corrupt: who can know it? ¹⁰ I, Yahawah, search the mind, I try the heart, even to give every man according to his ways, according to the fruit of his doings. ¹¹ As the partridge that sits on [eggs] which she has not laid, so is he who gets riches, and not by right; in the midst of his days they shall leave him, and at his end he shall be a fool. ¹² A glorious throne, [set] on high from the beginning, is the place of our

sanctuary. ¹³ Yahawah, the hope of Yasharaal, all who forsake you shall be put to shame. Those who depart from me shall be written in the earth, because they have forsaken Yahawah, the spring of living waters. ¹⁴ Heal me, O Yahawah, and I shall be healed; save me, and I shall be saved: for you are my praise. ¹⁵ Behold, they tell me, Where is the word of Yahawah? let it come now. ¹⁶ As for me, I have not hurried from being a shepherd after you; neither have I desired the woeful day; you know: that which came out of my lips was before your face. ¹⁷ Don't be a terror to me: you are my refuge in the day of evil. ¹⁸ Let them be put to shame who persecute me, but let not me be put to shame; let them be dismayed, but don't let me be dismayed; bring on them the day of evil, and destroy them with double destruction. ¹⁹ Thus said Yahawah to me: Go, and stand in the gate of the children of the people, whereby the kings of Yahawadah come in, and by which they go out, and in all the gates of Yarawashalam; ²⁰ and tell them, Hear you the word of Yahawah, you kings of Yahawadah, and all Yahawadah, and all the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, that enter in by these gates: ²¹ Thus says Yahawah, Take heed to yourselves, and bear no burden on the Sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Yarawashalam; ²² neither carry forth a burden out of your houses on the Sabbath day holy, neither do any work: but make the Sabbath day, as I commanded your fathers. ²³ But they didn't listen, neither turn their ear, but made their neck stiff, that they might not hear, and might not receive instruction. ²⁴ It shall happen, if you diligently listen to me, says Yahawah, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the Sabbath day, but to make the Sabbath day holy, to do no work therein; ²⁵ then shall there enter in by the gates of this city kings and princes sitting on the throne of Dawad, riding in chariots and on horses, they, and their princes, the men of Yahawadah, and the inhabitants of Yarawashalam; and this city shall remain forever. ²⁶ They shall come from the cities of Yahawadah, and from the places round about Yarawashalam, and from the land of Banayaman, and from the lowland, and from the hill-country, and from the South, bringing burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meal-offerings, and frankincense, and bringing [sacrifices of] thanksgiving, to the house of Yahawah. ²⁷ But if you will not listen to me to make the Sabbath day holy, and not to bear a burden and enter in at the gates of Yarawashalam on the Sabbath day; then will I kindle a fire in the gates of it, and it shall devour the palaces of Yarawashalam, and it shall not be quenched.

18 The word which came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, saying, ² Arise, and go down to the potter's house, and there I will cause you to hear my words. ³ Then I went down to the potter's house, and, behold, he was making a work on the wheels. ⁴ When the vessel that he made of the clay was marred in the hand of the potter, he made it again another vessel, as seemed good to the potter to make it. ⁵ Then the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ⁶ House of Yasharaal, can't I do with you as this potter? says Yahawah. Behold, as the clay in the potter's hand, so are you in my hand, house of Yasharaal. ⁷ At what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to pluck up and to break down and to destroy it; ⁸ if that nation, concerning which I have spoken, turn from their evil, I will repent of the evil that I thought to do to them. ⁹ At what instant I shall speak concerning a nation, and concerning a kingdom, to build and to plant it; ¹⁰ if they do that which is evil in my sight, that they not obey my voice, then I will repent of the good, with which I said I would benefit them. ¹¹ Now therefore, speak to the men of Yahawadah, and to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, saying, Thus says Yahawah: Behold, I frame evil against you, and devise a device against you: return you now everyone from his evil way, and amend your ways and your doings. ¹² But they say, It is in vain; for we will walk after our own devices, and we will do everyone after the stubbornness of his evil heart. ¹³ Therefore thus says Yahawah: Ask you now among the nations, who has heard such things; the virgin of Yasharaal has done a very horrible thing. ¹⁴ Shall the snow of Labanawan fail from the rock of the field? [or] shall the cold waters that flow down from afar be dried up? ¹⁵ For my people have forgotten me, they have burned incense to false [gods]; and they have been made to stumble in their ways, in the ancient paths, to walk in byways, in a way not built up; ¹⁶ to make their land an astonishment, and a perpetual hissing; everyone who passes thereby shall be astonished, and shake his head. ¹⁷ I will scatter them as with an east wind before the enemy; I will show them the back, and not the face, in the day of their calamity. ¹⁸ Then said they, Come, and let us devise devices against Yaramayahaw; for the law shall not perish from the priest, nor counsel from the wise, nor the word from the prophet. Come, and let us strike him with the tongue, and let us not give heed to any of his words. ¹⁹ Give heed to me, Yahawah, and listen to the voice of those who contend with me. ²⁰ Shall evil be recompensed for good? for they have dug a pit for my soul. Remember how I stood before you to speak good for them, to turn away your wrath from them. ²¹ Therefore deliver up their children to the famine, and give them over to the power of the sword; and let their wives become childless, and widows; and let their men be slain of death, [and] their young men struck of the sword in battle. ²² Let a cry be heard from their houses, when you shall bring a troop suddenly on them; for they have dug a pit to take me, and hid snares for my feet. ²³ Yet, Yahawah, you know all their counsel against me to kill me; don't forgive their iniquity, neither blot out their sin from your sight; but let them be overthrown before you; deal you with them in the time of your anger.

19 Thus said Yahawah, Go, and buy a potter's earthen bottle, and [take] of the elders of the people, and of the elders of the priests; ² and go forth to the valley of the son of Hanam, which is by the entry of the gate Harsith, and proclaim there the words that I shall tell you; ³ and say, Hear you the word of Yahawah, kings of Yahawadah, and inhabitants of Yarawashalam: thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Behold, I will bring evil on this place, which whoever hears, his ears shall tingle. ⁴ Because they have forsaken me, and have estranged this place, and have burned incense in it to other gods, that they didn't know, they and their fathers and the kings of Yahawadah; and have filled this place with the blood of innocents, ⁵ and have built the high places of Bail, to burn their sons in the fire for burnt offerings to Bail; which I didn't command, nor spoke it, neither came it into my mind: ⁶ therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that this place shall no more be called Thapath, nor The valley of the son of Hanam, but The valley of Slaughter. ⁷ I will make void the counsel of Yahawadah and Yarawashalam in this place; and I will cause them to fall by the sword before their enemies, and by the hand of those who seek their life: and their dead bodies will I give to be food for the birds of the sky, and for the animals of the earth. ⁸ I will make this city an astonishment, and a hissing; everyone who passes thereby shall be astonished and hiss because of all the plagues of it. ⁹ I will cause them to eat the flesh of their sons and the flesh of their daughters; and they shall eat everyone the flesh of his friend, in the siege and in the distress, with which their enemies, and those who seek their life, shall distress them. ¹⁰ Then shall you break the bottle in the sight of the men who go with you, ¹¹ and shall tell them, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Even so will I break this people and this city, as one breaks a potter's vessel, that can't be made whole again; and they shall bury in Thapath, until there be no place to bury. ¹² Thus will I do to this place, says Yahawah, and to the inhabitants of it, even making this city as Thapath: ¹³ and the houses of Yarawashalam, and the houses of the kings of Yahawadah, which are defiled, shall be as the place of Thapath, even all the houses on whose roofs they have burned incense to all the host of the sky, and have poured out drink-offerings to other gods. ¹⁴ Then came Yaramayahaw from Thapath, where Yahawah had sent him to prophesy; and he stood in the court of Yahawah's house, and said to all the people: ¹⁵ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Behold, I will bring on this city and on all its towns all the evil that I have pronounced against it; because they have made their neck stiff, that they may not hear my words.

20 Now Pashhur, the son of Amar the priest, who was chief officer in the house of Yahawah, heard Yaramayahaw prophesying these things. ² Then Pashhur struck Yaramayahaw the prophet, and put him in the stocks that were in the upper gate of Banayaman, which was in the house of Yahawah. ³ It happened on the next day, that Pashhur brought forth Yaramayahaw out of the stocks. Then said Yaramayahaw to him, Yahawah has not called your name Pashhur, but Magor-missabib. ⁴ For thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will make you a terror to yourself, and to all your friends; and they shall fall by the sword of their enemies, and your eyes shall see it; and I will give all Yahawadah into the hand of the king of Babal, and he shall carry them captive to Babal, and shall kill them with the sword. ⁵ Moreover I will give all the riches of this city, and all the gains of it, and all the precious things of it, yes, all the treasures of the kings of Yahawadah will I give into the hand of their enemies; and they shall make them a prey, and take them, and carry them to Babal. ⁶ You, Pashhur, and all who dwell in your house shall go into captivity; and you shall come to Babal, and there you shall die, and there shall you be buried, you, and all your friends, to whom you have prophesied falsely. ⁷ Yahawah, you have persuaded me, and I was persuaded; you are stronger than I, and have prevailed: I am become a laughing-stock all the day, every one mocks me. ⁸ For as often as I speak, I cry out; I cry, Violence and destruction! because the word of Yahawah is made a reproach to me, and a derision, all the day. ⁹ If I say, I will not make mention of him, nor speak any more in his name, then there is in my heart as it were a burning fire shut up in my bones, and I am weary with forbearing, and I can't [contain]. ¹⁰ For I have heard the defaming of many, terror on every side. Denounce, and we will denounce him, [say] all my familiar friends, those who watch for my fall; peradventure he will be persuaded, and we shall prevail against him, and we shall take our revenge on him. ¹¹ But Yahawah is with me as an awesome mighty one: therefore my persecutors shall stumble, and they shall not prevail; they shall be utterly put to shame, because they have not dealt wisely, even with an everlasting dishonor which shall never be forgotten. ¹² But, Yahawah Tzabaawath, who tests the righteous, who sees the heart and the mind, let me see your vengeance on them; for to you have I revealed my cause. ¹³ Sing to Yahawah, praise you Yahawah; for he has delivered the soul of the needy from the hand of Awayal-doers. ¹⁴ Cursed be the day in which I was born: don't let the day in which my mother bore me be blessed. ¹⁵ Cursed be the man who brought news to my father, saying, A man-child is born to you; making him very glad. ¹⁶ Let that man be as the cities which Yahawah overthrew, and didn't repent: and let him hear a cry in the morning, and shouting at noontime; ¹⁷ because he didn't kill me from the womb; and so my mother would have been my grave, and her womb always great. ¹⁸ Why came I forth out of the womb to see labor and sorrow, that my days should be consumed with shame?

21 The word which came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, when king Tzadaqayahaw sent to him Pashhur the son of Malakayah, and Tzapanayah the son of Maishayah, the priest, saying, ² Please inquire of Yahawah for us; for Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal makes war against us: peradventure Yahawah will deal with us according to all his wondrous works, that he may go up with us. ³ Then said Yaramayahaw to them, Thus shall you tell Tzadaqayahaw: ⁴ Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Behold, I will turn back the weapons of war that are in your hands, with which you fight against the king of Babal, and against the Kashadayam who besiege you, without the walls; and I will gather them into the midst of this city. ⁵ I myself will fight against you with an outstretched hand and with a strong arm, even in anger, and in wrath, and in great indignation. ⁶ I will strike the inhabitants of this city, both man and animal: they shall die of a great pestilence. ⁷ Afterward, says Yahawah, I will deliver Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, and his servants, and the people, even such as are left in this city from the pestilence, from the sword, and from the famine, into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, and into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those who seek their life: and he shall strike them with the edge of the sword; he shall not spare them, neither have pity, nor have mercy. ⁸ To this people you shall say, Thus says Yahawah: Behold, I set before you the way of life and the way of death.⁹ He who remains in this city shall die by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence; but he who goes out, and passes over to the Kashadayam who besiege you, he shall live, and his life shall be to him for a prey.¹⁰ For I have set my face on this city for evil, and not for good, says Yahawah: it shall be given into the hand of the king of Babal, and he shall burn it with fire.¹¹ Touching the house of the king of Yahawadah, hear you the word of Yahawah:¹² House of Dawad, thus says Yahawah, Execute justice in the morning, and deliver him who is robbed out of the hand of the oppressor, lest my wrath go forth like fire, and burn so that none can quench it, because of the evil of your doings.¹³ Behold, I am against you, O inhabitant of the valley, [and] of the rock of the plain, says Yahawah; you that say, Who shall come down against us? or who shall enter into our habitations?¹⁴ I will punish you according to the fruit of your doings, says Yahawah; and I will kindle a fire in her forest, and it shall devour all that is round about her.

22 Thus said Yahawah: Go down to the house of the king of Yahawadah, and speak there this word,² Say, Hear the word of Yahawah, king of Yahawadah, who sits on the throne of Dawad, you, and your servants, and your people who enter in by these gates.³ Thus says Yahawah: Execute you justice and righteousness, and deliver him who is robbed out of the hand of the oppressor: and do no wrong, do no violence, to the sojourner, the fatherless, nor the widow; neither shed innocent blood in this place.⁴ For if you do this thing indeed, then shall there enter in by the gates of this house kings sitting on the throne of Dawad, riding in chariots and on horses, he, and his servants, and his people.⁵ But if you will not hear these words, I swear by myself, says Yahawah, that this house shall become a desolation.⁶ For thus says Yahawah concerning the house of the king of Yahawadah: You are Galaid to me, [and] the head of Labanawan; [yet] surely I will make you a wilderness, [and] cities which are not inhabited.⁷ I will prepare destroyers against you, everyone with his weapons; and they shall cut down your choice cedars, and cast them into the fire.⁸ Many nations shall pass by this city, and they shall say every man to his neighbor, Why has Yahawah done thus to this great city? Then they shall answer, Because they forsook the covenant of Yahawah their Alahayam, and worshipped other gods, and served them.¹⁰ Don't you weep for the dead, neither bemoan him; but weep sore for him who goes away; for he shall return no more, nor see his native country.¹¹ For thus says Yahawah touching Shalawam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, who reigned instead of Yaashayahaw his father, [and] who went forth out of this place: He shall not return there any more.¹² But in the place where they have led him captive, there shall he die, and he shall see this land no more.¹³ Woe to him who builds his house by unrighteousness, and his chambers by injustice; who uses his neighbor's service without wages, and doesn't give him his hire;¹⁴ who says, I will build me a wide house and spacious chambers, and cuts him out windows; and it is ceiling with cedar, and painted with vermilion.¹⁵ Shall you reign, because you strive to excel in cedar? Didn't your father eat and drink, and do justice and righteousness? then it was well with him.¹⁶ He judged the cause of the poor and needy; then it was well. Wasn't this to know me? says Yahawah.¹⁷ But your eyes and your heart are not but for your covetousness, and for shedding innocent blood, and for oppression, and for violence, to do it.¹⁸ Therefore thus says Yahawah concerning Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah: they shall not lament for him, [saying], Ah my brother! or, Ah sister! They shall not lament for him, [saying] Ah lord! or, Ah his glory!¹⁹ He shall be buried with the burial of a donkey, drawn and cast forth beyond the gates of Yarawashalam.²⁰ Go up to Labanawan, and cry; and lift up your voice in Bashan, and cry from Ibarayam; for all your lovers are destroyed.²¹ I spoke to you in your prosperity; but you said, I will not hear. This has been your manner from your youth, that you didn't obey my voice.²² The wind shall feed all your shepherds, and your lovers shall go into captivity: surely then shall you be ashamed and confounded for all your wickedness.²³ Inhabitant of Labanawan, who makes your nest in the cedars, how greatly to be pitied shall you be when pangs come on you, the pain as of a woman in travail!²⁴ As I live, says Yahawah, though Kanayahaw the son of Yahawayaqayam king of Yahawadah were the signet on my right hand, yet would I pluck you there;²⁵ and I will give you into the hand of those who seek your life, and into the hand of them of whom you are afraid, even into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, and into the hand of the Kashadayam.²⁶ I will cast you out, and your mother who bore you, into another country, where you were not born; and there shall you die.²⁷ But to the land whereunto their soul longs to return, there shall they not return.²⁸ Is this man Kanayahaw a despised broken vessel? is he a vessel in which none delights? why are they cast out, he and his seed, and are cast into the land which they don't know?²⁹ O earth, earth, earth, hear the word of Yahawah.³⁰ Thus says Yahawah, Write you this man childless, a man who shall not prosper in his days; for no more shall a man of his seed prosper, sitting on the throne of Dawad, and ruling in Yahawadah.

23 Woe to the shepherds who destroy and scatter the sheep of my pasture! says Yahawah.² Therefore thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, against the shepherds who feed my people: You have scattered my flock, and driven them away, and have not visited them; behold, I will visit on you the evil of your doings, says Yahawah.³ I will gather the remnant of my flock out of all the countries where I have driven them, and will bring them again to their folds; and they shall be fruitful and multiply.⁴ I will set up shepherds over them, who shall feed them; and they shall fear no more, nor be dismayed, neither shall any be lacking, says Yahawah.⁵ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will raise to Dawad a righteous Branch, and he shall reign as king and deal wisely, and shall execute justice and righteousness in the land.⁶ In his days Yahawadah shall be saved, and Yasharaal shall dwell safely; and this is his name whereby he shall be called: Yahawah our righteousness.⁷ Therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that they shall no more say, As Yahawah lives, who brought up the children of Yasharaal out of the land of Matzarayam;⁸ but, As Yahawah lives, who brought up and who led the seed of the house of Yasharaal out of the north country, and from all the countries where I had driven them. They shall dwell in their own land.⁹ Concerning the prophets. My heart within me is broken, all my bones shake; I am like a drunken man, and like a man whom wine has overcome, because of Yahawah, and because of his holy words.¹⁰ For the land is full of adulterers; for because of swearing the land mourns; the pastures of the wilderness are dried up. Their course is evil, and their might is not right;¹¹ for both prophet and priest are profane; yes, in my house have I found their wickedness, says Yahawah.¹² Therefore their way shall be to them as slippery places in the darkness: they shall be driven on, and fall therein; for I will bring evil on them, even the year of their visitation, says Yahawah.¹³ I have seen folly in the prophets of Shamarawan; they prophesied by Bail, and caused my people Yasharaal to err.¹⁴ In the prophets of Yarawashalam also I have seen a horrible thing: they commit adultery, and walk in lies; and they strengthen the hands of Awayal-doers, so that none does return from his wickedness: they are all of them become to me as Sadam, and the inhabitants of it as Imarah.¹⁵ Therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath concerning the prophets: Behold, I will feed them with wormwood, and make them drink the water of gall; for from the prophets of Yarawashalam is ungodliness gone forth into all the land.¹⁶ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, Don't listen to the words of the prophets who prophesy to you: they teach you vanity; they speak a vision of their own heart, and not out of the mouth of Yahawah.¹⁷ They say continually to those who despise me, Yahawah has said, You shall have peace; and to everyone who walks in the stubbornness of his own heart they say, No evil shall come on you.¹⁸ For who has stood in the council of Yahawah, that he should perceive and hear his word? who has marked my word, and heard it? Behold, the tempest of Yahawah, [even his] wrath, is gone forth, yes, a whirling tempest: it shall burst on the head of the wicked.²⁰ The anger of Yahawah shall not return, until he has executed, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter days you shall understand it perfectly.²¹ I sent not these prophets, yet they ran: I didn't speak to them, yet they prophesied.²² But if they had stood in my council, then had they caused my people to hear my words, and had turned them from their evil way, and from the evil of their doings.²³ Am I a Alahayam at hand, says Yahawah, and not a Alahayam afar off?²⁴ Can any hide himself in secret places so that I shall not see him? says Yahawah. Don't I fill heaven and earth? says Yahawah.²⁵ I have heard what the prophets have said, who prophesy lies in my name, saying, I have dreamed, I have dreamed.²⁶ How long shall this be in the heart of the prophets who prophesy lies, even the prophets of the deceit of their own heart?²⁷ who think to cause my people to forget my name by their dreams which they tell every man to his neighbor, as their fathers forgot my name for Bail.²⁸ The prophet who has a dream, let him tell a dream; and he who has my word, let him speak my word faithfully. What is the straw to the wheat? says Yahawah.²⁹ Isn't my word like fire? says Yahawah; and like a hammer that breaks the rock in pieces?³⁰ Therefore, behold, I am against the prophets, says Yahawah, who steal my words everyone from his neighbor.³¹ Behold, I am against the prophets, says Yahawah, who use their tongues, and say, He says.³² Behold, I am against those who prophesy lying dreams, says Yahawah, and do tell them, and cause my people to err by their lies, and by their vain boasting: yet I didn't send them, nor commanded them; neither do they profit this people at all, says Yahawah.³³ When this people, or the prophet, or a priest, shall ask you, saying, What is the burden of Yahawah? then shall you tell them, What burden! I will cast you off, says Yahawah.³⁴ As for the prophet, and the priest, and the people, who shall say, The burden of Yahawah, I will even punish that man and his house.³⁵ Thus shall you say everyone to his neighbor, and everyone to his brother, What has Yahawah answered? and, What has Yahawah spoken?³⁶ The burden of Yahawah shall you mention no more: for every man's own word shall be his burden; for you have perverted the words of the living Alahayam, of Yahawah Tzabaawath our Alahayam.³⁷ Thus shall you say to the prophet, What has Yahawah answered you? and, What has Yahawah spoken?³⁸ But if you say, The burden of Yahawah; therefore thus says Yahawah: Because you say this word, The burden of Yahawah, and I have sent to you, saying, You shall not say, The burden of Yahawah;³⁹ therefore, behold, I will utterly forget you, and I will cast you off, and the city that I gave to you and to your fathers, away from my presence:⁴⁰ and I will bring an everlasting reproach on you, and a perpetual shame, which shall not be forgotten.

24 Yahawah showed me, and, behold, two baskets of figs set before the temple of Yahawah, after that Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal had carried away captive Yakanayah the son of Yahawayaqayam, king of Yahawadah, and the princes of Yahawadah, with the craftsmen and smiths, from Yarawashalam, and had brought them to Babal.² One basket had very good figs, like the figs that are first-ripe; and the other basket had very bad figs, which could not be eaten, they were so bad.³ Then said Yahawah to me, What see you, Yaramayahaw? I said, Figs; the good figs, very good; and the bad, very bad, that can't be eaten, they are so bad.⁴ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,⁵ Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Like these good figs, so will I regard the captives of Yahawadah, whom I have sent out of this place into the land of the Kashadayam, for good.⁶ For I will set my eyes on them for good, and I will bring them again to this land: and I will build them, and not pull them down; and I will plant them, and not pluck them up.⁷ I will give them a heart to know me, that I am Yahawah: and they shall be my people, and I will be their Alahayam; for they shall return to me with their whole heart.⁸ As the bad figs, which can't be eaten, they are so bad, surely thus says Yahawah, So will I give up Tzadaqayahaw the king of Yahawadah, and his princes, and the residue of Yarawashalam, who remain in this land, and those who dwell in the land of Matzarayam,⁹ I will even give them up to be tossed back and forth among all the kingdoms of the earth for evil; to be a reproach and a proverb, a taunt and a curse, in all places where I shall drive them.¹⁰ I will send the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, among them, until they be consumed from off the land that I gave to them and to their fathers.

25 The word that came to Yaramayahaw concerning all the people of Yahawadah, in the fourth year of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah (the same was the first year of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal),² which Yaramayahaw the prophet spoke to all the people of Yahawadah, and to all the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, saying:³ From the thirteenth year of Yaashayahaw the son of Amawan, king of Yahawadah, even to this day, these twenty-three years, the word of Yahawah has come to me, and I have spoken to you, rising up early and speaking; but you have not listened.⁴ Yahawah has sent to you all his servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, (but you have not listened, nor inclined your ear to hear,) saying, Return you now everyone from his evil way, and from the evil of your doings, and dwell in the land that Yahawah has given to you and to your fathers, from of old and even forevermore;⁵ and don't go after other gods to serve them or worship them, and don't provoke me to anger with the work of your hands; and I will do you no harm.⁶ Yet you have not listened to me, says Yahawah; that you may provoke me to anger with the work of your hands to your own hurt.⁷ Therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Because you have not heard my words,⁸ behold, I will send and take all the families of the north, says Yahawah, and [I will send] to Nabawakadaraatzar the king of Babal, my servant, and will bring them against this land, and against the inhabitants of it, and against all these nations round about; and I will utterly destroy them, and make them an astonishment, and a hissing, and perpetual desolations.¹⁰ Moreover I will take from them the voice of mirth and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the sound of the millstones, and the light of the lamp.¹¹ This whole land shall be a desolation, and an astonishment; and these nations shall serve the king of Babal seventy years.¹² It shall happen, when seventy years are accomplished, that I will punish the king of Babal, and that nation, says Yahawah, for their iniquity, and the land of the Kashadayam; and I will make it desolate forever.¹³ I will bring on that land all my words which I have pronounced against it, even all that is written in this book, which Yaramayahaw has prophesied against all the nations.¹⁴ For many nations and great kings shall make bondservants of them, even of them; and I will recompense them according to their deeds, and according to the work of their hands.¹⁵ For thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, to me: take this cup of the wine of wrath at my hand, and cause all the nations, to whom I send you, to drink it.¹⁶ They shall drink, and reel back and forth, and be mad, because of the sword that I will send among them.¹⁷ Then took I the cup at Yahawah's hand, and made all the nations to drink, to whom Yahawah had sent me:¹⁸ [to wit], Yarawashalam, and the cities of Yahawadah, and the kings of it, and the princes of it, to make them a desolation, an astonishment, a hissing, and a curse, as it is this day;¹⁹ Paraih king of Matzarayam, and his servants, and his princes, and all his people;²⁰ and all the mingled people, and all the kings of the land of the Uz, and all the kings of the Palashath, and Ashaqalawan, and Izah, and Iqrawan, and the remnant of Ashadawad;²¹ Adawam, and Mawaab, and the children of Imawan;²² and all the kings of Tzar, and all the kings of Tzayadawan, and the kings of the isle which is beyond the sea;²³ Dadan, and Thayamaa, and Bawaz, and all who have the corners [of their hair] cut off;²⁴ and all the kings of Irab, and all the kings of the mingled people who dwell in the wilderness;²⁵ and all the kings of Zamaray, and all the kings of Iyalam, and all the kings of the Maday;²⁶ and all the kings of the north, far and near, one with another; and all the kingdoms of the world, which are on the surface of the earth: and the king of Shashak shall drink after them.²⁷ You shall tell them, Thus says

Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Drink you, and be drunken, and spew, and fall, and rise no more, because of the sword which I will send among you.²⁸ It shall be, if they refuse to take the cup at your hand to drink, then shall you tell them, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: You shall surely drink.²⁹ For, behold, I begin to work evil at the city which is called by my name; and should you be utterly unpunished? You shall not be unpunished; for I will call for a sword on all the inhabitants of the earth, says Yahawah Tzabaawath.³⁰ Therefore prophesy you against them all these words, and tell them, Yahawah will roar from on high, and utter his voice from his holy habitation; he will mightily roar against his fold; he will give a shout, as those who tread [the grapes], against all the inhabitants of the earth.³¹ A noise shall come even to the end of the earth; for Yahawah has a controversy with the nations; he will enter into judgment with all flesh: as for the wicked, he will give them to the sword, says Yahawah.³² Thus says Yahawah of hosts, Behold, evil shall go forth from nation to nation, and a great tempest shall be raised up from the uttermost parts of the earth.³³ The slain of Yahawah shall be at that day from one end of the earth even to the other end of the earth: they shall not be lamented, neither gathered, nor buried; they shall be dung on the surface of the ground.³⁴ Wail, you shepherds, and cry; and wallow [in ashes], you principal of the flock; for the days of your slaughter and of your dispersions are fully come, and you shall fall like a goodly vessel.³⁵ The shepherds shall have no way to flee, nor the principal of the flock to escape.³⁶ A voice of the cry of the shepherds, and the wailing of the principal of the flock! for Yahawah lays waste their pasture.³⁷ The peaceable folds are brought to silence because of the fierce anger of Yahawah.³⁸ He has left his covert, as the lion; for their land is become an astonishment because of the fierceness of the oppressing [sword], and because of his fierce anger.

26 In the beginning of the reign of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, came this word from Yahawah, saying,² Thus says Yahawah: Stand in the court of Yahawah's house, and speak to all the cities of Yahawadah, which come to worship in Yahawah's house, all the words that I command you to speak to them; don't diminish a word.³ It may be they will listen, and turn every man from his evil way; that I may repent me of the evil which I purpose to do to them because of the evil of their doings.⁴ You shall tell them, Thus says Yahawah: If you will not listen to me, to walk in my law, which I have set before you,⁵ to listen to the words of my servants the prophets, whom I send to you, even rising up early and sending them, but you have not listened;⁶ then will I make this house like Shalah, and will make this city a curse to all the nations of the earth.⁷ The priests and the prophets and all the people heard Yaramayahaw speaking these words in the house of Yahawah.⁸ It happened, when Yaramayahaw had made an end of speaking all that Yahawah had commanded him to speak to all the people, that the priests and the prophets and all the people laid hold on him, saying, You shall surely die.⁹ Why have you prophesied in the name of Yahawah, saying, This house shall be like Shalah, and this city shall be desolate, without inhabitant? All the people were gathered to Yaramayahaw in the house of Yahawah.¹⁰ When the princes of Yahawadah heard these things, they came up from the king's house to the house of Yahawah; and they sat in the entry of the new gate of Yahawah's [house].¹¹ Then spoke the priests and the prophets to the princes and to all the people, saying, This man is worthy of death; for he has prophesied against this city, as you have heard with your ears.¹² Then spoke Yaramayahaw to all the princes and to all the people, saying, Yahawah sent me to prophesy against this house and against this city all the words that you have heard.¹³ Now therefore amend your ways and your doings, and obey the voice of Yahawah your Alahayam; and Yahawah will repent him of the evil that he has pronounced against you.¹⁴ But as for me, behold, I am in your hand: do with me as is good and right in your eyes.¹⁵ Only know for certain that, if you put me to death, you will bring innocent blood on yourselves, and on this city, and on the inhabitants of it; for of a truth Yahawah has sent me to you to speak all these words in your ears.¹⁶ Then said the princes and all the people to the priests and to the prophets: This man is not worthy of death; for he has spoken to us in the name of Yahawah our Alahayam.¹⁷ Then rose up certain of the elders of the land, and spoke to all the assembly of the people, saying,¹⁸ Mayakah the Morashtite prophesied in the days of Chazaqayahaw king of Yahawadah; and he spoke to all the people of Yahawadah, saying, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Tzayawan shall be plowed as a field, and Yarawashalam shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of a forest.¹⁹ Did Chazaqayahaw king of Yahawadah and all Yahawadah put him to death? Didn't he fear Yahawah, and entreat the favor of Yahawah, and Yahawah repented him of the evil which he had pronounced against them? Thus should we commit great evil against our own souls.²⁰ There was also a man who prophesied in the name of Yahawah, Awarayah the son of Shamaiah of Kiriath-Yairayam; and he prophesied against this city and against this land according to all the words of Yaramayahaw:²¹ and when Yahawayaqayam the king, with all his mighty-men, and all the princes, heard his words, the king sought to put him to death; but when Awarayah heard it, he was afraid, and fled, and went into Matzarayam:²² and Yahawayaqayam the king sent men into Matzarayam, [namely], Alanathan the son of Ikabawar, and certain men with him, into Matzarayam;²³ and they fetched forth Awarayah out of Matzarayam, and brought him to Yahawayaqayam the king, who killed him with the sword, and cast his dead body into the graves of the common people.²⁴ But the hand of Achayaqam the son of Shaphan was with Yaramayahaw, that they should not give him into the hand of the people to put him to death.

27 In the beginning of the reign of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, came this word to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, saying,² Thus says Yahawah to me: Make you bonds and bars, and put them on your neck;³ and send them to the king of Adawam, and to the king of Mawaab, and to the king of the children of Imawan, and to the king of Tzar, and to the king of Tzayadawan, by the hand of the messengers who come to Yarawashalam to Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah;⁴ and give them a charge to their masters, saying, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Thus shall you tell your masters:⁵ I have made the earth, the men and the animals that are on the surface of the earth, by my great power and by my outstretched arm; and I give it to whom it seems right to me.⁶ Now have I given all these lands into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar the king of Babal, my servant; and the animals of the field also have I given him to serve him.⁷ All the nations shall serve him, and his son, and his son's son, until the time of his own land come: and then many nations and great kings shall make him their bondservant.⁸ It shall happen, that the nation and the kingdom which will not serve the same Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, and that will not put their neck under the yoke of the king of Babal, that nation will I punish, says Yahawah, with the sword, and with the famine, and with the pestilence, until I have consumed them by his hand.⁹ But as for you, don't you listen to your prophets, nor to your diviners, nor to your dreams, nor to your soothsayers, nor to your sorcerers, who speak to you, saying, You shall not serve the king of Babal:¹⁰ for they prophesy a lie to you, to remove you far from your land, and that I should drive you out, and you should perish.¹¹ But the nation that shall bring their neck under the yoke of the king of Babal, and serve him, that [nation] will I let remain in their own land, says Yahawah; and they shall till it, and dwell therein.¹² I spoke to Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah according to all these words, saying, Bring your necks under the yoke of the king of Babal, and serve him and his people, and live.¹³ Why will you die, you and your people, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, as Yahawah has spoken concerning the nation that will not serve the king of Babal?¹⁴ Don't listen to the words of the prophets who speak to you, saying, You shall not serve the king of Babal; for they prophesy a lie to you.¹⁵ For I have not sent them, says Yahawah, but they prophesy falsely in my name; that I may drive you out, and that you may perish, you, and the prophets who prophesy to you.¹⁶ Also I spoke to the priests and to all this people, saying, Thus says Yahawah: Don't listen to the words of your prophets who prophesy to you, saying, Behold, the vessels of Yahawah's house shall now shortly be brought again from Babal; for they prophesy a lie to you.¹⁷ Don't listen to them; serve the king of Babal, and live: why should this city become a desolation?¹⁸ But if they be prophets, and if the word of Yahawah be with them, let them now make intercession to Yahawah Tzabaawath, that the vessels which are left in the house of Yahawah, and in the house of the king of Yahawadah, and at Yarawashalam, don't go to Babal.¹⁹ For thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath concerning the pillars, and concerning the sea, and concerning the bases, and concerning the residue of the vessels that are left in this city,²⁰ which Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal didn't take, when he carried away captive Yakanayah the son of Yahawayaqayam, king of Yahawadah, from Yarawashalam to Babal, and all the nobles of Yahawadah and Yarawashalam;²¹ yes, thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, concerning the vessels that are left in the house of Yahawah, and in the house of the king of Yahawadah, and at Yarawashalam:²² They shall be carried to Babal, and there shall they be, until the day that I visit them, says Yahawah; then will I bring them up, and restore them to this place.

28 It happened the same year, in the beginning of the reign of Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, in the fourth year, in the fifth month, that Chananayah the son of Izawar, the prophet, who was of Gabaiwan, spoke to me in the house of Yahawah, in the presence of the priests and of all the people, saying,² Thus speaks Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, saying, I have broken the yoke of the king of Babal.³ Within two full years will I bring again into this place all the vessels of Yahawah's house, that Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal took away from this place, and carried to Babal:⁴ and I will bring again to this place Yakanayah the son of Yahawayaqayam, king of Yahawadah, with all the captives of Yahawadah, who went to Babal, says Yahawah; for I will break the yoke of the king of Babal.⁵ Then the prophet Yaramayahaw said to the prophet Chananayah in the presence of the priests, and in the presence of all the people who stood in the house of Yahawah,⁶ even the prophet Yaramayahaw said, Amen: Yahawah do so; Yahawah perform your words which you have prophesied, to bring again the vessels of Yahawah's house, and all them of the captivity, from Babal to this place.⁷ Nevertheless hear you now this word that I speak in your ears, and in the ears of all the people:⁸ The prophets who have been before me and before you of old prophesied against many countries, and against great kingdoms, of war, and of evil, and of pestilence.⁹ The prophet who prophesies of peace, when the word of the prophet shall happen, then shall the prophet be known, that Yahawah has truly sent him.¹⁰ Then Chananayah the prophet took the bar from off the prophet Yaramayahaw's neck, and broke it.¹¹ Chananayah spoke in the presence of all the people, saying, Thus says Yahawah: Even so will I break the yoke of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal within two full years from off the neck of all the nations. The prophet Yaramayahaw went his way.¹² Then the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw, after that Chananayah the prophet had broken the bar from off the neck of the prophet Yaramayahaw, saying,¹³ Go, and tell Chananayah, saying, Thus says Yahawah: You have broken the bars of wood; but you have made in their place bars of iron.¹⁴ For thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: I have put a yoke of iron on the neck of all these nations, that they may serve Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal; and they shall serve him: and I have given him the animals of the field also.¹⁵ Then said the prophet Yaramayahaw to Chananayah the prophet, Hear now, Chananayah: Yahawah has not sent you; but you make this people to trust in a lie.¹⁶ Therefore thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will send you away from off the surface of the earth: this year you shall die, because you have spoken rebellion against Yahawah.¹⁷ So Chananayah the prophet died the same year in the seventh month.

29 Now these are the words of the letter that Yaramayahaw the prophet sent from Yarawashalam to the residue of the elders of the captivity, and to the priests, and to the prophets, and to all the people, whom Nabawakadaraatzar had carried away captive from Yarawashalam to Babal,² (after that Yakanayah the king, and the queen-mother, and the eunuchs, [and] the princes of Yahawadah and Yarawashalam, and the craftsmen, and the smiths, were departed from Yarawashalam,) ³ by the hand of Alaishah the son of Shaphan, and Gamarayahaw the son of Hilkiyah, (whom Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah sent to Babal to Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal,) saying,⁴ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, to all the captivity, whom I have caused to be carried away captive from Yarawashalam to Babal:⁵ Build you houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them.⁶ Take wives, and father sons and daughters; and take wives for your sons, and give your daughters to husbands, that they may bear sons and daughters; and multiply you there, and don't be diminished.⁷ Seek the peace of the city where I have caused you to be carried away captive, and pray to Yahawah for it; for in the peace of it shall you have peace.⁸ For thus says Yahawah of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Don't let your prophets who are in the midst of you, and your diviners, deceive you; neither listen you to your dreams which you cause to be dreamed.⁹ For they prophesy falsely to you in my name: I have not sent them, says Yahawah.¹⁰ For thus says Yahawah, After seventy years are accomplished for Babal, I will visit you, and perform my good word toward you, in causing you to return to this place.¹¹ For I know the thoughts that I think toward you, says Yahawah, thoughts of peace, and not of evil, to give you hope in your latter end.¹² You shall call on me, and you shall go and pray to me, and I will listen to you.¹³ You shall seek me, and find me, when you shall search for me with all your heart.¹⁴ I will be found of you, says Yahawah, and I will turn again your captivity, and I will gather you from all the nations, and from all the places whither I have driven you, says Yahawah; and I will bring you again to the place whence I caused you to be carried away captive.¹⁵ Because you have said, Yahawah has raised us up prophets in Babal;¹⁶ thus says Yahawah concerning the king who sits on the throne of Dawad, and concerning all the people who dwell in this city, your brothers who haven't gone forth with you into captivity;¹⁷ thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath; Behold, I will send on them the sword, the famine, and the pestilence, and will make them like vile figs, that can't be eaten, they are so bad.¹⁸ I will pursue after them with the sword, with the famine, and with the pestilence, and will deliver them to be tossed back and forth among all the kingdoms of the earth, to be an object of horror, and an astonishment, and a hissing, and a reproach, among all the nations where I have driven them;¹⁹ because they have not listened to my words, says Yahawah, with which I sent to them my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them; but you would not hear, says Yahawah.²⁰ Hear you therefore the word of Yahawah, all you of the captivity, whom I have sent away from Yarawashalam to Babal.²¹ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, concerning Achaab the son of Qawalayah, and concerning Tzadaqayahaw the son of Maishayah, who prophesy a lie to you in my name: Behold, I will deliver them into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal; and he shall kill them before your eyes;²² and of them shall be taken up a curse by all the captives of Yahawadah who are in Babal, saying, Yahawah make you like Tzadaqayahaw and like Achaab, whom the king of Babal roasted in the fire;²³ because they have worked folly in Yasharaal, and have committed adultery with their neighbors' wives, and have spoken words in my name falsely, which I didn't command them; and I am he who knows, and am witness, says Yahawah.²⁴ Concerning Shamaiah the Nehelamite you shall speak, saying,²⁵ Thus speaks Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, saying, Because you have sent letters in your own name to all the people who are at Yarawashalam, and to Tzapanayah the son of Maishayah, the priest, and to all the priests, saying,²⁶ Yahawah has made you priest in the place of Yahawayadai the priest, that there may be officers in the house of Yahawah, for every man who is mad, and makes himself a prophet, that you should put him in the stocks and in shackles.²⁷ Now therefore, why have you not rebuked Yaramayahaw of Inathawath, who makes himself a prophet to you,²⁸ because he has sent to us in Babal, saying, [The captivity] is long: build you houses, and dwell in them; and plant gardens, and eat the fruit of them?²⁹ Tzapanayah the priest read this letter in the ears of Yaramayahaw the prophet.³⁰ Then came the word of Yahawah to Yaramayahaw, saying,³¹ Send to all them of the captivity, saying, Thus says Yahawah concerning Shamaiah the Nehelamite: Because Shamaiah has prophesied to you, and I didn't send him, and he has caused you to trust in a lie;³² therefore thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will punish Shamaiah the Nehelamite, and his seed; he shall not have a man to dwell among this people, neither shall he see the good that I will do to my people, says Yahawah, because he has spoken rebellion against Yahawah.

30 The word that came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, saying,² Thus speaks Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, saying, Write you all the words that I have spoken to you in a book.³ For, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will turn again the captivity of my people Yasharaal and Yahawadah, says Yahawah; and I will cause them to return to the land that I gave to their fathers, and they shall possess it.⁴ These are the words that Yahawah spoke concerning Yasharaal and concerning Yahawadah.⁵ For thus says Yahawah: We have heard a voice of trembling, of fear, and not of peace.⁶ Ask you now, and see whether a man does travail with child: why do I see every man with his hands on his loins, as a woman in travail, and all faces are turned into paleness?⁷ Alas! for that day is great, so that none is like it: it is even the time of Yaiqab's trouble; but he shall be saved out of it.⁸ It shall come to pass in that day, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, that I will break his yoke from off your neck, and will burst your bonds; and strangers shall no more make him their bondservant;⁹ but they shall serve Yahawah their Alahayam, and Dawad their king, whom I will raise up to them.¹⁰ Therefore don't you be afraid, O Yaiqab my servant, says Yahawah; neither be dismayed, Yasharaal: for, behold, I will save you from afar, and your seed from the land of their captivity; and Yaiqab shall return, and shall be quiet and at ease, and none shall make him afraid.¹¹ For I am with you, says Yahawah, to save you: for I will make a full end of all the nations where I have scattered you, but I will not make a full end of you; but I will correct you in measure, and will in no way leave you unpunished.¹² For thus says Yahawah, Your hurt is incurable, and your wound grievous.¹³ There is none to plead your cause, that you may be bound up: you have no healing medicines.¹⁴ All your lovers have forgotten you; they don't seek you: for I have wounded you with the wound of an enemy, with the chastisement of a cruel one, for the greatness of your iniquity, because your sins were increased.¹⁵ Why cry you for your hurt? your pain is incurable: for the greatness of your iniquity, because your sins were increased, I have done these things to you.¹⁶ Therefore all those who devour you shall be devoured; and all your adversaries, everyone of them, shall go into captivity; and those who despoil you shall be a spoil, and all who prey on you will I give for a prey.¹⁷ For I will restore health to you, and I will heal you of your wounds, says Yahawah; because they have called you an outcast, [saying], It is Tzayawan, whom no man seeks after.¹⁸ Thus says Yahawah: Behold, I will turn again the captivity of Yaiqab's tents, and have compassion on his dwelling-places; and the city shall be built on its own hill, and the palace shall be inhabited after its own manner.¹⁹ Out of them shall proceed thanksgiving and the voice of those who make merry: and I will multiply them, and they shall not be few; I will also glorify them, and they shall not be small.²⁰ Their children also shall be as before, and their congregation shall be established before me; and I will punish all who oppress them.²¹ Their prince shall be of themselves, and their ruler shall proceed from the midst of them; and I will cause him to draw near, and he shall approach to me: for who is he who has had boldness to approach to me? says Yahawah.

²² You shall be my people, and I will be your Alahayam.²³ Behold, the tempest of Yahawah, [even his] wrath, is gone forth, a sweeping tempest: it shall burst on the head of the wicked.²⁴ The fierce anger of Yahawah shall not return, until he has executed, and until he have performed the intents of his heart: in the latter days you shall understand it.

31 At that time, says Yahawah, will I be the Alahayam of all the families of Yasharaal, and they shall be my people.² Thus says Yahawah, The people who were left of the sword found favor in the wilderness; even Yasharaal, when I went to cause him to rest.³ Yahawah appeared of old to me, [saying], Yes, I have loved you with an everlasting love: therefore with lovingkindness have I drawn you.⁴ Again will I build you, and you shall be built, O virgin of Yasharaal: again shall you be adorned with your tambourines, and shall go forth in the dances of those who make merry.⁵ Again shall you plant vineyards on the mountains of Shamarawan; the planters shall plant, and shall enjoy [the fruit of it].⁶ For there shall be a day, that the watchmen on the hills of Aparayam shall cry, Arise you, and let us go up to Tzayawan to Yahawah our Alahayam.⁷ For thus says Yahawah, Sing with gladness for Yaiqab, and shout for the chief of the nations: publish you, praise you, and say, Yahawah, save your people, the remnant of Yasharaal.⁸ Behold, I will bring them from the north country, and gather them from the uttermost parts of the earth, [and] with them the blind and the lame, the woman with child and her who travails with child together: a great company shall they return here.⁹ They shall come with weeping; and with petitions will I lead them: I will cause them to walk by rivers of waters, in a straight way in which they shall not stumble; for I am a father to Yasharaal, and Aparayam is my firstborn.¹⁰ Hear the word of Yahawah, you nations, and declare it in the isles afar off; and say, He who scattered Yasharaal will gather him, and keep him, as shepherd does his flock.¹¹ For Yahawah has ransomed Yaiqab, and redeemed him from the hand of him who was stronger than he.¹² They shall come and sing in the height of Tzayawan, and shall flow to the goodness of Yahawah, to the grain, and to the new wine, and to the oil, and to the young of the flock and of the herd: and their soul shall be as a watered garden; and they shall not sorrow any more at all.¹³ Then shall the virgin rejoice in the dance, and the young men and the old together; for I will turn their mourning into joy, and will comfort them, and make them rejoice from their sorrow.¹⁴ I will satiate the soul of the priests with fatness, and my people shall be satisfied with my goodness, says Yahawah.¹⁵ Thus says Yahawah: A voice is heard in Ramah, lamentation, and bitter weeping, Rachal weeping for her children; she refuses to be comforted for her children, because they are no more.¹⁶ Thus says Yahawah: Refrain your voice from weeping, and your eyes from tears; for your work shall be rewarded, says Yahawah; and they shall come again from the land of the enemy.¹⁷ There is hope for your latter end, says Yahawah; and [your] children shall come again to their own border.¹⁸ I have surely heard Aparayam bemoaning himself [thus], You have chastised me, and I was chastised, as a calf unaccustomed [to the yoke]: turn you me, and I shall be turned; for you are Yahawah my Alahayam.¹⁹ Surely after that I was turned, I repented; and after that I was instructed, I struck on my thigh: I was ashamed, yes, even confounded, because I did bear the reproach of my youth.²⁰ Is Aparayam my dear son? is he a darling child? for as often as I speak against him, I do earnestly remember him still: therefore my heart yearns for him; I will surely have mercy on him, says Yahawah.²¹ Set up road signs, make guideposts; set your heart toward the highway, even the way by which you went: turn again, virgin of Yasharaal, turn again to these your cities.²² How long will you go here and there, you backsliding daughter? for Yahawah has created a new thing in the earth: a woman shall encompass a man.²³ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Yet again shall they use this speech in the land of Yahawadah and in the cities of it, when I shall bring again their captivity: Yahawah bless you, habitation of righteousness, mountain of holiness.²⁴ Yahawadah and all the cities of it shall dwell therein together, the farmers, and those who go about with flocks.²⁵ For I have satiated the weary soul, and every sorrowful soul have I replenished.²⁶ On this I awakened, and saw; and my sleep was sweet to me.²⁷ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will sow the house of Yasharaal and the house of Yahawadah with the seed of man, and with the seed of animal.²⁸ It shall happen that, like as I have watched over them to pluck up and to break down and to overthrow and to destroy and to afflict, so will I watch over them to build and to plant, says Yahawah.²⁹ In those days they shall say no more, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge.³⁰ But everyone shall die for his own iniquity: every man who eats the sour grapes, his teeth shall be set on edge.³¹ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Yasharaal, and with the house of Yahawadah:³² not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers in the day that I took them by the hand to bring them out of the land of Matzarayam; which my covenant they broke, although I was a husband to them, says Yahawah.³³ But this is the covenant that I will make with the house of Yasharaal after those days, says Yahawah: I will put my law in their inward parts, and in their heart will I write it; and I will be their Alahayam, and they shall be my people:³⁴ and they shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his brother, saying, Know Yahawah; for they shall all know me, from the least of them to the greatest of them, says Yahawah: for I will forgive their iniquity, and their sin will I remember no more.³⁵ Thus says Yahawah, who gives the sun for a light by day, and the ordinances of the moon and of the stars for a light by night, who stirs up the sea, so that the waves of it roar; Yahawah of hosts is his name:³⁶ If these ordinances depart from before me, says Yahawah, then the seed of Yasharaal also shall cease from being a nation before me forever.³⁷ Thus says Yahawah: If heaven above can be measured, and the foundations of the earth searched out beneath, then will I also cast off all the seed of Yasharaal for all that they have done, says Yahawah.³⁸ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that the city shall be built to Yahawah from the tower of Hananel to the gate of the corner.³⁹ The measuring line shall go out further straight onward to the hill Garab, and shall turn about to Gaith.⁴⁰ The whole valley of the dead bodies and of the ashes, and all the fields to the brook Qadarawan, to the corner of the horse gate toward the east, shall be holy to Yahawah; it shall not be plucked up, nor thrown down any more forever.

32 The word that came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah in the tenth year of Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, which was the eighteenth year of Nabawakadaraatzar.² Now at that time the king of Babal's army was besieging Yarawashalam; and Yaramayahaw the prophet was shut up in the court of the guard, which was in the king of Yahawadah's house.³ For Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah had shut him up, saying, Why do you prophesy, and say, Thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babal, and he shall take it;⁴ and Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah shall not escape out of the hand of the Kashadayam, but shall surely be delivered into the hand of the king of Babal, and shall speak with him mouth to mouth, and his eyes shall see his eyes;⁵ and he shall bring Tzadaqayahaw to Babal, and there shall he be until I visit him, says Yahawah: though you fight with the Kashadayam, you shall not prosper?⁶ Yaramayahaw said, The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,⁷ Behold, Hanamel the son of Shalawam your uncle shall come to you, saying, Buy you my field that is in Inathawath; for the right of redemption is your to buy it.⁸ So Hanamel my uncle's son came to me in the court of the guard according to the word of Yahawah, and said to me, Please buy my field that is in Inathawath, which is in the land of Banayaman; for the right of inheritance is your, and the redemption is your; buy it for yourself. Then I knew that this was the word of Yahawah.⁹ I bought the field that was in Inathawath of Hanamel my uncle's son, and weighed him the money, even seventeen shekels of silver.¹⁰ I subscribed the deed, and sealed it, and called witnesses, and weighed him the money in the balances.¹¹ So I took the deed of the purchase, both that which was sealed, [according to] the law and custom, and that which was open:¹² and I delivered the deed of the purchase to Barawak the son of Narayah, the son of Mahseiah, in the presence of Hanamel my uncle's [son], and in the presence of the witnesses who subscribed the deed of the purchase, before all the Jews who sat in the court of the guard.¹³ I charged Barawak before them, saying,¹⁴ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Take these deeds, this deed of the purchase which is sealed, and this deed which is open, and put them in an earthen vessel; that they may continue many days.¹⁵ For thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Houses and fields and vineyards shall yet again be bought in this land.¹⁶ Now after I had delivered the deed of the purchase to Barawak the son of Narayah, I prayed to Yahawah, saying,¹⁷ Ah Adanay Yahawah! behold, you have made the heavens and the earth by your great power and by your outstretched arm; there is nothing too hard for you,¹⁸ who show lovingkindness to thousands, and recompense the iniquity of the fathers into the bosom of their children after them; the great, the mighty Alahayam, Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name;¹⁹ great in counsel, and mighty in work; whose eyes are open on all the ways of the sons of men, to give everyone according to his ways, and according to the fruit of his doings:²⁰ who did set signs and wonders in the land of Matzarayam, even to this day, both in Yasharaal and among [other] men; and mad you a name, as at this day;²¹ and did bring forth your people Yasharaal out of the land of Matzarayam with signs, and with wonders, and with a strong hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with great terror;²² and gave them this land, which you did swear to their fathers to give them, a land flowing with milk and honey;²³ and they came in, and possessed it, but they didn't obey your voice, neither walked in your law; they have done nothing of all that you commanded them to do: therefore you have caused all this evil to come on them.²⁴ Behold, the mounds, they are come to the city to take it; and the city is given into the hand of the Kashadayam who fight against it, because of the sword, and of the famine, and of the pestilence; and what you have spoken is happen; and, behold, you see it.²⁵ You have said to me, Adanay Yahawah, Buy you the field for money, and call witnesses; whereas the city is given into the hand of the Kashadayam.²⁶ Then came the word of Yahawah to Yaramayahaw, saying,²⁷ Behold, I am Yahawah, the Alahayam of all flesh: is there anything too hard for me?²⁸ Therefore thus says Yahawah: Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the Kashadayam, and into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, and he shall take it:²⁹ and the Kashadayam, who fight against this city, shall come and set this city on fire, and burn it, with the houses, on whose roofs they have offered incense to Bail, and poured out drink-offerings to other gods, to provoke me to anger.³⁰ For the children of Yasharaal and the children of Yahawadah have done only that which was evil in my sight from their youth; for the children of Yasharaal have only provoked me to anger with the work of their hands, says Yahawah.³¹ For this city has been to me a provocation of my anger and of my wrath from the day that they built it even to this day; that I should remove it from before my face,³² because of all the evil of the children of Yasharaal and of the children of Yahawadah, which they have done to provoke me to anger, they, their kings, their princes, their priests, and their prophets, and the men of Yahawadah, and the inhabitants of Yarawashalam.³³ They have turned to me the back, and not the face: and though I taught them, rising up early and teaching them, yet they have not listened to receive instruction.³⁴ But they set their abominations in the house which is called by my name, to defile it.³⁵ They built the high places of Bail, which are in the valley of the son of Hanam, to cause their sons and their daughters to pass through [the fire] to Malak; which I didn't command them, neither did it come into my mind, that they should do this abomination, to cause Yahawadah to sin.³⁶ Now therefore thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, concerning this city, whereof you say, It is given into the hand of the king of Babal by the sword, and by the famine, and by the pestilence: ³⁷ Behold, I will gather them out of all the countries, where I have driven them in my anger, and in my wrath, and in great indignation; and I will bring them again to this place, and I will cause them to dwell safely: ³⁸ and they shall be my people, and I will be their Alahayam: ³⁹ and I will give them one heart and one way, that they may fear me forever, for the good of them, and of their children after them: ⁴⁰ and I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will not turn away from following them, to do them good; and I will put my fear in their hearts, that they may not depart from me. ⁴¹ Yes, I will rejoice over them to do them good, and I will plant them in this land assuredly with my whole heart and with my whole soul. ⁴² For thus says Yahawah: Like as I have brought all this great evil on this people, so will I bring on them all the good that I have promised them. ⁴³ Fields shall be bought in this land, whereof you say, It is desolate, without man or animal; it is given into the hand of the Kashadayam. ⁴⁴ Men shall buy fields for money, and subscribe the deeds, and seal them, and call witnesses, in the land of Banayaman, and in the places about Yarawashalam, and in the cities of Yahawadah, and in the cities of the hill-country, and in the cities of the lowland, and in the cities of the South: for I will cause their captivity to return, says Yahawah.

33 Moreover the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw the second time, while he was yet shut up in the court of the guard, saying, ² Thus says Yahawah who does it, Yahawah who forms it to establish it; Yahawah is his name: ³ Call to me, and I will answer you, and will show you great things, and difficult, which you don't know. ⁴ For thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, concerning the houses of this city, and concerning the houses of the kings of Yahawadah, which are broken down [to make a defense] against the mounds and against the sword; ⁵ while [men] come to fight with the Kashadayam, and to fill them with the dead bodies of men, whom I have killed in my anger and in my wrath, and for all whose wickedness I have hid my face from this city: ⁶ Behold, I will bring it health and cure, and I will cure them; and I will reveal to them abundance of peace and truth. ⁷ I will cause the captivity of Yahawadah and the captivity of Yasharaal to return, and will build them, as at the first. ⁸ I will cleanse them from all their iniquity, whereby they have sinned against me; and I will pardon all their iniquities, whereby they have sinned against me, and whereby they have transgressed against me. ⁹ [This city] shall be to me for a name of joy, for a praise and for a glory, before all the nations of the earth, which shall hear all the good that I do to them, and shall fear and tremble for all the good and for all the peace that I procure to it. ¹⁰ Thus says Yahawah: Yet again there shall be heard in this place, whereof you say, It is waste, without man and without animal, even in the cities of Yahawadah, and in the streets of Yarawashalam, that are desolate, without man and without inhabitant and without animal, ¹¹ the voice of joy and the voice of gladness, the voice of the bridegroom and the voice of the bride, the voice of those who say, Give thanks to Yahawah Tzabaawath, for Yahawah is good, for his lovingkindness endures forever; [and of them] who bring [sacrifices of] thanksgiving into the house of Yahawah. For I will cause the captivity of the land to return as at the first, says Yahawah. ¹² Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Yet again shall there be in this place, which is waste, without man and without animal, and in all the cities of it, a habitation of shepherds causing their flocks to lie down. ¹³ In the cities of the hill-country, in the cities of the lowland, and in the cities of the South, and in the land of Banayaman, and in the places about Yarawashalam, and in the cities of Yahawadah, shall the flocks again pass under the hands of him who numbers them, says Yahawah. ¹⁴ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will perform that good word which I have spoken concerning the house of Yasharaal and concerning the house of Yahawadah. ¹⁵ In those days, and at that time, will I cause a Branch of righteousness to grow up to Dawad; and he shall execute justice and righteousness in the land. ¹⁶ In those days shall Yahawadah be saved, and Yarawashalam shall dwell safely; and this is [the name] whereby she shall be called: Yahawah our righteousness. ¹⁷ For thus says Yahawah: Dawad shall never want a man to sit on the throne of the house of Yasharaal; ¹⁸ neither shall the priests the Levites want a man before me to offer burnt offerings, and to burn meal-offerings, and to do sacrifice continually. ¹⁹ The word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw, saying, ²⁰ Thus says Yahawah: If you can break my covenant of the day, and my covenant of the night, so that there shall not be day and night in their season; ²¹ then may also my covenant be broken with Dawad my servant, that he shall not have a son to reign on his throne; and with the Levites the priests, my ministers. ²² As the host of the sky can't be numbered, neither the sand of the sea measured; so will I multiply the seed of Dawad my servant, and the Levites who minister to me. ²³ The word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw, saying, ²⁴ Don't you consider what this people has spoken, saying, The two families which Yahawah did choose, he has cast them off? thus do they despise my people, that they should be no more a nation before them. ²⁵ Thus says Yahawah: If my covenant of day and night fails, if I have not appointed the ordinances of heaven and earth; ²⁶ then will I also cast away the seed of Yaiqab, and of Dawad my servant, so that I will not take of his seed to be rulers over the seed of Abaraham, Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab: for I will cause their captivity to return, and will have mercy on them.

34 The word which came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, when Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, and all his army, and all the kingdoms of the earth that were under his dominion, and all the peoples, were fighting against Yarawashalam, and against all the cities of it, saying: ² Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Go, and speak to Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, and tell him, Thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will give this city into the hand of the king of Babal, and he shall burn it with fire: ³ and you shall not escape out of his hand, but shall surely be taken, and delivered into his hand; and your eyes shall see the eyes of the king of Babal, and he shall speak with you mouth to mouth, and you shall go to Babal. ⁴ Yet hear the word of Yahawah, O Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah: thus says Yahawah concerning you, You shall not die by the sword; ⁵ you shall die in peace; and with the burnings of your fathers, the former kings who were before you, so shall they make a burning for you; and they shall lament you, [saying], Ah Adanay! for I have spoken the word, says Yahawah. ⁶ Then Yaramayahaw the prophet spoke all these words to Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah in Yarawashalam, ⁷ when the king of Babal's army was fighting against Yarawashalam, and against all the cities of Yahawadah that were left, against Lakayash and against Izaqah; for these [alone] remained of the cities of Yahawadah [as] fortified cities. ⁸ The word that came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, after that the king Tzadaqayahaw had made a covenant with all the people who were at Yarawashalam, to proclaim liberty to them; ⁹ that every man should let his man-servant, and every man his maid-servant, who is a Hebrew or a Hebrewess, go free; that none should make bondservants of them, [to wit], of a Yahawaday his brother. ¹⁰ All the princes and all the people obeyed, who had entered into the covenant, that everyone should let his man-servant, and everyone his maid-servant, go free, that none should make bondservants of them any more; they obeyed, and let them go: ¹¹ but afterwards they turned, and caused the servants and the handmaids, whom they had let go free, to return, and brought them into subjection for servants and for handmaids. ¹² Therefore the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, saying, ¹³ Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: I made a covenant with your fathers in the day that I brought them forth out of the land of Matzarayam, out of the house of bondage, saying, ¹⁴ At the end of seven years you shall let go every man his brother who is a Hebrew, who has been sold to you, and has served you six years, you shall let him go free from you: but your fathers didn't listen to me, neither inclined their ear. ¹⁵ You were now turned, and had done that which is right in my eyes, in proclaiming liberty every man to his neighbor; and you had made a covenant before me in the house which is called by my name: ¹⁶ but you turned and profaned my name, and caused every man his servant, and every man his handmaid, whom you had let go free at their pleasure, to return; and you brought them into subjection, to be to you for servants and for handmaids.¹⁷ Therefore thus says Yahawah: you have not listened to me, to proclaim liberty, every man to his brother, and every man to his neighbor: behold, I proclaim to you a liberty, says Yahawah, to the sword, to the pestilence, and to the famine; and I will make you to be tossed back and forth among all the kingdoms of the earth.¹⁸ I will give the men who have transgressed my covenant, who have not performed the words of the covenant which they made before me, when they cut the calf in two and passed between the parts of it;¹⁹ the princes of Yahawadah, and the princes of Yarawashalam, the eunuchs, and the priests, and all the people of the land, who passed between the parts of the calf;²⁰ I will even give them into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those who seek their life; and their dead bodies shall be for food to the birds of the sky, and to the animals of the earth.²¹ Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah and his princes will I give into the hand of their enemies, and into the hand of those who seek their life, and into the hand of the king of Babal's army, who have gone away from you.²² Behold, I will command, says Yahawah, and cause them to return to this city; and they shall fight against it, and take it, and burn it with fire: and I will make the cities of Yahawadah a desolation, without inhabitant.

35 The word which came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah in the days of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, saying,¹ Go to the house of the Rechabites, and speak to them, and bring them into the house of Yahawah, into one of the chambers, and give them wine to drink.² Then I took Yaazanayah the son of Yaramayahaw, the son of Habazziniah, and his brothers, and all his sons, and the whole house of the Rechabites;³ and I brought them into the house of Yahawah, into the chamber of the sons of Hanan the son of Yagadalayahaw, the man of Alahayam, which was by the chamber of the princes, which was above the chamber of Maishayah the son of Shalawam, the keeper of the threshold.⁴ I set before the sons of the house of the Rechabites bowls full of wine, and cups; and I said to them, Drink you wine.⁵ But they said, We will drink no wine; for Yahawanadab the son of Rakab, our father, commanded us, saying, You shall drink no wine, neither you, nor your sons, forever:⁶ neither shall you build house, nor sow seed, nor plant vineyard, nor have any; but all your days you shall dwell in tents; that you may live many days in the land in which you sojourn.⁷ We have obeyed the voice of Yahawanadab the son of Rakab, our father, in all that he charged us, to drink no wine all our days, we, our wives, our sons, or our daughters;⁸ nor to build houses for us to dwell in; neither have we vineyard, nor field, nor seed:⁹ but we have lived in tents, and have obeyed, and done according to all that Yahawanadab our father commanded us.¹⁰ But it happened, when Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal came up into the land, that we said, Come, and let us go to Yarawashalam for fear of the army of the Kashadayam, and for fear of the army of the Aram; so we dwell at Yarawashalam.¹¹ Then came the word of Yahawah to Yaramayahaw, saying,¹² Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Go, and tell the men of Yahawadah and the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, Will you not receive instruction to listen to my words? says Yahawah.¹³ The words of Yahawanadab the son of Rakab, that he commanded his sons, not to drink wine, are performed; and to this day they drink none, for they obey their father's commandment: but I have spoken to you, rising up early and speaking; and you have not listened to me.¹⁴ I have sent also to you all my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Return you now every man from his evil way, and amend your doings, and don't go after other gods to serve them, and you shall dwell in the land which I have given to you and to your fathers: but you have not inclined your ear, nor listened to me.¹⁵ Because the sons of Yahawanadab the son of Rakab have performed the commandment of their father which he commanded them, but this people has not listened to me;¹⁶ therefore thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Behold, I will bring on Yahawadah and on all the inhabitants of Yarawashalam all the evil that I have pronounced against them; because I have spoken to them, but they have not heard; and I have called to them, but they have not answered.¹⁷ Yaramayahaw said to the house of the Rechabites, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Because you have obeyed the commandment of Yahawanadab your father, and kept all his precepts, and done according to all that he commanded you;¹⁸ therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Yahawanadab the son of Rakab shall not want a man to stand before me forever.

36 It happened in the fourth year of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, that this word came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, saying,¹ Take a scroll of a book, and write therein all the words that I have spoken to you against Yasharaal, and against Yahawadah, and against all the nations, from the day I spoke to you, from the days of Yaashayahaw, even to this day.² It may be that the house of Yahawadah will hear all the evil which I purpose to do to them; that they may return every man from his evil way; that I may forgive their iniquity and their sin.³ Then Yaramayahaw called Barawak the son of Narayah; and Barawak wrote from the mouth of Yaramayahaw all the words of Yahawah, which he had spoken to him, on a scroll of a book.⁴ Yaramayahaw commanded Barawak, saying, I am shut up; I can't go into the house of Yahawah:⁵ therefore go you, and read in the scroll, which you have written from my mouth, the words of Yahawah in the ears of the people in Yahawah's house on the fast-day; and also you shall read them in the ears of all Yahawadah who come out of their cities.⁶ It may be they will present their supplication before Yahawah, and will return everyone from his evil way; for great is the anger and the wrath that Yahawah has pronounced against this people.⁷ Barawak the son of Narayah did according to all that Yaramayahaw the prophet commanded him, reading in the book the words of Yahawah in Yahawah's house.⁸ Now it happened in the fifth year of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, in the ninth month, that all the people in Yarawashalam, and all the people who came from the cities of Yahawadah to Yarawashalam, proclaimed a fast before Yahawah.⁹ Then read Barawak in the book the words of Yaramayahaw in the house of Yahawah, in the chamber of Gamarayahaw the son of Shaphan, the scribe, in the upper court, at the entry of the new gate of Yahawah's house, in the ears of all the people.¹⁰ When Mayakah the son of Gamarayahaw, the son of Shaphan, had heard out of the book all the words of Yahawah,¹¹ he went down into the king's house, into the scribe's chamber: and, behold, all the princes were sitting there, [to wit], Alayashamai the scribe, and Dalayah the son of Shamaiah, and Alanathan the son of Ikabawar, and Gamarayahaw the son of Shaphan, and Tzadaqayahaw the son of Chananayah, and all the princes.¹² Then Mayakah declared to them all the words that he had heard, when Barawak read the book in the ears of the people.¹³ Therefore all the princes sent Yahawaday the son of Nathanayah, the son of Shalamayah, the son of Kawashay, to Barawak, saying, Take in your hand the scroll in which you have read in the ears of the people, and come. So Barawak the son of Narayah took the scroll in his hand, and came to them.¹⁴ They said to him, Sit down now, and read it in our ears. So Barawak read it in their ears.¹⁵ Now it happened, when they had heard all the words, they turned in fear one toward another, and said to Barawak, We will surely tell the king of all these words.¹⁶ They asked Barawak, saying, Tell us now, How did you write all these words at his mouth? ¹⁷ Then Barawak answered them, He pronounced all these words to me with his mouth, and I wrote them with ink in the book.¹⁸ Then said the princes to Barawak, Go, hide you, you and Yaramayahaw; and let no man know where you are.¹⁹ They went in to the king into the court; but they had laid up the scroll in the chamber of Alayashamai the scribe; and they told all the words in the ears of the king.²⁰ So the king sent Yahawaday to get the scroll; and he took it out of the chamber of Alayashamai the scribe. Yahawaday read it in the ears of the king, and in the ears of all the princes who stood beside the king.²² Now the king was sitting in the winter-house in the ninth month: and [there was a fire in] the brazier burning before him.²³ It happened, when Yahawaday had read three or four leaves, that [the king] cut it with the penknife, and cast it into the fire that was in the brazier, until all the scroll was consumed in the fire that was in the brazier.²⁴ They were not afraid, nor tore their garments, neither the king, nor any of his servants who heard all these words.²⁵ Moreover Alanathan and Dalayah and Gamarayahaw had made intercession to the king that he would not burn the scroll; but he would not hear them.²⁶ The king commanded Yarachamaal the king's son, and Sharayah the son of Izarayaal, and Shalamayah the son of Ibadaal, to take Barawak the scribe and Yaramayahaw the prophet; but Yahawah hid them.²⁷ Then the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw, after that the king had burned the scroll, and the words which Barawak wrote at the mouth of Yaramayahaw, saying,²⁸ Take again another scroll, and write in it all the former words that were in the first scroll, which Yahawayaqayam the king of Yahawadah has burned.²⁹ Concerning Yahawayaqayam king of Yahawadah you shall say, Thus says Yahawah: You have burned this scroll, saying, Why have you written therein, saying, The king of Babal shall certainly come and destroy this land, and shall cause to cease from this man and animal?³⁰ Therefore thus says Yahawah concerning Yahawayaqayam king of Yahawadah: He shall have none to sit on the throne of Dawad; and his dead body shall be cast out in the day to the heat, and in the night to the frost.³¹ I will punish him and his seed and his servants for their iniquity; and I will bring on them, and on the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, and on the men of Yahawadah, all the evil that I have pronounced against them, but they didn't listen.³² Then took Yaramayahaw another scroll, and gave it to Barawak the scribe, the son of Narayah, who wrote therein from the mouth of Yaramayahaw all the words of the book which Yahawayaqayam king of Yahawadah had burned in the fire; and there were added besides to them many like words.

37 Tzadaqayahaw the son of Yaashayahaw reigned as king, instead of Kanayahaw the son of Yahawayaqayam, whom Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal made king in the land of Yahawadah.² But neither he, nor his servants, nor the people of the land, did listen to the words of Yahawah, which he spoke by the prophet Yaramayahaw.³ Tzadaqayahaw the king sent Yahawakal the son of Shalamayah, and Tzapanayah the son of Maishayah, the priest, to the prophet Yaramayahaw, saying, Pray now to Yahawah our Alahayam for us.⁴ Now Yaramayahaw came in and went out among the people; for they had not put him into prison.⁵ Paraih's army was come forth out of Matzarayam; and when the Kashadayam who were besieging Yarawashalam heard news of them, they broke up from Yarawashalam.⁶ Then came the word of Yahawah to the prophet Yaramayahaw, saying,⁷ Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, Thus shall you tell the king of Yahawadah, who sent you to me to inquire of me: Behold, Paraih's army, which is come forth to help you, shall return to Matzarayam into their own land.⁸ The Kashadayam shall come again, and fight against this city; and they shall take it, and burn it with fire.⁹ Thus says Yahawah, Don't deceive yourselves, saying, The Kashadayam shall surely depart from us; for they shall not depart.¹⁰ For though you had struck the whole army of the Kashadayam who fight against you, and there remained but wounded men among them, yes would they rise up every man in his tent, and burn this city with fire.¹¹ It happened that, when the army of the Kashadayam was broken up from Yarawashalam for fear of Paraih's army,¹² then Yaramayahaw went forth out of Yarawashalam to go into the land of Banayaman, to receive his portion there, in the midst of the people.¹³ When he was in the gate of Banayaman, a captain of the guard was there, whose name was Yaraayahaw, the son of Shalamayah, the son of Chananayah; and he laid hold on Yaramayahaw the prophet, saying, You are falling away to the Kashadayam.¹⁴ Then said Yaramayahaw, It is false; I am not falling away to the Kashadayam. But he didn't listen to him; so Yaraayahaw laid hold on Yaramayahaw, and brought him to the princes.¹⁵ The princes were angry with Yaramayahaw, and struck him, and put him in prison in the house of Yahawanathan the scribe; for they had made that the prison.¹⁶ When Yaramayahaw was come into the dungeon-house, and into the cells, and Yaramayahaw had remained there many days;¹⁷ Then Tzadaqayahaw the king sent, and fetched him: and the king asked him secretly in his house, and said, Is there any word from Yahawah? Yaramayahaw said, There is. He said also, You shall be delivered into the hand of the king of Babal.¹⁸ Moreover Yaramayahaw said to king Tzadaqayahaw, Wherein have I sinned against you, or against your servants, or against this people, that you have put me in prison?¹⁹ Where now are your prophets who prophesied to you, saying, The king of Babal shall not come against you, nor against this land?²⁰ Now please hear, my lord the king: please let my supplication be presented before you, that you not cause me to return to the house of Yahawanathan the scribe, lest I die there.²¹ Then Tzadaqayahaw the king commanded, and they committed Yaramayahaw into the court of the guard; and they gave him daily a loaf of bread out of the bakers' street, until all the bread in the city was spent. Thus Yaramayahaw remained in the court of the guard.

38 Shapatayah the son of Mathan, and Gadalahaw the son of Pashhur, and Yawakal the son of Shalamayah, and Pashhur the son of Malakayah, heard the words that Yaramayahaw spoke to all the people, saying,² Thus says Yahawah, He who remains in this city shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence; but he who goes forth to the Kashadayam shall live, and his life shall be to him for a prey, and he shall live.³ Thus says Yahawah, This city shall surely be given into the hand of the army of the king of Babal, and he shall take it.⁴ Then the princes said to the king, Let this man, we pray you, be put to death; because he weakens the hands of the men of war who remain in this city, and the hands of all the people, in speaking such words to them: for this man doesn't seek the welfare of this people, but the hurt.⁵ Tzadaqayahaw the king said, Behold, he is in your hand; for the king is not he who can do anything against you.⁶ Then took they Yaramayahaw, and cast him into the dungeon of Malakayah the king's son, that was in the court of the guard: and they let down Yaramayahaw with cords. In the dungeon there was no water, but mire; and Yaramayahaw sank in the mire.⁷ Now when Malak the Ethiopian, a eunuch, who was in the king's house, heard that they had put Yaramayahaw in the dungeon (the king then sitting in the gate of Banayaman,) ⁸ Malak went forth out of the king's house, and spoke to the king, saying,⁹ My lord the king, these men have done evil in all that they have done to Yaramayahaw the prophet, whom they have cast into the dungeon; and he is likely to die in the place where he is, because of the famine; for there is no more bread in the city.¹⁰ Then the king commanded Malak the Ethiopian, saying, Take from hence thirty men with you, and take up Yaramayahaw the prophet out of the dungeon, before he die.¹¹ So Malak took the men with him, and went into the house of the king under the treasury, and took there rags and worn-out garments, and let them down by cords into the dungeon to Yaramayahaw.¹² Malak the Ethiopian said to Yaramayahaw, Pawat now these rags and worn-out garments under your armholes under the cords. Yaramayahaw did so.¹³ So they drew up Yaramayahaw with the cords, and took him up out of the dungeon: and Yaramayahaw remained in the court of the guard.¹⁴ Then Tzadaqayahaw the king sent, and took Yaramayahaw the prophet to him into the third entry that is in the house of Yahawah: and the king said to Yaramayahaw, I will ask you a thing; hide nothing from me.¹⁵ Then Yaramayahaw said to Tzadaqayahaw, If I declare it to you, will you not surely put me to death? and if I give you counsel, you will not listen to me.¹⁶ So Tzadaqayahaw the king swore secretly to Yaramayahaw, saying, As Yahawah lives, who made us this soul, I will not put you to death, neither will I give you into the hand of these men who seek your life.¹⁷ Then said Yaramayahaw to Tzadaqayahaw, Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: If you will go forth to the king of Babal's princes, then your soul shall live, and this city shall not be burned with fire; and you shall live, and your house.¹⁸ But if you will not go forth to the king of Babal's princes, then shall this city be given into the hand of the Kashadayam, and they shall burn it with fire, and you shall not escape out of their hand.¹⁹ Tzadaqayahaw the king said to Yaramayahaw, I am afraid of the Jews who are fallen away to the Kashadayam, lest they deliver me into their hand, and they mock me.²⁰ But Yaramayahaw said, They shall not deliver you. Obey, I beg you, the voice of Yahawah, in that which I speak to you: so it shall be well with you, and your soul shall live.²¹ But if you refuse to go forth, this is the word that Yahawah has showed me:²² behold, all the women who are left in the king of Yahawadah's house shall be brought forth to the king of Babal's princes, and those women shall say, Your familiar friends have set you on, and have prevailed over you: [now that] your feet are sunk in the mire, they are turned away back.²³ They shall bring out all your wives and your children to the Kashadayam; and you shall not escape out of their hand, but shall be taken by the hand of the king of Babal: and you shall cause this city to be burned with fire.²⁴ Then said Tzadaqayahaw to Yaramayahaw, Let no man know of these words, and you shall not die.²⁵ But if the princes hear that I have talked with you, and they come to you, and tell you, Declare to us now what you have said to the king; don't hide it from us, and we will not put you to death; also what the king said to you:²⁶ then you shall tell them, I presented my supplication before the king, that he would not cause me to return to Yahawanathan's house, to die there.²⁷ Then came all the princes to Yaramayahaw, and asked him; and he told them according to all these words that the king had commanded. So they left off speaking with him; for the matter was not perceived.²⁸ So Yaramayahaw abode in the court of the guard until the day that Yarawashalam was taken.

39 It happened when Yarawashalam was taken, (in the ninth year of Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, in the tenth month, came Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal and all his army against Yarawashalam, and besieged it;² in the eleventh year of Tzadaqayahaw, in the fourth month, the ninth day of the month, a breach was made in the city,)³ that all the princes of the king of Babal came in, and sat in the middle gate, [to wit], Atzar, Nabaw, Sakayam, Rab-saris, Atzar, Rab-mag, with all the rest of the princes of the king of Babal.⁴ It happened that, when Tzadaqayahaw the king of Yahawadah and all the men of war saw them, then they fled, and went forth out of the city by night, by the way of the king's garden, through the gate between the two walls; and he went out toward the Irabah.⁵ But the army of the Kashadayam pursued after them, and overtook Tzadaqayahaw in the plains of Yarayachaw; and when they had taken him, they brought him up to Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal to Rabalath in the land of Chamath; and he gave judgment on him.⁶ Then the king of Babal killed the sons of Tzadaqayahaw in Rabalath before his eyes: also the king of Babal killed all the nobles of Yahawadah.⁷ Moreover he put out Tzadaqayahaw's eyes, and bound him in fetters, to carry him to Babal.⁸ The Kashadayam burned the king's house, and the houses of the people, with fire, and broke down the walls of Yarawashalam.⁹ Then Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard carried away captive into Babal the residue of the people who remained in the city, the deserters also who fell away to him, and the residue of the people who remained.¹⁰ But Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard left of the poor of the people, who had nothing, in the land of Yahawadah, and gave them vineyards and fields at the same time.¹¹ Now Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal gave charge concerning Yaramayahaw to Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard, saying,¹² Take him, and look well to him, and do him no harm; but do to him even as he shall tell you.¹³ So Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard sent, and Nabawashazab, Rab-saris, and Atzar, Rab-mag, and all the chief officers of the king of Babal;¹⁴ they sent, and took Yaramayahaw out of the court of the guard, and committed him to Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam, the son of Shaphan, that he should carry him home: so he lived among the people.¹⁵ Now the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw, while he was shut up in the court of the guard, saying,¹⁶ Go, and speak to Malak the Ethiopian, saying, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Behold, I will bring my words on this city for evil, and not for good; and they shall be accomplished before you in that day.¹⁷ But I will deliver you in that day, says Yahawah; and you shall not be given into the hand of the men of whom you are afraid.¹⁸ For I will surely save you, and you shall not fall by the sword, but your life shall be for a prey to you; because you have put your trust in me, says Yahawah.

40 The word which came to Yaramayahaw from Yahawah, after that Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard had let him go from Ramah, when he had taken him being bound in chains among all the captives of Yarawashalam and Yahawadah, who were carried away captive to Babal.² The captain of the guard took Yaramayahaw, and said to him, Yahawah your Alahayam pronounced this evil on this place;³ and Yahawah has brought it, and done according as he spoke: because you have sinned against Yahawah, and have not obeyed his voice, therefore this thing is come on you.⁴ Now, behold, I loose you this day from the chains which are on your hand. If it seem good to you to come with me into Babal, come, and I will look well to you; but if it seem ill to you to come with me into Babal, forbear: behold, all the land is before you; where it seems good and right to you to go, there go.⁵ Now while he was not yet gone back, Go back then, [said he], to Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam, the son of Shaphan, whom the king of Babal has made governor over the cities of Yahawadah, and dwell with him among the people; or go wherever it seems right to you to go. So the captain of the guard gave him victuals and a present, and let him go.⁶ Then went Yaramayahaw to Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam to Mizpah, and lived with him among the people who were left in the land.⁷ Now when all the captains of the forces who were in the fields, even they and their men, heard that the king of Babal had made Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam governor in the land, and had committed to him men, and women, and children, and of the poorest of the land, of those who were not carried away captive to Babal;⁸ then they came to Gadalahaw to Mizpah, [to wit], Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah, and Yawachanan and Yahawanathan the sons of Qarach, and Sharayah the son of Thanachamath, and the sons of Ephai the Netophathite, and Yazanayah the son of the Maacathite, they and their men.⁹ Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam the son of Shaphan swore to them and to their men, saying, Don't be afraid to serve the Kashadayam: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babal, and it shall be well with you.¹⁰ As for me, behold, I will dwell at Mizpah, to stand before the Kashadayam who shall come to us: but you, gather you wine and summer fruits and oil, and put them in your vessels, and dwell in your cities that you have taken.¹¹ Likewise when all the Jews who were in Mawaab, and among the children of Imawan, and in Adawam, and who were in all the countries, heard that the king of Babal had left a remnant of Yahawadah, and that he had set over them Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam, the son of Shaphan;¹² then all the Jews returned out of all places where they were driven, and came to the land of Yahawadah, to Gadalahaw, to Mizpah, and gathered wine and summer fruits very much.¹³ Moreover Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces who were in the fields, came to Gadalahaw to Mizpah,¹⁴ and said to him, Do you know that Bailayas the king of the children of Imawan has sent Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah to take your life? But Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam didn't believe them.¹⁵ Then Yawachanan the son of Qarach spoke to Gadalahaw in Mizpah secretly, saying, Please let me go, and I will kill Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah, and no man shall know it: why should he take your life, that all the Jews who are gathered to you should be scattered, and the remnant of Yahawadah perish?¹⁶ But Gadalahaw the son of Achayaqam said to Yawachanan the son of Qarach, You shall not do this thing; for you speak falsely of Yashamaial.

[one of] the chief officers of the king, and ten men with him, came to Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam to Mizpah; and there they ate bread together in Mizpah.² Then arose Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah, and the ten men who were with him, and struck Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam the son of Shaphan with the sword, and killed him, whom the king of Babal had made governor over the land.³ Yashamaial also killed all the Jews who were with him, [to wit], with Gadalyahaw, at Mizpah, and the Kashadayam who were found there, the men of war.⁴ It happened the second day after he had killed Gadalyahaw, and no man knew it,⁵ that there came men from Shakam, from Shalah, and from Shamarawan, even eighty men, having their beards shaved and their clothes torn, and having cut themselves, with meal-offerings and frankincense in their hand, to bring them to the house of Yahawah.⁶ Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah went forth from Mizpah to meet them, weeping all along as he went: and it happened, as he met them, he said to them, Come to Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam.⁷ It was so, when they came into the midst of the city, that Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah killed them, [and cast them] into the midst of the pit, he, and the men who were with him.⁸ But ten men were found among those who said to Yashamaial, Don't kill us; for we have stores hidden in the field, of wheat, and of barley, and of oil, and of honey. So he stopped, and didn't kill them among their brothers.⁹ Now the pit in which Yashamaial cast all the dead bodies of the men whom he had killed, by the side of Gadalyahaw (the same was who which Asaa the king had made for fear of Baishaa king of Yasharaal,) Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah filled it with those who were killed.¹⁰ Then Yashamaial carried away captive all the residue of the people who were in Mizpah, even the king's daughters, and all the people who remained in Mizpah, whom Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard had committed to Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam; Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah carried them away captive, and departed to go over to the children of Imawan.¹¹ But when Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, heard of all the evil that Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah had done,¹² then they took all the men, and went to fight with Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah, and found him by the great waters that are in Gabaiwan.¹³ Now it happened that, when all the people who were with Yashamaial saw Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, then they were glad.¹⁴ So all the people who Yashamaial had carried away captive from Mizpah turned about and came back, and went to Yawachanan the son of Qarach.¹⁵ But Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah escaped from Yawachanan with eight men, and went to the children of Imawan.¹⁶ Then took Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, all the remnant of the people whom he had recovered from Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah, from Mizpah, after that he had killed Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam, [to wit], the men of war, and the women, and the children, and the eunuchs, whom he had brought back from Gabaiwan:¹⁷ and they departed, and lived in Geruth Kamaham, which is by Bayath-lehem, to go to enter into Matzarayam,¹⁸ because of the Kashadayam; for they were afraid of them, because Yashamaial the son of Nathanayah had killed Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam, whom the king of Babal made governor over the land.

42 Then all the captains of the forces, and Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and Yazanayah the son of Hawashaiyah, and all the people from the least even to the greatest, came near,² and said to Yaramayahaw the prophet, Let, we pray you, our supplication be presented before you, and pray for us to Yahawah your Alahayam, even for all this remnant; for we are left but a few of many, as your eyes do see us:³ that Yahawah your Alahayam may show us the way in which we should walk, and the thing that we should do.⁴ Then Yaramayahaw the prophet said to them, I have heard you; behold, I will pray to Yahawah your Alahayam according to your words; and it shall happen that whatever thing Yahawah shall answer you, I will declare it to you; I will keep nothing back from you.⁵ Then they said to Yaramayahaw, Yahawah be a true and faithful witness among us, if we don't do according to all the word with which Yahawah your Alahayam shall send you to us.⁶ Whether it be good, or whether it be evil, we will obey the voice of Yahawah our Alahayam, to whom we send you; that it may be well with us, when we obey the voice of Yahawah our Alahayam.⁷ It happened after ten days, that the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw.⁸ Then called he Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces who were with him, and all the people from the least even to the greatest,⁹ and said to them, Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, to whom you sent me to present your supplication before him:¹⁰ If you will still abide in this land, then will I build you, and not pull you down, and I will plant you, and not pluck you up; for I repent me of the evil that I have done to you.¹¹ Don't be afraid of the king of Babal, of whom you are afraid; don't be afraid of him, says Yahawah: for I am with you to save you, and to deliver you from his hand.¹² I will grant you mercy, that he may have mercy on you, and cause you to return to your own land.¹³ But if you say, We will not dwell in this land; so that you don't obey the voice of Yahawah your Alahayam,¹⁴ saying, No; but we will go into the land of Matzarayam, where we shall see no war, nor hear the sound of the trumpet, nor have hunger of bread; and there will we dwell:¹⁵ now therefore hear you the word of Yahawah, O remnant of Yahawadah: Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, If you indeed set your faces to enter into Matzarayam, and go to sojourn there;¹⁶ then it shall happen, that the sword, which you fear, shall overtake you there in the land of Matzarayam; and the famine, whereof you are afraid, shall follow hard after you there in Matzarayam; and there you shall die.¹⁷ So shall it be with all the men who set their faces to go into Matzarayam to sojourn there: they shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence; and none of them shall remain or escape from the evil that I will bring on them.¹⁸ For thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: As my anger and my wrath has been poured forth on the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, so shall my wrath be poured forth on you, when you shall enter into Matzarayam; and you shall be an object of horror, and an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach; and you shall see this place no more.¹⁹ Yahawah has spoken concerning you, remnant of Yahawadah, Don't you go into Matzarayam: know certainly that I have testified to you this day.²⁰ For you have dealt deceitfully against your own souls; for you sent me to Yahawah your Alahayam, saying, Pray for us to Yahawah our Alahayam; and according to all that Yahawah our Alahayam shall say, so declare to us, and we will do it:²¹ and I have this day declared it to you; but you have not obeyed the voice of Yahawah your Alahayam in anything for which he has sent me to you.²² Now therefore know certainly that you shall die by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence, in the place where you desire to go to sojourn there.

43 It happened that, when Yaramayahaw had made an end of speaking to all the people all the words of Yahawah their Alahayam, with which Yahawah their Alahayam had sent him to them, even all these words,² then spoke Izarayah the son of Hawashaiyah, and Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the proud men, saying to Yaramayahaw, You speak falsely: Yahawah our Alahayam has not sent you to say, You shall not go into Matzarayam to sojourn there;³ but Barawak the son of Narayah sets you on against us, to deliver us into the hand of the Kashadayam, that they may put us to death, and carry us away captive to Babal.⁴ So Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces, and all the people, didn't obey the voice of Yahawah, to dwell in the land of Yahawadah.⁵ But Yawachanan the son of Qarach, and all the captains of the forces, took all the remnant of Yahawadah, who were returned from all the nations where they had been driven, to sojourn in the land of Yahawadah;⁶ the men, and the women, and the children, and the king's daughters, and every person who Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard had left with Gadalyahaw the son of Achayaqam, the son of Shaphan; and Yaramayahaw the prophet, and Barawak the son of Narayah;⁷ and they came into the land of Matzarayam; for they didn't obey the voice of Yahawah: and they came to Thachapanachas.⁸ Then came the word of Yahawah to Yaramayahaw in Thachapanachas, saying,⁹ Take great stones in your hand, and hide them in mortar in the brick work, which is at the entry of Paraih's house in Thachapanachas, in the sight of the men of Yahawadah;¹⁰ and tell them, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Behold, I will send and take Nabawakadaraatzar the king of Babal, my servant, and will set his throne on these stones that I have hidden; and he shall spread his royal pavilion over them.¹¹ He shall come, and shall strike the land of Matzarayam; such as are for death [shall be given] to death, and such as are for captivity to captivity, and such as are for the sword to the sword.¹² I will kindle a fire in the houses of the gods of Matzarayam; and he shall burn them, and carry them away captive: and he shall array himself with the land of Matzarayam, as a shepherd puts on his garment; and he shall go forth from there in peace.¹³ He shall also break the pillars of Bayath, that is in the land of Matzarayam; and the houses of the gods of Matzarayam shall he burn with fire.

44 The word that came to Yaramayahaw concerning all the Jews who lived in the land of Matzarayam, who lived at Magadal, and at Thachapanachas, and at Map, and in the country of Patharawas, saying,² Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: You have seen all the evil that I have brought on Yarawashalam, and on all the cities of Yahawadah; and, behold, this day they are a desolation, and no man dwells therein,³ because of their wickedness which they have committed to provoke me to anger, in that they went to burn incense, [and] to serve other gods, that they didn't know, neither they, nor you, nor your fathers.⁴ However I sent to you all my servants the prophets, rising up early and sending them, saying, Oh, don't do this abominable thing that I hate.⁵ But they didn't listen, nor inclined their ear to turn from their wickedness, to burn no incense to other gods.⁶ Therefore my wrath and my anger was poured forth, and was kindled in the cities of Yahawadah and in the streets of Yarawashalam; and they are wasted and desolate, as it is this day.⁷ Therefore now thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Why commit you [this] great evil against your own souls, to cut off from you man and woman, infant and suckling, out of the midst of Yahawadah, to leave you none remaining;⁸ in that you provoke me to anger with the works of your hands, burning incense to other gods in the land of Matzarayam, where you are gone to sojourn; that you may be cut off, and that you may be a curse and a reproach among all the nations of the earth?⁹ Have you forgotten the wickedness of your fathers, and the wickedness of the kings of Yahawadah, and the wickedness of their wives, and your own wickedness, and the wickedness of your wives which they committed in the land of Yahawadah, and in the streets of Yarawashalam?¹⁰ They are not humbled even to this day, neither have they feared, nor walked in my law, nor in my statutes, that I set before you and before your fathers.¹¹ Therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Behold, I will set my face against you for evil, even to cut off all Yahawadah.¹² I will take the remnant of Yahawadah, that have set their faces to go into the land of Matzarayam to sojourn there, and they shall all be consumed; in the land of Matzarayam shall they fall; they shall be consumed by the sword and by the famine; they shall die, from the least even to the greatest, by the sword and by the famine; and they shall be an object of horror, [and] an astonishment, and a curse, and a reproach.¹³ For I will punish those who dwell in the land of Matzarayam, as I have punished Yarawashalam, by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence;¹⁴ so that none of the remnant of Yahawadah, who have gone into the land of Matzarayam to sojourn there, shall escape or be left, to return into the land of Yahawadah, to which they have a desire to return to dwell there: for none shall return save such as shall escape.¹⁵ Then all the men who knew that their wives burned incense to other gods, and all the women who stood by, a great assembly, even all the people who lived in the land of Matzarayam, in Patharawas, answered Yaramayahaw, saying,¹⁶ As for the word that you have spoken to us in the name of Yahawah, we will not listen to you.¹⁷ But we will certainly perform every word that is gone forth out of our mouth, to burn incense to the queen of the sky, and to pour out drink-offerings to her, as we have done, we and our fathers, our kings and our princes, in the cities of Yahawadah, and in the streets of Yarawashalam; for then had we plenty of victuals, and were well, and saw no evil.¹⁸ But since we left off burning incense to the queen of the sky, and pouring out drink-offerings to her, we have wanted all things, and have been consumed by the sword and by the famine.¹⁹ When we burned incense to the queen of the sky, and poured out drink-offerings to her, did we make her cakes to worship her, and pour out drink-offerings to her, without our husbands?²⁰ Then Yaramayahaw said to all the people, to the men, and to the women, even to all the people who had given him who answer, saying,²¹ The incense that you burned in the cities of Yahawadah, and in the streets of Yarawashalam, you and your fathers, your kings and your princes, and the people of the land, didn't Yahawah remember them, and didn't it come into his mind?²² so that Yahawah could no longer bear, because of the evil of your doings, and because of the abominations which you have committed; therefore is your land become a desolation, and an astonishment, and a curse, without inhabitant, as it is this day.²³ Because you have burned incense, and because you have sinned against Yahawah, and have not obeyed the voice of Yahawah, nor walked in his law, nor in his statutes, nor in his testimonies; therefore this evil is happened to you, as it is this day.²⁴ Moreover Yaramayahaw said to all the people, and to all the women, Hear the word of Yahawah, all Yahawadah who are in the land of Matzarayam:²⁵ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, saying, You and your wives have both spoken with your mouths, and with your hands have fulfilled it, saying, We will surely perform our vows that we have vowed, to burn incense to the queen of the sky, and to pour out drink-offerings to her: establish then your vows, and perform your vows.²⁶ Therefore hear the word of Yahawah, all Yahawadah who dwell in the land of Matzarayam: Behold, I have sworn by my great name, says Yahawah, that my name shall no more be named in the mouth of any man of Yahawadah in all the land of Matzarayam, saying, As the Adanay Yahawah lives.²⁷ Behold, I watch over them for evil, and not for good; and all the men of Yahawadah who are in the land of Matzarayam shall be consumed by the sword and by the famine, until there be an end of them.²⁸ Those who escape the sword shall return out of the land of Matzarayam into the land of Yahawadah, few in number; and all the remnant of Yahawadah, who have gone into the land of Matzarayam to sojourn there, shall know whose word shall stand, mine, or theirs.²⁹ This shall be the sign to you, says Yahawah, that I will punish you in this place, that you may know that my words shall surely stand against you for evil:³⁰ Thus says Yahawah, Behold, I will give Paraih Hophra king of Matzarayam into the hand of his enemies, and into the hand of those who seek his life; as I gave Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, who was his enemy, and sought his life.

45 The word that Yaramayahaw the prophet spoke to Barawak the son of Narayah, when he wrote these word in a book at the mouth of Yaramayahaw, in the fourth year of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah, saying,² Thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, to you, Barawak:³ You did say, Woe is me now! for Yahawah has added sorrow to my pain; I am weary with my groaning, and I find no rest.⁴ Thus shall you tell him, Thus says Yahawah: Behold, that which I have built will I break down, and that which I have planted I will pluck up; and this in the whole land.⁵ Seek you great things for yourself? Don't seek them; for, behold, I will bring evil on all flesh, says Yahawah; but your life will I give to you for a prey in all places where you go.

46 The word of Yahawah which came to Yaramayahaw the prophet concerning the nations.² Of Matzarayam: concerning the army of Paraih-neco king of Matzarayam, which was by the river

Parath in Karakamayash, which Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal struck in the fourth year of Yahawayaqayam the son of Yaashayahaw, king of Yahawadah.³ Prepare you the buckler and shield, and draw near to battle.⁴ Harness the horses, and get up, you horsemen, and stand forth with your helmets; furbish the spears, put on the coats of mail.⁵ Why have I seen it? they are dismayed and are turned backward; and their mighty ones are beaten down, and have fled apace, and don't look back: terror is on every side, says Yahawah.⁶ Don't let the swift flee away, nor the mighty man escape; in the north by the river Parath have they stumbled and fallen.⁷ Who is this who rises up like the Nile, whose waters toss themselves like the rivers?⁸ Matzarayam rises up like the Nile, and his waters toss themselves like the rivers: and he says, I will rise up, I will cover the earth; I will destroy cities and the inhabitants of it.⁹ Go up, you horses; and rage, you chariots; and let the mighty men go forth: Kawash and Pawat, who handle the shield; and the Lawadayayam, who handle and bend the bow.¹⁰ For that day is [a day] of the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, a day of vengeance, that he may avenge him of his adversaries: and the sword shall devour and be satiate, and shall drink its fill of their blood; for the Adanay, Yahawah of hosts, has a sacrifice in the north country by the river Parath.¹¹ Go up into Galaïd, and take balm, virgin daughter of Matzarayam: in vain do you use many medicines; there is no healing for you.¹² The nations have heard of your shame, and the earth is full of your cry; for the mighty man has stumbled against the mighty, they are fallen both of them together.¹³ The word that Yahawah spoke to Yaramayahaw the prophet, how that Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal should come and strike the land of Matzarayam.¹⁴ Declare you in Matzarayam, and publish in Magadal, and publish in Map and in Thachapanachas: say you, Stand forth, and prepare you; for the sword has devoured round about you.¹⁵ Why are your strong ones swept away? they didn't stand, because Yahawah did drive them.¹⁶ He made many to stumble, yes, they fell one on another: and they said, Arise, and let us go again to our own people, and to the land of our birth, from the oppressing sword.¹⁷ They cried there, Paraih king of Matzarayam is but a noise; he has let the appointed time pass by.¹⁸ As I live, says the King, whose name is Yahawah Tzabaawath, surely like Thabawar among the mountains, and like Karamal by the sea, so shall he come.¹⁹ You daughter who dwell in Matzarayam, furnish yourself to go into captivity; for Map shall become a desolation, and shall be burnt up, without inhabitant.²⁰ Matzarayam is a very beautiful heifer; [but] destruction out of the north is come, it is come.²¹ Also her hired men in the midst of her are like calves of the stall; for they also are turned back, they are fled away together, they didn't stand: for the day of their calamity is come on them, the time of their visitation.²² The sound of it shall go like the serpent; for they shall march with an army, and come against her with axes, as wood cutters.²³ They shall cut down her forest, says Yahawah, though it can't be searched; because they are more than the locusts, and are innumerable.²⁴ The daughter of Matzarayam shall be put to shame; she shall be delivered into the hand of the people of the north.²⁵ Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, says: Behold, I will punish Amawan of No, and Paraih, and Matzarayam, with her gods, and her kings; even Paraih, and those who trust in him:²⁶ and I will deliver them into the hand of those who seek their lives, and into the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, and into the hand of his servants; and afterwards it shall be inhabited, as in the days of old, says Yahawah.²⁷ But don't be afraid you, Yaiqab my servant, neither be dismayed, Yasharaal: for, behold, I will save you from afar, and your seed from the land of their captivity; and Yaiqab shall return, and shall be quiet and at ease, and none shall make him afraid.²⁸ Don't be afraid you, O Yaiqab my servant, says Yahawah; for I am with you: for I will make a full end of all the nations where I have driven you; but I will not make a full end of you, but I will correct you in measure, and will in no way leave you unpunished.

47 The word of Yahawah that came to Yaramayahaw the prophet concerning the Palashath, before that Paraih struck Izah.² Thus says

Yahawah: Behold, waters rise up out of the north, and shall become an overflowing stream, and shall overflow the land and all that is therein, the city and those who dwell therein; and the men shall cry, and all the inhabitants of the land shall wail.³ At the noise of the stamping of the hoofs of his strong ones, at the rushing of his chariots, at the rumbling of his wheels, the fathers don't look back to their children for feebleness of hands;⁴ because of the day that comes to destroy all the Palashath, to cut off from Tzar and Tzayadawan every helper who remains: for Yahawah will destroy the Palashath, the remnant of the isle of Kapathawar.⁵ Baldness is come on Izah; Ashaqalawan is brought to nothing, the remnant of their valley: how long will you cut yourself?⁶ You sword of Yahawah, how long will it be before you be quiet? put up yourself into your scabbard; rest, and be still.⁷ How can you be quiet, seeing Yahawah has given you a charge? Against Ashaqalawan, and against the sea-shore, there has he appointed it.

48 Of Mawaab. Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Woe to Nabaw! for it is laid waste; Qarayathayam is put to shame, it is taken; Misgab is put to shame and broken down.² The praise of Mawaab is no more; in Chashabawan they have devised evil against her: Come, and let us cut her off from being a nation. You also, Madaman, shall be brought to silence: the sword shall pursue you.³ The sound of a cry from Chawaranayam, desolation and great destruction!⁴ Mawaab is destroyed; her little ones have caused a cry to be heard.⁵ For by the ascent of Lawachayath with continual weeping shall they go up; for at the descent of Chawaranayam they have heard the distress of the cry of destruction.⁶ Flee, save your lives, and be like the heath in the wilderness.⁷ For, because you have trusted in your works and in your treasures, you also shall be taken: and Kamawash shall go forth into captivity, his priests and his princes together.⁸ The destroyer shall come on every city, and no city shall escape; the valley also shall perish, and the plain shall be destroyed; as Yahawah has spoken.⁹ Give wings to Mawaab, that she may fly and get her away: and her cities shall become a desolation, without any to dwell therein.¹⁰ Cursed be he who does the work of Yahawah negligently; and cursed be he who keeps back his sword from blood.¹¹ Mawaab has been at ease from his youth, and he has settled on his lees, and has not been emptied from vessel to vessel, neither has he gone into captivity: therefore his taste remains in him, and his scent is not changed.¹² Therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will send to him those who pour off, and they shall pour him off; and they shall empty his vessels, and break their bottles in pieces.¹³ Mawaab shall be ashamed of Kamawash, as the house of Yasharaal was ashamed of Bethel their confidence.¹⁴ How say you, We are mighty men, and valiant men for the war?¹⁵ Mawaab is laid waste, and they are gone up into his cities, and his chosen young men are gone down to the slaughter, says the King, whose name is Yahawah Tzabaawath.¹⁶ The calamity of Mawaab is near to come, and his affliction hurries fast.¹⁷ All you who are round about him, bemoan him, and all you who know his name; say, How is the strong staff broken, the beautiful rod!¹⁸ You daughter who dwells in Dayaban, come down from your glory, and sit in thirst; for the destroyer of Mawaab is come up against you, he has destroyed your strongholds.¹⁹ Inhabitant of Irait, stand by the way, and watch: ask him who flees, and her who escapes; say, What has been done?²⁰ Mawaab is put to shame; for it is broken down: wail and cry; tell you it by the Aranawan, that Mawaab is laid waste.²¹ Judgment is come on the plain country, on Chalan, and on Yahatz, and on Mayapaith,²² and on Dayaban, and on Nabaw, and on Bayath,²³ and on Qarayathayam, and on Bayath, and on Bayath-Maiwan,²⁴ and on Qarayawath, and on Batzarah, and on all the cities of the land of Mawaab, far or near.²⁵ The horn of Mawaab is cut off, and his arm is broken, says Yahawah.²⁶ Make you him drunken; for he magnified himself against Yahawah: and Mawaab shall wallow in his vomit, and he also shall be in derision.²⁷ For wasn't Yasharaal a derision to you? was he found among thieves? for as often as you speak of him, you wag the head.²⁸ You inhabitants of Mawaab, leave the cities, and dwell in the rock; and be like the dove that makes her nest over the mouth of the abyss.²⁹ We have heard of the pride of Mawaab, [that] he is very proud; his loftiness, and his pride, and his arrogance, and the haughtiness of his heart.³⁰ I know his wrath, says Yahawah, that it is nothing; his boastings have worked nothing.³¹ Therefore will I wail for Mawaab; yes, I will cry out for all Mawaab: for the men of Qayar shall they mourn.³² With more than the weeping of Yaizar will I weep for you, vine of Shabamah: your branches passed over the sea, they reached even to the sea of Yaizar: on your summer fruits and on your vintage the destroyer is fallen.³³ Gladness and joy is taken away from the fruitful field and from the land of Mawaab; and I have caused wine to cease from the wine presses: none shall tread with shouting; the shouting shall be no shouting.³⁴ From the cry of Chashabawan even to Alailah, even to Yahatz have they uttered their voice, from Tzair even to Chawaranayam, to Eglath-shelishiyah: for the waters of Namarayam also shall become desolate.³⁵ Moreover I will cause to cease in Mawaab, says Yahawah, him who offers in the high place, and him who burns incense to his gods.³⁶ Therefore my heart sounds for Mawaab like pipes, and my heart sounds like pipes for the men of Qayar: therefore the abundance that he has gotten is perished.³⁷ For every head is bald, and every beard clipped: on all the hands are cuttings, and on the loins sackcloth.³⁸ On all the housetops of Mawaab and in the streets of it there is lamentation every where; for I have broken Mawaab like a vessel in which none delights, says Yahawah.³⁹ How is it broken down! [how] do they wail! how has Mawaab turned the back with shame! so shall Mawaab become a derision and a terror to all who are round about him.⁴⁰ For thus says Yahawah: Behold, he shall fly as an eagle, and shall spread out his wings against Mawaab.⁴¹ Qarayawath is taken, and the strongholds are seized, and the heart of the mighty men of Mawaab at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.⁴² Mawaab shall be destroyed from being a people, because he has magnified himself against Yahawah.⁴³ Fear, and the pit, and the snare, are on you, inhabitant of Mawaab, says Yahawah.⁴⁴ He who flees from the fear shall fall into the pit; and he who gets up out of the pit shall be taken in the snare: for I will bring on him, even on Mawaab, the year of their visitation, says Yahawah.⁴⁵ Those who fled stand without strength under the shadow of Chashabawan; for a fire is gone forth out of Chashabawan, and a flame from the midst of Sayachawan, and has devoured the corner of Mawaab, and the crown of the head of the tumultuous ones.⁴⁶ Woe to you, O Mawaab! the people of Kamawash is undone; for your sons are taken away captive, and your daughters into captivity.⁴⁷ Yet will I bring back the captivity of Mawaab in the latter days, says Yahawah. Thus far is the judgment of Mawaab.

49 Of the children of Imawan. Thus says Yahawah: Has Yasharaal no sons? has he no heir? why then does Malcam possess Gad, and his people well in the cities of it?² Therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will cause an alarm of war to be heard against Rabah of the children of Imawan; and it shall become a desolate heap, and her daughters shall be burned with fire: then shall Yasharaal possess those who did possess him, says Yahawah.³ Wail, Chashabawan, for Ai is laid waste; cry, you daughters of Rabah, gird you with sackcloth: lament, and run back and forth among the fences; for Malcam shall go into captivity, his priests and his princes together.⁴ Why glory you in the valleys, your flowing valley, backsliding daughter? who trusted in her treasures, [saying], Who shall come to me?⁵ Behold, I will bring a fear on you, says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, from all who are round about you; and you shall be driven out every man right forth, and there shall be none to gather together the fugitives.⁶ But afterward I will bring back the captivity of the children of Imawan, says Yahawah.⁷ Of Adawam. Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Is wisdom no more in Thayaman? is counsel perished from the prudent? is their wisdom vanished?⁸ Flee you, turn back, dwell in the depths, inhabitants of Dadan; for I will bring the calamity of Ishaw on him, the time that I shall visit him.⁹ If grape-gatherers came to you, would they not leave some gleaning grapes? if thieves

by night, wouldn't they destroy until they had enough?¹⁰ But I have made Ishaw bare, I have uncovered his secret places, and he shall not be able to hide himself: his seed is destroyed, and his brothers, and his neighbors; and he is no more.¹¹ Leave your fatherless children, I will preserve them alive; and let your widows trust in me.¹² For thus says Yahawah: Behold, they to whom it didn't pertain to drink of the cup shall assuredly drink; and are you he who shall altogether go unpunished? you shall not go unpunished, but you shall surely drink.¹³ For I have sworn by myself, says Yahawah, that Batzarah shall become an astonishment, a reproach, a waste, and a curse; and all the cities of it shall be perpetual wastes.¹⁴ I have heard news from Yahawah, and an ambassador is sent among the nations, [saying], Gather yourselves together, and come against her, and rise up to the battle.¹⁵ For, behold, I have made you small among the nations, and despised among men.¹⁶ As for your terror, the pride of your heart has deceived you, O you who dwell in the clefts of the rock, who hold the height of the hill: though you should make your nest as high as the eagle, I will bring you down from there, says Yahawah.¹⁷ Adawam shall become an astonishment: everyone who passes by it shall be astonished, and shall hiss at all the plagues of it.¹⁸ As in the overthrow of Sadam and Imarah and the neighbor cities of it, says Yahawah, no man shall dwell there, neither shall any son of man sojourn therein.¹⁹ Behold, he shall come up like a lion from the pride of the Yaradan against the strong habitation: for I will suddenly make them run away from it; and whoever is chosen, him will I appoint over it: for who is like me? and who will appoint me a time? and who is the shepherd who will stand before me?²⁰ Therefore hear the counsel of Yahawah, that he has taken against Adawam; and his purposes, that he has purposed against the inhabitants of Thayaman: Surely they shall drag them away, [even] the little ones of the flock; surely he shall make their habitation desolate over them.²¹ The earth trembles at the noise of their fall; there is a cry, the noise whereof is heard in the Sawap.²² Behold, he shall come up and fly as the eagle, and spread out his wings against Batzarah: and the heart of the mighty men of Adawam at that day shall be as the heart of a woman in her pangs.²³ Of Damashaq. Chamath is confounded, and Arapad; for they have heard evil news, they are melted away: there is sorrow on the sea; it can't be quiet.²⁴ Damashaq has grown feeble, she turns herself to flee, and trembling has seized on her: anguish and sorrows have taken hold of her, as of a woman in travail.²⁵ How is the city of praise not forsaken, the city of my joy?²⁶ Therefore her young men shall fall in her streets, and all the men of war shall be brought to silence in that day, says Yahawah Tzabaawath.²⁷ I will kindle a fire in the wall of Damashaq, and it shall devour the palaces of Ban.²⁸ Of Qadar, and of the kingdoms of Chatzawar, which Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal struck. Thus says Yahawah: Arise you, go up to Qadar, and destroy the children of the east.²⁹ Their tents and their flocks shall they take; they shall carry away for themselves their curtains, and all their vessels, and their camels; and they shall cry to them, Terror on every side!³⁰ Flee you, wander far off, dwell in the depths, you inhabitants of Chatzawar, says Yahawah; for Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal has taken counsel against you, and has conceived a purpose against you.³¹ Arise, get you up to a nation that is at ease, that dwells without care, says Yahawah; that have neither gates nor bars, that dwell alone.³² Their camels shall be a booty, and the multitude of their cattle a spoil: and I will scatter to all winds those who have the corners [of their hair] cut off; and I will bring their calamity from every side of them, says Yahawah.³³ Chatzawar shall be a dwelling-place of jackals, a desolation forever: no man shall dwell there, neither shall any son of man sojourn therein.³⁴ The word of Yahawah that came to Yaramayahaw the prophet concerning Iyalam, in the beginning of the reign of Tzadaqayahaw king of Yahawadah, saying,³⁵ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Behold, I will break the bow of Iyalam, the chief of their might.³⁶ On Iyalam will I bring the four winds from the four quarters of the sky, and will scatter them toward all those winds; and there shall be no nation where the outcasts of Iyalam shall not come.³⁷ I will cause Iyalam to be dismayed before their enemies, and before those who seek their life; and I will bring evil on them, even my fierce anger, says Yahawah; and I will send the sword after them, until I have consumed them;³⁸ and I will set my throne in Iyalam, and will destroy from there king and princes, says Yahawah.³⁹ But it shall happen in the latter days, that I will bring back the captivity of Iyalam, says Yahawah.

50 The word that Yahawah spoke concerning Babal, concerning the land of the Kashadayam, by Yaramayahaw the prophet.² Declare you among the nations and publish, and set up a standard; publish, and don't conceal: say, Babal is taken, Bal is put to shame, Maradak is dismayed; her images are put to shame, her idols are dismayed.³ For out of the north there comes up a nation against her, which shall make her land desolate, and none shall dwell therein: they are fled, they are gone, both man and animal.⁴ In those days, and in that time, says Yahawah, the children of Yasharaal shall come, they and the children of Yahawadah together; they shall go on their way weeping, and shall seek Yahawah their Alahayam.⁵ They shall inquire concerning Tzayawan with their faces turned toward it, [saying], Come you, and join yourselves to Yahawah in an everlasting covenant that shall not be forgotten.⁶ My people have been lost sheep: their shepherds have caused them to go astray; they have turned them away on the mountains; they have gone from mountain to hill; they have forgotten their resting-place.⁷ All who found them have devoured them; and their adversaries said, We are not guilty, because they have sinned against Yahawah, the habitation of righteousness, even Yahawah, the hope of their fathers.⁸ Flee out of the midst of Babal, and go forth out of the land of the Kashadayam, and be as the male goats before the flocks.⁹ For, behold, I will stir up and cause to come up against Babal a company of great nations from the north country; and they shall set themselves in array against her; from there she shall be taken: their arrows shall be as of an expert mighty man; none shall return in vain.¹⁰ Chaldea shall be a prey: all who prey on her shall be satisfied, says Yahawah.¹¹ Because you are glad, because you rejoice, O you who plunder my heritage, because you are wanton as a heifer that treads out [the grain], and neigh as strong horses;¹² your mother shall be utterly put to shame; she who bore you shall be confounded: behold, she shall be the least of the nations, a wilderness, a dry land, and a desert.¹³ Because of the wrath of Yahawah she shall not be inhabited, but she shall be wholly desolate: everyone who goes by Babal shall be astonished, and hiss at all her plagues.¹⁴ Set yourselves in array against Babal round about, all you who bend the bow; shoot at her, spare no arrows: for she has sinned against Yahawah.¹⁵ Shout against her round about: she has submitted herself; her bulwarks are fallen, her walls are thrown down; for it is the vengeance of Yahawah: take vengeance on her; as she has done, do to her.¹⁶ Cut off the sower from Babal, and him who handles the sickle in the time of harvest: for fear of the oppressing sword they shall turn everyone to his people, and they shall flee everyone to his own land.¹⁷ Yasharaal is a hunted sheep; the lions have driven him away: first, the king of Ashawar devoured him; and now at last Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal has broken his bones.¹⁸ Therefore thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: Behold, I will punish the king of Babal and his land, as I have punished the king of Ashawar.¹⁹ I will bring Yasharaal again to his pasture, and he shall feed on Karamal and Bashan, and his soul shall be satisfied on the hills of Aparayam and in Galaid.²⁰ In those days, and in that time, says Yahawah, the iniquity of Yasharaal shall be sought for, and there shall be none; and the sins of Yahawadah, and they shall not be found: for I will pardon them whom I leave as a remnant.²¹ Go up against the land of Marathayam, even against it, and against the inhabitants of Paqawad: kill and utterly destroy after them, says Yahawah, and do according to all that I have commanded you.²² A sound of battle is in the land, and of great destruction.²³ How is the hammer of the whole earth cut apart and broken! how is Babal become a desolation among the nations!²⁴ I have laid a snare for you, and you are also taken, Babal, and you weren't aware: you are found, and also caught, because you have striven against Yahawah.²⁵ Yahawah has opened his armory, and has brought forth the weapons of his indignation; for the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, has a work [to do] in the land of the Kashadayam.²⁶ Come against her from the utmost border; open her store-houses; cast her up as heaps, and destroy her utterly; let nothing of her be left.²⁷ Kill all her bulls; let them go down to the slaughter: woe to them! for their day is come, the time of their visitation.²⁸ The voice of those who flee and escape out of the land of Babal, to declare in Tzayawan the vengeance of Yahawah our Alahayam, the vengeance of his temple.²⁹ Call together the archers against Babal, all those who bend the bow; encamp against her round about; let none of it escape: recompense her according to her work; according to all that she has done, do to her; for she has been proud against Yahawah, against the Holy One of Yasharaal.³⁰ Therefore shall her young men fall in her streets, and all her men of war shall be brought to silence in that day, says Yahawah.³¹ Behold, I am against you, you proud one, says the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath; for your day is come, the time that I will visit you.³² The proud one shall stumble and fall, and none shall raise him up; and I will kindle a fire in his cities, and it shall devour all who are round about him.³³ Thus says Yahawah of hosts: The children of Yasharaal and the children of Yahawadah are oppressed together; and all who took them captive hold them fast; they refuse to let them go.³⁴ Their Redeemer is strong; Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name: he will thoroughly plead their cause, that he may give rest to the earth, and disquiet the inhabitants of Babal.³⁵ A sword is on the Kashadayam, says Yahawah, and on the inhabitants of Babal, and on her princes, and on her wise men.³⁶ A sword is on the boasters, and they shall become fools; a sword is on her mighty men, and they shall be dismayed.³⁷ A sword is on their horses, and on their chariots, and on all the mingled people who are in the midst of her; and they shall become as women: a sword is on her treasures, and they shall be robbed.³⁸ A drought is on her waters, and they shall be dried up; for it is a land of engraved images, and they are mad over idols.³⁹ Therefore the wild animals of the desert with the wolves shall dwell there, and the ostriches shall dwell therein: and it shall be no more inhabited forever; neither shall it be lived in from generation to generation.⁴⁰ As when Alahayam overthrew Sadam and Imarah and the neighbor cities of it, says Yahawah, so shall no man dwell there, neither shall any son of man sojourn therein.⁴¹ Behold, a people comes from the north; and a great nation and many kings shall be stirred up from the uttermost parts of the earth.⁴² They lay hold on bow and spear; they are cruel, and have no mercy; their voice roars like the sea; and they ride on horses, everyone set in array, as a man to the battle, against you, daughter of Babal.⁴³ The king of Babal has heard the news of them, and his hands wax feeble: anguish has taken hold of him, [and] pangs as of a woman in travail.⁴⁴ Behold, [the enemy] shall come up like a lion from the pride of the Yaradan against the strong habitation: for I will suddenly make them run away from it; and whoever is chosen, him will I appoint over it: for who is like me? and who will appoint me a time? and who is the shepherd who can stand before me?⁴⁵ Therefore hear the counsel of Yahawah, that he has taken against Babal; and his purposes, that he has purposed against the land of the Kashadayam: Surely they shall drag them away, [even] the little ones of the flock; surely he shall make their habitation desolate over them.⁴⁶ At the noise of the taking of Babal the earth trembles, and the cry is heard among the nations.

51 Thus says Yahawah: Behold, I will raise up against Babal, and against those who dwell in Leb-kamai, a destroying wind.² I will send to Babal strangers, who shall winnow her; and they shall empty her land: for in the day of trouble they shall be against her round about.³ Against [him who] bends let the archer bend his bow, and against [him who] lifts himself up in his coat of mail: and don't you spare her young men; destroy you utterly all her host.⁴ They shall fall down slain in the land of the Kashadayam, and thrust through in her streets.⁵ For Yasharaal is not forsaken, nor Yahawadah, of his Alahayam, of Yahawah Tzabaawath; though their land is full of guilt against the Holy One of Yasharaal.⁶ Flee out of the midst of Babal, and save every man his life; don't be cut off in her iniquity: for it is the time of Yahawah's vengeance; he will render to her a recompense.⁷ Babal has been a golden cup in Yahawah's hand, who made all the earth drunken: the nations have drunk of her wine; therefore the nations are mad.⁸ Babal is suddenly fallen and destroyed: wail for her; take balm for her pain, if so be she may be healed.⁹ We would have healed Babal, but she is not healed: forsake her, and let us go everyone into his own country; for her judgment reaches to heaven, and is lifted up even to the skies.¹⁰ Yahawah has brought forth our righteousness: come, and let us declare in Tzayawan the work of Yahawah our Alahayam.¹¹ Make sharp the arrows; hold firm the shields: Yahawah has stirred up the spirit of the kings of the Maday; because his purpose is against Babal, to destroy it: for it is the vengeance of Yahawah, the vengeance of his temple.¹² Set up a standard against the walls of Babal, make the watch strong, set the watchmen, prepare the ambushes; for Yahawah has both purposed and done that which he spoke concerning the inhabitants of Babal.¹³ You who dwell on many waters, abundant in treasures, your end is come, the measure of your covetousness.¹⁴ Yahawah Tzabaawath has sworn by himself, [saying], Surely I will fill you with men, as with the canker-worm; and they shall lift up a shout against you.¹⁵ He has made the earth by his power, he has established the world by his wisdom, and by his understanding has he stretched out the heavens:¹⁶ when he utters his voice, there is a tumult of waters in the heavens, and he causes the vapors to ascend from the ends of the earth; he makes lightnings for the rain, and brings forth the wind out of his treasures.¹⁷ Every man is become brutish [and is] without knowledge; every goldsmith is put to shame by his image; for his molten image is falsehood, and there is no breath in them.¹⁸ They are vanity, a work of delusion: in the time of their visitation they shall perish.¹⁹ The portion of Yaiqab is not like these; for he is the former of all things; and [Yasharaal] is the tribe of his inheritance: Yahawah Tzabaawath is his name.²⁰ You are my battle-ax and weapons of war: and with you will I break in pieces the nations; and with you will I destroy kingdoms;²¹ and with you will I break in pieces the horse and his rider;²² and with you will I break in pieces the chariot and him who rides therein; and with you will I break in pieces man and woman; and with you will I break in pieces the old man and the youth; and with you will I break in pieces the young man and the virgin;²³ and with you will I break in pieces the shepherd and his flock; and with you will I break in pieces the farmer and his yoke [of oxen]; and with you will I break in pieces governors and deputies.²⁴ I will render to Babal and to all the inhabitants of Chaldea all their evil that they have done in Tzayawan in your sight, says Yahawah.²⁵ Behold, I am against you, destroying mountain, says Yahawah, which destroy all the earth; and I will stretch out my hand on you, and roll you down from the rocks, and will make you a burnt mountain.²⁶ They shall not take of you a stone for a corner, nor a stone for foundations; but you shall be desolate for ever, says Yahawah.²⁷ Set you up a standard in the land, blow the trumpet among the nations, prepare the nations against her, call together against her the kingdoms of Ararat, Manay, and Ashakanaz: appoint a marshal against her; cause the horses to come up as the rough canker-worm.²⁸ Prepare against her the nations, the kings of the Maday, the governors of it, and all the deputies of it, and all the land of their dominion.²⁹ The land trembles and is in pain; for the purposes of Yahawah against Babal do stand, to make the land of Babal a desolation, without inhabitant.³⁰ The mighty men of Babal have forborne to fight, they remain in their strongholds; their might has failed; they are become as women: her dwelling-places are set on fire; her bars are broken.³¹ One post shall run to meet another, and one messenger to meet another, to show the king of Babal that his city is taken on every quarter:³² and the passages are seized, and the reeds they have burned with fire, and the men of war are frightened.³³ For thus says Yahawah of hosts, the Alahayam of Yasharaal: The daughter of Babal is like a threshing floor at the time when it is trodden; yet a little while, and the time of harvest shall come for her.³⁴ Nabawakadaraatzar the king of Babal has devoured me, he has crushed me, he has made me an empty vessel, he has, like a monster, swallowed me up, he has filled his maw with my delicacies; he has cast me out.³⁵ The violence done to me and to my flesh be on Babal, shall the inhabitant of Tzayawan say; and, My blood be on the inhabitants of Chaldea, shall Yarawashalam say.³⁶ Therefore thus says Yahawah: Behold, I will plead your cause, and take vengeance for you; and I will dry up her sea, and make her fountain dry.³⁷ Babal shall become heaps, a dwelling-place for jackals, an astonishment, and a hissing, without inhabitant.³⁸ They shall roar together like young lions; they shall growl as lions' whelps.³⁹ When they are heated, I will make their feast, and I will make them drunken, that they may rejoice, and sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake, says Yahawah.⁴⁰ I will bring them down like lambs to the slaughter, like rams with male goats.⁴¹ How is Shashak taken! and the praise of the whole earth seized! how is Babal become a desolation among the nations!⁴² The sea is come up on Babal; she is covered with the multitude of the waves of it.⁴³ Her cities are become a desolation, a dry land, and a desert, a land in which no man dwells, neither does any son of man pass thereby.⁴⁴ I will execute judgment on Bal in Babal, and I will bring forth out of his mouth that which he has swallowed up; and the nations shall not flow any more to him: yes, the wall of Babal shall fall.⁴⁵ My people, go you out of the midst of her, and save yourselves every man from the fierce anger of Yahawah.⁴⁶ Don't let your heart faint, neither fear you for the news that shall be heard in the land; for news shall come one year, and after that in another year [shall come] news, and violence in the land, ruler against ruler.⁴⁷ Therefore, behold, the days come, that I will execute judgment on the engraved images of Babal; and her whole land shall be confounded; and all her slain shall fall in the midst of her.⁴⁸ Then the heavens and the earth, and all that is therein, shall sing for joy over Babal; for the destroyers shall come to her from the north, says Yahawah.⁴⁹ As Babal has caused the slain of Yasharaal to fall, so at Babal shall fall the slain of all the land.⁵⁰ You who have escaped the sword, go you, don't stand still; remember Yahawah from afar, and let Yarawashalam come into your mind.⁵¹ We are confounded, because we have heard reproach; confusion has covered our faces: for strangers are come into the sanctuaries of Yahawah's house.⁵² Therefore, behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that I will execute judgment on her engraved images; and through all her land the wounded shall groan.⁵³ Though Babal should mount up to the sky, and though she should fortify the height of her strength, yet from me shall destroyers come to her, says Yahawah.⁵⁴ The sound of a cry from Babal, and of great destruction from the land of the Kashadayam!⁵⁵ For Yahawah lays Babal waste, and destroys out of her the great voice; and their waves roar like many waters; the noise of their voice is uttered:⁵⁶ for the destroyer is come on her, even on Babal, and her mighty men are taken, their bows are broken in pieces; for Yahawah is a Alahayam of recompenses, he will surely requite.⁵⁷ I will make drunk her princes and her wise men, her governors and her deputies, and her mighty men; and they shall sleep a perpetual sleep, and not wake up, says the King, whose name is Yahawah Tzabaawath.⁵⁸ Thus says Yahawah of hosts: The broad walls of Babal shall be utterly overthrown, and her high gates shall be burned with fire; and the peoples shall labor for vanity, and the nations for the fire; and they shall be weary.⁵⁹ The word which Yaramayahaw the prophet commanded Sharayah the son of Narayah, the son of Mahseiah, when he went with Tzadaqayahaw the king of Yahawadah to Babal in the fourth year of his reign. Now Sharayah was chief chamberlain.⁶⁰ Yaramayahaw wrote in a book all the evil that should come on Babal, even all these words that are written concerning Babal.⁶¹ Yaramayahaw said to Sharayah, When you come to Babal, then see that you read all these words,⁶² and say, Yahawah, you have spoken concerning this place, to cut it off, that none shall dwell therein, neither man nor animal, but that it shall be desolate forever.⁶³ It shall be, when you have made an end of reading this book, that you shall bind a stone to it, and cast it into the midst of the Parath: ⁶⁴ and you shall say, Thus shall Babal sink, and shall not rise again because of the evil that I will bring on her; and they shall be weary. Thus far are the words of Yaramayahaw.

52 Tzadaqayahaw was twenty-one years old when he began to reign; and he reigned eleven years in Yarawashalam: and his mother's name was Chamayatal the daughter of Yaramayahaw of Labanah. ² He did that which was evil in the sight of Yahawah, according to all that Yahawayaqayam had done. ³ For through the anger of Yahawah did it happen in Yarawashalam and Yahawadah, until he had cast them out from his presence. Tzadaqayahaw rebelled against the king of Babal. ⁴ It happened in the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, in the tenth day of the month, that Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal came, he and all his army, against Yarawashalam, and encamped against it; and they built forts against it round about. ⁵ So the city was besieged to the eleventh year of king Tzadaqayahaw. ⁶ In the fourth month, in the ninth day of the month, the famine was sore in the city, so that there was no bread for the people of the land. ⁷ Then a breach was made in the city, and all the men of war fled, and went forth out of the city by night by the way of the gate between the two walls, which was by the king's garden; (now the Kashadayam were against the city round about;) and they went toward the Irabah. ⁸ But the army of the Kashadayam pursued after the king, and overtook Tzadaqayahaw in the plains of Yarayachaw; and all his army was scattered from him. ⁹ Then they took the king, and carried him up to the king of Babal to Rabalath in the land of Chamath; and he gave judgment on him. ¹⁰ The king of Babal killed the sons of Tzadaqayahaw before his eyes: he killed also all the princes of Yahawadah in Rabalath. ¹¹ He put out the eyes of Tzadaqayahaw; and the king of Babal bound him in fetters, and carried him to Babal, and put him in prison until the day of his death. ¹² Now in the fifth month, in the tenth day of the month, which was the nineteenth year of king Nabawakadaraatzar, king of Babal, came Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard, who stood before the king of Babal, into Yarawashalam: ¹³ and he burned the house of Yahawah, and the king's house; and all the houses of Yarawashalam, even every great house, burned he with fire. ¹⁴ All the army of the Kashadayam, who were with the captain of the guard, broke down all the walls of Yarawashalam round about.

who were found in the city; and the scribe of the captain of the host, who mustered the people of the land; and sixty men of the people of the land, who were found in the midst of the city. ²⁶ Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard took them, and brought them to the king of Babal to Rabalath. ²⁷ The king of Babal struck them, and put them to death at Rabalath in the land of Chamath. So Yahawadah was carried away captive out of his land. ²⁸ This is the people whom Nabawakadaraatzar carried away captive: in the seventh year three thousand twenty-three Jews; ²⁹ in the eighteenth year of Nabawakadaraatzar he carried away captive from Yarawashalam eight hundred thirty-two persons; ³⁰ in the three and twentieth year of Nabawakadaraatzar Nabawazaraadan the captain of the guard carried away captive of the Jews seven hundred forty-five persons: all the persons were four thousand and six hundred. ³¹ It happened in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Yahawayakayan king of Yahawadah, in the twelfth month, in the five and twentieth day of the month, that Maradak king of Babal, in the [first] year of his reign, lifted up the head of Yahawayakayan king of Yahawadah, and brought him forth out of prison; ³² and he spoke kindly to him, and set his throne above the throne of the kings who were with him in Babal, ³³ and changed his prison garments. [Yahawayakayan] ate bread before him continually all the days of his life: ³⁴ and for his allowance, there was a continual allowance given him by the king of Babal, every day a portion until the day of his death, all the days of his life.

Lamentations

1 How does the city sit solitary, that was full of people! She has become as a widow, who was great among the nations! She who was a princess among the provinces is become tributary! ² She weeps sore in the night, and her tears are on her cheeks; Among all her lovers she has none to comfort her: All her friends have dealt treacherously with her; they are become her enemies. ³ Yahawadah is gone into captivity because of affliction, and because of great servitude; She dwells among the nations, she finds no rest: All her persecutors overtook her within the straits. ⁴ The ways of Tzayawan do mourn, because none come to the solemn assembly; All her gates are desolate, her priests do sigh: Her virgins are afflicted, and she herself is in bitterness. ⁵ Her adversaries are become the head, her enemies prosper; For Yahawah has afflicted her for the multitude of her transgressions: Her young children are gone into captivity before the adversary. ⁶ From the daughter of Tzayawan all her majesty is departed: Her princes are become like harts that find no pasture, They are gone without strength before the pursuer. ⁷ Yarawashalam remembers in the days of her affliction and of her miseries all her pleasant things that were from the days of old: When her people fell into the hand of the adversary, and none did help her, The adversaries saw her, they did mock at her desolations. ⁸ Yarawashalam has grievously sinned; therefore she is become as an unclean thing; All who honored her despise her, because they have seen her nakedness: Yes, she sighs, and turns backward. ⁹ Her filthiness was in her skirts; she didn't remember her latter end; Therefore is she come down wonderfully; she has no comforter: See, Yahawah, my affliction; for the enemy has magnified himself. ¹⁰ The adversary has spread out his hand on all her pleasant things: For she has seen that the nations are entered into her sanctuary, Concerning whom you did command that they should not enter into your assembly. ¹¹ All her people sigh, they seek bread; They have given their pleasant things for food to refresh the soul: Look, Yahawah, and see; for I am become abject. ¹² Is it nothing to you, all you who pass by? Look, and see if there be any sorrow like my sorrow, which is brought on me, With which Yahawah has afflicted [me] in the day of his fierce anger. ¹³ From on high has he sent fire into my bones, and it prevails against them; He has spread a net for my feet, he has turned me back: He has made me desolate and faint all the day. ¹⁴ The yoke of my transgressions is bound by his hand; They are knit together, they are come up on my neck; he has made my strength to fail: The Adanay has delivered me into their hands, against whom I am not able to stand. ¹⁵ The Adanay has set at nothing all my mighty men in the midst of me; He has called a solemn assembly against me to crush my young men: The Adanay has trodden as in a winepress the virgin daughter of Yahawadah. ¹⁶ For these things I weep; my eye, my eye runs down with water; Because the comforter who should refresh my soul is far from me: My children are desolate, because the enemy has prevailed. ¹⁷ Tzayawan spreads forth her hands; there is none to comfort her; Yahawah has commanded concerning Yaiqab, that those who are round about him should be his adversaries: Yarawashalam is among them as an unclean thing. ¹⁸ Yahawah is righteous; for I have rebelled against his commandment: Please hear all you peoples, and see my sorrow: My virgins and my young men are gone into captivity. ¹⁹ I called for my lovers, [but] they deceived me: My priests and my elders gave up the spirit in the city, While they sought them food to refresh their souls. ²⁰ See, Yahawah; for I am in distress; my heart is troubled; My heart is turned within me; for I have grievously rebelled: Abroad the sword bereaves, at home there is as death. ²¹ They have heard that I sigh; there is none to comfort me; All my enemies have heard of my trouble; they are glad that you have done it: You will bring the day that you have proclaimed, and they shall be like me. ²² Let all their wickedness come before you; Do to them, as you have done to me for all my transgressions: For my sighs are many, and my heart is faint.

2 How has the Adanay covered the daughter of Tzayawan with a cloud in his anger! He has cast down from heaven to the earth the beauty of Yasharaal, And hasn't remembered his footstool in the day of his anger. ² The Adanay has swallowed up all the habitations of Yaiqab, and has not pitied: He has thrown down in his wrath the strongholds of the daughter of Yahawadah; He has brought them down to the ground; he has profaned the kingdom and the princes of it. ³ He has cut off in fierce anger all the horn of Yasharaal; He has drawn back his right hand from before the enemy: He has burned up Yaiqab like a flaming fire, which devours round about. ⁴ He has bent his bow like an enemy, he has stood with his right hand as an adversary, Has killed all that were pleasant to the eye: In the tent of the daughter of Tzayawan he has poured out his wrath like fire. ⁵ The Adanay is become as an enemy, he has swallowed up Yasharaal; He has swallowed up all her palaces, he has destroyed his strongholds; He has multiplied in the daughter of Yahawadah mourning and lamentation. ⁶ He has violently taken away his tent, as if it were of a garden; he has destroyed his place of assembly: Yahawah has caused solemn assembly and Sabbath to be forgotten in Tzayawan, Has despised in the indignation of his anger the king and the priest. ⁷ The Adanay has cast off his altar, he has abhorred his sanctuary; He has given up into the hand of the enemy the walls of her palaces: They have made a noise in the house of Yahawah, as in the day of a solemn assembly. ⁸ Yahawah has purposed to destroy the wall of the daughter of Tzayawan; He has stretched out the line, he has not withdrawn his hand from destroying; He has made the rampart and wall to lament; they languish together. ⁹ Her gates are sunk into the ground; he has destroyed and broken her bars: Her king and her princes are among the nations where the law is not; Yes, her prophets find no vision from Yahawah. ¹⁰ The elders of the daughter of Tzayawan sit on the ground, they keep silence; They have cast up dust on their heads; they have girded themselves with sackcloth: The virgins of Yarawashalam hang down their heads to the ground. ¹¹ My eyes do fail with tears, my heart is troubled; My liver is poured on the earth, because of the destruction of the daughter of my people, Because the young children and the infants swoon in the streets of the city. ¹² They tell their mothers, Where is grain and wine? When they swoon as the wounded in the streets of the city, When their soul is poured out into their mothers' bosom. ¹³ What shall I testify to you? what shall I liken to you, daughter of Yarawashalam? What shall I compare to you, that I may comfort you, virgin daughter of Tzayawan? For your breach is great like the sea: who can heal you? ¹⁴ Your prophets have seen for you false and foolish visions; They have not uncovered your iniquity, to bring back your captivity, But have seen for you false oracles and causes of banishment. ¹⁵ All that pass by clap their hands at you; They hiss and wag their head at the daughter of Yarawashalam, [saying], Is this the city that men called The perfection of beauty, The joy of the whole earth? ¹⁶ All your enemies have opened their mouth wide against you; They hiss and gnash the teeth; they say, We have swallowed her up; Certainly this is the day that we looked for; we have found, we have seen it. ¹⁷ Yahawah has done that which he purposed; he has fulfilled his word that he commanded in the days of old; He has thrown down, and has not pitied: He has caused the enemy to rejoice over you; he has exalted the horn of your adversaries. ¹⁸ Their heart cried to the Adanay: wall of the daughter of Tzayawan, let tears run down like a river day and night; Give yourself no respite; don't let the apple of your eye cease.¹⁹ Arise, cry out in the night, at the beginning of the watches; Pour out your heart like water before the face of the Adanay: Lift up your hands toward him for the life of your young children, that faint for hunger at the head of every street.²⁰ Look, Yahawah, and see to whom you have done thus! Shall the women eat their fruit, the children that are dandled in the hands? Shall the priest and the prophet be killed in the sanctuary of the Adanay?²¹ The youth and the old man lie on the ground in the streets; My virgins and my young men are fallen by the sword: You have killed them in the day of your anger; you have slaughtered, [and] not pitied.²² You have called, as in the day of a solemn assembly, my terrors on every side; There was none that escaped or remained in the day of Yahawah's anger: Those that I have dandled and brought up has my enemy consumed.

3 I am the man that has seen affliction by the rod of his wrath.² He has led me and caused me to walk in darkness, and not in light.³ Surely against me he turns his hand again and again all the day.⁴ My flesh and my skin has he made old; he has broken my bones.⁵ He has built against me, and compassed me with gall and travail.⁶ He has made me to dwell in dark places, as those that have been long dead.⁷ He has walled me about, that I can't go forth; he has made my chain heavy.⁸ Yes, when I cry, and call for help, he shuts out my prayer.⁹ He has walled up my ways with hewn stone; he has made my paths crooked.¹⁰ He is to me as a bear lying in wait, as a lion in secret places.¹¹ He has turned aside my ways, and pulled me in pieces; he has made me desolate.¹² He has bent his bow, and set me as a mark for the arrow.¹³ He has caused the shafts of his quiver to enter into my reins.¹⁴ I am become a derision to all my people, and their song all the day.¹⁵ He has filled me with bitterness, he has sated me with wormwood.¹⁶ He has also broken my teeth with gravel stones; he has covered me with ashes.¹⁷ You have removed my soul far off from peace; I forgot prosperity.¹⁸ I said, My strength is perished, and my expectation from Yahawah.¹⁹ Remember my affliction and my misery, the wormwood and the gall.²⁰ My soul still remembers them, and is bowed down within me.²¹ This I recall to my mind; therefore have I hope.²² [It is of] Yahawah's lovingkindnesses that we are not consumed, because his compassion doesn't fail.²³ They are new every morning; great is your faithfulness.²⁴ Yahawah is my portion, says my soul; therefore will I hope in him.²⁵ Yahawah is good to those who wait for him, to the soul that seeks him.²⁶ It is good that a man should hope and quietly wait for the salvation of Yahawah.²⁷ It is good for a man that he bear the yoke in his youth.²⁸ Let him sit alone and keep silence, because he has laid it on him.²⁹ Let him put his mouth in the dust, if so be there may be hope.³⁰ Let him give his cheek to him who strikes him; let him be filled full with reproach.³¹ For the Adanay will not cast off forever.³² For though he cause grief, yet will he have compassion according to the multitude of his lovingkindnesses.³³ For he does not afflict willingly, nor grieve the children of men.³⁴ To crush under foot all the prisoners of the earth,³⁵ To turn aside the right of a man before the face of the Ilayawan,³⁶ To subvert a man in his cause, the Adanay doesn't approve.³⁷ Who is he who says, and it comes to pass, when the Adanay doesn't command it?³⁸ Doesn't evil and good come out of the mouth of the Ilayawan?³⁹ Why does a living man complain, a man for the punishment of his sins?⁴⁰ Let us search and try our ways, and turn again to Yahawah.⁴¹ Let us lift up our heart with our hands to Alahayam in the heavens.⁴² We have transgressed and have rebelled; you have not pardoned.⁴³ You have covered with anger and pursued us; you have killed, you have not pitied.⁴⁴ You have covered yourself with a cloud, so that no prayer can pass through.⁴⁵ You have made us an off-scouring and refuse in the midst of the peoples.⁴⁶ All our enemies have opened their mouth wide against us.⁴⁷ Fear and the pit are come on us, devastation and destruction.⁴⁸ My eye runs down with streams of water, for the destruction of the daughter of my people.⁴⁹ My eye pours down, and doesn't cease, without any intermission,⁵⁰ Until Yahawah look down, and see from heaven.⁵¹ My eye affects my soul, because of all the daughters of my city.⁵² They have chased me sore like a bird, those who are my enemies without cause.⁵³ They have cut off my life in the dungeon, and have cast a stone on me.⁵⁴ Waters flowed over my head; I said, I am cut off.⁵⁵ I called on your name, Yahawah, out of the lowest dungeon.⁵⁶ You heard my voice; don't hide your ear at my breathing, at my cry.⁵⁷ You drew near in the day that I called on you; you said, Don't be afraid.⁵⁸ Adanay, you have pleaded the causes of my soul; you have redeemed my life.⁵⁹ Yahawah, you have seen my wrong; judge you my cause.⁶⁰ You have seen all their vengeance and all their devices against me.⁶¹ You have heard their reproach, Yahawah, and all their devices against me.⁶² The lips of those that rose up against me, and their device against me all the day.⁶³ See you their sitting down, and their rising up; I am their song.⁶⁴ You will render to them a recompense, Yahawah, according to the work of their hands.⁶⁵ You will give them hardness of heart, your curse to them.⁶⁶ You will pursue them in anger, and destroy them from under the heavens of Yahawah.

4 How is the gold become dim! [how] is the most pure gold changed! The stones of the sanctuary are poured out at the head of every street.² The precious sons of Tzayawan, comparable to fine gold, How are they esteemed as earthen pitchers, the work of the hands of the potter!³ Even the jackals draw out the breast, they give suck to their young ones: The daughter of my people is become cruel, like the ostriches in the wilderness.⁴ The tongue of the sucking child cleaves to the roof of his mouth for thirst: The young children ask bread, and no man breaks it to them.⁵ Those who did feed delicately are desolate in the streets: Those who were brought up in scarlet embrace dunghills.⁶ For the iniquity of the daughter of my people is greater than the sin of Adam, That was overthrown as in a moment, and no hands were laid on her.⁷ Her nobles were purer than snow, they were whiter than milk; They were more ruddy in body than rubies, their polishing was as of sapphire.⁸ Their visage is blacker than a coal; they are not known in the streets: Their skin cleaves to their bones; it is withered, it is become like a stick.⁹ Those who are killed with the sword are better than those who are killed with hunger; For these pine away, stricken through, for want of the fruits of the field.¹⁰ The hands of the pitiful women have boiled their own children; They were their food in the destruction of the daughter of my people.¹¹ Yahawah has accomplished his wrath, he has poured out his fierce anger; He has kindled a fire in Tzayawan, which has devoured the foundations of it.¹² The kings of the earth didn't believe, neither all the inhabitants of the world, That the adversary and the enemy would enter into the gates of Yarawashalam.¹³ [It is] because of the sins of her prophets, [and] the iniquities of her priests, That have shed the blood of the just in the midst of her.¹⁴ They wander as blind men in the streets, they are polluted with blood, So that men can't touch their garments.¹⁵ Depart you, they cried to them, Unclean! depart, depart, don't touch! When they fled away and wandered, men said among the nations, They shall no more sojourn [here].¹⁶ The anger of Yahawah has scattered them; he will no more regard them: They didn't respect the persons of the priests, they didn't favor the elders.¹⁷ Our eyes do yet fail [in looking] for our vain help: In our watching we have watched for a nation that could not save.¹⁸ They hunt our steps, so that we can't go in our streets: Our end is near, our days are fulfilled; for our end is come.¹⁹ Our pursuers were swifter than the eagles of the sky: They chased us on the mountains, they laid wait for us in the wilderness.²⁰ The breath of our nostrils, the anointed of Yahawah, was taken in their pits; Of whom we said, Under his shadow we shall live among the nations.²¹ Rejoice and be glad, daughter of Adawam, that dwell in the land of Uz: The cup shall pass through to you also; you shall be drunken, and shall make yourself naked.²² The punishment of your iniquity is accomplished, daughter of Tzayawan; he will no more carry you away into captivity: He will visit your iniquity, daughter of Adawam; he will uncover your sins.

5 Remember, Yahawah, what has come on us: Look, and see our reproach.² Our inheritance is turned to strangers, Our houses to aliens.³ We are orphans and fatherless; Our mothers are as widows.

⁶ We have given the hand to the Matzarayam, To the Ashawar, to be satisfied with bread. ⁷ Our fathers sinned, and are no more; We have borne their iniquities. ⁸ Servants rule over us: There is none to deliver us out of their hand. ⁹ We get our bread at the peril of our lives, Because of the sword of the wilderness. ¹⁰ Our skin is black like an oven, Because of the burning heat of famine. ¹¹ They ravished the women in Tzayawan, The virgins in the cities of Yahawadah. ¹² Princes were hanged up by their hand: The faces of elders were not honored. ¹³ The young men bare the mill; The children stumbled under the wood. ¹⁴ The elders have ceased from the gate, The young men from their music. ¹⁵ The joy of our heart is ceased; Our dance is turned into mourning. ¹⁶ The crown is fallen from our head: Woe to us! for we have sinned. ¹⁷ For this our heart is faint; For these things our eyes are dim; ¹⁸ For the mountain of Tzayawan, which is desolate: The foxes walk on it. ¹⁹ You, Yahawah, abide forever; Your throne is from generation to generation. ²⁰ Why do you forget us forever, [And] forsake us so long time? ²¹ Turn you us to you, Yahawah, and we shall be turned; Renew our days as of old. ²² But you have utterly rejected us; You are very angry against us.

1 And these are the words of the book, which Barawak the son of Nerias, the son of Maasias, the son of Sedecias, the son of Asadias, the son of Chelcias, wrote in Babal, ² In the fifth year, and in the seventh day of the month, what time as the Kashadayam took Yarawashalam, and burnt it with fire. ³ And Barawak did read the words of this book in the hearing of Jechonias the son of Joachim king of Juda, and in the ears of all the people that came to hear the book, ⁴ And in the hearing of the nobles, and of the king's sons, and in the hearing of the elders, and of all the people, from the lowest to the highest, even of all them that dwelt at Babal by the river Sud. ⁵ Whereupon they wept, fasted, and prayed before the Adanay. ⁶ They made also a collection of money according to every man's power: ⁷ And they sent it to Yarawashalam to Joachim the high priest, the son of Chelcias, son of Salom, and to the priests, and to all the people which were found with him at Yarawashalam, ⁸ At the same time when he received the vessels of the house of the Adanay, that were carried out of the temple, to return them into the land of Juda, the tenth day of the month Sayawan, namely, silver vessels, which Sedecias the son of Josias king of Yadai had made, ⁹ After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babal had carried away Jechonias, and the princes, and the captives, and the mighty men, and the people of the land, from Yarawashalam, and brought them to Babal. ¹⁰ And they said, Behold, we have sent you money to buy you burnt offerings, and sin offerings, and incense, and prepare you manna, and offer upon the altar of the Adanay our Alahayam; ¹¹ And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babal, and for the life of Balthasar his son, that their days may be upon earth as the days of heaven: ¹² And the Adanay will give us strength, and lighten our eyes, and we shall live under the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babal, and under the shadow of Balthasar his son, and we shall serve them many days, and find favour in their sight. ¹³ Pray for us also to the Adanay our Alahayam, for we have sinned against the Adanay our Alahayam; and to this day the fury of the Adanay and his wrath is not turned from us. ¹⁴ And you shall read this book which we have sent to you, to make confession in the house of the Adanay, upon the feasts and solemn days. ¹⁵ And you shall say, To the Adanay our Alahayam belongs righteousness, but to us the confusion of faces, as it is come to pass this day, to them of Juda, and to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, ¹⁶ And to our kings, and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers: ¹⁷ For we have sinned before the Adanay, ¹⁸ And disobeyed him, and have not hearkened to the voice of the Adanay our Alahayam, to walk in the commandments that he gave us openly: ¹⁹ Since the day that the Adanay brought our forefathers out of the land of Matzarayam, to this present day, we have been disobedient to the Adanay our Alahayam, and we have been negligent in not hearing his voice. ²⁰ Therefore the evils cleaved to us, and the curse, which the Adanay appointed by Mashah his servant at the time that he brought our fathers out of the land of Matzarayam, to give us a land that flows with milk and honey, like as it is to see this day. ²¹ Nevertheless we have not hearkened to the voice of the Adanay our Alahayam, according to all the words of the prophets, whom he sent to us: ²² But every man followed the imagination of his own wicked heart, to serve strange gods, and to do evil in the sight of the Adanay our Alahayam.

2 Therefore the Adanay has made good his word, which he pronounced against us, and against our judges that judged Yasharaal, and against our kings, and against our princes, and against the men of Yasharaal and Juda, ² To bring upon us great plagues, such as never happened under the whole heaven, as it came to pass in Yarawashalam, according to the things that were written in the law of Mashah; ³ That a man should eat the flesh of his own son, and the flesh of his own daughter. ⁴ Moreover he has delivered them to be in subjection to all the kingdoms that are round about us, to be as a reproach and desolation among all the people round about, where the Adanay has scattered them. ⁵ Thus we were cast down, and not exalted, because we have sinned against the Adanay our Alahayam, and have not been obedient to his voice. ⁶ To the Adanay our Alahayam appertains righteousness: but to us and to our fathers open shame, as appears this day. ⁷ For all these plagues are come upon us, which the Adanay has pronounced against us. ⁸ Yet have we not prayed before the Adanay, that we might turn every one from the imaginations of his wicked heart. ⁹ Therefore the Adanay watched over us for evil, and the Adanay has brought it upon us: for the Adanay is righteous in all his works which he has commanded us. ¹⁰ Yet we have not hearkened to his voice, to walk in the commandments of the Adanay, that he has set before us. ¹¹ And now, O Adanay Alahayam of Yasharaal, that have brought your people out of the land of Matzarayam with a mighty hand, and high arm, and with signs, and with wonders, and with great power, and have gotten yourself a name, as appears this day: ¹² O Adanay our Alahayam, we have sinned, we have done ungodly, we have dealt unrighteously in all your ordinances. ¹³ Let your wrath turn from us: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where you have scattered us. ¹⁴ Hear our prayers, O Adanay, and our petitions, and deliver us for your own sake, and give us favour in the sight of them which have led us away: ¹⁵ That all the earth may know that you are the Adanay our Alahayam, because Yasharaal and his posterity is called by your name. ¹⁶ O Adanay, look down from your holy house, and consider us: bow down your ear, O Adanay, to hear us. ¹⁷ Open your eyes, and behold; for the dead that are in the graves, whose souls are taken from their bodies, will give to the Adanay neither praise nor righteousness: ¹⁸ But the soul that is greatly vexed, which goes stooping and feeble, and the eyes that fail, and the hungry soul, will give you praise and righteousness, O Adanay. ¹⁹ Therefore we do not make our humble supplication before you, O Adanay our Alahayam, for the righteousness of our fathers, and of our kings. ²⁰ For you have sent out your wrath and indignation upon us, as you have spoken by your servants the prophets, saying, ²¹ Thus says the Adanay, Bow down your shoulders to serve the king of Babal: so shall you remain in the land that I gave to your fathers. ²² But if you will not hear the voice of the Adanay, to serve the king of Babal, ²³ I will cause to cease out of the cites of Yahawadah, and from without Yarawashalam, the voice of mirth, and the voice of joy, the voice of the bridegroom, and the voice of the bride: and the whole land shall be desolate of inhabitants. ²⁴ But we would not hearken to your voice, to serve the king of Babal: therefore have you made good the words that you spoke by your servants the prophets, namely, that the bones of our kings, and the bones of our fathers, should be taken out of their place. ²⁵ And, lo, they are cast out to the heat of the day, and to the frost of the night, and they died in great miseries by famine, by sword, and by pestilence. ²⁶ And the house which is called by your name have you laid waste, as it is to be seen this day, for the wickedness of the house of Yasharaal and the house of Juda. ²⁷ O Adanay our Alahayam, you have dealt with us after all your goodness, and according to all that great mercy of your, ²⁸ As you spoke by your servant Mashah in the day when you did command him to write the law before the children of Yasharaal, saying, ²⁹ If you will not hear my voice, surely this very great multitude shall be turned into a small number among the nations, where I will scatter them. ³⁰ For I knew that they would not hear me, because it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captivities they shall remember themselves.³¹ And shall know that I am the Adanay their Alahayam: for I will give them an heart, and ears to hear.³² And they shall praise me in the land of their captivity, and think upon my name,³³ And return from their stiff neck, and from their wicked deeds: for they shall remember the way of their fathers, which sinned before the Adanay.³⁴ And I will bring them again into the land which I promised with an oath to their fathers, Abaraham, Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab, and they shall be lords of it: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.³⁵ And I will make an everlasting covenant with them to be their Alahayam, and they shall be my people: and I will no more drive my people of Yasharaal out of the land that I have given them.

3 O Adanay Shaday, Alahayam of Yasharaal, the soul in anguish the troubled spirit, cries to you.² Hear, O Adanay, and have mercy: for you are merciful: and have pity upon us, because we have sinned before you.³ For you endure for ever, and we perish utterly.⁴ O Adanay Shaday, you Alahayam of Yasharaal, hear now the prayers of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which have sinned before you, and not hearkened to the voice of you their Alahayam: for the which cause these plagues cleave to us.⁵ Remember not the iniquities of our forefathers: but think upon your power and your name now at this time.⁶ For you are the Adanay our Alahayam, and you, O Adanay, will we praise.⁷ And for this cause you have put your fear in our hearts, to the intent that we should call upon your name, and praise you in our captivity: for we have called to mind all the iniquity of our forefathers, that sinned before you.⁸ Behold, we are yet this day in our captivity, where you have scattered us, for a reproach and a curse, and to be subject to payments, according to all the iniquities of our fathers, which departed from the Adanay our Alahayam.⁹ Hear, Yasharaal, the commandments of life: give ear to understand wisdom.¹⁰ How happens it Yasharaal, that you are in your enemies' land, that you are waxen old in a strange country, that you are defiled with the dead,¹¹ That you are counted with them that go down into the grave?¹² You have forsaken the fountain of wisdom.¹³ For if you had walked in the way of Alahayam, you should have dwelled in peace for ever.¹⁴ Learn where is wisdom, where is strength, where is understanding; that you may know also where is length of days, and life, where is the light of the eyes, and peace.¹⁵ Who has found out her place? or who has come into her treasures?¹⁶ Where are the princes of the heathen become, and such as ruled the beasts upon the earth;¹⁷ They that had their pastime with the fowls of the air, and they that hoarded up silver and gold, wherein men trust, and made no end of their getting?¹⁸ For they that wrought in silver, and were so careful, and whose works are unsearchable,¹⁹ They are vanished and gone down to the grave, and others are come up in their steads.²⁰ Young men have seen light, and dwelt upon the earth: but the way of knowledge have they not known,²¹ Nor understood the paths thereof, nor laid hold of it: their children were far off from that way.²² It has not been heard of in Chanaan, neither has it been seen in Theman.²³ The Agarenes that seek wisdom upon earth, the merchants of Meran and of Theman, the authors of fables, and searchers out of understanding; none of these have known the way of wisdom, or remember her paths.²⁴ O Yasharaal, how great is the house of Alahayam! and how large is the place of his possession!²⁵ Great, and has none end; high, and unmeasurable.²⁶ There were the giants famous from the beginning, that were of so great stature, and so expert in war.²⁷ Those did not the Adanay choose, neither gave he the way of knowledge to them:²⁸ But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their own foolishness.²⁹ Who has gone up into heaven, and taken her, and brought her down from the clouds?³⁰ Who has gone over the sea, and found her, and will bring her for pure gold?³¹ No man knows her way, nor thinks of her path.³² But he that knows all things knows her, and has found her out with his understanding: he that prepared the earth for evermore has filled it with fourfooted beasts:³³ He that sends forth light, and it goes, calls it again, and it obeys him with fear.³⁴ The stars shined in their watches, and rejoiced: when he calls them, they say, Here we be; and so with cheerfulness they showed light to him that made them.³⁵ This is our Alahayam, and there shall none other be accounted of in comparison of him.³⁶ He has found out all the way of knowledge, and has given it to Yaiqab his servant, and to Yasharaal his beloved.³⁷ Afterward did he show himself upon earth, and conversed with men.

4 This is the book of the commandments of Alahayam, and the law that endures for ever: all they that keep it shall come to life; but such as leave it shall die.² Turn you, O Yaiqab, and take hold of it: walk in the presence of the light thereof, that you may be illuminated.³ Give not your honour to another, nor the things that are profitable to you to a strange nation.⁴ O Yasharaal, happy are we: for things that are pleasing to Alahayam are made known to us.⁵ Be of good cheer, my people, the memorial of Yasharaal.⁶ You were sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because you moved Alahayam to wrath, you were delivered to the enemies.⁷ For you provoked him that made you by sacrificing to devils, and not to Alahayam.⁸ You have forgotten the everlasting Alahayam, that brought you up; and you have grieved Yarawashalam, that nursed you.⁹ For when she saw the wrath of Alahayam coming upon you, she said, Harken, O you that dwell about Shayaan: Alahayam has brought upon me great mourning;¹⁰ For I saw the captivity of my sons and daughters, which the Everlasting brought upon them.¹¹ With joy did I nourish them; but sent them away with weeping and mourning.¹² Let no man rejoice over me, a widow, and forsaken of many, who for the sins of my children am left desolate; because they departed from the law of Alahayam.¹³ They knew not his statutes, nor walked in the ways of his commandments, nor trod in the paths of discipline in his righteousness.¹⁴ Let them that dwell about Shayaan come, and remember you the captivity of my sons and daughters, which the Everlasting has brought upon them.¹⁵ For he has brought a nation upon them from far, a shameless nation, and of a strange language, who neither revered old man, nor pitied child.¹⁶ These have carried away the dear beloved children of the widow, and left her that was alone desolate without daughters.¹⁷ But what can I help you?¹⁸ For he that brought these plagues upon you will deliver you from the hands of your enemies.¹⁹ Go your way, O my children, go your way: for I am left desolate.²⁰ I have put off the clothing of peace, and put upon me the sackcloth of my prayer: I will cry to the Everlasting in my days.²¹ Be of good cheer, O my children, cry to the Adanay, and he will deliver you from the power and hand of the enemies.²² For my hope is in the Everlasting, that he will save you; and joy is come to me from the Holy One, because of the mercy which shall soon come to you from the Everlasting our Saviour.²³ For I sent you out with mourning and weeping: but Alahayam will give you to me again with joy and gladness for ever.²⁴ Like as now the neighbours of Shayaan have seen your captivity: so shall they see shortly your salvation from our Alahayam which shall come upon you with great glory, and brightness of the Everlasting.²⁵ My children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from Alahayam: for your enemy has persecuted you; but shortly you shall see his destruction, and shall tread upon his neck.²⁶ My delicate ones have gone rough ways, and were taken away as a flock caught of the enemies.²⁷ Be of good comfort, O my children, and cry to Alahayam: for you shall be remembered of him that brought these things upon you.²⁸ For as it was your mind to go astray from Alahayam: so, being returned, seek him ten times more.²⁹ For he that has brought these plagues upon you shall bring you everlasting joy with your salvation.³⁰ Take a good heart, O Yarawashalam: for he that gave you that name will comfort you.³¹ Miserable are they that afflicted you, and rejoiced at your fall.³² Miserable are the cities which your children served: miserable is she that received your sons.³³ For as she rejoiced at your ruin, and was glad of your fall: so shall she be grieved for her own desolation.³⁴ For I will take away the rejoicing of her great multitude, and her pride shall be turned into mourning.³⁵ For fire shall come upon her from the Everlasting, long to endure; and she shall be inhabited of devils for a great time.³⁶ O Yarawashalam, look about you toward the east, and behold the joy that comes to you from Alahayam.³⁷ Lo, your sons come, whom you sent away, they come gathered together from the east to the west by the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the glory of Alahayam.

5 Pawat off, O Yarawashalam, the garment of mourning and affliction, and put on the comeliness of the glory that comes from Alahayam for ever.² Cast about you a double garment of the righteousness which comes from Alahayam; and set a diadem on your head of the glory of the Everlasting.³ For Alahayam will show your brightness to every country under heaven.⁴ For your name shall be called of Alahayam for ever The peace of righteousness, and The glory of Alahayam's worship.⁵ Arise, O Yarawashalam, and stand on high, and look about toward the east, and behold your children gathered from the west to the east by the word of the Holy One, rejoicing in the remembrance of Alahayam.⁶ For they departed from you on foot, and were led away of their enemies: but Alahayam brings them to you exalted with glory, as children of the kingdom.⁷ For Alahayam has appointed that every high hill, and banks of long continuance, should be cast down, and valleys filled up, to make even the ground, that Yasharaal may go safely in the glory of Alahayam,⁸ Moreover even the woods and every sweetsmelling tree shall overshadow Yasharaal by the commandment of Alahayam.⁹ For Alahayam shall lead Yasharaal with joy in the light of his glory with the mercy and righteousness that comes from him.

1 And it came to pass in the twenty-fifth year of Yakanayah king of Yahawadah, that the word of the Adanay came to Barawak, the son of Narayah, and said to him: ² 'Have you seen all that this people are doing to Me, that the evils which these two tribes which remained have done are greater than (those of) the ten tribes which were carried away captive? ³ For the former tribes were forced by their kings to commit sin, but these two of themselves have been forcing and compelling their kings to commit sin. ⁴ For this reason, behold I bring evil upon this city, and upon its inhabitants, and it shall be removed from before Me for a time, and I will scatter this people among the Gentiles that they may do good to the Gentiles. ⁵ And My people shall be chastened, and the time shall come when they will seek for the prosperity of their times.

2 For I have said these things to you that you may say (them) to Yaramayahaw, and to all those who are like you, in order that you may retire from this city. Because your works are to this city as a firm pillar, and your prayers as a strong wall.'

3 And I said: 'O Adanay, my Adanay, have I come into the world for this purpose that I might see the evils of my mother? not (so) my Adanay. ² If I have found grace in Your sight, first take my spirit that I may go to my fathers and not behold the destruction of my mother. ³ For two things vehemently constrain me: for I cannot resist You, and my soul, moreover, cannot behold the evils of my mother. ⁴ But one thing I will say in Your presence, O Adanay. ⁵ What, therefore, will there be after these things? for if You destroy Your city, and deliver up Your land to those that hate us, how shall the name of Yasharaal be again remembered? ⁶ Or how shall one speak of Your praises? or to whom shall that which is in Your law be explained? ⁷ Or shall the world return to its nature (of aforesaid), and the age revert to primeval silence? ⁸ And shall the multitude of souls be taken away, and the nature of man not again be named? ⁹ And where is all that which you did say to Mashah regarding us?'

4 And the Adanay said to me: 'This city shall be delivered up for a time, and the people will be chastened during a time, and the world will not be given over to oblivion. ² [Do you think that this is that city of which I said: "On the palms of My hands have I graven you"? ³ It is not this building which is now built in your midst; (it is) that which will be revealed with Me, that which was prepared beforehand from the time when I took counsel to make Paradise, and showed it to Adam before he sinned, but when he transgressed the commandment, it was removed from him, as also Paradise. ⁴ And after these things I showed it to My servant Abaraham by night among the portions of the victims. ⁵ And again also I showed it to Mashah on Mount Sayanay when I showed to him the likeness of the tabernacle and all its vessels. ⁶ And now, behold, it is preserved with Me, as also Paradise. ⁷ Go, therefore, and do as I command you.']

5 And I answered and said: I shall, therefore, be in great straits in Tzayawan, because Your enemies will come to that place and pollute Your sanctuary, and lead Your inheritance into captivity, and will lord it over those whom You have loved, and they will depart again to the place of their idols, and will boast before them. And what will you do for Your great name? ² And the Adanay said to me: My name and My glory have an eternal duration; My judgement, moreover, will preserve its right in its own time. ³ And you will see with your eyes that the enemy will not overthrow Tzayawan, nor burn Yarawashalam, but be subservient to the judge for the time. ⁴ But do you go and do whatsoever I have said to you. ⁵ And I went and took Yaramayahaw, and Adu, and Seriah, and Jabish, and Gadalahaw, and all the honourable men of the people, and I led them to the valley of Cedron, and I narrated to them all that had been said to me. ⁶ And they lifted up their voice, and they all wept. ⁷ And we sat there and fasted until the evening.

6 And it came to pass on the morrow that, lo! the army of the Kashadayam surrounded the city, and at the time of the evening I, Barawak, left the people, and I went forth and stood by the oak. ² And I was grieving over Tzayawan, and lamenting over the captivity which had come upon the people. ³ And lo! suddenly a strong spirit raised me, and bore me aloft over the wall of Yarawashalam. ⁴ And I beheld, and lo! four angels standing at the four angles of the city, each of them holding a lamp of fire in his hands. ⁵ And another angel began to descend from heaven, and said to them: 'Hold your lamps, and do not light them till I tell you. ⁶ For I am first sent to speak a word to the earth, and to place in it what the Adanay the Ilayawan has commanded me.' ⁷ And I saw him descend into the Holy of Holies, and take from thence the veil, and the holy ephod, and the mercy-seat, and the two tables, and the holy raiment of the priests, and the altar of incense, and the forty-eight precious stones, wherewith the priest was adorned, and all the holy vessels of the tabernacle. ⁸ And he spoke to the earth with a loud voice: "Earth, earth, earth, hear the word of the mighty Alahayam, and receive what I commit to you, and guard them until the last times, so that, when you are ordered, you may restore them, so that strangers may not get possession of them. ⁹ For the time comes when Yarawashalam also will be delivered for a time, until it is said, that it is again restored for ever. ¹⁰ And the earth opened its mouth and swallowed them up."

7 And after these things I heard that angel saying to those angels who held the lamps: "Destroy, therefore, and overthrow its wall to its foundations, lest the enemy should boast and say: 'We have overthrown the wall of Tzayawan, and we have burnt the place of the mighty Alahayam.'" ² And the Spirit restored me to the place where I had been standing before.

8 Now the angels did as he had commanded them, and when they had broken up the angles of the walls, a voice was heard from the interior of the temple, after the wall had fallen, saying: ² "Enter you enemies, and come you adversaries; for He who kept the house has forsaken (it)." ³ And I, Barawak, departed. ⁴ And it came to pass after these things that the army of the Kashadayam entered and seized the house, and all that was around it. ⁵ And they led the people away captive, and slew some of them, and bound Tzadagayahaw the king, and sent him to the king of Babal.

9 And I, Barawak, came, and Yaramayahaw, whose heart was found pure from sins, who had not been captured in the seizure of the city. ² And we rent our garments, and wept, and mourned, and fasted seven days.

10 And it came to pass after seven days, that the word of the Adanay was upon me, and said to me: ² "Tell Yaramayahaw to go and confirm the captivity of the people to Babal. ³ But do you remain here amid the desolation of Tzayawan, and I will show to you after these days what will befall at the end of days." ⁴ And I said to Yaramayahaw as the Adanay commanded me. ⁵ And he, indeed, departed with the people, but I, Barawak, returned and sat before the gates of the temple, and I lamented with that lamentation over Tzayawan and said: ⁶ 'Blessed is he who was not born, or being born, has died. ⁷ But as for us who live, woe to us, because we see the afflictions of Tzayawan, and what has befallen Yarawashalam. ⁸ I will call the Sirens from the sea, and you Lilin, come you from the desert, and you Shedim and dragons from the forests: awake and bind your loins to mourning, and take up with me lamentation, and mourn with me.⁹ You husbandmen, sow not again; and you, earth, therefore give you the fruits of your produce? keep within you the sweets of your sustenance.¹⁰ And you, vine, why further do you give your wine? for an offering will not again be made therefrom in Tzayawan, nor will the first-fruits again be offered.¹¹ And do you, O heavens, withhold your dew, and open not the treasures of rain:¹² And do you, O sun, withhold the light of your rays; and do you, O moon, extinguish the multitude of your light; for why should light rise again where the light of Tzayawan is darkened?¹³ And you, you bridegrooms, enter not in, and let not the brides adorn themselves with garlands; and, you women, pray not that you may bear.¹⁴ For the barren shall rejoice more, and those who have no sons shall be glad, and those who have sons shall have anguish.¹⁵ For why should they bear in pain and bury in grief?¹⁶ Or therefore, again, should mankind have sons; or therefore should the seed of their nature again be named, where that mother is desolate, and her sons are led into captivity?¹⁷ From this time forward speak not of beauty and discourse not of gracefulness.¹⁸ Moreover, you priests, take you the keys of the sanctuary and cast them into the height of heaven, and give them to the Adanay and say: 'Guard Your house Yourself, for lo! we are found false stewards.'¹⁹ And you, you virgins; who spin fine linen and silk with gold of Awapayar, hasten and take all things and cast (them) into the fire, that it may bear them to Him who made them, and the flame send them to Him who created them, lest the enemy get possession of them.'

11 Moreover, I, Barawak, say this against you, Babal: If you had prospered, And Tzayawan had dwelt in her glory, it would have been a great grief to us that you should be equal to Tzayawan.² But now, lo! the grief is infinite, and the lamentation measureless, for lo! you are prospered and Tzayawan desolate.³ Who will be judge regarding these things? or to whom shall we complain regarding that which has befallen us?⁴ O Adanay, how have you borne (it)? Our fathers went to rest without grief and lo! the righteous sleep in the earth in tranquillity;⁵ For they knew not this anguish, nor yet had they heard of that which had befallen us.⁶ Would that you had ears, O earth, and that you had a heart, O dust, that you might go and announce in Sheol, and say to the dead,⁷ "Blessed are you more than we who are living."

12 But I will say this as I think, and I will speak against you, O land, which art prospering.² The noonday does not always burn, nor do the rays of the sun (always) give light.³ Do not conclude or expect that you will always be prosperous and rejoicing, and be not greatly uplifted and boastful.⁴ For assuredly in its own season wrath awake against you, which now in long-suffering is held in as it were by reins.⁵ And when I had said these things, I fasted seven days.

13 And it came to pass after these things, that I, Barawak, was standing upon Mount Tzayawan, and lo! a voice came from the height and said to me:² 'Stand upon your feet, Barawak, and hear the word of the mighty Alahayam.'³ Because you have been astonished at what has befallen Tzayawan, you shall therefore be assuredly preserved to the consummation of the times, that you may be for a testimony.⁴ So that, if ever those prosperous cities say: 'Why has the mighty Alahayam brought upon us this retribution?'⁵ You and those like you may say to them (even) you who have seen: 'This (evil) and these retributions which are coming upon you and upon your people (are sent) in its time that the nations may be perfectly chastened.'⁶ And then they will expect.⁷ And if they say at that time: When?⁸ You will say to them: 'You who have drunk the strained wine, drink you also of its dregs, the judgement of the Lofty One who has no respect of persons.'⁹ On this account he had before no mercy on His own sons, But afflicted them as His enemies, because they sinned.¹⁰ They were therefore chastened then that they might receive mercy.¹¹ But now, you peoples and nations, you are debtors because all this time you have always trodden down the earth, and used the creation unrighteously.¹² For I have always benefited you, and you have always been denied the

14 And I answered and said: 'Lo! You have shown me the method of the times, and that which shall be alter these things and You have said to me, that the retribution, which has been spoken of by You, will be of advantage to the nations.'² And now I know that those who have sinned are many, and they have lived in prosperity, and departed from the world, but that few nations will be left in those times, to whom those words shall be said which You did say.³ For what advantage is there in this, or what (evil), worse than what we have seen befall us, are we to expect to see?⁴ But again I will speak in Your presence:⁵ What have they profited who had knowledge before You, and have not walked in vanity as the rest of the nations, and have not said to the dead: "Give us life," but always feared You, and have not left Your ways?⁶ And lo! they have been carried off, nor on their account have you had mercy on Tzayawan.⁷ And if others did evil, it was due to Tzayawan, that on account of the works of those who wrought good works she should be forgiven, and should not be overwhelmed on account of the works of those who wrought unrighteousness.⁸ But who, O Adanay, my Adanay, will comprehend Your judgement, Or who will search out the profoundness of Your way? or who will think out the gravity of Your way?⁹ Or who will be able to think out Your incomprehensible counsel? or who of those that are born has ever found The beginning or end of Your wisdom?¹⁰ For we have all been made like a breath.¹¹ For as the breath ascends from the heart, and returning not is extinguished, so it is with the nature of men, who depart not according to their own will, and know not what will befall them in the end.¹² For the righteous justly hope for the end, and without fear depart from this habitation, because they have with You a store of works preserved in treasures.¹³ On this account also these without fear leave this world, and trusting with joy they hope to receive the world which You have promised them.¹⁴ But to us there is woe, who also are now shamefully entreated, and at that time look forward (only) to evils.¹⁵ But You know accurately what You have made on behalf of Your servants; for we are not able to understand by means of any good thing that You are our Creator.¹⁶ But again I will speak in Your presence, O Yahawah, my Adanay.¹⁷ When of old there was no world with its inhabitants, You did devise and speak with a word, and forthwith the works of creation stood before You.¹⁸ And You did say that You would make for Your world man as the administrator of Your works, that it might be known that he was by no means made on account of the world, but the world on account of him.¹⁹ And now I see that as for the world which was made on account of us, lo! it abides, but we, on account of whom it was made, depart.'

15 And the Adanay answered and said to me: 'You are rightly astonished regarding the departure of man, but you have not judged well regarding the evils which befall those who sin.'² And as regards what you have said, that the righteous are carried off and the impious are prospered,³ And as regards what you have said 'Man knows not Your judgement'--⁴ On this account hear, and I will speak to you, and hearken, and I will cause you to hear My words.⁵ Man would not rightly have understood My judgement, if he had not accepted the law, and if his fear had not been rooted in understanding.⁶ But now, because he transgressed though he knew, yea, on account of this also, he shall be tormented because he knew.⁷ And as regards what you did say touching the righteous, that on account of them has this world come, nay more, even that which is to come is on their account.⁸ For this world is to them a trouble and a weariness with much labour; and that accordingly which is to come, a crown with great glory.'

16 And I answered and said: 'O Yahawah, my Adanay, lo! the years of this time are few and evil, and who is able in his little (space) to acquire that which is measureless?'

17 And the Adanay answered and said to me: 'With the Ilayawan account is not taken of much time nor of a few years.'² For what did it profit Adam that he lived nine hundred and thirty years, and transgressed that which he was commanded?³ Therefore the multitude of time that he lived did not profit him, but brought death and cut off the years of those who were born from him.⁴ Or wherein did Mashah suffer loss in that he lived only one hundred and twenty years, and, inasmuch as he was subject to Him who formed him, brought the law to the seed of Yaiqab, and lighted a lamp for the nation of Yasharaal?'

18 And I answered and said: 'He that lighted has taken from the light, and there are but few that have imitated him.² But those many whom he has lighted have taken from the darkness of Adam and have not rejoiced in the light of the lamp.'

19 And He answered and said to me: 'Therefore at that time he appointed for them a covenant and said: "Behold I have placed before you life and death," And he called heaven and earth to witness against them.² For he knew that his time was but short, but that heaven and earth endure always.³ For after his death these sinned and transgressed (the covenant), though they knew that they had the law reproving (them), and the light in which nothing could err, also the spheres which testify, and Me.⁴ Now regarding everything that is it is I that judge, but do not you take counsel in your soul regarding these things, nor afflict yourself because of those which have been.⁵ For now it is the consummation of time that is sought, whether of business, or of prosperity, or of shame, and not the beginning thereof.⁶ Because if a man be prospered in his beginnings and shamefully entreated in his old age, he forgets all the prosperity that he had.⁷ And again, if a man is shamefully entreated in his beginnings, and at his end is prospered, he remembers not again his evil entreatment.⁸ And again hearken: though each one were prospered all that time-- all the time from the day on which death was decreed against those who transgress-- and in his end was destroyed, in vain would have been everything.'

20 Therefore, behold! the days come, and the times shall hasten more than the former, and the seasons will speed on more than those that are past, and the years shall pass more quickly than the present (years).² Therefore have I now taken away Tzayawan, in order that I may the more speedily visit the world in its season.³ Now therefore hold fast in your heart everything that I command you, and seal it in the recesses of your mind.⁴ And then I will show you the judgement of My might, and My ways which are past finding out.⁵ Go therefore and sanctify yourself seven days, and eat no bread, nor drink water, nor speak to anyone.⁶ And afterwards come to that place and I will reveal Myself to you, and speak true things with you, and I will give you commandment regarding the method of the times; for they are coming and tarry not.'

21 And I went thence and sat in the valley of Cedron in a cave of the earth, and I sanctified my soul there, and I eat no bread, yet I was not hungry, and I drank no water, yet I thirsted not, and I was there till the seventh day, as He had commanded me.² And afterwards I came to that place where He had spoken with me.³ And it came to pass at sunset that my soul took much thought, and I began to speak in the presence of the Mighty One, and said: 'O You that have made the earth, hear me, that have fixed the firmament in its fulness, and have made firm the height of the heaven by the spirit, that have called from the beginning of the world that which did not yet exist, and they obey You.⁵ You that have commanded the air by Your nod, and have seen those things which are to be as those things which You are doing.⁶ You that rule with great thought the hosts that stand before You: (yea) rule with indignation the holy living creatures, who are without number, which You did make from the beginning, of flame and fire, which stand around Your throne.⁷ To You only does this belong that You should do forthwith whatsoever You do wish.⁸ Who cause the drops of rain to rain by number upon the earth, and alone know the consummation of the times before they come; have respect to my prayer.⁹ For You alone art able to sustain all who are, and those who have passed away, and those who are to be, those who sin, and those who are righteous [as living (and) being past finding out].¹⁰ For You alone do live immortal and past finding out, and know the number of mankind.¹¹ And if in time many have sinned, yet others not a few have been righteous.¹² You know where You preserve the end of those who have sinned, or the consummation of those who have been righteous.¹³ For if there were this life only, which here belongs to all men, nothing could be more bitter than this.¹⁴ For of what profit is strength that turns to weakness, or the food of plenty that turns to famine, or beauty that turns to a hateful (thing)?¹⁵ For the nature of man is always changeable.¹⁶ For we have by no means been from the beginning what we now are, and what we now are we shall not afterwards remain.¹⁷ For if a consummation had not been prepared for all, in vain would have been their beginning.¹⁸ But regarding everything that comes from You, do You inform me, and regarding everything about which I ask You, do You enlighten me.¹⁹ How long will that which is corruptible remain, and how long will the time of mortals be prospered, and until what time will those who transgress in the world be polluted with much wickedness?²⁰ Command therefore in mercy and accomplish all that You said You would bring, that Your might may be made known to those who think that Your long-suffering is weakness.²¹ And show to those who know not, and let them see that it has befallen us and our city until now has been according to the long-suffering of Your power, because on account of Your name You have called us a beloved people.²² Every nature therefore from this onward is mortal.²³ Reprove therefore the angel of death, and let Your glory appear, and let the might of Your beauty be known, and let Sheol be sealed so that from this time forward it may not receive the dead, and let the treasures of souls restore those which are enclosed in them.²⁴ For there have been many years like those that are desolate from the days of Abaraham and Yatzachaq and Yaiqab, and of all those who are like them, who sleep in the earth, on whose account You did say that You had created the world.²⁵ And now quickly show Your glory, and do not defer what has been promised by You.'²⁶ And it came to pass that when I had completed the words of this prayer I was greatly weakened.

22 And it came to pass after these things that lo! the heavens were opened, and I saw, and power was given to me, and a voice was heard from on high, and it said to me: 'Barawak, Barawak, why are you troubled? He who travels by a road but does not complete it, or who departs by sea but does not arrive at the port, can he be comforted? Or he who promises to give a present to another, but does not fulfill it, is it not robbery? Or he who sows the earth, but does not reap its fruit in its season, does he not lose everything? Or he who plants a plant, unless it grows till the time suitable to it, does he who planted it expect to receive fruit from it? Or a woman who has conceived, if she bring forth untimely, does she not assuredly slay her infant? Or he who builds a house, if he does not roof it and complete it, can it be called a house? Tell me that first.'

23 And I answered and said: 'Not so, O Yahawah, my Adanay.'² And He answered and said to me: 'Why therefore are you troubled about that which you know not, and why are you ill at ease about things in which you are ignorant? For as you have not forgotten the people who now are and those who have passed away, so I remember those who are appointed to come.⁴ Because when Adam sinned and death was decreed against those who should be born, then the multitude of those who should be born was numbered, and for that number a place was prepared where the living might dwell and the dead might be guarded.⁵ Unless therefore the number aforesaid is fulfilled, the creature will not live again [for My spirit is the creator of life], and Sheol will receive the dead.⁶ And again it is given to you to hear what things are to come after these times.⁷ For truly My redemption has drawn nigh, and is not far distant as aforesaid.'

24 For behold! the days come and the books will be opened in which are written the sins of all those who have sinned, and again also the treasures in which the righteousness of all those who have been righteous in creation is gathered.² For it will come to pass at that time that you shall see - and the many that are with you - the long-suffering of the Ilayawan, which has been throughout all generations, who has been long-suffering towards those born that sin and are righteous." ³ And I answered and said: 'But, behold! O Adanay, no one knows the number of those things which have passed nor yet of those things which are to come.' ⁴ For I know indeed that which has befallen us, but what will happen to our enemies I know not, and when You will visit Your works.'

25 And He answered and said to me: "You too shall be kept safely till that time till that sign which the Ilayawan will work for the inhabitants of the earth in the end of days." ² This therefore will be the sign. ³ When a stupor shall seize the inhabitants of the earth, and they shall fall into many tribulations, and again when they shall fall into great torments. ⁴ And it will come to pass when they say in their thoughts by reason of their much tribulation: 'The Mighty One does no longer remember the earth'-- yea, it will come to pass when they abandon hope, that the time will then awake."

26 And I answered and said: 'Will that tribulation which is to be continue a long time, and will that necessity embrace many years?'

27 And He answered and said to me: 'Into twelve parts is that time divided, and each one of them is reserved for that which is appointed for it.' ² In the first part there shall be the beginning of commotions. ³ And in the second part (there will be) slayings of the great ones. ⁴ And in the third part (there will be) the fall of many by death. ⁵ And in the fourth part the sending of desolation. ⁶ And in the fifth part famine and the withholding of rain. ⁷ And in the sixth part earthquakes and terrors. ⁸ [Wanting] ⁹ And in the ninth part the fall of fire. ¹⁰ And in the tenth part rapine and much oppression. ¹¹ And in the eleventh part wickedness and unchastity. ¹² And in the twelfth part confusion from the mingling together of all those things aforesaid. ¹³ For these parts of that time are reserved, and shall be mingled one with another and minister one to another. ¹⁴ For some will of themselves be of service, and they will receive from others, and from themselves and others they will be perfected, so that those may not understand who are upon the earth in those days of this consummation of the times.

28 'Nevertheless, whosoever shall understand will then be wise. ² For the measure and reckoning of that time are two parts week of seven weeks.' ³ And I answered and said: "It is good for a man to come and behold, but it is better that he should not come lest he fall. ⁴ [But I will say this also: ⁵ 'Will he who is incorruptible despise those things which are corruptible, and whatever befalls in the case of those things which are corruptible, so that he might look only to those things which are not corruptible?'] ⁶ But if, O Adanay, those things shall assuredly come to pass which You have foretold to me; if moreover, I have found grace in Your sight, show this also to me. ⁷ Is it in one place or in one of the parts of the earth that those things are come to pass, or will the whole earth experience (them)?"

29 And He answered and said to me: "Whatever will then befall will belong the whole earth; therefore all who live will experience (them). ² For at that time I will protect only those who are found in those self-same days in this land. ³ And it will come to pass when all is accomplished that was to come to pass in those parts, that the Mashayach will then begin to be revealed. ⁴ And Behemoth shall be revealed from his place and Leviathan shall ascend from the sea, those two great monsters which I created on the fifth day of creation, and I kept until that time; and then they will be for food for all that are left. ⁵ The earth also shall yield its fruit ten thousandfold, and one vine there shall be a thousand branches, and each branch shall produce a thousand clusters, and each cluster produce a thousand grapes, and each grape produce a cor of wine. ⁶ And those who have hungered will rejoice: moreover, also, they shall behold marvels every day. ⁷ For winds shall go forth from before Me to bring every morning the fragrance of aromatic fruits, and at the close of the day clouds distilling the dew of health. ⁸ And it shall come to pass at that self-same time that the treasury of manna shall again descend from on high, and they will eat of it in those years, because these are they who have come to the consummation of time.

30 And it will come to pass after these things, when the time of the advent of the Mashayach is fulfilled, that He will return in glory, then all who have fallen asleep in hope of Him shall rise again. ² And it will come to pass at that time that the treasures will be opened in which is preserved the number of the souls of the righteous, and they will come forth, and a multitude of souls will be seen together in one assemblage of one thought, and the first shall rejoice and the last will not be grieved. ³ For he knows that the time has come of which it is said, that it is the consummation of the times. ⁴ But the souls of the wicked, when they behold all these things, shall then waste away the more. ⁵ For they will know that their torment has come and their perdition has arrived."

31 And it came to pass after these things that I went to the people and said to them: 'Assemble to me all your elders and I will speak words to them.' ² And they all assembled in the valley of the Cedron. ³ And I answered and said to them: "Hear, O Yasharaal, and I will speak to you, And give ear, O seed of Yaiqab, and I will instruct you. ⁴ Forget not Tzayawan, but hold in remembrance the anguish of Yarawashalam. ⁵ For lo! the days come, when everything that exists will become the prey of corruption and be as though it had not been.

32 'But you, if you prepare your hearts, so as to sow in them the fruits of the law, it will protect you in that time in which the Mighty One is to shake the whole creation. ² [Because after a little time the building of Tzayawan will be shaken in order that it may again be built. ³ But that building will not remain, but will again after a time be rooted out, and will remain desolate until the time. ⁴ And afterwards it must be renewed in glory, and perfected for evermore.] ⁵ Therefore we should not be distressed so much over the evil which has now come as over that which is still to be. ⁶ For there will be a greater trial than these two tribulations when the Mighty One will renew His creation. ⁷ And now do not draw near to me for a few days, nor seek me till I come to you." ⁸ And it came to pass when I had spoken to them all these words, that I, Barawak, went my way, and when the people saw me setting out, they lifted up their voice and lamented and said: ⁹ "Where depart you from us, Barawak, and forsake us as a father who forsakes his orphan children, and departs from them?"

33 "Are these the commands which your companion, Yaramayahaw the prophet, commanded you, and said to you: ² "Look to this people till I go and make ready the rest of the brethren in Babal, against whom has gone forth the sentence that they should be led into captivity"? ³ And now if you also forsake us, it were good for us all to die before you, and then that you should withdraw from us."

34 And I answered and said to the people: "Far be it from me to forsake you or to withdraw from you, but I will only go to the Holy of Holies to inquire of the Mighty One concerning you and concerning Tzayawan, if in some respect I should receive more illumination: and after these things I will return to you."

35 And I, Barawak, went to the holy place, and sat down upon the ruins and wept, and said: ² "Become you springs, O mine eyes, and you, mine eyelids, a fount of tears. ³ For how shall I lament for Tzayawan, and how shall I mourn for Yarawashalam? ⁴ Because in that place where I am now prostrate, Of old the high priest used to offer holy sacrifices, and to place thereon the smoke of thea incense of fragrant odours. ⁵ But now our glorying has been made into dust, and the desire of our soul into sand.'

36 And when I had said these things I fell asleep there, and I saw a vision in the night. ² And lo! a forest of trees planted on the plain, and lofty mountains surrounded it and precipitous rocks, and that forest occupied much space. ³ And lo! over against it arose a vine, and from under it there went forth a fountain peacefully. ⁴ Now that fountain came to the forest and was (stirred) into great waves, and those waves submerged that forest, and suddenly they rooted out the multitude of (the trees) of that forest, and overthrew all the mountains which were round about it. ⁵ And the height of the forest began to be made low, and the top of the mountains was made low, and that fountain prevailed greatly, so that it left nothing of that great forest save one cedar only.⁶ Also when it had cast it down and had destroyed and rooted out the multitude of (the trees of) that forest, so that nothing was left of it, nor could its place be recognised, then that vine began to come with the fountain in peace and great tranquillity, and it came to a place which was not far from the cedar, and they brought the cedar which had been cast down to it.⁷ And I beheld and lo! that vine opened its mouth and spoke and said to that cedar: "Are you not that cedar which was left of the forest of wickedness, and by whose means wickedness persisted, and was wrought all those years, and goodness never."⁸ And you did keep conquering that which was not your, and to that which was your you did never show compassion, and you did keep extending your power over those who were far from you, and those who drew nigh you you did hold fast in the toils of your wickedness, and you did uplift yourself always as one that could not be rooted out!⁹ But now your time has sped and your hour is come.¹⁰ Do you also therefore depart O cedar, after the forest, which departed before you, and become dust with it, and let your ashes be mingled together,¹¹ And now recline in anguish and rest in torment till your last time come, in which you will come again, and be tormented still more."

37 And after these things I saw that cedar burning, and the vine glowing, itself and all around it, the plain full of unfading flowers.¹³ And I indeed awoke and arose.

38 And I prayed and said: 'O Yahawah, my Adanay, You do always enlighten those who are led by understanding.² Your law is life, and Your wisdom is right guidance.³ Make known to me therefore the interpretation of this vision.⁴ For You know that my soul has always walked in Your law, and from my (earliest) days I departed not from Your wisdom.'

39 And He answered and said to me: "This is the interpretation of the vision which you have seen.² As you have seen the great forest which lofty and precipitous mountains surrounded, this is the word.³ Behold! the days come, and this kingdom will be destroyed which once destroyed Tzayawan, and it will be subjected to that which comes after it.⁴ Moreover, that also again after a time will be destroyed, and another, a third, will arise, and that also will have dominion for its time, and will be destroyed.⁵ And after these things a fourth kingdom will arise, whose power will be harsh and evil far beyond those which were before it, and it will rule many times as the forests on the plain, and it will hold fast the times, and will exalt itself more than the cedars of Labanawan.⁶ And by it the truth will be hidden, and all those who are polluted with iniquity will flee to it, as evil beasts flee and creep into the forest.⁷ And it will come to pass when the time of its consummation that he should fall has approached, then the principate of My Mashayach will be revealed, which is like the fountain and the vine, and when it is revealed it will root out the multitude of its host.⁸ And that which you have seen, the lofty cedar, which was left of that forest, and with regard to this fact, that the vine spoke those words with it which you did hear, this is the word.

40 The last leader of that time will be left alive, when the multitude of his hosts will be put to the sword and be bound, and they will take him up to Mount Tzayawan, and My Mashayach will convict him of all his impieties, and will gather and set before him all the works of his hosts.² And afterwards he will put him to death, and protect the rest of My people which shall be found in the place which I have chosen.³ And his principate will stand for ever, until the world of corruption is at an end, and until the times aforesaid are fulfilled.⁴ This is your vision, and this is its interpretation."

41 And I answered and said: "To whom will these things be, or how many (will they be)? or who will be worthy to live at that time?² For I will speak before You everything that I think, and I will ask of You regarding those things which I meditate.³ For lo! I see many of Your people who have withdrawn from Your covenant, and cast from them the yoke of Your law.⁴ But others again I have seen who have forsaken their vanity, and fled for refuge beneath Your wings.⁵ What therefore will be to them? or how will the last time receive them?⁶ Or perhaps the time of these will assuredly be weighed, and as the beam inclines will they be judged accordingly?"

42 And He answered and said to me:² "These things also will I show to you. As for what you did say -- 'To whom will these things be, and how many (will they be)?'-- to those who have believed there will be the good which was spoken of aforetime, and to those who despise there shall be the contrary of these things.³ And as for what you did say regarding those who have drawn near and those who have withdrawn, this is the word.⁴ As for those who were before subject, and afterwards withdrew and mingled themselves with the seed of mingled peoples, the time of these is the former, and I am meditating deep things.⁵ And as for those who before knew not but afterwards knew life, and mingled (only) with the seed of the people which had separated itself the time of these (is) the former, I am meditating deep things.⁶ And time shall succeed to time and season to season, and one shall receive from another, and then with a view to the consummation shall everything be compared according to the measure of the times and the hours of the seasons.⁷ For corruption will take those that belong to it, and life those that belong to it.⁸ And the dust will be called, and there will be said to it: "Give back that which is not your, and raise up all that you have kept until its time."

43 'But, do you, Barawak, strengthen your heart to that which has been said to you, and understand those things which have been shown to you; For there are many eternal consolations for you.² For you will depart from this place, and you will pass from the regions which are now seen by you, and you will forget whatever is corruptible, and will not again recall those things which happen among mortals.³ Go therefore and command your people, and come to this place, and afterwards fast seven days, and then I will come to you and speak with you."

44 And I, Barawak, went from thence, and came to my people, and I called my first-born son and the Gedaliahs my friends, and seven of the elders of the people, and I said to them:² 'Behold, I go to my fathers according to the way of all the earth.³ But withdraw you not from the way of the law, but guard and admonish the people which remain; Lest they withdraw from the commandments of the Mighty One.⁴ For you see that He whom we serve is just, and our Creator is no respecter of persons.⁵ And see you what has befallen Tzayawan, and what has happened to Yawashalam.⁶ For the judgement of the Mighty One will (thereby) be made known, and His ways, which, though past finding out, are right.⁷ For if you endure and persevere in His fear, and do not forget His law, the times will change over you for good, and you will see the consolation of Tzayawan.⁸ Because whatever is now is nothing, but that which shall be is very great.⁹ For everything that is corruptible will pass away, and everything that dies will depart, and all the present time shall be forgotten, nor shall there be any remembrance of the present time, which is defiled with evils.¹⁰ For that which runs now runs to vanity, and that which prospers shall quickly fall and be humiliated.¹¹ For that which is to be shall be the object of desire, and on that which comes afterwards do we place hope; for it is a time that passes not away.¹² And the hour comes which abides for ever, and the new world which does not turn to corruption those who depart to its blessedness, and has no mercy on those who depart to torment, and will not lead to perdition those who live in it.¹³ For these are they who shall inherit that time which has been spoken of, and theirs is the inheritance of the promised time.¹⁴ These are they who have acquired for themselves treasures of wisdom, and with them are found stores of understanding, and from mercy have they not withdrawn, and the truth of the law have they preserved.¹⁵ For to them shall be given the world to come, but the dwelling of the rest who are many shall be in the fire.'

46 And my son and the elders of the people answered and said to me: "Has the Mighty One humiliated us to such a degree as to take you from us quickly?" ² And truly we shall be in darkness, and there will be no light to the people who are left. ³ For where again shall we seek the law, or who will distinguish for us between death and life?" ⁴ And I said to them: "The throne of the Mighty One I cannot resist: nevertheless, there shall not be wanting to Yasharaal a wise man nor a son of the law to the race of Yaiqab. ⁵ But only prepare you your hearts, that you may hear the law, and be subject to those who in fear are wise and understanding; and prepare your souls that you may not depart from them. ⁶ For if you do these things, good tidings will come to you. Which I before told you of; nor shall you fall into the torment, of which I testified to you before." [⁷ But with regard to the word that I was to be taken, I did not make (it) known to them or to my son.]

47 And when I had gone forth and dismissed them, I went thence and said to them: "Behold! I go to Chabarawan: for there the Mighty One has sent me." ² And I came to that place where the word had been spoken to me, and I sat there, and fasted seven days.

48 And it came to pass after the seventh day, that I prayed before the Mighty One and said: ² "O my Adanay, You summon the advent of the times, and they stand before You; You cause the power of the ages to pass away, and they do not resist You; You arrange the method of the seasons, and they obey You. ³ You alone know the goal of the generations, and You reveal not Your mysteries to many. ⁴ You make known the multitude of the fire, and You weigh the lightness of the wind. ⁵ You explore the limit of the heights, and You scrutinise the depths of the darkness. ⁶ You care for the number which pass away that they may be preserved And You prepare an abode for those that are to be. ⁷ You remember the beginning which You have made, and the destruction that is to be You forget not. ⁸ With nods of fear and indignation You command the flames, and they change into spirits, and with a word You quicken that which was not, and with mighty power You hold that which has not yet come. ⁹ You instruct created things in the understanding of You, and You make wise the spheres so as to minister in their orders.

¹⁰ Armies innumerable stand before You and minister in their orders quietly at Your nod. ¹¹ Hear Your servant and give ear to my petition. ¹² For in a little time are we born, and in a little time do we return. ¹³ But with You hours are as a time, and days as generations.

¹⁴ Be not therefore wroth with man; for he is nothing And take not account of our works; ¹⁵ For what are we? For lo! by Your gift do we come into the world, and we depart not of our own will. ¹⁶ For we said not to our parents, 'Beget us,' nor did we send to Sheol and say, 'Receive us.' ¹⁷ What therefore is our strength that we should bear Your wrath, or what are we that we should endure Your judgement? ¹⁸ Protect us in Your compassions, and in Your mercy help us. ¹⁹ Behold the little ones that are subject to You, and save all that draw nigh to You, and destroy not the hope of our people, and cut not short the times of our aid. ²⁰ For this is the nation which You have chosen, and these are the people, to whom You find no equal.

²¹ But I will speak now before You, and I will say as my heart thinks. ²² In You do we trust, for lo! Your law is with us, and we know that we shall not fall so long as we keep Your statutes. ²³ In this at least we are always blest that we have not mingled with the Gentiles. ²⁴ For we are all named one people, who have received one law from One, and the law which is amongst us will aid us, and the surpassing wisdom which is in us will help us." ²⁵ And when I had prayed and said these things, I was greatly weakened. ²⁶ And He answered and said to me: "You have prayed simply, O Barawak, and all your words have been heard. ²⁷ But My judgement exacts its own and My law exacts its rights. ²⁸ For from your words I will answer you, and from your prayer I will speak to you. ²⁹ For this is as follows: he that is corrupted is not at all; he has both wrought iniquity so far as he could do anything, and has not remembered My goodness, nor accepted My long-suffering. ³⁰ Therefore you shall surely be taken up, as I before told you. ³¹ For that time shall arise which brings affliction; for it shall come and pass by with quick vehemence, and it will be turbulent coming in the heat of indignation. ³² And it shall come to pass in those days that all the inhabitants of the earth shall be moved one against another, because they know not that My judgement has drawn nigh. ³³ For there will not be found many wise at that time, and the intelligent will be but a few: moreover, even those who know will most of all be silent.

³⁴ And there will be many rumours and tidings not a few, and the works of portents shall be manifest, and promises not a few be recounted, and some of them (will prove) idle, and some of them shall be confirmed. ³⁵ And honour will be turned into shame, and strength humiliated into contempt, and probity destroyed, And beauty will become a scorn. ³⁶ And many will say to many at that time: 'Where has the multitude of intelligence hidden itself, and where has the multitude of wisdom removed itself?' ³⁷ And whilst they are meditating these things, then zeal will arise in those of whom they thought not, and passion will seize him who is peaceful, and many shall be roused in anger to injure many, and they shall rouse up armies in order to shed blood, and in the end they shall perish together with them. ³⁸ And it will come to pass at the self-same time, that a change of times shall manifestly appear to every man, by reason of which in all those times they were polluted and practised oppression, and walked every man in his own works, and remembered not the law of the Mighty One. ³⁹ Therefore a fire shall consume their thoughts, and in flame shall the meditations of their reins be tried; for the Judge will come and will not tarry.

⁴⁰ Because each of the inhabitants of the earth knew when he was committing iniquity, and they have not known My law by reason of their pride. ⁴¹ For many will then assuredly weep, yea, over the living more than over the dead." ⁴² And I answered and said: "O Adam, what have you done to all those who are born from you? and what will be said to the first Chawah who hearkened to the serpent?"

⁴³ For all this multitude are going to corruption, nor is there any numbering of those whom the fire devours. ⁴⁴ But again I will speak in Your presence. ⁴⁵ You, O Yahawah, my Adanay, know what is in Your creature. ⁴⁶ For You did of old command the dust to produce Adam, and You know the number of those who are born from him, and how far they have sinned before You, who have existed and not confessed You as their Creator. ⁴⁷ And as regards all these their end shall convict them, and Your law which they have transgressed shall requite them on Your day. [⁴⁸ But now let us dismiss the wicked and enquire about the righteous. ⁴⁹ And I will recount their blessedness and not be silent in celebrating their glory, which is reserved for them. ⁵⁰ For assuredly as in a little time in this world which passes away, in which you live, you have endured much labour, so in that world to which there is no end, you shall receive great light.]

49 Nevertheless, I will again ask from You, O Mighty One, yea, I will ask mercy from Him who made all things. ² In what shape will those live who live in Your day? or how will the splendour of those who (are) after that time continue? ³ Will they then resume this form of the present, and put on these entravelling members, which are now involved in evils, and in which evils are consummated, or will you perchance change these things which have been in the world, as also the world?"

50 And He answered and said to me: "Hear, Barawak, this word, and write in the remembrance of your heart all that you shall learn. ² For the earth shall then assuredly restore the dead, which it now receives, in order to preserve them, making no change in their form, but as it has received, so shall it restore them, and as I delivered them to it, so also shall it raise them. ³ For then it will be necessary to show to the living that the dead have come to life again, and that those who had departed have returned (again). ⁴ And it shall come to pass, when they have severally recognized those whom they now know, then judgement will grow strong, and those things which before were spoken of will come.

51 "And it will come to pass, when that appointed day has gone by, that then shall the aspect of those who are condemned be afterwards changed, and the glory of those who are justified.² For the aspect of those who now act wickedly shall become worse than is that of such as suffer torment.³ Also (as for) the glory of those who have now been justified in My law, who have had understanding in their life, and who have planted in their heart the root of wisdom, then their splendour shall be glorified in changes, and the form of their face will be turned into the light of their beauty, that they may be able to acquire and receive the world which does not die, which is then promised to them.⁴ For over this above all will those who come then lament, that they rejected My law, and stopped their ears that they might not hear wisdom or receive understanding.⁵ When therefore they see those, over whom they are now exalted, (but) who shall then be exalted and glorified more than they, they shall respectively be transformed, the latter into the splendour of angels, and the former will mainly waste away in wonder at the visions and in the beholding of the forms.⁶ For they will first behold and afterwards depart to be tormented.⁷ But those who have been saved by their works, and to whom the law has been now a hope, and understanding an expectation, and wisdom a confidence, will wonders appear in their time.⁸ For they will behold the world which is now invisible to them, and they will behold the time which is now hidden from them:⁹ And again time will not age them.¹⁰ For in the heights of that world shall they dwell, and they shall be made like to the angels, and be made equal to the stars, and they shall be changed into every form they desire, from beauty into loveliness, and from light into the splendour of glory.¹¹ For there shall be spread before them the extents of Paradise, and there shall be shown to them the beauty of the majesty of the living creatures which are beneath the throne, and all the armies of the angels, who [are now held fast by My word, lest they should appear, and] are held fast by a command, that they may stand in their places till their advent comes.¹² Moreover, there shall then be excellency in the righteous surpassing that in the angels.¹³ For the first will receive the last, those whom they were expecting, and the last those of whom they used to hear that they had passed away.¹⁴ For they have been delivered from this world of tribulation, and laid down the burthen of anguish.¹⁵ For what then have men lost their life, and for what have those who were on the earth exchanged their soul?¹⁶ For then they chose (not) for themselves that time, which, beyond the reach of anguish, could not pass away, and they chose for themselves that time, whose issues are full of lamentations and evils, and they denied the world which ages not those who come to it, and they rejected the time of the glory, so that they shall not come to the honour of which I told you before."

52 And I answered and said: "How do those who forget those for whom woe is then reserved?² And why therefore do we again mourn for those who die? or why do we weep for those who depart to Sheol?³ Let lamentations be reserved for the beginning of that coming torment, and let tears be laid up for the advent of the destruction of that time.⁴ But even in the face of these things I will speak.⁵ [And as for the righteous, what will they do now?⁶ Rejoice you in the suffering which you now suffer: for why do you look for the decline of your enemies?⁷ Make ready your soul for that which is reserved for you, and prepare your souls for the reward which is laid up for you.]"

53 And when I had said these things I fell asleep there, and I saw a vision, and lo! a cloud was ascending from a very great sea, and I kept gazing upon it, and lo! it was full of waters white and black, and there were many colours in those self-same waters, and as it were the likeness of great lightning was seen at its summit.² And I saw the cloud passing swiftly in quick courses, and it covered all the earth.³ And it came to pass after these things that cloud began to pour upon the earth the waters that were in it.⁴ And I saw that there was not one and the same likeness in the waters which descended from it.⁵ For in the first beginning they were black exceedingly for a time, and afterwards I saw that the waters became bright, but they were not many, and after these things again I saw black (waters), and after these things again bright, and again black and again bright.⁶ Now this was done twelve times, but the black were always more numerous than the bright.⁷ And it came to pass at the end of the cloud, that lo! it rained black waters, and they were darker than had been all those waters that were before, and fire was mingled with them, and where those waters descended, they wrought devastation and destruction.⁸ And I saw after these things that lightning which I had seen on the summit of the cloud, that it held it fast and made it descend to the earth.⁹ Now that lightning shone exceedingly, so as to illuminate the whole earth, and it healed those regions where the last waters had descended and wrought devastation.¹⁰ And it took hold of the whole earth, and had dominion over it.¹¹ And I saw after these things, and lo! twelve rivers were ascending from the sea, and they began to surround that lightning and to become subject to it.¹² And by reason of my fear I awoke.

54 And I besought the Mighty One, and said: "You alone, O Adanay, know of aforetime the deep things of the world, and the things which befall in their times You bring about by Your word, And against the works of the inhabitants of the earth You do hasten the beginnings of the times, and the end of the seasons You alone know.² For whom nothing is too hard, but You do everything easily by a nod:³ To whom the depths come as the heights are accessible, and the beginnings of the ages minister to Your word.⁴ Who reveals to those who fear You what is prepared for them, that He may thereby console them.⁵ You show great acts to those who know not; You break up the enclosure of those who are ignorant, and lightest up what is dark, and reveal what is hidden to the pure, who in faith have submitted themselves to You and Your law.⁶ You have shown to Your servant this vision; reveal to me also its interpretation.⁷ For I know that as regards those things wherein I besought You, I have received a response, and as regards what I besought, You did reveal to me, and did show me with what voice I should praise You, or from what members I should cause praises and hallelujahs to ascend to You.⁸ For if my members were mouths, and the hairs of my head voices, even so I could not give You the meed of praise, nor laud you as is befitting, nor could I recount Your praise, nor tell the glory of Your beauty.⁹ For what am I amongst men, or why am I reckoned amongst those who are more excellent than I, that I have heard all those marvellous things from the Ilayawan, and good tidings numberless from Him who created me?¹⁰ Blessed be my mother among those that bear, and praised among women be she that bore me.¹¹ For I will not be silent in praising the Mighty One, and with the voice of praise I will recount His marvellous deeds.¹² For who does like to Your marvellous deeds, O Alahayam, or who comprehendeth Your deep thought of life?¹³ For with Your counsel You do govern all the creatures which Your right hand has created, and You have established every fountain of light beside You, and the treasures of wisdom beneath Your throne have you prepared.¹⁴ And justly do they perish who have not loved Your law, and the torment of judgement shall await those who have not submitted themselves to Your power.¹⁵ For though Adam first sinned and brought untimely death upon all, yet of those who were born from him each one of them has prepared for his own soul torment to come, and again each one of them has chosen for himself glories to come. [¹⁶ For assuredly he who believes will receive reward.¹⁷ But now, as for you, you wicked that now are, turn you to destruction, because you will speedily be visited, in that formerly you rejected the understanding of the Ilayawan.¹⁸ For His works have not taught you, Nor has the skill of His creation which is at all times persuaded you.]¹⁹ Adam is therefore not the cause, save only of his own soul, but each of us has been the Adam of his own soul.²⁰ But do You, O Adanay, expound to me regarding those things which You have revealed to me, and inform me regarding that which I besought You.²¹ For at the consummation of the world there will be vengeance taken upon those who have done wickedness according to their wickedness, and You will glorify the faithful according to their faithfulness.²² For those who are amongst Your own You rule, And those who sin You blot out from amongst Your own."

55 And it came to pass when I had finished speaking the words of this prayer, that I sat there under a tree, that I might rest in the shade of the branches. ² And I wondered and was astonished, and pondered in my thoughts regarding the multitude of goodness which sinners who are upon the earth have rejected, and regarding the great torment which they have despised, though they knew that they should be tormented because of the sin they had committed. ³ And when I was pondering on these things and the like, lo! the angel Ramiel who presides over true visions was sent to me, and he said to me: ⁴ Why does your heart trouble you, Barawak, and why does your thought disturb you? ⁵ For if owing to the report which you have only heard of judgement you are so moved, What (will you be) when you shall see it manifestly with your eyes? ⁶ And if with the expectation wherewith you do expect the day of the Mighty One you are so overcome, what (will you be) when you shall come to its advent? ⁷ And, if at the word of the announcement of the torment of those who have done foolishly you are so wholly distraught, how much more when the event will reveal marvellous things? ⁸ And if you have heard tidings of the good and evil things which are then coming and art grieved, what (will you be) when you shall behold what the majesty will reveal, which shall convict these and cause those to rejoice?

56 Nevertheless, because you have besought the Ilayawan to reveal to you the interpretation of the vision which you have seen, I have been sent to tell you. ² And the Mighty One has assuredly made known to you the methods of the times that have passed, and of those that are destined to pass in His world from the beginning of its creations even to its consummation, of those things which (are) deceit and of those which (are) in truth. ³ For as you did see a great cloud which ascended from the sea, and went and covered the earth, this is the duration of the world which the Mighty One made when he took counsel to make the world. ⁴ And it came to pass when the word had gone forth from His presence, that the duration of the world had come into being in a small degree, and was established according to the multitude of the intelligence of Him who sent it. ⁵ And as you did previously see on the summit of the cloud black waters which descended previously on the earth, this is the transgression wherewith Adam the first man transgressed. ⁶ For owing to his transgression untimely death came into being, and grief was named and anguish was prepared, and pain was created, and trouble perfected, And boasting began to be established, And Sheol to demand that it should be renewed in blood, and the begetting of children was brought about, and the passion of parents produced, and the greatness of humanity was humiliated, and goodness languished. ⁷ What therefore can be blacker or darker than these things? ⁸ This is the beginning of the black waters which you have seen. ⁹ And from these black (waters) again were black derived, and the darkness of darkness was produced. ¹⁰ For he was a danger to his own soul: even to the angels was he a danger. ¹¹ For, moreover, at that time when he was created, they enjoyed liberty. ¹² And some of them descended, and mingled with the women. ¹³ And then those who did so were tormented in chains. ¹⁴ But the rest of the multitude of the angels, of which there is no number, restrained themselves. ¹⁵ And those who dwelt on the earth perished together (with them) through the waters of the deluge. ¹⁶ These are the black first waters.

57 "And after these (waters) you did see bright waters: this is the fount of Abaraham, also his generations and advent of his son, and of his son's son, and of those like them. ² Because at that time the unwritten law was named amongst them, and the works of the commandments were then fulfilled, and belief in the coming judgement was then generated, and hope of the world that was to be renewed was then built up, and the promise of the life that should come hereafter was implanted. ³ These are the bright waters, which you have seen.

58 "And the black third waters which you have seen, these are the mingling of all sins, which the nations afterwards wrought after the death of those righteous men, and the wickedness of the land of Matzarayam, wherein they did wickedly in the service wherewith they made their sons to serve. ² Nevertheless, these also perished at last.

59 "And the bright fourth waters which you have seen are the advent of Mashah and Aharan and Marayam and Yahawashai the son of Nawan and Kalab and of all those like them. ² For at that time the lamp of the eternal law shone on all those who sat in darkness, which announced to them that believe the promise of their reward, and to them that deny, the torment of fire which is reserved for them. ³ But also the heavens at that time were shaken from their place, and those who were under the throne of the Mighty One were perturbed, when He was taking Mashah to Himself. ⁴ For He showed him many admonitions together with the principles of the law and the consummation of time, as also to you, and likewise the pattern of Tzayawan and its measures, which was made to be in the pattern of the sanctuary of the present time. ⁵ But then also He showed to him the measures of the fire, also the depths of the abyss, and the weight of the winds, and the number of the drops of rain. ⁶ And the suppression of anger, and the multitude of long-suffering, and the truth of judgement. ⁷ And the root of wisdom, and the riches of understanding, and the fount of knowledge. ⁸ And the height of the air, and the greatness of Paradise, and the consummation of the ages, and the beginning of the day of judgement. ⁹ And the number of the offerings, and the earths which have not yet come. ¹⁰ And the mouth of Gehenna, and the station of vengeance, and the place of faith, and the region of hope. ¹¹ And the likeness of future torment, and the multitude of innumerable angels, and the powers of the flames, and the splendour of the lightnings, and the voice of the thunders, and the orders of the chiefs of the angels, and the treasures of light, and the changes of the times, and the investigations of the law. ¹² These are the bright fourth waters which you have seen.

60 "And the black fifth waters which you have seen raining are the works which the Amorites wrought, and the spells of their incantations which they wrought, and the wickedness of their mysteries, and the mingling of their pollution. ² But even Yasharaal was then polluted by sins in the days of the judges, though they saw many signs which were from Him who made them.

61 "And the bright sixth waters which you did see, this is the time in which Dawad and Shalahmah were born. ² And there was at that time the building of Tzayawan, and the dedication of the sanctuary, and the shedding of much blood of the nations that sinned then, and many offerings which were offered then in the dedication of the sanctuary. ³ And peace and tranquillity existed at that time. ⁴ And wisdom was heard in the assembly, and the riches of understanding were magnified in the congregations. ⁵ And the holy festivals were fulfilled in goodness and in much joy. ⁶ And the judgement of the rulers was then seen to be without guile, and the righteousness of the precepts of the Mighty One was accomplished with truth. ⁷ And because the land was then beloved at that time, and because its inhabitants sinned not, it was glorified beyond all lands, and the city Tzayawan ruled then over all lands and regions. ⁸ These are the bright waters which you have seen.

62 "And the black seventh waters which you have seen, this is the perversion (brought about) by the counsel of Yarabaim, who took counsel to make two calves of gold. ² And all the iniquities which kings who were after him iniquitously wrought. ³ And the curse of Ayazabal and the worship of idols which Yasharaal practised at that time. ⁴ And the withholding of rain, and the famines which occurred until women eat the fruit of their wombs. ⁵ And the time of their captivity which came upon the nine tribes and a half, because they were in many sins. ⁶ And Salmansar king of Ashawar came and led them away captive. ⁷ But regarding the Gentiles it were tedious to tell how they always wrought impiety and wickedness, and never wrought righteousness. ⁸ These are the black seventh waters which you have seen.

63 "And the bright eighth waters which you have seen, this is the rectitude and uprightness of Chazaqayahaw king of Yahawadah and the benignity which came upon him.² For when Sanacharayab was stirred up in order that he might perish, and his wrath troubled him in order that he might thereby perish, for the multitude also of the nations which were with him.³ When, moreover, Chazaqayahaw the king heard those things which the king of Ashawar was devising, (i.e.) to come and seize him and destroy his people, the two and a half tribes which remained: nay, more he wished to overthrow Tzayawan also; then Chazaqayahaw trusted in his works, and had hope in his righteousness, and spoke with the Mighty One and said:⁴ 'Behold, for lo! Sanacharayab is prepared to destroy us, and he will be boastful and uplifted when he has destroyed Tzayawan.'⁵ And the Mighty One heard him, for Chazaqayahaw was wise, And He had respect to his prayer, because he was righteous.⁶ And thereupon the Mighty One commanded Ramiel His angel who speaks with you.⁷ And I went forth and destroyed their multitude, the number of whose chiefs only was a hundred and eighty-five thousand, and each one of them had an equal number (at his command).⁸ And at that time I burned their bodies within, but their raiment and arms I preserved outwardly, in order that the still more wonderful deeds of the Mighty One might appear, and that thereby His name might be spoken of throughout the whole earth.⁹ Moreover, Tzayawan was saved and Yarawashalam delivered: Yasharaal also was freed from tribulation.¹⁰ And all those who were in the holy land rejoiced, and the name of the Mighty One was glorified so that it was spoken of.¹¹ These are the bright waters which you have seen.

64 "And the black ninth waters which you have seen, this is all the wickedness which was in the days of Manashah the son of Chazaqayahaw.² For he wrought much impiety, and he slew the righteous, and he wrested judgement, and he shed the blood of the innocent, and wedded women he violently polluted, and he overturned the altars, and destroyed their offerings, and drove forth their priests lest they should minister in the sanctuary.³ And he made an image with five faces: four of them looked to the four winds, and the fifth on the summit of the image as an adversary of the zeal of the Mighty One.⁴ And then wrath went forth from the presence of the Mighty One to the intent that Tzayawan should be rooted out, as also it befell in your days.⁵ But also against the two tribes and a half went forth a decree that they should also be led away captive, as you have now seen.⁶ And to such a degree did the impiety of Manashah increase, that it removed the praise of the Ilayawan from the sanctuary.⁷ On this account Manashah was at that time named "the impious", and finally his abode was in the fire.⁸ For though his prayer was heard with the Ilayawan, finally, when he was cast into the brazen horse and the brazen horse was melted, it served as a sign to him at the time.⁹ For he had not lived perfectly, for he was not worthy- but that thenceforward he might know by whom finally he should be tormented.¹⁰ For he who is able to benefit is also able to torment.

65 Thus, moreover, did Manashah act impiously, and thought that in his time the Mighty One would not inquire into these things.² These are the black ninth waters which you have seen.

66 "And the bright tenth waters which you have seen: this is the purity of the generations of Yaashayahaw king of Yahawadah, who was the only one at the time who submitted himself to the Mighty One with all his heart and with all his soul.² And he cleansed the land from idols, and hallowed all the vessels which had been polluted, and restored the offerings to the altar, and raised the horn of the holy, and exalted the righteous, and honoured all that were wise in understanding, and brought back the priests to their ministry, and destroyed and removed the magicians and enchanters and fortune-tellers from the land.³ And not only did he slay the impious that were living, but they also took from the sepulchres the bones of the dead and burned them with fire.⁴ [And the festivals and the sabbaths he established in their sanctity], and their polluted ones he burnt in the fire, and the lying prophets which deceived the people, these also he burnt in the fire, and the people who listened to them when they were living, he cast them into the brook Cedron, and heaped stones upon them.⁵ And he was zealous with zeal of the Mighty One with all his soul, and he alone was firm in the law at that time, so that he left none that was uncircumcised, or that wrought impiety in all the land, all the days of his life.⁶ This, moreover, is he that shall receive an eternal reward, and he shall be glorified with the Mighty One beyond many at a later time.⁷ For on his account and on account of those who are like him were the inestimable glories, of which you were told before, created and prepared.⁸ These are the bright waters which you have seen.

67 "And the black eleventh waters which you have seen: this is the calamity which is now befalling Tzayawan.² Do you think that there is no anguish to the angels in the presence of the Mighty One, that Tzayawan was so delivered up, and that lo! the Gentiles boast in their hearts, and assemble before their idols and say, 'She is trodden down who oftentimes trod down, and she has been reduced to servitude who reduced (others)'?³ Do you think that in these things the Ilayawan rejoices, Or that His name is glorified?⁴ But how will it serve towards His righteous judgement?⁵ Yet after these things shall those that are dispersed among the Gentiles be taken hold of by tribulation, and in shame shall they dwell in every place.⁶ Because so far as Tzayawan is delivered up and Yarawashalam laid waste, and idols prosper in the cities of the Gentiles, and the vapour of the smoke of the incense of the righteousness which is by the law is extinguished in Tzayawan and in the region of Tzayawan in every place lo! there is the smoke of impiety.⁷ But the king of Babal will arise who has now destroyed Tzayawan, and he will boast over the people, and he will speak great things in his heart in the presence of the Ilayawan.⁸ But he also shall fall at last.⁹ These are the black waters.

68 "And the bright twelfth waters which you have seen: this is the word.² For after these things a time will come when your people shall fall into distress, so that they shall all run the risk of perishing together.³ Nevertheless, they will be saved, and their enemies will fall in their presence.⁴ And they will have in (due) time much joy.⁵ And at that time after a little interval Tzayawan will again be builded, and its offerings will again be restored, and the priests will return to their ministry, and also the Gentiles will come to glorify it.⁶ Nevertheless, not fully as in the beginning.⁸ But it will come to pass after these things that there will be the fall of many nations.⁹ These are the bright waters which you have seen.

69 "For the last waters which you have seen which were darker than all that were before them, those which were after the twelfth number, which were collected together, belong to the whole world.² For the Ilayawan made division from the beginning, because He alone knows what will befall.³ For as to the enormities and the impieties which should be wrought before Him, He foresaw six kinds of them.⁴ And of the good works of the righteous which should be accomplished before Him, He foresaw six kinds of them, beyond those which He should work at the consummation of the age.⁵ On his account there were not black waters with black, nor bright with bright; for it is the consummation.

70 "Hear therefore the interpretation of the last black waters which are to come [after the black]: this is the word.² Behold! the days come, and it shall be when the time of the age has ripened, and the harvest of its evil and good seeds has come, and the Mighty One will bring upon the earth and its inhabitants and upon its rulers perturbation of spirit and stupor of heart. *[70:3] And they will hate one another, and provoke one another to fight, and the mean will rule over the honourable, and those of low degree shall be extolled above the famous.⁴ And the many will be delivered into the hands of the few, and those who are nothing will rule over the strong, and the poor shall have abundance beyond the rich, and the impious will exalt themselves above the heroic.⁵ And the wise shall be silent, and the foolish shall speak, neither will the thought of men be then confirmed, nor the counsel of the mighty, nor shall the hope of those who hope be confirmed.⁶ Moreover, it will be when those things which were predicted have come to pass, that confusion will fall upon all men, and some of them will fall in battle, and some of them will perish in anguish, and some of them will be destroyed by their own.⁷ Then the Ilayawan will reveal those peoples whom He has prepared before, and they will come and make war with the leaders that shall then be left.⁸ And it will come to pass that whosoever gets safe out of the war will die in the earthquake, and whosoever gets safe out of the earthquake will be burned by the fire, and whosoever gets safe out of the fire will be destroyed by famine. [⁹ And it shall come to pass that whosoever of the victors and the vanquished gets safe out of and escapes all these things aforesaid will be delivered into the hands of My servant Mashayach.]¹⁰ For all the earth will devour its inhabitants.

71 "And the holy land will have mercy on its own, and it will protect its inhabitants at that time.² This is the vision which you have seen, and this is the interpretation.³ For I have come to tell you these things, because your prayer has been heard with the Ilayawan.

72 "Hear now also regarding the bright lightning which is to come at the consummation after these black (waters): this is the word.² After the signs have come, of which you were told before, when the nations become turbulent, and the time of My Mashayach is come, He will both summon all the nations, and some of them He will spare, and some of them He will slay.³ These things therefore shall come upon the nations which are to be spared by Him.⁴ Every nation, which knows not Yasharaal and has not trodden down the seed of Yaiqab, shall indeed be spared.⁵ And this because some out of every nation shall be subjected to your people.⁶ But all those who have ruled over you, or have known you, shall be given up to the sword.

73 "And it will come to pass, when He has brought low everything that is in the world, and has sat down in peace for the age on the throne of His kingdom, that joy shall then be revealed, and rest appear.² And then healing will descend in dew, and disease will withdraw, and anxiety and anguish and lamentation will pass from amongst men, and gladness proceed through the whole earth.³ And no one shall again die untimely, nor shall any adversity suddenly befall.⁴ And judgements, and revilings, and contentions, and revenges, and blood, and passions, and envy, and hatred, and whatsoever things are like these shall go into condemnation when they are removed.⁵ For it is these very things which have filled this world with evils, and on account of these the life of man has been greatly troubled.⁶ And wild beasts will come from the forest and minister to men, and asps and dragons will come forth from their holes to submit themselves to a little child.⁷ And women shall no longer then have pain when they bear, nor will they suffer torment when they yield the fruit of the womb.

74 And it will come to pass in those days that the reapers will not grow weary, nor those that build be toiled; for the works will of themselves speedily advance with those who do them in much tranquillity.² For that time is the consummation of that which is corruptible, and the beginning of that which is not corruptible.³ Therefore those things which were predicted will belong to it: therefore it is far away from evils, and near to those things which die not.⁴ This is the bright lightning which came after the last dark waters."

75 And I answered and said: "Who can understand, O Adanay, Your goodness? For it is incomprehensible.² Or who can search into your compassions, which are infinite?³ Or who can comprehend Your intelligence?⁴ Or who is able to recount the thoughts of Your mind?⁵ Or who of those who are born can hope to come to those things, unless he is one to whom You are merciful and gracious?⁶ Because, if assuredly You did not have compassion on man, those who are under Your right hand, they could not come to those things, but those who are in the numbers named can be called.⁷ But if, indeed, we who exist know therefore we have come, and submit ourselves to Him who brought us out of Matzarayam, we shall come again and remember those things which have passed, and shall rejoice regarding that which has been.⁸ But if now we know not therefore we have come, and recognise not the principate of Him who brought us up out of Matzarayam, we shall come again and seek after those things which were now, and be grieved with pain because of those things which have befallen."

76 And He answered and said to me: ["Inasmuch as the revelation of this vision has been interpreted to you as you besoughtest], hear the word of the Ilayawan that you may know what is to befall you after these things.² For you shall surely depart from this earth, nevertheless not to death but you shall be preserved to the consummation of the times.³ Go up therefore to the top of that mountain, and there will pass before you all the regions of that land, and the figure of the inhabited world, and the top of the mountains, and the depth of the valleys, and the depths of the seas, and the number of the rivers, that you may see what you are leaving and where you are going.⁴ Now this will befall after forty days.⁵ Go now therefore during these days and instruct the people so far as you are able, that they may learn so as not to die at the last time, but may learn in order that they may live at the last times."

77 And I, Barawak, went thence and came to the people, and assembled them together from the greatest to the least, and said to them:² "Hear, you children of Yasharaal, behold how many you are who remain of the twelve tribes of Yasharaal.³ For to you and to your fathers the Adanay gave a law beyond peoples.⁴ And because your brethren transgressed the commandments of the Ilayawan, He brought vengeance upon you and upon them, and He spared not the former, and the latter also He gave into captivity, and left not a residue of them,⁵ But behold! you are here with me.⁶ If, therefore, you direct your ways aright, you also shall not depart as your brethren departed, but they will come to you.⁷ For He is merciful whom you worship, and He is gracious in whom you hope, and He is true, so that He shall do (you) good and not evil.⁸ Lo! have you not seen here what has befallen Tzayawan?⁹ Or do you perchance think that the place had sinned, and that on this account it was overthrown, or that the land had wrought foolishness, and that therefore it was delivered up?¹⁰ And know you not that on account of you who did sin, that which sinned not was overthrown, and, on account of those who wrought wickedly, that which wrought not foolishness was delivered up to (its) enemies."¹¹ And the whole people answered and said to me: "So far as we can recall the good things which the Mighty One has done to us, we do recall them; and those things which we do not remember He in His mercy knows.¹² Nevertheless, do this for us your people: write also to our brethren in Babal an epistle of doctrine and a scroll of good tidings, that you may confirm them also before you do depart from us.¹³ For the shepherds of Yasharaal have perished, and the lamps which gave light are extinguished, and the fountains have withheld their stream whence we used to drink.¹⁴ And we are left in the darkness, and amid the trees of the forest, and the thirst of the wilderness."¹⁵ And I answered and said to them: "Shepherds and lamps and fountains came (to us) from the law: and though we depart, yet the law abides.¹⁶ If therefore you have respect to the law, and are intent upon wisdom, a lamp will not be wanting, and a shepherd will not fail, and a fountain will not dry up.¹⁷ Nevertheless, as you said to me, I will write also to your brethren in Babal, and I will send by means of men, and I will write in like manner to the nine tribes and a half, and send by means of a bird."¹⁸ And it came to pass on the one and twentieth day in the eighth month that I, Barawak, came and sat down under the oak under the shadow of the branches, and no man was with me, but I was alone.¹⁹ And I wrote these two epistles: one I sent by an eagle to the nine and a half tribes; and the other I sent to those that were at Babal by means of three men.²⁰ And I called the eagle and spoke these words to it:²¹ "The Ilayawan has made you that you should be higher than all birds.²² And now go and tarry not in (any) place, nor enter a nest, nor settle upon any tree, till you have passed over the breadth of the many waters of the river Parath, and have gone to the people that dwell there, and cast down to them this epistle.²³ Remember, moreover, that, at the time of the deluge, Nach received from a dove the fruit of the olive, when he sent it forth from the ark.²⁴ Yea, also the ravens ministered to Alayahaw, bearing him food, as they had been commanded. Shalamah also, in the time of his kingdom, whithersoever he wished to send or seek for anything, commanded a bird (to go there), and it obeyed him as he commanded it.²⁵ And now let it not weary you, and turn not to the right hand nor the left, but fly and go by a direct way, that you may preserve the command of the Mighty One, according as I said to you."

78 These are the words of that epistle which Barawak the son of Narayah sent to the nine and a half tribes, which were across the river Parath, in which these things were written.² Thus says Barawak the son of Narayah to the brethren carried into captivity:³ "Mercy and peace." I bear in mind, my brethren, the love of Him who created us, who loved us from of old, and never hated us, but above all educated us.⁴ And truly I know that behold all we the twelve tribes are bound by one bond, inasmuch as we are born from one father.⁵ Therefore I have been the more careful to leave you the words of this epistle before I die, that you may be comforted regarding the evils which have come upon you, and that you may be grieved also regarding the evil that has befallen your brethren; and again, also, that you may justify His judgement which He has decreed against you that you should be carried away captives- for what you have suffered is disproportioned to what you have done- in order that, at the last times, you may be found worthy of your fathers.⁶ Therefore, if you consider those things which you have now suffered for your good, that you may not finally be condemned and tormented, then you will receive eternal hope; if above all you destroy from your heart vain error, on account of which you departed hence.⁷ For if you so do these things, He will continually remember you, He who alway promised on our behalf to those who were more excellent than we, that He will never forget or forsake us, but with much mercy will gather together again those who were dispersed.

79 Now, my brethren, learn first what befell Tzayawan: how that Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal came up against us.² For we have sinned against Him who made us, and we have not kept the commandments which he commanded us, yet he has not chastened us as we deserved.³ For what befell you we also suffer in a pre-eminent degree, for it befell us also.

80 And now, my brethren, I make known to you that when the enemy had surrounded the city, the angels of the Ilayawan were sent, and they overthrew the fortifications of the strong wall, and they destroyed the firm iron corners, which could not be rooted out.² Nevertheless, they hid all the vessels of the sanctuary, lest the enemy should get possession of them.³ And when they had done these things, they delivered thereupon to the enemy the overthrown wall, and the plundered house, and the burnt temple, and the people who were overcome because they were delivered up, lest the enemy should boast and say: "Thus by force have we been able to lay waste even the house of the Ilayawan in war."⁴ Your brethren also have they bound and led away to Babal, and have caused them to dwell there.⁵ But we have been left here, being very few.⁶ This is the tribulation about which I wrote to you.⁷ For assuredly I know that the habitation of Tzayawan gave you consolation: so far as you knew that it was prospered (your consolation) was greater than the tribulation which you endured in having to depart from it.

81 But regarding consolation, hear you the word.² For I was mourning regarding Tzayawan, and I prayed for mercy from the Ilayawan, and I said:³ "How long will these things endure for us? And will these evils come upon us always?"⁴ And the Mighty One did according to the multitude of His mercies, and the Ilayawan according to the greatness of His compassion, and He revealed to me the word, that I might receive consolation, and He showed me visions that I should not again endure anguish, and He made known to me the mystery of the times, and the advent of the hours He showed me.

82 Therefore, my brethren, I have written to you, that you may comfort yourselves regarding the multitude of your tribulations.² For know you that our Maker will assuredly avenge us on all our enemies, according to all that they have done to us, also that the consummation which the Ilayawan will make is very nigh, and His mercy that is coming, and the consummation of His judgement is by no means far off.³ For lo! we see now the multitude of the prosperity of the Gentiles, though they act impiously, but they will be like a vapour:⁴ And we behold the multitude of their power, though they do wickedly, but they will be made like to a drop:⁵ And we see the firmness of their might, though they resist the Mighty One every hour, but they will be accounted as spittle.⁶ And we consider the glory of their greatness, though they do not keep the statutes of the Ilayawan, but as smoke will they pass away.⁷ And we meditate on the beauty of their gracefulness, though they have to do with pollutions, but as grass that withers will they fade away.⁸ And we consider the strength of their cruelty, though they remember not the end (thereof), but as a wave that passes will they be broken.⁹ And we remark the boastfulness of their might, though they deny the beneficence of Alahayam, who gave (it) to them, but they will pass away as a passing cloud. [

83 For the Ilayawan will assuredly hasten His times, and He will assuredly bring on His hours.² And He will assuredly judge those who are in His world, and will visit in truth all things by means of all their hidden works.³ And He will assuredly examine the secret thoughts, and that which is laid up in the secret chambers of all the members of man, and will make (them) manifest in the presence of all with reproof.⁴ Let none therefore of these present things ascend into your hearts, but above all let us be expectant, because that which is promised to us will come. wi⁵ And let us not now look to the delights of the Gentiles in the present, but let us remember what has been promised to us in the end.⁶ For the ends of the times and of the seasons and whatsoever is with them shall assuredly pass by.⁷ The consummation, moreover, of the age shall then show the great might of its ruler, when all things come to judgement.⁸ Do you therefore prepare your hearts for that which before you believed, lest you come to be in bondage in both worlds, so that you be led away captive here and be tormented there.⁹ For that which exists now or which has passed away, or which is to come in all these things, neither is the evil fully evil, nor again the good fully good.¹⁰ For all healthinesses of this time are turning into diseases.¹¹ And all might of this time is turning into weakness, and all the force of this time is turning into misery.¹² And every energy of youth is turning into old age and consummation, and every beauty of gracefulness of this time is turning faded and hateful.¹³ And every proud dominion of the present is turning into humiliation and shame.¹⁴ And every praise of the glory of this time is turning into the shame of silence, and every splendour and insolence of this time is turning into voiceless ruin.¹⁵ And every delight and joy of this time is turning to worms and corruption.¹⁶ And every clamour of the pride of this time is turning into dust and stillness.¹⁷ And every possession of riches of this time is being turned into Sheol alone.¹⁸ And all the rapine of passion of this time is turning into involuntary death, and every passion of the lusts of this time is turning into a judgement of torment.¹⁹ And every artifice and craftiness of this time is turning into a proof of the truth.²⁰ And every sweetness of unguents of this time is turning into judgement and condemnation.²¹ And every love of lying is turning to shame through truth.²² Since therefore all these things are done now, does anyone think that they will not be avenged?²³ But the consummation of all things will come to the truth.]

84 Behold! I have therefore made known to you (these things) whilst I live: for I have said that you should above all things learn the commandments of the Mighty One, wherein I shall instruct you; and I will set before you some of the commandments of His judgement before I die.² Remember that formerly Mashah assuredly called heaven and earth to witness against you and said: "if you transgress the law you shall be dispersed, but if you keep it you shall be kept."³ And other things also he used to say to you when you the twelve tribes were together in the desert.⁴ And after his death you cast them away from you: on this account there came upon you what had been predicted.⁵ And now Mashah used to tell you before they befell you, and lo! they have befallen you: for you have forsaken the law.⁶ Lo! I also say to you after you have suffered, that if you obey those things which have been said to you, you will receive from the Mighty One whatever has been laid up and reserved for you.⁷ Moreover, let this epistle be for a testimony between me and you, that you may remember the commandments of the Mighty One, and that also there may be to me a defence in the presence of Him who sent me.⁸ And remember you the law and Tzayawan, and the holy land and your brethren, and the covenant of your fathers, and forget not the festivals and the sabbaths.⁹ And deliver you this epistle and the traditions of the law to your sons after you, as also your fathers delivered (them) to you.¹⁰ And at all times make request perseveringly and pray diligently with your whole heart that the Mighty One may be reconciled to you, and that He may not reckon the multitude of your sins, but remember the rectitude of your fathers.¹¹ For if He judge us not according to the multitude of His mercies, woe to all us who are born. [

85 Know you, moreover, that in former times and in the generations of old our fathers had helpers, Righteous men and holy prophets.² Nay more, we were in our own land and they helped us when we sinned, And they prayed for us with Him who made us, because they trusted in their works, and the Mighty One heard their prayer and was gracious us.³ But now the righteous have been gathered and the prophets have fallen asleep, and we also have gone forth from the land, and Tzayawan has been taken from us, and we have nothing now save the Mighty One and His law.⁴ If therefore we direct and dispose our hearts, we shall receive everything that we lost, and much better things than we lost (yea, better) by many times.⁵ For what we have lost was subject to corruption, and what we shall receive shall not be corruptible. [⁶ Moreover, also, I have written thus to our brethren to Babal, that to them also I may attest these very things.] ⁷ And let all those things aforesaid be always before your eyes, because we are still in the spirit and the power of our liberty.⁸ Again, moreover, the Ilayawan also is long-suffering towards us here, and He has shown to us that which is to be, and has not concealed from us what will befall in the end.⁹ Before therefore judgement exact its own, and truth that which is its due, let us prepare our soul that we may enter into possession of, and not be taken possession of, and that we may hope and not be put to shame, and that we may rest with our fathers, and not be tormented with our enemies.¹⁰ For the youth of the world is past, and the strength of the creation already exhausted, and the advent of the times is very short, yea, they have passed by; and the pitcher is near to the cistern, and the ship to the port, and the course of the journey to the city, and life to consummation.¹¹ And again prepare your souls, so that when you sail and ascend from the ship you may have rest and not be condemned when you depart.¹² For lo! when the Ilayawan will bring to pass all these things, there will not there be again an opportunity for returning, nor a limit to the times, or adjournment to the hours, nor a change of ways, nor place for prayer, nor sending of petitions, nor receiving of knowledge, nor giving of love, nor place of repentance, nor supplication for offences, nor intercession of the fathers, nor prayer of the prophets, nor help of the righteous.¹³ There there is the sentence of corruption, the way of fire, and the path which brings to Gehenna.¹⁴ On this account there is one law by one, one age and an end for all who are in it.¹⁵ Then He will preserve those whom He finds he may be gracious, and at the same time destroy those who are polluted with sins.]

86 When therefore you receive this my epistle, read it in your congregations with care.² And meditate thereon, above all on the days of your fasts.³ And bear me in mind by means of this epistle, as I also bear you in mind in it, and always fare you well.

87 And it came to pass when I had ended all the words of this epistle, and had written it sedulously to its close, that I folded it, and sealed it carefully, and bound it to the neck of the eagle, and dismissed and sent it.

1 Truly I Barawak was weeping in my mind and sorrowing on account of the people, and that Nabawakadaraatzar the king was permitted by Alahayam to destroy His city, saying: ² Adanay, why did You set on fire Your vineyard, and lay it waste? Why did You do this? And why, Adanay, did You not requite us with another chastisement, but did deliver us to nations such as these, so that they reproach us and say, Where is their Alahayam? ³ And behold as I was weeping and saying such things, I saw an angel of the Adanay coming and saying to me: Understand, O man, greatly beloved, and trouble not yourself so greatly concerning the salvation of Yarrowashalam, for thus says the Adanay Alahayam, the Shaday. ⁴ For He sent me before you, to make known and to show to you all (the things) of Alahayam. ⁵ For your prayer was heard before Him, and entered into the ears of the Adanay Alahayam. ⁶ And when he had said these things to me, I was silent. And the angel said to me: Cease to provoke Alahayam, and I will show you other mysteries, greater than these. ⁷ And I Barawak said, As the Adanay Alahayam lives, if you will show me, and I hear a word of your, I will not continue to speak any longer. Alahayam shall add to my judgement in the day of judgement, if I speak hereafter. And the angel of the powers said to me, Come, and I will show you the mysteries of Alahayam.

2 And he took me and led me where the firmament has been set fast, and where there was a river which no one can cross, nor any strange breeze of all those which Alahayam created. And he took me and led me to the first heaven, and showed me a door of great size. ² And he said to me, Let us enter through it, and we entered as though borne on wings, a distance of about thirty days' journey. And he showed me within the heaven a plain; ³ And there were men dwelling thereon, with the faces of oxen, and the horns of stags and the feet of goats, and the haunches of lambs. ⁴ And I Barawak asked the angel, Make known to me, I pray you, what is the thickness of the heaven in which we journeyed, or what is its extent, or what is the plain, in order that I may also tell the sons of men? ⁵ And the angel whose name is Phamael said to me: This door which you see is the door of heaven, and as great as is the distance from earth to heaven, so great also is its thickness; and again as great as is the distance (from North to South, so great) is the length of the plain which you did see. ⁶ And again the angel of the powers said to me, Come, and I will show you greater mysteries. ⁷ But I said, I pray you show me what are these men. And he said to me, These are they who built the tower of strife against Alahayam, and the Adanay banished them.

3 And the angel of the Adanay took me and led me to a second heaven. ² And he showed me there also a door like the first and said, Let us enter through it. ³ And we entered, being borne on wings a distance of about sixty days' journey. ⁴ And he showed me there also a plain, and it was full of men, whose appearance was like that of dogs, and whose feet were like those of stags. ⁵ And I asked the angel: I pray you, Adanay, say to me who are these. ⁶ And he said, These are they who gave counsel to build the tower, for they whom you see drove forth multitudes of both men and women, to make bricks; among whom, a woman making bricks was not allowed to be released in the hour of child-birth, but brought forth while she was making bricks, and carried her child in her apron, and continued to make bricks. And the Adanay appeared to them and confused their speech, when they had built the tower to the height of four hundred and sixty-three cubits. ⁷ And they took a gimlet, and sought to pierce the heaven, saying, ⁸ Let us see (whether) the heaven is made of clay, or of brass, or of iron. When Alahayam saw this He did not permit them, but smote them with blindness and confusion of speech, and rendered them as you see.

4 And I Barawak said, Behold, Adanay, You did show me great and wonderful things; and now show me all things for the sake of the Adanay. ² And the angel said to me, Come, let us proceed. (And I proceeded) with the angel from that place about one hundred and eighty-five days' journey. ³ And he showed me a plain and a serpent, which appeared to be two hundred plethra in length. ⁴ And he showed me Hades, and its appearance was dark and abominable. ⁵ And I said, Who is this dragon, and who is this monster around him? ⁶ And the angel said, The dragon is he who eats the bodies of those who spend their life wickedly, and he is nourished by them. And this is Hades, which itself also closely resembles him, in that it also drinks about a cubit from the sea, which does not sink at all. ⁷ Barawak said, And how (does this happen)? And the angel said, Harken, the Adanay Alahayam made three hundred and sixty rivers, of which the chief of all are Alphias, Abyrus, and the Gericus; [4:and] because of these the sea does not sink. ⁸ And I said, I pray you show me which is the tree which led Adam astray. ⁹ And the angel said to me, It is the vine, which the angel Sammael planted, whereat the Adanay Alahayam was angry, and He cursed him and his plant, while also on this account He did not permit Adam to touch it, and therefore the devil being envious deceived him through his vine. ¹⁰ [And I Barawak said, Since also the vine has been the cause of such great evil, and is under judgment of the curse of Alahayam, and was the destruction of the first created, how is it now so useful? ¹¹ And the angel said, You ask aright. When Alahayam caused the deluge upon earth, and destroyed all flesh, and four hundred and nine thousand giants, and the water rose fifteen cubits above the highest mountains, then the water entered into paradise and destroyed every flower; but it removed wholly without the bounds the shoot of the vine and cast it outside. And when the earth appeared out of the water, and Nach came out of the ark, he began to plant of the plants which he found. ¹² But he found also the shoot of the vine; and he took it, and was reasoning in himself, What then is it? ¹³ And I came and spoke to him the things concerning it. And he said, Shall I plant it, or what shall I do? Since Adam was destroyed because of it, let me not also meet with the anger of Alahayam because of it. ¹⁴ And saying these things he prayed that Alahayam would reveal to him what he should do concerning it. And when he had completed the prayer which lasted forty days, and having besought many things and wept, he said: ¹⁵ Adanay, I entreat you to reveal to me what I shall do concerning this plant. But Alahayam sent his angel Sarasaël, and said to him, Arise, Nach, and plant the shoot of the vine, for thus says the Adanay : Its bitterness shall be changed into sweetness, and its curse shall become a blessing, and that which is produced from it shall become the blood of Alahayam; and as through it the human race obtained condemnation, so again through Yashawai Mashayach the Imanawaal will they receive in Him the upward calling, [4:and] the entry into paradise]. ¹⁶ Know therefore, O Barawak, that as Adam through this very tree obtained condemnation, and was divested of the glory of Alahayam, so also the men who now drink insatiably the wine which is begotten of it, transgress worse than Adam, and are far from the glory of Alahayam, and are surrendering themselves to the eternal fire. ¹⁷ For (no) good comes through it. For those who drink it to surfeit do these things: neither does a brother pity his brother, nor a father his son, nor children their parents, but from the drinking of wine come all evils, such as murders, adulteries, fornications, perjuries, thefts, and such like. And nothing good is established by it.

5 And I Barawak said to the angel, Let me ask you one thing, Adanay. ² Since you did say to me that the dragon drinks one cubit out of the sea, say to me also, how great is his belly? ³ And the angel said, His belly is Hades; and as far as a plummet is thrown (by) three hundred men, so great is his belly. Come, then, that I may show you also greater works than these.

6 And he took me and led me where the sun goes forth; and he showed me a chariot and four, under which burnt a fire, and in the chariot was sitting a man, wearing a crown of fire, (and) the chariot (was) drawn by forty angels. ² And behold a bird circling before the sun, about nine cubits away. ³ And I said to the angel, What is this bird? ⁴ And he said to me, This is the guardian of the earth. ⁵ And I said, Adanay, how is he the guardian of the earth? Teach me. ⁶ And the angel said to me, This bird flies alongside of the sun, and expanding his wings receives its fiery rays. For if he were not receiving them, the human race would not be preserved, nor any other living creature. But Alahayam appointed this bird thereto. ⁷ And he expanded his wings, and I saw on his right wing very large letters, as large as the space of a threshing-floor, the size of about four thousand modii; ⁸ and the letters were of gold. And the angel said to me, Read them. ⁹ And I read and they ran thus: Neither earth nor heaven bring me forth, but wings of fire bring me forth. And I said, Adanay, what is this bird, and what is his name? ¹¹ And the angel said to me, His name is called Phoenix. (And I said), And what does he eat? And he said to me, The manna of heaven and the dew of earth. ¹² And I said, Does the bird excrete? And he said to me, He excretes a worm, and the excrement of the worm is cinnamon, which kings and princes use. But wait and you shall see the glory of Alahayam. ¹³ And while he was conversing with me, there was as a thunder-clap, and the place was shaken on which we were standing. And I asked the angel, My Adanay, what is this sound? ¹⁴ And the angel said to me, Even now the angels are opening the three hundred and sixty-five gates of heaven, and the light is being separated from the darkness. And a voice came which said, Light giver, give to the world radiance. ¹⁵ And when I heard the noise of the bird, I said, Adanay, what is this noise? ¹⁶ And he said, This is the bird who awakens from slumber the cocks upon earth. For as men do through the mouth, so also does the cock signify to those in the world, in his own speech. For the sun is made ready by the angels, and the cock crows.

7 And I said, And where does the sun begin its labors, after the cock crows? ² And the angel said to me, Listen, Barawak: All things whatsoever I showed you are in the first and second heaven, and in the third heaven the sun passes through and gives light to the world. ³ But wait, and you shall see the glory of Alahayam. And while I was conversing with him, I saw the bird, and he appeared in front, and grew less and less, and at length returned to his full size. ⁴ And behind him I saw the shining sun, and the angels which draw it, and a crown upon its bead, the sight of which we were not able to gaze Upon, and behold. ⁵ And as soon as the sun shone, the Phoenix also stretched out his wings. ⁶ But I, when I beheld such great glory, was brought low with great fear, and I fled and hid in the wings of the angel. And the angel said to me, Fear not, Barawak, but wait and you shall also see their setting.

8 And he took me and led me towards the west; and when the time of the, setting came, ² I saw again the bird coming before it, and as soon as lie came I saw the angels, and they lifted the crown from its head. ³ But the bird stood exhausted and with wings contracted. ⁴ And beholding these things, I said, Adanay, therefore did they lift the crown from the head of the sun, and therefore is the bird so exhausted? ⁵ And the angel said to me, The crown of the sun, when it has run through the day, four angels take it, and bear it up to heaven, and renew it, because it and its rays have been defiled upon earth; moreover it is so renewed each day. ⁶ And I Barawak said, Adanay, and therefore are its beams defiled upon earth? And the angel said to me, Because it beholds the lawlessness and unrighteousness of men, namely fornications, adulteries, thefts, extortions, idolatries, drunkenness, murders, strife, jealousies, Awayal-speakings, murmurings, whisperings, divinations, and such like, which are not well-pleasing to Alahayam. On account of these things is it defiled, and therefore is it renewed. ⁷ But you ask concerning the bird, how it is exhausted. Because by restraining the rays of the sun through the fire and burning heat of the whole day, it is exhausted thereby. For, as we said before, unless his wings were screening the rays of the sun, no living creature would be preserved.

9 And they having retired, the night also fell, and at the same time came the chariot of the moon, along with the stars. ² And I Barawak said, Adanay, show me it also, I beseech of you, how it goes forth, where it departs, and in what form it moves along. And the angel said, Wait' and you shall see it also shortly. ³ And on the morrow I also saw it in the form of a woman, and sitting on a wheeled chariot. And there were before it oxen and lambs in the chariot, and a multitude of angels in like manner. ⁴ And I said, Adanay, what are the oxen and the lambs? And he said to me, They also are angels. ⁵ And again I asked, Why is it that it at one time increases, but at another time decreases? ⁶ And (he said to me), Listen, O Barawak: This which you see had been written by Alahayam beautiful as no other. ⁷ And at the transgression of the first Adam, it was near to Sammael when he took the serpent as a garment. And it did not hide itself but increased, and Alahayam was angry with it, and afflicted it, and shortened its days. ⁸ And I said, And how does it not also shine always, but only in the night? ⁹ And the angel said, Listen: as in the presence of a king, the courtiers cannot speak freely, so the moon and the stars cannot shine in the presence of the sun; for the stars are always suspended, but they are screened by the sun, and the moon, although it is uninjured, is consumed by the heat of the sun.

10 And when I had learnt all these things from the archangel, he took and led me into a fourth heaven. ² And I saw a monotonous plain, and in the middle of it a pool of water. ³ And there were in it multitudes of birds of all kinds, but not like those here on earth. ⁴ But I saw a crane as great as great oxen; and all the birds were great beyond those in the world. ⁵ And I asked the angel, What is the plain, and what the pool, and what the multitudes of birds around it? ⁶ And the angel said, Listen, Barawak: The plain which contains in it the pool and other wonders is the place where the souls of the righteous come, when they hold converse, living together in choirs. But the water is that which the clouds receive, and rain upon the earth, and the fruits increase. ⁷ And I said again to the angel of the Adanay, But (what) are these birds? And he said to me, They are those which continually sing praise to the Adanay. ⁸ And I said, Adanay, and how do men say that the water which descends in rain is from the sea? ⁹ And the angel said, The water which descends in rain -- this also is from the sea, and from the waters upon earth; but that which stimulates the fruits is (only) from the latter source. ¹⁰ Know therefore henceforth that from this source is what is called the dew of heaven.

11 And the angel took me and led me thence to a fifth heaven. And the gate was closed. ² And I said, Adanay, is not this gate-way open that we may enter? And the angel said to me, We cannot enter until Mayakaal comes, who holds the keys of the Kingdom of Heaven; but wait and you shall see the glory of Alahayam. ³ And there was a great sound, as thunder. And I said, Adanay, what is this sound? ⁴ And he said to me, Even now Mayakaal, the commander of the angels, comes down to receive the prayers of men. And behold a voice came, Let the gates be opened. ⁵ And they opened them, and there was a roar as of thunder. ⁶ And Mayakaal came, and the angel who was with me came face to face with him and said, Hail, my commander, and that of all our order. ⁷ And the commander Mayakaal said, Hail you also, our brother, and the interpreter of the revelations to those who pass through life virtuously. ⁸ And having saluted one another thus, they stood still. And I saw the commander Mayakaal, holding an exceedingly great vessel; its depth was as great as the distance from heaven to earth, and its breadth as great as the distance from north to south. And I said, Adanay, what is that which Mayakaal the archangel is holding? ⁹ And he said to me, This is where the merits of the righteous enter, and such good works as they do, which are escorted before the heavenly Alahayam.

12 And as I was conversing with them, behold angels came bearing baskets full of flowers. And they gave them to Mayakaal. ² And I asked the angel, Adanay, who are these, and what are the things brought here from beside them? ³ And he said to me, These are angels (who) are over the righteous. ⁴ And the archangel took the baskets, and cast them into the vessel. ⁵ And the angel said to me, These flowers are the merits of the righteous. ⁶ And I saw other angels bearing baskets which were (neither) empty-nor full. And they began to lament, and did not venture to draw near, because they had not the prizes complete. ⁷ And Mayakaal cried and said, Come here, also, you angels, bring what you have brought. ⁸ And Mayakaal was exceedingly grieved, and the angel who was with me, because they did not fill the vessel.

13 And then came in like manner other angels weeping and bewailing, and saying with fear, Behold how we are overclouded, O Adanay, for we were delivered to evil men, and we wish to depart from them. ² And Mayakaal said, You cannot depart from them, in order that the enemy may not prevail to the end; but say to me what you ask. ³ And they said, We pray you, Mayakaal our commander, transfer us from them, for we cannot abide with wicked and foolish men, for there is nothing good in them, but every kind of unrighteousness and greed. ⁴ For we do not behold them entering [into Church at all, nor among spiritual fathers, nor] into any good work. But where there is murder, there also are they in the midst, and where are fornications, adulteries, thefts, slanders, perjuries, jealousies, drunkenness, strife, envy, murmurings, whispering, idolatry, divination, and such like, then are they workers of such works, and of others worse. ⁵ Therefore we entreat that we may depart from them. And Mayakaal said to the angels, Wait till I learn from the Adanay what shall come to pass.

14 And in that very hour Mayakaal departed, and the doors were closed. And there was a sound as thunder. ² And I asked the angel, What is the sound? ³ And he said to me, Mayakaal is even now presenting the merits of men to Alahayam.

15 And in that very hour Mayakaal descended, and the gate was opened; and he brought oil. ² And as for the angels which brought the baskets which were full, he filled them with oil, saying, Take it away, reward our friends an hundredfold, and those who have laboriously wrought good works. ³ For those who sowed virtuously, also reap virtuously. And he said also to those bringing the half-empty baskets, Come here you also; take away the reward according as you brought, and deliver it to the sons of men. ⁴ [Then he said also to those who brought the full and to those who brought the half-empty baskets: Go and bless our friends, and say to them that thus says the Adanay, You are faithful over a few things, I will set you over many things; enter into the joy of your Adanay.]

16 And turning he said also to those who brought nothing: ² Thus says the Adanay, Be not sad of countenance, and weep not, nor let the sons of men alone. But since they angered me in their works, go and make them envious and angry and provoked against a people that is no people, a people that has no understanding. ³ Further, besides these, send forth the caterpillar and the unwinged locust, and the mildew, and the common locust (and) hail with lightnings and anger, and punish them severely with the sword and with death, and their children with demons. ⁴ For they did not hearken to my voice, nor did they observe my commandments, nor do them, but were despisers of my commandments, and insolent towards the priests who proclaimed my words to them.

17 And while he yet spoke, the door was closed, and we withdrew. ² And the angel took me and restored me to the place where I was at the beginning. ³ And having come to myself, I gave glory to Alahayam, who counted me worthy of such honor. ⁴ Therefore do you also, brethren, who obtained such a revelation, yourselves also glorify Alahayam, so that He also may glorify you, now and ever, and to all eternity. Amen.

1 It came to pass, when the children of Yasharaal were taken captive by the king of the Kashadayam, that Alahayam spoke to Yaramayahaw saying: Yaramayahaw, my chosen one, arise and depart from this city, you and Barawak, since I am going to destroy it because of the multitude of the sins of those who dwell in it. ² For your prayers are like a solid pillar in its midst, and like an indestructible wall surrounding it. ³ Now, then, arise and depart before the host of the Kashadayam surrounds it. ⁴ And Yaramayahaw answered, saying: I beseech you, Adanay, permit me, your servant, to speak in your presence. ⁵ And the Adanay said to him: Speak, my chosen one Yaramayahaw. ⁶ And Yaramayahaw spoke, saying: Adanay Shaday, would you deliver the chosen city into the hands of the Kashadayam, so that the king with the multitude of his people might boast and say: "I have prevailed over the holy city of Alahayam"? ⁷ No, my Adanay, but if it is your will, let it be destroyed by your hands. ⁸ And the Adanay said to Yaramayahaw: Since you are my chosen one, arise and depart from this city, you and Barawak, for I am going to destroy it because of the multitude of the sins of those who dwell in it. ⁹ For neither the king nor his host will be able to enter it unless I first open its gates. ¹⁰ Arise, then, and go to Barawak, and tell him these words. ¹¹ And when you have arisen at the sixth hour of the night, go out on the city walls and I will show you that unless I first destroy the city, they cannot enter it. ¹² When the Adanay had said this, he departed from Yaramayahaw.

2 And Yaramayahaw ran and told these things to Barawak; and as they went into the temple of Alahayam, Yaramayahaw tore his garments and put dust on his head and entered the holy place of Alahayam. ² And when Barawak saw him with dust sprinkled on his head and his garments torn, he cried out in a loud voice, saying: Father Yaramayahaw, what are you doing? What sin has the people committed? ³ (For whenever the people sinned, Yaramayahaw would sprinkle dust on his head and would pray for the people until their sin was forgiven.) ⁴ So Barawak asked him, saying: Father, what is this? ⁵ And Yaramayahaw said to him: Refrain from rending your garments -- rather, let us rend our hearts! And let us not draw water for the trough, but let us weep and fill them with tears! For the Adanay will not have mercy on this people. ⁶ And Barawak said: Father Yaramayahaw, what has happened? ⁷ And Yaramayahaw said: Alahayam is delivering the city into the hands of the king of the Kashadayam, to take the people captive into Babal. ⁸ And when Barawak heard these things, he also tore his garments and said: Father Yaramayahaw, who has made this known to you? ⁹ And Yaramayahaw said to him: Stay with me awhile, until the sixth hour of the night, so that you may know that this word is true. ¹⁰ Therefore they both remained in the altar-area weeping, and their garments were torn.

3 And when the hour of the night arrived, as the Adanay had told Yaramayahaw they came up together on the walls of the city, Yaramayahaw and Barawak. ² And behold, there came a sound of trumpets; and angels emerged from heaven holding torches in their hands, and they set them on the walls of the city. ³ And when Yaramayahaw and Barawak saw them, they wept, saying: Now we know that the word is true! ⁴ And Yaramayahaw besought the angels, saying: I beseech you, do not destroy the city yet, until I say something to the Adanay. ⁵ And the Adanay spoke to the angels, saying: Do not destroy the city until I speak to my chosen one, Yaramayahaw. ⁶ Then Yaramayahaw spoke, saying: I beg you, Adanay, bid me to speak in your presence. ⁷ And the Adanay said: Speak, my chosen one Yaramayahaw. ⁸ And Yaramayahaw said: Behold, Adanay, now we know that you are delivering the city into the hands of its enemies, and they will take the people away to Babal. What do you want me to do with the holy vessels of the temple service? ¹⁰ And the Adanay said to him: Take them and consign them to the earth, saying: Hear, Earth, the voice of your creator who formed you in the abundance of waters, who sealed you with seven seals for seven epochs, and after this you will receive your ornaments (?) -- ¹¹ Guard the vessels of the temple service until the gathering of the beloved. ¹² And Yaramayahaw spoke, saying: I beseech you, Adanay, show me what I should do for Abayamalak the Ethiopian, for he has done many kindnesses to your servant Yaramayahaw. ¹³ For he pulled me out of the miry pit; and I do not wish that he should see the destruction and desolation of this city, but that you should be merciful to him and that he should not be grieved. ¹⁴ And the Adanay said to Yaramayahaw: Send him to the vineyard of Agrippa, and I will hide him in the shadow of the mountain until I cause the people to return to the city. ¹⁵ And you, Yaramayahaw, go with your people into Babal and stay with them, preaching to them, until I cause them to return to the city. ¹⁶ But leave Barawak here until I speak with him. ¹⁷ When he had said these things, the Adanay ascended from Yaramayahaw into heaven. ¹⁸ But Yaramayahaw and Barawak entered the holy place, and taking the vessels of the temple service, they consigned them to the earth as the Adanay had told them. ¹⁹ And immediately the earth swallowed them. ²⁰ And they both sat down and wept. ²¹ And when morning came, Yaramayahaw sent Abayamalak, saying: Take a basket and go to the estate of Agrippa by the mountain road, and bring back some figs to give to the sick among the people; for the favor of the Adanay is on you and his glory is on your head. ²² And when he had said this, Yaramayahaw sent him away; and Abayamalak went as he told him.

4 And when morning came, behold the host of the Kashadayam surrounded the city. ² And the great angel trumpeted, saying: Enter the city, host of the Kashadayam; for behold, the gate is opened for you. ³ Therefore let the king enter, with his multitudes, and let him take all the people captive. ⁴ But taking the keys of the temple, Yaramayahaw went outside the city and threw them away in the presence of the sun, saying: I say to you, Sun, take the keys of the temple of Alahayam and guard them until the day in which the Adanay asks you for them. ⁵ For we have not been found worthy to keep them, for we have become unfaithful guardians. ⁶ While Yaramayahaw was still weeping for the people, they brought him out with the people and dragged them into Babal. ⁷ But Barawak put dust on his head and sat and wailed this lamentation, saying: Why has Yawashalam been devastated? Because of the sins of the beloved people she was delivered into the hands of enemies -- because of our sins and those of the people. ⁸ But let not the lawless ones boast and say: "We were strong enough to take the city of Alahayam by our might;" but it was delivered to you because of our sins. ⁹ And Alahayam will pity us and cause us to return to our city, but you will not survive! ¹⁰ Blessed are our fathers, Abaraham, Yatzachaq and Yaiqab, for they departed from this world and did not see the destruction of this city. ¹¹ When he had said this, Barawak departed from the city, weeping and saying: Grieving because of you, Yawashalam, I went out from you. ¹² And he remained sitting in a tomb, while the angels came to him and explained to him everything that the Adanay revealed to him through them.

5 But Abayamalak took the figs in the burning heat; and coming upon a tree, he sat under its shade to rest a bit. ² And leaning his head on the basket of figs, he fell asleep and slept for 66 years; and he was not awakened from his slumber. ³ And afterward, when he awoke from his sleep, he said: I slept sweetly for a little while, but my head is heavy because I did not get enough sleep.⁴ Then he uncovered the basket of figs and found them dripping milk.⁵ And he said: I would like to sleep a little longer, because my head is heavy. But I am afraid that I might fall asleep and be late in awakening and my father Yaramayahaw would think badly of me; for if he were not in a hurry, he would not have sent me today at daybreak.⁶ So I will get up, and proceed in the burning heat; for isn't there heat, isn't there toil every day?⁷ So he got up and took the basket of figs and placed it on his shoulders, and he entered into Yarrowashalam and did not recognize it -- neither his own house, nor the place -- nor did he find his own family or any of his acquaintances.⁸ And he said: The Adanay be blessed, for a great trance has come over me today!⁹ This is not the city Yarrowashalam -- and I have lost my way because I came by the mountain road when I arose from my sleep; and since my head was heavy because I did not get enough sleep, I lost my way.¹⁰ It will seem incredible to Yaramayahaw that I lost my way!¹¹ And he departed from the city; and as he searched he saw the landmarks of the city, and he said: Indeed, this is the city; I lost my way.¹² And again he returned to the city and searched, and found no one of his own people; and he said: The Adanay be blessed, for a great trance has come over me!¹³ And again he departed from the city, and he stayed there grieving, not knowing where he should go.¹⁴ And he put down the basket, saying: I will sit here until the Adanay takes this trance from me.¹⁵ And as he sat, he saw an old man coming from the field; and Abayamalak said to him: I say to you, old man, what city is this?¹⁶ And he said to him: It is Yarrowashalam.¹⁷ And Abayamalak said to him: Where is Yaramayahaw the priest, and Barawak the secretary, and all the people of this city, for I could not find them?¹⁸ And the old man said to him: Are you not from this city, seeing that you remember Yaramayahaw today, because you are asking about him after such a long time?¹⁹ For Yaramayahaw is in Babal with the people; for they were taken captive by king Nabawakadaraatzar, and Yaramayahaw is with them to preach the good news to them and to teach them the word.²⁰ As soon as Abayamalak heard this from the old man, he said: If you were not an old man, and if it were not for the fact that it is not lawful for a man to upbraid one older than himself, I would laugh at you and say that you are out of your mind -- since you say that the people have been taken captive into Babal.²¹ Even if the heavenly torrents had descended on them, there has not yet been time for them to go into Babal!²² For how much time has passed since my father Yaramayahaw sent me to the estate of Agrippa to bring a few figs, so that I might give them to the sick among the people?²³ And I went and got them, and when I came to a certain tree in the burning heat, I sat to rest a little; and I leaned my head on the basket and fell asleep.²⁴ And when I awoke I uncovered the basket of figs, supposing that I was late; and I found the figs dripping milk, just as I had collected them.²⁵ But you claim that the people have been taken captive into Babal.²⁶ But that you might know, take the figs and see!²⁷ And he uncovered the basket of figs for the old man, and he saw them dripping milk.²⁸ And when the old man saw them, he said: O my son, you are a righteous man, and Alahayam did not want you to see the desolation of the city, so he brought this trance upon you.²⁹ For behold it is 66 years today since the people were taken captive into Babal.³⁰ But that you might learn, my son, that what I tell you is true -- look into the field and see that the ripening of the crops has not appeared.³¹ And notice that the figs are not in season, and be enlightened.³² Then Abayamalak cried out in a loud voice, saying: I bless you, Alahayam of heaven and earth, the Rest of the souls of the righteous in every place!³³ Then he said to the old man: What month is this?³⁴ And he said: Naysan (which is Abayab).³⁵ And taking some of figs, he gave them to the old man and said to him: May Alahayam illumine your way to the city above, Yarrowashalam.

6 After this, Abayamalak went out of the city and prayed to the Adanay.² And behold, an angel of the Adanay came and took him by the right hand and brought him back to where Barawak was sitting, and he found him in a tomb.³ And when they saw each other, they both wept and kissed each other.⁴ But when Barawak looked up he saw with his own eyes the figs that were covered in Abimelech's basket.⁵ And lifting his eyes to heaven, he prayed, saying: ⁶ You are the Alahayam who gives a reward to those who love you. Prepare yourself, my heart, and rejoice and be glad while you are in your tabernacle, saying to your fleshly house, "your grief has been changed to joy;" for the Sufficient One is coming and will deliver you in your tabernacle -- for there is no sin in you.⁷ Revive in your tabernacle, in your virginal faith, and believe that you will live!⁸ Look at this basket of figs -- for behold, they are 66 years old and have not become shrivelled or rotten, but they are dripping milk.⁹ So it will be with you, my flesh, if you do what is commanded you by the angel of righteousness.¹⁰ He who preserved the basket of figs, the same will again preserve you by his power.

¹¹ When Barawak had said this, he said to Abayamalak: Stand up and let us pray that the Adanay may make known to us how we shall be able to send to Yaramayahaw in Babal the report about the shelter provided for you on the way.¹² And Barawak prayed, saying: Adanay Alahayam, our strength is the elect light which comes forth from your mouth.¹³ We beseech and beg of your goodness -- you whose great name no one is able to know -- hear the voice of your servants and let knowledge come into our hearts.

¹⁴ What shall we do, and how shall we send this report to Yaramayahaw in Babal?¹⁵ And while Barawak was still praying, behold an angel of the Adanay came and said all these words to Barawak: Agent of the light, do not be anxious about how you will send to Yaramayahaw; for an eagle is coming to you at the hour of light tomorrow, and you will direct him to Yaramayahaw.

¹⁶ Therefore, write in a letter: Say to the children of Yasharaal: Let the stranger who comes among you be set apart and let 15 days go by; and after this I will lead you into your city, says the Adanay.

¹⁷ He who is not separated from Babal will not enter into the city; and I will punish them by keeping them from being received back by the Babylonians, says the Adanay.¹⁸ And when the angel had said this, he departed from Barawak.¹⁹ And Barawak sent to the market of the gentiles and got papyrus and ink and wrote a letter as follows: Barawak, the servant of Alahayam, writes to Yaramayahaw in the captivity of Babal: ²⁰ Greetings! Rejoice, for Alahayam has not allowed us to depart from this body grieving for the city which was laid waste and outraged.²¹ Therefore the Adanay has had compassion on our tears, and has remembered the covenant which he established with our fathers Abaraham, Yatzachaq and Yaiqab.²² And he sent his angel to me, and he told me these words which I send to you.²⁴ If, therefore, says the Adanay, you listen to my voice, from the mouth of Yaramayahaw my servant, I will bring the one who listens up from Babal; but the one who does not listen will become a stranger to Yarrowashalam and to Babal.²⁵ And you will test them by means of the water of the Yaranan; whoever does not listen will be exposed -- this is the sign of the great seal.

7 And Barawak got up and departed from the tomb and found the eagle sitting outside the tomb.² And the eagle said to him in a human voice: Hail, Barawak, steward of the faith.³ And Barawak said to him: You who speak are chosen from among all the birds of heaven, for this is clear from the gleam of your eyes; tell me, then, what are you doing here?⁴ And the eagle said to him: I was sent here so that you might through me send whatever message you want.⁵ And Barawak said to him: Can you carry this message to Yaramayahaw in Babal?⁶ And the eagle said to him: Indeed, it was for this reason I was sent.⁷ And Barawak took the letter, and 15 figs from Abimelech's basket, and tied them to the eagle's neck and said to him: I say to you, king of the birds, go in peace with good health and carry the message for me.⁸ Do not be like the raven which Nach sent out and which never came back to him in the ark; but be like the dove which, the third time, brought a report to the righteous one.⁹ So you also, take this good message to Yaramayahaw and to those in bondage with him, that it may be well with you--take this papyrus to the people and to the chosen one of Alahayam.¹⁰ Even if all the birds of heaven surround you and want to fight with you, struggle -- the Adanay will give you strength.¹¹ And do not turn aside to the right or to the left, but straight as a speeding arrow, go in the power of Alahayam, and the glory of the Adanay will be with you the entire way.¹² Then the eagle took flight and went away to Babal, having the letter tied to his neck; and when he arrived he rested on a post outside the city in a desert place.¹³ And he kept silent until Yaramayahaw came along, for he and some of the people were coming out to bury a corpse outside the city.¹⁴ (For Yaramayahaw had petitioned king Nabawakadaraatzar, saying: "Give me a place where I may bury those of my people who have died;" and the king gave it to him.)¹⁵ And as they were coming out with the body, and weeping, they came to where the eagle was.¹⁶ And the eagle cried out in a loud voice, saying: I say to you, Yaramayahaw the chosen one of Alahayam, go and gather together the people and come here so that they may hear a letter which I have brought to you from Barawak and Abayamalak.¹⁷ And when Yaramayahaw heard this, he glorified Alahayam; and he went and gathered together the people along with their wives and children, and he came to where the eagle was.¹⁸ And the eagle came down on the corpse, and it revived.¹⁹ (Now this took place so that they might believe.)²⁰ And all the people were astounded at what had happened, and said: This is the Alahayam who appeared to our fathers in the wilderness through Mashah, and now he has appeared to us through the eagle.²¹ And the eagle said: I say to you, Yaramayahaw, come, untie this letter and read it to the people -- So he untied the letter and read it to the people.²² And when the people heard it, they wept and put dust on their heads, and they said to Yaramayahaw: Deliver us and tell us what to do that we may once again enter our city.²³ And Yaramayahaw answered and said to them: Do whatever you heard from the letter, and the Adanay will lead us into our city.²⁴ And Yaramayahaw wrote a letter to Barawak, saying thus: My beloved son, do not be negligent in your prayers, beseeching Alahayam on our behalf, that he might direct our way until we come out of the jurisdiction of this lawless king.²⁵ For you have been found righteous before Alahayam, and he did not let you come here, lest you see the affliction which has come upon the people at the hands of the Babylonians.²⁶ For it is like a father with an only son, who is given over for punishment; and those who see his father and console him cover his face, lest he see how his son is being punished, and be even more ravaged by grief.²⁷ For thus Alahayam took pity on you and did not let you enter Babal lest you see the affliction of the people.²⁸ For since we came here, grief has not left us, for 66 years today.²⁹ For many times when I went out I found some of the people hung up by king Nabawakadaraatzar, crying and saying: "Have mercy on us, Alahayam-ZAR!"³⁰ When I heard this, I grieved and cried with two-fold mourning, not only because they were hung up, but because they were calling on a foreign Alahayam, saying "Have mercy on us."³¹ But I remembered days of festivity which we celebrated in Yarawashalam before our captivity; and when I remembered, I groaned, and returned to my house wailing and weeping.³² Now, then, pray in the place where you are -- you and Abayamalak -- for this people, that they may listen to my voice and to the decrees of my mouth, so that we may depart from here.³³ For I tell you that the entire time that we have spent here they have kept us in subjection, saying: Recite for us a song from the songs of Tzayawan -- the song of your Alahayam.³⁴ And we reply to them: How shall we sing for you since we are in a foreign land?³⁵ And after this, Yaramayahaw tied the letter to the eagle's neck, saying: Go in peace, and may the Adanay watch over both of us.³⁶ And the eagle took flight and came to Yarawashalam and gave the letter to Barawak; and when he had untied it he read it and kissed it and wept when he heard about the distresses and afflictions of the people.³⁷ But Yaramayahaw took the figs and distributed them to the sick among the people, and he kept teaching them to abstain from the pollutions of the gentiles of Babal.

8 And the day came in which the Adanay brought the people out of Babal.² And the Adanay said to Yaramayahaw: Rise up -- you and the people -- and come to the Yaradan and say to the people: Let anyone who desires the Adanay forsake the works of Babal.³ As for the men who took wives from them and the women who took husbands from them -- those who listen to you shall cross over, and you take them into Yarawashalam; but those who do not listen to you, do not lead them there.⁴ And Yaramayahaw spoke these words to the people, and they arose and came to the Yaradan to cross over.⁵ As he told them the words that the Adanay had spoken to him, half of those who had taken spouses from them did not wish to listen to Yaramayahaw, but said to him: We will never forsake our wives, but we will bring them back with us into our city.⁶ So they crossed the Yaradan and came to Yarawashalam.⁷ And Yaramayahaw and Barawak and Abayamalak stood up and said: No man joined with Babylonians shall enter this city!⁸ And they said to one another: Let us arise and return to Babal to our place -- And they departed.⁹ But while they were coming to Babal, the Babylonians came out to meet them, saying: You shall not enter our city, for you hated us and you left us secretly; therefore you cannot come in with us.¹⁰ For we have taken a solemn oath together in the name of our god to receive neither you nor your children, since you left us secretly.¹¹ And when they heard this, they returned and came to a desert place some distance from Yarawashalam and built a city for themselves and named it 'SAMARIA.'¹² And Yaramayahaw sent to them, saying: Repent, for the angel of righteousness is coming and will lead you to your exalted place.

9 Now those who were with Yaramayahaw were rejoicing and offering sacrifices on behalf of the people for nine days.² But on the tenth, Yaramayahaw alone offered sacrifice.³ And he prayed a prayer, saying: Holy, holy, holy, fragrant aroma of the living trees, true light that enlightens me until I ascend to you;⁴ For your mercy, I beg you -- for the sweet voice of the two seraphim, I beg -- for another fragrant aroma.⁵ And may Mayakaal, archangel of righteousness, who opens the gates to the righteous, be my guardian (?) until he causes the righteous to enter.⁶ I beg you, almighty Adanay of all creation, unbegotten and incomprehensible, in whom all judgment was hidden before these things came into existence.⁷ When Yaramayahaw had said this, and while he was standing in the altar-area with Barawak and Abayamalak, he became as one whose soul had departed.⁸ And Barawak and Abayamalak were weeping and crying out in a loud voice: Woe to us! For our father Yaramayahaw has left us -- the priest of Alahayam has departed!⁹ And all the people heard their weeping and they all ran to them and saw Yaramayahaw lying on the ground as if dead.¹⁰ And they tore their garments and put dust on their heads and wept bitterly.¹¹ And after this they prepared to bury him.¹² And behold, there came a voice saying: Do not bury the one who yet lives, for his soul is returning to his body!¹³ And when they heard the voice they did not bury him, but stayed around his tabernacle for three days saying, "when will he arise?"¹⁴ And after three days his soul came back into his body and he raised his voice in the midst of them all and said: Glorify Alahayam with one voice! All of you glorify Alahayam and the son of Alahayam who awakens us -- messiah Yashawai -- the light of all the ages, the inextinguishable lamp, the life of faith.¹⁵ But after these times there shall be 477 years more and he comes to earth.¹⁶ And the tree of life planted in the midst of paradise will cause all the unfruitful trees to bear fruit, and will grow and sprout forth.¹⁷ And the trees that had sprouted and became haughty and said: "We have supplied our power (?) to the air," he will cause them to wither, with the grandeur of their branches, and he will cause them to be judged -- that firmly rooted tree!¹⁸ And what is crimson will become white as wool -- the snow will be blackened -- the sweet waters will become salty, and the salty sweet, in the intense light of the joy of Alahayam.¹⁹ And he will bless the isles so that they become fruitful by the word of the mouth of his messiah.²⁰ For he shall come, and he will go out and choose for himself twelve apostles to proclaim the news among the nations-- he whom I have seen adorned by his father and coming into the world on the Mount of Olives -- and he shall fill the hungry souls. ²¹ When Yaramayahaw was saying this concerning the son of Alahayam -- that he is coming into the world -- the people became very angry and said: This is a repetition of the words spoken by Yashaiyahaw son of Imawas, when he said: I saw Alahayam and the son of Alahayam. ²² Come, then, and let us not kill him by the same sort of death with which we killed Yashaiyahaw, but let us stone him with stones. ²³ And Barawak and Abayamalak were greatly grieved because they wanted to hear in full the mysteries that he had seen. ²⁴ But Yaramayahaw said to them: Be silent and weep not, for they cannot kill me until I describe for you everything I saw. ²⁵ And he said to them: Bring a stone here to me. ²⁶ And he set it up and said: Light of the ages, make this stone to become like me in appearance, until I have described to Barawak and Abayamalak everything I saw. ²⁷ Then the stone, by Alahayam's command, took on the appearance of Yaramayahaw. ²⁸ And they were stoning the stone, supposing that it was Yaramayahaw! ²⁹ But Yaramayahaw delivered to Barawak and to Abayamalak all the mysteries he had seen, and forthwith he stood in the midst of the people desiring to complete his ministry. ³⁰ Then the stone cried out, saying: O foolish children of Yasharaal, why do you stone me, supposing that I am Yaramayahaw? Behold, Yaramayahaw is standing in your midst! ³¹ And when they saw him, immediately they rushed upon him with many stones, and his ministry was fulfilled. ³² And when Barawak and Abayamalak came, they buried him, and taking the stone they placed it on his tomb and inscribed it thus: This is the stone that was the ally of Yaramayahaw.

1 Now it happened in the thirtieth year, in the fourth [month], in the fifth [day] of the month, as I was among the captives by the river Kabar, that the heavens were opened, and I saw visions of Alahayam. ² In the fifth [day] of the month, which was the fifth year of king Yahawayakayan's captivity, ³ the word of Yahawah came expressly to Yachazaqaal the priest, the son of Bawazay, in the land of the Kashadayam by the river Kabar; and the hand of Yahawah was there on him. ⁴ I looked, and, behold, a stormy wind came out of the north, a great cloud, with flashing lightning, and a brightness round about it, and out of the midst of it as it were glowing metal, out of the midst of the fire. ⁵ Out of the midst of it came the likeness of four living creatures. This was their appearance: they had the likeness of a man. ⁶ Everyone had four faces, and everyone of them had four wings. ⁷ Their feet were straight feet; and the sole of their feet was like the sole of a calf's foot; and they sparkled like burnished brass. ⁸ They had the hands of a man under their wings on their four sides; and they four had their faces and their wings [thus]: ⁹ their wings were joined one to another; they didn't turn when they went; they went everyone straight forward. ¹⁰ As for the likeness of their faces, they had the face of a man; and they four had the face of a lion on the right side; and they four had the face of an ox on the left side; they four had also the face of an eagle. ¹¹ Their faces and their wings were separate above; two [wings] of everyone were joined one to another, and two covered their bodies. ¹² They went everyone straight forward: where the spirit was to go, they went; they didn't turn when they went. ¹³ As for the likeness of the living creatures, their appearance was like burning coals of fire, like the appearance of torches: [the fire] went up and down among the living creatures; and the fire was bright, and out of the fire went forth lightning. ¹⁴ The living creatures ran and returned as the appearance of a flash of lightning. ¹⁵ Now as I saw the living creatures, behold, one wheel on the earth beside the living creatures, for each of the four faces of it. ¹⁶ The appearance of the wheels and their work was like a beryl: and they four had one likeness; and their appearance and their work was as it were a wheel within a wheel. ¹⁷ When they went, they went in their four directions: they didn't turn when they went. ¹⁸ As for their rims, they were high and dreadful; and they four had their rims full of eyes round about. ¹⁹ When the living creatures went, the wheels went beside them; and when the living creatures were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up. ²⁰ Wherever the spirit was to go, they went; there was the spirit to go: and the wheels were lifted up beside them; for the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels. ²¹ When those went, these went; and when those stood, these stood; and when those were lifted up from the earth, the wheels were lifted up beside them: for the spirit of the living creature was in the wheels. ²² Over the head of the living creature there was the likeness of an expanse, like the awesome crystal to look on, stretched forth over their heads above. ²³ Under the expanse were their wings straight, the one toward the other: everyone had two which covered on this side, and every one had two which covered on that side, their bodies. ²⁴ When they went, I heard the noise of their wings like the noise of great waters, like the voice of the Shaday, a noise of tumult like the noise of a host: when they stood, they let down their wings. ²⁵ There was a voice above the expanse that was over their heads: when they stood, they let down their wings. ²⁶ Above the expanse that was over their heads was the likeness of a throne, as the appearance of a sapphire stone; and on the likeness of the throne was a likeness as the appearance of a man on it above. ²⁷ I saw as it were glowing metal, as the appearance of fire within it round about, from the appearance of his loins and upward; and from the appearance of his loins and downward I saw as it were the appearance of fire, and there was brightness round about him. ²⁸ As the appearance of the bow that is in the cloud in the day of rain, so was the appearance of the brightness round about. This was the appearance of the likeness of the glory of Yahawah. When I saw it, I fell on my face, and I heard a voice of one that spoke.

2 He said to me, Son of man, stand on your feet, and I will speak with you. ² The Spirit entered into me when he spoke to me, and set me on my feet; and I heard him who spoke to me. ³ He said to me, Son of man, I send you to the children of Yasharaal, to nations that are rebellious, which have rebelled against me: they and their fathers have transgressed against me even to this very day. ⁴ The children are impudent and stiff-hearted: I do send you to them; and you shall tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah. ⁵ They, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear, (for they are a rebellious house,) yet shall know that there has been a prophet among them. ⁶ You, son of man, don't be afraid of them, neither be afraid of their words, though briers and thorns are with you, and you do dwell among scorpions: don't be afraid of their words, nor be dismayed at their looks, though they are a rebellious house. ⁷ You shall speak my words to them, whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear; for they are most rebellious. ⁸ But you, son of man, hear what I tell you; don't be you rebellious like that rebellious house: open your mouth, and eat that which I give you. ⁹ When I looked, behold, a hand was put forth to me; and, behold, a scroll of a book was therein; ¹⁰ He spread it before me: and it was written within and without; and there were written therein lamentations, and mourning, and woe.

3 He said to me, Son of man, eat that which you find; eat this scroll, and go, speak to the house of Yasharaal. ² So I opened my mouth, and he caused me to eat the scroll. ³ He said to me, Son of man, cause your belly to eat, and fill your bowels with this scroll that I give you. Then did I eat it; and it was in my mouth as honey for sweetness. ⁴ He said to me, Son of man, go, get you to the house of Yasharaal, and speak with my words to them. ⁵ For you are not sent to a people of a strange speech and of a hard language, but to the house of Yasharaal; ⁶ not to many peoples of a strange speech and of a hard language, whose words you can not understand. Surely, if I sent you to them, they would listen to you. ⁷ But the house of Yasharaal will not listen to you; for they will not listen to me: for all the house of Yasharaal are of hard forehead and of a stiff heart. ⁸ Behold, I have made your face hard against their faces, and your forehead hard against their foreheads. ⁹ As an adamant harder than flint have I made your forehead: don't be afraid of them, neither be dismayed at their looks, though they are a rebellious house. ¹⁰ Moreover he said to me, Son of man, all my words that I shall speak to you receive in your heart, and hear with your ears. ¹¹ Go, get you to them of the captivity, to the children of your people, and speak to them, and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah; whether they will hear, or whether they will forbear. ¹² Then the Spirit lifted me up, and I heard behind me the voice of a great rushing, [saying], Blessed be the glory of Yahawah from his place. ¹³ [I heard] the noise of the wings of the living creatures as they touched one another, and the noise of the wheels beside them, even the noise of a great rushing. ¹⁴ So the Spirit lifted me up, and took me away; and I went in bitterness, in the heat of my spirit; and the hand of Yahawah was strong on me. ¹⁵ Then I came to them of the captivity at Abayab, that lived by the river Kabar, and to where they lived; and I sat there overwhelmed among them seven days. ¹⁶ It happened at the end of seven days, that the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ¹⁷ Son of man, I have made you a watchman to the house of Yasharaal: therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me.¹⁸ When I tell the wicked, You shall surely die; and you give him no warning, nor speak to warn the wicked from his wicked way, to save his life; the same wicked man shall die in his iniquity; but his blood will I require at your hand.¹⁹ Yet if you warn the wicked, and he doesn't turn from his wickedness, nor from his wicked way, he shall die in his iniquity; but you have delivered your soul.²⁰ Again, when a righteous man does turn from his righteousness, and commit iniquity, and I lay a stumbling block before him, he shall die: because you have not given him warning, he shall die in his sin, and his righteous deeds which he has done shall not be remembered; but his blood will I require at your hand.²¹ Nevertheless if you warn the righteous man, that the righteous not sin, and he does not sin, he shall surely live, because he took warning; and you have delivered your soul.²² The hand of Yahawah was there on me; and he said to me, Arise, go forth into the plain, and I will there talk with you.²³ Then I arose, and went forth into the plain: and, behold, the glory of Yahawah stood there, as the glory which I saw by the river Kabar; and I fell on my face.²⁴ Then the Spirit entered into me, and set me on my feet; and he spoke with me, and said to me, Go, shut yourself within your house.²⁵ But you, son of man, behold, they shall lay bands on you, and shall bind you with them, and you shall not go out among them:²⁶ and I will make your tongue cleave to the roof of your mouth, that you shall be mute, and shall not be to them a reprover; for they are a rebellious house.²⁷ But when I speak with you, I will open your mouth, and you shall tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: He who hears, let him hear; and he who forbears, let him forbear: for they are a rebellious house.

4 You also, son of man, take a tile, and lay it before you, and portray on it a city, even Yarawashalam:² and lay siege against it, and build forts against it, and cast up a mound against it; set camps also against it, and plant battering rams against it round about.³ Take for yourself an iron pan, and set it for a wall of iron between you and the city: and set your face toward it, and it shall be besieged, and you shall lay siege against it. This shall be a sign to the house of Yasharaal.⁴ Moreover lie you on your left side, and lay the iniquity of the house of Yasharaal on it; [according to] the number of the days that you shall lie on it, you shall bear their iniquity.⁵ For I have appointed the years of their iniquity to be to you a number of days, even three hundred ninety days: so shall you bear the iniquity of the house of Yasharaal.⁶ Again, when you have accomplished these, you shall lie on your right side, and shall bear the iniquity of the house of Yahawadah: forty days, each day for a year, have I appointed it to you.⁷ You shall set your face toward the siege of Yarawashalam, with your arm uncovered; and you shall prophesy against it.⁸ Behold, I lay bands on you, and you shall not turn you from one side to the other, until you have accomplished the days of your siege.⁹ Take for yourself also wheat, and barley, and beans, and lentils, and millet, and spelt, and put them in one vessel, and make you bread of it; [according to] the number of the days that you shall lie on your side, even three hundred ninety days, shall you eat of it.¹⁰ Your food which you shall eat shall be by weight, twenty shekels a day: from time to time shall you eat it.¹¹ You shall drink water by measure, the sixth part of a hin: from time to time shall you drink.¹² You shall eat it as barley cakes, and you shall bake it in their sight with dung that comes out of man.¹³ Yahawah said, Even thus shall the children of Yasharaal eat their bread unclean, among the nations where I will drive them.¹⁴ Then said I, Ah Adanay Yahawah! behold, my soul has not been polluted; for from my youth up even until now have I not eaten of that which dies of itself, or is torn of animals; neither came there abominable flesh into my mouth.¹⁵ Then he said to me, Behold, I have given you cow's dung for man's dung, and you shall prepare your bread thereon.¹⁶ Moreover he said to me, Son of man, behold, I will break the staff of bread in Yarawashalam: and they shall eat bread by weight, and with fearfulness; and they shall drink water by measure, and in dismay:¹⁷ that they may want bread and water, and be dismayed one with another, and pine away in their iniquity.

5 You, son of man, take a sharp sword; [as] a barber's razor shall you take it to you, and shall cause it to pass on your head and on your beard: then take balances to weigh, and divide the hair.² A third part shall you burn in the fire in the midst of the city, when the days of the siege are fulfilled; and you shall take a third part, and strike with the sword round about it; and a third part you shall scatter to the wind, and I will draw out a sword after them.³ You shall take of it a few in number, and bind them in your skirts.⁴ Of these again shall you take, and cast them into the midst of the fire, and burn them in the fire; therefrom shall a fire come forth into all the house of Yasharaal.⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: This is Yarawashalam; I have set her in the midst of the nations, and countries are round about her.⁶ She has rebelled against my ordinances in doing wickedness more than the nations, and against my statutes more than the countries that are round about her; for they have rejected my ordinances, and as for my statutes, they have not walked in them.⁷ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you are turbulent more than the nations that are round about you, and have not walked in my statutes, neither have kept my ordinances, neither have done after the ordinances of the nations that are round about you;⁸ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I, even I, am against you; and I will execute judgments in the midst of you in the sight of the nations.⁹ I will do in you that which I have not done, and whereunto I will not do any more the like, because of all your abominations.¹⁰ Therefore the fathers shall eat the sons in the midst of you, and the sons shall eat their fathers; and I will execute judgments on you; and the whole remnant of you will I scatter to all the winds.¹¹ Therefore, as I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, surely, because you have defiled my sanctuary with all your detestable things, and with all your abominations, therefore will I also diminish [you]; neither shall my eye spare, and I also will have no pity.¹² A third part of you shall die with the pestilence, and with famine shall they be consumed in the midst of you; and a third part shall fall by the sword round about you; and a third part I will scatter to all the winds, and will draw out a sword after them.¹³ Thus shall my anger be accomplished, and I will cause my wrath toward them to rest, and I shall be comforted; and they shall know that I, Yahawah, have spoken in my zeal, when I have accomplished my wrath on them.¹⁴ Moreover I will make you a desolation and a reproach among the nations that are round about you, in the sight of all that pass by.¹⁵ So it shall be a reproach and a taunt, an instruction and an astonishment, to the nations that are round about you, when I shall execute judgments on you in anger and in wrath, and in wrathful rebukes; (I, Yahawah, have spoken it);¹⁶ when I shall send on them the evil arrows of famine, that are for destruction, which I will send to destroy you: and I will increase the famine on you, and will break your staff of bread;¹⁷ and I will send on you famine and evil animals, and they shall bereave you; and pestilence and blood shall pass through you; and I will bring the sword on you: I, Yahawah, have spoken it.

6 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, set your face toward the mountains of Yasharaal, and prophesy to them,³ and say, You mountains of Yasharaal, hear the word of the Adanay Yahawah: Thus says the Adanay Yahawah to the mountains and to the hills, to the watercourses and to the valleys: Behold, I, even I, will bring a sword on you, and I will destroy your high places.⁴ Your altars shall become desolate, and your sun-images shall be broken; and I will cast down your slain men before your idols.⁵ I will lay the dead bodies of the children of Yasharaal before their idols; and I will scatter your bones round about your altars.⁶ In all your dwelling-places the cities shall be laid waste, and the high places shall be desolate; that your altars may be laid waste and made desolate, and your idols may be broken and cease, and your sun-images may be hewn down, and your works may be abolished.⁷ The slain shall fall in the midst of you, and you shall know that I am Yahawah.⁸ Yet will I leave a remnant, in that you shall have some that escape the sword among the nations, when you shall be scattered through the countries.⁹ Those of you that escape shall remember me among the nations where they shall be carried captive, how that I have been broken with their lewd heart, which has departed from me, and with their eyes, which play the prostitute after their idols; and they shall loathe themselves in their own sight for the evils which they have committed in all their abominations.¹⁰ They shall know that I am Yahawah: I have not said in vain that I would do this evil to them.¹¹ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Smite with your hand, and stamp with your foot, and say, Alas! because of all the evil abominations of the house of Yasharaal; for they shall fall by the sword, by the famine, and by the pestilence.¹² He who is far off shall die of the pestilence; and he who is near shall fall by the sword; and he who remains and is besieged shall die by the famine: thus will I accomplish my wrath on them.¹³ You shall know that I am Yahawah, when their slain men shall be among their idols round about their altars, on every high hill, on all the tops of the mountains, and under every green tree, and under every thick oak, the places where they offered sweet savor to all their idols.¹⁴ I will stretch out my hand on them, and make the land desolate and waste, from the wilderness toward Dabalath, throughout all their habitations: and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

7 Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² You, son of man, thus says the Adanay Yahawah to the land of Yasharaal, An end: the end is come on the four corners of the land.³ Now is the end on you, and I will send my anger on you, and will judge you according to your ways; and I will bring on you all your abominations.⁴ My eye shall not spare you, neither will I have pity; but I will bring your ways on you, and your abominations shall be in the midst of you: and you shall know that I am Yahawah.⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: An evil, an only evil; behold, it comes.⁶ An end is come, the end is come; it awakes against you; behold, it comes.⁷ Your doom is come to you, inhabitant of the land: the time is come, the day is near, [a day of] tumult, and not [of] joyful shouting, on the mountains.⁸ Now will I shortly pour out my wrath on you, and accomplish my anger against you, and will judge you according to your ways; and I will bring on you all your abominations.⁹ My eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity: I will bring on you according to your ways; and your abominations shall be in the midst of you; and you shall know that I, Yahawah, do strike.¹⁰ Behold, the day, behold, it comes: your doom is gone forth; the rod has blossomed, pride has budded.¹¹ Violence is risen up into a rod of wickedness; none of them [shall remain], nor of their multitude, nor of their wealth: neither shall there be eminency among them.¹² The time is come, the day draws near: don't let the buyer rejoice, nor the seller mourn; for wrath is on all the multitude of it.¹³ For the seller shall not return to that which is sold, although they be yet alive: for the vision is touching the whole multitude of it, none shall return; neither shall any strengthen himself in the iniquity of his life.¹⁴ They have blown the trumpet, and have made all ready; but none goes to the battle; for my wrath is on all the multitude of it.¹⁵ The sword is outside, and the pestilence and the famine within: he who is in the field shall die with the sword; and he who is in the city, famine and pestilence shall devour him.¹⁶ But those of those who escape shall escape, and shall be on the mountains like doves of the valleys, all of them moaning, every one in his iniquity.¹⁷ All hands shall be feeble, and all knees shall be weak as water.¹⁸ They shall also gird themselves with sackcloth, and horror shall cover them; and shame shall be on all faces, and baldness on all their heads.¹⁹ They shall cast their silver in the streets, and their gold shall be as an unclean thing; their silver and their gold shall not be able to deliver them in the day of the wrath of Yahawah: they shall not satisfy their souls, neither fill their bowels; because it has been the stumbling block of their iniquity.²⁰ As for the beauty of his ornament, he set it in majesty; but they made the images of their abominations [and] their detestable things therein: therefore have I made it to them as an unclean thing.²¹ I will give it into the hands of the strangers for a prey, and to the wicked of the earth for a spoil; and they shall profane it.²² My face will I turn also from them, and they shall profane my secret [place]; and robbers shall enter into it, and profane it.²³ Make the chain; for the land is full of bloody crimes, and the city is full of violence.²⁴ Therefore I will bring the worst of the nations, and they shall possess their houses: I will also make the pride of the strong to cease; and their holy places shall be profaned.²⁵ Destruction comes; and they shall seek peace, and there shall be none.²⁶ Mischief shall come on mischief, and rumor shall be on rumor; and they shall seek a vision of the prophet; but the law shall perish from the priest, and counsel from the elders.²⁷ The king shall mourn, and the prince shall be clothed with desolation, and the hands of the people of the land shall be troubled: I will do to them after their way, and according to their deserts will I judge them; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

8 It happened in the sixth year, in the sixth [month], in the fifth [day] of the month, as I sat in my house, and the elders of Yahawadah sat before me, that the hand of the Adanay Yahawah fell there on me.² Then I saw, and, behold, a likeness as the appearance of fire; from the appearance of his loins and downward, fire; and from his loins and upward, as the appearance of brightness, as it were glowing metal.³ He put forth the form of a hand, and took me by a lock of my head; and the Spirit lifted me up between earth and the sky, and brought me in the visions of Alahayam to Yarawashalam, to the door of the gate of the inner [court] that looks toward the north; where was the seat of the image of jealousy, which provokes to jealousy.⁴ Behold, the glory of the Alahayam of Yasharaal was there, according to the appearance that I saw in the plain.⁵ Then said he to me, Son of man, lift up your eyes now the way toward the north. So I lifted up my eyes the way toward the north, and see, northward of the gate of the altar this image of jealousy in the entry.⁶ He said to me, Son of man, see you what they do? even the great abominations that the house of Yasharaal do commit here, that I should go far off from my sanctuary? but you shall again see yet other great abominations.⁷ He brought me to the door of the court; and when I looked, behold, a hole in the wall.⁸ Then said he to me, Son of man, dig now in the wall: and when I had dug in the wall, behold, a door.⁹ He said to me, Go in, and see the wicked abominations that they do here.¹⁰ So I went in and saw; and see, every form of creeping things, and abominable animals, and all the idols of the house of Yasharaal, portrayed on the wall round about.¹¹ There stood before them seventy men of the elders of the house of Yasharaal; and in the midst of them stood Yaazanayah the son of Shaphan, every man with his censer in his hand; and the odor of the cloud of incense went up.¹² Then said he to me, Son of man, have you seen what the elders of the house of Yasharaal do in the dark, every man in his chambers of imagery? for they say, Yahawah doesn't see us; Yahawah has forsaken the land.¹³ He said also to me, You shall again see yet other great abominations which they do.¹⁴ Then he brought me to the door of the gate of Yahawah's house which was toward the north; and see, there sat the women weeping for Thamawaz.¹⁵ Then said he to me, Have you seen [this], son of man? you shall again see yet greater abominations than these.¹⁶ He brought me into the inner court of Yahawah's house; and see, at the door of the temple of Yahawah, between the porch and the altar, were about twenty-five men, with their backs toward the temple of Yahawah, and their faces toward the east; and they were worshipping the sun toward the east.¹⁷ Then he said to me, Have you seen [this], son of man? Is it a light thing to the house of Yahawadah that they commit the abominations which they commit here? for they have filled the land with violence, and have turned again to provoke me to anger: and, behold, they put the branch to their nose.¹⁸ Therefore will I also deal in wrath; my eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity; and though they cry in my ears with a loud voice, yet will I not hear them.

9 Then he cried in my ears with a loud voice, saying, Cause you them that have charge over the city to draw near, every man with his destroying weapon in his hand.² Behold, six men came from the way of the upper gate, which lies toward the north, every man with his slaughter weapon in his hand; and one man in the midst of them clothed in linen, with a writer's inkhorn by his side. They went in, and stood beside the brazen altar.³ The glory of the Alahayam of Yasharaal was gone up from the cherub, whereupon it was, to the threshold of the house: and he called to the man clothed in linen, who had the writer's inkhorn by his side.⁴ Yahawah said to him, Go through the midst of the city, through the midst of Yarawashalam, and set a mark on the foreheads of the men that sigh and that cry over all the abominations that are done in the midst of it.⁵ To the others he said in my hearing, Go you through the city after him, and strike: don't let your eye spare, neither have you pity;⁶ kill utterly the old man, the young man and the virgin, and little children and women; but don't come near any man on whom is the mark: and begin at my sanctuary. Then they began at the old men that were before the house.⁷ He said to them, Defile the house, and fill the courts with the slain: go you forth. They went forth, and struck in the city.⁸ It happened, while they were smiting, and I was left, that I fell on my face, and cried, and said, Ah Adanay Yahawah! will you destroy all the residue of Yasharaal in your pouring out of your wrath on Yarawashalam?⁹ Then said he to me, The iniquity of the house of Yasharaal and Yahawadah is exceeding great, and the land is full of blood, and the city full of wrestling [of judgment]: for they say, Yahawah has forsaken the land, and Yahawah doesn't see.¹⁰ As for me also, my eye shall not spare, neither will I have pity, but I will bring their way on their head.¹¹ Behold, the man clothed in linen, who had the inkhorn by his side, reported the matter, saying, I have done as you have commanded me.

10 Then I looked, and see, in the expanse that was over the head of the cherubim there appeared above them as it were a sapphire stone, as the appearance of the likeness of a throne.² He spoke to the man clothed in linen, and said, Go in between the whirling [wheels], even under the cherub, and fill both your hands with coals of fire from between the cherubim, and scatter them over the city. He went in as I watched.³ Now the cherubim stood on the right side of the house, when the man went in; and the cloud filled the inner court.⁴ The glory of Yahawah mounted up from the cherub, [and stood] over the threshold of the house; and the house was filled with the cloud, and the court was full of the brightness of Yahawah's glory.⁵ The sound of the wings of the cherubim was heard even to the outer court, as the voice of Al Shaday when he speaks.⁶ It came to pass, when he commanded the man clothed in linen, saying, Take fire from between the whirling wheels, from between the cherubim, that he went in, and stood beside a wheel.⁷ The cherub stretched forth his hand from between the cherubim to the fire that was between the cherubim, and took [of it], and put it into the hands of him who was clothed in linen, who took it and went out.⁸ There appeared in the cherubim the form of a man's hand under their wings.⁹ I looked, and behold, four wheels beside the cherubim, one wheel beside one cherub, and another wheel beside another cherub; and the appearance of the wheels was like a beryl stone.¹⁰ As for their appearance, they four had one likeness, as if a wheel have been within a wheel.¹¹ When they went, they went in their four directions: they didn't turn as they went, but to the place where the head looked they followed it; they didn't turn as they went.¹² Their whole body, and their backs, and their hands, and their wings, and the wheels, were full of eyes round about, [even] the wheels that they four had.¹³ As for the wheels, they were called in my hearing, the whirling [wheels].¹⁴ Every one had four faces: the first face was the face of the cherub, and the second face was the face of a man, and the third face the face of a lion, and the fourth the face of an eagle.¹⁵ The cherubim mounted up: this is the living creature that I saw by the river Kabar.¹⁶ When the cherubim went, the wheels went beside them; and when the cherubim lifted up their wings to mount up from the earth, the wheels also didn't turn from beside them.¹⁷ When they stood, these stood; and when they mounted up, these mounted up with them: for the spirit of the living creature was in them.¹⁸ The glory of Yahawah went forth from over the threshold of the house, and stood over the cherubim.¹⁹ The cherubim lifted up their wings, and mounted up from the earth in my sight when they went forth, and the wheels beside them:

and they stood at the door of the east gate of Yahawah's house; and the glory of the Alahayam of Yasharaal was over them above.²⁰ This is the living creature that I saw under the Alahayam of Yasharaal by the river Kabar; and I knew that they were cherubim.²¹ Every one had four faces, and every one four wings; and the likeness of the hands of a man was under their wings.²² As for the likeness of their faces, they were the faces which I saw by the river Kabar, their appearances and themselves; they went every one straight forward.

11 Moreover the Spirit lifted me up, and brought me to the east gate of Yahawah's house, which looks eastward: and see, at the door of the gate twenty-five men; and I saw in the midst of them Yaazanayah the son of Izawar, and Palatayah the son of Banayahaw, princes of the people.² He said to me, Son of man, these are the men who devise iniquity, and who give wicked counsel in this city;³ who say, [The time] is not near to build houses: this [city] is the caldron, and we are the flesh.⁴ Therefore prophesy against them, prophesy, son of man.⁵ The Spirit of Yahawah fell on me, and he said to me, Speak, Thus says Yahawah: Thus have you said, house of Yasharaal; for I know the things that come into your mind.⁶ You have multiplied your slain in this city, and you have filled the streets of it with the slain.⁷ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Your slain whom you have laid in the midst of it, they are the flesh, and this [city] is the caldron; but you shall be brought forth out of the midst of it.⁸ You have feared the sword; and I will bring the sword on you, says the Adanay Yahawah.⁹ I will bring you forth out of the midst of it, and deliver you into the hands of strangers, and will execute judgments among you.¹⁰ You shall fall by the sword; I will judge you in the border of Yasharaal; and you shall know that I am Yahawah.¹¹ This [city] shall not be your caldron, neither shall you be the flesh in the midst of it; I will judge you in the border of Yasharaal;¹² and you shall know that I am Yahawah: for you have not walked in my statutes, neither have you executed my ordinances, but have done after the ordinances of the nations that are round about you.¹³ It happened, when I prophesied, that Palatayah the son of Banayahaw died. Then fell I down on my face, and cried with a loud voice, and said, Ah Adanay Yahawah! will you make a full end of the remnant of Yasharaal?¹⁴ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,¹⁵ Son of man, your brothers, even your brothers, the men of your relatives, and all the house of Yasharaal, all of them, [are they] to whom the inhabitants of Yarawashalam have said, Get you far from Yahawah; to us is this land given for a possession.¹⁶ Therefore say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Whereas I have removed them far off among the nations, and whereas I have scattered them among the countries, yet will I be to them a sanctuary for a little while in the countries where they are come.¹⁷ Therefore say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will gather you from the peoples, and assemble you out of the countries where you have been scattered, and I will give you the land of Yasharaal.¹⁸ They shall come there, and they shall take away all the detestable things of it and all the abominations of it from there.¹⁹ I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you; and I will take the stony heart out of their flesh, and will give them a heart of flesh;²⁰ that they may walk in my statutes, and keep my ordinances, and do them: and they shall be my people, and I will be their Alahayam.²¹ But as for them whose heart walks after the heart of their detestable things and their abominations, I will bring their way on their own heads, says the Adanay Yahawah.²² Then did the cherubim lift up their wings, and the wheels were beside them; and the glory of the Alahayam of Yasharaal was over them above.²³ The glory of Yahawah went up from the midst of the city, and stood on the mountain which is on the east side of the city.²⁴ The Spirit lifted me up, and brought me in the vision by the Spirit of Alahayam into Chaldea, to them of the captivity. So the vision that I had seen went up from me.²⁵ Then I spoke to them of the captivity all the things that Yahawah had showed me.

12 The word of Yahawah also came to me, saying,² Son of man, you dwell in the midst of the rebellious house, who have eyes to see, and don't see, who have ears to hear, and don't hear; for they are a rebellious house.³ Therefore, you son of man, prepare you stuff for removing, and remove by day in their sight; and you shall remove from your place to another place in their sight: it may be they will consider, though they are a rebellious house.⁴ You shall bring forth your stuff by day in their sight, as stuff for removing; and you shall go forth yourself at even in their sight, as when men go forth into exile.⁵ Dig you through the wall in their sight, and carry out thereby.⁶ In their sight shall you bear it on your shoulder, and carry it forth in the dark; you shall cover your face, that you don't see the land: for I have set you for a sign to the house of Yasharaal.⁷ I did so as I was commanded: I brought forth my stuff by day, as stuff for removing, and in the even I dug through the wall with my hand; I brought it forth in the dark, and bore it on my shoulder in their sight.⁸ In the morning came the word of Yahawah to me, saying,⁹ Son of man, has not the house of Yasharaal, the rebellious house, said to you, What do you?¹⁰ Say you to them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: This burden [concerns] the prince in Yarawashalam, and all the house of Yasharaal among whom they are.¹¹ Say, I am your sign: like as I have done, so shall it be done to them; they shall go into exile, into captivity.¹² The prince who is among them shall bear on his shoulder in the dark, and shall go forth: they shall dig through the wall to carry out thereby: he shall cover his face, because he shall not see the land with his eyes.

¹³ My net also will I spread on him, and he shall be taken in my snare; and I will bring him to Babal to the land of the Kashadayam; yet shall he not see it, though he shall die there.¹⁴ I will scatter toward every wind all who are round about him to help him, and all his bands; and I will draw out the sword after them.¹⁵ They shall know that I am Yahawah, when I shall disperse them among the nations, and scatter them through the countries.¹⁶ But I will leave a few men of them from the sword, from the famine, and from the pestilence; that they may declare all their abominations among the nations where they come; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

²² Son of man, what is this proverb that you have in the land of Yasharaal, saying, The days are prolonged, and every vision fails?²³ Tell them therefore, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will make this proverb to cease, and they shall no more use it as a proverb in Yasharaal; but tell them, The days are at hand, and the fulfillment of every vision.²⁴ For there shall be no more any false vision nor flattering divination within the house of Yasharaal.²⁵ For I am Yahawah; I will speak, and the word that I shall speak shall be performed; it shall be no more deferred: for in your days, rebellious house, will I speak the word, and will perform it, says the Adanay Yahawah.

²⁶ Again the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,²⁷ Son of man, behold, they of the house of Yasharaal say, The vision that he sees is for many day to come, and he prophesies of times that are far off.²⁸ Therefore tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: There shall none of my words be deferred any more, but the word which I shall speak shall be performed, says the Adanay Yahawah.

13 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, prophesy against the prophets of Yasharaal who prophesy, and say you to those who prophesy out of their own heart, Hear you the word of Yahawah:³ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Woe to the foolish prophets, who follow their own spirit, and have seen nothing!⁴ Yasharaal, your prophets have been like foxes in the waste places.⁵ You have not gone up into the gaps, neither built up the wall for the house of Yasharaal, to stand in the battle in the day of Yahawah.⁶ They have seen falsehood and lying divination, who say, Yahawah says; but Yahawah has not sent them: and they have made men to hope that the word would be confirmed.⁷ Haven't you seen a false vision, and haven't you spoken a lying divination, in that you say, Yahawah says; but I have not spoken?⁸ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you have spoken falsehood, and seen lies, therefore, behold, I am against you, says the Adanay Yahawah.⁹ My hand shall be against the prophets who see false visions, and who divine lies: they shall not be in the council of my people, neither shall they be written in the writing of the house of Yasharaal, neither shall they enter into the land of Yasharaal; and you shall know that I am the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁰ Because, even because they have seduced my people, saying, Peace; and there is no peace; and when one builds up a wall, behold, they daub it with whitewash:¹¹ tell those who daub it with whitewash, that it shall fall: there shall be an overflowing shower; and you, great hailstones, shall fall; and a stormy wind shall tear it.¹² Behold, when the wall is fallen, shall it not be said to you, Where is the daubing with which you have daubed it?¹³ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will even tear it with a stormy wind in my wrath; and there shall be an overflowing shower in my anger, and great hailstones in wrath to consume it.¹⁴ So will I break down the wall that you have daubed with whitewash, and bring it down to the ground, so that the foundation of it shall be uncovered; and it shall fall, and you shall be consumed in the midst of it: and you shall know that I am Yahawah.¹⁵ Thus will I accomplish my wrath on the wall, and on those who have daubed it with whitewash; and I will tell you, The wall is no more, neither those who daubed it;¹⁶ [to wit], the prophets of Yasharaal who prophesy concerning Yarawashalam, and who see visions of peace for her, and there is no peace, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁷ You, son of man, set your face against the daughters of your people, who prophesy out of their own heart; and prophesy you against them,¹⁸ and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Woe to the women who sew pillows on all elbows, and make kerchiefs for the head of [persons of] every stature to hunt souls! Will you hunt the souls of my people, and save souls alive for yourselves?¹⁹ You have profaned me among my people for handfuls of barley and for pieces of bread, to kill the souls who should not die, and to save the souls alive who should not live, by your lying to my people who listen to lies.²⁰ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against your pillows, with which you there hunt the souls to make [them] fly, and I will tear them from your arms; and I will let the souls go, even the souls who you hunt to make [them] fly.²¹ Your kerchiefs also will I tear, and deliver my people out of your hand, and they shall be no more in your hand to be hunted; and you shall know that I am Yahawah.²² Because with lies you have grieved the heart of the righteous, whom I have not made sad; and strengthened the hands of the wicked, that he should not return from his wicked way, and be saved alive:²³ Therefore you shall no more see false visions, nor practice divination. I will deliver my people out of your hand; and you shall know that I am Yahawah.

14 Then came certain of the elders of Yasharaal to me, and sat before me.² The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,³ Son of man, these men have taken their idols into their heart, and put the stumbling block of their iniquity before their face: should I be inquired of at all by them?⁴ Therefore speak to them, and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Every man of the house of Yasharaal who takes his idols into his heart, and puts the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and comes to the prophet; I Yahawah will answer him therein according to the multitude of his idols;⁵ that I may take the house of Yasharaal in their own heart, because they are all estranged from me through their idols.⁶ Therefore tell the house of Yasharaal, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Return you, and turn yourselves from your idols; and turn away your faces from all your abominations.⁷ For everyone of the house of Yasharaal, or of the strangers who sojourn in Yasharaal, who separates himself from me, and takes his idols into his heart, and puts the stumbling block of his iniquity before his face, and comes to the prophet to inquire for himself of me; I

Yahawah will answer him by myself: ⁸ and I will set my face against that man, and will make him an astonishment, for a sign and a proverb, and I will cut him off from the midst of my people; and you shall know that I am Yahawah. ⁹ If the prophet be deceived and speak a word, I, Yahawah, have deceived that prophet, and I will stretch out my hand on him, and will destroy him from the midst of my people Yasharaal. ¹⁰ They shall bear their iniquity: the iniquity of the prophet shall be even as the iniquity of him who seeks [to him]; ¹¹ that the house of Yasharaal may go no more astray from me, neither defile themselves any more with all their transgressions; but that they may be my people, and I may be their Alahayam, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹² The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ¹³ Son of man, when a land sins against me by committing a trespass, and I stretch out my hand on it, and break the staff of the bread of it, and send famine on it, and cut off from it man and animal; ¹⁴ though these three men, Nach, Dan, and Ayawab, were in it, they should deliver but their own souls by their righteousness, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁵ If I cause evil animals to pass through the land, and they ravage it, and it be made desolate, so that no man may pass through because of the animals; ¹⁶ though these three men were in it, as I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, they should deliver neither sons nor daughters; they only should be delivered, but the land should be desolate. ¹⁷ Or if I bring a sword on that land, and say, Sword, go through the land; so that I cut off from it man and animal; ¹⁸ though these three men were in it, as I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, they should deliver neither sons nor daughters, but they only should be delivered themselves. ¹⁹ Or if I send a pestilence into that land, and pour out my wrath on it in blood, to cut off from it man and animal; ²⁰ though Nach, Dan, and Ayawab, were in it, as I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, they should deliver neither son nor daughter; they should but deliver their own souls by their righteousness. ²¹ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: How much more when I send my four sore judgments on Yarawashalam, the sword, and the famine, and the evil animals, and the pestilence, to cut off from it man and animal! ²² Yet, behold, therein shall be left a remnant that shall be carried forth, both sons and daughters: behold, they shall come forth to you, and you shall see their way and their doings; and you shall be comforted concerning the evil that I have brought on Yarawashalam, even concerning all that I have brought on it. ²³ They shall comfort you, when you see their way and their doings; and you shall know that I have not done without cause all that I have done in it, says the Adanay Yahawah.

15 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Son of man, what is the vine-tree more than any tree, the vine-branch which is among the trees of the forest? ³ Shall wood be taken of it to make any work? or will men take a pin of it to hang any vessel thereon? ⁴ Behold, it is cast into the fire for fuel; the fire has devoured both the ends of it, and the midst of it is burned: is it profitable for any work? ⁵ Behold, when it was whole, it was meet for no work: how much less, when the fire has devoured it, and it is burned, shall it yet be meet for any work! ⁶ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: As the vine-tree among the trees of the forest, which I have given to the fire for fuel, so will I give the inhabitants of Yarawashalam. ⁷ I will set my face against them; they shall go forth from the fire, but the fire shall devour them; and you shall know that I am Yahawah, when I set my face against them. ⁸ I will make the land desolate, because they have committed a trespass, says the Adanay Yahawah.

16 Again the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Son of man, cause Yarawashalam to know her abominations; ³ and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah to Yarawashalam: Your birth and your birth is of the land of the Canaanite; the Amorite was your father, and your mother was a Hittite. ⁴ As for your birth, in the day you were born your navel was not cut, neither were you washed in water to cleanse you; you weren't salted at all, nor swaddled at all. ⁵ No eye pitied you, to do any of these things to you, to have compassion on you; but you were cast out in the open field, for that your person was abhorred, in the day that you were born. ⁶ When I passed by you, and saw you weltering in your blood, I said to you, [Though you are] in your blood, live; yes, I said to you, [Though you are] in your blood, live. ⁷ I caused you to multiply as that which grows in the field, and you did increase and wax great, and you attained to excellent ornament; your breasts were fashioned, and your hair was grown; yet you were naked and bare. ⁸ Now when I passed by you, and looked at you, behold, your time was the time of love; and I spread my skirt over you, and covered your nakedness: yes, I swore to you, and entered into a covenant with you, says the Adanay Yahawah, and you became mine. ⁹ Then washed I you with water; yes, I thoroughly washed away your blood from you, and I anointed you with oil. ¹⁰ I clothed you also with embroidered work, and shod you with sealskin, and I girded you about with fine linen, and covered you with silk. ¹¹ I decked you with ornaments, and I put bracelets on your hands, and a chain on your neck. ¹² I put a ring on your nose, and ear-rings in your ears, and a beautiful crown on your head. ¹³ Thus was you decked with gold and silver; and your clothing was of fine linen, and silk, and embroidered work; you ate fine flour, and honey, and oil; and you were exceeding beautiful, and you did prosper to royal estate. ¹⁴ Your renown went forth among the nations for your beauty; for it was perfect, through my majesty which I had put on you, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁵ But you did trust in your beauty, and played the prostitute because of your renown, and poured out your prostitution on everyone who passed by; his it was. ¹⁶ You did take of your garments, and mad for you high places decked with various colors, and played the prostitute on them: [the like things] shall not come, neither shall it be [so]. ¹⁷ You did also take your beautiful jewels of my gold and of my silver, which I had given you, and mad for you images of men, and did play the prostitute with them; ¹⁸ and you took your embroidered garments, and covered them, and did set my oil and my incense before them. ¹⁹ My bread also which I gave you, fine flour, and oil, and honey, with which I fed you, you did even set it before them for a sweet savor; and [thus] it was, says the Adanay Yahawah. ²⁰ Moreover you have taken your sons and your daughters, whom you have borne to me, and these have you sacrificed to them to be devoured. Were your prostitution a small matter, ²¹ that you have slain my children, and delivered them up, in causing them to pass through [the fire] to them? ²² In all your abominations and your prostitution you have not remembered the days of your youth, when you were naked and bare, and was weltering in your blood. ²³ It is happen after all your wickedness, (woe, woe to you! says the Adanay Yahawah,) ²⁴ that you have built to you a vaulted place, and have made you a lofty place in every street. ²⁵ You have built your lofty place at the head of every way, and have made your beauty an abomination, and have opened your feet to everyone who passed by, and multiplied your prostitution. ²⁶ You have also committed sexual immorality with the Matzarayam, your neighbors, great of flesh; and have multiplied your prostitution, to provoke me to anger. ²⁷ See therefore, I have stretched out my hand over you, and have diminished your ordinary [food], and delivered you to the will of those who hate you, the daughters of the Palashath, who are ashamed of your lewd way. ²⁸ You have played the prostitute also with the Ashawar, because you were insatiable; yes, you have played the prostitute with them, and yet you weren't satisfied. ²⁹ You have moreover multiplied your prostitution to the land of traffic, to Chaldea; and yet you weren't satisfied herewith. ³⁰ How weak is your heart, says the Adanay Yahawah, seeing you do all these things, the work of an impudent prostitute; ³¹ in that you build your vaulted place at the head of every way, and make your lofty place in every street, and have not been as a prostitute, in that you scorn hire. ³² A wife who commits adultery! who takes strangers instead of her husband! ³³ They give gifts to all prostitutes; but you give your gifts to all your lovers, and bribe them, that they may come to you on every side for your prostitution. ³⁴ You are different from [other] women in your prostitution, in that none follows you to play the prostitute; and whereas you give hire, and no hire is given to you, therefore you are different. ³⁵ Therefore, prostitute, hear the word of

Yahawah: ³⁶ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Because your filthiness was poured out, and your nakedness uncovered through your prostitution with your lovers; and because of all the idols of your abominations, and for the blood of your children, that you gave to them; ³⁷ therefore see, I will gather all your lovers, with whom you have taken pleasure, and all those who you have loved, with all those who you have hated; I will even gather them against you on every side, and will uncover your nakedness to them, that they may see all your nakedness. ³⁸ I will judge you, as women who break wedlock and shed blood are judged; and I will bring on you the blood of wrath and jealousy. ³⁹ I will also give you into their hand, and they shall throw down your vaulted place, and break down your lofty places; and they shall strip you of your clothes, and take your beautiful jewels; and they shall leave you naked and bare. ⁴⁰ They shall also bring up a company against you, and they shall stone you with stones, and thrust you through with their swords. ⁴¹ They shall burn your houses with fire, and execute judgments on you in the sight of many women; and I will cause you to cease from playing the prostitute, and you shall also give no hire any more. ⁴² So will I cause my wrath toward you to rest, and my jealousy shall depart from you, and I will be quiet, and will be no more angry. ⁴³ Because you have not remembered the days of your youth, but have raged against me in all these things; therefore, behold, I also will bring your way on your head, says the Adanay Yahawah: and you shall not commit this lewdness with all your abominations. ⁴⁴ Behold, everyone who uses proverbs shall use [this] proverb against you, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter. ⁴⁵ You are the daughter of your mother, who loathes her husband and her children; and you are the sister of your sisters, who loathed their husbands and their children: your mother was a Hittite, and your father an Amorite. ⁴⁶ Your elder sister is Shamarawan, who dwells at your left hand, she and her daughters; and your younger sister, who dwells at your right hand, is Sadam and her daughters. ⁴⁷ Yet have you not walked in their ways, nor done after their abominations; but, as [if that were] a very little [thing], you were more corrupt than they in all your ways. ⁴⁸ As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, Sadam your sister has not done, she nor her daughters, as you have done, you and your daughters. ⁴⁹ Behold, this was the iniquity of your sister Sadam: pride, fullness of bread, and prosperous ease was in her and in her daughters; neither did she strengthen the hand of the poor and needy. ⁵⁰ They were haughty, and committed abomination before me: therefore I took them away as I saw [good]. ⁵¹ Neither has Shamarawan committed half of your sins; but you have multiplied your abominations more than they, and have justified your sisters by all your abominations which you have done. ⁵² You also, bear you your own shame, in that you have given judgment for your sisters; through your sins that you have committed more abominable than they, they are more righteous than you: yes, be you also confounded, and bear your shame, in that you have justified your sisters. ⁵³ I will turn again their captivity, the captivity of Sadam and her daughters, and the captivity of Shamarawan and her daughters, and the captivity of your captives in the midst of them; ⁵⁴ that you may bear your own shame, and may be ashamed because of all that you have done, in that you are a comfort to them. ⁵⁵ Your sisters, Sadam and her daughters, shall return to their former estate; and Shamarawan and her daughters shall return to their former estate; and you and your daughters shall return to your former estate. ⁵⁶ For your sister Sadam was not mentioned by your mouth in the day of your pride, ⁵⁷ before your wickedness was uncovered, as at the time of the reproach of the daughters of Aram, and of all who are round about her, the daughters of the Palashath, who do despite to you round about. ⁵⁸ You have borne your lewdness and your abominations, says Yahawah. ⁵⁹ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will also deal with you as you have done, who have despised the oath in breaking the covenant. ⁶⁰ Nevertheless I will remember my covenant with you in the days of your youth, and I will establish to you an everlasting covenant. ⁶¹ Then shall you remember your ways, and be ashamed, when you shall receive your sisters, your elder [sisters] and your younger; and I will give them to you for daughters, but not by your covenant. ⁶² I will establish my covenant with you; and you shall know that I am Yahawah; ⁶³ that you may remember, and be confounded, and never open your mouth any more, because of your shame, when I have forgiven you all that you have done, says the Adanay Yahawah.

17 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Son of man, put forth a riddle, and speak a parable to the house of Yasharaal; ³ and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: A great eagle with great wings and long pinions, full of feathers, which had various colors, came to Labanawan, and took the top of the cedar: ⁴ he cropped off the topmost of the young twigs of it, and carried it to a land of traffic; he set it in a city of merchants. ⁵ He took also of the seed of the land, and planted it in a fruitful soil; he placed it beside many waters; he set it as a willow-tree. ⁶ It grew, and became a spreading vine of low stature, whose branches turned toward him, and the roots of it were under him: so it became a vine, and brought forth branches, and shot forth sprigs. ⁷ There was also another great eagle with great wings and many feathers: and, behold, this vine did bend its roots toward him, and shot forth its branches toward him, from the beds of its plantation, that he might water it. ⁸ It was planted in a good soil by many waters, that it might bring forth branches, and that it might bear fruit, that it might be a goodly vine. ⁹ Say you, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Shall it prosper? shall he not pull up the roots of it, and cut off the fruit of it, that it may wither; that all its fresh springing leaves may wither? and not by a strong arm or much people can it be raised from the roots of it. ¹⁰ Yes, behold, being planted, shall it prosper? shall it not utterly wither, when the east wind touches it? it shall wither in the beds where it grew. ¹¹ Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ¹² Say now to the rebellious house, Don't you know what these things mean? tell them, Behold, the king of Babal came to Yarawashalam, and took the king of it, and the princes of it, and brought them to him to Babal: ¹³ and he took of the seed royal, and made a covenant with him; he also brought him under an oath, and took away the mighty of the land; ¹⁴ that the kingdom might be base, that it might not lift itself up, but that by keeping his covenant it might stand. ¹⁵ But he rebelled against him in sending his ambassadors into Matzarayam, that they might give him horses and much people. Shall he prosper? shall he escape who does such things? shall he break the covenant, and yet escape? ¹⁶ As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, surely in the place where the king dwells who made him king, whose oath he despised, and whose covenant he broke, even with him in the midst of Babal he shall die. ¹⁷ Neither shall Paraih with his mighty army and great company help him in the war, when they cast up mounds and build forts, to cut off many persons. ¹⁸ For he has despised the oath by breaking the covenant; and behold, he had given his hand, and yet has done all these things; he shall not escape. ¹⁹ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: As I live, surely my oath that he has despised, and my covenant that he has broken, I will even bring it on his own head. ²⁰ I will spread my net on him, and he shall be taken in my snare, and I will bring him to Babal, and will enter into judgment with him there for his trespass that he has trespassed against me. ²¹ All his fugitives in all his bands shall fall by the sword, and those who remain shall be scattered toward every wind: and you shall know that I, Yahawah, have spoken it. ²² Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will also take of the lofty top of the cedar, and will set it; I will crop off from the topmost of its young twigs a tender one, and I will plant it on a high and lofty mountain: ²³ in the mountain of the height of Yasharaal will I plant it; and it shall bring forth boughs, and bear fruit, and be a goodly cedar: and under it shall dwell all birds of every wing; in the shade of the branches of it shall they dwell. ²⁴ All the trees of the field shall know that I, Yahawah, have brought down the high tree, have exalted the low tree, have dried up the green tree, and have made the dry tree to flourish; I, Yahawah, have spoken and have done it.

18 The word of Yahawah came to me again, saying, ² What do you mean, that you use this proverb concerning the land of Yasharaal, saying, The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge? ³ As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, you shall not have [occasion] any more to use this proverb in Yasharaal. ⁴ Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul who sins, he shall die. ⁵ But if a man is just, and does that which is lawful and right, ⁶ and has not eaten on the mountains, neither has lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Yasharaal, neither has defiled his neighbor's wife, neither has come near to a woman in her impurity, ⁷ and has not wronged any, but has restored to the debtor his pledge, has taken nothing by robbery, has given his bread to the hungry, and has covered the naked with a garment; ⁸ he who has not given forth on interest, neither has taken any increase, who has withdrawn his hand from iniquity, has executed true justice between man and man, ⁹ has walked in my statutes, and has kept my ordinances, to deal truly; he is just, he shall surely live, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁰ If he fathers a son who is a robber, a shedder of blood, and who does any one of these things, ¹¹ and who does not any of those [duties], but even has eaten on the mountains, and defiled his neighbor's wife, ¹² has wronged the poor and needy, has taken by robbery, has not restored the pledge, and has lifted up his eyes to the idols, has committed abomination, ¹³ has given forth on interest, and has taken increase; shall he then live? he shall not live: he has done all these abominations; he shall surely die; his blood shall be on him. ¹⁴ Now, behold, if he fathers a son, who sees all his father's sins, which he has done, and fears, and does not such like; ¹⁵ who has not eaten on the mountains, neither has lifted up his eyes to the idols of the house of Yasharaal, has not defiled his neighbor's wife, ¹⁶ neither has wronged any, has not taken anything to pledge, neither has taken by robbery, but has given his bread to the hungry, and has covered the naked with a garment; ¹⁷ who has withdrawn his hand from the poor, who has not received interest nor increase, has executed my ordinances, has walked in my statutes; he shall not die for the iniquity of his father, he shall surely live. ¹⁸ As for his father, because he cruelly oppressed, robbed his brother, and did that which is not good among his people, behold, he shall die in his iniquity. ¹⁹ Yet say you, Why does not the son bear the iniquity of the father? when the son has done that which is lawful and right, and has kept all my statutes, and has done them, he shall surely live. ²⁰ The soul who sins, he shall die: the son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son; the righteousness of the righteous shall be on him, and the wickedness of the wicked shall be on him. ²¹ But if the wicked turn from all his sins that he has committed, and keep all my statutes, and do that which is lawful and right, he shall surely live, he shall not die. ²² None of his transgressions that he has committed shall be remembered against him: in his righteousness that he has done he shall live. ²³ Have I any pleasure in the death of the wicked? says the Adanay Yahawah; and not rather that he should return from his way, and live? ²⁴ But when the righteous turns away from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, and does according to all the abominations that the wicked man does, shall he live? None of his righteous deeds that he has done shall be remembered: in his trespass that he has transgressed, and in his sin that he has sinned, in them shall he die. ²⁵ Yet you say, The way of the Adanay is not equal. Hear now, house of Yasharaal: Is my way not equal? Aren't your ways unequal? ²⁶ When the righteous man turns away from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, and dies therein; in his iniquity that he has done shall he die. ²⁷ Again, when the wicked man turns away from his wickedness that he has committed, and does that which is lawful and right, he shall save his soul alive. ²⁸ Because he considers, and turns away from all his transgressions that he has committed, he shall surely live, he shall not die. ²⁹ Yet says the house of Yasharaal, The way of the Adanay is not equal. house of Yasharaal, are not my ways equal? are not your ways unequal? ³⁰ Therefore I will judge you, house of Yasharaal, everyone according to his ways, says the Adanay Yahawah. Return you, and turn yourselves from all your transgressions; so iniquity shall not be your ruin. ³¹ Cast away from you all your transgressions, in which you have transgressed; and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will you die, house of Yasharaal? ³² For I have no pleasure in the death of him who dies, says the Adanay Yahawah: why turn yourselves, and live.

19 Moreover, take up a lamentation for the princes of Yasharaal, ² and say, What was your mother? A lioness: she couched among lions, in the midst of the young lions she nourished her whelps. ³ She brought up one of her whelps: he became a young lion, and he learned to catch the prey; he devoured men. ⁴ The nations also heard of him; he was taken in their pit; and they brought him with hooks to the land of Matzarayam. ⁵ Now when she saw that she had waited, and her hope was lost, then she took another of her whelps, and made him a young lion. ⁶ He went up and down among the lions; he became a young lion, and he learned to catch the prey; he devoured men. ⁷ He knew their palaces, and laid waste their cities; and the land was desolate, and the fullness of it, because of the noise of his roaring. ⁸ Then the nations set against him on every side from the provinces; and they spread their net over him; he was taken in their pit. ⁹ They put him in a cage with hooks, and brought him to the king of Babal; they brought him into strongholds, that his voice should no more be heard on the mountains of Yasharaal. ¹⁰ Your mother was like a vine, in your blood, planted by the waters: it was fruitful and full of branches by reason of many waters. ¹¹ It had strong rods for the scepters of those who bore rule, and their stature was exalted among the thick boughs, and they were seen in their height with the multitude of their branches. ¹² But it was plucked up in fury, it was cast down to the ground, and the east wind dried up its fruit: its strong rods were broken off and withered; the fire consumed them. ¹³ Now it is planted in the wilderness, in a dry and thirsty land. ¹⁴ Fire is gone out of the rods of its branches, it has devoured its fruit, so that there is in it no strong rod to be a scepter to rule. This is a lamentation, and shall be for a lamentation.

20 It happened in the seventh year, in the fifth [month], the tenth [day] of the month, that certain of the elders of Yasharaal came to inquire of Yahawah, and sat before me. ² The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ³ Son of man, speak to the elders of Yasharaal, and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Is it to inquire of me that you have come? As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, I will not be inquired of by you. ⁴ Will you judge them, son of man, will you judge them? Cause them to know the abominations of their fathers; ⁵ and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: In the day when I chose Yasharaal, and swore to the seed of the house of Yaiqab, and made myself known to them in the land of Matzarayam, when I swore to them, saying, I am Yahawah your Alahayam; ⁶ in that day I swore to them, to bring them forth out of the land of Matzarayam into a land that I had searched out for them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands. ⁷ I said to them, Cast you away every man the abominations of his eyes, and don't defile yourselves with the idols of Matzarayam; I am Yahawah your Alahayam. ⁸ But they rebelled against me, and would not listen to me; they did not every man cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idols of Matzarayam. Then I said I would pour out my wrath on them, to accomplish my anger against them in the midst of the land of Matzarayam. ⁹ But I worked for my name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations, among which they were, in whose sight I made myself known to them, in bringing them forth out of the land of Matzarayam. ¹⁰ So I caused them to go forth out of the land of Matzarayam, and brought them into the wilderness. ¹¹ I gave them my statutes, and showed them my ordinances, which if a man do, he shall live in them. ¹² Moreover also I gave them my Sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am Yahawah who sanctifies them. ¹³ But the house of Yasharaal rebelled against me in the wilderness: they didn't walk in my statutes, and they rejected my ordinances, which if a man keep, he shall live in them; and my Sabbaths they greatly profaned. Then I said I would pour out my wrath on them in the wilderness, to consume them. ¹⁴ But I worked for my name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations, in whose sight I brought them out.¹⁵ Moreover also I swore to them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land which I had given them, flowing with milk and honey, which is the glory of all lands;¹⁶ because they rejected my ordinances, and didn't walk in my statutes, and profaned my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idols.¹⁷ Nevertheless my eye spared them, and I didn't destroy them, neither did I make a full end of them in the wilderness.¹⁸ I said to their children in the wilderness, Don't you walk in the statutes of your fathers, neither observe their ordinances, nor defile yourselves with their idols.¹⁹ I am Yahawah your Alahayam: walk in my statutes, and keep my ordinances, and do them;²⁰ and make my Sabbaths holy; and they shall be a sign between me and you, that you may know that I am Yahawah your Alahayam.²¹ But the children rebelled against me; they didn't walk in my statutes, neither kept my ordinances to do them, which if a man do, he shall live in them; they profaned my Sabbaths. Then I said I would pour out my wrath on them, to accomplish my anger against them in the wilderness.²² Nevertheless I withdrew my hand, and worked for my name's sake, that it should not be profaned in the sight of the nations, in whose sight I brought them forth.²³ Moreover I swore to them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the nations, and disperse them through the countries;²⁴ because they had not executed my ordinances, but had rejected my statutes, and had profaned my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers' idols.²⁵ Moreover also I gave them statutes that were not good, and ordinances in which they should not live;²⁶ and I polluted them in their own gifts, in that they caused to pass through [the fire] all that opens the womb, that I might make them desolate, to the end that they might know that I am Yahawah.²⁷ Therefore, son of man, speak to the house of Yasharaal, and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: In this moreover have your fathers blasphemed me, in that they have committed a trespass against me.²⁸ For when I had brought them into the land, which I swore to give to them, then they saw every high hill, and every thick tree, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented the provocation of their offering; there also they made their sweet savor, and they poured out there their drink-offerings.²⁹ Then I said to them, What means the high place whereunto you go? So the name of it is called Bamah to this day.³⁰ Therefore tell the house of Yasharaal, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Do you pollute yourselves after the manner of your fathers? and play you the prostitute after their abominations?³¹ and when you offer your gifts, when you make your sons to pass through the fire, do you pollute yourselves with all your idols to this day? and shall I be inquired of by you, house of Yasharaal? As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, I will not be inquired of by you;³² and that which comes into your mind shall not be at all, in that you say, We will be as the nations, as the families of the countries, to serve wood and stone.³³ As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, surely with a mighty hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with wrath poured out, will I be king over you:³⁴ and I will bring you out from the peoples, and will gather you out of the countries in which you are scattered, with a mighty hand, and with an outstretched arm, and with wrath poured out;³⁵ and I will bring you into the wilderness of the peoples, and there will I enter into judgment with you face to face.³⁶ Like as I entered into judgment with your fathers in the wilderness of the land of Matzarayam, so will I enter into judgment with you, says the Adanay Yahawah.³⁷ I will cause you to pass under the rod, and I will bring you into the bond of the covenant;³⁸ and I will purge out from among you the rebels, and those who disobey against me; I will bring them forth out of the land where they sojourn, but they shall not enter into the land of Yasharaal: and you shall know that I am Yahawah.³⁹ As for you, house of Yasharaal, thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Go you, serve everyone his idols, and hereafter also, if you will not listen to me; but my holy name shall you no more profane with your gifts, and with your idols.⁴⁰ For in my holy mountain, in the mountain of the height of Yasharaal, says the Adanay Yahawah, there shall all the house of Yasharaal, all of them, serve me in the land: there will I accept them, and there will I require your offerings, and the first-fruits of your offerings, with all your holy things.⁴¹ As a sweet savor will I accept you, when I bring you out from the peoples, and gather you out of the countries in which you have been scattered; and I will be sanctified in you in the sight of the nations.⁴² You shall know that I am Yahawah, when I shall bring you into the land of Yasharaal, into the country which I swore to give to your fathers.⁴³ There shall you remember your ways, and all your doings, in which you have polluted yourselves; and you shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for all your evils that you have committed.⁴⁴ You shall know that I am Yahawah, when I have dealt with you for my name's sake, not according to your evil ways, nor according to your corrupt doings, you house of Yasharaal, says the Adanay Yahawah.

21 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,⁷ Son of man, set your face toward Yarawashalam, and drop [your word] toward the sanctuaries, and prophesy against the land of Yasharaal;⁸ and tell the land of Yasharaal, Thus says Yahawah: Behold, I am against you, and will draw forth my sword out of its sheath, and will cut off from you the righteous and the wicked.⁹ Seeing then that I will cut off from you the righteous and the wicked, therefore shall my sword go forth out of its sheath against all flesh from the south to the north:¹⁰ and all flesh shall know that I, Yahawah, have drawn forth my sword out of its sheath; it shall not return any more.¹¹ Sigh therefore, you son of man; with the breaking of your loins and with bitterness shall you sigh before their eyes.¹² It shall be, when they tell you, Why do you sigh? that you shall say, Because of the news, for it comes; and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be feeble, and every spirit shall faint, and all knees shall be weak as water: behold, it comes, and it shall be done, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹³ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,¹⁴ Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says Yahawah: Say, A sword, a sword, it is sharpened, and also furbished;¹⁵ it is sharpened that it may make a slaughter; it is furbished that it may be as lightning: shall we then make mirth? the rod of my son, it condemns every tree.¹⁶ It is given to be furbished, that it may be handled: the sword, it is sharpened, yes, it is furbished, to give it into the hand of the killer.¹⁷ Cry and wail, son of man; for it is on my people, it is on all the princes of Yasharaal: they are delivered over to the sword with my people; strike therefore on your thigh.¹⁸ For there is a trial; and what if even the rod that condemns shall be no more? says the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁹ You therefore, son of man, prophesy, and strike your hands together; and let the sword be doubled the third time, the sword of the deadly wounded: it is the sword of the great one who is deadly wounded, which enters into their chambers.²⁰ I have set the threatening sword against all their gates, that their heart may melt, and their stumblings be multiplied: ah! it is made as lightning, it is pointed for slaughter.²¹ Gather you together, go to the right, set yourself in array, go to the left, wherever your face is set.²² I will also strike my hands together, and I will cause my wrath to rest: I, Yahawah, have spoken it.²³ The word of Yahawah came to me again, saying,²⁴ Also, you son of man, appoint two ways, that the sword of the king of Babal may come; they both shall come forth out of one land: and mark out a place, mark it out at the head of the way to the city.²⁵ You shall appoint a way for the sword to come to Rabah of the children of Imawan, and to Yahawadah in Yarawashalam the fortified.²⁶ For the king of Babal stood at the parting of the way, at the head of the two ways, to use divination: he shook the arrows back and forth, he consulted the teraphim, he looked in the liver.²⁷ In his right hand was the divination [for] Yarawashalam, to set battering rams, to open the mouth in the slaughter, to lift up the voice with shouting, to set battering rams against the gates, to cast up mounds, to build forts.²⁸ It shall be to them as a false divination in their sight, who have sworn oaths to them; but he brings iniquity to memory, that they may be taken.²⁹ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you have made your iniquity to be remembered, in that your transgressions are uncovered, so that in all your doings your sins do appear; because you have come to memory, you shall be taken with the hand.³⁰ You, deadly wounded wicked one, the prince of Yasharaal, whose day is come, in the time of the iniquity of the end,³¹ thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Remove the mitre, and take off the crown; this [shall be] no more the same; exalt that which is low, and abase that which is high.³² I will overturn, overturn it: this also shall be no more, until he come whose right it is; and I will give it [him].³³ You, son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah concerning the children of Imawan, and concerning their reproach; and say you, A sword, a sword is drawn, for the slaughter it is furnished, to cause it to devour, that it may be as lightning;³⁴ while they see for you false visions, while they divine lies to you, to lay you on the necks of the wicked who are deadly wounded, whose day is come in the time of the iniquity of the end.³⁵ Cause it to return into its sheath. In the place where you were created, in the land of your birth, will I judge you.³⁶ I will pour out my indignation on you; I will blow on you with the fire of my wrath; and I will deliver you into the hand of brutish men, skillful to destroy.³⁷ You shall be for fuel to the fire; your blood shall be in the midst of the land; you shall be no more remembered: for I, Yahawah, have spoken it.

22 Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² You, son of man, will you judge, will you judge the bloody city? then cause her to know all her abominations.³ You shall say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: A city that sheds blood in the midst of her, that her time may come, and that makes idols against herself to defile her!⁴ You have become guilty in your blood that you have shed, and are defiled in your idols which you have made; and you have caused your days to draw near, and are come even to your years: therefore have I made you a reproach to the nations, and a mocking to all the countries.⁵ Those who are near, and those who are far from you, shall mock you, you infamous one [and] full of tumult.⁶ Behold, the princes of Yasharaal, everyone according to his power, have been in you to shed blood.⁷ In you have they set light by father and mother; in the midst of you have they dealt by oppression with the sojourner; in you have they wronged the fatherless and the widow.⁸ You have despised my holy things, and have profaned my Sabbaths.⁹ Slandorous men have been in you to shed blood; and in you they have eaten on the mountains: in the midst of you they have committed lewdness.¹⁰ In you have they uncovered their fathers' nakedness; in you have they humbled her who was unclean in her impurity.¹¹ One has committed abomination with his neighbor's wife; and another has lewdly defiled his daughter-in-law; and another in you has humbled his sister, his father's daughter.¹² In you have they taken bribes to shed blood; you have taken interest and increase, and you have greedily gained of your neighbors by oppression, and have forgotten me, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹³ Behold, therefore, I have struck my hand at your dishonest gain which you have made, and at your blood which has been in the midst of you.¹⁴ Can your heart endure, or can your hands be strong, in the days that I shall deal with you? I, Yahawah, have spoken it, and will do it.¹⁵ I will scatter you among the nations, and disperse you through the countries; and I will consume your filthiness out of you.¹⁶ You shall be profaned in yourself, in the sight of the nations; and you shall know that I am Yahawah.¹⁷ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,¹⁸ Son of man, the house of Yasharaal is become dross to me: all of them are brass and tin and iron and lead, in the midst of the furnace; they are the dross of silver.¹⁹ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you are all become dross, therefore, behold, I will gather you into the midst of Yarawashalam.²⁰ As they gather silver and brass and iron and lead and tin into the midst of the furnace, to blow the fire on it, to melt it; so will I gather you in my anger and in my wrath, and I will lay you there, and melt you.²¹ Yes, I will gather you, and blow on you with the fire of my wrath, and you shall be melted in the midst of it.²² As silver is melted in the midst of the furnace, so shall you be melted in the midst of it; and you shall know that I, Yahawah, have poured out my wrath on you.²³ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,²⁴ Son of man, tell her, You are a land that is not cleansed, nor rained on in the day of indignation.²⁵ There is a conspiracy of her prophets in the midst of it, like a roaring lion ravening the prey: they have devoured souls; they take treasure and precious things; they have made her widows many in the midst of it.²⁶ Her priests have done violence to my law, and have profaned my holy things: they have made no distinction between the holy and the common, neither have they caused men to discern between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my Sabbaths, and I am profaned among them.²⁷ Her princes in the midst of it are like wolves ravening the prey, to shed blood, [and] to destroy souls, that they may get dishonest gain.²⁸ Her prophets have daubed for them with whitewash, seeing false visions, and divining lies to them, saying, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, when Yahawah has not spoken.²⁹ The people of the land have used oppression, and exercised robbery; yes, they have vexed the poor and needy, and have oppressed the sojourner wrongfully.³⁰ I sought for a man among them, who should build up the wall, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it; but I found none.³¹ Therefore have I poured out my indignation on them; I have consumed them with the fire of my wrath: their own way have I brought on their heads, says the Adanay Yahawah.

23 The word of Yahawah came again to me, saying,² Son of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother:³ and they played the prostitute in Matzarayam; they played the prostitute in their youth; there were their breasts pressed, and there was handled the bosom of their virginity.⁴ The names of them were Ahalah the elder, and Ahalayabah her sister: and they became mine, and they bore sons and daughters. As for their names, Shamarawan is Ahalah, and Yarawashalam Ahalayabah.⁵ Ahalah played the prostitute when she was mine; and she doted on her lovers, on the Ashawar [her] neighbors,⁶ who were clothed with blue, governors and rulers, all of them desirable young men, horsemen riding on horses.⁷ She bestowed her prostitution on them, the choicest men of Ashawar all of them; and on whoever she doted, with all their idols she defiled herself.⁸ Neither has she left her prostitution since [the days of] Matzarayam; for in her youth they lay with her, and they handled the bosom of her virginity; and they poured out their prostitution on her.⁹ Therefore I delivered her into the hand of her lovers, into the hand of the Ashawar, on whom she doted.¹⁰ These uncovered her nakedness; they took her sons and her daughters; and her they killed with the sword: and she became a byword among women; for they executed judgments on her.¹¹ Her sister Ahalayabah saw this, yet was she more corrupt in her doting than she, and in her prostitution which were more than the prostitution of her sister.¹² She doted on the Ashawar, governors and rulers, [her] neighbors, clothed most gorgeously, horsemen riding on horses, all of them desirable young men.¹³ I saw that she was defiled; they both took one way.¹⁴ She increased her prostitution; for she saw men portrayed on the wall, the images of the Kashadayam portrayed with vermilion,¹⁵ girded with girdles on their loins, with flowing turbans on their heads, all of them princes to look on, after the likeness of the Babylonians in Chaldea, the land of their birth.¹⁶ As soon as she saw them she doted on them, and sent messengers to them into Chaldea.¹⁷ The Babylonians came to her into the bed of love, and they defiled her with their prostitution, and she was polluted with them, and her soul was alienated from them.¹⁸ So she uncovered her prostitution, and uncovered her nakedness: then my soul was alienated from her, like as my soul was alienated from her sister.¹⁹ Yet she multiplied her prostitution, remembering the days of her youth, in which she had played the prostitute in the land of Matzarayam.²⁰ She doted on their paramours, whose flesh is as the flesh of donkeys, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.²¹ Thus you called to memory the lewdness of your youth, in the handling of your bosom by the Matzarayam for the breasts of your youth.²² Therefore, Ahalayabah, thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will raise up your lovers against you, from whom your soul is alienated, and I will bring them against you on every side:²³ the Babylonians and all the Kashadayam, Paqawad and Shawai and Qawai, [and] all the Ashawar with them; desirable young men, governors and rulers all of them, princes and men of renown, all of them riding on horses.²⁴ They shall come against you with weapons, chariots, and wagons, and with a company of peoples; they shall set themselves against you with buckler and shield and helmet round about; and I will commit the judgment to them, and they shall judge you according to their judgments.²⁵ I will set my jealousy against you, and they shall deal with you in fury; they shall take away your nose and your ears; and your residue shall fall by the sword: they shall take your sons and your daughters; and your residue shall be devoured by the fire.²⁶ They shall also strip you of your clothes, and take away your beautiful jewels.²⁷ Thus will I make your lewdness to cease from you, and your prostitution [brought] from the land of Matzarayam; so that you shall not lift up your eyes to them, nor remember Matzarayam any more.²⁸ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will deliver you into the hand of them whom you hate, into the hand of them from whom your soul is alienated;²⁹ and they shall deal with you in hatred, and shall take away all your labor, and shall leave you naked and bare; and the nakedness of your prostitution shall be uncovered, both your lewdness and your prostitution.³⁰ These things shall be done to you, because you have played the prostitute after the nations, and because you are polluted with their idols.³¹ You have walked in the way of your sister; therefore will I give her cup into your hand.³² Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: You shall drink of your sister's cup, which is deep and large; you shall be laughed to scorn and had in derision; it contains much.³³ You shall be filled with drunkenness and sorrow, with the cup of astonishment and desolation, with the cup of your sister Shamarawan.³⁴ You shall even drink it and drain it out, and you shall gnaw the broken pieces of it, and shall tear your breasts; for I have spoken it, says the Adanay Yahawah.³⁵ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you have forgotten me, and cast me behind your back, therefore bear you also your lewdness and your prostitution.³⁶ Yahawah said moreover to me: Son of man, will you judge Ahalah and Ahalayabah? then declare to them their abominations.³⁷ For they have committed adultery, and blood is in their hands; and with their idols have they committed adultery; and they have also caused their sons, whom they bore to me, to pass through [the fire] to them to be devoured.³⁸ Moreover this they have done to me: they have defiled my sanctuary in the same day, and have profaned my Sabbaths.³⁹ For when they had slain their children to their idols, then they came the same day into my sanctuary to profane it; and, behold, thus have they done in the midst of my house.⁴⁰ Furthermore you have sent for men who come from far, to whom a messenger was sent, and, behold, they came; for whom you did wash yourself, paint your eyes, and deck yourself with ornaments,⁴¹ and sit on a stately bed, with a table prepared before it, whereupon you did set my incense and my oil.⁴² The voice of a multitude being at ease was with her: and with men of the common sort were brought drunkards from the wilderness; and they put bracelets on the hands of them [twain], and beautiful crowns on their heads.⁴³ Then said I of her who was old in adulteries, Now will they play the prostitute with her, and she [with them].⁴⁴ They went in to her, as they go in to a prostitute: so went they in to Ahalah and to Ahalayabah, the lewd women.⁴⁵ Righteous men, they shall judge them with the judgment of adulteresses, and with the judgment of women who shed blood; because they are adulteresses, and blood is in their hands.⁴⁶ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will bring up a company against them, and will give them to be tossed back and forth and robbed.⁴⁷ The company shall stone them with stones, and dispatch them with their swords; they shall kill their sons and their daughters, and burn up their houses with fire.⁴⁸ Thus will I cause lewdness to cease out of the land, that all women may be taught not to do after your lewdness.⁴⁹ They shall recompense your lewdness on you, and you shall bear the sins of your idols; and you shall know that I am the Adanay Yahawah.

24 Again, in the ninth year, in the tenth month, in the tenth [day] of the month, the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, write you the name of the day, [even] of this same day: the king of Babal drew close to Yarawashalam this same day.³ Utter a parable to the rebellious house, and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Set on the caldron, set it on, and also pour water into it:⁴ gather the pieces of it into it, even every good piece, the thigh, and the shoulder; fill it with the choice bones.⁵ Take the choice of the flock, and also a pile [of wood] for the bones under [the caldron]; make it boil well; yes, let the bones of it be boiled in the midst of it.⁶ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Woe to the bloody city, to the caldron whose rust is therein, and whose rust is not gone out of it! take out of it piece after piece; No lot is fallen on it.⁷ For her blood is in the midst of her; she set it on the bare rock; she didn't pour it on the ground, to cover it with dust.⁸ That it may cause wrath to come up to take vengeance, I have set her blood on the bare rock, that it should not be covered.⁹ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Woe to the bloody city! I also will make the pile great.¹⁰ Heap on the wood, make the fire hot, boil well the flesh, and make thick the broth, and let the bones be burned.¹¹ Then set it empty on the coals of it, that it may be hot, and the brass of it may burn, and that the filthiness of it may be molten in it, that the rust of it may be consumed.¹² She has wearied [herself] with toil; yet her great rust doesn't go forth out of her; her rust doesn't [go forth] by fire.¹³ In your filthiness is lewdness: because I have cleansed you and you weren't cleansed, you shall not be cleansed from your filthiness any more, until I have caused my wrath toward you to rest.¹⁴ I, Yahawah, have spoken it: it shall happen, and I will do it: I will not go back, neither will I spare, neither will I repent; according to your ways, and according to your doings, shall they judge you, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁵ Also the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,¹⁶ Son of man, behold, I take away from you the desire of your eyes with a stroke: yet you shall neither mourn nor weep, neither shall your tears run down.¹⁷ Sigh, but not aloud, make no mourning for the dead; bind your headdress on you, and put your shoes on your feet, and don't cover your lips, and don't eat men's bread.¹⁸ So I spoke to the people in the morning; and at even my wife died; and I did in the morning as I was commanded.¹⁹ The people said to me, Won't you tell us what these things are to us, that you do so? ²⁰ Then I said to them, The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,²¹ Speak to the house of Yasharaal, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will profane my sanctuary, the pride of your power, the desire of your eyes, and that which your soul pities; and your sons and your daughters whom you have left behind shall fall by the sword.²² You shall do as I have done: you shall not cover your lips, nor eat the bread of men.²³ Your tires shall be on your heads, and your shoes on your feet: you shall not mourn nor weep; but you shall pine away in your iniquities, and moan one toward another.²⁴ Thus shall Yachazaqaal be to you a sign; according to all that he has done shall you do: when this comes, then shall you know that I am the Adanay Yahawah.²⁵ You, son of man, shall it not be in the day when I take from them their strength, the joy of their glory, the desire of their eyes, and that whereupon they set their heart, their sons and their daughters,²⁶ that in that day he who escapes shall come to you, to cause you to hear it with your ears? ²⁷ In that day shall your mouth be opened to him who is escaped, and you shall speak, and be no more mute: so shall you be a sign to them; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

25 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, set your face toward the children of Imawan, and prophesy against them:³ and tell the children of Imawan, Hear the word of the Adanay Yahawah: Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Because you said, Aha, against my sanctuary, when it was profaned; and against the land of Yasharaal, when it was made desolate; and against the house of Yahawadah, when they went into captivity:⁴ therefore, behold, I will deliver you to the children of the east for a possession, and they shall set their encampments in you, and make their dwellings in you; they shall eat your fruit, and they shall drink your milk.⁵ I will make Rabah a stable for camels, and the children of Imawan a couching-place for flocks: and you shall know that I am Yahawah.⁶ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you have clapped your hands, and stamped with the feet, and rejoiced with all the despite of your soul against the land of Yasharaal; ⁷ therefore, behold, I have stretched out my hand on you, and will deliver you for a spoil to the nations; and I will cut you off from the peoples, and I will cause you to perish out of the countries: I will destroy you; and you shall know that I am Yahawah. ⁸ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because Mawaab and Shaiyar say, Behold, the house of Yahawadah is like all the nations; ⁹ therefore, behold, I will open the side of Mawaab from the cities, from his cities which are on his frontiers, the glory of the country, Bayath, Bail, and Qarayathayam, ¹⁰ to the children of the east, [to go] against the children of Imawan; and I will give them for a possession, that the children of Imawan may not be remembered among the nations. ¹¹ and I will execute judgments on Mawaab; and they shall know that I am Yahawah. ¹² Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because Adawam has dealt against the house of Yahawadah by taking vengeance, and has greatly offended, and revenged himself on them; ¹³ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah, I will stretch out my hand on Adawam, and will cut off man and animal from it; and I will make it desolate from Thayaman; even to Dadan shall they fall by the sword. ¹⁴ I will lay my vengeance on Adawam by the hand of my people Yasharaal; and they shall do in Adawam according to my anger and according to my wrath; and they shall know my vengeance, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because the Palashath have dealt by revenge, and have taken vengeance with despite of soul to destroy with perpetual enmity; ¹⁶ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Behold, I will stretch out my hand on the Palashath, and I will cut off the Cherethites, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast. ¹⁷ I will execute great vengeance on them with wrathful rebukes; and they shall know that I am Yahawah, when I shall lay my vengeance on them.

26 It happened in the eleventh year, in the first [day] of the month, that the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Son of man, because Tzar has said against Yarawashalam, Aha, she is broken: the gate of the peoples; she is turned to me; I shall be replenished, now that she is laid waste: ³ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah, Behold, I am against you, Tzar, and will cause many nations to come up against you, as the sea causes its waves to come up. ⁴ They shall destroy the walls of Tzar, and break down her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her a bare rock. ⁵ She shall be a place for the spreading of nets in the midst of the sea; for I have spoken it, says the Adanay Yahawah; and she shall become a spoil to the nations. ⁶ Her daughters who are in the field shall be slain with the sword: and they shall know that I am Yahawah. ⁷ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will bring on Tzar Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal, king of kings, from the north, with horses, and with chariots, and with horsemen, and a company, and much people. ⁸ He shall kill with the sword your daughters in the field; and he shall make forts against you, and cast up a mound against you, and raise up the buckler against you. ⁹ He shall set his battering engines against your walls, and with his axes he shall break down your towers. ¹⁰ By reason of the abundance of his horses their dust shall cover you: your walls shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wagons, and of the chariots, when he shall enter into your gates, as men enter into a city in which is made a breach. ¹¹ With the hoofs of his horses shall he tread down all your streets; he shall kill your people with the sword; and the pillars of your strength shall go down to the ground. ¹² They shall make a spoil of your riches, and make a prey of your merchandise; and they shall break down your walls, and destroy your pleasant houses; and they shall lay your stones and your timber and your dust in the midst of the waters. ¹³ I will cause the noise of your songs to cease; and the sound of your harps shall be no more heard. ¹⁴ I will make you a bare rock; you shall be a place for the spreading of nets; you shall be built no more: for I Yahawah have spoken it, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah to Tzar: shall not the isles shake at the sound of your fall, when the wounded groan, when the slaughter is made in the midst of you? ¹⁶ Then all the princes of the sea shall come down from their thrones, and lay aside their robes, and strip off their embroidered garments: they shall clothe themselves with trembling; they shall sit on the ground, and shall tremble every moment, and be astonished at you. ¹⁷ They shall take up a lamentation over you, and tell you, How are you destroyed, who were inhabited by seafaring men, the renowned city, who was strong in the sea, she and her inhabitants, who caused their terror to be on all who lived there! ¹⁸ Now shall the isles tremble in the day of your fall; yes, the isles that are in the sea shall be dismayed at your departure. ¹⁹ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: When I shall make you a desolate city, like the cities that are not inhabited; when I shall bring up the deep on you, and the great waters shall cover you; ²⁰ then will I bring you down with those who descend into the pit, to the people of old time, and will make you to dwell in the nether parts of the earth, in the places that are desolate of old, with those who go down to the pit, that you be not inhabited; and I will set glory in the land of the living: ²¹ I will make you a terror, and you shall no more have any being; though you be sought for, yet shall you never be found again, says the Adanay Yahawah.

27 The word of Yahawah came again to me, saying, ² You, son of man, take up a lamentation over Tzar; ³ and tell Tzar, you who dwell at the entry of the sea, who are the merchant of the peoples to many isles, thus says the Adanay Yahawah: You, Tzar, have said, I am perfect in beauty. ⁴ Your borders are in the heart of the seas; your builders have perfected your beauty. ⁵ They have made all your planks of fir-trees from Shanayar; they have taken a cedar from Labanawan to make a mast for you. ⁶ Of the oaks of Bashan have they made your oars; they have made your benches of ivory inlaid in boxwood, from the isles of Kathayam. ⁷ Of fine linen with embroidered work from Matzarayam was your sail, that it might be to you for an ensign; blue and purple from the isles of Alayashah was your awning. ⁸ The inhabitants of Tzayadawan and Arawad were your rowers: your wise men, Tzar, were in you, they were your pilots. ⁹ The old men of Gabal and the wise men of it were in you your repairers of ship seams: all the ships of the sea with their mariners were in you to deal in your merchandise. ¹⁰ Paras and Lawad and Pawat were in your army, your men of war: they hanged the shield and helmet in you; they set forth your comeliness. ¹¹ The men of Arawad with your army were on your walls round about, and valorous men were in your towers; they hanged their shields on your walls round about; they have perfected your beauty. ¹² Tharashayash was your merchant by reason of the multitude of all kinds of riches; with silver, iron, tin, and lead, they traded for your wares. ¹³ Yawan, Thabal, and Mashak, they were your traffickers; they traded the persons of men and vessels of brass for your merchandise. ¹⁴ They of the house of Thawagaramah traded for your wares with horses and war-horses and mules. ¹⁵ The men of Dadan were your traffickers; many isles were the market of your hand: they brought you in exchange horns of ivory and ebony. ¹⁶ Aram was your merchant by reason of the multitude of your handiworks: they traded for your wares with emeralds, purple, and embroidered work, and fine linen, and coral, and rubies. ¹⁷ Yahawadah, and the land of Yasharaal, they were your traffickers: they traded for your merchandise wheat of Manayath, and confections, and honey, and oil, and balm. ¹⁸ Damashaq was your merchant for the multitude of your handiworks, by reason of the multitude of all kinds of riches, with the wine of Helbon, and white wool. ¹⁹ Wadan and Yawan traded with yarn for your wares: bright iron, cassia, and calamus, were among your merchandise. ²⁰ Dadan was your trafficker in precious cloths for riding. ²¹ Irab, and all the princes of Qadar, they were the merchants of your hand; in lambs, and rams, and goats, in these were they your merchants. ²² The traffickers of Shabaa and Raimah, they were your traffickers; they traded for your wares with the chief of all spices, and with all precious stones, and gold. ²³ Charan and Kanah and Idan, the traffickers of Shabaa, Ashawar [and] Kalamad, were your traffickers. ²⁴ These were your traffickers in choice wares, in wrappings of blue and embroidered work, and in chests of rich clothing, bound with cords and made of cedar, among your merchandise.²⁵ The ships of Tharashayash were your caravans for your merchandise: and you were replenished, and made very glorious in the heart of the seas.²⁶ Your rowers have brought you into great waters: the east wind has broken you in the heart of the seas.²⁷ Your riches, and your wares, your merchandise, your mariners, and your pilots, your repairers of ship seams, and the dealers in your merchandise, and all your men of war, who are in you, with all your company which is in the midst of you, shall fall into the heart of the seas in the day of your ruin.²⁸ At the sound of the cry of your pilots the suburbs shall shake.²⁹ All who handled the oar, the mariners, [and] all the pilots of the sea, shall come down from their ships; they shall stand on the land,³⁰ and shall cause their voice to be heard over you, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast up dust on their heads, they shall wallow themselves in the ashes:³¹ and they shall make themselves bald for you, and gird them with sackcloth, and they shall weep for you in bitterness of soul with bitter mourning.³² In their wailing they shall take up a lamentation for you, and lament over you, [saying], Who is there like Tzar, like her who is brought to silence in the midst of the sea?³³ When your wares went forth out of the seas, you filled many peoples; you did enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of your riches and of your merchandise.³⁴ In the time that you were broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, your merchandise and all your company did fall in the midst of you.³⁵ All the inhabitants of the isles are astonished at you, and their kings are horribly afraid; they are troubled in their face.³⁶ The merchants among the peoples hiss at you; you are become a terror, and you shall nevermore have any being.

28 The word of Yahawah came again to me, saying,² Son of man, tell the prince of Tzar, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because your heart is lifted up, and you have said, I am a god, I sit in the seat of Alahayam, in the midst of the seas; yet you are man, and not Alahayam, though you did set your heart as the heart of Alahayam;³ behold, you are wiser than Dan; there is no secret that is hidden from you;⁴ by your wisdom and by your understanding you have gotten you riches, and have gotten gold and silver into your treasures;⁵ by your great wisdom [and] by your traffic have you increased your riches, and your heart is lifted up because of your riches;⁶ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because you have set your heart as the heart of Alahayam,⁷ therefore, behold, I will bring strangers on you, the terrible of the nations; and they shall draw their swords against the beauty of your wisdom, and they shall defile your brightness.⁸ They shall bring you down to the pit; and you shall die the death of those who are slain, in the heart of the seas.⁹ Will you yet say before him who kills you, I am Alahayam? but you are man, and not Alahayam, in the hand of him who wounds you.¹⁰ You shall die the death of the uncircumcised by the hand of strangers: for I have spoken it, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹¹ Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,¹² Son of man, take up a lamentation over the king of Tzar, and tell him, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: You seal up the sum, full of wisdom, and perfect in beauty.¹³ You were in Idan, the garden of Alahayam; every precious stone was your covering, the sardius, the topaz, and the diamond, the beryl, the onyx, and the jasper, the sapphire, the emerald, and the emerald, and gold: the workmanship of your tambourines and of your pipes was in you; in the day that you were created they were prepared.¹⁴ You were the anointed cherub who covers: and I set you, [so that] you were on the holy mountain of Alahayam; you have walked up and down in the midst of the stones of fire.¹⁵ You were perfect in your ways from the day that you were created, until unrighteousness was found in you.¹⁶ By the abundance of your traffic they filled the midst of you with violence, and you have sinned: therefore I have cast you as profane out of the mountain of Alahayam; and I have destroyed you, covering cherub, from the midst of the stones of fire.¹⁷ Your heart was lifted up because of your beauty; you have corrupted your wisdom by reason of your brightness: I have cast you to the ground; I have laid you before kings, that they may see you.¹⁸ By the multitude of your iniquities, in the unrighteousness of your traffic, you have profaned your sanctuaries; therefore have I brought forth a fire from the midst of you; it has devoured you, and I have turned you to ashes on the earth in the sight of all those who see you.¹⁹ All those who know you among the peoples shall be astonished at you: you are become a terror, and you shall nevermore have any being.²⁰ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,²¹ Son of man, set your face toward Tzayadawan, and prophesy against it,²² and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against you, Tzayadawan; and I will be glorified in the midst of you; and they shall know that I am Yahawah, when I shall have executed judgments in her, and shall be sanctified in her.²³ For I will send pestilence into her, and blood into her streets; and the wounded shall fall in the midst of her, with the sword on her on every side; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.²⁴ There shall be no more a pricking brier to the house of Yasharaal, nor a hurting thorn of any that are round about them, that did despite to them; and they shall know that I am the Adanay Yahawah.²⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: When I shall have gathered the house of Yasharaal from the peoples among whom they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the nations, then shall they dwell in their own land which I gave to my servant Yaiqab.²⁶ They shall dwell securely therein; yes, they shall build houses, and plant vineyards, and shall dwell securely, when I have executed judgments on all those who do them despite round about them; and they shall know that I am Yahawah their Alahayam.

29 In the tenth year, in the tenth [month], in the twelfth [day] of the month, the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, set your face against Paraih king of Matzarayam, and prophesy against him, and against all Matzarayam;³ speak, and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against you, Paraih king of Matzarayam, the great monster that lies in the midst of his rivers, that has said, My river is my own, and I have made it for myself.⁴ I will put hooks in your jaws, and I will cause the fish of your rivers to stick to your scales; and I will bring you up out of the midst of your rivers, with all the fish of your rivers which stick to your scales.⁵ I will cast you forth into the wilderness, you and all the fish of your rivers: you shall fall on the open field; you shall not be brought together, nor gathered; I have given you for food to the animals of the earth and to the birds of the sky.⁶ All the inhabitants of Matzarayam shall know that I am Yahawah, because they have been a staff of reed to the house of Yasharaal.⁷ When they took hold of you by your hand, you did break, and did tear all their shoulders; and when they leaned on you, you broke, and mad all their loins to be at a stand.⁸ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will bring a sword on you, and will cut off from you man and animal.⁹ The land of Matzarayam shall be a desolation and a waste; and they shall know that I am Yahawah. Because he has said, The river is mine, and I have made it;¹⁰ therefore, behold, I am against you, and against your rivers, and I will make the land of Matzarayam an utter waste and desolation, from the tower of Seveneh even to the border of Kawash.¹¹ No foot of man shall pass through it, nor foot of animal shall pass through it, neither shall it be inhabited forty years.¹² I will make the land of Matzarayam a desolation in the midst of the countries that are desolate; and her cities among the cities that are laid waste shall be a desolation forty years; and I will scatter the Matzarayam among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.¹³ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: At the end of forty years will I gather the Matzarayam from the peoples where they were scattered;¹⁴ and I will bring back the captivity of Matzarayam, and will cause them to return into the land of Patharawas, into the land of their birth; and they shall be there a base kingdom.¹⁵ It shall be the base of the kingdoms; neither shall it any more lift itself up above the nations; and I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule over the nations.¹⁶ It shall be no more the confidence of the house of Yasharaal, bringing iniquity to memory, when they turn to look after them: and they shall know that I am the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁷ It came to pass in the seven and twentieth year, in the first [month], in the first [day] of the month, the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,¹⁸ Son of man, Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal caused his army to serve a great service against Tzar: every head was made bald, and every shoulder was worn; yet had he no wages, nor his army, from Tzar, for the service that he had served against it.¹⁹ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will give the land of Matzarayam to Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal; and he shall carry off her multitude, and take her spoil, and take her prey; and it shall be the wages for his army.²⁰ I have given him the land of Matzarayam as his recompense for which he served, because they worked for me, says the Adanay Yahawah.²¹ In that day will I cause a horn to bud forth to the house of Yasharaal, and I will give you the opening of the mouth in the midst of them; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

30 The word of Yahawah came again to me, saying,² Son of man, prophesy, and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Wail you, Alas for the day!³ For the day is near, even the day of Yahawah is near; it shall be a day of clouds, a time of the nations.⁴ A sword shall come on Matzarayam, and anguish shall be in Kawash, when the slain shall fall in Matzarayam; and they shall take away her multitude, and her foundations shall be broken down.⁵ Kawash, and Pawat, and Lawad, and all the mingled people, and Cub, and the children of the land that is in league, shall fall with them by the sword.⁶ Thus says Yahawah: They also who uphold Matzarayam shall fall; and the pride of her power shall come down: from the tower of Seveneh shall they fall in it by the sword, says the Adanay Yahawah.⁷ They shall be desolate in the midst of the countries that are desolate; and her cities shall be in the midst of the cities that are wasted.⁸ They shall know that I am Yahawah, when I have set a fire in Matzarayam, and all her helpers are destroyed.⁹ In that day shall messengers go forth from before me in ships to make the careless Ethiopians afraid; and there shall be anguish on them, as in the day of Matzarayam; for, behold, it comes.¹⁰ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will also make the multitude of Matzarayam to cease, by the hand of Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal.¹¹ He and his people with him, the terrible of the nations, shall be brought in to destroy the land; and they shall draw their swords against Matzarayam, and fill the land with the slain.¹² I will make the rivers dry, and will sell the land into the hand of evil men; and I will make the land desolate, and all that is therein, by the hand of strangers: I, Yahawah, have spoken it.¹³ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will also destroy the idols, and I will cause the images to cease from Map; and there shall be no more a prince from the land of Matzarayam: and I will put a fear in the land of Matzarayam.¹⁴ I will make Patharawas desolate, and will set a fire in Tzain, and will execute judgments on No.¹⁵ I will pour my wrath on Sayan, the stronghold of Matzarayam; and I will cut off the multitude of No.¹⁶ I will set a fire in Matzarayam: Sayan shall be in great anguish, and No shall be broken up; and Map [shall have] adversaries in the day-time.¹⁷ The young men of Awan and of Pibeseth shall fall by the sword; and these [cities] shall go into captivity.¹⁸ At Thachapanachas also the day shall withdraw itself, when I shall break there the yokes of Matzarayam, and the pride of her power shall cease in her: as for her, a cloud shall cover her, and her daughters shall go into captivity.¹⁹ Thus will I execute judgments on Matzarayam; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.²⁰ It happened in the eleventh year, in the first [month], in the seventh [day] of the month, that the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,²¹ Son of man, I have broken the arm of Paraih king of Matzarayam; and, behold, it has not been bound up, to apply [healing] medicines, to put a bandage to bind it, that it be strong to hold the sword.²² Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against Paraih king of Matzarayam, and will break his arms, the strong [arm], and that which was broken; and I will cause the sword to fall out of his hand.²³ I will scatter the Matzarayam among the nations, and will disperse them through the countries.²⁴ I will strengthen the arms of the king of Babal, and put my sword in his hand: but I will break the arms of Paraih, and he shall groan before him with the groanings of a deadly wounded man.²⁵ I will hold up the arms of the king of Babal; and the arms of Paraih shall fall down; and they shall know that I am Yahawah, when I shall put my sword into the hand of the king of Babal, and he shall stretch it out on the land of Matzarayam.²⁶ I will scatter the Matzarayam among the nations, and disperse them through the countries; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

31 It happened in the eleventh year, in the third [month], in the first [day] of the month, that the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, tell Paraih king of Matzarayam, and to his multitude: Whom are you like in your greatness?³ Behold, the Assyrian was a cedar in Labanawan with beautiful branches, and with a forest-like shade, and of high stature; and its top was among the thick boughs.⁴ The waters nourished it, the deep made it to grow: the rivers of it ran round about its plantation; and it sent out its channels to all the trees of the field.⁵ Therefore its stature was exalted above all the trees of the field; and its boughs were multiplied, and its branches became long by reason of many waters, when it shot [them] forth.⁶ All the birds of the sky made their nests in its boughs; and under its branches did all the animals of the field bring forth their young; and under its shadow lived all great nations.⁷ Thus was it beautiful in its greatness, in the length of its branches; for its root was by many waters.⁸ The cedars in the garden of Alahayam could not hide it; the fir-trees were not like its boughs, and the plane-trees were not as its branches; nor was any tree in the garden of Alahayam like it in its beauty.⁹ I made it beautiful by the multitude of its branches, so that all the trees of Idan, that were in the garden of Alahayam, envied it.¹⁰ Therefore thus said the Adanay Yahawah: Because you are exalted in stature, and he has set his top among the thick boughs, and his heart is lifted up in his height;¹¹ I will even deliver him into the hand of the mighty one of the nations; he shall surely deal with him; I have driven him out for his wickedness.¹² Strangers, the terrible of the nations, have cut him off, and have left him: on the mountains and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughs are broken by all the watercourses of the land; and all the peoples of the earth are gone down from his shadow, and have left him.¹³ On his ruin all the birds of the sky shall dwell, and all the animals of the field shall be on his branches;¹⁴ to the end that none of all the trees by the waters exalt themselves in their stature, neither set their top among the thick boughs, nor that their mighty ones stand up on their height, [even] all who drink water: for they are all delivered to death, to the nether parts of the earth, in the midst of the children of men, with those who go down to the pit.¹⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: In the day when he went down to Sheol I caused a mourning: I covered the deep for him, and I restrained the rivers of it; and the great waters were stayed; and I caused Labanawan to mourn for him, and all the trees of the field fainted for him.¹⁶ I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him down to Sheol with those who descend into the pit; and all the trees of Idan, the choice and best of Labanawan, all that drink water, were comforted in the nether parts of the earth.¹⁷ They also went down into Sheol with him to those who are slain by the sword; yes, those who were his arm, [that] lived under his shadow in the midst of the nations.¹⁸ To whom are you thus like in glory and in greatness among the trees of Idan? yet shall you be brought down with the trees of Idan to the nether parts of the earth: you shall lie in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those who are slain by the sword. This is Paraih and all his multitude, says the Adanay Yahawah.

32 It happened in the twelfth year, in the twelfth month, in the first [day] of the month, that the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, take up a lamentation over Paraih king of Matzarayam, and tell him, You were likened to a young lion of the nations: yet are you as a monster in the seas; and you did break forth with your rivers, and troubled the waters with your feet, and fouled their rivers.³ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I will spread out my net on you with a company of many peoples; and they shall bring you up in my net.⁴ I will leave you on the land, I will cast you forth on the open field, and will cause all the birds of the sky to settle on you, and I will satisfy the animals of the whole earth with you.⁵ I will lay your flesh on the mountains, and fill the valleys with your height. ⁶ I will also water with your blood the land in which you swim, even to the mountains; and the watercourses shall be full of you. ⁷ When I shall extinguish you, I will cover the heavens, and make the stars of it dark; I will cover the sun with a cloud, and the moon shall not give its light. ⁸ All the bright lights of the sky will I make dark over you, and set darkness on your land, says the Adanay Yahawah. ⁹ I will also vex the hearts of many peoples, when I shall bring your destruction among the nations, into the countries which you have not known. ¹⁰ Yes, I will make many peoples amazed at you, and their kings shall be horribly afraid for you, when I shall brandish my sword before them; and they shall tremble at every moment, every man for his own life, in the day of your fall. ¹¹ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: The sword of the king of Babal shall come on you. ¹² By the swords of the mighty will I cause your multitude to fall; the terrible of the nations are they all; and they shall bring to nothing the pride of Matzarayam, and all the multitude of it shall be destroyed. ¹³ I will destroy also all the animals of it from beside many waters; neither shall the foot of man trouble them any more, nor the hoofs of animals trouble them. ¹⁴ Then will I make their waters clear, and cause their rivers to run like oil, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁵ When I shall make the land of Matzarayam desolate and waste, a land destitute of that whereof it was full, when I shall strike all those who dwell therein, then shall they know that I am Yahawah. ¹⁶ This is the lamentation with which they shall lament; the daughters of the nations shall lament therewith; over Matzarayam, and over all her multitude, shall they lament therewith, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁷ It happened also in the twelfth year, in the fifteenth [day] of the month, that the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ¹⁸ Son of man, wail for the multitude of Matzarayam, and cast them down, even her, and the daughters of the famous nations, to the nether parts of the earth, with those who go down into the pit. ¹⁹ Whom do you pass in beauty? go down, and be you laid with the uncircumcised. ²⁰ They shall fall in the midst of those who are slain by the sword: she is delivered to the sword; draw her away and all her multitudes. ²¹ The strong among the mighty shall speak to him out of the midst of Sheol with those who help him: they are gone down, they lie still, even the uncircumcised, slain by the sword. ²² Ashawar is there and all her company; her graves are round about her; all of them slain, fallen by the sword; ²³ whose graves are set in the uttermost parts of the pit, and her company is round about her grave; all of them slain, fallen by the sword, who caused terror in the land of the living. ²⁴ There is Iyalam and all her multitude round about her grave; all of them slain, fallen by the sword, who are gone down uncircumcised into the nether parts of the earth, who caused their terror in the land of the living, and have borne their shame with those who go down to the pit. ²⁵ They have set her a bed in the midst of the slain with all her multitude; her graves are round about her; all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword; for their terror was caused in the land of the living, and they have borne their shame with those who go down to the pit: he is put in the midst of those who are slain. ²⁶ There is Mashak, Thabal, and all their multitude; their graves are round about them; all of them uncircumcised, slain by the sword; for they caused their terror in the land of the living. ²⁷ They shall not lie with the mighty who are fallen of the uncircumcised, who are gone down to Sheol with their weapons of war, and have laid their swords under their heads, and their iniquities are on their bones; for [they were] the terror of the mighty in the land of the living. ²⁸ But you shall be broken in the midst of the uncircumcised, and shall lie with those who are slain by the sword. ²⁹ There is Adawam, her kings and all her princes, who in their might are laid with those who are slain by the sword: they shall lie with the uncircumcised, and with those who go down to the pit. ³⁰ There are the princes of the north, all of them, and all the Sidonians, who are gone down with the slain; in the terror which they caused by their might they are put to shame; and they lie uncircumcised with those who are slain by the sword, and bear their shame with those who go down to the pit. ³¹ Paraih shall see them, and shall be comforted over all his multitude, even Paraih and all his army, slain by the sword, says the Adanay Yahawah. ³² For I have put his terror in the land of the living; and he shall be laid in the midst of the uncircumcised, with those who are slain by the sword, even Paraih and all his multitude, says the Adanay Yahawah.

33 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Son of man, speak to the children of your people, and tell them, When I bring the sword on a land, and the people of the land take a man from among them, and set him for their watchman; ³ if, when he sees the sword come on the land, he blow the trumpet, and warn the people; ⁴ then whoever hears the sound of the trumpet, and doesn't take warning, if the sword come, and take him away, his blood shall be on his own head. ⁵ He heard the sound of the trumpet, and didn't take warning; his blood shall be on him; whereas if he had taken warning, he would have delivered his soul. ⁶ But if the watchman sees the sword come, and doesn't blow the trumpet, and the people aren't warned, and the sword comes, and take any person from among them; he is taken away in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at the watchman's hand. ⁷ So you, son of man, I have set you a watchman to the house of Yasharaal; therefore hear the word at my mouth, and give them warning from me. ⁸ When I tell the wicked, O wicked man, you shall surely die, and you don't speak to warn the wicked from his way; that wicked man shall die in his iniquity, but his blood will I require at your hand. ⁹ Nevertheless, if you warn the wicked of his way to turn from it, and he doesn't turn from his way; he shall die in his iniquity, but you have delivered your soul. ¹⁰ You, son of man, tell the house of Yasharaal: Thus you speak, saying, Our transgressions and our sins are on us, and we pine away in them; how then can we live? ¹¹ Tell them, As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked; but that the wicked turn from his way and live: turn you, turn you from your evil ways; for why will you die, house of Yasharaal? ¹² You, son of man, tell the children of your people, The righteousness of the righteous shall not deliver him in the day of his disobedience; and as for the wickedness of the wicked, he shall not fall thereby in the day that he turns from his wickedness; neither shall he who is righteous be able to live thereby in the day that he sins. ¹³ When I tell the righteous, that he shall surely live; if he trust to his righteousness, and commit iniquity, none of his righteous deeds shall be remembered; but in his iniquity that he has committed, therein shall he die. ¹⁴ Again, when I say to the wicked, You shall surely die; if he turn from his sin, and do that which is lawful and right; ¹⁵ if the wicked restore the pledge, give again that which he had taken by robbery, walk in the statutes of life, committing no iniquity; he shall surely live, he shall not die. ¹⁶ None of his sins that he has committed shall be remembered against him: he has done that which is lawful and right; he shall surely live. ¹⁷ Yet the children of your people say, The way of the Adanay is not equal: but as for them, their way is not equal. ¹⁸ When the righteous turns from his righteousness, and commits iniquity, he shall even die therein. ¹⁹ When the wicked turns from his wickedness, and does that which is lawful and right, he shall live thereby. ²⁰ Yet you say, The way of the Adanay is not equal. House of Yasharaal, I will judge you everyone after his ways. ²¹ It happened in the twelfth year of our captivity, in the tenth [month], in the fifth [day] of the month, that one who had escaped out of Yawashalam came to me, saying, The city has been struck. ²² Now the hand of Yahawah had been on me in the evening, before he who was escaped came; and he had opened my mouth, until he came to me in the morning; and my mouth was opened, and I was no more mute. ²³ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ²⁴ Son of man, they who inhabit those waste places in the land of Yasharaal speak, saying, Abaraham was one, and he inherited the land: but we are many; the land is given us for inheritance. ²⁵ Therefore tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: You eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes to your idols, and shed blood: and shall you possess the land? ²⁶ You stand on your sword, you work abomination, and you defile everyone his neighbor's wife: and shall you possess the land? ²⁷ Thus shall you tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: As I live, surely those who are in the waste places shall fall by the sword; and him who is in the open field will I give to the animals to be devoured; and those who are in the strongholds and in the caves shall die of the pestilence.²⁸ I will make the land a desolation and an astonishment; and the pride of her power shall cease; and the mountains of Yasharaal shall be desolate, so that none shall pass through.²⁹ Then shall they know that I am Yahawah, when I have made the land a desolation and an astonishment, because of all their abominations which they have committed.³⁰ As for you, son of man, the children of your people talk of you by the walls and in the doors of the houses, and speak one to another, everyone to his brother, saying, Please come and hear what is the word that comes forth from Yahawah.³¹ They come to you as the people comes, and they sit before you as my people, and they hear your words, but don't do them; for with their mouth they show much love, but their heart goes after their gain.³² Behold, you are to them as a very lovely song of one who has a pleasant voice, and can play well on an instrument; for they hear your words, but they don't do them.³³ When this comes to pass, (behold, it comes,) then shall they know that a prophet has been among them.

34 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, prophesy against the shepherds of Yasharaal, prophesy, and tell them, even to the shepherds, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Woe to the shepherds of Yasharaal who feed themselves! Shouldn't the shepherds feed the sheep?³ You eat the fat, and you clothe you with the wool, you kill the fatlings; but you don't feed the sheep.⁴ You haven't strengthened the diseased, neither have you healed that which was sick, neither have you bound up that which was broken, neither have you brought back that which was driven away, neither have you sought that which was lost; but with force and with rigor have you ruled over them.⁵ They were scattered, because there was no shepherd; and they became food to all the animals of the field, and were scattered.⁶ My sheep wandered through all the mountains, and on every high hill: yes, my sheep were scattered on all the surface of the earth; and there was none who searched or sought.⁷ Therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of Yahawah:⁸ As I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, surely because my sheep became a prey, and my sheep became food to all the animals of the field, because there was no shepherd, neither did my shepherds search for my sheep, but the shepherds fed themselves, and didn't feed my sheep;⁹ therefore, you shepherds, hear the word of Yahawah:¹⁰ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against the shepherds; and I will require my sheep at their hand, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheep; neither shall the shepherds feed themselves any more; and I will deliver my sheep from their mouth, that they may not be food for them.¹¹ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I myself, even I, will search for my sheep, and will seek them out.¹² As a shepherd seeks out his flock in the day that he is among his sheep that are scattered abroad, so will I seek out my sheep; and I will deliver them out of all places where they have been scattered in the cloudy and dark day.¹³ I will bring them out from the peoples, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them into their own land; and I will feed them on the mountains of Yasharaal, by the watercourses, and in all the inhabited places of the country.¹⁴ I will feed them with good pasture; and on the mountains of the height of Yasharaal shall their fold be: there shall they lie down in a good fold; and on fat pasture shall they feed on the mountains of Yasharaal.¹⁵ I myself will be the shepherd of my sheep, and I will cause them to lie down, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁶ I will seek that which was lost, and will bring back that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen that which was sick; but the fat and the strong I will destroy; I will feed them in justice.¹⁷ As for you, O my flock, thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I judge between sheep and sheep, the rams and the male goats.¹⁸ Seems it a small thing to you to have fed on the good pasture, but you must tread down with your feet the residue of your pasture? and to have drunk of the clear waters, but you must foul the residue with your feet?

¹⁹ As for my sheep, they eat that which you have trodden with your feet, and they drink that which you have fouled with your feet.²⁰ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah to them: Behold, I, even I, will judge between the fat sheep and the lean sheep.²¹ Because you thrust with side and with shoulder, and push all the diseased with your horns, until you have scattered them abroad;²² therefore will I save my flock, and they shall no more be a prey; and I will judge between sheep and sheep.²³ I will set up one shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant Dawad; he shall feed them, and he shall be their shepherd.²⁴ I, Yahawah, will be their Alahayam, and my servant Dawad prince among them; I, Yahawah, have spoken it.²⁵ I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause evil animals to cease out of the land; and they shall dwell securely in the wilderness, and sleep in the woods.²⁶ I will make them and the places round about my hill a blessing; and I will cause the shower to come down in its season; there shall be showers of blessing.²⁷ The tree of the field shall yield its fruit, and the earth shall yield its increase, and they shall be secure in their land; and they shall know that I am Yahawah, when I have broken the bars of their yoke, and have delivered them out of the hand of those who made slaves of them.²⁸ They shall no more be a prey to the nations, neither shall the animals of the earth devour them; but they shall dwell securely, and none shall make them afraid.²⁹ I will raise up to them a plantation for renown, and they shall be no more consumed with famine in the land, neither bear the shame of the nations any more.³⁰ They shall know that I, Yahawah, their Alahayam am with them, and that they, the house of Yasharaal, are my people, says the Adanay Yahawah.³¹ You my sheep, the sheep of my pasture, are men, and I am your Alahayam, says the Adanay Yahawah.

35 Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying,² Son of man, set your face against Mount Shaiyar, and prophesy against it,³ and tell it, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against you, Mount Shaiyar, and I will stretch out my hand against you, and I will make you a desolation and an astonishment.⁴ I will lay your cities waste, and you shall be desolate; and you shall know that I am Yahawah.⁵ Because you have had a perpetual enmity, and have given over the children of Yasharaal to the power of the sword in the time of their calamity, in the time of the iniquity of the end;⁶ therefore, as I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, I will prepare you to blood, and blood shall pursue you: since you have not hated blood, therefore blood shall pursue you.⁷ Thus will I make Mount Shaiyar an astonishment and a desolation; and I will cut off from it him who passes through and him who returns.⁸ I will fill its mountains with its slain: in your hills and in your valleys and in all your watercourses shall they fall who are slain with the sword.⁹ I will make you a perpetual desolation, and your cities shall not be inhabited; and you shall know that I am Yahawah.¹⁰ Because you have said, These two nations and these two countries shall be mine, and we will possess it; whereas Yahawah was there:¹¹ therefore, as I live, says the Adanay Yahawah, I will do according to your anger, and according to your envy which you have showed out of your hatred against them; and I will make myself known among them, when I shall judge you.¹² You shall know that I, Yahawah, have heard all your insults which you have spoken against the mountains of Yasharaal, saying, They are laid desolate, they are given us to devour.¹³ You have magnified yourselves against me with your mouth, and have multiplied your words against me: I have heard it.¹⁴ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: When the whole earth rejoices, I will make you desolate.¹⁵ As you did rejoice over the inheritance of the house of Yasharaal, because it was desolate, so will I do to you: you shall be desolate, Mount Shaiyar, and all Adawam, even all of it; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

36 You, son of man, prophesy to the mountains of Yasharaal, and say, You mountains of Yasharaal, hear the word of Yahawah.² Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because the enemy has said against you, Aha! and, The ancient high places are ours in possession;³ therefore prophesy, and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because, even because they have made you desolate, and swallowed you up on every side, that you might be a possession to the residue of the nations, and you are taken up in the lips of talkers, and the evil report of the people; ⁴ therefore, you mountains of Yasharaal, hear the word of the Adanay Yahawah: Thus says the Adanay Yahawah to the mountains and to the hills, to the watercourses and to the valleys, to the desolate wastes and to the cities that are forsaken, which are become a prey and derision to the residue of the nations that are round about; ⁵ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Surely in the fire of my jealousy have I spoken against the residue of the nations, and against all Adawam, that have appointed my land to themselves for a possession with the joy of all their heart, with despite of soul, to cast it out for a prey. ⁶ Therefore prophesy concerning the land of Yasharaal, and tell the mountains and to the hills, to the watercourses and to the valleys, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I have spoken in my jealousy and in my wrath, because you have borne the shame of the nations: ⁷ therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I have sworn, [saying], Surely the nations that are round about you, they shall bear their shame. ⁸ But you, mountains of Yasharaal, you shall shoot forth your branches, and yield your fruit to my people Yasharaal; for they are at hand to come. ⁹ For, behold, I am for you, and I will turn into you, and you shall be tilled and sown; ¹⁰ and I will multiply men on you, all the house of Yasharaal, even all of it; and the cities shall be inhabited, and the waste places shall be built; ¹¹ and I will multiply on you man and animal; and they shall increase and be fruitful; and I will cause you to be inhabited after your former estate, and will do better [to you] than at your beginnings: and you shall know that I am Yahawah. ¹² Yes, I will cause men to walk on you, even my people Yasharaal; and they shall possess you, and you shall be their inheritance, and you shall no more henceforth bereave them of children. ¹³ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Because they say to you, You [land] are a devourer of men, and have been a bereaver of your nation; ¹⁴ therefore you shall devour men no more, neither bereave your nation any more, says the Adanay Yahawah; ¹⁵ neither will I let you hear any more the shame of the nations, neither shall you bear the reproach of the peoples any more, neither shall you cause your nation to stumble any more, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁶ Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ¹⁷ Son of man, when the house of Yasharaal lived in their own land, they defiled it by their way and by their doings: their way before me was as the uncleanness of a woman in her impurity. ¹⁸ Therefore I poured out my wrath on them for the blood which they had poured out on the land, and because they had defiled it with their idols; ¹⁹ and I scattered them among the nations, and they were dispersed through the countries: according to their way and according to their doings I judged them. ²⁰ When they came to the nations, where they went, they profaned my holy name; in that men said of them, These are the people of Yahawah, and are gone forth out of his land. ²¹ But I had regard for my holy name, which the house of Yasharaal had profaned among the nations, where they went. ²² Therefore tell the house of Yasharaal, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: I don't do [this] for your sake, house of Yasharaal, but for my holy name, which you have profaned among the nations, where you went. ²³ I will sanctify my great name, which has been profaned among the nations, which you have profaned in the midst of them; and the nations shall know that I am Yahawah, says the Adanay Yahawah, when I shall be sanctified in you before their eyes. ²⁴ For I will take you from among the nations, and gather you out of all the countries, and will bring you into your own land. ²⁵ I will sprinkle clean water on you, and you shall be clean: from all your filthiness, and from all your idols, will I cleanse you. ²⁶ A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you; and I will take away the stony heart out of your flesh, and I will give you a heart of flesh. ²⁷ I will put my Spirit within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and you shall keep my ordinances, and do them. ²⁸ You shall dwell in the land that I gave to your fathers; and you shall be my people, and I will be your Alahayam. ²⁹ I will save you from all your uncleanness: and I will call for the grain, and will multiply it, and lay no famine on you. ³⁰ I will multiply the fruit of the tree, and the increase of the field, that you may receive no more the reproach of famine among the nations. ³¹ Then shall you remember your evil ways, and your doings that were not good; and you shall loathe yourselves in your own sight for your iniquities and for your abominations. ³² Nor for your sake do I [this], says the Adanay Yahawah, be it known to you: be ashamed and confounded for your ways, house of Yasharaal. ³³ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: In the day that I cleanse you from all your iniquities, I will cause the cities to be inhabited, and the waste places shall be built. ³⁴ The land that was desolate shall be tilled, whereas it was a desolation in the sight of all who passed by. ³⁵ They shall say, This land that was desolate is become like the garden of Idan; and the waste and desolate and ruined cities are fortified and inhabited. ³⁶ Then the nations that are left round about you shall know that I, Yahawah, have built the ruined places, and planted that which was desolate: I, Yahawah, have spoken it, and I will do it. ³⁷ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: For this, moreover, will I be inquired of by the house of Yasharaal, to do it for them: I will increase them with men like a flock. ³⁸ As the flock for sacrifice, as the flock of Yawashalam in her appointed feasts, so shall the waste cities be filled with flocks of men; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

37 The hand of Yahawah was on me, and he brought me out in the Spirit of Yahawah, and set me down in the midst of the valley; and it was full of bones. ² He caused me to pass by them round about: and, behold, there were very many in the open valley; and, behold, they were very dry. ³ He said to me, Son of man, can these bones live? I answered, Adanay Yahawah, you know. ⁴ Again he said to me, Prophesy over these bones, and tell them, you dry bones, hear the word of Yahawah. ⁵ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah to these bones: Behold, I will cause breath to enter into you, and you shall live. ⁶ I will lay sinews on you, and will bring up flesh on you, and cover you with skin, and put breath in you, and you shall live; and you shall know that I am Yahawah. ⁷ So I prophesied as I was commanded: and as I prophesied, there was a noise, and, behold, an earthquake; and the bones came together, bone to its bone. ⁸ I saw, and, behold, there were sinews on them, and flesh came up, and skin covered them above; but there was no breath in them. ⁹ Then said he to me, Prophesy to the wind, prophesy, son of man, and tell the wind, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Come from the four winds, breath, and breathe on these slain, that they may live. ¹⁰ So I prophesied as he commanded me, and the breath came into them, and they lived, and stood up on their feet, an exceeding great army. ¹¹ Then he said to me, Son of man, these bones are the whole house of Yasharaal: behold, they say, Our bones are dried up, and our hope is lost; we are clean cut off. ¹² Therefore prophesy, and tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will open your graves, and cause you to come up out of your graves, my people; and I will bring you into the land of Yasharaal. ¹³ You shall know that I am Yahawah, when I have opened your graves, and caused you to come up out of your graves, my people. ¹⁴ I will put my Spirit in you, and you shall live, and I will place you in your own land: and you shall know that I, Yahawah, have spoken it and performed it, says Yahawah. ¹⁵ The word of Yahawah came again to me, saying, ¹⁶ You, son of man, take one stick, and write on it, For Yahawadah, and for the children of Yasharaal his companions: then take another stick, and write on it, For Yawasap, the stick of Aparayam, and [for] all the house of Yasharaal his companions: ¹⁷ and join them for you one to another into one stick, that they may become one in your hand. ¹⁸ When the children of your people shall speak to you, saying, Will you not show us what you mean by these? ¹⁹ tell them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will take the stick of Yawasap, which is in the hand of Aparayam, and the tribes of Yasharaal his companions; and I will put them with it, [even] with the stick of Yahawadah, and make them one stick, and they shall be one in my hand. ²⁰ The sticks whereon you write shall be in your hand before their eyes. ²¹ Say to them, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I will take the children of Yasharaal from among the nations, where they are gone, and will gather them on every side, and bring them into their own land: ²² and I will make them one nation in the land, on the mountains of Yasharaal; and one king shall be king to them all; and they shall be no more two nations, neither shall they be divided into two kingdoms any more at all; ²³ neither shall they defile themselves any more with their idols, nor with their detestable things, nor with any of their transgressions; but I will save them out of all their dwelling-places, in which they have sinned, and will cleanse them: so shall they be my people, and I will be their Alahayam. ²⁴ My servant Dawad shall be king over them; and they all shall have one shepherd: they shall also walk in my ordinances, and observe my statutes, and do them. ²⁵ They shall dwell in the land that I have given to Yaigab my servant, in which your fathers lived; and they shall dwell therein, they, and their children, and their children's children, forever: and Dawad my servant shall be their prince for ever. ²⁶ Moreover I will make a covenant of peace with them; it shall be an everlasting covenant with them; and I will place them, and multiply them, and will set my sanctuary in the midst of them forevermore. ²⁷ My tent also shall be with them; and I will be their Alahayam, and they shall be my people. ²⁸ The nations shall know that I am Yahawah who sanctifies Yasharaal, when my sanctuary shall be in the midst of them forevermore.

38 The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ² Son of man, set your face toward Gawag, of the land of Magawag, the prince of Raash, Mashak, and Thabal, and prophesy against him, ³ and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against you, Gawag, prince of Raash, Mashak, and Thabal: ⁴ and I will turn you about, and put hooks into your jaws, and I will bring you forth, and all your army, horses and horsemen, all of them clothed in full armor, a great company with buckler and shield, all of them handling swords; ⁵ Paras, Kawash, and Pawat with them, all of them with shield and helmet; ⁶ Gamar, and all his hordes; the house of Thawagaramah in the uttermost parts of the north, and all his hordes; even many peoples with you. ⁷ Be you prepared, yes, prepare yourself, you, and all your companies who are assembled to you, and be you a guard to them. ⁸ After many days you shall be visited: in the latter years you shall come into the land that is brought back from the sword, that is gathered out of many peoples, on the mountains of Yasharaal, which have been a continual waste; but it is brought forth out of the peoples, and they shall dwell securely, all of them. ⁹ You shall ascend, you shall come like a storm, you shall be like a cloud to cover the land, you, and all your hordes, and many peoples with you. ¹⁰ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: It shall happen in that day, that things shall come into your mind, and you shall devise an evil device: ¹¹ and you shall say, I will go up to the land of unwallled villages; I will go to those who are at rest, who dwell securely, all of them dwelling without walls, and having neither bars nor gates; ¹² to take the spoil and to take the prey; to turn your hand against the waste places that are [now] inhabited, and against the people who are gathered out of the nations, who have gotten cattle and goods, who dwell in the middle of the earth. ¹³ Shabaa, and Dadan, and the merchants of Tharashayash, with all the young lions of it, shall tell you, Are you come to take the spoil? have you assembled your company to take the prey? to carry away silver and gold, to take away cattle and goods, to take great spoil? ¹⁴ Therefore, son of man, prophesy, and tell Gawag, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: In that day when my people Yasharaal dwells securely, shall you not know it? ¹⁵ You shall come from your place out of the uttermost parts of the north, you, and many peoples with you, all of them riding on horses, a great company and a mighty army; ¹⁶ and you shall come up against my people Yasharaal, as a cloud to cover the land: it shall happen in the latter days, that I will bring you against my land, that the nations may know me, when I shall be sanctified in you, Gawag, before their eyes. ¹⁷ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Are you he of whom I spoke in old time by my servants the prophets of Yasharaal, who prophesied in those days for [many] years that I would bring you against them? ¹⁸ It shall happen in that day, when Gawag shall come against the land of Yasharaal, says the Adanay Yahawah, that my wrath shall come up into my nostrils. ¹⁹ For in my jealousy and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken, Surely in that day there shall be a great shaking in the land of Yasharaal; ²⁰ so that the fish of the sea, and the birds of the sky, and the animals of the field, and all creeping things who creep on the earth, and all the men who are on the surface of the earth, shall shake at my presence, and the mountains shall be thrown down, and the steep places shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground. ²¹ I will call for a sword against him to all my mountains, says the Adanay Yahawah: every man's sword shall be against his brother. ²² With pestilence and with blood will I enter into judgment with him; and I will rain on him, and on his hordes, and on the many peoples who are with him, an overflowing shower, and great hailstones, fire, and sulfur. ²³ I will magnify myself, and sanctify myself, and I will make myself known in the eyes of many nations; and they shall know that I am Yahawah.

39 You, son of man, prophesy against Gawag, and say, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Behold, I am against you, Gawag, prince of Raash, Mashak, and Thabal: ² and I will turn you about, and will lead you on, and will cause you to come up from the uttermost parts of the north; and I will bring you on the mountains of Yasharaal; ³ and I will strike your bow out of your left hand, and will cause your arrows to fall out of your right hand. ⁴ You shall fall on the mountains of Yasharaal, you, and all your hordes, and the peoples who are with you: I will give you to the ravenous birds of every sort, and to the animals of the field to be devoured. ⁵ You shall fall on the open field; for I have spoken it, says the Adanay Yahawah. ⁶ I will send a fire on Magawag, and on those who dwell securely in the isles; and they shall know that I am Yahawah. ⁷ My holy name will I make known in the midst of my people Yasharaal; neither will I allow my holy name to be profaned any more: and the nations shall know that I am Yahawah, the Holy One in Yasharaal. ⁸ Behold, it comes, and it shall be done, says the Adanay Yahawah; this is the day whereof I have spoken. ⁹ Those who dwell in the cities of Yasharaal shall go forth, and shall make fires of the weapons and burn them, both the shields and the bucklers, the bows and the arrows, and the war clubs, and the spears, and they shall make fires of them seven years; ¹⁰ so that they shall take no wood out of the field, neither cut down any out of the forests; for they shall make fires of the weapons; and they shall plunder those who plundered them, and rob those who robbed them, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹¹ It shall happen in that day, that I will give to Gawag a place for burial in Yasharaal, the valley of those who pass through on the east of the sea; and it shall stop those who pass through: and there shall they bury Gawag and all his multitude; and they shall call it The valley of Hamawan-Gawag. ¹² Seven months shall the house of Yasharaal be burying them, that they may cleanse the land. ¹³ Yes, all the people of the land shall bury them; and it shall be to them a renown in the day that I shall be glorified, says the Adanay Yahawah. ¹⁴ They shall set apart men of continual employment, who shall pass through the land, and, with those who pass through, those who bury those who remain on the surface of the land, to cleanse it: after the end of seven months shall they search. ¹⁵ Those who pass through the land shall pass through; and when any sees a man's bone, then shall he set up a sign by it, until the undertakers have buried it in the valley of Hamawan-Gawag. ¹⁶ Hamawanah shall also be the name of a city. Thus shall they cleanse the land. ¹⁷ You, son of man, thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Speak to the birds of every sort, and to every animal of the field, Assemble yourselves, and come; gather yourselves on every side to my sacrifice that I do sacrifice for you, even a great sacrifice on the mountains of Yasharaal, that you may eat flesh and drink blood. ¹⁸ You shall eat the flesh of the mighty, and drink the blood of the princes of the earth, of rams, of lambs, and of goats, of bulls, all of them fatlings of Bashan. ¹⁹ You shall eat fat until you be full, and drink blood until you be drunken, of my sacrifice which I have sacrificed for you. ²⁰ You shall be filled at my table with horses and chariots, with mighty men, and with all men of war, says the Adanay Yahawah.²¹ I will set my glory among the nations; and all the nations shall see my judgment that I have executed, and my hand that I have laid on them.²² So the house of Yasharaal shall know that I am Yahawah their Alahayam, from that day and forward.²³ The nations shall know that the house of Yasharaal went into captivity for their iniquity; because they trespassed against me, and I hid my face from them: so I gave them into the hand of their adversaries, and they fell all of them by the sword.²⁴ According to their uncleanness and according to their transgressions did I to them; and I hid my face from them.²⁵ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Now will I bring back the captivity of Yaiqab, and have mercy on the whole house of Yasharaal; and I will be jealous for my holy name.²⁶ They shall bear their shame, and all their trespasses whereby they have trespassed against me, when they shall dwell securely in their land, and none shall make them afraid;²⁷ when I have brought them back from the peoples, and gathered them out of their enemies' lands, and am sanctified in them in the sight of many nations.²⁸ They shall know that I am Yahawah their Alahayam, in that I caused them to go into captivity among the nations, and have gathered them to their own land; and I will leave none of them any more there;²⁹ neither will I hide my face any more from them; for I have poured out my Spirit on the house of Yasharaal, says the Adanay Yahawah.

40 In the five and twentieth year of our captivity, in the beginning of the year, in the tenth [day] of the month, in the fourteenth year after that the city was struck, in the same day, the hand of Yahawah was on me, and he brought me there.² In the visions of Alahayam brought he me into the land of Yasharaal, and set me down on a very high mountain, whereon was as it were the frame of a city on the south.³ He brought me there; and, behold, there was a man, whose appearance was like the appearance of brass, with a line of flax in his hand, and a measuring reed; and he stood in the gate.⁴ The man said to me, Son of man, see with your eyes, and hear with your ears, and set your heart on all that I shall show you; for, to the intent that I may show them to you, are you brought here: declare all that you see to the house of Yasharaal.⁵ Behold, a wall on the outside of the house round about, and in the man's hand a measuring reed six cubits long, of a cubit and a handbreadth each: so he measured the thickness of the building, one reed; and the height, one reed.⁶ Then came he to the gate which looks toward the east, and went up the steps of it: and he measured the threshold of the gate, one reed broad; and the other threshold, one reed broad.⁷ Every lodge was one reed long, and one reed broad; and [the space] between the lodges was five cubits; and the threshold of the gate by the porch of the gate toward the house was one reed.⁸ He measured also the porch of the gate toward the house, one reed.⁹ Then measured he the porch of the gate, eight cubits; and the posts of it, two cubits; and the porch of the gate was toward the house.¹⁰ The lodges of the gate eastward were three on this side, and three on that side; they three were of one measure: and the posts had one measure on this side and on that side.¹¹ He measured the breadth of the opening of the gate, ten cubits; and the length of the gate, thirteen cubits;¹² and a border before the lodges, one cubit [on this side], and a border, one cubit on that side; and the lodges, six cubits on this side, and six cubits on that side.¹³ He measured the gate from the roof of the one lodge to the roof of the other, a breadth of twenty-five cubits; door against door.¹⁴ He made also posts, sixty cubits; and the court [reached] to the posts, round about the gate.¹⁵ [From] the forefront of the gate at the entrance to the forefront of the inner porch of the gate were fifty cubits.¹⁶ There were closed windows to the lodges, and to their posts within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches; and windows were round about inward; and on [each] post were palm-trees.¹⁷ Then brought he me into the outer court; and, behold, there were chambers and a pavement, made for the court round about: thirty chambers were on the pavement.¹⁸ The pavement was by the side of the gates, answerable to the length of the gates, even the lower pavement.¹⁹ Then he measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate to the forefront of the inner court outside, one hundred cubits, [both] on the east and on the north.²⁰ The gate of the outer court whose prospect is toward the north, he measured the length of it and the breadth of it.²¹ The lodges of it were three on this side and three on that side; and the posts of it and the arches of it were after the measure of the first gate: the length of it was fifty cubits, and the breadth twenty-five cubits.²² The windows of it, and the arches of it, and the palm-trees of it, were after the measure of the gate whose prospect is toward the east; and they went up to it by seven steps; and the arches of it were before them.²³ There was a gate to the inner court over against the [other] gate, [both] on the north and on the east; and he measured from gate to gate one hundred cubits.²⁴ He led me toward the south; and, behold, a gate toward the south: and he measured the posts of it and the arches of it according to these measures.²⁵ There were windows in it and in the arches of it round about, like those windows: the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth twenty-five cubits.²⁶ There were seven steps to go up to it, and the arches of it were before them; and it had palm-trees, one on this side, and another on that side, on the posts of it.²⁷ There was a gate to the inner court toward the south: and he measured from gate to gate toward the south a hundred cubits.²⁸ Then he brought me to the inner court by the south gate; and he measured the south gate according to these measures;²⁹ and the lodges of it, and the posts of it, and the arches of it, according to these measures: and there were windows in it and in the arches of it round about; it was fifty cubits long, and twenty-five cubits broad.³⁰ There were arches round about, twenty-five cubits long, and five cubits broad.³¹ The arches of it were toward the outer court; and palm-trees were on the posts of it: and the ascent to it had eight steps.³² He brought me into the inner court toward the east: and he measured the gate according to these measures;³³ and the lodges of it, and the posts of it, and the arches of it, according to these measures: and there were windows therein and in the arches of it round about; it was fifty cubits long, and twenty-five cubits broad.³⁴ The arches of it were toward the outer court; and palm-trees were on the posts of it, on this side, and on that side: and the ascent to it had eight steps.³⁵ He brought me to the north gate: and he measured [it] according to these measures;³⁶ the lodges of it, the posts of it, and the arches of it: and there were windows therein round about; the length was fifty cubits, and the breadth twenty-five cubits.³⁷ The posts of it were toward the outer court; and palm-trees were on the posts of it, on this side, and on that side: and the ascent to it had eight steps.³⁸ A chamber with the door of it was by the posts at the gates; there they washed the burnt offering.³⁹ In the porch of the gate were two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, to kill thereon the burnt offering and the Sayan-offering and the trespass-offering.⁴⁰ On the [one] side outside, as one goes up to the entry of the gate toward the north, were two tables; and on the other side, which belonged to the porch of the gate, were two tables.⁴¹ Four tables were on this side, and four tables on that side, by the side of the gate; eight tables, whereupon they killed [the sacrifices].⁴² There were four tables for the burnt offering, of hewn stone, a cubit and a half long, and a cubit and a half broad, and one cubit high; whereupon they laid the instruments with which they killed the burnt offering and the sacrifice.⁴³ The hooks, a handbreadth long, were fastened within round about: and on the tables was the flesh of the offering.⁴⁴ Outside of the inner gate were chambers for the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the north gate; and their prospect was toward the south; one at the side of the east gate having the prospect toward the north.⁴⁵ He said to me, This chamber, whose prospect is toward the south, is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of the house;⁴⁶ and the chamber whose prospect is toward the north is for the priests, the keepers of the charge of the altar: these are the sons of Tzadawaq, who from among the sons of Laway come near to Yahawah to minister to him.⁴⁷ He measured the court, one hundred cubits long, and a hundred cubits broad, foursquare; and the altar was before the house.⁴⁸ Then he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured each post of the porch, five cubits on this side, and five cubits on that side: and the breadth of the gate was three cubits on this side, and three cubits on that side.⁴⁹ The length of the porch was twenty cubits, and the breadth eleven cubits; even by the steps whereby they went up to it: and there were pillars by the posts, one on this side, and another on that side.

41 He brought me to the temple, and measured the posts, six cubits broad on the one side, and six cubits broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the tent.² The breadth of the entrance was ten cubits; and the sides of the entrance were five cubits on the one side, and five cubits on the other side: and he measured the length of it, forty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits.³ Then went he inward, and measured each post of the entrance, two cubits; and the entrance, six cubits; and the breadth of the entrance, seven cubits.⁴ He measured the length of it, twenty cubits, and the breadth, twenty cubits, before the temple: and he said to me, This is the most holy place.⁵ Then he measured the wall of the house, six cubits; and the breadth of every side-chamber, four cubits, round about the house on every side.⁶ The side-chambers were in three stories, one over another, and thirty in order; and they entered into the wall which belonged to the house for the side-chambers round about, that they might have hold [therein], and not have hold in the wall of the house.⁷ The side-chambers were broader as they encompassed [the house] higher and higher; for the encompassing of the house went higher and higher round about the house: therefore the breadth of the house [continued] upward; and so one went up [from] the lowest [chamber] to the highest by the middle [chamber].⁸ I saw also that the house had a raised base round about: the foundations of the side-chambers were a full reed of six great cubits.⁹ The thickness of the wall, which was for the side-chambers, on the outside, was five cubits: and that which was left was the place of the side-chambers that belonged to the house.¹⁰ Between the chambers was a breadth of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.¹¹ The doors of the side-chambers were toward [the place] that was left, one door toward the north, and another door toward the south: and the breadth of the place that was left was five cubits round about.¹² The building that was before the separate place at the side toward the west was seventy cubits broad; and the wall of the building was five cubits thick round about, and the length of it ninety cubits.¹³ So he measured the house, one hundred cubits long; and the separate place, and the building, with the walls of it, one hundred cubits long;¹⁴ also the breadth of the face of the house, and of the separate place toward the east, one hundred cubits.¹⁵ He measured the length of the building before the separate place which was at the back of it, and the galleries of it on the one side and on the other side, one hundred cubits; and the inner temple, and the porches of the court;¹⁶ the thresholds, and the closed windows, and the galleries round about on their three stories, over against the threshold, with wood ceilings round about, and [from] the ground up to the windows, (now the windows were covered),¹⁷ to [the space] above the door, even to the inner house, and outside, and by all the wall round about inside and outside, by measure.¹⁸ It was made with cherubim and palm-trees; and a palm-tree was between cherub and cherub, and every cherub had two faces;¹⁹ so that there was the face of a man toward the palm-tree on the one side, and the face of a young lion toward the palm-tree on the other side. [thus was it] made through all the house round about:²⁰ from the ground to above the door were cherubim and palm-trees made: thus was the wall of the temple.²¹ As for the temple, the door-posts were squared; and as for the face of the sanctuary, the appearance [of it] was as the appearance [of the temple].²² The altar was of wood, three cubits high, and the length of it two cubits; and the corners of it, and the length of it, and the walls of it, were of wood: and he said to me, This is the table that is before Yahawah.²³ The temple and the sanctuary had two doors.²⁴ The doors had two leaves [apiece], two turning leaves: two [leaves] for the one door, and two leaves for the other.²⁵ There were made on them, on the doors of the temple, cherubim and palm-trees, like as were made on the walls; and there was a threshold of wood on the face of the porch outside.²⁶ There were closed windows and palm-trees on the one side and on the other side, on the sides of the porch: thus were the side-chambers of the house, and the thresholds.

42 Then he brought me forth into the outer court, the way toward the north: and he brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was over against the building toward the north.² Before the length of one hundred cubits was the north door, and the breadth was fifty cubits.³ Over against the twenty [cubits] which belonged to the inner court, and over against the pavement which belonged to the outer court, was gallery against gallery in the third story.⁴ Before the chambers was a walk of ten cubits' breadth inward, a way of one cubit; and their doors were toward the north.⁵ Now the upper chambers were shorter; for the galleries took away from these, more than from the lower and the middle, in the building.⁶ For they were in three stories, and they didn't have pillars as the pillars of the courts: therefore [the uppermost] was straitened more than the lowest and the middle from the ground.⁷ The wall that was outside by the side of the chambers, toward the outer court before the chambers, the length of it was fifty cubits.⁸ For the length of the chambers that were in the outer court was fifty cubits: and, behold, before the temple were one hundred cubits.⁹ From under these chambers was the entry on the east side, as one goes into them from the outer court.¹⁰ In the thickness of the wall of the court toward the east, before the separate place, and before the building, there were chambers.¹¹ The way before them was like the appearance of [the way of] the chambers which were toward the north; according to their length so was their breadth: and all their exits were both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.¹² According to the doors of the chambers that were toward the south was a door at the head of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the east, as one enters into them.¹³ Then said he to me, The north chambers and the south chambers, which are before the separate place, they are the holy chambers, where the priests who are near to Yahawah shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meal-offering, and the Sayan-offering, and the trespass-offering; for the place is holy.¹⁴ When the priests enter in, then shall they not go out of the holy place into the outer court, but there they shall lay their garments in which they minister; for they are holy: and they shall put on other garments, and shall approach to that which pertains to the people.¹⁵ Now when he had made an end of measuring the inner house, he brought me forth by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east, and measured it round about.¹⁶ He measured on the east side with the measuring reed five hundred reeds, with the measuring reed round about.¹⁷ He measured on the north side five hundred reeds with the measuring reed round about.¹⁸ He measured on the south side five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.¹⁹ He turned about to the west side, and measured five hundred reeds with the measuring reed.²⁰ He measured it on the four sides: it had a wall round about, the length five hundred, and the breadth five hundred, to make a separation between that which was holy and that which was common.

43 Afterward he brought me to the gate, even the gate that looks toward the east.² Behold, the glory of the Alahayam of Yasharaal came from the way of the east: and his voice was like the sound of many waters; and the earth shined with his glory.³ It was according to the appearance of the vision which I saw, even according to the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the city; and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Kabar; and I fell on my face.⁴ The glory of Yahawah came into the house by the way of the gate whose prospect is toward the east.⁵ The Spirit took me up, and brought me into the inner court; and, behold, the glory of Yahawah filled the house.⁶ I heard one speaking to me out of the house; and a man stood by me.⁷ He said to me, Son of man, [this is] the place of my throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, where I will dwell in the midst of the children of Yasharaal forever. The house of Yasharaal shall no more defile my holy name, neither they, nor their kings, by their prostitution, and by the dead bodies of their kings [in] their high places;⁸ in their setting of their threshold by my threshold, and their door-post beside my door-post, and there was [but] the wall between me and them; and they have defiled my holy name by their abominations which they have committed: why I have consumed them in my anger.⁹ Now let them put away their prostitution, and the dead bodies of their kings, far from me; and I will dwell in the midst of them forever.¹⁰ You, son of man, show the house to the house of Yasharaal, that they may be ashamed of their iniquities; and let them measure the pattern.¹¹ If they be ashamed of all that they have done, make known to them the form of the house, and the fashion of it, and the exits of it, and the entrances of it, and all the forms of it, and all the ordinances of it, and all the forms of it, and all the laws of it; and write it in their sight; that they may keep the whole form of it, and all the ordinances of it, and do them.¹² This is the law of the house: on the top of the mountain the whole limit of it round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the law of the house.¹³ These are the measures of the altar by cubits (the cubit is a cubit and a handbreadth): the bottom shall be a cubit, and the breadth a cubit, and the border of it by the edge of it round about a span; and this shall be the base of the altar.¹⁴ From the bottom on the ground to the lower ledge shall be two cubits, and the breadth one cubit; and from the lesser ledge to the greater ledge shall be four cubits, and the breadth a cubit.¹⁵ The upper altar shall be four cubits; and from the altar hearth and upward there shall be four horns.¹⁶ The altar hearth shall be twelve [cubits] long by twelve broad, square in the four sides of it.¹⁷ The ledge shall be fourteen [cubits] long by fourteen broad in the four sides of it; and the border about it shall be half a cubit; and the bottom of it shall be a cubit round about; and the steps of it shall look toward the east.¹⁸ He said to me, Son of man, thus says the Adanay Yahawah: These are the ordinances of the altar in the day when they shall make it, to offer burnt offerings thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.¹⁹ You shall give to the priests the Levites who are of the seed of Tzadawaq, who are near to me, to minister to me, says the Adanay Yahawah, a young bull for a Sayan-offering.²⁰ You shall take of the blood of it, and put it on the four horns of it, and on the four corners of the ledge, and on the border round about: thus shall you cleanse it and make atonement for it.²¹ You shall also take the bull of the Sayan-offering, and it shall be burnt in the appointed place of the house, outside of the sanctuary.²² On the second day you shall offer a male goat without blemish for a Sayan-offering; and they shall cleanse the altar, as they did cleanse it with the bull.²³ When you have made an end of cleansing it, you shall offer a young bull without blemish, and a ram out of the flock without blemish.²⁴ You shall bring them near before Yahawah, and the priests shall cast salt on them, and they shall offer them up for a burnt offering to Yahawah.²⁵ Seven days shall you prepare every day a goat for a Sayan-offering: they shall also prepare a young bull, and a ram out of the flock, without blemish.²⁶ Seven days shall they make atonement for the altar and purify it; so shall they consecrate it.²⁷ When they have accomplished the days, it shall be that on the eighth day, and forward, the priests shall make your burnt offerings on the altar, and your peace-offerings; and I will accept you, says the Adanay Yahawah.

44 Then he brought me back by the way of the outer gate of the sanctuary, which looks toward the east; and it was shut.² Yahawah said to me, This gate shall be shut; it shall not be opened, neither shall any man enter in by it; for Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, has entered in by it; therefore it shall be shut.³ As for the prince, he shall sit therein as prince to eat bread before Yahawah; he shall enter by the way of the porch of the gate, and shall go out by the way of the same.⁴ Then he brought me by the way of the north gate before the house; and I looked, and, behold, the glory of Yahawah filled the house of Yahawah: and I fell on my face.⁵ Yahawah said to me, Son of man, mark well, and see with your eyes, and hear with your ears all that I tell you concerning all the ordinances of the house of Yahawah, and all the laws of it; and mark well the entrance of the house, with every exit of the sanctuary.⁶ You shall tell the rebellious, even to the house of Yasharaal, Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: you house of

Yasharaal, let it suffice you of all your abominations,⁷ in that you have brought in foreigners, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my sanctuary, to profane it, even my house, when you offer my bread, the fat and the blood, and they have broken my covenant, [to add] to all your abominations.⁸ You have not kept the charge of my holy things; but you have set keepers of my charge in my sanctuary for yourselves.⁹ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah, No foreigner, uncircumcised in heart and uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my sanctuary, of any foreigners who are among the children of Yasharaal.¹⁰ But the Levites who went far from me, when Yasharaal went astray, who went astray from me after their idols, they shall bear their iniquity.¹¹ Yet they shall be ministers in my sanctuary, having oversight at the gates of the house, and ministering in the house: they shall kill the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to minister to them.¹² Because they ministered to them before their idols, and became a stumbling block of iniquity to the house of Yasharaal; therefore have I lifted up my hand against them, says the Adanay Yahawah, and they shall bear their iniquity.¹³ They shall not come near to me, to execute the office of priest to me, nor to come near to any of my holy things, to the things that are most holy; but they shall bear their shame, and their abominations which they have committed.¹⁴ Yet will I make them keepers of the charge of the house, for all the service of it, and for all that shall be done therein.¹⁵ But the priests the Levites, the sons of Tzadawaq, who kept the charge of my sanctuary when the children of Yasharaal went astray from me, they shall come near to me to minister to me; and they shall stand before me to offer to me the fat and the blood, says the Adanay Yahawah:¹⁶ they shall enter into my sanctuary, and they shall come near to my table, to minister to me, and they shall keep my charge.¹⁷ It shall be that, when they enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linen garments; and no wool shall come on them, while they minister in the gates of the inner court, and within.¹⁸ They shall have linen tires on their heads, and shall have linen breeches on their loins; they shall not gird themselves with [anything that causes] sweat.¹⁹ When they go forth into the outer court, even into the outer court to the people, they shall put off their garments in which they minister, and lay them in the holy chambers; and they shall put on other garments, that they not sanctify the people with their garments.²⁰ Neither shall they shave their heads, nor allow their locks to grow long; they shall only cut off the hair of their heads.²¹ Neither shall any of the priests drink wine, when they enter into the inner court.²² Neither shall they take for their wives a widow, nor her who is put away; but they shall take virgins of the seed of the house of Yasharaal, or a widow who is the widow of a priest.²³ They shall teach my people the difference between the holy and the common, and cause them to discern between the unclean and the clean.²⁴ In a controversy they shall stand to judge; according to my ordinances shall they judge it: and they shall keep my laws and my statutes in all my appointed feasts; and they shall make my Sabbaths holy.²⁵ They shall go in to no dead person to defile themselves; but for father, or for mother, or for son, or for daughter, for brother, or for sister who has had no husband, they may defile themselves.²⁶ After he is cleansed, they shall reckon to him seven days.²⁷ In the day that he goes into the sanctuary, into the inner court, to minister in the sanctuary, he shall offer his Sayan-offering, says the Adanay Yahawah.²⁸ They shall have an inheritance: I am their inheritance; and you shall give them no possession in Yasharaal; I am their possession.²⁹ They shall eat the meal-offering, and the Sayan-offering, and the trespass-offering; and every devoted thing in Yasharaal shall be theirs.³⁰ The first of all the first-fruits of every thing, and every offering of everything, of all your offerings, shall be for the priest: you shall also give to the priests the first of your dough, to cause a blessing to rest on your house.³¹ The priests shall not eat of anything that dies of itself, or is torn, whether it be bird or animal.

45 Moreover, when you shall divide by lot the land for inheritance, you shall offer an offering to Yahawah, a holy portion of the land; the length shall be the length of twenty-five thousand [reeds], and the breadth shall be ten thousand; it shall be holy in all the border of it round about.² Of this there shall be for the holy place five hundred [in length] by five hundred [in breadth], square round about; and fifty cubits for the suburbs of it round about.³ Of this measure shall you measure a length of twenty-five thousand, and a breadth of ten thousand; and in it shall be the sanctuary, which is most holy.⁴ It is a holy portion of the land; it shall be for the priests, the ministers of the sanctuary, who come near to minister to Yahawah; and it shall be a place for their houses, and a holy place for the sanctuary.⁵ Twenty-five thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth, shall be to the Levites, the ministers of the house, for a possession to themselves, [for] twenty chambers.⁶ You shall appoint the possession of the city five thousand broad, and twenty-five thousand long, side by side with the offering of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Yasharaal.⁷ [Whatever is] for the prince [shall be] on the one side and on the other side of the holy offering and of the possession of the city, in front of the holy offering and in front of the possession of the city, on the west side westward, and on the east side eastward; and in length answerable to one of the portions, from the west border to the east border.⁸ In the land it shall be to him for a possession in Yasharaal: and my princes shall no more oppress my people; but they shall give the land to the house of Yasharaal according to their tribes.⁹ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: Let it suffice you, princes of Yasharaal: remove violence and spoil, and execute justice and righteousness; dispossessing my people, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁰ You shall have just balances, and a just ephah, and a just bath.¹¹ The ephah and the bath shall be of one measure, that the bath may contain the tenth part of a homer, and the ephah the tenth part of a homer: the measure of it shall be after the homer.¹² The shekel shall be twenty gerahs. Twenty shekels plus twenty-five shekels plus fifteen shekels shall be your mina.¹³ This is the offering that you shall offer: the sixth part of an ephah from a homer of wheat; and you shall give the sixth part of an ephah from a homer of barley;¹⁴ and the set portion of oil, of the bath of oil, the tenth part of a bath out of the cor, [which is] ten baths, even a homer; (for ten baths are a homer);¹⁵ and one lamb of the flock, out of two hundred, from the well-watered pastures of Yasharaal; -for a meal-offering, and for a burnt offering, and for peace-offerings, to make atonement for them, says the Adanay Yahawah.¹⁶ All the people of the land shall give to this offering for the prince in Yasharaal.¹⁷ It shall be the prince's part to give the burnt offerings, and the meal-offerings, and the drink-offerings, in the feasts, and on the new moons, and on the Sabbaths, in all the appointed feasts of the house of Yasharaal: he shall prepare the Sayan-offering, and the meal-offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace-offerings, to make atonement for the house of Yasharaal.¹⁸ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: In the first [month], in the first [day] of the month, you shall take a young bull without blemish; and you shall cleanse the sanctuary.¹⁹ The priest shall take of the blood of the Sayan-offering, and put it on the door-posts of the house, and on the four corners of the ledge of the altar, and on the posts of the gate of the inner court.²⁰ So you shall do on the seventh [day] of the month for everyone who errs, and for him who is simple: so shall you make atonement for the house.²¹ In the first [month], in the fourteenth day of the month, you shall have the Passover, a feast of seven days; unleavened bread shall be eaten.²² On that day shall the prince prepare for himself and for all the people of the land a bull for a Sayan-offering.²³ The seven days of the feast he shall prepare a burnt offering to Yahawah, seven bulls and seven rams without blemish daily the seven days; and a male goat daily for a Sayan-offering.²⁴ He shall prepare a meal-offering, an ephah for a bull, and an ephah for a ram, and a hin of oil to an ephah.²⁵ In the seventh [month], in the fifteenth day of the month, in the feast, shall he do the like the seven days; according to the Sayan-offering, according to the burnt offering, and according to the meal-offering, and according to the oil.

46 Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: The gate of the inner court that looks toward the east shall be shut the six working days; but on the Sabbath day it shall be opened, and on the day of the new moon it shall be opened.² The prince shall enter by the way of the porch of the gate outside, and shall stand by the post of the gate; and the priests shall prepare his burnt-offering and his peace-offerings, and he shall worship at the threshold of the gate; then he shall go forth; but the gate shall not be shut until the evening.³ The people of the land shall worship at the door of that gate before Yahawah on the Sabbaths and on the new moons.⁴ The burnt offering that the prince shall offer to Yahawah shall be on the Sabbath day six lambs without blemish and a ram without blemish;⁵ and the meal-offering shall be an ephah for the ram, and the meal-offering for the lambs as he is able to give, and a hin of oil to an ephah.⁶ On the day of the new moon it shall be a young bull without blemish, and six lambs, and a ram; they shall be without blemish:⁷ and he shall prepare a meal-offering, an ephah for the bull, and an ephah for the ram, and for the lambs according as he is able, and a hin of oil to an ephah.⁸ When the prince shall enter, he shall go in by the way of the porch of the gate, and he shall go forth by the way of it.⁹ But when the people of the land shall come before Yahawah in the appointed feasts, he who enters by the way of the north gate to worship shall go forth by the way of the south gate; and he who enters by the way of the south gate shall go forth by the way of the north gate: he shall not return by the way of the gate whereby he came in, but shall go forth straight before him.¹⁰ The prince, when they go in, shall go in with of them; and when they go out, he shall go out.¹¹ In the feasts and in the solemnities the meal-offering shall be an ephah for a bull, and an ephah for a ram, and for the lambs as he is able to give, and a hin of oil to an ephah.¹² When the prince shall prepare a freewill-offering, a burnt offering or peace-offerings as a freewill-offering to Yahawah, one shall open for him the gate that looks toward the east; and he shall prepare his burnt offering and his peace-offerings, as he does on the Sabbath day: then he shall go forth; and after his going forth one shall shut the gate.¹³ You shall prepare a lamb a year old without blemish for a burnt offering to Yahawah daily: morning by morning shall you prepare it.¹⁴ You shall prepare a meal-offering with it morning by morning, the sixth part of an ephah, and the third part of a hin of oil, to moisten the fine flour; a meal-offering to Yahawah continually by a perpetual ordinance.¹⁵ Thus shall they prepare the lamb, and the meal-offering, and the oil, morning by morning, for a continual burnt offering.¹⁶ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: If the prince give a gift to any of his sons, it is his inheritance, it shall belong to his sons; it is their possession by inheritance.¹⁷ But if he give of his inheritance a gift to one of his servants, it shall be his to the year of liberty; then it shall return to the prince; but as for his inheritance, it shall be for his sons.¹⁸ Moreover the prince shall not take of the people's inheritance, to thrust them out of their possession; he shall give inheritance to his sons out of his own possession, that my people not be scattered every man from his possession.¹⁹ Then he brought me through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers for the priests, which looked toward the north: and, behold, there was a place on the hinder part westward.²⁰ He said to me, This is the place where the priests shall boil the trespass-offering and the Sayan-offering, [and] where they shall bake the meal-offering; that they not bring them forth into the outer court, to sanctify the people.²¹ Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused me to pass by the four corners of the court; and, behold, in every corner of the court there was a court.²² In the four corners of the court there were courts enclosed, forty [cubits] long and thirty broad: these four in the corners were of one measure.²³ There was a wall round about in them, round about the four, and boiling-places were made under the walls round about.²⁴ Then said he to me, These are the boiling-houses, where the ministers of the house shall boil the sacrifice of the people.

47 He brought me back to the door of the house; and, behold, waters issued out from under the threshold of the house eastward; (for the forefront of the house was toward the east;) and the waters came down from under, from the right side of the house, on the south of the altar.² Then he brought me out by the way of the gate northward, and led me round by the way outside to the outer gate, by the way of [the gate] that looks toward the east; and, behold, there ran out waters on the right side.³ When the man went forth eastward with the line in his hand, he measured one thousand cubits, and he caused me to pass through the waters, waters that were to the ankles.⁴ Again he measured one thousand, and caused me to pass through the waters, waters that were to the knees. Again he measured one thousand, and caused me to pass through [the waters], waters that were to the loins.⁵ Afterward he measured one thousand; [and it was] a river that I could not pass through; for the waters were risen, waters to swim in, a river that could not be passed through.⁶ He said to me, Son of man, have you seen [this]? Then he brought me, and caused me to return to the bank of the river.⁷ Now when I had returned, behold, on the bank of the river were very many trees on the one side and on the other.⁸ Then said he to me, These waters issue forth toward the eastern region, and shall go down into the Irabah; and they shall go toward the sea; into the sea [shall the waters go] which were made to issue forth; and the waters shall be healed.⁹ It shall happen, that every living creature which swarms, in every place where the rivers come, shall live; and there shall be a very great multitude of fish; for these waters are come there, and [the waters of the sea] shall be healed, and everything shall live wherever the river comes.¹⁰ It shall happen, that fishermen shall stand by it: from Gaday even to Igalayam shall be a place for the spreading of nets; their fish shall be after their kinds, as the fish of the great sea, exceeding many.

But the miry places of it, and the marshes of it, shall not be healed; they shall be given up to salt.¹² By the river on the bank of it, on this side and on that side, shall grow every tree for food, whose leaf shall not where, neither shall the fruit of it fail: it shall bring forth new fruit every month, because the waters of it issue out of the sanctuary; and the fruit of it shall be for food, and the leaf of it for healing.¹³ Thus says the Adanay Yahawah: This shall be the border, whereby you shall divide the land for inheritance according to the twelve tribes of Yasharaal: Yawasap [shall have two] portions.¹⁴ You shall inherit it, one as well as another; for I swore to give it to your fathers: and this land shall fall to you for inheritance.¹⁵ This shall be the border of the land: On the north side, from the great sea, by the way of Chathalan, to the entrance of Tzadad;¹⁶ Chamath, Barawathah, Sabarayam, which is between the border of Damashaq and the border of Chamath; Hazer-hatticon, which is by the border of Chawaran.¹⁷ The border from the sea, shall be Chatzar at the border of Damashaq; and on the north northward is the border of Chamath. This is the north side.¹⁸ The east side, between Chawaran and Damashaq and Galaid, and the land of Yasharaal, shall be the Yaradan; from the [north] border to the east sea shall you measure. This is the east side.¹⁹ The south side southward shall be from Tamar as far as the waters of Meriboth-Qadash, to the brook [of Matzarayam], to the great sea. This is the south side southward.²⁰ The west side shall be the great sea, from the [south] border as far as over against the entrance of Chamath. This is the west side.²¹ So shall you divide this land to you according to the tribes of Yasharaal.²² It shall happen, that you shall divide it by lot for an inheritance to you and to the strangers who sojourn among you, who shall father children among you; and they shall be to you as the home-born among the children of Yasharaal; they shall have inheritance with you among the tribes of Yasharaal.²³ It shall happen, that in what tribe the stranger sojourns, there shall you give him his inheritance, says the Adanay Yahawah.

Aparayam, one [portion].⁶ By the border of Aparayam, from the east side even to the west side, Raawaban, one [portion].⁷ By the border of Raawaban, from the east side to the west side, Yahawadah, one [portion].⁸ By the border of Yahawadah, from the east side to the west side, shall be the offering which you shall offer, twenty-five thousand [reeds] in breadth, and in length as one of the portions, from the east side to the west side: and the sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.⁹ The offering that you shall offer to Yahawah shall be twenty-five thousand [reeds] in length, and ten thousand in breadth.¹⁰ For these, even for the priests, shall be the holy offering: toward the north twenty-five thousand [in length], and toward the west ten thousand in breadth, and toward the east ten thousand in breadth, and toward the south twenty-five thousand in length: and the sanctuary of Yahawah shall be in the midst of it.¹¹ [It shall be] for the priests who are sanctified of the sons of Tzadawaq, who have kept my charge, who didn't go astray when the children of Yasharaal went astray, as the Levites went astray.¹² It shall be to them an offering from the offering of the land, a thing most holy, by the border of the Levites.¹³ Answerable to the border of the priests, the Levites shall have twenty-five thousand in length, and ten thousand in breadth: all the length shall be twenty-five thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.¹⁴ They shall sell none of it, nor exchange it, nor shall the first-fruits of the land be alienated; for it is holy to Yahawah.¹⁵ The five thousand that are left in the breadth, in front of the twenty-five thousand, shall be for common use, for the city, for dwelling and for suburbs; and the city shall be in the midst of it.¹⁶ These shall be the measures of it: the north side four thousand and five hundred, and the south side four thousand and five hundred, and on the east side four thousand and five hundred, and the west side four thousand and five hundred.¹⁷ The city shall have suburbs: toward the north two hundred fifty, and toward the south two hundred fifty, and toward the east two hundred fifty, and toward the west two hundred fifty.¹⁸ The remainder in the length, answerable to the holy offering, shall be ten thousand eastward, and ten thousand westward; and it shall be answerable to the holy offering; and the increase of it shall be for food to those who labor in the city.¹⁹ Those who labor in the city, out of all the tribes of Yasharaal, shall until it.²⁰ All the offering shall be twenty-five thousand by twenty-five thousand: you shall offer the holy offering four-square, with the possession of the city.²¹ The residue shall be for the prince, on the one side and on the other of the holy offering and of the possession of the city; in front of the twenty-five thousand of the offering toward the east border, and westward in front of the twenty-five thousand toward the west border, answerable to the portions, it shall be for the prince: and the holy offering and the sanctuary of the house shall be in the midst of it.²² Moreover from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city, being in the midst of that which is the prince's, between the border of Yahawadah and the border of Banayaman, it shall be for the prince.²³ As for the rest of the tribes: from the east side to the west side, Banayaman, one [portion].²⁴ By the border of Banayaman, from the east side to the west side, Shamaian, one [portion].²⁵ By the border of Shamaian, from the east side to the west side, Yashashakar, one [portion].²⁶ By the border of Yashashakar, from the east side to the west side, Zabawalan, one [portion].²⁷ By the border of Zabawalan, from the east side to the west side, Gad, one [portion].²⁸ By the border of Gad, at the south side southward, the border shall be even from Tamar to the waters of Meribath-Qadash, to the brook [of Matzarayam], to the great sea.²⁹ This is the land which you shall divide by lot to the tribes of Yasharaal for inheritance, and these are their several portions, says the Adanay Yahawah.³⁰ These are the exits of the city: On the north side four thousand and five hundred [reeds] by measure;³¹ and the gates of the city shall be after the names of the tribes of Yasharaal, three gates northward: the gate of Raawaban, one; the gate of Yahawadah, one; the gate of Laway, one.³² At the east side four thousand and five hundred [reeds], and three gates: even the gate of Yawasap, one; the gate of Banayaman, one; the gate of Wadan, one.³³ At the south side four thousand and five hundred [reeds] by measure, and three gates: the gate of Shamaïwan, one; the gate of Yashashakar, one; the gate of Zabawalan, one.³⁴ At the west side four thousand and five hundred [reeds], with their three gates: the gate of Gad, one; the gate of Ashar, one; the gate of Napathalay, one.³⁵ It shall be eighteen thousand [reeds] round about: and the name of the city from that day shall be, Yahawah is there.

1 In the third year of the reign of Yahawayaqayam king of Yahawadah came Nabawakadaraatzar king of Babal to Yarawashalam, and besieged it.² The Adanay gave Yahawayaqayam king of Yahawadah into his hand, with part of the vessels of the house of Alahayam; and he carried them into the land of Shanair to the house of his god: and he brought the vessels into the treasure-house of his god.³ The king spoke to Ashapanaz the master of his eunuchs, that he should bring in [certain] of the children of Yasharaal, even of the seed royal and of the nobles; youths in whom was no blemish, but well-favored, and skillful in all wisdom, and endowed with knowledge, and understanding science, and such as had ability to stand in the king's palace; and that he should teach them the learning and the language of the Kashadayam.⁴ The king appointed for them a daily portion of the king's dainties, and of the wine which he drank, and that they should be nourished three years; that at the end of it they should stand before the king.⁵ Now among these were, of the children of Yahawadah, Dan, Chananayah, Mayashaal, and Izarayah.⁶ The prince of the eunuchs gave names to them: to Dan he gave [the name of] Balatashaatzar; and to Chananayah, [of] Shadarak; and to Mayashaal, [of] Meshach; and to Izarayah, [of] Ibad.⁷ But Dan purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the king's dainties, nor with the wine which he drank: therefore he requested of the prince of the eunuchs that he might not defile himself.⁸ Now Alahayam made Dan to find kindness and compassion in the sight of the prince of the eunuchs.⁹ The prince of the eunuchs said to Dan, I fear my lord the king, who has appointed your food and your drink: for why should he see your faces worse looking than the youths who are of your own age? so would you endanger my head with the king.¹⁰ Then said Dan to the steward whom the prince of the eunuchs had appointed over Dan, Chananayah, Mayashaal, and Izarayah:¹¹ Prove your servants, I beg you, ten days; and let them give us pulse to eat, and water to drink.¹² Then let our faces be looked on before you, and the face of the youths who eat of the king's dainties; and as you see, deal with your servants.¹³ So he listened to them in this matter, and proved them ten days.¹⁴ At the end of ten days their faces appeared fairer, and they were fatter in flesh, than all the youths who ate of the king's dainties.¹⁵ So the steward took away their dainties, and the wine that they should drink, and gave them pulse.¹⁶ Now as for these four youths, Alahayam gave them knowledge and skill in all learning and wisdom: and Dan had understanding in all visions and dreams.¹⁷ At the end of the days which the king had appointed for bringing them in, the prince of the eunuchs brought them in before Nabawakadaraatzar.¹⁸ The king talked with them; and among them all was found none like Dan, Chananayah, Mayashaal, and Izarayah: therefore stood they before the king.¹⁹ In every matter of wisdom and understanding, concerning which the king inquired of them, he found them ten times better than all the magicians and enchanters who were in all his realm.²⁰ Dan continued even to the first year of king Kawarash.

2 In the second year of the reign of Nabawakadaraatzar, Nabawakadaraatzar dreamed dreams; and his spirit was troubled, and his sleep went from him.¹ Then the king commanded to call the magicians, and the enchanters, and the sorcerers, and the Kashadayam, to tell the king his dreams. So they came in and stood before the king.² The king said to them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit is troubled to know the dream.³ Then spoke the Kashadayam to the king in the Syrian language, O king, live forever: tell your servants the dream, and we will show the interpretation.⁴ The king answered the Kashadayam, The thing is gone from me: if you don't make known to me the dream and the interpretation of it, you shall be cut in pieces, and your houses shall be made a dunghill.⁵ But if you show the dream and the interpretation of it, you shall receive of me gifts and rewards and great honor: therefore show me the dream and the interpretation of it.⁶ They answered the second time and said, Let the king tell his servants the dream, and we will show the interpretation.⁷ The king answered, I know of a certainty that you would gain time, because you see the thing is gone from me.⁸ But if you don't make known to me the dream, there is but one law for you; for you have prepared lying and corrupt words to speak before me, until the time be changed: therefore tell me the dream, and I shall know that you can show me the interpretation of it.⁹ The Kashadayam answered before the king, and said, There is not a man on the earth who can show the king's matter, because no king, lord, or ruler, has asked such a thing of any magician, or enchanter, or Chaldean.¹⁰ It is a rare thing that the king requires, and there is no other who can show it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with flesh.¹¹

¹² For this cause the king was angry and very furious, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babal.¹³ So the decree went forth, and the wise men were to be slain; and they sought Dan and his companions to be slain.¹⁴ Then Dan returned answer with counsel and prudence to Arayawak the captain of the king's guard, who was gone forth to kill the wise men of Babal;¹⁵ he answered Arayawak the king's captain, Why is the decree so urgent from the king? Then Arayawak made the thing known to Dan.¹⁶ Dan went in, and desired of the king that he would appoint him a time, and he would show the king the interpretation.¹⁷ Then Dan went to his house, and made the thing known to Chananayah, Mayashaal, and Izarayah, his companions:¹⁸ that they would desire mercies of the Alahayam of heaven concerning this secret; that Dan and his companions should nor perish with the rest of the wise men of Babal.¹⁹ Then was the secret revealed to Dan in a vision of the night. Then Dan blessed the Alahayam of heaven.²⁰ Dan answered, Blessed be the name of Alahayam forever and ever; for wisdom and might are his.²¹ He changes the times and the seasons; he removes kings, and sets up kings; he gives wisdom to the wise, and knowledge to those who have understanding;²² he reveals the deep and secret things; he knows what is in the darkness, and the light dwells with him.²³ I thank you, and praise you, you Alahayam of my fathers, who have given me wisdom and might, and have now made known to me what we desired of you; for you have made known to us the king's matter.²⁴ Therefore Dan went in to Arayawak, whom the king had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babal; he went and said thus to him: Don't destroy the wise men of Babal; bring me in before the king, and I will show to the king the interpretation.²⁵ Then Arayawak brought in Dan before the king in haste, and said thus to him, I have found a man of the children of the captivity of Yahawadah, who will make known to the king the interpretation.²⁶ The king answered Dan, whose name was Balatashaatzar, Are you able to make known to me the dream which I have seen, and the interpretation of it?²⁷ Dan answered before the king, and said, The secret which the king has demanded can neither wise men, enchanters, magicians, nor soothsayers, show to the king;²⁸ but there is a Alahayam in heaven who reveals secrets, and he has made known to the king Nabawakadaraatzar what shall be in the latter days. Your dream, and the visions of your head on your bed, are these:²⁹ as for you, O king, your thoughts came [into your mind] on your bed, what should happen hereafter; and he who reveals secrets has made known to you what shall happen.³⁰ But as for me, this secret is not revealed to me for any wisdom that I have more than any living, but to the intent that the interpretation may be made known to the king, and that you may know the thoughts of your heart.³¹ You, O king, saw, and, behold, a great image. This image, which was mighty, and whose brightness was excellent, stood before you; and the aspect of it was awesome.³² As for this image, its head was of fine gold, its breast and its arms of silver, its belly and its thighs of brass,³³ its legs of iron, its feet part of iron, and part of clay.³⁴ You saw until a stone was cut out without hands, which struck the image on its feet that were of iron and clay, and broke them in pieces.³⁵ Then was the iron, the clay, the brass, the silver, and the gold, broken in pieces together, and became like the chaff of the summer threshing floors; and the wind carried them away, so that no place was found for them: and the stone that struck the image became a great mountain, and filled the whole earth.³⁶ This is the dream; and we will tell the interpretation of it before the king.³⁷ You, O king, are king of kings, to whom the Alahayam of heaven has given the kingdom, the power, and the strength, and the glory;³⁸ and wherever the children of men dwell, the animals of the field and the birds of the sky has he given into your hand, and has made you to rule over them all: you are the head of gold.³⁹ After you shall arise another kingdom inferior to you; and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth.⁴⁰ The fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron, because iron breaks in pieces and subdues all things; and as iron that crushes all these, shall it break in pieces and crush.⁴¹ Whereas you saw the feet and toes, part of potters' clay, and part of iron, it shall be a divided kingdom; but there shall be in it of the strength of the iron, because you saw the iron mixed with miry clay.⁴² As the toes of the feet were part of iron, and part of clay, so the kingdom shall be partly strong, and partly broken.⁴³ Whereas you saw the iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men; but they shall not cling to one another, even as iron does not mingle with clay.⁴⁴ In the days of those kings shall the Alahayam of heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed, nor shall the sovereignty of it be left to another people; but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand forever.⁴⁵ Because you saw that a stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it broke in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great Alahayam has made known to the king what shall happen hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation of it sure.⁴⁶ Then the king Nabawakadaraatzar fell on his face, and worshipped Dan, and commanded that they should offer an offering and sweet odors to him.⁴⁷ The king answered to Dan, and said, Of a truth your Alahayam is the Alahayam of gods, and the Adanay of kings, and a revealer of secrets, seeing you have been able to reveal this secret.⁴⁸ Then the king made Dan great, and gave him many great gifts, and made him to rule over the whole province of Babal, and to be chief governor over all the wise men of Babal.⁴⁹ Dan requested of the king, and he appointed Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, over the affairs of the province of Babal: but Dan was in the gate of the king.

3 Nabawakadaraatzar the king made an image of gold, whose height was sixty cubits, and the breadth of it six cubits: he set it up in the plain of Dawaraa, in the province of Babal.⁵ Then Nabawakadaraatzar the king sent to gather together the satraps, the deputies, and the governors, the judges, the treasurers, the counselors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, to come to the dedication of the image which Nabawakadaraatzar the king had set up.⁶ Then the satraps, the deputies, and the governors, the judges, the treasurers, the counselors, the sheriffs, and all the rulers of the provinces, were gathered together to the dedication of the image that Nabawakadaraatzar the king had set up; and they stood before the image that Nabawakadaraatzar had set up.⁷ Then the herald cried aloud, To you it is commanded, peoples, nations, and languages,⁸ that whenever you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipe, and all kinds of music, you fall down and worship the golden image that Nabawakadaraatzar the king has set up; and whoever doesn't fall down and worships shall the same hour be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace.¹⁰ Therefore at that time, when all the peoples heard the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipe, and all kinds of music, all the peoples, the nations, and the languages, fell down and worshipped the golden image that Nabawakadaraatzar the king had set up.¹¹ Therefore at that time certain Kashadayam came near, and brought accusation against the Jews.¹² They answered Nabawakadaraatzar the king, O king, live for ever.¹³ You, O king, have made a decree, that every man that shall hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipe, and all kinds of music, shall fall down and worship the golden image;¹⁴ and whoever doesn't fall down and worships, shall be cast into the midst of a burning fiery furnace.¹⁵ There are certain Jews whom you have appointed over the affairs of the province of Babal: Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad; these men, O king, have not regarded you: they don't serve your gods, nor worship the golden image which you have set up.¹⁶ Then Nabawakadaraatzar in [his] rage and fury commanded to bring Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad. Then they brought these men before the king.¹⁷ Nabawakadaraatzar answered them, Is it on purpose, Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, that you don't serve my god, nor worship the golden image which I have set up?¹⁸ Now if you are ready whenever you hear the sound of the horn, flute, zither, lyre, harp, pipe, and all kinds of music to you fall down and worship the image which I have made, [well]: but if you don't worship, you shall be cast the same hour into the midst of a burning fiery furnace; and who is that god that shall deliver you out of my hands?¹⁹ Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad answered the king, Nabawakadaraatzar, we have no need to answer you in this matter.²⁰ If it be [so], our Alahayam whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace; and he will deliver us out of your hand, O king.²¹ But if not, be it known to you, O king, that we will not serve your gods, nor worship the golden image which you have set up.²² Then was Nabawakadaraatzar full of fury, and the form of his visage was changed against Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad: [therefore] he spoke, and commanded that they should heat the furnace seven times more than it was wont to be heated.²³ He commanded certain mighty men who were in his army to bind Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, [and] to cast them into the burning fiery furnace.²⁴ Then these men were bound in their pants, their tunics, and their mantles, and their [other] garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.²⁵ Therefore because the king's commandment was urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the flame of the fire killed those men who took up Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad.²⁶ These three men, Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace.²⁷ Then Nabawakadaraatzar the king was astonished, and rose up in haste: he spoke and said to his counselors, Didn't we cast three men bound into the midst of the fire? They answered the king, True, O king.²⁸ He answered, Look, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt; and the aspect of the fourth is like a son of the gods.²⁹ Then Nabawakadaraatzar came near to the mouth of the burning fiery furnace: he spoke and said, Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, you servants of the Ilayawan Alahayam, come forth, and come here. Then Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad came forth out of the midst of the fire.³⁰ The satraps, the deputies, and the governors, and the king's counselors, being gathered together, saw these men, that the fire had no power on their bodies, nor was the hair of their head singed, neither were their pants changed, nor had the smell of fire passed on them.³¹ Nabawakadaraatzar spoke and said, Blessed be the Alahayam of Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, who has sent his angel, and delivered his servants who trusted in him, and have changed the king's word, and have yielded their bodies, that they might not serve nor worship any god, except their own Alahayam.³² Therefore I make a decree, that every people, nation, and language, which speak anything amiss against the Alahayam of Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad, shall be cut in pieces, and their houses shall be made a dunghill; because there is no other god who is able to deliver after this sort.³³ Then the king promoted Shadarak, Meshach, and Ibad in the province of Babal.

² It has seemed good to me to show the signs and wonders that the Ilayawan Alahayam has worked toward me. ³ How great are his signs! and how mighty are his wonders! his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and his dominion is from generation to generation. ⁴ I, Nabawakadaraatzar, was at rest in my house, and flourishing in my palace. ⁵ I saw a dream which made me afraid; and the thoughts on my bed and the visions of my head troubled me. ⁶ Therefore made I a decree to bring in all the wise men of Babal before me, that they might make known to me the interpretation of the dream. ⁷ Then came in the magicians, the enchanters, the Kashadayam, and the soothsayers; and I told the dream before them; but they did not make known to me the interpretation of it. ⁸ But at the last Dan came in before me, whose name was Balatashaatzar, according to the name of my god, and in whom is the spirit of the holy gods: and I told the dream before him, [saying], ⁹ Balatashaatzar, master of the magicians, because I know that the spirit of the holy gods is in you, and no secret troubles you, tell me the visions of my dream that I have seen, and the interpretation of it. ¹⁰ Thus were the visions of my head on my bed: I saw, and, behold, a tree in the midst of the earth; and the height of it was great. ¹¹ The tree grew, and was strong, and the height of it reached to the sky, and the sight of it to the end of all the earth. ¹² The leaves of it were beautiful, and the fruit of it much, and in it was food for all: the animals of the field had shadow under it, and the birds of the sky lived in the branches of it, and all flesh was fed from it. ¹³ I saw in the visions of my head on my bed, and, behold, a watcher and a holy one came down from the sky. ¹⁴ He cried aloud, and said thus, Hew down the tree, and cut off its branches, shake off its leaves, and scatter its fruit: let the animals get away from under it, and the fowls from its branches. ¹⁵ Nevertheless leave the stump of its roots in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field; and let it be wet with the dew of the sky: and let his portion be with the animals in the grass of the earth: ¹⁶ let his heart be changed from man's, and let a animal's heart be given to him; and let seven times pass over him. ¹⁷ The sentence is by the decree of the watchers, and the demand by the word of the holy ones; to the intent that the living may know that the Ilayawan rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whoever he will, and sets up over it the lowest of men. ¹⁸ This dream I, king Nabawakadaraatzar, have seen; and you, Balatashaatzar, declare the interpretation, because all the wise men of my kingdom are not able to make known to me the interpretation; but you are able; for the spirit of the holy gods is in you. ¹⁹ Then Dan, whose name was Balatashaatzar, was stricken mute for a while, and his thoughts troubled him. The king answered, Balatashaatzar, don't let the dream, or the interpretation, trouble you. Balatashaatzar answered, My lord, the dream be to those who hate you, and the interpretation of it to your adversaries. ²⁰ The tree that you saw, which grew, and was strong, whose height reached to the sky, and the sight of it to all the earth; ²¹ whose leaves were beautiful, and the fruit of it much, and in it was food for all; under which the animals of the field lived, and on whose branches the birds of the sky had their habitation: ²² it is you, O king, that are grown and become strong; for your greatness is grown, and reaches to the sky, and your dominion to the end of the earth. ²³ Whereas the king saw a watcher and a holy one coming down from the sky, and saying, Hew down the tree, and destroy it; nevertheless leave the stump of the roots of it in the earth, even with a band of iron and brass, in the tender grass of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of the sky: and let his portion be with the animals of the field, until seven times pass over him; ²⁴ this is the interpretation, O king, and it is the decree of the Ilayawan, which is come on my lord the king: ²⁵ that you shall be driven from men, and your dwelling shall be with the animals of the field, and you shall be made to eat grass as oxen, and shall be wet with the dew of the sky, and seven times shall pass over you; until you know that the Ilayawan rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whoever he will. ²⁶ Whereas they commanded to leave the stump of the roots of the tree; your kingdom shall be sure to you, after that you shall have known that the heavens do rule. ²⁷ Therefore, O king, let my counsel be acceptable to you, and break off your sins by righteousness, and your iniquities by showing mercy to the poor; if there may be a lengthening of your tranquillity. ²⁸ All this came on the king Nabawakadaraatzar. ²⁹ At the end of twelve months he was walking in the royal palace of Babal. ³⁰ The king spoke and said, Is not this great Babal, which I have built for the royal dwelling-place, by the might of my power and for the glory of my majesty? ³¹ While the word was in the king's mouth, there fell a voice from the sky, [saying], O king Nabawakadaraatzar, to you it is spoken: The kingdom is departed from you: ³² and you shall be driven from men; and they dwelling shall be with the animals of the field; you shall be made to eat grass as oxen; and seven times shall pass over you; until you know that the Ilayawan rules in the kingdom of men, and gives it to whoever he will. ³³ The same hour was the thing fulfilled on Nabawakadaraatzar: and he was driven from men, and ate grass as oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the sky, until his hair was grown like eagles' [feathers], and his nails like birds' [claws]. ³⁴ At the end of the days I, Nabawakadaraatzar, lifted up my eyes to heaven, and my understanding returned to me, and I blessed the Ilayawan, and I praised and honored him who lives forever; for his dominion is an everlasting dominion, and his kingdom from generation to generation.

5 Balashaatzar the king made a great feast to a thousand of his lords, and drank wine before the thousand. ² Balashaatzar, while he tasted the wine, commanded to bring the golden and silver vessels which Nabawakadaraatzar his father had taken out of the temple which was in Yarawashalam; that the king and his lords, his wives and his concubines, might drink therefrom. ³ Then they brought the golden vessels that were taken out of the temple of the house of Alahayam which was at Yarawashalam; and the king and his lords, his wives and his concubines, drank from them. ⁴ They drank wine, and praised the gods of gold, and of silver, of brass, of iron, of wood, and of stone. ⁵ In the same hour came forth the fingers of a man's hand, and wrote over against the lampstand on the plaster of the wall of the king's palace: and the king saw the part of the hand that wrote. ⁶ Then the king's face was changed in him, and his thoughts troubled him; and the joints of his loins were loosed, and his knees struck one against another. ⁷ The king cried aloud to bring in the enchanters, the Kashadayam, and the soothsayers. The king spoke and said to the wise men of Babal, Whoever shall read this writing, and show me the interpretation of it, shall be clothed with purple, and have a chain of gold about his neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom. ⁸ Then came in all the king's wise men; but they could not read the writing, nor make known to the king the interpretation. ⁹ Then was king Balashaatzar greatly troubled, and his face was changed in him, and his lords were perplexed. ¹⁰ [Now] the queen by reason of the words of the king and his lords came into the banquet house: the queen spoke and said, O king, live forever; don't let your thoughts trouble you, nor let your face be changed. ¹¹ There is a man in your kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy gods; and in the days of your father light and understanding and wisdom, like the wisdom of the gods, were found in him; and the king Nabawakadaraatzar your father, the king, [I say], your father, made him master of the magicians, enchanters, Kashadayam, and soothsayers; ¹² because an excellent spirit, and knowledge, and understanding, interpreting of dreams, and showing of dark sentences, and dissolving of doubts, were found in the same Dan, whom the king named Balatashaatzar. Now let Dan be called, and he will show the interpretation. ¹³ Then was Dan brought in before the king. The king spoke and said to Dan, Are you that Dan, who are of the children of the captivity of Yahawadah, whom the king my father brought out of Yahawadah? ¹⁴ I have heard of you, that the spirit of the gods is in you, and that light and understanding and excellent wisdom are found in you. ¹⁵ Now the wise men, the enchanters, have been brought in before me, that they should read this writing, and make known to me the interpretation of it; but they could not show the interpretation of the thing. ¹⁶ But I have heard of you, that you can give interpretations, and dissolve doubts; now if you can read the writing, and make known to me the interpretation of it, you shall be clothed with purple, and have a chain of gold about your neck, and shall be the third ruler in the kingdom.¹⁷ Then Dan answered before the king, Let your gifts be to yourself, and give your rewards to another; nevertheless I will read the writing to the king, and make known to him the interpretation.¹⁸ You king, the Ilayawan Alahayam gave Nabawakadaraatzar your father the kingdom, and greatness, and glory, and majesty:¹⁹ and because of the greatness that he gave him, all the peoples, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him: whom he would he killed, and whom he would he kept alive; and whom he would he raised up, and whom he would he put down.²⁰ But when his heart was lifted up, and his spirit was hardened so that he dealt proudly, he was deposed from his kingly throne, and they took his glory from him:²¹ and he was driven from the sons of men, and his heart was made like the animals', and his dwelling was with the wild donkeys; he was fed with grass like oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of the sky; until he knew that the Ilayawan Alahayam rules in the kingdom of men, and that he sets up over it whoever he will.²² You his son, Balashaatzar, have not humbled your heart, though you knew all this,²³ but have lifted up yourself against the Adanay of heaven; and they have brought the vessels of his house before you, and you and your lords, your wives and your concubines, have drunk wine from them; and you have praised the gods of silver and gold, of brass, iron, wood, and stone, which don't see, nor hear, nor know; and the Alahayam in whose hand your breath is, and whose are all your ways, you have not glorified.²⁴ Then was the part of the hand sent from before him, and this writing was inscribed.²⁵ This is the writing that was inscribed: MENE, MENE, TEKEL, UPHARSIN.²⁶ This is the interpretation of the thing: MENE; Alahayam has numbered your kingdom, and brought it to an end;²⁷ TEKEL; you are weighed in the balances, and are found wanting.²⁸ PERES; your kingdom is divided, and given to the Maday and Paras.²⁹ Then commanded Balashaatzar, and they clothed Dan with purple, and put a chain of gold about his neck, and made proclamation concerning him, that he should be the third ruler in the kingdom.³⁰ In that night Balashaatzar the Chaldean King was slain.

6 It pleased Darayawash to set over the kingdom one hundred twenty satraps, who should be throughout the whole kingdom;³ and over them three presidents, of whom Dan was one; that these satraps might give account to them, and that the king should have no damage.⁴ Then this Dan was distinguished above the presidents and the satraps, because an excellent spirit was in him; and the king thought to set him over the whole realm.⁵ Then the presidents and the satraps sought to find occasion against Dan as touching the kingdom; but they could find no occasion nor fault, because he was faithful, neither was there any error or fault found in him.⁶ Then said these men, We shall not find any occasion against this Dan, except we find it against him concerning the law of his Alahayam.⁷ Then these presidents and satraps assembled together to the king, and said thus to him, King Darayawash, live forever.⁸ All the presidents of the kingdom, the deputies and the satraps, the counselors and the governors, have consulted together to establish a royal statute, and to make a strong interdict, that whoever shall ask a petition of any god or man for thirty days, save of you, O king, he shall be cast into the den of lions.⁹ Now, O king, establish the interdict, and sign the writing, that it not be changed, according to the law of the Maday and Paras, which doesn't alter.¹⁰ Therefore king Darayawash signed the writing and the interdict.¹¹ When Dan knew that the writing was signed, he went into his house (now his windows were open in his chamber toward Yarawashalam) and he kneeled on his knees three times a day, and prayed, and gave thanks before his Alahayam, as he did before.¹² Then these men assembled together, and found Dan making petition and supplication before his Alahayam.¹³ Then they came near, and spoke before the king concerning the king's interdict: Haven't you signed an interdict, that every man who shall make petition to any god or man within thirty days, save to you, O king, shall be cast into the den of lions?

The king answered, The thing is true, according to the law of the Maday and Paras, which doesn't alter.¹⁴ Then answered they and said before the king, That Dan, who is of the children of the captivity of Yahawadah, doesn't regard you, O king, nor the interdict that you have signed, but makes his petition three times a day.¹⁵ Then the king, when he heard these words, was sore displeased, and set his heart on Dan to deliver him; and he labored until the going down of the sun to rescue him.¹⁶ Then these men assembled together to the king, and said to the king, Know, O king, that it is a law of the Maday and Paras, that no interdict nor statute which the king establishes may be changed.¹⁷ Then the king commanded, and they brought Dan, and cast him into the den of lions. [Now] the king spoke and said to Dan, Your Alahayam whom you serve continually, he will deliver you.¹⁸ A stone was brought, and laid on the mouth of the den; and the king sealed it with his own signet, and with the signet of his lords; that nothing might be changed concerning Dan.¹⁹ Then the king went to his palace, and passed the night fasting; neither were instruments of music brought before him: and his sleep fled from him.²⁰ Then the king arose very early in the morning, and went in haste to the den of lions.²¹ When he came near to the den to Dan, he cried with a lamentable voice; the king spoke and said to Dan, Dan, servant of the living Alahayam, is your Alahayam, whom you serve continually, able to deliver you from the lions?²² Then said Dan to the king, O king, live forever.²³ My Alahayam has sent his angel, and has shut the lions' mouths, and they have not hurt me; because as before him innocence was found in me; and also before you, O king, have I done no hurt.²⁴ Then was the king exceeding glad, and commanded that they should take Dan up out of the den. So Dan was taken up out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found on him, because he had trusted in his Alahayam.²⁵ The king commanded, and they brought those men who had accused Dan, and they cast them into the den of lions, them, their children, and their wives; and the lions had the mastery of them, and broke all their bones in pieces, before they came to the bottom of the den.²⁶ Then king Darayawash wrote to all the peoples, nations, and languages, who dwell in all the earth: Peace be multiplied to you.²⁷ I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdom men tremble and fear before the Alahayam of Dan; for he is the living Alahayam, and steadfast forever, His kingdom that which shall not be destroyed; and his dominion shall be even to the end.²⁸ He delivers and rescues, and he works signs and wonders in heaven and in earth, who has delivered Dan from the power of the lions.²⁹ So this Dan prospered in the reign of Darayawash, and in the reign of Kwarash the Persian.

7 In the first year of Balashaatzar king of Babal Dan had a dream and visions of his head on his bed: then he wrote the dream and told the sum of the matters.² Dan spoke and said, I saw in my vision by night, and, behold, the four winds of the sky broke forth on the great sea.³ Four great animals came up from the sea, diverse one from another.⁴ The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings: I saw until the wings of it were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made to stand on two feet as a man; and a man's heart was given to it.⁵ Behold, another animal, a second, like a bear; and it was raised up on one side, and three ribs were in its mouth between its teeth: and they said thus to it, Arise, devour much flesh.⁶ After this I saw, and, behold, another, like a leopard, which had on its back four wings of a bird; the animal had also four heads; and dominion was given to it.⁷ After this I saw in the night-visions, and, behold, a fourth animal, awesome and powerful, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth; it devoured and broke in pieces, and stamped the residue with its feet: and it was diverse from all the animals that were before it; and it had ten horns.⁸ I considered the horns, and, behold, there came up among them another horn, a little one, before which three of the first horns were plucked up by the roots: and, behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of a man, and a mouth speaking great things.⁹ I saw until thrones were placed, and one who was ancient of days sat: his clothing was white as snow, and the hair of his head like pure wool; his throne was fiery flames, [and] the wheels of it burning fire.¹⁰ A fiery stream issued and came forth from before him: thousands of thousands ministered to him, and ten thousand times ten thousand stood before him: the judgment was set, and the books were opened.¹¹ I saw at that time because of the voice of the great words which the horn spoke; I saw even until the animal was slain, and its body destroyed, and it was given to be burned with fire.¹² As for the rest of the animals, their dominion was taken away: yet their lives were prolonged for a season and a time.¹³ I saw in the night-visions, and, behold, there came with the clouds of the sky one like a son of man, and he came even to the ancient of days, and they brought him near before him.¹⁴ There was given him dominion, and glory, and a kingdom, that all the peoples, nations, and languages should serve him: his dominion is an everlasting dominion, which shall not pass away, and his kingdom that which shall not be destroyed.¹⁵ As for me, Dan, my spirit was grieved in the midst of my body, and the visions of my head troubled me.¹⁶ I came near to one of those who stood by, and asked him the truth concerning all this. So he told me, and made me know the interpretation of the things.¹⁷ These great animals, which are four, are four kings, who shall arise out of the earth.¹⁸ But the saints of the Ilayawan shall receive the kingdom, and possess the kingdom forever, even forever and ever.¹⁹ Then I desired to know the truth concerning the fourth animal, which was diverse from all of them, exceedingly terrible, whose teeth were of iron, and its nails of brass; which devoured, broke in pieces, and stamped the residue with its feet;²⁰ and concerning the ten horns that were on its head, and the other [horn] which came up, and before which three fell, even that horn that had eyes, and a mouth that spoke great things, whose look was more stout than its fellows.²¹ I saw, and the same horn made war with the saints, and prevailed against them;²² until the ancient of days came, and judgment was given to the saints of the Ilayawan, and the time came that the saints possessed the kingdom.²³ Thus he said, The fourth animal shall be a fourth kingdom on earth, which shall be diverse from all the kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces.²⁴ As for the ten horns, out of this kingdom shall ten kings arise: and another shall arise after them; and he shall be diverse from the former, and he shall put down three kings.²⁵ He shall speak words against the Ilayawan, and shall wear out the saints of the Ilayawan; and he shall think to change the times and the law; and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and half a time.²⁶ But the judgment shall be set, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and to destroy it to the end.²⁷ The kingdom and the dominion, and the greatness of the kingdoms under the whole sky, shall be given to the people of the saints of the Ilayawan: his kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him.²⁸ Here is the end of the matter. As for me, Dan, my thoughts much troubled me, and my face was changed in me: but I kept the matter in my heart.

8 In the third year of the reign of king Balashaatzar a vision appeared to me, even to me, Dan, after that which appeared to me at the first.² I saw in the vision; now it was so, that when I saw, I was in Shawashan the palace, which is in the province of Iyalam; and I saw in the vision, and I was by the river Awalay.³ Then I lifted up my eyes, and saw, and, behold, there stood before the river a ram which had two horns: and the two horns were high; but one was higher than the other, and the higher came up last.⁴ I saw the ram pushing westward, and northward, and southward; and no animals could stand before him, neither was there any who could deliver out of his hand; but he did according to his will, and magnified himself.⁵ As I was considering, behold, a male goat came from the west over the surface of the whole earth, and didn't touch the ground: and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes.⁶ He came to the ram that had the two horns, which I saw standing before the river, and ran on him in the fury of his power.⁷ I saw him come close to the ram, and he was moved with anger against him, and struck the ram, and broke his two horns; and there was no power in the ram to stand before him; but he cast him down to the ground, and trampled on him; and there was none who could deliver the ram out of his hand.⁸ The male goat magnified himself exceedingly: and when he was strong, the great horn was broken; and instead of it there came up four notable [horns] toward the four winds of the sky.⁹ Out of one of them came forth a little horn, which grew exceeding great, toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the glorious [land].¹⁰ It grew great, even to the host of the sky; and some of the host and of the stars it cast down to the ground, and trampled on them.¹¹ Yes, it magnified itself, even to the prince of the host; and it took away from him the continual [burnt offering], and the place of his sanctuary was cast down.¹² The host was given over [to it] together with the continual [burnt offering] through disobedience; and it cast down truth to the ground, and it did [its pleasure] and prospered.¹³ Then I heard a holy one speaking; and another holy one said to that certain one who spoke, How long shall be the vision [concerning] the continual [burnt-offering], and the disobedience that makes desolate, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot?¹⁴ He said to me, To two thousand and three hundred evenings [and] mornings; then shall the sanctuary be cleansed.¹⁵ It happened, when I, even I Dan, had seen the vision, that I sought to understand it; and, behold, there stood before me as the appearance of a man.¹⁶ I heard a man's voice between [the banks of] the Awalay, which called, and said, Gabarayaal, make this man to understand the vision.¹⁷ So he came near where I stood; and when he came, I was frightened, and fell on my face: but he said to me, Understand, son of man; for the vision belongs to the time of the end.¹⁸ Now as he was speaking with me, I fell into a deep sleep with my face toward the ground; but he touched me, and set me upright.¹⁹ He said, Behold, I will make you know what shall be in the latter time of the indignation; for it belongs to the appointed time of the end.²⁰ The ram which you saw, that had the two horns, they are the kings of Maday and Paras.²¹ The rough male goat is the king of Greece: and the great horn that is between his eyes is the first king.²² As for that which was broken, in the place whereof four stood up, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not with his power.²³ In the latter time of their kingdom, when the transgressors are come to the full, a king of fierce face, and understanding dark sentences, shall stand up.²⁴ His power shall be mighty, but not by his own power; and he shall destroy wonderfully, and shall prosper and do [his pleasure]; and he shall destroy the mighty ones and the holy people.²⁵ Through his policy he shall cause craft to prosper in his hand; and he shall magnify himself in his heart, and in [their] security shall he destroy many: he shall also stand up against the prince of princes; but he shall be broken without hand.²⁶ The vision of the evenings and mornings which has been told is true: but shut you up the vision; for it belongs to many days [to come].²⁷ I, Dan, fainted, and was sick certain days; then I rose up, and did the king's business: and I wondered at the vision, but none understood it.

9 In the first year of Darayawash the son of Achashawarawash, of the seed of the Maday, who was made king over the realm of the Kashadayam,² in the first year of his reign I, Dan, understood by the books the number of the years whereof the word of Yahawah came to Yaramayahaw the prophet, for the accomplishing of the desolations of Yarawashalam, even seventy years.³ I set my face to the Adanay Alahayam, to seek by prayer and petitions, with fasting and sackcloth and ashes.⁴ I prayed to Yahawah my Alahayam, and made confession, and said, Oh, Adanay, the great and dreadful Alahayam, who keeps covenant and lovingkindness with those who love him and keep his commandments,⁵ we have sinned, and have dealt perversely, and have done wickedly, and have rebelled, even turning aside from your precepts and from your ordinances;⁶ neither have we listened to your servants the prophets, who spoke in your name to our kings, our princes, and our fathers, and to all the people of the land.⁷ Adanay, righteousness belongs to you, but to us confusion of face, as at this day; to the men of Yahawadah, and to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, and to all Yasharaal, who are near, and who are far off, through all the countries where you have driven them, because of their trespass that they have

trespassed against you.⁸ Adanay, to us belongs confusion of face, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we have sinned against you.⁹ To the Adanay our Alahayam belong mercies and forgiveness; for we have rebelled against him;¹⁰ neither have we obeyed the voice of Yahawah our Alahayam, to walk in his laws, which he set before us by his servants the prophets.¹¹ Yes, all Yasharaal have transgressed your law, even turning aside, that they should not obey your voice: therefore has the curse been poured out on us, and the oath that is written in the law of Mashah the servant of Alahayam; for we have sinned against him.¹² He has confirmed his words, which he spoke against us, and against our judges who judged us, by bringing on us a great evil; for under the whole sky has not been done as has been done on Yarawashalam.¹³ As it is written in the law of Mashah, all this evil is come on us: yet have we not entreated the favor of Yahawah our Alahayam, that we should turn from our iniquities, and have discernment in your truth.¹⁴ Therefore has Yahawah watched over the evil, and brought it on us; for Yahawah our Alahayam is righteous in all his works which he does, and we have not obeyed his voice.¹⁵ Now, Adanay our Alahayam, who has brought your people forth out of the land of Matzarayam with a mighty hand, and have gotten you renown, as at this day; we have sinned, we have done wickedly.¹⁶ Adanay, according to all your righteousness, let your anger and please let your wrath be turned away from your city Yarawashalam, your holy mountain; because for our sins, and for the iniquities of our fathers, Yarawashalam and your people are become a reproach to all who are round about us.¹⁷ Now therefore, our Alahayam, listen to the prayer of your servant, and to his petitions, and cause your face to shine on your sanctuary that is desolate, for the Adanay's sake.¹⁸ My Alahayam, turn your ear, and hear; open your eyes, and see our desolations, and the city which is called by your name: for we do not present our petitions before you for our righteousness, but for your great mercies' sake.¹⁹ Adanay, hear; Adanay, forgive; Adanay, listen and do; don't defer, for your own sake, my Alahayam, because your city and your people are called by your name.²⁰ While I was speaking, and praying, and confessing my sin and the sin of my people Yasharaal, and presenting my supplication before Yahawah my Alahayam for the holy mountain of my Alahayam;²¹ yes, while I was speaking in prayer, the man Gabarayaal, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening offering.²² He instructed me, and talked with me, and said, Dan, I am now come forth to give you wisdom and understanding.²³ At the beginning of your petitions the commandment went forth, and I am come to tell you; for you are greatly beloved: therefore consider the matter, and understand the vision.²⁴ Seventy weeks are decreed on your people and on your holy city, to finish disobedience, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most holy.²⁵ Know therefore and discern, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Yarawashalam to the Anointed One, the prince, shall be seven weeks, and sixty-two weeks: it shall be built again, with street and moat, even in troubled times.²⁶ After the sixty-two weeks the Anointed One shall be cut off, and shall have nothing; and the people of the prince who shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end of it shall be with a flood, and even to the end shall be war; desolations are determined.²⁷ He shall make a firm covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the offering to cease; and on the wing of abominations [shall come] one who makes desolate; and even to the full end, and that determined, shall [wrath] be poured out on the desolate.

10 In the third year of Kawarash king of Paras a thing was revealed to Dan, whose name was called Balatashaatzar; and the thing was true, even a great warfare: and he understood the thing, and had understanding of the vision.² In those days I, Dan, was mourning three whole weeks.³ I ate no pleasant bread, neither came flesh nor wine into my mouth, neither did I anoint myself at all, until three whole weeks were fulfilled.⁴ In the four and twentieth day of the first month, as I was by the side of the great river, which is Chadaqal,⁵ I lifted up my eyes, and looked, and, behold, a man clothed in linen, whose loins were girded with pure gold of Awapaz:⁶ his body also was like the beryl, and his face as the appearance of lightning, and his eyes as flaming torches, and his arms and his feet like burnished brass, and the voice of his words like the voice of a multitude.⁷ I, Dan, alone saw the vision; for the men who were with me didn't see the vision; but a great quaking fell on them, and they fled to hide themselves.⁸ So I was left alone, and saw this great vision, and there remained no strength in me; for my comeliness was turned in me into corruption, and I retained no strength.⁹ Yet heard I the voice of his words; and when I heard the voice of his words, then was I fallen into a deep sleep on my face, with my face toward the ground.¹⁰ Behold, a hand touched me, which set me on my knees and on the palms of my hands.¹¹ He said to me, Dan, you man greatly beloved, understand the words that I speak to you, and stand upright; for to you am I now sent. When he had spoken this word to me, I stood trembling.¹² Then said he to me, Don't be afraid, Dan; for from the first day that you did set your heart to understand, and to humble yourself before your Alahayam, your words were heard: and I am come for your words' sake.¹³ But the prince of the kingdom of Paras withstood me twenty-one days; but, behold, Mayakaal, one of the chief princes, came to help me: and I remained there with the kings of Paras.¹⁴ Now I am come to make you understand what shall befall your people in the latter days; for the vision is yet for [many] days:¹⁵ and when he had spoken to me according to these words, I set my face toward the ground, and was mute.¹⁶ Behold, one in the likeness of the sons of men touched my lips: then I opened my mouth, and spoke and said to him who stood before me, my lord, by reason of the vision my sorrows are turned on me, and I retain no strength.¹⁷ For how can the servant of this my lord talk with this my lord? for as for me, immediately there remained no strength in me, neither was there breath left in me.¹⁸ Then there touched me again one like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.¹⁹ He said, "Greatly beloved man, don't be afraid: peace be to you, be strong, yes, be strong." When he spoke to me, I was strengthened, and said, "Let my lord speak; for you have strengthened me."²⁰ Then he said, "Do you know why I have come to you? Now I will return to fight with the prince of Paras. When I go forth, behold, the prince of Greece shall come.²¹ But I will tell you that which is inscribed in the writing of truth: and there is none who holds with me against these, but Mayakaal your prince."

11 "As for me, in the first year of Darayawash the Mede, I stood up to confirm and strengthen him.² Now will I show you the truth. Behold, there shall stand up yet three kings in Paras; and the fourth shall be far richer than they all: and when he has grown strong through his riches, he shall stir up all against the realm of Greece.³ A mighty king shall stand up, who shall rule with great dominion, and do according to his will.⁴ When he shall stand up, his kingdom shall be broken, and shall be divided toward the four winds of the sky, but not to his posterity, nor according to his dominion with which he ruled; for his kingdom shall be plucked up, even for others besides these.⁵ The king of the south shall be strong, and [one] of his princes; and he shall be strong above him, and have dominion; his dominion shall be a great dominion.⁶ At the end of years they shall join themselves together; and the daughter of the king of the south shall come to the king of the north to make an agreement: but she shall not retain the strength of her arm; neither shall he stand, nor his arm; but she shall be given up, and those who brought her, and he who became the father of her, and he who strengthened her in those times.⁷ But out of a shoot from her roots shall one stand up in his place, who shall come to the army, and shall enter into the fortress of the king of the north, and shall deal against them, and shall prevail.⁸ Also their gods, with their molten images, [and] with their goodly vessels of silver and of gold, shall he carry captive into Matzarayam; and he shall refrain some years from the king of the north.⁹ He shall come into the realm of the king of the south, but he shall return into his own land.¹⁰ His sons shall war, and shall assemble a multitude of great forces, which shall come on, and overflow, and pass through; and they shall return and war, even to his fortress.¹¹ The king of the south shall be moved with anger, and shall come forth and fight with him, even with the king of the north; and he shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall be given into his hand.¹² The multitude shall be lifted up, and his heart shall be exalted; and he shall cast down tens of thousands, but he shall not prevail.¹³ The king of the north shall return, and shall set forth a multitude greater than the former; and he shall come on at the end of the times, [even of] years, with a great army and with much substance.¹⁴ In those times there shall many stand up against the king of the south: also the children of the violent among your people shall lift themselves up to establish the vision; but they shall fall.¹⁵ So the king of the north shall come, and cast up a mound, and take a well-fortified city: and the forces of the south shall not stand, neither his chosen people, neither shall there be any strength to stand.¹⁶ But he who comes against him shall do according to his own will, and none shall stand before him; and he shall stand in the glorious land, and in his hand shall be destruction.¹⁷ He shall set his face to come with the strength of his whole kingdom, and with him equitable conditions; and he shall perform them: and he shall give him the daughter of women, to corrupt her; but she shall not stand, neither be for him.¹⁸ After this shall he turn his face to the isles, and shall take many: but a prince shall cause the reproach offered by him to cease; yes, moreover, he shall cause his reproach to turn on him.¹⁹ Then he shall turn his face toward the fortresses of his own land; but he shall stumble and fall, and shall not be found.²⁰ Then shall stand up in his place one who shall cause a tax collector to pass through the kingdom to maintain its glory; but within few days he shall be destroyed, neither in anger, nor in battle.²¹ In his place shall stand up a contemptible person, to whom they had not given the honor of the kingdom: but he shall come in time of security, and shall obtain the kingdom by flatteries.²² The overwhelming forces shall be overwhelmed from before him, and shall be broken; yes, also the prince of the covenant.²³ After the league made with him he shall work deceitfully; for he shall come up, and shall become strong, with a small people.²⁴ In time of security shall he come even on the fattest places of the province; and he shall do that which his fathers have not done, nor his fathers' fathers; he shall scatter among them prey, and spoil, and substance; yes, he shall devise his devices against the strongholds, even for a time.²⁵ He shall stir up his power and his courage against the king of the south with a great army; and the king of the south shall war in battle with an exceeding great and mighty army; but he shall not stand; for they shall devise devices against him.²⁶ Yes, they who eat of his dainties shall destroy him, and his army shall overflow; and many shall fall down slain.²⁷ As for both these kings, their hearts shall be to do mischief, and they shall speak lies at one table: but it shall not prosper; for yet the end shall be at the time appointed.²⁸ Then shall he return into his land with great substance; and his heart [shall be] against the holy covenant; and he shall do [his pleasure], and return to his own land.²⁹ At the time appointed he shall return, and come into the south; but it shall not be in the latter time as it was in the former.³⁰ For ships of Kathayam shall come against him; therefore he shall be grieved, and shall return, and have indignation against the holy covenant, and shall do [his pleasure]: he shall even return, and have regard to those who forsake the holy covenant.³¹ Forces shall stand on his part, and they shall profane the sanctuary, even the fortress, and shall take away the continual [burnt offering], and they shall set up the abomination that makes desolate.³² Such as do wickedly against the covenant shall he pervert by flatteries; but the people who know their Alahayam shall be strong, and do [exploits].³³ Those who are wise among the people shall instruct many; yet they shall fall by the sword and by flame, by captivity and by spoil, [many] days.³⁴ Now when they shall fall, they shall be helped with a little help; but many shall join themselves to them with flatteries.³⁵ Some of those who are wise shall fall, to refine them, and to purify, and to make them white, even to the time of the end; because it is yet for the time appointed.³⁶ The king shall do according to his will; and he shall exalt himself, and magnify himself above every god, and shall speak marvelous things against the Alahayam of gods; and he shall prosper until the indignation be accomplished; for that which is determined shall be done.³⁷ Neither shall he regard the gods of his fathers, nor the desire of women, nor regard any god; for he shall magnify himself above all.³⁸ But in his place shall he honor the god of fortresses; and a god whom his fathers didn't know shall he honor with gold, and silver, and with precious stones, and pleasant things.³⁹ He shall deal with the strongest fortresses by the help of a foreign god: whoever acknowledges [him] he will increase with glory; and he shall cause them to rule over many, and shall divide the land for a price.⁴⁰ At the time of the end shall the king of the south contend with him; and the king of the north shall come against him like a whirlwind, with chariots, and with horsemen, and with many ships; and he shall enter into the countries, and shall overflow and pass through.⁴¹ He shall enter also into the glorious land, and many [countries] shall be overthrown; but these shall be delivered out of his hand: Adawam, and Mawaab, and the chief of the children of Imawan.⁴² He shall stretch forth his hand also on the countries; and the land of Matzarayam shall not escape.⁴³ But he shall have power over the treasures of gold and of silver, and over all the precious things of Matzarayam; and the Libyans and the Ethiopians shall be at his steps.⁴⁴ But news out of the east and out of the north shall trouble him; and he shall go forth with great fury to destroy and utterly to sweep away many.⁴⁵ He shall plant the tents of his palace between the sea and the glorious holy mountain; yet he shall come to his end, and none shall help him.

12 "At that time shall Mayakaal stand up, the great prince who stands for the children of your people; and there shall be a time of trouble, such as never was since there was a nation even to that same time: and at that time your people shall be delivered, everyone who shall be found written in the book.² Many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth shall awake, some to everlasting life, and some to shame and everlasting contempt.³ Those who are wise shall shine as the brightness of the expanse; and those who turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever.⁴ But you, Dan, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run back and forth, and knowledge shall be increased."⁵ Then I, Dan, looked, and, behold, there stood other two, the one on the brink of the river on this side, and the other on the brink of the river on that side.⁶ One said to the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, How long shall it be to the end of these wonders? ⁷ I heard the man clothed in linen, who was above the waters of the river, when he held up his right hand and his left hand to heaven, and swore by him who lives forever that it shall be for a time, times, and a half; and when they have made an end of breaking in pieces the power of the holy people, all these things shall be finished.⁸ I heard, but I didn't understand: then said I, my lord, what shall be the issue of these things? ⁹ He said, Go your way, Dan; for the words are shut up and sealed until the time of the end.¹⁰ Many shall purify themselves, and make themselves white, and be refined; but the wicked shall do wickedly; and none of the wicked shall understand; but those who are wise shall understand.¹¹ From the time that the continual [burnt offering] shall be taken away, and the abomination that makes desolate set up, there shall be one thousand two hundred ninety days.¹² Blessed is he who waits, and comes to the one thousand three hundred thirty-five days.¹³ But go you your way until the end be; for you shall rest, and shall stand in your lot, at the end of the days.

Susanna

garden doors, and sent the maids away. ³⁷ Then a young man, who there was hid, came to her, and lay with her. ³⁸ Then we that stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickedness, ran to them. ³⁹ And when we saw them together, the man we could not hold: for he was stronger than we, and opened the door, and leaped out. ⁴⁰ But having taken this woman, we asked who the young man was, but she would not tell us: these things do we testify. ⁴¹ Then the assembly believed them as those that were the elders and judges of the people: so they condemned her to death. ⁴² Then Susanna cried out with a loud voice, and said, O everlasting Alahayam, that know the secrets, and know all things before they be: ⁴³ You know that they have borne false witness against me, and, behold, I must die; whereas I never did such things as these men have maliciously invented against me. ⁴⁴ And the Adanay heard her voice. ⁴⁵ Therefore when she was led to be put to death, the Adanay raised up the holy spirit of a young youth whose name was Wadan: ⁴⁶ Who cried with a loud voice, I am clear from the blood of this woman. ⁴⁷ Then all the people turned them toward him, and said, What mean these words that you have spoken? ⁴⁸ So he standing in the midst of them said, Are you such fools, you sons of Yasharaal, that without examination or knowledge of the truth you have condemned a daughter of Yasharaal? ⁴⁹ Return again to the place of judgment: for they have borne false witness against her. ⁵⁰ Therefore all the people turned again in haste, and the elders said to him, Come, sit down among us, and show it us, seeing Alahayam has given you the honour of an elder. ⁵¹ Then said Wadan to them, Pawat these two aside one far from another, and I will examine them. ⁵² So when they were put asunder one from another, he called one of them, and said to him, O you that art waxen old in wickedness, now your sins which you have committed aforetime are come to light. ⁵³ For you have pronounced false judgment and have condemned the innocent and have let the guilty go free; albeit the Adanay says, The innocent and righteous shall you not slay. ⁵⁴ Now then, if you have seen her, tell me, Under what tree saw you them companying together? Who answered, Under a mastick tree. ⁵⁵ And Wadan said, Very well; you have lied against your own head; for even now the angel of Alahayam has received the sentence of Alahayam to cut you in two. ⁵⁶ So he put him aside, and commanded to bring the other, and said to him, O you seed of Chanaan, and not of Juda, beauty has deceived you, and lust has perverted your heart. ⁵⁷ Thus have you dealt with the daughters of Yasharaal, and they for fear companied with you: but the daughter of Juda would not abide your wickedness. ⁵⁸ Now therefore tell me, Under what tree did you take them companying together? Who answered, Under an holm tree. ⁵⁹ Then said Wadan to him, Well; you have also lied against your own head: for the angel of Alahayam waits with the sword to cut you in two, that he may destroy you. ⁶⁰ With that all the assembly cried out with a loud voice, and praised Alahayam, who saves them that trust in him. ⁶¹ And they arose against the two elders, for Wadan had convicted them of false witness by their own mouth: ⁶² And according to the law of Mashah they did to them in such sort as they maliciously intended to do to their neighbour: and they put them to death. Thus the innocent blood was saved the same day. ⁶³ Therefore Chelcias and his wife praised Alahayam for their daughter Susanna, with Joacim her husband, and all the kindred, because there was no dishonesty found in her. ⁶⁴ From that day forth was Wadan had in great reputation in the sight of the people.

Bel and the Dragon

1 And king Astyages was gathered to his fathers, and Kawayash of Paras received his kingdom. ² And Wadan conversed with the king, and was honoured above all his friends. ³ Now the Babylons had an idol, called Bal, and there were spent upon him every day twelve great measures of fine flour, and forty sheep, and six vessels of wine. ⁴ And the king worshipped it and went daily to adore it: but Wadan worshipped his own Alahayam. And the king said to him, Why do not you worship Bal? ⁵ Who answered and said, Because I may not worship idols made with hands, but the living Alahayam, who has created the heaven and the earth, and has sovereignty over all flesh. ⁶ Then said the king to him, Think you not that Bal is a living Alahayam? see you not how much he eats and drinks every day? ⁷ Then Wadan smiled, and said, O king, be not deceived: for this is but clay within, and brass without, and did never eat or drink any thing. ⁸ So the king was wrath, and called for his priests, and said to them, If you tell me not who this is that devours these expences, you shall die. ⁹ But if you can certify me that Bal devours them, then Wadan shall die: for he has spoken blasphemy against Bal. And Wadan said to the king, Let it be according to your word.

¹⁰ Now the priests of Bal were threescore and ten, beside their wives and children. And the king went with Wadan into the temple of Bal. ¹¹ So Bal's priests said, Lo, we go out: but you, O king, set on the meat, and make ready the wine, and shut the door fast and seal it with your own signet; ¹² And to morrow when you come in, if you find not that Bal has eaten up all, we will suffer death: or else Wadan, that speaks falsely against us. ¹³ And they little regarded it: for under the table they had made a privy entrance, whereby they entered in continually, and consumed those things. ¹⁴ So when they were gone forth, the king set meats before Bal. Now Wadan had commanded his servants to bring ashes, and those they strewed throughout all the temple in the presence of the king alone: then went they out, and shut the door, and sealed it with the king's signet, and so departed. ¹⁵ Now in the night came the priests with their wives and children, as they were wont to do, and did eat and drink up all. ¹⁶ In the morning betime the king arose, and Wadan with him. ¹⁷ And the king said, Wadan, are the seals whole? And he said, Yea, O king, they be whole. ¹⁸ And as soon as he had opened the door, the king looked upon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great are you, O Bal, and with you is no deceit at all. ¹⁹ Then laughed Wadan, and held the king that he should not go in, and said, Behold now the pavement, and mark well whose footsteps are these. ²⁰ And the king said, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children. And then the king was angry, ²¹ And took the priests with their wives and children, who showed him the privy doors, where they came in, and consumed such things as were upon the table.

²² Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bal into Wadan's power, who destroyed him and his temple. ²³ And in that same place there was a great dragon, which they of Babal worshipped. ²⁴ And the king said to Wadan, Will you also say that this is of brass? lo, he lives, he eats and drinks; you can not say that he is no living god: therefore worship him. ²⁵ Then said Wadan to the king, I will worship the Adanay my Alahayam: for he is the living Alahayam.

²⁶ But give me leave, O king, and I shall slay this dragon without sword or staff. The king said, I give you leave. ²⁷ Then Wadan took pitch, and fat, and hair, and did seethe them together, and made lumps thereof: this he put in the dragon's mouth, and so the dragon burst in sunder: and Wadan said, Lo, these are the gods you worship. ²⁸ When they of Babal heard that, they took great indignation, and conspired against the king, saying, The king is become a Yahawaday, and he has destroyed Bal, he has slain the dragon, and put the priests to death. ²⁹ So they came to the king, and said, Deliver us Wadan, or else we will destroy you and your house.

³⁰ Now when the king saw that they pressed him sore, being constrained, he delivered Wadan to them: ³¹ Who cast him into the lions' den: where he was six days. ³² And in the den there were seven lions, and they had given them every day two carcasses, and two sheep: which then were not given to them, to the intent they might devour Wadan. ³³ Now there was in Yahawad a prophet, called Habbacuc, who had made pottage, and had broken bread in a bowl, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the reapers.

³⁵ And Habbacuc said, Adanay, I never saw Babal; neither do I know where the den is. ³⁶ Then the angel of the Adanay took him by the crown, and bore him by the hair of his head, and through the vehemency of his spirit set him in Babal over the den. ³⁷ And Habbacuc cried, saying, O Wadan, Wadan, take the dinner which Alahayam has sent you. ³⁸ And Wadan said, You have remembered me, O Alahayam: neither have you forsaken them that seek you and love you. ³⁹ So Wadan arose, and did eat: and the angel of the Adanay set Habbacuc in his own place again immediately. ⁴⁰ Upon the seventh day the king went to bewail Wadan: and when he came to the den, he looked in, and behold, Wadan was sitting. ⁴¹ Then cried the king with a loud voice, saying, Great art Adanay Alahayam of Wadan, and there is none other beside you. ⁴² And he drew him out, and cast those that were the cause of his destruction into the den: and they were devoured in a moment before his face.

Hosea

1 The word of Yahawah that came to Hawashai the son of Baaray, in the days of Izayahaw, Yawatham, Achaz, and Chazaqayahaw, kings of Yahawadah, and in the days of Yarabaim the son of Yawaash, king of Yasharaal. ² When Yahawah spoke at the first by Hawashai, Yahawah said to Hawashai, Go, take to you a wife of prostitution and children of prostitution; for the land does commit great prostitution, [departing] from Yahawah. ³ So he went and took Gamar the daughter of Dabalayam; and she conceived, and bore him a son. ⁴ Yahawah said to him, Call his name Yazaraial; for yet a little while, and I will avenge the blood of Yazaraial on the house of Yahawaa, and will cause the kingdom of the house of Yasharaal to cease. ⁵ It shall happen at that day, that I will break the bow of Yasharaal in the valley of Yazaraial. ⁶ She conceived again, and bore a daughter. [Yahawah] said to him, Call her name Look-Rachamah; for I will no more have mercy on the house of Yasharaal, that I should in any wise pardon them. ⁷ But I will have mercy on the house of Yahawadah, and will save them by Yahawah their Alahayam, and will not save them by bow, nor by sword, nor by battle, by horses, nor by horsemen. ⁸ Now when she had weaned Look-Rachamah, she conceived, and bore a son. ⁹ [Yahawah] said, Call his name Look-Imay; for you are not my people, and I will not be your [Alahayam].

2 Say you to your brothers, I may; and to your sisters, Rachamah. ⁴ Contend with your mother, contend; for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband; and let her put away her prostitution from her face, and her adulteries from between her breasts; ⁵ lest I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was born, and make her as a wilderness, and set her like a dry land, and kill her with thirst. ⁶ Yes, on her children will I have no mercy; for they are children of prostitution; ⁷ for their mother has played the prostitute; she who conceived them has done shamefully; for she said, I will go after my lovers, who give me my bread and my water, my wool and my flax, my oil and my drink. ⁸ Therefore, behold, I will hedge up your way with thorns, and I will build a wall against her, that she shall not find her paths. ⁹ She shall follow after her lovers, but she shall not overtake them; and she shall seek them, but shall not find them: then shall she say, I will go and return to my first husband; for then was it better with me than now. ¹⁰ For she did not know that I gave her the grain, and the new wine, and the oil, and multiplied to her silver and gold, which they used for Bail. ¹¹ Therefore will I take back my grain in the time of it, and my new wine in the season of it, and will pluck away my wool and my flax which should have covered her nakedness. ¹² Now will I uncover her lewdness in the sight of her lovers, and none shall deliver her out of my hand. ¹³ I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feasts, her new moons, and her Sabbaths, and all her solemn assemblies. ¹⁴ I will lay waste her vines and her fig-trees, whereof she has said, These are my hire that my lovers have given me; and I will make them a forest, and the animals of the field shall eat them. ¹⁵ I will visit on her the days of the Baals, to which she burned incense, when she decked herself with her earrings and her jewels, and went after her lovers, and forgot me, says Yahawah. ¹⁶ Therefore, behold, I will allure her, and bring her into the wilderness, and speak comfortably to her. ¹⁷ I will give her vineyards from there, and the valley of Ikawar for a door of hope; and she shall make answer there, as in the days of her youth, and as in the day when she came up out of the land of Matzarayam. ¹⁸ It shall be at that day, says Yahawah, that you shall call me Yashai, and shall call me no more Bail. ¹⁹ For I will take away the names of the Baals out of her mouth, and they shall no more be mentioned by their name. ²⁰ In that day will I make a covenant for them with the animals of the field, and with the birds of the sky, and with the creeping things of the ground: and I will break the bow and the sword and the battle out of the land, and will make them to lie down safely. ²¹ I will betroth you to me forever; yes, I will betroth you to me in righteousness, and in justice, and in lovingkindness, and in mercies. ²² I will even betroth you to me in faithfulness; and you shall know Yahawah. ²³ It shall happen in that day, I will answer, says Yahawah, I will answer the heavens, and they shall answer the earth; ²⁴ and the earth shall answer the grain, and the new wine, and the oil; and they shall answer Yazaraial. ²⁵ I will sow her to me in the earth; and I will have mercy on her who had not obtained mercy; and I will tell those who were not my people, You are my people; and they shall say, [You are] my Alahayam.

3 Yahawah said to me, Go again, love a woman beloved of [her] friend, and an adulteress, even as Yahawah loves the children of Yasharaal, though they turn to other gods, and love cakes of raisins. ² So I bought her to me for fifteen [pieces] of silver, and a homer of barley, and a half-homer of barley; ³ and I said to her, You shall abide for me many days; you shall not play the prostitute, and you shall not be any man's wife: so will I also be toward you. ⁴ For the children of Yasharaal shall abide many days without king, and without prince, and without sacrifice, and without pillar, and without ephod or teraphim: ⁵ afterward shall the children of Yasharaal return, and seek Yahawah their Alahayam, and Dawad their king, and shall come with fear to Yahawah and to his goodness in the latter days.

4 Hear the word of Yahawah, you children of Yasharaal; for Yahawah has a controversy with the inhabitants of the land, because there is no truth, nor goodness, nor knowledge of Alahayam in the land. ² There is nothing but swearing and breaking faith, and killing, and stealing, and committing adultery; they break out, and blood touches blood. ³ Therefore shall the land mourn, and everyone who dwells therein shall languish, with the animals of the field and the birds of the sky; yes, the fish of the sea also shall be taken away. ⁴ Yet let no man strive, neither let any man reprove; for your people are as those who strive with the priest. ⁵ You shall stumble in the day, and the prophet also shall stumble with you in the night; and I will destroy your mother. ⁶ My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge: because you have rejected knowledge, I will also reject you, that you shall be no priest to me: seeing you have forgotten the law of your Alahayam, I also will forget your children. ⁷ As they were multiplied, so they sinned against me: I will change their glory into shame. ⁸ They feed on the sin of my people, and set their heart on their iniquity. ⁹ It shall be, like people, like priest; and I will punish them for their ways, and will requite them their doings. ¹⁰ They shall eat, and not have enough; they shall play the prostitute, and shall not increase; because they have left off taking heed to Yahawah. ¹¹ Prostitution and wine and new wine take away the understanding. ¹² My people ask counsel at their stock, and their staff declares to them; for the spirit of prostitution has caused them to err, and they have played the prostitute, [departing] from under their Alahayam. ¹³ They sacrifice on the tops of the mountains, and burn incense on the hills, under oaks and poplars and terebinths, because the shadow of it is good: therefore your daughters play the prostitute, and your brides commit adultery. ¹⁴ I will not punish your daughters when they play the prostitute, nor your brides when they commit adultery; for [the men] themselves go apart with prostitutes, and they sacrifice with the prostitutes; and the people that does not understand shall be overthrown. ¹⁵ Though you, Yasharaal, play the prostitute, yet don't let Yahawadah offend; and don't you come to Galagal, neither go up to Awan, nor swear, As Yahawah lives.¹⁶ For Yasharaal has behaved himself stubbornly, like a stubborn heifer: now will Yahawah feed them as a lamb in a large place.¹⁷ Aparayam is joined to idols; let him alone.¹⁸ Their drink is become sour; they play the prostitute continually; her rulers dearly love shame.¹⁹ The wind has wrapped her up in its wings; and they shall be put to shame because of their sacrifices.

5 Hear this, you priests, and listen, house of Yasharaal, and give ear, house of the king; for to you pertains the judgment; for you have been a snare at Mizpah, and a net spread on Thabawar.² The rebels have gone deep in making slaughter; but I discipline them all.³ I know Aparayam, and Yasharaal is not hidden from me; for now, Aparayam, you have played the prostitute, Yasharaal is defiled.⁴ Their doings will not allow them to turn to their Alahayam; for the spirit of prostitution is within them, and they don't know Yahawah.⁵ The pride of Yasharaal does testify to his face: therefore Yasharaal and Aparayam shall stumble in their iniquity; Yahawadah also shall stumble with them.⁶ They shall go with their flocks and with their herds to seek Yahawah; but they shall not find him: he has withdrawn himself from them.⁷ They have dealt treacherously against Yahawah; for they have borne strange children: now shall the new moon devour them with their fields.⁸ Blow you the cornet in Gabaih, and the trumpet in Ramah: sound an alarm at Awan; behind you, Banayaman.⁹ Aparayam shall become a desolation in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Yasharaal have I made known that which shall surely be.¹⁰ The princes of Yahawadah are like those who remove the landmark: I will pour out my wrath on them like water.¹¹ Aparayam is oppressed, he is crushed in judgment; because he was content to walk after [man's] command.¹² Therefore am I to Aparayam as a moth, and to the house of Yahawadah as rottenness.¹³ When Aparayam saw his sickness, and Yahawadah [saw] his wound, then went Aparayam to Ashawar, and sent to king Yarab: but he is not able to heal you, neither will he cure you of your wound.¹⁴ For I will be to Aparayam as a lion, and as a young lion to the house of Yahawadah: I, even I, will tear and go away; I will carry off, and there shall be none to deliver.¹⁵ I will go and return to my place, until they acknowledge their offense, and seek my face: in their affliction they will seek me earnestly.

6 Come, and let us return to Yahawah; for he has torn, and he will heal us; he has struck, and he will bind us up.² After two days will he revive us: on the third day he will raise us up, and we shall live before him.³ Let us know, let us follow on to know Yahawah: his going forth is sure as the morning; and he will come to us as the rain, as the latter rain that waters the earth.⁴ Aparayam, what shall I do to you? Yahawadah, what shall I do to you? for your goodness is as a morning cloud, and as the dew that goes early away.⁵ Therefore have I hewed them by the prophets; I have slain them by the words of my mouth: and your judgments are [as] the light that goes forth.⁶ For I desire goodness, and not sacrifice; and the knowledge of Alahayam more than burnt offerings.⁷ But they like Adam have transgressed the covenant: there have they dealt treacherously against me.⁸ Galaid is a city of those who work iniquity; it is stained with blood.⁹ As troops of robbers wait for a man, so the company of priests murder in the way toward Shakam; yes, they have committed lewdness.¹⁰ In the house of Yasharaal I have seen a horrible thing: there prostitution is [found] in Aparayam, Yasharaal is defiled.¹¹ Also, Yahawadah, there is a harvest appointed for you, when I bring back the captivity of my people.

7 When I would heal Yasharaal, then is the iniquity of Aparayam uncovered, and the wickedness of Shamarawan; for they commit falsehood, and the thief enters in, and the troop of robbers ravages outside.² They don't consider in their hearts that I remember all their wickedness: now have their own doings beset them about; they are before my face.³ They make the king glad with their wickedness, and the princes with their lies.⁴ They are all adulterers; they are as an oven heated by the baker; he ceases to stir [the fire], from the kneading of the dough, until it be leavened.⁵ On the day of our king the princes made themselves sick with the heat of wine; he stretched out his hand with scoffers.⁶ For they have made ready their heart like an oven, while they lie in wait: their baker sleeps all the night; in the morning it burns as a flaming fire.⁷ They are all hot as an oven, and devour their judges; all their kings are fallen: there is none among them who calls to me.⁸ Aparayam, he mixes himself among the peoples; Aparayam is a cake not turned.⁹ Strangers have devoured his strength, and he doesn't know [it]: yes, gray hairs are here and there on him, and he doesn't know [it].¹⁰ The pride of Yasharaal does testify to his face: yet they have not returned to Yahawah their Alahayam, nor sought him, for all this.¹¹ Aparayam is like a silly dove, without understanding: they call to Matzarayam, they go to Ashawar.¹² When they shall go, I will spread my net on them; I will bring them down as the birds of the sky; I will chastise them, as their congregation has heard.¹³ Woe to them! for they have wandered from me; destruction to them! for they have trespassed against me: though I would redeem them, yet they have spoken lies against me.¹⁴ They have not cried to me with their heart, but they howl on their beds: they assemble themselves for grain and new wine; they rebel against me.¹⁵ Though I have taught and strengthened their arms, yet do they devise mischief against me.¹⁶ They return, but not to [him who is] on high; they are like a deceitful bow; their princes shall fall by the sword for the rage of their tongue: this shall be their derision in the land of Matzarayam.

8 [Set] the trumpet to your mouth. As an eagle [he comes] against the house of Yahawah, because they have transgressed my covenant, and trespassed against my law.² They shall cry to me, My Alahayam, we Yasharaal know you.³ Yasharaal has cast off that which is good: the enemy shall pursue him.⁴ They have set up kings, but not by me; they have made princes, and I didn't know it: of their silver and their gold have they made them idols, that they may be cut off.⁵ He has cast off your calf, Shamarawan; my anger is kindled against them: how long will it be before they attain to innocence?⁶ For from Yasharaal is even this; the workman made it, and it is no Alahayam; yes, the calf of Shamarawan shall be broken in pieces.⁷ For they sow the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind: he has no standing grain; the blade shall yield no meal; if so be it yield, strangers shall swallow it up.⁸ Yasharaal is swallowed up: now are they among the nations as a vessel in which none delights.⁹ For they are gone up to Ashawar, [like] a wild donkey alone by himself: Aparayam has hired lovers.¹⁰ Yes, though they hire among the nations, now will I gather them; and they begin to be diminished by reason of the burden of the king of princes.¹¹ Because Aparayam has multiplied altars for sinning, altars have been to him for sinning.¹² I wrote for him the ten thousand things of my law; but they are counted as a strange thing.¹³ As for the sacrifices of my offerings, they sacrifice flesh and eat it; but Yahawah doesn't accept them: now will he remember their iniquity, and visit their sins; they shall return to Matzarayam.¹⁴ For Yasharaal has forgotten his Maker, and built palaces; and Yahawadah has multiplied fortified cities: but I will send a fire on his cities, and it shall devour the castles of it.

9 Don't rejoice, Yasharaal, for joy, like the peoples; for you have played the prostitute, [departing] from your Alahayam; you have loved hire on every grain-floor.² The threshing floor and the winepress shall not feed them, and the new wine shall fail her.³ They shall not dwell in Yahawah's land; but Aparayam shall return to Matzarayam, and they shall eat unclean food in Ashawar.⁴ They shall not pour out wine-offerings to Yahawah, neither shall they be pleasing to him: their sacrifices shall be to them as the bread of mourners; all who eat of it shall be polluted; for their bread shall be for their appetite; it shall not come into the house of Yahawah.⁵ What will you do in the day of solemn assembly, and in the day of the feast of Yahawah?⁶ For, behold, they have gone away from destruction; [yet] Matzarayam shall gather them up, Map shall bury them; their pleasant things of silver, nettles shall possess them; thorns shall be in their tents.⁷ The days of visitation have come, the days of recompense have come. Yasharaal shall know it: the prophet is a fool, the man who has the spirit is mad, for the abundance of your iniquity, and because the enmity is great.

⁸ Aparayam [was] a watchman with my Alahayam: as for the prophet, a fowler's snare is in all his ways, [and] enmity in the house of his Alahayam. ⁹ They have deeply corrupted themselves, as in the days of Gabaih: he will remember their iniquity, he will visit their sins. ¹⁰ I found Yasharaal like grapes in the wilderness; I saw your fathers as the first-ripe in the fig-tree at its first season: but they came to Bail, and consecrated themselves to the shameful thing, and became abominable like that which they loved. ¹¹ As for Aparayam, their glory shall fly away like a bird: there shall be no birth, and none with child, and no conception. ¹² Though they bring up their children, yet will I bereave them, so that not a man shall be left: yes, woe also to them when I depart from them! ¹³ Aparayam, like as I have seen Tzar, is planted in a pleasant place: but Aparayam shall bring out his children to the killer. ¹⁴ Give them, Yahawah what will you give? give them a miscarrying womb and dry breasts. ¹⁵ All their wickedness is in Galagal; for there I hated them: because of the wickedness of their doings I will drive them out of my house; I will love them no more; all their princes are rebels. ¹⁶ Aparayam is struck, their root is dried up, they shall bear no fruit: yes, though they bring forth, yet will I kill the beloved fruit of their womb. ¹⁷ My Alahayam will cast them away, because they did not listen to him; and they shall be wanderers among the nations.

10 Yasharaal is a luxuriant vine, that puts forth his fruit: according to the abundance of his fruit he has multiplied his altars; according to the goodness of their land they have made goodly pillars. ² Their heart is divided; now shall they be found guilty: he will strike their altars, he will destroy their pillars. ³ Surely now shall they say, We have no king; for we don't fear Yahawah; and the king, what can he do for us? ⁴ They speak [vain] words, swearing falsely in making covenants: therefore judgment springs up as hemlock in the furrows of the field. ⁵ The inhabitants of Shamarawan shall be in terror for the calves of Awan; for the people of it shall mourn over it, and the priests of it who rejoiced over it, for the glory of it, because it is departed from it. ⁶ It also shall be carried to Ashawar for a present to king Yarab: Aparayam shall receive shame, and Yasharaal shall be ashamed of his own counsel. ⁷ [As for] Shamarawan, her king is cut off, as foam on the water. ⁸ The high places also of Awan, the sin of Yasharaal, shall be destroyed: the thorn and the thistle shall come up on their altars; and they shall tell the mountains, Cover us; and to the hills, Fall on us. ⁹ Yasharaal, you have sinned from the days of Gabaih: there they stood; the battle against the children of iniquity does not overtake them in Gabaih. ¹⁰ When it is my desire, I will chastise them; and the peoples shall be gathered against them, when they are bound to their two transgressions. ¹¹ Aparayam is a heifer that is taught, that loves to tread out [the grain]; but I have passed over on her beautiful neck: I will set a rider on Aparayam; Yahawadah shall plow, Yaiqab shall break his clods. ¹² Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap according to kindness; break up your fallow ground; for it is time to seek Yahawah, until he come and rain righteousness on you. ¹³ You have plowed wickedness, you have reaped iniquity; you have eaten the fruit of lies; for you did trust in your way, in the multitude of your mighty men. ¹⁴ Therefore shall a tumult arise among your people, and all your fortresses shall be destroyed, as Shalaman destroyed Arabaal in the day of battle: the mother was dashed in pieces with her children. ¹⁵ So shall Bethel do to you because of your great wickedness: at daybreak shall the king of Yasharaal be utterly cut off.

11 When Yasharaal was a child, then I loved him, and called my son out of Matzarayam. ² The more [the prophets] called them, the more they went from them: they sacrificed to the Baals, and burned incense to engraved images. ³ Yet I taught Aparayam to walk; I took them on my arms; but they didn't know that I healed them. ⁴ I drew them with cords of a man, with bands of love; and I was to them as those who lift up the yoke on their jaws; and I laid food before them. ⁵ They shall not return into the land of Matzarayam;

but the Assyrian shall be their king, because they refused to return [to me]. ⁶ The sword shall fall on their cities, and shall consume their bars, and devour [them], because of their own counsels. ⁷ My people are bent on backsliding from me: though they call them to [him who is] on high, none at all will exalt [him]. ⁸ How shall I give you up, Aparayam? [how] shall I cast you off, Yasharaal? how shall I make you as Adamah? [how] shall I set you as Tzabayayam? my heart is turned within me, my compassion is aroused. ⁹ I will not execute the fierceness of my anger, I will not return to destroy Aparayam: for I am Alahayam, and not man; the Holy One in the midst of you; and I will not come in wrath. ¹⁰ They shall walk after Yahawah, who will roar like a lion; for he will roar, and the children shall come trembling from the west. ¹¹ They shall come trembling as a bird out of Matzarayam, and as a dove out of the land of Ashawar; and I will make them to dwell in their houses, says Yahawah.

12 Aparayam feeds on wind, and follows after the east wind: he continually multiplies lies and desolation; and they make a covenant with Ashawar, and oil is carried into Matzarayam. ³ Yahawah has also a controversy with Yahawadah, and will punish Yaiqab according to his ways; according to his doings will he recompense him. ⁴ In the womb he took his brother by the heel; and in his manhood he had power with Alahayam: ⁵ yes, he had power over the angel, and prevailed; he wept, and made supplication to him: he found him at Bethel, and there he spoke with us, ⁶ even Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts; Yahawah is his memorial [name]. ⁷ Therefore turn you to your Alahayam: keep kindness and justice, and wait for your Alahayam continually. ⁸ [He is] a trafficker, the balances of deceit are in his hand: he loves to oppress. ⁹ Aparayam said, Surely I have become rich, I have found myself wealth: in all my labors they shall find in me no iniquity that is sin. ¹⁰ But I am Yahawah your Alahayam from the land of Matzarayam; I will yet again make you to dwell in tents, as in the days of the solemn feast. ¹¹ I have also spoken to the prophets, and I have multiplied visions; and by the ministry of the prophets have I used parables. ¹² Is Galaid iniquity? they are altogether false; in Galagal they sacrifice bulls; yes, their altars are as heaps in the furrows of the field. ¹³ Yaiqab fled into the field of Aram, and Yasharaal served for a wife, and for a wife he kept [sheep]. ¹⁴ By a prophet Yahawah brought Yasharaal up out of Matzarayam, and by a prophet was he preserved. ¹⁵ Aparayam has provoked to anger most bitterly: therefore shall his blood be left on him, and his reproach shall his Adanay return to him.

13 When Aparayam spoke, there was trembling; he exalted himself in Yasharaal; but when he offended in Bail, he died. ² Now they sin more and more, and have made them molten images of their silver, even idols according to their own understanding, all of them the work of the craftsmen: they say of them, Let the men who sacrifice kiss the calves. ³ Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the dew that passes early away, as the chaff that is driven with the whirlwind out of the threshing floor, and as the smoke out of the chimney. ⁴ Yet I am Yahawah your Alahayam from the land of Matzarayam; and you shall know no god but me, and besides me there is no savior. ⁵ I did know you in the wilderness, in the land of great drought. ⁶ According to their pasture, so were they filled; they were filled, and their heart was exalted: therefore have they forgotten me. ⁷ Therefore am I to them as a lion; as a leopard will I watch by the way; ⁸ I will meet them as a bear that is bereaved of her whelps, and will tear the covering of their heart; and there will I devour them like a lioness; the wild animal shall tear them. ⁹ It is your destruction, Yasharaal, that [you are] against me, against your help. ¹⁰ Where now is your king, that he may save you in all your cities? and your judges, of whom you said, Give me a king and princes? ¹¹ I have given you a king in my anger, and have taken him away in my wrath. ¹² The iniquity of Aparayam is bound up; his sin is laid up in store. ¹³ The sorrows of a travailing woman shall come on him: he is an unwise son; for it is time he should not stay in the place of the breaking forth of children. ¹⁴ I will ransom them from the power of Sheol; I will redeem them from death: death, where are your plagues? Sheol, where is your destruction? repentance shall be hid from my eyes.

14 Yasharaal, return to Yahawah your Alahayam; for you have fallen by your iniquity. ³ Take with you words, and return to Yahawah: tell him, Take away all iniquity, and accept that which is good: so will we render [as] bulls [the offering of] our lips.

⁴ Ashawar shall not save us; we will not ride on horses; neither will we say any more to the work of our hands, [You are] our gods; for in you the fatherless finds mercy. ⁵ I will heal their backsliding, I will love them freely; for my anger is turned away from him. ⁶ I will be as the dew to Yasharaal; he shall blossom as the lily, and cast forth his roots as Labanawan. ⁷ His branches shall spread, and his beauty shall be as the olive-tree, and his smell as Labanawan.

⁸ Those who dwell under his shadow shall return; they shall revive [as] the grain, and blossom as the vine: the scent of it shall be as the wine of Labanawan. ⁹ Aparayam [shall say], What have I to do any more with idols? I have answered, and will regard him: I am like a green fir-tree; from me is your fruit found. ¹⁰ Who is wise, that he may understand these things? prudent, that he may know them? for the ways of Yahawah are right, and the just shall walk in them; but transgressors shall fall therein.

Joel

1 The Word of Yahawah that came to Yawaal, the son of Pathawaal. ² Hear this, you elders, And listen, all you inhabitants of the land. Has this ever happened in your days, Or in the days of your fathers? ³ Tell your children about it, And have your children tell their children, And their children, another generation. ⁴ What the swarming locust has left, the great locust has eaten. What the great locust has left, the grasshopper has eaten. What the grasshopper has left, the caterpillar has eaten. ⁵ Wake up, you drunkards, and weep! Wail, all you drinkers of wine, because of the sweet wine; For it is cut off from your mouth. ⁶ For a nation has come up on my land, strong, and without number. His teeth are the teeth of a lion, And he has the fangs of a lioness. ⁷ He has laid my vine waste, And stripped my fig tree. He has stripped its bark, and thrown it away. Its branches are made white. ⁸ Mourn like a virgin dressed in sackcloth for the husband of her youth! ⁹ The meal offering and the drink offering are cut off from Yahawah's house. The priests, Yahawah's ministers, mourn. ¹⁰ The field is laid waste. The land mourns, for the grain is destroyed, The new wine has dried up, And the oil languishes. ¹¹ Be confounded, you farmers! Wail, you vineyard keepers; For the wheat and for the barley; For the harvest of the field has perished. ¹² The vine has dried up, and the fig tree withered; the pomegranate tree, the palm tree also, and the apple tree, Even all of the trees of the field are withered; For joy has withered away from the sons of men. ¹³ Pawat on sackcloth and mourn, you priests! Wail, you ministers of the altar. Come, lie all night in sackcloth, you ministers of my Alahayam, For the meal offering and the drink offering are withheld from your Alahayam's house. ¹⁴ Sanctify a fast. Call a solemn assembly. Gather the elders, And all the inhabitants of the land, to the house of Yahawah, your Alahayam, And cry to Yahawah. ¹⁵ Alas for the day! For the day of Yahawah is at hand, And it will come as destruction from the Shaday. ¹⁶ Isn't the food cut off before our eyes; Joy and gladness from the house of our Alahayam? ¹⁷ The seeds rot under their clods. The granaries are laid desolate. The barns are broken down, for the grain has withered. ¹⁸ How the animals groan! The herds of cattle are perplexed, because they have no pasture. Yes, the flocks of sheep are made desolate. ¹⁹ Yahawah, I cry to you, For the fire has devoured the pastures of the wilderness, And the flame has burned all the trees of the field. ²⁰ Yes, the animals of the field pant to you, For the water brooks have dried up, And the fire has devoured the pastures of the wilderness.

2 Blow you the trumpet in Tzayawan, And sound an alarm in my holy mountain! Let all the inhabitants of the land tremble, For the day of Yahawah comes, For it is close at hand: ² A day of darkness and gloominess, A day of clouds and thick darkness. As the dawn spreading on the mountains, A great and strong people; There has never been the like, Neither will there be any more after them, Even to the years of many generations. ³ A fire devours before them, And behind them, a flame burns. The land is as the garden of Idan before them, And behind them, a desolate wilderness. Yes, and no one has escaped them. ⁴ The appearance of them is as the appearance of horses, And as horsemen, so do they run. ⁵ Like the noise of chariots on the tops of the mountains do they leap, Like the noise of a flame of fire that devours the stubble, As a strong people set in battle array. ⁶ At their presence the peoples are in anguish. All faces have grown pale. ⁷ They run like mighty men. They climb the wall like warriors. They each march in his line, and they don't swerve off course. ⁸ Neither does one jostle another; They march everyone in his path, And they burst through the defenses, And don't break ranks. ⁹ They rush on the city. They run on the wall. They climb up into the houses. They enter in at the windows like thieves. ¹⁰ The earth quakes before them. The heavens tremble. The sun and the moon are darkened, And the stars withdraw their shining.

¹² "Yet even now," says Yahawah, "turn to me with all your heart, And with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning." ¹³ Tear your heart, and not your garments, And turn to Yahawah, your Alahayam; For he is gracious and merciful, Slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness, And relents from sending calamity.

¹⁹ Yahawah answered his people, "Behold, I will send you grain, new wine, and oil, And you will be satisfied with them; And I will no more make you a reproach among the nations. ²⁰ But I will remove the northern army far away from you, And will drive it into a barren and desolate land, Its front into the eastern sea, And its back into the western sea; And its stench will come up, And its bad smell will rise." Surely he has done great things. ²¹ Land, don't be afraid. Be glad and rejoice, for Yahawah has done great things.

3 "It will happen afterward, that I will pour out my Spirit on all flesh; And your sons and your daughters will prophesy. Your old men will dream dreams. Your young men will see visions. ² And also on the servants and on the handmaids in those days, I will pour out my Spirit. ³ I will show wonders in the heavens and in the earth: Blood, fire, and pillars of smoke. ⁴ The sun will be turned into darkness, And the moon into blood, Before the great and terrible day of Yahawah comes. ⁵ It will happen that whoever will call on the name of Yahawah shall be saved; For in Mount Tzayawan and in Yarawashalam there will be those who escape, As Yahawah has said, And among the remnant, those whom Yahawah calls.

4 "For, behold, in those days, And in that time, When I restore the fortunes of Yahawadah and Yarawashalam, ² I will gather all nations, And will bring them down into the valley of Yahawashapat; And I will execute judgment on them there for my people, And for my heritage, Yasharaal, whom they have scattered among the nations. They have divided my land,³ And have cast lots for my people, And have given a boy for a prostitute, And sold a girl for wine, that they may drink.⁴ "Yes, and what are you to me, Tzar, and Tzayadawan, And all the regions of Palashath? Will you repay me? And if you repay me, I will swiftly and speedily return your repayment on your own head."⁵ Because you have taken my silver and my gold, And have carried my finest treasures into your temples,⁶ And have sold the children of Yahawadah and the children of Yarawashalam to the sons of the Greeks, That you may remove them far from their border.⁷ Behold, I will stir them up out of the place where you have sold them, And will return your repayment on your own head;⁸ And I will sell your sons and your daughters into the hands of the children of Yahawadah, And they will sell them to the men of Shabaa, To a faraway nation, For Yahawah has spoken it."⁹ Proclaim this among the nations: Prepare war. Stir up the mighty men. Let all the warriors draw near. Let them come up.¹⁰ Beat your plowshares into swords, And your pruning hooks into spears. Let the weak say, "I am strong."¹¹ Hurry and come, all you surrounding nations, And gather yourselves together." Cause your mighty ones to come down there, Yahawah.¹² "Let the nations arouse themselves, And come up to the valley of Yahawashapat; For there will I sit to judge all the surrounding nations.¹³ Pawat in the sickle; For the harvest is ripe. Come, tread, for the winepress is full, The vats overflow, for their wickedness is great."¹⁴ Multitudes, multitudes in the valley of decision! For the day of Yahawah is near, in the valley of decision.¹⁵ The sun and the moon are darkened, And the stars withdraw their shining."¹⁶ Yahawah will roar from Tzayawan, And thunder from Yarawashalam; And the heavens and the earth will shake; But Yahawah will be a refuge to his people, And a stronghold to the children of Yasharaal.¹⁷ "So you will know that I am Yahawah, your Alahayam, Dwelling in Tzayawan, my holy mountain. Then Yarawashalam will be holy, And no strangers will pass through her any more.¹⁸ It will happen in that day, That the mountains will drop down sweet wine, The hills will flow with milk, All the brooks of Yahawadah will flow with waters; And a fountain will come forth from the house of Yahawah, And will water the valley of Shatayam.¹⁹ Matzarayam will be a desolation, And Adawam will be a desolate wilderness, For the violence done to the children of Yahawadah, Because they have shed innocent blood in their land.²⁰ But Yahawadah will be inhabited forever, And Yarawashalam from generation to generation.²¹ I will cleanse their blood, That I have not cleansed: For Yahawah dwells in Tzayawan."

1 The words of Imawas, who was among the herdsmen of Thaqawai, which he saw concerning Yasharaal in the days of Izayahaw king of Yahawadah, and in the days of Yarabaim the son of Yawaash king of Yasharaal, two years before the earthquake.

⁶ Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of Izah, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because they carried away captive the whole people, to deliver them up to Adawam: ⁷ but I will send a fire on the wall of Izah, and it shall devour the palaces of it. ⁸ I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashadawad, and him who holds the scepter from Ashaqalawan; and I will turn my hand against Iqarawan; and the remnant of the Palashath shall perish, says the Adanay Yahawah. ⁹ Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of Tzar, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because they delivered up the whole people to Adawam, and didn't remember the brotherly covenant: ¹⁰ but I will send a fire on the wall of Tzar, and it shall devour the palaces of it.

¹¹ Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of Adawam, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pity, and his anger did tear perpetually, and he kept his wrath forever: ¹² but I will send a fire on Thayaman, and it shall devour the palaces of Batzarah. ¹³ Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of the children of Imawan, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because they have ripped up the women with child of Galaïd, that they may enlarge their border. ¹⁴ But I will kindle a fire in the wall of Rabah, and it shall devour the palaces of it, with shouting in the day of battle, with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind; ¹⁵ and their king shall go into captivity, he and his princes together, says Yahawah.

2 Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of Mawaab, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because he burned the bones of the king of Adawam into lime: ² but I will send a fire on Mawaab, and it shall devour the palaces of Qarayawath; and Mawaab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet; ³ and I will cut off the judge from the midst of it, and will kill all the princes of it with him, says Yahawah. ⁴ Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of Yahawadah, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because they have rejected the law of Yahawah, and have not kept his statutes, and their lies have caused them to err, after which their fathers did walk: ⁵ but I will send a fire on Yahawadah, and it shall devour the palaces of Yarawashalam. ⁶ Thus says Yahawah: For three transgressions of Yasharaal, yes, for four, I will not turn away the punishment of it; because they have sold the righteous for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes ⁷ those who pant after the dust of the earth on the head of the poor, and turn aside the way of the humble: and a man and his father go to the [same] maiden, to profane my holy name: ⁸ and they lay themselves down beside every altar on clothes taken in pledge; and in the house of their Alahayam they drink the wine of such as have been fined. ⁹ Yet destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oaks; yet I destroyed his fruit from above, and his roots from beneath. ¹⁰ Also I brought you up out of the land of Matzarayam, and led you forty years in the wilderness, to possess the land of the Amorite. ¹¹ I raised up of your sons for prophets, and of your young men for Nazirites. Is it not even thus, you children of Yasharaal? says Yahawah. ¹² But you gave the Nazirites wine to drink, and commanded the prophets, saying, Don't prophesy. ¹³ Behold, I will press [you] in your place, as a cart presses that is full of sheaves. ¹⁴ Flight shall perish from the swift; and the strong shall not strengthen his force; neither shall the mighty deliver himself; ¹⁵ neither shall he stand who handles the bow; and he who is swift of foot shall not deliver [himself]; neither shall he who rides the horse deliver himself; ¹⁶ and he who is courageous among the mighty shall flee away naked in that day, says Yahawah.

3 Hear this word that Yahawah has spoken against you, children of Yasharaal, against the whole family which I brought up out of the land of Matzarayam, saying, ² You only have I known of all the families of the earth: therefore I will visit on you all your iniquities. ³ Shall two walk together, except they have agreed? ⁴ Will a lion roar in the forest, when he has no prey? will a young lion cry out of his den, if he have taken nothing? ⁵ Can a bird fall in a snare on the earth, where no gin is [set] for him? shall a snare spring up from the ground, and have taken nothing at all? ⁶ Shall the trumpet be blown in a city, and the people not be afraid? shall evil befall a city, and Yahawah has not done it? ⁷ Surely the Adanay Yahawah will do nothing, except he reveal his secret to his servants the prophets. ⁸ The lion has roared; who will not fear? The Adanay Yahawah has spoken; who can but prophesy? ⁹ Publish you in the palaces at Ashadawad, and in the palaces in the land of Matzarayam, and say, Assemble yourselves on the mountains of Shamarawan, and see what great tumults are therein, and what oppressions in the midst of it. ¹⁰ For they don't know to do right, says Yahawah, who store up violence and robbery in their palaces. ¹¹ Therefore thus says the Adanay Yahawah: An adversary [there shall be], even round about the land; and he shall bring down your strength from you, and your palaces shall be plundered. ¹² Thus says Yahawah: As the shepherd rescues out of the mouth of the lion two legs, or a piece of an ear, so shall the children of Yasharaal be rescued that sit in Shamarawan in the corner of a couch, and on the silken cushions of a bed. ¹³ Hear you, and testify against the house of Yaiqab, says the Adanay Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts. ¹⁴ For in the day that I shall visit the transgressions of Yasharaal on him, I will also visit the altars of Bethel; and the horns of the altar shall be cut off, and fall to the ground. ¹⁵ I will strike the winter-house with the summer-house; and the houses of ivory shall perish, and the great houses shall have an end, says Yahawah.

4 Hear this word, you cattle of Bashan, that are in the mountain of Shamarawan, that oppress the poor, that crush the needy, that tell their lords, Bring, and let us drink. ² The Adanay Yahawah has sworn by his holiness, that behold, the days shall come on you, that they shall take you away with hooks, and your residue with fish-hooks. ³ You shall go out at the breaches, everyone straight before her; and you shall cast [yourselves] into Harmon, says Yahawah. ⁴ Come to Bethel, and disobey; to Galagal, [and] multiply disobedience; and bring your sacrifices every morning, [and] your tithes every three days; ⁵ and offer a sacrifice of thanksgiving of that which is leavened, and proclaim freewill-offerings and publish them: for this pleases you, you children of Yasharaal, says the Adanay Yahawah. ⁶ I also have given you cleanness of teeth in all your cities, and want of bread in all your places; yet have you not returned to me, says Yahawah.⁷ I also have withheld the rain from you, when there were yet three months to the harvest; and I caused it to rain on one city, and caused it not to rain on another city: one piece was rained on, and the piece whereupon it didn't rain withered.⁸ So two or three cities wandered to one city to drink water, and were not satisfied: yet have you not returned to me, says Yahawah.⁹ I have struck you with blasting and mildew: the multitude of your gardens and your vineyards and your fig-trees and your olive-trees has the swarming locust devoured: yet have you not returned to me, says Yahawah.¹⁰ I have sent among you the pestilence after the manner of Matzarayam: your young men have I slain with the sword, and have carried away your horses; and I have made the stench of your camp to come up even into your nostrils: yet have you not returned to me, says Yahawah.¹¹ I have overthrown [cities] among you, as when Alahayam overthrew Sadam and Imarah, and you were as a brand plucked out of the burning; yet have you not returned to me, says Yahawah.¹² Therefore thus will I do to you, Yasharaal; [and] because I will do this to you, prepare to meet your Alahayam, Yasharaal.¹³ For, behold, he who forms the mountains, and creates the wind, and declares to man what is his thought; that makes the morning darkness, and treads on the high places of the Earth Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, is his name.

5 Hear you this word which I take up for a lamentation over you, O house of Yasharaal.² The virgin of Yasharaal is fallen; she shall no more rise: she is cast down on her land; there is none to raise her up.³ For thus says the Adanay Yahawah: The city that went forth a thousand shall have a hundred left, and that which went forth one hundred shall have ten left, to the house of Yasharaal.⁴ For thus says Yahawah to the house of Yasharaal, Seek you me, and you shall live;⁵ but don't seek Bethel, nor enter into Galagal, and don't pass to Beersheba: for Galagal shall surely go into captivity, and Bethel shall come to nothing.⁶ Seek Yahawah, and you shall live; lest he break out like fire in the house of Yawasap, and it devour, and there be none to quench it in Bethel.⁷ You who turn justice to wormwood, and cast down righteousness to the earth,⁸ [seek him] who makes the Kayamah and Kasayal, and turns the shadow of death into the morning, and makes the day dark with night; who calls for the waters of the sea, and pours them out on the surface of the earth (Yahawah is his name);⁹ who brings sudden destruction on the strong, so that destruction comes on the fortress.¹⁰ They hate him who reproves in the gate, and they abhor him who speaks blamelessly.¹¹ Forasmuch therefore as you trample on the poor, and take taxes from him of wheat: you have built houses of hewn stone, but you shall not dwell in them; you have planted pleasant vineyards, but you shall not drink the wine of it.¹² For I know how manifold are your transgressions, and how mighty are your sins-you who afflict the just, who take a bribe, and who turn aside the needy in the gate [from their right].¹³ Therefore he who is prudent shall keep silence in such a time; for it is an evil time.¹⁴ Seek good, and not evil, that you may live; and so Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, will be with you, as you say.¹⁵ Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish justice in the gate: it may be that Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, will be gracious to the remnant of Yawasap.¹⁶ Therefore thus says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts, the Adanay: Wailing shall be in all the broad ways; and they shall say in all the streets, Alas! Alas! and they shall call the farmer to mourning, and such as are skillful in lamentation to wailing.¹⁷ In all vineyards shall be wailing; for I will pass through the midst of you, says Yahawah.¹⁸ Woe to you who desire the day of Yahawah! Why would you have the day of Yahawah? It is darkness, and not light.¹⁹ As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him; or went into the house and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.²⁰ Shall the day of Yahawah not be darkness, and not light? even very dark, and no brightness in it?²¹ I hate, I despise your feasts, and I will take no delight in your solemn assemblies.²² Yes, though you offer me your burnt offerings and meal-offerings, I will not accept them; neither will I regard the peace-offerings of your fat animals.²³ Take away from me the noise of your songs; for I will not hear the melody of your viols.²⁴ But let justice roll down as waters, and righteousness as a mighty stream.²⁵ Did you bring to me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, house of Yasharaal?²⁶ Yes, you have borne the tent of your king and the shrine of your images, the star of your god, which you made to yourselves.²⁷ Therefore will I cause you to go into captivity beyond Damashaq, says Yahawah, whose name is the Alahayam of hosts.

6 Woe to those who are at ease in Tzayawan, and to those who are secure in the mountain of Shamarawan, the notable men of the chief of the nations, to whom the house of Yasharaal come!² Pass you to Kalanah, and see; and from there go you to Chamath the great; then go down to Gath of the Palashath: are they better than these kingdoms? or is their border greater than your border?³ -you who put far away the evil day, and cause the seat of violence to come near;⁴ who lie on beds of ivory, and stretch themselves on their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall;⁵ who sing idle songs to the sound of the violin; who invent for themselves instruments of music, like Dawad;⁶ who drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief oils; but they are not grieved for the affliction of Yawasap.⁷ Therefore shall they now go captive with the first who go captive; and the revelry of those who stretched themselves shall pass away.⁸ The Adanay Yahawah has sworn by himself, says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts: I abhor the excellency of Yaiqab, and hate his palaces; therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein.⁹ It shall happen, if there remain ten men in one house, that they shall die.¹⁰ When a man's uncle shall take him up, even he who burns him, to bring out the bones out of the house, and shall tell him who is in the innermost parts of the house, Is there yet any with you? and he shall say, No; then shall he say, Hold your peace; for we may not make mention of the name of Yahawah.¹¹ For, behold, Yahawah commands, and the great house shall be struck with breaches, and the little house with clefts.¹² Shall horses run on the rock? will one plow [there] with oxen? that you have turned justice into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into wormwood;¹³ you who rejoice in a thing of nothing, who say, Haven't we taken to us horns by our own strength?¹⁴ For, behold, I will raise up against you a nation, house of Yasharaal, says Yahawah, the Alahayam of hosts; and they shall afflict you from the entrance of Chamath to the brook of the Irabah.

7 Thus the Adanay Yahawah showed me: and, behold, he formed locusts in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth; and, behold, it was the latter growth after the king's harvest.² It happened that, when they made an end of eating the grass of the land, then I said, Adanay Yahawah, forgive, I beg you: how shall Yaiqab stand? for he is small.³ Yahawah repented concerning this: It shall not be, says Yahawah.⁴ Thus the Adanay Yahawah showed me: and, behold, the Adanay Yahawah called to content by fire; and it devoured the great deep, and would have eaten up the land.⁵ Then said I, Adanay Yahawah, cease, I beg you: how shall Yaiqab stand? for he is small.⁶ Yahawah repented concerning this: this also shall not be, says the Adanay Yahawah.⁷ Thus he showed me: and, behold, the Adanay stood beside a wall made by a plumb-line, with a plumb-line in his hand.⁸ Yahawah said to me, Imawas, what see you? I said, A plumb-line. Then said the Adanay, Behold, I will set a plumb-line in the midst of my people Yasharaal; I will not again pass by them any more;⁹ and the high places of Yatzachaq shall be desolate, and the sanctuaries of Yasharaal shall be laid waste; and I will rise against the house of Yarabaim with the sword.¹⁰ Then Amatzayahaw the priest of Al sent to Yarabaim king of Yasharaal, saying, Imawas has conspired against you in the midst of the house of Yasharaal: the land is not able to bear all his words.¹¹ For thus Imawas says, Yarabaim shall die by the sword, and Yasharaal shall surely be led away captive out of his land.¹² Also Amatzayahaw said to Imawas, you seer, go, flee you away into the land of Yahawadah, and there eat bread, and prophesy there:¹³ but don't prophesy again any more at Bethel; for it is the king's sanctuary, and it is a royal house.¹⁴ Then answered Imawas, and said to Amatzayahaw, I was no prophet, neither was I a prophet's son; but I was a herdsman, and a dresser of sycamore-trees: ¹⁵ and Yahawah took me from following the flock, and Yahawah said to me, Go, prophesy to my people Yasharaal. ¹⁶ Now therefore hear you the word of Yahawah: You say, Don't prophesy against Yasharaal, and don't drop [your word] against the house of Yatzachaq; ¹⁷ therefore thus says Yahawah: Your wife shall be a prostitute in the city, and your sons and your daughters shall fall by the sword, and your land shall be divided by line; and you yourself shall die in a land that is unclean, and Yasharaal shall surely be led away captive out of his land.

8 Thus the Adanay Yahawah showed me: and, behold, a basket of summer fruit. ² He said, Imawas, what see you? I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said Yahawah to me, The end is come on my people Yasharaal; I will not again pass by them any more. ³ The songs of the temple shall be wailings in that day, says the Adanay Yahawah: the dead bodies shall be many: in every place shall they cast them forth with silence. ⁴ Hear this, you who would swallow up the needy, and cause the poor of the land to fail, ⁵ saying, When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell grain? and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and dealing falsely with balances of deceit; ⁶ that we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes, and sell the refuse of the wheat? ⁷ Yahawah has sworn by the excellency of Yaiqab, Surely I will never forget any of their works. ⁸ Shall not the land tremble for this, and everyone mourn who dwells therein? yes, it shall rise up wholly like the River; and it shall be troubled and sink again, like the River of Matzarayam. ⁹ It shall happen in that day, says the Adanay Yahawah, that I will cause the sun to go down at noon, and I will darken the earth in the clear day. ¹⁰ I will turn your feasts into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation; and I will bring sackcloth on all loins, and baldness on every head; and I will make it as the mourning for an only son, and the end of it as a bitter day. ¹¹ Behold, the days come, says the Adanay Yahawah, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the words of Yahawah. ¹² They shall wander from sea to sea, and from the north even to the east; they shall run back and forth to seek the word of Yahawah, and shall not find it. ¹³ In that day shall the beautiful virgins and the young men faint for thirst. ¹⁴ Those who swear by the sin of Shamarawan, and say, As your god, Wadan, lives; and, As the way of Beersheba lives; they shall fall, and never rise up again.

9 I saw the Adanay standing beside the altar: and he said, Strike the capitals, that the thresholds may shake; and break them in pieces on the head of all of them; and I will kill the last of them with the sword: there shall not one of them flee away, and there shall not one of them escape. ² Though they dig into Sheol, there shall my hand take them; and though they climb up to heaven, there will I bring them down. ³ Though they hide themselves in the top of Karamal, I will search and take them out there; and though they be hid from my sight in the bottom of the sea, there will I command the serpent, and it shall bite them. ⁴ Though they go into captivity before their enemies, there will I command the sword, and it shall kill them: and I will set my eyes on them for evil, and not for good. ⁵ For the Adanay, Yahawah Tzabaawath, [is] he who touches the land and it melts, and all who dwell therein shall mourn; and it shall rise up wholly like the River, and shall sink again, like the River of Matzarayam; ⁶ [it is] he who builds his chambers in the heavens, and has founded his vault on the earth; he who calls for the waters of the sea, and pours them out on the surface of the earth; Yahawah is his name. ⁷ Are you not as the children of the Ethiopians to me, children of Yasharaal? says Yahawah. Haven't I brought up Yasharaal out of the land of Matzarayam, and the Palashath from Kapathawar, and the Aram from Qayar? ⁸ Behold, the eyes of the Adanay Yahawah are on the sinful kingdom, and I will destroy it from off the surface of the earth; except that I will not utterly destroy the house of Yaiqab, says Yahawah. ⁹ For, behold, I will command, and I will sift the house of Yasharaal among all the nations, like as [grain] is sifted in a sieve, yet shall not the least kernel fall on the earth. ¹⁰ All the sinners of my people shall die by the sword, who say, The evil shall not overtake nor meet us. ¹¹ In who day will I raise up the tent of Dawad who is fallen, and close up the breaches of it; and I will raise up its ruins, and I will build it as in the days of old; ¹² who they may possess the remnant of Adawam, and all the nations who are called by my name, says Yahawah who does this. ¹³ Behold, the days come, says Yahawah, that the plowman shall overtake the reaper, and the one treading grapes him who sows seed; and the mountains shall drop sweet wine, and all the hills shall melt. ¹⁴ I will bring back the captivity of my people Yasharaal, and they shall build the waste cities, and inhabit them; and they shall plant vineyards, and drink the wine of it; they shall also make gardens, and eat the fruit of them. ¹⁵ I will plant them on their land, and they shall no more be plucked up out of their land which I have given them, says Yahawah your Alahayam.

Obadiah

1 The vision of Ibadayah. This is what the Adanay Yahawah says about Adawam. We have heard news from Yahawah, and an ambassador is sent among the nations, saying, "Arise, and let's rise up against her in battle." 2 Behold, I have made you small among the nations. You are greatly despised. 3 The pride of your heart has deceived you, you who dwell in the clefts of the rock, whose habitation is high, who says in his heart, "Who will bring me down to the ground?" 4 Though you mount on high as the eagle, and though your nest is set among the stars, I will bring you down from there, says Yahawah. 5 If thieves came to you, if robbers by night -- oh, what disaster awaits you -- wouldn't they only steal until they had enough? If grape pickers came to you, wouldn't they leave some gleanings? 6 How Ishaw will be ransacked! How his hidden treasures are sought out! 7 All the men of your alliance have brought you on your way, even to the border. The men who were at peace with you have deceived you, and prevailed against you. Friends who eat your bread lay a snare under you. There is no understanding in him. 8 "Won't I in that day," says Yahawah, "destroy the wise men out of Adawam, and understanding out of the mountain of Ishaw?" 9 Your mighty men, Thayaman, will be dismayed, to the end that everyone may be cut off from the mountain of Ishaw by slaughter. 10 For the violence done to your brother Yaiqab, shame will cover you, and you will be cut off forever. 11 In the day that you stood on the other side, in the day that strangers carried away his substance, and foreigners entered into his gates, and cast lots for Yarawashalam, even you were like one of them. 12 But don't look down on your brother in the day of his disaster, and don't rejoice over the children of Yahawadah in the day of their destruction. Don't speak proudly in the day of distress. 13 Don't enter into the gate of my people in the day of their calamity. Don't look down on their affliction in the day of their calamity, neither seize their wealth on the day of their calamity. 14 Don't stand in the crossroads to cut off those of his who escape. Don't deliver up those of his who remain in the day of distress. 15 For the day of Yahawah is near all the nations! As you have done, it will be done to you. Your deeds will return upon your own head. 16 For as you have drunk on my holy mountain, so will all the nations drink continually. Yes, they will drink, swallow down, and will be as though they had not been. 17 But in Mount Tzayawan, there will be those who escape, and it will be holy. The house of Yaiqab will possess their possessions. 18 The house of Yaiqab will be a fire, the house of Yawasap a flame, and the house of Ishaw for stubble. They will burn among them, and devour them. There will not be any remaining to the house of Ishaw." Indeed, Yahawah has spoken. 19 Those of the South will possess the mountain of Ishaw, and those of the lowland, the Palashath. They will possess the field of Aparayam, and the field of Shamarawan. Banayaman will possess Galaid. 20 The captives of this host of the children of Yasharaal, who are among the Canaanites, will possess even to Tzarapath; and the captives of Yarawashalam, who are in Sapparad, will possess the cities of the Nagab. 21 Saviors will go up on Mount Tzayawan to judge the mountains of Ishaw, and the kingdom will be Yahawah's.

Jonah

1 Now the word of Yahawah came to Yawanah the son of Amathay, saying, ² "Arise, go to Nayanawah, that great city, and preach against it, for their wickedness has come up before me."

³ But Yawanah rose up to flee to Tharashayash from the presence of Yahawah. He went down to Yapaw, and found a ship going to Tharashayash; so he paid its fare, and went down into it, to go with them to Tharashayash from the presence of Yahawah. ⁴ But Yahawah sent out a great wind on the sea, and there was a mighty tempest on the sea, so that the ship was likely brake up. ⁵ Then the mariners were afraid, and cried every man to his god. They threw the cargo that was in the ship into the sea, to lighten it. But Yawanah had gone down into the innermost parts of the ship, and he was laying down, and was fast asleep. ⁶ So the shipmaster came to him, and said to him, "What do you mean, sleeper? Arise, call on your gods! Maybe the gods will notice us, so that we won't perish."

⁷ They all said to each other, "Come, let us cast lots, that we may know for whose cause this evil is on us." So they cast lots, and the lot fell on Yawanah. ⁸ Then they asked him, "Tell us, please, for whose cause this evil is on us. What is your occupation? Where do you come from? What is your country? Of what people are you?"

⁹ He said to them, "I am a Hebrew, and I fear Yahawah, the Alahayam of heaven, who has made the sea and the dry land."

¹⁰ Then were the men exceedingly afraid, and said to him, "What is this that you have done?" For the men knew that he was fleeing from the presence of Yahawah, because he had told them. ¹¹ Then said they to him, "What shall we do to you, that the sea may be calm to us?" For the sea grew more and more tempestuous. ¹² He said to them, "Take me up, and throw me into the sea. Then the sea will be calm for you; for I know that because of me this great tempest is on you." ¹³ Nevertheless the men rowed hard to get them back to the land; but they could not, for the sea grew more and more tempestuous against them. ¹⁴ Therefore they cried to Yahawah, and said, "We beg you, Yahawah, we beg you, let us not perish for this man's life, and don't lay on us innocent blood; for you, Yahawah, have done as it pleased you." ¹⁵ So they took up Yawanah, and threw him into the sea; and the sea ceased its raging. ¹⁶ Then the men feared Yahawah exceedingly; and they offered a sacrifice to Yahawah, and made vows.

2 Then Yawanah prayed to Yahawah, his Alahayam, out of the fish's belly. ³ He said, "I called because of my affliction to Yahawah. He answered me. Out of the belly of Sheol I cried. You heard my voice. ⁴ For you threw me into the depths, In the heart of the seas. The flood was all around me. All your waves and your billows passed over me. ⁵ I said, 'I have been banished from your sight; Yet I will look again toward your holy temple.' ⁶ The waters surrounded me, Even to the soul. The deep was around me. The weeds were wrapped around my head. ⁷ I went down to the bottoms of the mountains. The earth barred me in forever: Yet have you brought up my life from the pit, Yahawah my Alahayam. ⁸ "When my soul fainted within me, I remembered Yahawah. My prayer came in to you, into your holy temple. ⁹ Those who regard lying vanities forsake their own mercy. ¹⁰ But I will sacrifice to you with the voice of thanksgiving. I will pay that which I have vowed. Salvation belongs to Yahawah." ¹¹ Yahawah spoke to the fish, and it vomited out Yawanah on the dry land.

3 The word of Yahawah came to Yawanah the second time, saying, ² "Arise, go to Nayanawah, that great city, and preach to it the message that I give you." ³ So Yawanah arose, and went to Nayanawah, according to the word of Yahawah. Now Nayanawah was an exceedingly great city, three days' journey across. ⁴ Yawanah began to enter into the city a day's journey, and he cried out, and said, "Yet forty days, and Nayanawah shall be overthrown!" ⁵ The people of Nayanawah believed Alahayam; and they proclaimed a fast, and put on sackcloth, from the greatest of them even to the least of them. ⁶ The news reached the king of Nayanawah, and he arose from his throne, and took off his royal robe, covered himself with sackcloth, and sat in ashes. ⁷ He made a proclamation and published through Nayanawah by the decree of the king and his nobles, saying, "Let neither man nor animal, herd nor flock, taste anything; let them not feed, nor drink water; ⁸ but let them be covered with sackcloth, both man and animal, and let them cry mightily to Alahayam. Yes, let them turn everyone from his evil way, and from the violence that is in his hands. ⁹ Who knows whether Alahayam will not turn and repent, and turn away from his fierce anger, so that we might not perish?" ¹⁰ Alahayam saw their works, that they turned from their evil way. Alahayam repented of the evil which he said he would do to them, and he didn't do it.

4 But it displeased Yawanah exceedingly, and he was angry. ² He prayed to Yahawah, and said, "Please, Yahawah, wasn't this what I said when I was still in my own country? Therefore I hurried to flee to Tharashayash, for I knew that you are a gracious Alahayam, and merciful, slow to anger, and abundant in lovingkindness, and you repent of the evil. ³ Therefore now, Yahawah, take, I beg you, my life from me; for it is better for me to die than to live." ⁴ Yahawah said, "Is it right for you to be angry?" ⁵ Then Yawanah went out of the city, and sat on the east side of the city, and there made himself a booth, and sat under it in the shade, until he might see what would become of the city. ⁶ Yahawah Alahayam prepared a vine, and made it to come up over Yawanah, that it might be a shade over his head, to deliver him from his discomfort. So Yawanah was exceedingly glad because of the gourd. ⁷ But Alahayam prepared a worm at dawn the next day, and it chewed on vine, so that it withered. ⁸ It happened, when the sun arose, that Alahayam prepared a sultry east wind; and the sun beat on Yawanah's head, so that he fainted, and requested for himself that he might die, and said, "It is better for me to die than to live." ⁹ Alahayam said to Yawanah, "Is it right for you to be angry about the vine?" He said, "I am right to be angry, even to death." ¹⁰ Yahawah said, "You have been concerned for the vine, for which you have not labored, neither made it grow; which came up in a night, and perished in a night. ¹¹ Shouldn't I be concerned for Nayanawah, that great city, in which are more than one hundred twenty thousand persons who can't discern between their right hand and their left hand; and also much cattle?"

1 The word of Yahawah that came to Mayakah the Morashtite in the days of Yawatham, Achaz, and Chazaqayahaw, kings of Yahawadah, which he saw concerning Shamarawan and Yarawashalam. 2 Hear, you peoples, all of you. Listen, earth, and all that is therein: And let the Adanay Yahawah be witness against you, The Adanay from his holy temple. 3 For, behold, Yahawah comes forth out of his place, And will come down and tread on the high places of the earth. 4 The mountains melt under him, And the valleys split apart, Like wax before the fire, Like waters that are poured down a steep place. 5 All this is for the disobedience of Yaiqab, And for the sins of the house of Yasharaal. What is the disobedience of Yaiqab? is it not Shamarawan? and what are the high places of Yahawadah? aren't they Yarawashalam? 6 Therefore I will make Shamarawan as a heap of the field, [and] as places for planting vineyards; and I will pour down the stones of it into the valley, and I will uncover the foundations of it. 7 All her engraved images shall be beaten to pieces, and all her hires shall be burned with fire, and all her idols will I lay desolate; for of the hire of a prostitute has she gathered them, and to the hire of a prostitute shall they return. 8 For this will I lament and wail; I will go stripped and naked; I will make a wailing like the jackals, and a lamentation like the ostriches. 9 For her wounds are incurable; for it is come even to Yahawadah; it reaches to the gate of my people, even to Yarawashalam. 10 Don't tell it in Gath, don't weep at all: at Bayath-le-aphrah have I rolled myself in the dust. 11 Pass away, inhabitant of Shapayar, in nakedness and shame: the inhabitant of Tzaanan hasn't come forth; the wailing of Haatzal shall take from you the stay of it. 12 For the inhabitant of Marawath waits anxiously for good, because evil is come down from Yahawah to the gate of Yarawashalam. 13 Bind the chariot to the swift steed, inhabitant of Lakayash: she was the beginning of sin to the daughter of Tzayawan; for the transgressions of Yasharaal were found in you. 14 Therefore shall you give a parting gift to Gath: the houses of Akazayab shall be a deceitful thing to the kings of Yasharaal. 15 I will yet bring to you, inhabitant of Marashah, him who shall possess you: the glory of Yasharaal shall come even to Idalam. 16 Make you bald, and cut off your hair for the children of your delight: enlarge your baldness as the eagle; for they are gone into captivity from you.

2 Woe to those who devise iniquity and work evil on their beds! when the morning is light, they practice it, because it is in the power of their hand. 2 They covet fields, and seize them; and houses, and take them away: and they oppress a man and his house, even a man and his heritage. 3 Therefore thus says Yahawah: Behold, against this family do I devise an evil, from which you shall not remove your necks, neither shall you walk haughtily; for it is an evil time. 4 In that day shall they take up a parable against you, and lament with a doleful lamentation, [and] say, We are utterly ruined: he changes the portion of my people: how does he remove [it] from me! to the rebellious he divides our fields. 5 Therefore you shall have none who shall cast the line by lot in the assembly of Yahawah. 6 Don't you prophesy, [thus] they prophesy. They shall not prophesy to these: reproaches shall not depart. 7 Shall it be said, O house of Yaiqab, Is the Spirit of Yahawah straitened? are these his doings? Do not my words do good to him who walks blamelessly? 8 But of late my people is risen up as an enemy: you strip the robe from off the garment from those who pass by securely [as men] returned from war. 9 The women of my people you cast out from their pleasant houses; from their young children you take away my glory forever. 10 Arise you, and depart; for this is not your resting-place; because of uncleanness that destroys, even with a grievous destruction. 11 If a man walking in a spirit of falsehood do lie, [saying], I will prophesy to you of wine and of strong drink; he shall even be the prophet of this people. 12 I will surely assemble, Yaiqab, all of you; I will surely gather the remnant of Yasharaal; I will put them together as the sheep of Batzarah, as a flock in the midst of their pasture; they shall make great noise by reason of [the multitude of] men. 13 The breaker is gone up before them: they have broken forth and passed on to the gate, and are gone out thereat; and their king is passed on before them, and Yahawah at the head of them.

3 I said, Please hear, you heads of Yaiqab, and rulers of the house of Yasharaal: is it not for you to know justice? 2 you who hate the good, and love the evil; who pluck off their skin from off them, and their flesh from off their bones; 3 who also eat the flesh of my people, and flay their skin from off them, and break their bones, and chop them in pieces, as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron. 4 Then shall they cry to Yahawah, but he will not answer them; yes, he will hide his face from them at that time, according as they have worked evil in their doings. 5 Thus says Yahawah concerning the prophets who make my people to err; who bite with their teeth, and cry, Peace; and whoever doesn't put into their mouths, they even prepare war against him: 6 Therefore it shall be night to you, that you shall have no vision; and it shall be dark to you, that you shall not divine; and the sun shall go down on the prophets, and the day shall be black over them. 7 The seers shall be put to shame, and the diviners confounded; yes, they shall all cover their lips; for there is no answer of Alahayam. 8 But as for me, I am full of power by the Spirit of Yahawah, and of judgment, and of might, to declare to Yaiqab his disobedience, and to Yasharaal his sin. 9 Please hear this you heads of the house of Yaiqab, and rulers of the house of Yasharaal, who abhor justice, and pervert all equity. 10 They build up Tzayawan with blood, and Yarawashalam with iniquity. 11 The heads of it judge for reward, and the priests of it teach for hire, and the prophets of it divine for money: yet they lean on Yahawah, and say, Is not Yahawah in the midst of us? no evil shall come on us. 12 Therefore shall Tzayawan for your sake be plowed as a field, and Yarawashalam shall become heaps, and the mountain of the house as the high places of a forest.

4 But in the latter days it shall happen that the mountain of Yahawah's house shall be established on the top of the mountains, and it shall be exalted above the hills; and peoples shall flow to it. 3 Many nations shall go and say, Come you, and let us go up to the mountain of Yahawah, and to the house of the Alahayam of Yaiqab; and he will teach us of his ways, and we will walk in his paths. For out of Tzayawan shall go forth the law, and the word of Yahawah from Yarawashalam; 4 and he will judge between many peoples, and will decide concerning strong nations afar off: and they shall beat their swords into plowshares, and their spears into pruning-hooks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more. 5 But they shall sit every man under his vine and under his fig-tree; and none shall make them afraid: for the mouth of Yahawah Tzabaawath has spoken it. 6 For all the peoples walk everyone in the name of his god; and we will walk in the name of Yahawah our Alahayam forever and ever. 7 In that day, says Yahawah, will I assemble that which is lame, and I will gather that which is driven away, and that which I have afflicted; 8 and I will make that which was lame a remnant, and that which was cast far off a strong nation: and Yahawah will reign over them on Mount Tzayawan from henceforth even forever. 9 You, tower of the flock, the hill of the daughter of Tzayawan, to you shall it come, yes, the former dominion shall come, the kingdom of the daughter of Yarawashalam.¹⁰ Now why do you cry out aloud? Is there no king in you, is your counselor perished, that pangs have taken hold of you as of a woman in travail?¹¹ Be in pain, and labor to bring forth, daughter of Tzayawan, like a woman in travail; for now shall you go forth out of the city, and shall dwell in the field, and shall come even to Babal: there shall you be rescued; there will Yahawah redeem you from the hand of your enemies.¹² Now many nations are assembled against you, that say, Let her be defiled, and let our eye see [our desire] on Tzayawan.¹³ But they don't know the thoughts of Yahawah, neither understand they his counsel; for he has gathered them as the sheaves to the threshing floor.¹⁴ Arise and thresh, daughter of Tzayawan; for I will make your horn iron, and I will make your hoofs brass; and you shall beat in pieces many peoples: and I will devote their gain to Yahawah, and their substance to the Adanay of the whole earth.

5 Now shall you gather yourself in troops, daughter of troops: he has laid siege against us; they shall strike the judge of Yasharaal with a rod on the cheek.² But you, Bayath-lehem Aparathah, which are little to be among the thousands of Yahawadah, out of you shall one come forth to me that is to be ruler in Yasharaal; whose goings forth are from of old, from everlasting.³ Therefore will he give them up, until the time that she who travails has brought forth: then the residue of his brothers shall return to the children of Yasharaal.⁴ He shall stand, and shall feed [his flock] in the strength of Yahawah, in the majesty of the name of Yahawah his Alahayam: and they shall abide; for now shall he be great to the ends of the earth.⁵ This [man] shall be [our] peace. When the Assyrian shall come into our land, and when he shall tread in our palaces, then shall we raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principal men.⁶ They shall waste the land of Ashawar with the sword, and the land of Namarad in the entrances of it: and he shall deliver us from the Assyrian, when he comes into our land, and when he treads within our border.⁷ The remnant of Yaiqab shall be in the midst of many peoples as dew from Yahawah, as showers on the grass, that don't wait for man, nor wait for the sons of men.⁸ The remnant of Yaiqab shall be among the nations, in the midst of many peoples, as a lion among the animals of the forest, as a young lion among the flocks of sheep; who, if he go through, treads down and tears in pieces, and there is none to deliver.⁹ Let your hand be lifted up above your adversaries, and let all your enemies be cut off.¹⁰ It shall happen in that day, says Yahawah, that I will cut off your horses out of the midst of you, and will destroy your chariots:¹¹ and I will cut off the cities of your land, and will throw down all your strongholds.¹² I will cut off witchcraft out of your hand; and you shall have no [more] soothsayers:¹³ and I will cut off your engraved images and your pillars out of the midst of you; and you shall no more worship the work of your hands;¹⁴ and I will pluck up your Asherim out of the midst of you; and I will destroy your cities.

6 Hear you now what Yahawah says: Arise, contend you before the mountains, and let the hills hear your voice.² Hear, you mountains, Yahawah's controversy, and you enduring foundations of the earth; for Yahawah has a controversy with his people, and he will contend with Yasharaal.³ My people, what have I done to you? and in which have I wearied you? testify against me.⁴ For I brought you up out of the land of Matzarayam, and redeemed you out of the house of bondage; and I sent before you Mashah, Aharan, and Marayam.⁵ My people, remember now what Balaq king of Mawaab devised, and what Balaim the son of Baiwar answered him; [remember] from Shatayam to Galagal, that you may know the righteous acts of Yahawah.⁶ How shall I come before Yahawah, and bow myself before the high Alahayam? Shall I come before him with burnt offerings, with calves a year old?⁷ Will Yahawah be pleased with thousands of rams, [or] with ten thousands of rivers of oil? Shall I give my firstborn for my disobedience, the fruit of my body for the sin of my soul?⁸ He has showed you, man, what is good; and what does Yahawah require of you, but to do justly, and to love kindness, and to walk humbly with your Alahayam?⁹ The voice of Yahawah cries to the city, and [the man of] wisdom will see your name: hear you the rod, and who has appointed it.¹⁰ Are there yet treasures of wickedness in the house of the wicked, and a scant measure that is abominable?¹¹ Shall I be pure with wicked balances, and with a bag of deceitful weights?¹² For the rich men of it are full of violence, and the inhabitants of it have spoken lies, and their tongue is deceitful in their mouth.¹³ Therefore I also have struck you with a grievous wound; I have made you desolate because of your sins.¹⁴ You shall eat, but not be satisfied; and your humiliation shall be in the midst of you: and you shall put away, but shall not save; and that which you save will I give up to the sword.¹⁵ You shall sow, but shall not reap; you shall tread the olives, but shall not anoint you with oil; and the vintage, but shall not drink the wine.¹⁶ For the statutes of Imaray are kept, and all the works of the house of Achaab, and you walk in their counsels; that I may make you a desolation, and the inhabitants of it a hissing; and you shall bear the reproach of my people.

7 Woe is me! for I am as when they have gathered the summer fruits, as the grape gleanings of the vintage: there is no cluster to eat; my soul desires the first-ripe fig.² The godly man is perished out of the earth, and there is none upright among men: they all lie in wait for blood; they hunt every man his brother with a net.³ Their hands are on that which is evil to do it diligently; the prince asks, and the judge [is ready] for a reward; and the great man, he utters the evil desire of his soul: thus they weave it together.⁴ The best of them is as a brier; the most upright is [worse] than a thorn hedge: the day of your watchmen, even your visitation, is come; now shall be their perplexity.⁵ Don't you trust in a neighbor; don't you put confidence in a friend; keep the doors of your mouth from her who lies in your bosom.⁶ For the son dishonors the father, the daughter rises up against her mother, the daughter-in-law against her mother-in-law; a man's enemies are the men of his own house.⁷ But as for me, I will look to Yahawah; I will wait for the Alahayam of my salvation: my Alahayam will hear me.⁸ Don't rejoice against me, my enemy: when I fall, I shall arise; when I sit in darkness, Yahawah will be a light to me.⁹ I will bear the indignation of Yahawah, because I have sinned against him, until he plead my cause, and execute judgment for me: he will bring me forth to the light, [and] I shall see his righteousness.¹⁰ Then my enemy shall see it, and shame shall cover her who said to me, Where is Yahawah your Alahayam? My eyes shall see [my desire] on her; now shall she be trodden down as the mire of the streets.¹¹ A day for building your walls! in that day shall the decree be far removed.¹² In that day shall they come to you from Ashawar and the cities of Matzarayam, and from Matzarayam even to the River, and from sea to sea, and [from] mountain to mountain.¹³ Yet shall the land be desolate because of those who dwell therein, for the fruit of their doings.¹⁴ Feed your people with your rod, the flock of your heritage, which dwell solitarily, in the forest in the midst of Karamal: let them feed in Bashan and Galaad, as in the days of old.¹⁵ As in the days of your coming forth out of the land of Matzarayam will I show to them marvelous things.¹⁶ The nations shall see and be ashamed of all their might; they shall lay their hand on their mouth; their ears shall be deaf.¹⁷ They shall lick the dust like a serpent; like crawling things of the earth they shall come trembling out of their close places; they shall come with fear to Yahawah our Alahayam, and shall be afraid because of you.¹⁸ Who is a Alahayam like you, that pardons iniquity, and passes over the disobedience of the remnant of his heritage? he doesn't retain his anger forever, because he delights in lovingkindness.¹⁹ He will again have compassion on us; he will tread our iniquities under foot; and you will cast all their sins into the depths of the sea.²⁰ You will perform the truth to Yaiqab, [and] the lovingkindness to Abaraham, which you have sworn to our fathers from the days of old.

1 An oracle about Nayanawah. The book of the vision of Nachawam the Elkoshite. ² Yahawah is a jealous Alahayam and avenges. Yahawah avenges and is full of wrath. Yahawah takes vengeance on his adversaries, and he maintains wrath against his enemies. ³ Yahawah is slow to anger, and great in power, and will by no means leave the guilty unpunished. Yahawah has his way in the whirlwind and in the storm, and the clouds are the dust of his feet. ⁴ He rebukes the sea, and makes it dry, and dries up all the rivers. Bashan languishes, and Karamal; and the flower of Labanawan languishes. ⁵ The mountains quake before him, and the hills melt away. The earth trembles at his presence, yes, the world, and all who dwell in it. ⁶ Who can stand before his indignation? Who can endure the fierceness of his anger? His wrath is poured out like fire, and the rocks are broken apart by him. ⁷ Yahawah is good, a stronghold in the day of trouble; and he knows those who take refuge in him. ⁸ But with an overflowing flood, he will make a full end of her place, and will pursue his enemies into darkness. ⁹ What do you plot against Yahawah? He will make a full end. Affliction won't rise up the second time. ¹⁰ For entangled like thorns, and drunken as with their drink, they are consumed utterly like dry stubble. ¹¹ There is one gone forth out of you, who devises evil against Yahawah, who counsels wickedness. ¹² Thus says Yahawah: "Though they be in full strength, and likewise many, even so they will be cut down, and he shall pass away. Though I have afflicted you, I will afflict you no more. ¹³ Now will I break his yoke from off you, and will burst your bonds apart." ¹⁴ Yahawah has commanded concerning you, that no more descendants bear your name. Out of the house of your gods, will I cut off the engraved image and the molten image. I will make your grave, for you are vile.

2 He who dashes in pieces has come up against you. Keep the fortress! Watch the way! Strengthen your loins! Fortify your power mightily! ³ For Yahawah restores the excellency of Yaiqab, as the excellency of Yasharaal; for the destroyers have destroyed them, and ruined their vine branches. ⁴ The shield of his mighty men is made red. The valiant men are in scarlet. The chariots flash with steel in the day of his preparation, and the pine spears are brandished. ⁵ The chariots rage in the streets. They rush back and forth in the broad ways. Their appearance is like torches. They run like the lightnings. ⁶ He summons his picked troops. They stumble on their way. They dash to its wall, and the protective shield is put in place. ⁷ The gates of the rivers are opened, and the palace is dissolved. ⁸ It is decreed: she is uncovered, she is carried away; and her handmaids moan as with the voice of doves, beating on their breasts. ⁹ But Nayanawah has been from of old like a pool of water, yet they flee away. "Stop! Stop!" they cry, but no one looks back. ¹⁰ Take the spoil of silver. Take the spoil of gold, for there is no end of the store, the glory of all goodly furniture. ¹¹ She is empty, void, and waste. The heart melts, the knees knock together, their bodies and faces have grown pale. ¹² Where is the den of the lions, and the feeding-place of the young lions, where the lion and the lioness walked, the lion's cubs, and no one made them afraid? ¹³ The lion tore in pieces enough for his cubs, and strangled for his lionesses, and filled his caves with the kill, and his dens with prey. ¹⁴ "Behold, I am against you," says Yahawah Tzabaawath, "and I will burn her chariots in the smoke, and the sword will devour your young lions; and I will cut off your prey from the earth, and the voice of your messengers will no longer be heard."

3 Woe to the bloody city! It is all full of lies and robbery. The prey doesn't depart. ² The noise of the whip, the noise of the rattling of wheels, prancing horses, and bounding chariots, ³ the horseman mounting, and the flashing sword, the glittering spear, and a multitude of slain, and a great heap of corpses, and there is no end of the bodies. They stumble on their bodies, ⁴ because of the multitude of the prostitution of the alluring prostitute, the mistress of witchcraft, who sells nations through her prostitution, and families through her witchcraft. ⁵ "Behold, I am against you," says Yahawah Tzabaawath, "and I will lift your skirts over your face. I will show the nations your nakedness, and the kingdoms your shame. ⁶ I will throw abominable filth on you, and make you vile, and will set you a spectacle. ⁷ It will happen that all those who look at you will flee from you, and say, 'Nayanawah is laid waste Who will mourn for her?' Where will I seek comforters for you?" ⁸ Are you better than No-Amawan, who was situated among the rivers, who had the waters around her; whose rampart was the sea, and her wall was of the sea? ⁹ Kawash and Matzarayam were her boundless strength. Pawat and Libya were her helpers. ¹⁰ Yet was she carried away. She went into captivity. Her young children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streets, and they cast lots for her honorable men, and all her great men were bound in chains. ¹¹ You also will be drunken. You will be hidden. You also will seek a stronghold because of the enemy. ¹² All your fortresses will be like fig-trees with the first-ripe figs: if they are shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater. ¹³ Behold, your people in the midst of you are women. The gates of your land are set wide open to your enemies. The fire has devoured your bars. ¹⁴ Draw water for the siege. Strengthen your fortresses. Go into the clay, and tread the mortar. Make the brick kiln strong. ¹⁵ There the fire will devour you. The sword will cut you off. It will devour you like the grasshopper. Multiply like grasshoppers. Multiply like the locust. ¹⁶ You have increased your merchants more than the stars of the skies. The grasshopper strips, and flees away. ¹⁷ Your guards are like the locusts, and your officials like the swarms of locusts, which settle on the walls on a cold day, but when the sun appears, they flee away, and their place is not known where they are. ¹⁸ Your shepherds slumber, king of Ashawar. Your nobles lie down. Your people are scattered on the mountains, and there is no one to gather them. ¹⁹ There is no healing your wound, for your injury is fatal. All who hear the report of you clap their hands over you; for who hasn't felt your endless cruelty?

1 The oracle which Chabaqawaq the prophet saw. ² Yahawah, how long will I cry, and you will not hear? I cry out to you "Violence!" and will you not save? ³ Why do you show me iniquity, and look at perversity? For destruction and violence are before me. There is strife, and contention rises up. ⁴ Therefore the law is paralyzed, and justice never goes forth; for the wicked surround the righteous; therefore justice goes forth perverted. ⁵ "Look among the nations, watch, and wonder marvelously; for I am working a work in your days, which you will not believe though it is told you. ⁶ For, behold, I raise up the Kashadayam, that bitter and hasty nation, that march through the breadth of the earth, to possess dwelling places that are not theirs. ⁷ They are feared and dreaded. Their judgment and their dignity proceed from themselves. ⁸ Their horses also are swifter than leopards, and are more fierce than the evening wolves. Their horsemen press proudly on. Yes, their horsemen come from afar. They fly as an eagle that hurries to devour. ⁹ All of them come for violence. Their hordes face the desert. He gathers prisoners like sand. ¹⁰ Yes, he scoffs at kings, and princes are a derision to him. He laughs at every stronghold, for he builds up an earthen ramp, and takes it. ¹¹ Then he sweeps by like the wind, and goes on. He is indeed guilty, whose strength is his god." ¹² Aren't you from everlasting, Yahawah my Alahayam, my Holy One? We will not die. Yahawah, you have appointed him for judgment. You, Rock, have established him to punish. ¹³ You who have purer eyes than to see evil, and who cannot look on perversity, why do you tolerate those who deal treacherously, and keep silent when the wicked swallows up the man who is more righteous than he, ¹⁴ and make men like the fish of the sea, like the creeping things, that have no ruler over them? ¹⁵ He takes up all of them with the hook. He catches them in his net, and gathers them in his dragnet. Therefore he rejoices and is glad. ¹⁶ Therefore he sacrifices to his net, and burns incense to his dragnet, because by them his life is luxurious, and his food is good. ¹⁷ Will he therefore continually empty his net, and kill the nations without mercy?

2 I will stand at my watch, and set myself on the ramparts, and will look out to see what he will say to me, and what I will answer concerning my complaint. ² Yahawah answered me, "Write the vision, and make it plain on tablets, that he may run who reads it. ³ For the vision is yet for the appointed time, and it hurries toward the end, and won't prove false. Though it takes time, wait for it; because it will surely come. It won't delay. ⁴ Behold, his soul is puffed up. It is not upright in him, but the righteous will live by his faith. ⁵ Yes, moreover, wine is treacherous. A haughty man who doesn't stay at home, who enlarges his desire as Sheol, and he is like death, and can't be satisfied, but gathers to himself all nations, and heaps to himself all peoples. ⁶ Won't all these take up a parable against him, and a taunting proverb against him, and say, 'Woe to him who increases that which is not his, and who enriches himself by extortion! How long?' ⁷ Won't your debtors rise up suddenly, and wake up those who make you tremble, and you will be their victim?' ⁸ Because you have plundered many nations, all the remnant of the peoples will plunder you, because of men's blood, and for the violence done to the land, to the city and to all who dwell in it. ⁹ Woe to him who gets an evil gain for his house, that he may set his nest on high, that he may be delivered from the hand of evil! ¹⁰ You have devised shame to your house, by cutting off many peoples, and have sinned against your soul. ¹¹ For the stone will cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the woodwork will answer it. ¹² Woe to him who builds a town with blood, and establishes a city by iniquity! ¹³ Behold, isn't it of Yahawah Tzabaawath that the peoples labor for the fire, and the nations weary themselves for vanity? ¹⁴ For the earth will be filled with the knowledge of the glory of Yahawah, as the waters cover the sea. ¹⁵ "Woe to him who gives his neighbor drink, pouring your inflaming wine until they are drunk, so that you may gaze at their naked bodies! ¹⁶ You are filled with shame, and not glory. You will also drink, and be exposed! The cup of Yahawah's right hand will come around to you, and disgrace will cover your glory. ¹⁷ For the violence done to Labanawan will overwhelm you, and the destruction of the animals, which made them afraid; because of men's blood, and for the violence done to the land, to every city and to those who dwell in them. ¹⁸ "What value does the engraved image have, that its maker has engraved it; the molten image, even the teacher of lies, that he who fashions its form trusts in it, to make mute idols? ¹⁹ Woe to him who says to the wood, 'Awake!' or to the mute stone, 'Arise!' Shall this teach? Behold, it is overlaid with gold and silver, and there is no breath at all in the midst of it. ²⁰ But Yahawah is in his holy temple. Let all the earth be silent before him!"

3 A prayer of Chabaqawaq, the prophet, set to victorious music. ² Yahawah, I have heard of your fame. I stand in awe of your deeds, Yahawah. Renew your work in the midst of the years. In the midst of the years make it known. In wrath, you remember mercy. ³ Alahayam came from Thayaman, The Holy One from Mount Paaran. Selah. His glory covered the heavens, And his praise filled the earth. ⁴ His splendor is like the sunrise. Rays shine from his hand, where his power is hidden. ⁵ Plague went before him, And pestilence followed his feet. ⁶ He stood, and shook the earth. He looked, and made the nations tremble. The ancient mountains were crumbled. The Agaa-old hills collapsed. His ways are eternal. ⁷ I saw the tents of Kawashan in affliction. The dwellings of the land of Madayan trembled. ⁸ Was Yahawah displeased with the rivers? Was your anger against the rivers, Or your wrath against the sea, That you rode on your horses, On your chariots of salvation? ⁹ You uncovered your bow. You called for your sworn arrows. Selah. You split the earth with rivers. ¹⁰ The mountains saw you, and were afraid. The tempest of waters passed by. The deep roared and lifted up its hands on high. ¹¹ The sun and moon stood still in the sky, At the light of your arrows as they went, At the shining of your glittering spear. ¹² You marched through the land in wrath. You threshed the nations in anger. ¹³ You went forth for the salvation of your people, For the salvation of your anointed. You crushed the head of the land of wickedness. You stripped them head to foot. Selah. ¹⁴ You pierced the heads of his warriors with their own spears. They came as a whirlwind to scatter me, Gloating as if to devour the wretched in secret. ¹⁵ You trampled the sea with your horses, Churning mighty waters. ¹⁶ I heard, and my body trembled. My lips quivered at the voice. Rottenness enters into my bones, and I tremble in my place, Because I must wait quietly for the day of trouble, For the coming up of the people who invade us. ¹⁷ For though the fig tree doesn't flourish, Nor fruit be in the vines; The labor of the olive fails, The fields yield no food; The flocks are cut off from the fold, And there is no herd in the stalls; ¹⁸ Yet I will rejoice in Yahawah. I will be joyful in the Alahayam of my salvation! ¹⁹ Yahawah, the Adanay, is my strength. He makes my feet like deer's feet, And enables me to go in high places. For the music director, on my stringed instruments.

1 The word of Yahawah which came to Tzapanayah, the son of Kawashay, the son of Gadalayahaw, the son of Amarayah, the son of Chazaqayahaw, in the days of Yaashayahaw, the son of Amawan, king of Yahawadah. ² I will utterly sweep away everything off of the surface of the earth, says Yahawah. ³ I will sweep away man and animal. I will sweep away the birds of the sky, the fish of the sea, and the heaps of rubble with the wicked. I will cut off man from the surface of the earth, says Yahawah. ⁴ I will stretch out my hand against Yahawadah, and against all the inhabitants of Yarawashalam. I will cut off the remnant of Bail from this place: the name of the idolatrous and pagan priests, ⁵ those who worship the host of the sky on the housetops, those who worship and swear by Yahawah and also swear by Malcam, ⁶ those who have turned back from following Yahawah, and those who haven't sought Yahawah nor inquired after him. ⁷ Be silent at the presence of the Adanay Yahawah, for the day of Yahawah is at hand. For Yahawah has prepared a sacrifice. He has consecrated his guests. ⁸ It will happen in the day of Yahawah's sacrifice, that I will punish the princes, the king's sons, and all those who as are clothed with foreign clothing. ⁹ In that day, I will punish all those who leap over the threshold, who fill their master's house with violence and deceit. ¹⁰ In that day, says Yahawah, there will be the noise of a cry from the fish gate, a wailing from the second quarter, and a great crashing from the hills. ¹¹ Wail, you inhabitants of Maktesh, for all the people of Kanain are undone! All those who were laden with silver are cut off. ¹² It will happen at that time, that I will search Yarawashalam with lamps, and I will punish the men who are settled on their dregs, who say in their heart, "Yahawah will not do good, neither will he do evil." ¹³ Their wealth will become a spoil, and their houses a desolation. Yes, they will build houses, but won't inhabit them. They will plant vineyards, but won't drink their wine. ¹⁴ The great day of Yahawah is near. It is near, and hurries greatly, the voice of the day of Yahawah. The mighty man cries there bitterly. ¹⁵ That day is a day of wrath, a day of distress and anguish, a day of trouble and ruin, a day of darkness and gloom, a day of clouds and blackness, ¹⁶ a day of the trumpet and alarm, against the fortified cities, and against the high battlements. ¹⁷ I will bring distress on men, that they will walk like blind men, because they have sinned against Yahawah, and their blood will be poured out like dust, and their flesh like dung. ¹⁸ Neither their silver nor their gold will be able to deliver them in the day of Yahawah's wrath, but the whole land will be devoured by the fire of his jealousy; for he will make an end, yes, a terrible end, of all those who dwell in the land.

2 Gather yourselves together, yes, gather together, you nation that has no shame, ² before the appointed time when the day passes as the chaff, before the fierce anger of Yahawah comes on you, before the day of Yahawah's anger comes on you. ³ Seek Yahawah, all you humble of the land, who have kept his ordinances. Seek righteousness. Seek humility. It may be that you will be hidden in the day of Yahawah's anger. ⁴ For Izah will be forsaken, and Ashaqalawan a desolation. They will drive out Ashadawad at noonday, and Iqarawan will be rooted up. ⁵ Woe to the inhabitants of the sea coast, the nation of the Cherethites! The word of Yahawah is against you, Kanain, the land of the Palashath. I will destroy you, that there will be no inhabitant. ⁶ The sea coast will be pastures, with cottages for shepherds and folds for flocks. ⁷ The coast will be for the remnant of the house of Yahawadah. They will find pasture. In the houses of Ashaqalawan, they will lie down in the evening, for Yahawah, their Alahayam, will visit them, and restore them. ⁸ I have heard the reproach of Mawaab, and the insults of the children of Imawan, with which they have reproached my people, and magnified themselves against their border. ⁹ Therefore as I live, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, surely Mawaab will be as Sadam, and the children of Imawan as Imarah, a possession of nettles, and salt pits, and a perpetual desolation. The remnant of my people will plunder them, and the survivors of my nation will inherit them. ¹⁰ This they will have for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹¹ Yahawah will be awesome to them, for he will famish all the gods of the land. Men will worship him, everyone from his place, even all the shores of the nations. ¹² You Cushites also, you will be killed by my sword. ¹³ He will stretch out his hand against the north, destroy Ashawar, and will make Nayanawah a desolation, and dry like the wilderness. ¹⁴ Herds will lie down in the midst of her, all the animals of the nations. Both the pelican and the porcupine will lodge in its capitals. Their calls will echo through the windows. Desolation will be in the thresholds, for he has laid bare the cedar beams. ¹⁵ This is the joyous city that lived carelessly, that said in her heart, "I am, and there is none besides me." How she has become a desolation, a place for animals to lie down in! Everyone who passes by her will hiss, and shake their fists.

3 Woe to her who is rebellious and polluted, the oppressing city! ² She didn't obey the voice. She didn't receive correction. She didn't trust in Yahawah. She didn't draw near to her Alahayam. ³ Her princes in the midst of her are roaring lions. Her judges are evening wolves. They leave nothing until the next day. ⁴ Her prophets are arrogant and treacherous people. Her priests have profaned the sanctuary. They have done violence to the law. ⁵ Yahawah, in the midst of her, is righteous. He will do no wrong. Every morning he brings his justice to light. He doesn't fail, but the unjust know no shame. ⁶ I have cut off nations. Their battlements are desolate. I have made their streets waste, so that no one passes by. Their cities are destroyed, so that there is no man, so that there is no inhabitant. ⁷ I said, "Just fear me. Receive correction, so that her dwelling won't be cut off, according to all that I have appointed concerning her." But they rose early and corrupted all their doings. ⁸ "Therefore wait for me," says Yahawah, "until the day that I rise up to the prey, for my determination is to gather the nations, that I may assemble the kingdoms, to pour on them my indignation, even all my fierce anger, for all the earth will be devoured with the fire of my jealousy. ⁹ For then I will purify the lips of the peoples, that they may all call on the name of Yahawah, to serve him shoulder to shoulder. ¹⁰ From beyond the rivers of Kawash, my worshipers, even the daughter of my dispersed people, will bring my offering. ¹¹ In that day you will not be put to shame for all your doings, in which you have transgressed against me; for then I will take away out of the midst of you your proudly exulting ones, and you will no more be haughty in my holy mountain. ¹² But I will leave in the midst of you an afflicted and poor people, and they will take refuge in the name of Yahawah. ¹³ The remnant of Yasharaal will not do iniquity, nor speak lies, neither will a deceitful tongue be found in their mouth, for they will feed and lie down, and no one will make them afraid." ¹⁴ Sing, daughter of Tzayawan! Shout, Yasharaal! Be glad and rejoice with all your heart, daughter of Yarawashalam. ¹⁵ Yahawah has taken away your judgments. He has thrown out your enemy. The King of Yasharaal, Yahawah, is in the midst of you. You will not be afraid of evil any more. ¹⁶ In that day, it will be said to Yarawashalam, "Don't be afraid, Tzayawan. Don't let your hands be slack." ¹⁷ Yahawah, your Alahayam, is in the midst of you, a mighty one who will save. He will rejoice over you with joy. He will rest in his love. He will rejoice over you with singing.¹⁸ Those who are sad for the appointed feasts, I will remove from you. They are a burden and a reproach to you.¹⁹ Behold, at that time I will deal with all those who afflict you, and I will save those who are lame, and gather those who were driven away. I will give them praise and honor, whose shame has been in all the earth.²⁰ At that time will I bring you in, and at that time will I gather you; for I will give you honor and praise among all the peoples of the earth, when I bring back your captivity before your eyes, says Yahawah.

1 In the second year of Darayawash the king, in the sixth month, in the first day of the month, the Word of Yahawah came by Chagay, the prophet, to Zarababal, the son of Shaalathayaal, governor of Yahawadah, and to Yahawashai, the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, saying, ² "This is what Yahawah Tzabaawath says: These people say, 'The time hasn't yet come, the time for Yahawah's house to be built.'" ³ Then the Word of Yahawah came by Chagay, the prophet, saying, ⁴ "Is it a time for you yourselves to dwell in your paneled houses, while this house lies waste?" ⁵ Now therefore this is what Yahawah Tzabaawath says: Consider your ways. ⁶ You have sown much, and bring in little. You eat, but you don't have enough. You drink, but you aren't filled with drink. You clothe yourselves, but no one is warm, and he who earns wages earns wages to put them into a bag with holes in it." ⁷ This is what Yahawah Tzabaawath says: "Consider your ways. ⁸ Go up to the mountain, bring wood, and build the house. I will take pleasure in it, and I will be glorified," says Yahawah. ⁹ "You looked for much, and, behold, it came to little; and when you brought it home, I blew it away. Why?" says Yahawah Tzabaawath, "Because of my house that lies waste, while each of you is busy with his own house. ¹⁰ Therefore for your sake the heavens withhold the dew, and the earth withholds its fruit. ¹¹ I called for a drought on the land, on the mountains, on the grain, on the new wine, on the oil, on that which the ground brings forth, on men, on cattle, and on all the labor of the hands." ¹² Then Zarababal, the son of Shaalathayaal, and Yahawashai, the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, with all the remnant of the people, obeyed the voice of Yahawah, their Alahayam, and the words of Chagay, the prophet, as Yahawah, their Alahayam, had sent him; and the people feared Yahawah. ¹³ Then Chagay, Yahawah's messenger, spoke in Yahawah's message to the people, saying, "I am with you," says Yahawah. ¹⁴ Yahawah stirred up the spirit of Zarababal, the son of Shaalathayaal, governor of Yahawadah, and the spirit of Yahawashai, the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people; and they came and worked on the house of Yahawah Tzabaawath, their Alahayam, ¹⁵ in the twenty-fourth day of the month, in the sixth month, in the second year of Darayawash the king.

2 In the seventh month, in the twenty-first day of the month, the Word of Yahawah came by Chagay the prophet, saying, ² "Speak now to Zarababal, the son of Shaalathayaal, governor of Yahawadah, and to Yahawashai, the son of Jehozadak, the high priest, and to the remnant of the people, saying, ³ 'Who is left among you who saw this house in its former glory? How do you see it now? Isn't it in your eyes as nothing?' ⁴ Yet now be strong, Zarababal," says Yahawah. "Be strong, Yahawashai, son of Jehozadak, the high priest. Be strong, all you people of the land," says Yahawah, "and work, for I am with you," says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁵ This is the word that I covenanted with you when you came out of Matzarayam, and my Spirit lived among you. Don't be afraid." ⁶ For this is what Yahawah Tzabaawath says: "Yet once, it is a little while, and I will shake the heavens, the earth, the sea, and the dry land; ⁷ and I will shake all nations. The precious things of all nations will come, and I will fill this house with glory, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁸ The silver is mine, and the gold is mine," says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁹ "The latter glory of this house will be greater than the former," says Yahawah Tzabaawath; "and in this place will I give peace," says Yahawah Tzabaawath." ¹⁰ In the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, in the second year of Darayawash, the Word of Yahawah came by Chagay the prophet, saying, ¹¹ "Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Ask now the priests concerning the law, saying, ¹² 'If someone carries holy meat in the fold of his garment, and with his fold touches bread, stew, wine, oil, or any food, will it become holy?'" The priests answered, "No." ¹³ Then Chagay said, "If one who is unclean by reason of a dead body touch any of these, will it be unclean?" The priests answered, "It will be unclean." ¹⁴ Then Chagay answered, "'So is this people, and so is this nation before me,' says Yahawah; 'and so is every work of their hands. That which they offer there is unclean.' ¹⁵ Now, please consider from this day and backward, before a stone was laid on a stone in the temple of Yahawah. ¹⁶ Through all that time, when one came to a heap of twenty measures, there were only ten. When one came to the wine vat to draw out fifty, there were only twenty. ¹⁷ I struck you with blight, mildew, and hail in all the work of your hands; yet you didn't turn to me," says Yahawah. ¹⁸ "Consider, please, from this day and backward, from the twenty-fourth day of the ninth month, since the day that the foundation of Yahawah's temple was laid, consider it. ¹⁹ Is the seed yet in the barn? Yes, the vine, the fig-tree, the pomegranate, and the olive tree haven't brought forth. From this day will I bless you.'" ²⁰ The Word of Yahawah came the second time to Chagay in the twenty-fourth day of the month, saying, ²¹ "Speak to Zarababal, governor of Yahawadah, saying, 'I will shake the heavens and the earth. ²² I will overthrow the throne of kingdoms. I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the nations. I will overthrow the chariots, and those who ride in them. The horses and their riders will come down, everyone by the sword of his brother. ²³ In that day, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, will I take you, Zarababal, my servant, the son of Shaalathayaal,' says Yahawah, 'and will make you as a signet, for I have chosen you,' says Yahawah Tzabaawath."

1 In the eighth month, in the second year of Darayawash, came the word of Yahawah to Zakarayah the son of Barakayah, the son of Idaw, the prophet, saying, ² Yahawah was sore displeased with your fathers. ³ Therefore say you to them, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Return to me, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, and I will return to you, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁴ Don't you be as your fathers, to whom the former prophets cried, saying, Thus says Yahawah of hosts, Return you now from your evil ways, and from your evil doings: but they did not hear, nor listen to me, says Yahawah. ⁵ Your fathers, where are they? and the prophets, do they live forever? ⁶ But my words and my statutes, which I commanded my servants the prophets, did they not overtake your fathers? and they turned and said, Like as Yahawah Tzabaawath thought to do to us, according to our ways, and according to our doings, so has he dealt with us. ⁷ On the four and twentieth day of the eleventh month, which is the month Shabat, in the second year of Darayawash, came the word of Yahawah to Zakarayah the son of Barakayah, the son of Idaw, the prophet, saying, ⁸ I saw in the night, and, behold, a man riding on a red horse, and he stood among the myrtle-trees that were in the bottom; and behind him there were horses, red, sorrel, and white. ⁹ Then said I, my lord, what are these? The angel who talked with me said to me, I will show you what these are. ¹⁰ The man who stood among the myrtle-trees answered, These are they whom Yahawah has sent to walk back and forth through the earth. ¹¹ They answered the angel of Yahawah who stood among the myrtle-trees, and said, We have walked back and forth through the earth, and, behold, all the earth sits still, and is at rest. ¹² Then the angel of Yahawah answered, O Yahawah Tzabaawath, how long will you not have mercy on Yarawashalam and on the cities of Yahawadah, against which you have had indignation these seventy years? ¹³ Yahawah answered the angel who talked with me with good words, [even] comfortable words. ¹⁴ So the angel who talked with me said to me, Cry you, saying, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: I am jealous for Yarawashalam and for Tzayawan with a great jealousy. ¹⁵ I am very sore displeased with the nations that are at ease; for I was but a little displeased, and they helped forward the affliction. ¹⁶ Therefore thus says Yahawah: I am returned to Yarawashalam with mercies; my house shall be built in it, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, and a line shall be stretched forth over Yarawashalam. ¹⁷ Cry yet again, saying, Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: My cities shall yet overflow with prosperity; and Yahawah shall yet comfort Tzayawan, and shall yet choose Yarawashalam.

2 I lifted up my eyes, and saw, and, behold, a man with a measuring line in his hand. ⁶ Then said I, Where go you? He said to me, To measure Yarawashalam, to see what is the breadth of it, and what is the length of it. ⁷ Behold, the angel who talked with me went forth, and another angel went out to meet him, ⁸ and said to him, Run, speak to this young man, saying, Yarawashalam shall be inhabited as villages without walls, by reason of the multitude of men and cattle therein. ⁹ For I, says Yahawah, will be to her a wall of fire round about, and I will be the glory in the midst of her. ¹⁰ Ho, ho, flee from the land of the north, says Yahawah; for I have spread you abroad as the four winds of the sky, says Yahawah. ¹¹ Ho Tzayawan, escape, you who dwell with the daughter of Babal. ¹² For thus says Yahawah of hosts: After glory has he sent me to the nations which plundered you; for he who touches you touches the apple of his eye. ¹³ For, behold, I will shake my hand over them, and they shall be a spoil to those who served them; and you shall know that Yahawah Tzabaawath has sent me. ¹⁴ Sing and rejoice, daughter of Tzayawan; for, behold, I come, and I will dwell in the midst of you, says Yahawah. ¹⁵ Many nations shall join themselves to Yahawah in that day, and shall be my people; and I will dwell in the midst of you, and you shall know that Yahawah Tzabaawath has sent me to you. ¹⁶ Yahawah shall inherit Yahawadah as his portion in the holy land, and shall yet choose Yarawashalam. ¹⁷ Be silent, all flesh, before Yahawah; for he is waked up out of his holy habitation.

3 He showed me Yahawashai the high priest standing before the angel of Yahawah, and Satan standing at his right hand to be his adversary. ² Yahawah said to Satan, Yahawah rebuke you, Satan; yes, Yahawah that has chosen Yarawashalam rebuke you: is not this a brand plucked out of the fire? ³ Now Yahawashai was clothed with filthy garments, and was standing before the angel. ⁴ He answered and spoke to those who stood before him, saying, Take the filthy garments from off him. To him he said, Behold, I have caused your iniquity to pass from you, and I will clothe you with rich clothing. ⁵ I said, Let them set a clean mitre on his head. So they set a clean mitre on his head, and clothed him with garments; and the angel of Yahawah was standing by. ⁶ The angel of Yahawah protested to Yahawashai, saying, ⁷ Thus says Yahawah of hosts: If you will walk in my ways, and if you will keep my charge, then you also shall judge my house, and shall also keep my courts, and I will give you a place of access among these who stand by. ⁸ Hear now, Yahawashai the high priest, you and your fellows who sit before you; for they are men who are a sign: for, behold, I will bring forth my servant the Branch. ⁹ For, behold, the stone that I have set before Yahawashai; on one stone are seven eyes: behold, I will engrave the engraving of it, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, and I will remove the iniquity of that land in one day. ¹⁰ In that day, says Yahawah of hosts, shall you invite every man his neighbor under the vine and under the fig-tree.

4 The angel who talked with me came again, and waked me, as a man who is wakened out of his sleep. ² He said to me, What see you? I said, I have seen, and, behold, a lampstand all of gold, with its bowl on the top of it, and its seven lamps thereon; there are seven pipes to each of the lamps, which are on the top of it; ³ and two olive-trees by it, one on the right side of the bowl, and the other on the left side of it. ⁴ I answered and spoke to the angel who talked with me, saying, What are these, my lord? ⁵ Then the angel who talked with me answered me, Don't you know what these are? I said, No, my lord. ⁶ Then he answered and spoke to me, saying, This is the word of Yahawah to Zarababal, saying, Not by might, nor by power, surely in the mother Spirit / Wind, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁷ Who are you, great mountain? before Zarababal [you shall become] a plain; and he shall bring forth the top stone with shouts of Grace, grace, to it. ⁸ Moreover the word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ⁹ The hands of Zarababal have laid the foundation of this house; his hands shall also finish it; and you shall know that Yahawah Tzabaawath has sent me to you. ¹⁰ For who has despised the day of small things? for these seven shall rejoice, and shall see the plummet in the hand of Zarababal; [these are] the eyes of Yahawah, which run back and forth through the whole earth. ¹¹ Then answered I, and said to him, What are these two olive-trees on the right side of the lampstand and on the left side of it? ¹² I answered the second time, and said to him, What are these two olive-branches, which are beside the two golden spouts, that empty the golden [oil] out of themselves? ¹³ He answered me and said, "Don't you know what these are?" I said, No, my lord. ¹⁴ Then said he, These are the two anointed ones, that stand by the Adanay of the whole earth.

5 Then again I lifted up my eyes, and saw, and, behold, a flying scroll. ² He said to me, What see you? I answered, I see a flying scroll; the length of it is twenty cubits, and the breadth of it ten cubits. ³ Then said he to me, This is the curse that goes forth over the surface of the whole land: for everyone who steals shall be cut off on the one side according to it; and everyone who swears shall be cut off on the other side according to it. ⁴ I will cause it to go forth, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, and it shall enter into the house of the thief, and into the house of him who swears falsely by my name; and it shall abide in the midst of his house, and shall consume it with the timber of it and the stones of it. ⁵ Then the angel who talked with me went forth, and said to me, Lift up now your eyes, and see what is this that goes forth. ⁶ I said, What is it? He said, This is the ephah that goes forth. He said moreover, This is their appearance in all the land ⁷ (and, behold, there was lifted up a talent of lead); and this is a woman sitting in the midst of the ephah. ⁸ He said, This is Wickedness: and he cast her down into the midst of the ephah; and he cast the weight of lead on the mouth of it. ⁹ Then lifted I up my eyes, and saw, and, behold, there came forth two women, and the wind was in their wings; now they had wings like the wings of a stork; and they lifted up the ephah between earth and the sky. ¹⁰ Then said I to the angel who talked with me, Where do these bear the ephah? ¹¹ He said to me, To build her a house in the land of Shanair: and when it is prepared, she shall be set there in her own place.

6 Again I lifted up my eyes, and saw, and, behold, there came four chariots out from between two mountains; and the mountains were mountains of brass. ² In the first chariot were red horses; and in the second chariot black horses; ³ and in the third chariot white horses; and in the fourth chariot grizzled strong horses. ⁴ Then I answered the angel who talked with me, What are these, my lord? ⁵ The angel answered me, These are the four winds of the sky, which go forth from standing before the Adanay of all the earth. ⁶ [The chariot] in which are the black horses goes forth toward the north country; and the white went forth after them; and the grizzled went forth toward the south country. ⁷ The strong went forth, and sought to go that they might walk back and forth through the earth: and he said, Get you hence, walk back and forth through the earth. So they walked back and forth through the earth. ⁸ Then cried he to me, and spoke to me, saying, Behold, those who go toward the north country have quieted my spirit in the north country. ⁹ The word of Yahawah came to me, saying, ¹⁰ Take of them of the captivity, even of Chaladay, of Tawabayah, and of Yadaiah; and come you the same day, and go into the house of Yaashayahaw the son of Tzapanayah, where they are come from Babal; ¹¹ yes, take [of them] silver and gold, and make crowns, and set them on the head of Yahawashai the son of Jehozadak, the high priest; ¹² and speak to him, saying, Thus speaks Yahawah Tzabaawath, saying, Behold, the man whose name is the Branch: and he shall grow up out of his place; and he shall build the temple of Yahawah; ¹³ even he shall build the temple of Yahawah; and he shall bear the glory, and shall sit and rule on his throne; and he shall be a priest on his throne; and the counsel of peace shall be between them both. ¹⁴ The crowns shall be to Halam, and to Tawabayah, and to Yadaiah, and to Chan the son of Tzapanayah, for a memorial in the temple of Yahawah. ¹⁵ Those who are far off shall come and build in the temple of Yahawah; and you shall know that Yahawah of hosts has sent me to you. [This] shall happen, if you will diligently obey the voice of Yahawah your Alahayam.

7 It happened in the fourth year of king Darayawash, that the word of Yahawah came to Zakarayah in the fourth [day] of the ninth month, even in Chislev. ² Now [they of] Bethel had sent Sharaatzar and Malak, and their men, to entreat the favor of Yahawah, ³ [and] to speak to the priests of the house of Yahawah Tzabaawath, and to the prophets, saying, Should I weep in the fifth month, separating myself, as I have done these so many years? ⁴ Then came the word of Yahawah Tzabaawath to me, saying, ⁵ Speak to all the people of the land, and to the priests, saying, When you fasted and mourned in the fifth and in the seventh [month], even these seventy years, did you at all fast to me, even to me? ⁶ When you eat, and when you drink, do not you eat for yourselves, and drink for yourselves? ⁷ [Should you] not [hear] the words which Yahawah cried by the former prophets, when Yarawashalam was inhabited and in prosperity, and the cities of it round about her, and the South and the lowland were inhabited? ⁸ The word of Yahawah came to Zakarayah, saying, ⁹ Thus has Yahawah Tzabaawath spoken, saying, Execute true judgment, and show kindness and compassion every man to his brother; ¹⁰ and don't oppress the widow, nor the fatherless, the sojourner, nor the poor; and let none of you devise evil against his brother in your heart. ¹¹ But they refused to listen, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their ears, that they might not hear. ¹² Yes, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should hear the law, and the words which Yahawah Tzabaawath had sent by his Spirit by the former prophets: therefore there came great wrath from Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹³ It is come to pass that, as he cried, and they would not hear, so they shall cry, and I will not hear, said Yahawah Tzabaawath; ¹⁴ but I will scatter them with a whirlwind among all the nations which they have not known. Thus the land was desolate after them, so that no man passed through nor returned: for they laid the pleasant land desolate.

8 The word of Yahawah Tzabaawath came [to me], saying, ² Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: I am jealous for Tzayawan with great jealousy, and I am jealous for her with great wrath. ³ Thus says Yahawah: I am returned to Tzayawan, and will dwell in the midst of Yarawashalam: and Yarawashalam shall be called The city of truth; and the mountain of Yahawah Tzabaawath, The holy mountain. ⁴ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: There shall yet old men and old women dwell in the streets of Yarawashalam, every man with his staff in his hand for very age. ⁵ The streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets of it. ⁶ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: If it be marvelous in the eyes of the remnant of this people in those days, should it also be marvelous in my eyes? says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁷ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Behold, I will save my people from the east country, and from the west country; ⁸ and I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Yarawashalam; and they shall be my people, and I will be their Alahayam, in truth and in righteousness. ⁹ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: Let your hands be strong, you who hear in these days these words from the mouth of the prophets who were in the day that the foundation of the house of Yahawah Tzabaawath was laid, even the temple, that it might be built. ¹⁰ For before those days there was no hire for man, nor any hire for animal; neither was there any peace to him who went out or came in, because of the adversary: for I set all men everyone against his neighbor. ¹¹ But now I will not be to the remnant of this people as in the former days, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹² For [there shall be] the seed of peace; the vine shall give its fruit, and the ground shall give its increase, and the sky shall give their dew; and I will cause the remnant of this people to inherit all these things. ¹³ It shall come to pass that, as you were a curse among the nations, house of Yahawadah and house of Yasharaal, so will I save you, and you shall be a blessing. Don't be afraid, [but] let your hands be strong. ¹⁴ For thus says Yahawah of hosts: As I thought to do evil to you, when your fathers provoked me to wrath, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, and I didn't repent; ¹⁵ so again have I thought in these days to do good to Yarawashalam and to the house of Yahawadah: don't you fear. ¹⁶ These are the things that you shall do: speak you every man the truth with his neighbor; execute the judgment of truth and peace in your gates; ¹⁷ and let none of you devise evil in your hearts against his neighbor; and love no false oath: for all these are things that I hate, says Yahawah. ¹⁸ The word of Yahawah Tzabaawath came to me, saying, ¹⁹ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: The fast of the fourth [month], and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the seventh, and the fast of the tenth, shall be to the house of Yahawadah joy and gladness, and cheerful feasts; therefore love truth and peace. ²⁰ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: [It shall] yet [happen], that there shall come peoples, and the inhabitants of many cities;²¹ and the inhabitants of one [city] shall go to another, saying, Let us go speedily to entreat the favor of Yahawah, and to seek Yahawah Tzabaawath: I will go also.²² Yes, many peoples and strong nations shall come to seek Yahawah Tzabaawath in Yarawashalam, and to entreat the favor of Yahawah.²³ Thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath: In those days [it shall happen], that ten men shall take hold, out of all the languages of the nations, they shall take hold of the skirt of him who is a Yahawaday, saying, We will go with you, for we have heard that Alahayam is with you.

9 The burden of the word of Yahawah on the land of Chadarak, and Damashaq [shall be] its resting-place (for the eye of man and of all the tribes of Yasharaal is toward Yahawah);² and Chamath, also, which borders thereon; Tzar and Tzayadawan, because they are very wise.³ Tzar did build herself a stronghold, and heaped up silver as the dust, and fine gold as the mire of the streets.⁴ Behold, the Adanay will dispossess her, and he will strike her power in the sea; and she shall be devoured with fire.⁵ Ashaqalawan shall see it, and fear; Izah also, and shall be sore pained; and Iqarawan, for her expectation shall be put to shame; and the king shall perish from Izah, and Ashaqalawan shall not be inhabited.⁶ A bastard shall dwell in Ashadawad, and I will cut off the pride of the Palashath.⁷ I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his teeth; and he also shall be a remnant for our Alahayam; and he shall be as a chieftain in Yahawadah, and Iqarawan as a Jebusite.⁸ I will encamp about my house against the army, that none pass through or return; and no oppressor shall pass through them any more: for now have I seen with my eyes.

10 Ask you of Yahawah rain in the time of the latter rain, [even of] Yahawah who makes lightnings; and he will give them showers of rain, to everyone grass in the field.² For the teraphim have spoken vanity, and the diviners have seen a lie; and they have told false dreams, they comfort in vain: therefore they go their way like sheep, they are afflicted, because there is no shepherd.³ My anger is kindled against the shepherds, and I will punish the male goats; for Yahawah Tzabaawath has visited his flock, the house of Yahawadah, and will make them as his goodly horse in the battle.

Aparayam shall be like a mighty man, and their heart shall rejoice as through wine; yes, their children shall see it, and rejoice; their heart shall be glad in Yahawah.⁸ I will hiss for them, and gather them; for I have redeemed them; and they shall increase as they have increased.⁹ I will sow them among the peoples; and they shall remember me in far countries; and they shall live with their children, and shall return.¹⁰ I will bring them again also out of the land of Matzarayam, and gather them out of Ashawar; and I will bring them into the land of Galaad and Labanawan; and [place] shall not be found for them.¹¹ He will pass through the sea of affliction, and will strike the waves in the sea, and all the depths of the Nile shall dry up; and the pride of Ashawar shall be brought down, and the scepter of Matzarayam shall depart.¹² I will strengthen them in Yahawah; and they shall walk up and down in his name, says Yahawah.

11 Open your doors, Labanawan, that the fire may devour your cedars.² Wail, fir-tree, for the cedar is fallen, because the goodly ones are destroyed: wail, you oaks of Bashan, for the strong forest is come down.³ A voice of the wailing of the shepherds! for their glory is destroyed: a voice of the roaring of young lions! for the pride of the Yaradan is laid waste.⁴ Thus said Yahawah my Alahayam: Feed the flock of slaughter; ⁵ whose possessors kill them, and hold themselves not guilty; and those who sell them say, Blessed be Yahawah, for I am rich; and their own shepherds don't pity them.⁶ For I will no more pity the inhabitants of the land, says Yahawah; but, behold, I will deliver the men everyone into his neighbor's hand, and into the hand of his king; and they shall strike the land, and out of their hand I will not deliver them.⁷ So I fed the flock of slaughter, most assuredly the poor of the flock. I took to me two poles; the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands; and I fed the flock.⁸ I cut off the three shepherds in one month; for my soul was weary of them, and their soul also loathed me.⁹ Then I said, I will not feed you: that which dies, let it die; and that which is to be cut off, let it be cut off; and let those who are left eat everyone the flesh of another.¹⁰ I took my staff Beauty, and cut it apart, that I might break my covenant which I had made with all the peoples.¹¹ It was broken in that day; and thus the poor of the flock that gave heed to me knew that it was the word of Yahawah.¹² I said to them, If you think good, give me my hire; and if not, forbear. So they weighed for my hire thirty [pieces] of silver.¹³ Yahawah said to me, Cast it to the potter, the goodly price that I was prized at by them. I took the thirty [pieces] of silver, and cast them to the potter, in the house of Yahawah.¹⁴ Then I cut apart my other staff, even Bands, that I might break the brotherhood between Yahawadah and Yasharaal.¹⁵ Yahawah said to me, Take to you yet again the instruments of a foolish shepherd.¹⁶ For, behold, I will raise up a shepherd in the land, who will not visit those who are cut off, neither will seek those who are scattered, nor heal that which is broken, nor feed that which is sound; but he will eat the flesh of the fat [sheep], and will tear their hoofs in pieces.¹⁷ Woe to the worthless shepherd who leaves the flock! the sword shall be on his arm, and on his right eye: his arm shall be clean dried up, and his right eye shall be utterly darkened.

12 The burden of the word of Yahawah concerning Yasharaal. [Thus] says Yahawah, who stretches forth the heavens, and lays the foundation of the earth, and forms the spirit of man within him:² behold, I will make Yarawashalam a cup of reeling to all the peoples round about, and on Yahawadah also shall it be in the siege against Yarawashalam.³ It shall happen in that day, that I will make Yarawashalam a burdensome stone for all the peoples; all that burden themselves with it shall be sore wounded; and all the nations of the earth shall be gathered together against it.⁴ In that day, says Yahawah, I will strike every horse with terror, and his rider with madness; and I will open my eyes on the house of Yahawadah, and will strike every horse of the peoples with blindness.⁵ The chieftains of Yahawadah shall say in their heart, The inhabitants of Yarawashalam are my strength in Yahawah Tzabaawath their Alahayam.⁶ In that day will I make the chieftains of Yahawadah like a pan of fire among wood, and like a flaming torch among sheaves; and they shall devour all the peoples round about, on the right hand and on the left; and [they of] Yarawashalam shall yet again dwell in their own place, even in Yarawashalam.⁷ Yahawah also shall save the tents of Yahawadah first, that the glory of the house of Dawad and the glory of the inhabitants of Yarawashalam be not magnified above Yahawadah.⁸ In that day shall Yahawah defend the inhabitants of Yarawashalam: and he who is feeble among them at that day shall be as Dawad; and the house of Dawad shall be as Alahayam, as the angel of Yahawah before them.⁹ It shall happen in that day, that I will seek to destroy all the nations that come against Yarawashalam.¹⁰ I will pour on the house of Dawad, and on the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, the spirit of grace and of supplication; and they shall look to me whom they have pierced; and they shall mourn for him, as one mourns for his only son, and shall be in bitterness for him, as one who is in bitterness for his firstborn.¹¹ In that day shall there be a great mourning in Yarawashalam, as the mourning of Hadad in the valley of Magadaw.¹² The land shall mourn, every family apart; the family of the house of Dawad apart, and their wives apart; the family of the house of Nathan apart, and their wives apart;¹³ the family of the house of Yahawadah apart, and their wives apart; the family of the Shimeites apart, and their wives apart;¹⁴ all the families who remain, every family apart, and their wives apart.

13 In that day there shall be a spring opened to the house of Dawad and to the inhabitants of Yarawashalam, for sin and for uncleanness.² It shall come to pass in that day, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, that I will cut off the names of the idols out of the land, and they shall no more be remembered; and also I will cause the prophets and the unclean spirit to pass out of the land.³ It shall happen that, when any shall yet prophesy, then his father and his mother who became the father of him shall tell him, You shall not live; for you speak lies in the name of Yahawah; and his father and his mother who became the father of him shall thrust him through when he prophesies.⁴ It shall happen in that day, that the prophets shall be ashamed everyone of his vision, when he prophesies; neither shall they wear a hairy mantle to deceive:⁵ but he shall say, I am no prophet, I am a tiller of the ground; for I have been made a bondservant from my youth.⁶ One shall say to him, What are these wounds between your arms? Then he shall answer, Those with which I was wounded in the house of my friends.⁷ Awake, sword, against my shepherd, and against the man who is my fellow, says Yahawah Tzabaawath: strike the shepherd, and the sheep shall be scattered; and I will turn my hand on the little ones.⁸ It shall happen, that in all the land, says Yahawah, two parts therein shall be cut off and die; but the third shall be left therein.⁹ I will bring the third part into the fire, and will refine them as silver is refined, and will try them as gold is tried. They shall call on my name, and I will hear them: I will say, It is my people; and they shall say, Yahawah is my Alahayam.

14 Behold, a day of Yahawah comes, when your spoil shall be divided in the midst of you.² For I will gather all nations against Yarawashalam to battle; and the city shall be taken, and the houses rifled, and the women ravished; and half of the city shall go forth into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the city.³ Then shall Yahawah go forth, and fight against those nations, as when he fought in the day of battle.⁴ His feet shall stand in that day on the Mount of Olives, which is before Yarawashalam on the east; and the Mount of Olives shall be cleft in the midst of it toward the east and toward the west, [and there shall be] a very great valley; and half of the mountain shall remove toward the north, and half of it toward the south.⁵ You shall flee by the valley of my mountains; for the valley of the mountains shall reach to Atzal; yes, you shall flee, like as you fled from before the earthquake in the days of Izayahaw king of Yahawadah; and Yahawah my Alahayam shall come, and all the holy ones with you.⁶ It shall happen in that day, that there shall not be light; the bright ones shall withdraw themselves:⁷ but it shall be one day which is known to Yahawah; not day, and not night; but it shall come to pass, that at evening time there shall be light.⁸ It shall happen in that day, that living waters shall go out from Yarawashalam; half of them toward the eastern sea, and half of them toward the western sea: in summer and in winter shall it be.⁹ Yahawah shall be King over all the earth: in that day shall Yahawah be one, and his name one.¹⁰ All the land shall be made like the Irabah, from Gabai to Ramawan south of Yarawashalam; and she shall be lifted up, and shall dwell in her place, from Banayaman's gate to the place of the first gate, to the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananel to the king's wine-presses.¹¹ Men shall dwell therein, and there shall be no more curse; but Yarawashalam shall dwell safely.¹² This shall be the plague with which Yahawah will strike all the peoples who have warred against Yarawashalam: their flesh shall consume away while they stand on their feet, and their eyes shall consume away in their sockets, and their tongue shall consume away in their mouth.¹³ It shall happen in that day, that a great tumult from Yahawah shall be among them; and they shall lay hold everyone on the hand of his neighbor, and his hand shall rise up against the hand of his neighbor.¹⁴ Yahawadah also shall fight at Yarawashalam; and the wealth of all the nations round about shall be gathered together, gold, and silver, and clothing, in great abundance.¹⁵ So shall be the plague of the horse, of the mule, of the camel, and of the donkey, and of all the animals that shall be in those camps, as that plague.¹⁶ It shall happen, that everyone who is left of all the nations that came against Yarawashalam shall go up from year to year to worship the King, Yahawah Tzabaawath, and to keep the feast of tents.¹⁷ It shall be, that whoever of [all] the families of the earth doesn't go up to Yarawashalam to worship the King, Yahawah Tzabaawath, on them there shall be no rain.¹⁸ If the family of Matzarayam doesn't go up, and doesn't come, neither [shall it be] on them; there shall be the plague with which Yahawah will strike the nations that don't go up to keep the feast of tents.¹⁹ This shall be the punishment of Matzarayam, and the punishment of all the nations that don't go up to keep the feast of tents.²⁰ In that day shall there be on the bells of the horses, HOLY TO YAHWEH; and the pots in Yahawah's house shall be like the bowls before the altar.²¹ Yes, every pot in Yarawashalam and in Yahawadah shall be holy to Yahawah Tzabaawath; and all those who sacrifice shall come and take of them, and boil therein: and in that day there shall be no more a Canaanite in the house of Yahawah Tzabaawath.

² I have loved you, says Yahawah. Yet you say, Wherein have you loved us? Was not Ishaw Yaiqab's brother, says Yahawah: yet I loved Yaiqab; ³ but Ishaw I hated, and made his mountains a desolation, and [gave] his heritage to the jackals of the wilderness.
⁴ Whereas Adawam says, We are beaten down, but we will return and build the waste places; thus says Yahawah Tzabaawath, They shall build, but I will throw down; and men shall call them The border of wickedness, and The people against whom Yahawah has indignation forever. ⁵ Your eyes shall see, and you shall say, Yahawah be magnified beyond the border of Yasharaal. ⁶ A son honors his father, and a servant his master: if then I am a father, where is my honor? and if I am a master, where is my fear? says Yahawah Tzabaawath to you, priests, who despise my name. You say, Wherein have we despised your name? ⁷ You offer polluted bread on my altar. You say, Wherein have we polluted you? In that you say, The table of Yahawah is contemptible. ⁸ When you offer the blind for sacrifice, it is no evil! and when you offer the lame and sick, it is no evil! Present it now to your governor; will he be pleased with you? or will he accept your person? says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁹ Now, please entreat the favor of Alahayam, that he may be gracious to us: this has been by your means: will he accept any of your persons? says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹⁰ Oh that there were one among you who would shut the doors, that you might not kindle [fire on] my altar in vain! I have no pleasure in you, says Yahawah of hosts, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.
¹¹ For from the rising of the sun even to the going down of the same my name [shall be] great among the Gentiles; and in every place incense [shall be] offered to my name, and a pure offering: for my name [shall be] great among the Gentiles, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹² But you profane it, in that you say, The table of Yahawah is polluted, and the fruit of it, even its food, is contemptible. ¹³ You say also, Behold, what a weariness is it! and you have snuffed at it, says Yahawah Tzabaawath; and you have brought that which was taken by violence, and the lame, and the sick; thus you bring the offering: should I accept this at your hand? says Yahawah. ¹⁴ But cursed be the deceiver, who has in his flock a male, and vows, and sacrifices to the Adanay a blemished thing; for I am a great King, says Yahawah of hosts, and my name is awesome among the Gentiles.
2 Now, you priests, this commandment is for you. ² If you will not hear, and if you will not lay it to heart, to give glory to my name, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, then will I send the curse on you, and I will curse your blessings; yes, I have cursed them already, because you do not lay it to heart. ³ Behold, I will rebuke your seed, and will spread dung on your faces, even the dung of your feasts; and you shall be taken away with it. ⁴ You shall know that I have sent this commandment to you, that my covenant may be with Laway, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁵ My covenant was with him of life and peace; and I gave them to him who he might fear; and he feared me, and stood in awe of my name. ⁶ The law of truth was in his mouth, and unrighteousness was not found in his lips: he walked with me in peace and uprightness, and turned many away from iniquity. ⁷ For the priest's lips should keep knowledge, and they should seek the law at his mouth; for he is the messenger of Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁸ But you are turned aside out of the way; you have caused many to stumble in the law; you have corrupted the covenant of Laway, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁹ Therefore have I also made you contemptible and base before all the people, according as you have not kept my ways, but have had respect of persons in the law. ¹⁰ Don't we all have one father? has not one

¹¹ Yahawadah has dealt treacherously, and an abomination is committed in Yasharaal and in Yarawashalam; for Yahawadah has profaned the holiness of Yahawah which he loves, and has married the daughter of a foreign god. ¹² Yahawah will cut off, to the man who does this, him who wakes and him who answers, out of the tents of Yaiqab, and him who offers an offering to Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹³ This again you do: you cover the altar of Yahawah with tears, with weeping, and with sighing, because he doesn't regard the offering any more, neither receives it with good will at your hand. ¹⁴ Yet you say, Why? Because Yahawah has been witness between you and the wife of your youth, against whom you have dealt treacherously, though she is your companion, and the wife of your covenant. ¹⁵ Did he not make one, although he had the residue of the Spirit? Why one? He sought a godly seed. Therefore take heed to your spirit, and let none deal treacherously against the wife of his youth. ¹⁶ For I hate putting away, says Yahawah, the Alahayam of Yasharaal, and him who covers his garment with violence, says Yahawah Tzabaawath: therefore take heed to your spirit, that you don't deal treacherously. ¹⁷ You have wearied Yahawah with your words. Yet you say, Wherein have we wearied him? In that you say, Everyone who does evil is good in the sight of Yahawah, and he delights in them; or where is the Alahayam of justice?

3 Behold, I send my messenger, and he shall prepare the way before me: and the Adanay, whom you seek, will suddenly come to his temple; and the messenger of the covenant, whom you desire, behold, he comes, says Yahawah of hosts. ² But who can abide the day of his coming? and who shall stand when he appears? for he is like a refiner's fire, and like fuller's soap: ³ and he will sit as a refiner and purifier of silver, and he will purify the sons of Laway, and refine them as gold and silver; and they shall offer to Yahawah offerings in righteousness. ⁴ Then shall the offering of Yahawadah and Yarawashalam be pleasant to Yahawah, as in the days of old, and as in ancient years. ⁵ I will come near to you to judgment; and I will be a swift witness against the sorcerers, and against the adulterers, and against the perjurers, and against those who oppress the hireling in his wages, the widow, and the fatherless, and who turn aside the sojourner [from his right], and don't fear me, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ⁶ For I, Yahawah, don't change; therefore you, sons of Yaiqab, are not consumed. ⁷ From the days of your fathers you have turned aside from my ordinances, and have not kept them. Return to me, and I will return to you, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. But you say, Wherein shall we return? ⁸ Will a man rob Alahayam? yet you rob me. But you say, Wherein have we robbed you? In tithes and offerings. ⁹ You are cursed with the curse; for you rob me, even this whole nation. ¹⁰ Bring the whole tithe into the store-house, that there may be food in my house, and prove me now herewith, says Yahawah of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough [to receive it]. ¹¹ I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast its fruit before the time in the field, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹² All nations shall call you happy; for you shall be a delightful land, says Yahawah Tzabaawath. ¹³ Your words have been stout against me, says Yahawah. Yet you say, What have we spoken against you? ¹⁴ You have said, It is vain to serve Alahayam; and what profit is it that we have kept his charge, and that we have walked mournfully before Yahawah Tzabaawath?
¹⁵ Now we call the proud happy; yes, those who work wickedness are built up; yes, they tempt Alahayam, and escape.¹⁶ Then those who feared Yahawah spoke one with another; and Yahawah listened, and heard, and a book of memory was written before him, for those who feared Yahawah, and that thought on his name.¹⁷ They shall be my, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, [even] my own possession, in the day that I make; and I will spare them, as a man spares his own son who serves him.¹⁸ Then shall you return and discern between the righteous and the wicked, between him who serves Alahayam and him who doesn't serve him.¹⁹ For, behold, the day comes, it burns as a furnace; and all the proud, and all who work wickedness, shall be stubble; and the day that comes shall burn them up, says Yahawah Tzabaawath, that it shall leave them neither root nor branch.²⁰ But to you who fear my name shall the sun of righteousness arise with healing in its wings; and you shall go forth, and gambol as calves of the stall.²¹ You shall tread down the wicked; for they shall be ashes under the soles of your feet in the day that I make, says Yahawah Tzabaawath.²² Remember you the law of Mashah my servant, which I commanded to him in Charab for all Yasharaal, even statutes and ordinances.²³ Behold, I will send you Alayahaw the prophet before the great and terrible day of Yahawah come.²⁴ He shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers; lest I come and strike the earth with a curse.

1 And it happened, after that Alexander son of Payalayapawas, the Macedonian, who came out of the land of Chettiim, had smitten Darayawash king of the Paras and Maday, that he reigned in his stead, the first over Greece, ² And made many wars, and won many strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth, ³ And went through to the ends of the earth, and took spoils of many nations, insomuch that the earth was quiet before him; whereupon he was exalted and his heart was lifted up. ⁴ And he gathered a mighty strong host and ruled over countries, and nations, and kings, who became tributaries to him. ⁵ And after these things he fell sick, and perceived that he should die. ⁶ Therefore he called his servants, such as were honourable, and had been brought up with him from his youth, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet alive. ⁷ So Alexander reigned twelve years, and then died. ⁸ And his servants bore rule every one in his place. ⁹ And after his death they all put crowns upon themselves; so did their sons after them many years: and evils were multiplied in the earth. ¹⁰ And there came out of them a wicked root Antiochus surnamed Epiphanes, son of Antiochus the king, who had been an hostage at Rome, and he reigned in the hundred and thirty and seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks. ¹¹ In those days went there out of Yasharaal wicked men, who persuaded many, saying, Let us go and make a covenant with the heathen that are round about us: for since we departed from them we have had much sorrow. ¹² So this device pleased them well. ¹³ Then certain of the people were so forward herein, that they went to the king, who gave them licence to do after the ordinances of the heathen: ¹⁴ Whereupon they built a place of exercise at Yarawashalam according to the customs of the heathen: ¹⁵ And made themselves uncircumcised, and forsook the holy covenant, and joined themselves to the heathen, and were sold to do mischief. ¹⁶ Now when the kingdom was established before Antiochus, he thought to reign over Matzarayam that he might have the dominion of two realms. ¹⁷ Therefore he entered into Matzarayam with a great multitude, with chariots, and elephants, and horsemen, and a great navy, ¹⁸ And made war against Ptolemee king of Matzarayam: but Ptolemee was afraid of him, and fled; and many were wounded to death. ¹⁹ Thus they got the strong cities in the land of Matzarayam and he took the spoils thereof. ²⁰ And after that Antiochus had smitten Matzarayam, he returned again in the hundred forty and third year, and went up against Yasharaal and Yarawashalam with a great multitude, ²¹ And entered proudly into the sanctuary, and took away the golden altar, and the candlestick of light, and all the vessels thereof, ²² And the table of the shewbread, and the pouring vessels, and the vials, and the censers of gold, and the veil, and the crown, and the golden ornaments that were before the temple, all which he pulled off. ²³ He took also the silver and the gold, and the precious vessels: also he took the hidden treasures which he found. ²⁴ And when he had taken all away, he went into his own land, having made a great massacre, and spoken very proudly. ²⁵ Therefore there was a great mourning in Yasharaal, in every place where they were; ²⁶ So that the princes and elders mourned, the virgins and young men were made feeble, and the beauty of women was changed. ²⁷ Every bridegroom took up lamentation, and she that sat in the marriage chamber was in heaviness, ²⁸ The land also was moved for the inhabitants thereof, and all the house of Yaiqab was covered with confusion. ²⁹ And after two years fully expired the king sent his chief collector of tribute to the cities of Juda, who came to Yarawashalam with a great multitude, ³⁰ And spoke peaceable words to them, but all was deceit: for when they had given him credence, he fell suddenly upon the city, and smote it very sore, and destroyed much people of Yasharaal. ³¹ And when he had taken the spoils of the city, he set it on fire, and pulled down the houses and walls thereof on every side. ³² But the women and children took they captive, and possessed the cattle. ³³ Then builded they the city of Dawad with a great and strong wall, and with mighty towers, and made it a strong hold for them. ³⁴ And they put therein a sinful nation, wicked men, and fortified themselves therein. ³⁵ They stored it also with armour and victuals, and when they had gathered together the spoils of Yarawashalam, they laid them up there, and so they became a sore snare: ³⁶ For it was a place to lie in wait against the sanctuary, and an evil adversary to Yasharaal. ³⁷ Thus they shed innocent blood on every side of the sanctuary, and defiled it: ³⁸ Insomuch that the inhabitants of Yarawashalam fled because of them: whereupon the city was made an habitation of strangers, and became strange to those that were born in her; and her own children left her. ³⁹ Her sanctuary was laid waste like a wilderness, her feasts were turned into mourning, her sabbaths into reproach her honour into contempt. ⁴⁰ As had been her glory, so was her dishonour increased, and her excellency was turned into mourning. ⁴¹ Moreover king Antiochus wrote to his whole kingdom, that all should be one people, ⁴² And every one should leave his laws: so all the heathen agreed according to the commandment of the king. ⁴³ Yea, many also of the Israelites consented to his religion, and sacrificed to idols, and profaned the sabbath. ⁴⁴ For the king had sent letters by messengers to Yarawashalam and the cities of Juda that they should follow the strange laws of the land, ⁴⁵ And forbid burnt offerings, and sacrifice, and drink offerings, in the temple; and that they should profane the sabbaths and festival days: ⁴⁶ And pollute the sanctuary and holy people: ⁴⁷ Set up altars, and groves, and chapels of idols, and sacrifice swine's flesh, and unclean beasts: ⁴⁸ That they should also leave their children uncircumcised, and make their souls abominable with all manner of uncleanness and profanation: ⁴⁹ To the end they might forget the law, and change all the ordinances. ⁵⁰ And whosoever would not do according to the commandment of the king, he said, he should die. ⁵¹ In the selfsame manner wrote he to his whole kingdom, and appointed overseers over all the people, commanding the cities of Juda to sacrifice, city by city. ⁵² Then many of the people were gathered to them, to wit every one that forsook the law; and so they committed evils in the land; ⁵³ And drove the Israelites into secret places, even wheresoever they could flee for succour. ⁵⁴ Now the fifteenth day of the month Casleu, in the hundred forty and fifth year, they set up the abomination of desolation upon the altar, and builded idol altars throughout the cities of Juda on every side; ⁵⁵ And burnt incense at the doors of their houses, and in the streets. ⁵⁶ And when they had rent in pieces the books of the law which they found, they burnt them with fire. ⁵⁷ And whosoever was found with any the book of the testament, or if any committed to the law, the king's commandment was, that they should put him to death. ⁵⁸ Thus did they by their authority to the Israelites every month, to as many as were found in the cities. ⁵⁹ Now the five and twentieth day of the month they did sacrifice upon the idol altar, which was upon the altar of Alahayam. ⁶⁰ At which time according to the commandment they put to death certain women, that had caused their children to be circumcised. ⁶¹ And they hanged the infants about their necks, and rifled their houses, and slew them that had circumcised them. ⁶² Howbeit many in Yasharaal were fully resolved and confirmed in themselves not to eat any unclean thing. ⁶³ Therefore the rather to die, that they might not be defiled with meats, and that they might not profane the holy covenant: so then they died. ⁶⁴ And there was very great wrath upon Yasharaal.

2 In those days arose Mattathias the son of Yawachanan, the son of Shamaïwan, a priest of the sons of Joarib, from Yarawashalam, and dwelt in Modin.² And he had five sons, Joannan, called Caddis:³ Shamaïwan; called Thassi:⁴ Yahawadah, who was called Maccabeus:⁵ Alaizar, called Avaran: and Yahawanathan, whose surname was Apphus.⁶ And when he saw the blasphemies that were committed in Juda and Yarawashalam,⁷ He said, Woe is me! therefore was I born to see this misery of my people, and of the holy city, and to dwell there, when it was delivered into the hand of the enemy, and the sanctuary into the hand of strangers?⁸ Her temple is become as a man without glory.⁹ Her glorious vessels are carried away into captivity, her infants are slain in the streets, her young men with the sword of the enemy.¹⁰ What nation has not had a part in her kingdom and gotten of her spoils?¹¹ All her ornaments are taken away; of a free woman she is become a bondslave.¹² And, behold, our sanctuary, even our beauty and our glory, is laid waste, and the Gentiles have profaned it.¹³ To what end therefore shall we live any longer?¹⁴ Then Mattathias and his sons rent their clothes, and put on sackcloth, and mourned very sore.¹⁵ In the mean while the king's officers, such as compelled the people to revolt, came into the city Modin, to make them sacrifice.¹⁶ And when many of Yasharaal came to them, Mattathias also and his sons came together.¹⁷ Then answered the king's officers, and said to Mattathias on this wise, You are a ruler, and an honourable and great man in this city, and strengthened with sons and brethren:¹⁸ Now therefore come you first, and fulfil the king's commandment, like as all the heathen have done, yea, and the men of Juda also, and such as remain at Yarawashalam: so shall you and your house be in the number of the king's friends, and you and your children shall be honoured with silver and gold, and many rewards.¹⁹ Then Mattathias answered and spoke with a loud voice, Though all the nations that are under the king's dominion obey him, and fall away every one from the religion of their fathers, and give consent to his commandments:²⁰ Yet will I and my sons and my brethren walk in the covenant of our fathers.²¹ Alahayam forbid that we should forsake the law and the ordinances.²² We will not hearken to the king's words, to go from our religion, either on the right hand, or the left.²³ Now when he had left speaking these words, there came one of the Jews in the sight of all to sacrifice on the altar which was at Modin, according to the king's commandment.²⁴ Which thing when Mattathias saw, he was inflamed with zeal, and his reins trembled, neither could he forbear to show his anger according to judgment: therefore he ran, and slew him upon the altar.²⁵ Also the king's commissioner, who compelled men to sacrifice, he killed at that time, and the altar he pulled down.²⁶ Thus dealt he zealously for the law of Alahayam like as Phinees did to Zambri the son of Salom.²⁷ And Mattathias cried throughout the city with a loud voice, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the law, and maintaineth the covenant, let him follow me.²⁸ So he and his sons fled into the mountains, and left all that ever they had in the city.²⁹ Then many that sought after justice and judgment went down into the wilderness, to dwell there:³⁰ Both they, and their children, and their wives; and their cattle; because afflictions increased sore upon them.³¹ Now when it was told the king's servants, and the host that was at Yarawashalam, in the city of Dawad, that certain men, who had broken the king's commandment, were gone down into the secret places in the wilderness,³² They pursued after them a great number, and having overtaken them, they camped against them, and made war against them on the sabbath day.³³ And they said to them, Let that which you have done hitherto suffice; come forth, and do according to the commandment of the king, and you shall live.³⁴ But they said, We will not come forth, neither will we do the king's commandment, to profane the sabbath day.³⁵ So then they gave them the battle with all speed.³⁶ Howbeit they answered them not, neither cast they a stone at them, nor stopped the places where they lay hid;³⁷ But said, Let us die all in our innocency: heaven and earth will testify for us, that you put us to death wrongfully.³⁸ So they rose up against them in battle on the sabbath, and they slew them, with their wives and children and their cattle, to the number of a thousand people.³⁹ Now when Mattathias and his friends understood hereof, they mourned for them right sore.⁴⁰ And one of them said to another, If we all do as our brethren have done, and fight not for our lives and laws against the heathen, they will now quickly root us out of the earth.⁴¹ At that time therefore they decreed, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battle with us on the sabbath day, we will fight against him; neither will we die all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.⁴² Then came there to him a company of Assideans who were mighty men of Yasharaal, even all such as were voluntarily devoted to the law.⁴³ Also all they that fled for persecution joined themselves to them, and were a stay to them.⁴⁴ So they joined their forces, and smote sinful men in their anger, and wicked men in their wrath: but the rest fled to the heathen for succour.⁴⁵ Then Mattathias and his friends went round about, and pulled down the altars:⁴⁶ And what children soever they found within the coast of Yasharaal uncircumcised, those they circumcised valiantly.⁴⁷ They pursued also after the proud men, and the work prospered in their hand.⁴⁸ So they recovered the law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, neither suffered they the sinner to triumph.⁴⁹ Now when the time drew near that Mattathias should die, he said to his sons, Now has pride and rebuke gotten strength, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation:⁵⁰ Now therefore, my sons, be you zealous for the law, and give your lives for the covenant of your fathers.⁵¹ Call to remembrance what acts our fathers did in their time; so shall you receive great honour and an everlasting name.⁵² Was not Abaraham found faithful in temptation, and it was imputed to him for righteousness?⁵³ Yawasap in the time of his distress kept the commandment and was made lord of Matzarayam.⁵⁴ Phinees our father in being zealous and fervent obtained the covenant of an everlasting priesthood.⁵⁵ Yashawai for fulfilling the word was made a judge in Yasharaal.⁵⁶ Kalab for bearing witness before the congregation received the heritage of the land.⁵⁷ Dawad for being merciful possessed the throne of an everlasting kingdom.⁵⁸ Elias for being zealous and fervent for the law was taken up into heaven.⁵⁹ Ananias, Azarias, and Misael, by believing were saved out of the flame.⁶⁰ Wadan for his innocency was delivered from the mouth of lions.⁶¹ And thus consider you throughout all ages, that none that put their trust in him shall be overcome.⁶² Fear not then the words of a sinful man: for his glory shall be dung and worms.⁶³ To day he shall be lifted up and to morrow he shall not be found, because he is returned into his dust, and his thought is come to nothing.⁶⁴ Therefore, you my sons, be valiant and show yourselves men in the behalf of the law; for by it shall you obtain glory.⁶⁵ And behold, I know that your brother Shamaïwan is a man of counsel, give ear to him alway: he shall be a father to you.⁶⁶ As for Yahawadah Maccabeus, he has been mighty and strong, even from his youth up: let him be your captain, and fight the battle of the people.⁶⁷ Take also to you all those that observe the law, and avenge you the wrong of your people.⁶⁸ Recompense fully the heathen, and take heed to the commandments of the law.⁶⁹ So he blessed them, and was gathered to his fathers.⁷⁰ And he died in the hundred forty and sixth year, and his sons buried him in the sepulchres of his fathers at Modin, and all Yasharaal made great lamentation for him.

3 Then his son Yahawadah, called Maccabeus, rose up in his stead.² And all his brethren helped him, and so did all they that held with his father, and they fought with cheerfulness the battle of Yasharaal.³ So he gat his people great honour, and put on a breastplate as a giant, and girt his warlike harness about him, and he made battles, protecting the host with his sword.⁴ In his acts he was like a lion, and like a lion's whelp roaring for his prey.⁵ For He pursued the wicked, and sought them out, and burnt up those that vexed his people.⁶ Therefore the wicked shrunk for fear of him, and all the workers of iniquity were troubled, because salvation prospered in his hand.⁷ He grieved also many kings, and made Yaïqab glad with his acts, and his memorial is blessed for ever.⁸ Moreover he went through the cities of Juda, destroying the ungodly out of them, and turning away wrath from Yasharaal:⁹ So that he was renowned to the utmost part of the earth, and he received to him such as were ready to perish.¹⁰ Then Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together, and a great host out of Shamaraan, to fight against Yasharaal.¹¹ Which thing when Yahawadah perceived, he went forth to meet him, and so he smote him, and slew him: many also fell down slain, but the rest fled.¹² Therefore Yahawadah took their spoils, and Apollonius' sword also, and therewith he fought all his life long.¹³ Now when Seron, a prince of the army of Aram, heard say that Yahawadah had gathered to him a multitude and company of the faithful to go out with him to war;¹⁴ He said, I will get me a name and honour in the kingdom; for I will go fight with Yahawadah and them that are with him, who despise the king's commandment.¹⁵ So he made him ready to go up, and there went with him a mighty host of the ungodly to help him, and to be avenged of the children of Yasharaal.¹⁶ And when he came near to the going up of Bethhoron, Yahawadah went forth to meet him with a small company:¹⁷ Who, when they saw the host coming to meet them, said to Yahawadah, How shall we be able, being so few, to fight against so great a multitude and so strong, seeing we are ready to faint with fasting all this day?¹⁸ To whom Yahawadah answered, It is no hard matter for many to be shut up in the hands of a few; and with the Alahayam of heaven it is all one, to deliver with a great multitude, or a small company:¹⁹ For the victory of battle stands not in the multitude of an host; but strength comes from heaven.²⁰ They come against us in much pride and iniquity to destroy us, and our wives and children, and to spoil us:²¹ But we fight for our lives and our laws.²² Therefore the Adanay himself will overthrow them before our face: and as for you, be you not afraid of them.²³ Now as soon as he had left off speaking, he leapt suddenly upon them, and so Seron and his host was overthrown before him.²⁴ And they pursued them from the going down of Bethhoron to the plain, where were slain about eight hundred men of them; and the residue fled into the land of the Palashath.²⁵ Then began the fear of Yahawadah and his brethren, and an exceeding great dread, to fall upon the nations round about them:²⁶ Inasmuch as his fame came to the king, and all nations talked of the battles of Yahawadah.²⁷ Now when king Antiochus heard these things, he was full of indignation: therefore he sent and gathered together all the forces of his realm, even a very strong army.²⁸ He opened also his treasure, and gave his soldiers pay for a year, commanding them to be ready whensoever he should need them.²⁹ Nevertheless, when he saw that the money of his treasures failed and that the tributes in the country were small, because of the dissension and plague, which he had brought upon the land in taking away the laws which had been of old time;³⁰ He feared that he should not be able to bear the charges any longer, nor to have such gifts to give so liberally as he did before: for he had abounded above the kings that were before him.³¹ Therefore, being greatly perplexed in his mind, he determined to go into Paras, there to take the tributes of the countries, and to gather much money.³² So he left Lysias, a nobleman, and one of the blood royal, to oversee the affairs of the king from the river Parath to the borders of Matzarayam:³³ And to bring up his son Antiochus, until he came again.³⁴ Moreover he delivered to him the half of his forces, and the elephants, and gave him charge of all things that he would have done, as also concerning them that dwelt in Juda and Yarrowashalam:³⁵ To wit, that he should send an army against them, to destroy and root out the strength of Yasharaal, and the remnant of Yarrowashalam, and to take away their memorial from that place;³⁶ And that he should place strangers in all their quarters, and divide their land by lot.³⁷ So the king took the half of the forces that remained, and departed from Antioch, his royal city, the hundred forty and seventh year; and having passed the river Parath, he went through the high countries.³⁸ Then Lysias chose Ptoleeme the son of Dorymenes, Nicanor, and Gorgias, mighty men of the king's friends:³⁹ And with them he sent forty thousand footmen, and seven thousand horsemen, to go into the land of Juda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.⁴⁰ So they went forth with all their power, and came and pitched by Emmaus in the plain country.

⁴¹ And the merchants of the country, hearing the fame of them, took silver and gold very much, with servants, and came into the camp to buy the children of Yasharaal for slaves: a power also of Aram and of the land of the Palashath joined themselves to them.⁴² Now when Yahawadah and his brethren saw that miseries were multiplied, and that the forces did encamp themselves in their borders: for they knew how the king had given commandment to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them;⁴³ They said one to another, Let us restore the decayed fortune of our people, and let us fight for our people and the sanctuary.⁴⁴ Then was the congregation gathered together, that they might be ready for battle, and that they might pray, and ask mercy and compassion.⁴⁵ Now Yarrowashalam lay void as a wilderness, there was none of her children that went in or out: the sanctuary also was trodden down, and aliens kept the strong hold; the heathen had their habitation in that place; and joy was taken from Yaiqab, and the pipe with the harp ceased.⁴⁶ Therefore the Israelites assembled themselves together, and came to Maspha, over against Yarrowashalam; for in Maspha was the place where they prayed aforetime in Yasharaal.⁴⁷ Then they fasted that day, and put on sackcloth, and cast ashes upon their heads, and rent their clothes,⁴⁸ And laid open the book of the law, wherein the heathen had sought to paint the likeness of their images.⁴⁹ They brought also the priests' garments, and the firstfruits, and the tithes: and the Nazarites they stirred up, who had accomplished their days.⁵⁰ Then cried they with a loud voice toward heaven, saying, What shall we do with these, and where shall we carry them away?⁵¹ For your sanctuary is trodden down and profaned, and your priests are in heaviness, and brought low.⁵² And lo, the heathen are assembled together against us to destroy us: what things they imagine against us, you know.⁵³ How shall we be able to stand against them, except you, O Alahayam, be our help?⁵⁴ Then sounded they with trumpets, and cried with a loud voice.⁵⁵ And after this Yahawadah ordained captains over the people, even captains over thousands, and over hundreds, and over fifties, and over tens.⁵⁶ But as for such as were building houses, or had betrothed wives, or were planting vineyards, or were fearful, those he commanded that they should return, every man to his own house, according to the law.⁵⁷ So the camp removed, and pitched upon the south side of Emmaus.⁵⁸ And Yahawadah said, arm yourselves, and be valiant men, and see that you be in readiness against the morning, that you may fight with these nations, that are assembled together against us to destroy us and our sanctuary:⁵⁹ For it is better for us to die in battle, than to behold the calamities of our people and our sanctuary.⁶⁰ Nevertheless, as the will of Alahayam is in heaven, so let him do.

4 Then took Gorgias five thousand footmen, and a thousand of the best horsemen, and removed out of the camp by night;² To the end he might rush in upon the camp of the Jews, and smite them suddenly. And the men of the fortress were his guides.³ Now when Yahawadah heard thereof he himself removed, and the valiant men with him, that he might smite the king's army which was at Emmaus,⁴ While as yet the forces were dispersed from the camp.⁵ In the mean season came Gorgias by night into the camp of Yahawadah: and when he found no man there, he sought them in the mountains: for said he, These fellows flee from us.⁶ But as soon as it was day, Yahawadah showed himself in the plain with three thousand men, who nevertheless had neither armour nor swords to their minds.⁷ And they saw the camp of the heathen, that it was strong and well harnessed, and compassed round about with horsemen; and these were expert of war.⁸ Then said Yahawadah to the men that were with him, Fear you not their multitude, neither be you afraid of their assault.⁹ Remember how our fathers were delivered in the Sawap, when Paraih pursued them with an army.¹⁰ Now therefore let us cry to heaven, if peradventure the Adanay will have mercy upon us, and remember the covenant of our fathers, and destroy this host before our face this day:¹¹ That so all the heathen may know that there is one who delivers and saves Yasharaal.¹² Then the strangers lifted up their eyes, and saw them coming over against them.¹³ Therefore they went out of the camp to battle; but they that were with Yahawadah sounded their trumpets.¹⁴ So they joined battle, and the heathen being discomfited fled into the plain.¹⁵ Howbeit all the hindmost of them were slain with the sword: for they pursued them to Gazera, and to the plains of Adawam, and Azotus, and Jamnia, so that there were slain of them upon a three thousand men.¹⁶ This done, Yahawadah returned again with his host from pursuing them,¹⁷ And said to the people, Be not greedy of the spoil inasmuch as there is a battle before us,¹⁸ And Gorgias and his host are here by us in the mountain: but stand you now against our enemies, and overcome them, and after this you may boldly take the spoils.¹⁹ As Yahawadah was yet speaking these words, there appeared a part of them looking out of the mountain:²⁰ Who when they perceived that the Jews had put their host to flight and were burning the tents; for the smoke that was seen declared what was done:²¹ When therefore they perceived these things, they were sore afraid, and seeing also the host of Yahawadah in the plain ready to fight,²² They fled every one into the land of strangers.²³ Then Yahawadah returned to spoil the tents, where they got much gold, and silver, and blue silk, and purple of the sea, and great riches.²⁴ After this they went home, and sung a song of thanksgiving, and praised the Adanay in heaven: because it is good, because his mercy endures forever.²⁵ Thus Yasharaal had a great deliverance that day.²⁶ Now all the strangers that had escaped came and told Lysias what had happened:²⁷ Who, when he heard thereof, was confounded and discouraged, because neither such things as he would were done to Yasharaal, nor such things as the king commanded him were come to pass.²⁸ The next year therefore following Lysias gathered together threescore thousand choice men of foot, and five thousand horsemen, that he might subdue them.²⁹ So they came into Adawam, and pitched their tents at Bethsura, and Yahawadah met them with ten thousand men.³⁰ And when he saw that mighty army, he prayed and said, Blessed are you, O Saviour of Yasharaal, who did quell the violence of the mighty man by the hand of your servant Dawad, and gave the host of strangers into the hands of Yahawanathan the son of Shaawal, and his armourbearer;³¹ Shut up this army in the hand of your people Yasharaal, and let them be confounded in their power and horsemen:³² Make them to be of no courage, and cause the boldness of their strength to fall away, and let them quake at their destruction:³³ Cast them down with the sword of them that love you, and let all those that know your name praise you with thanksgiving.³⁴ So they joined battle; and there were slain of the host of Lysias about five thousand men, even before them were they slain.³⁵ Now when Lysias saw his army put to flight, and the manliness of Yahawadah's soldiers, and how they were ready either to live or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, and gathered together a company of strangers, and having made his army greater than it was, he purposed to come again into Yahawadah.³⁶ Then said Yahawadah and his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let us go up to cleanse and dedicate the sanctuary.³⁷ Upon this all the host assembled themselves together, and went up into mount Shayaan.³⁸ And when they saw the sanctuary desolate, and the altar profaned, and the gates burned up, and shrubs growing in the courts as in a forest, or in one of the mountains, yea, and the priests' chambers pulled down;³⁹ They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes upon their heads,⁴⁰ And fell down flat to the ground upon their faces, and blew an alarm with the trumpets, and cried toward heaven.⁴¹ Then Yahawadah appointed certain men to fight against those that were in the fortress, until he had cleansed the sanctuary.⁴² So he chose priests of blameless conversation, such as had pleasure in the law:⁴³ Who cleansed the sanctuary, and bore out the defiled stones into an unclean place.⁴⁴ And when as they consulted what to do with the altar of burnt offerings, which was profaned;⁴⁵ They thought it best to pull it down, lest it should be a reproach to them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they pulled it down,⁴⁶ And laid up the stones in the mountain of the temple in a convenient place, until there should come a prophet to show what should be done with them.⁴⁷ Then they took whole stones according to the law, and built a new altar according to the former;⁴⁸ And made up the sanctuary, and the things that were within the temple, and hallowed the courts.⁴⁹ They made also new holy vessels, and into the temple they brought the candlestick, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.⁵⁰ And upon the altar they burned incense, and the lamps that were upon the candlestick they lighted, that they might give light in the temple.⁵¹ Furthermore they set the loaves upon the table, and spread out the veils, and finished all the works which they had begun to make.⁵² Now on the five and twentieth day of the ninth month, which is called the month Casleu, in the hundred forty and eighth year, they rose up betimes in the morning,⁵³ And offered sacrifice according to the law upon the new altar of burnt offerings, which they had made.⁵⁴ Look, at what time and what day the heathen had profaned it, even in that was it dedicated with songs, and citherns, and harps, and cymbals.⁵⁵ Then all the people fell upon their faces, worshipping and praising the Alahayam of heaven, who had given them good success.⁵⁶ And so they kept the dedication of the altar eight days and offered burnt offerings with gladness, and sacrificed the sacrifice of deliverance and praise.⁵⁷ They decked also the forefront of the temple with crowns of gold, and with shields; and the gates and the chambers they renewed, and hanged doors upon them.⁵⁸ Thus was there very great gladness among the people, for that the reproach of the heathen was put away.⁵⁹ Moreover Yahawadah and his brethren with the whole congregation of Yasharaal ordained, that the days of the dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from year to year by the space of eight days, from the five and twentieth day of the month Casleu, with mirth and gladness.⁶⁰ At that time also they builded up the mount Shayaan with high walls and strong towers round about, lest the Gentiles should come and tread it down as they had done before.⁶¹ And they set there a garrison to keep it, and fortified Bethsura to preserve it; that the people might have a defence against Adawam.

5 Now when the nations round about heard that the altar was built and the sanctuary renewed as before, it displeased them very much.² Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Yaiqab that was among them, and thereupon they began to slay and destroy the people.³ Then Yahawadah fought against the children of Ishaw in Adawam at Arabattine, because they besieged Gael: and he gave them a great overthrow, and abated their courage, and took their spoils.⁴ Also he remembered the injury of the children of Bean, who had been a snare and an offence to the people, in that they lay in wait for them in the ways.⁵ He shut them up therefore in the towers, and encamped against them, and destroyed them utterly, and burned the towers of that place with fire, and all that were therein.⁶ Afterward he passed over to the children of Imawan, where he found a mighty power, and much people, with Timotheus their captain.⁷ So he fought many battles with them, till at length they were discomfited before him; and he smote them.⁸ And when he had taken Jazar, with the towns belonging thereto, he returned into Yahawadah.⁹ Then the heathen that were at Galaad assembled themselves together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to destroy them; but they fled to the fortress of Dathema.¹⁰ And sent letters to Yahawadah and his brethren, The heathen that are round about us are assembled together against us to destroy us:¹¹ And they are preparing to come and take the fortress whereunto we are fled, Timotheus being captain of their host.¹² Come now therefore, and deliver us from their hands, for many of us are slain:¹³ Yea, all our brethren that were in the places of Tobie are put to death: their wives and their children also they have carried away captives, and borne away their stuff; and they have destroyed there about a thousand men.¹⁴ While these letters were yet reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galayal with their clothes rent, who reported on this wise,¹⁵ And said, They of Ptolemais, and of Tzar, and Tzayadawan, and all Galayal of the Gentiles, are assembled together against us to consume us.¹⁶ Now when Yahawadah and the people heard these words, there assembled a great congregation together, to consult what they should do for their brethren, that were in trouble, and assaulted of them.¹⁷ Then said Yahawadah to Shamaian his brother, Choose you out men, and go and deliver your brethren that are in Galayal, for I and Yahawanathan my brother will go into the country of Galaad.¹⁸ So he left Yawasap the son of Zacharias, and Azarias, captains of the people, with the remnant of the host in Yahawadah to keep it.¹⁹ To whom he gave commandment, saying, Take you the charge of this people, and see that you make not war against the heathen until the time that we come again.²⁰ Now to Shamaian were given three thousand men to go into Galayal, and to Yahawadah eight thousand men for the country of Galaad.²¹ Then went Shamaian into Galayal, where he fought many battles with the heathen, so that the heathen were discomfited by him.²² And he pursued them to the gate of Ptolemais; and there were slain of the heathen about three thousand men, whose spoils he took.²³ And those that were in Galayal, and in Arbattis, with their wives and their children, and all that they had, took he away with him, and brought them into Yahawadah with great joy.²⁴ Yahawadah Maccabeus also and his brother Yahawanathan went over Yaranan, and travelled three days' journey in the wilderness,²⁵ Where they met with the Nabathites, who came to them in a peaceable manner, and told them every thing that had happened to their brethren in the land of Galaad.²⁶ And how that many of them were shut up in Bosora, and Bosor, and Alema, Casphor, Maked, and Carnaim; all these cities are strong and great.²⁷ And that they were shut up in the rest of the cities of the country of Galaad, and that against to morrow they had appointed to bring their host against the forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.²⁸ Hereupon Yahawadah and his host turned suddenly by the way of the wilderness to Bosora; and when he had won the city, he slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and took all their spoils, and burned the city with fire.²⁹ From whence he removed by night, and went till he came to the fortress.³⁰ And betimes in the morning they looked up, and, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders and other engines of war, to take the fortress: for they assaulted them.³¹ When Yahawadah therefore saw that the battle was begun, and that the cry of the city went up to heaven, with trumpets, and a great sound,³² He said to his host, Fight this day for your brethren.³³ So he went forth behind them in three companies, who sounded their trumpets, and cried with prayer.³⁴ Then the host of Timotheus, knowing that it was Maccabeus, fled from him: therefore he smote them with a great slaughter; so that there were killed of them that day about eight thousand men.³⁵ This done, Yahawadah turned aside to Maspha; and after he had assaulted it he took and slew all the males therein, and received the spoils thereof and and burnt it with fire.³⁶ From thence went he, and took Casphon, Maged, Bosor, and the other cities of the country of Galaad.³⁷ After these things gathered Timotheus another host and encamped against Raphon beyond the brook.³⁸ So Yahawadah sent men to espy the host, who brought him word, saying, All the heathen that be round about us are assembled to them, even a very great host.³⁹ He has also hired the Arabians to help them and they have pitched their tents beyond the brook, ready to come and fight against you. Upon this Yahawadah went to meet them.⁴⁰ Then Timotheus said to the captains of his host, When Yahawadah and his host come near the brook, if he pass over first to us, we shall not be able to withstand him; for he will mightily prevail against us:⁴¹ But if he be afraid, and camp beyond the river, we shall go over to him, and prevail against him.⁴² Now when Yahawadah came near the brook, he caused the scribes of the people to remain by the brook: to whom he gave commandment, saying, Suffer no man to remain in the camp, but let all come to the battle.⁴³ So he went first over to them, and all the people after him: then all the heathen, being discomfited before him, cast away their weapons, and fled to the temple that was at Carnaim.⁴⁴ But they took the city, and burned the temple with all that were therein. Thus was Carnaim subdued, neither could they stand any longer before Yahawadah.⁴⁵ Then Yahawadah gathered together all the Israelites that were in the country of Galaad, from the least to the greatest, even their wives, and their children, and their stuff, a very great host, to the end they might come into the land of Yahawadah.⁴⁶ Now when they came to Iparawan, (this was a great city in the way as they should go, very well fortified) they could not turn from it, either on the right hand or the left, but must needs pass through the midst of it.⁴⁷ Then they of the city shut them out, and stopped up the gates with stones.⁴⁸ Whereupon Yahawadah sent to them in peaceable manner, saying, Let us pass through your land to go into our own country, and none shall do you any hurt; we will only pass through on foot: howbeit they would not open to him.⁴⁹ Therefore Yahawadah commanded a proclamation to be made throughout the host, that every man should pitch his tent in the place where he was.⁵⁰ So the soldiers pitched, and assaulted the city all that day and all that night, till at the length the city was delivered into his hands:⁵¹ Who then slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and rased the city, and took the spoils thereof, and passed through the city over them that were slain.⁵² After this went they over Yaranan into the great plain before Bethsan.⁵³ And Yahawadah gathered together those that came behind, and exhorted the people all the way through, till they came into the land of Yahawadah.⁵⁴ So they went up to mount Shayaan with joy and gladness, where they offered burnt offerings, because not one of them were slain until they had returned in peace.⁵⁵ Now what time as Yahawadah and Yahawanathan were in the land of Galaad, and Shamaian his brother in Galayal before Ptolemais,⁵⁶ Yawasap the son of Zacharias, and Azarias, captains of the garrisons, heard of the valiant acts and warlike deeds which they had done.⁵⁷ Therefore they said, Let us also get us a name, and go fight against the heathen that are round about us.⁵⁸ So when they had given charge to the garrison that was with them, they went toward Jamnia.⁵⁹ Then came Gorgias and his men out of the city to fight against them.⁶⁰ And so it was, that Yawasap and Azaras were put to flight, and pursued to the borders of Yahawadah: and there were slain that day of the people of Yasharaal about two thousand men.⁶¹ Thus was there a great overthrow among the children of Yasharaal, because they were not obedient to Yahawadah and his brethren, but thought to do some valiant act.⁶² Moreover these men came not of the seed of those, by whose hand deliverance was given to Yasharaal.⁶³ Howbeit the man Yahawadah and his brethren were greatly renowned in the sight of all Yasharaal, and of all the heathen, wheresoever their name was heard of;⁶⁴ Insomuch as the people assembled to them with joyful acclamations.⁶⁵ Afterward went Yahawadah forth with his brethren, and fought against the children of Ishaw in the land toward the south, where he smote Chabarawan, and the towns thereof, and pulled down the fortress of it, and burned the towers thereof round about.⁶⁶ From thence he removed to go into the land of the Palashath, and passed through Shamarawan.⁶⁷ At that time certain priests, desirous to show their valour, were slain in battle, for that they went out to fight unadvisedly.⁶⁸ So Yahawadah turned to Azotus in the land of the Palashath, and when he had pulled down their altars, and burned their carved images with fire, and spoiled their cities, he returned into the land of Yahawadah.

6 About that time king Antiochus travelling through the high countries heard say, that Elymais in the country of Paras was a city greatly renowned for riches, silver, and gold;² And that there was in it a very rich temple, wherein were coverings of gold, and breastplates, and shields, which Alexander, son of Payalayapawas, the Macedonian king, who reigned first among the Grecians, had left there.³ Therefore he came and sought to take the city, and to spoil it; but he was not able, because they of the city, having had warning thereof,⁴ Rose up against him in battle: so he fled, and departed thence with great heaviness, and returned to Babal.⁵ Moreover there came one who brought him tidings into Paras, that the armies, which went against the land of Yahawadah, were put to flight:⁶ And that Lysias, who went forth first with a great power was driven away of the Jews; and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and store of spoils, which they had gotten of the armies, whom they had destroyed:⁷ Also that they had pulled down the abomination, which he had set up upon the altar in Yarahashalam, and that they had compassed about the sanctuary with high walls, as before, and his city Bethsura.⁸ Now when the king heard these words, he was astonished and sore moved: whereupon he laid him down upon his bed, and fell sick for grief, because it had not befallen him as he looked for.⁹ And there he continued many days: for his grief was ever more and more, and he made account that he should die.¹⁰ Therefore he called for all his friends, and said to them, The sleep is gone from mine eyes, and my heart fails for very care.¹¹ And I thought with myself, Into what tribulation am I come, and how great a flood of misery is it, wherein now I am! for I was bountiful and beloved in my power.¹² But now I remember the evils that I did at Yarawashalam, and that I took all the vessels of gold and silver that were therein, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Yahawadah without a cause.¹³ I perceive therefore that for this cause these troubles are come upon me, and, behold, I perish through great grief in a strange land.¹⁴ Then called he for Payalayapawas, one of his friends, who he made ruler over all his realm,¹⁵ And gave him the crown, and his robe, and his signet, to the end he should bring up his son Antiochus, and nourish him up for the kingdom.¹⁶ So king Antiochus died there in the hundred forty and ninth year.¹⁷ Now when Lysias knew that the king was dead, he set up Antiochus his son, whom he had brought up being young, to reign in his stead, and his name he called Eupator.¹⁸ About this time they that were in the tower shut up the Israelites round about the sanctuary, and sought always their hurt, and the strengthening of the heathen.¹⁹ Therefore Yahawadah, purposing to destroy them, called all the people together to besiege them.²⁰ So they came together, and besieged them in the hundred and fiftieth year, and he made mounts for shot against them, and other engines.²¹ Howbeit certain of them that were besieged got forth, to whom some ungodly men of Yasharaal joined themselves:²² And they went to the king, and said, How long will it be ere you execute judgment, and avenge our brethren?²³ We have been willing to serve your father, and to do as he would have us, and to obey his commandments;²⁴ For which cause they of our nation besiege the tower, and are alienated from us: moreover as many of us as they could light on they slew, and spoiled our inheritance.²⁵ Neither have they stretched out their hand against us only, but also against their borders.²⁶ And, behold, this day are they besieging the tower at Yarawashalam, to take it: the sanctuary also and Bethsura have they fortified.²⁷ Therefore if you do not prevent them quickly, they will do the greater things than these, neither shall you be able to rule them.²⁸ Now when the king heard this, he was angry, and gathered together all his friends, and the captains of his army, and those that had charge of the horse.²⁹ There came also to him from other kingdoms, and from isles of the sea, bands of hired soldiers.³⁰ So that the number of his army was an hundred thousand footmen, and twenty thousand horsemen, and two and thirty elephants exercised in battle.³¹ These went through Adawam, and pitched against Bethsura, which they assaulted many days, making engines of war; but they of Bethsura came out, and burned them with fire, and fought valiantly.³² Upon this Yahawadah removed from the tower, and pitched in Bathzacharias, over against the king's camp.³³ Then the king rising very early marched fiercely with his host toward Bathzacharias, where his armies made them ready to battle, and sounded the trumpets.³⁴ And to the end they might provoke the elephants to fight, they showed them the blood of grapes and mulberries.³⁵ Moreover they divided the beasts among the armies, and for every elephant they appointed a thousand men, armed with coats of mail, and with helmets of brass on their heads; and beside this, for every beast were ordained five hundred horsemen of the best.³⁶ These were ready at every occasion: wheresoever the beast was, and whithersoever the beast went, they went also, neither departed they from him.³⁷ And upon the beasts were there strong towers of wood, which covered every one of them, and were girt fast to them with devices: there were also upon every one two and thirty strong men, that fought upon them, beside the Indian that ruled him.³⁸ As for the remnant of the horsemen, they set them on this side and that side at the two parts of the host giving them signs what to do, and being harnessed all over amidst the ranks.³⁹ Now when the sun shone upon the shields of gold and brass, the mountains glistered therewith, and shined like lamps of fire.⁴⁰ So part of the king's army being spread upon the high mountains, and part on the valleys below, they marched on safely and in order.⁴¹ Therefore all that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the company, and the rattling of the harness, were moved: for the army was very great and mighty.⁴² Then Yahawadah and his host drew near, and entered into battle, and there were slain of the king's army six hundred men.⁴³ Alaizar also, surnamed Savaran, perceiving that one of the beasts, armed with royal harness, was higher than all the rest, and supposing that the king was upon him,⁴⁴ Pawat himself in jeopardy, to the end he might deliver his people, and get him a perpetual name:⁴⁵ Therefore he ran upon him courageously through the midst of the battle, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they were divided from him on both sides.⁴⁶ Which done, he crept under the elephant, and thrust him under, and slew him: whereupon the elephant fell down upon him, and there he died.⁴⁷ Howbeit the rest of the Jews seeing the strength of the king, and the violence of his forces, turned away from them.⁴⁸ Then the king's army went up to Yarawashalam to meet them, and the king pitched his tents against Yahawadah, and against mount Shayaan.⁴⁹ But with them that were in Bethsura he made peace: for they came out of the city, because they had no victuals there to endure the siege, it being a year of rest to the land.⁵⁰ So the king took Bethsura, and set a garrison there to keep it.⁵¹ As for the sanctuary, he besieged it many days: and set there artillery with engines and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.⁵² Whereupon they also made engines against their engines, and held them battle a long season.⁵³ Yet at the last, their vessels being without victuals, (for that it was the seventh year, and they in Yahawadah that were delivered from the Gentiles, had eaten up the residue of the store;) ⁵⁴ There were but a few left in the sanctuary, because the famine did so prevail against them, that they were fain to disperse themselves, every man to his own place.⁵⁵ At that time Lysias heard say, that Payalayapawas, whom Antiochus the king, while he lived, had appointed to bring up his son Antiochus, that he might be king,⁵⁶ Was returned out of Paras and Maday, and the king's host also that went with him, and that he sought to take to him the ruling of the affairs.⁵⁷ Therefore he went in all haste, and said to the king and the captains of the host and the company, We decay daily, and our victuals are but small, and the place we lay siege to is strong, and the affairs of the kingdom lie upon us:⁵⁸ Now therefore let us be friends with these men, and make peace with them, and with all their nation;⁵⁹ And covenant with them, that they shall live after their laws, as they did before: for they are therefore displeased, and have done all these things, because we abolished their laws.⁶⁰ So the king and the princes were content: therefore he sent to them to make peace; and they accepted thereof.⁶¹ Also the king and the princes made an oath to them: whereupon they went out of the strong hold.⁶² Then the king entered into mount Shayaan; but when he saw the strength of the place, he broke his oath that he had made, and gave commandment to pull down the wall round about.⁶³ Afterward departed he in all haste, and returned to Antiochia, where he found Payalayapawas to be master of the city: so he fought against him, and took the city by force.

7 In the hundred and one and fiftieth year Demetrius the son of Seleucus departed from Rome, and came up with a few men to a city of the sea coast, and reigned there.² And as he entered into the palace of his ancestors, so it was, that his forces had taken Antiochus and Lysias, to bring them to him.³ Therefore, when he knew it, he said, Let me not see their faces.⁴ So his host slew them. Now when Demetrius was set upon the throne of his kingdom,⁵ There came to him all the wicked and ungodly men of Yasharaal, having Alcimus, who was desirous to be high priest, for their captain:⁶ And they accused the people to the king, saying, Yahawadah and his brethren have slain all your friends, and driven us out of our own land.⁷ Now therefore send some man whom you trust, and let him go and see what havock he has made among us, and in the king's land, and let him punish them with all them that aid them.⁸ Then the king chose Bacchides, a friend of the king, who ruled beyond the flood, and was a great man in the kingdom, and faithful to the king.⁹ And him he sent with that wicked Alcimus, whom he made high priest, and commanded that he should take vengeance of the children of Yasharaal.¹⁰ So they departed, and came with a great power into the land of Yahawadah, where they sent messengers to Yahawadah and his brethren with peaceable words deceitfully.¹¹ But they gave no heed to their words; for they saw that they were come with a great power.¹² Then did there assemble to Alcimus and Bacchides a company of scribes, to require justice.¹³ Now the Assideans were the first among the children of Yasharaal that sought peace of them:¹⁴ For said they, One that is a priest of the seed of Aharan is come with this army, and he will do us no wrong.¹⁵ So he spoke to them, peaceably, and swore to them, saying, We will procure the harm neither of you nor your friends.¹⁶ Whereupon they believed him: howbeit he took of them threescore men, and slew them in one day, according to the words which he wrote,¹⁷ The flesh of your saints have they cast out, and their blood have they shed round about Yarawashalam, and there was none to bury them.¹⁸ Therefore the fear and dread of them fell upon all the people, who said, There is neither truth nor righteousness in them; for they have broken the covenant and oath that they made.¹⁹ After this, removed Bacchides from Yarawashalam, and pitched his tents in Bezeth, where he sent and took many of the men that had forsaken him, and certain of the people also, and when he had slain them, he cast them into the great pit.²⁰ Then committed he the country to Alcimus, and left with him a power to aid him: so Bacchides went to the king.²¹ But Alcimus contended for the high priesthood.²² And to him resorted all such as troubled the people, who, after they had gotten the land of Juda into their power, did much hurt in Yasharaal.²³ Now when Yahawadah saw all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Israelites, even above the heathen,²⁴ He went out into all the coasts of Yahawadah round about, and took vengeance of them that had revolted from him, so that they durst no more go forth into the country.²⁵ On the other side, when Alcimus saw that Yahawadah and his company had gotten the upper hand, and knew that he was not able to abide their force, he went again to the king, and said all the worst of them that he could.²⁶ Then the king sent Nicanor, one of his honourable princes, a man that bore deadly hate to Yasharaal, with commandment to destroy the people.²⁷ So Nicanor came to Yarawashalam with a great force; and sent to Yahawadah and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying,²⁸ Let there be no battle between me and you; I will come with a few men, that I may see you in peace.²⁹ He came therefore to Yahawadah, and they saluted one another peaceably. Howbeit the enemies were prepared to take away Yahawadah by violence.³⁰ Which thing after it was known to Yahawadah, to wit, that he came to him with deceit, he was sore afraid of him, and would see his face no more.³¹ Nicanor also, when he saw that his counsel was discovered, went out to fight against Yahawadah beside Capharsalama:³² Where there were slain of Nicanor's side about five thousand men, and the rest fled into the city of Dawad.³³ After this went Nicanor up to mount Shayaan, and there came out of the sanctuary certain of the priests and certain of the elders of the people, to salute him peaceably, and to show him the burnt sacrifice that was offered for the king.³⁴ But he mocked them, and laughed at them, and abused them shamefully, and spoke proudly,³⁵ And swore in his wrath, saying, Unless Yahawadah and his host be now delivered into my hands, if ever I come again in safety, I will burn up this house: and with that he went out in a great rage.³⁶ Then the priests entered in, and stood before the altar and the temple, weeping, and saying,³⁷ You, O Adanay, did choose this house to be called by your name, and to be a house of prayer and petition for your people:³⁸ Be avenged of this man and his host, and let them fall by the sword: remember their blasphemies, and suffer them not to continue any longer.³⁹ So Nicanor went out of Yarawashalam, and pitched his tents in Bethhoron, where an host out of Aram met him.⁴⁰ But Yahawadah pitched in Adasa with three thousand men, and there he prayed, saying,⁴¹ O Adanay, when they that were sent from the king of the Ashawar blasphemed, your angel went out, and smote an hundred fourscore and five thousand of them.⁴² Even so destroy you this host before us this day, that the rest may know that he has spoken blasphemously against your sanctuary, and judge you him according to his wickedness.⁴³ So the thirteenth day of the month Adar the hosts joined battle: but Nicanor's host was discomfited, and he himself was first slain in the battle.⁴⁴ Now when Nicanor's host saw that he was slain, they cast away their weapons, and fled.⁴⁵ Then they pursued after them a day's journey, from Adasa to Gazera, sounding an alarm after them with their trumpets.⁴⁶ Whereupon they came forth out of all the towns of Yahawadah round about, and closed them in; so that they, turning back upon them that pursued them, were all slain with the sword, and not one of them was left.⁴⁷ Afterwards they took the spoils, and the prey, and smote off Nicanor's head, and his right hand, which he stretched out so proudly, and brought them away, and hanged them up toward Yarawashalam.⁴⁸ For this cause the people rejoiced greatly, and they kept that day a day of great gladness.⁴⁹ Moreover they ordained to keep yearly this day, being the thirteenth of Adar.⁵⁰ Thus the land of Juda was in rest a little while.

8 Now Yahawadah had heard of the the Romans, that they were mighty and valiant men, and such as would lovingly accept all that joined themselves to them, and make a league of amity with all that came to them;² And that they were men of great valour. It was told him also of their wars and noble acts which they had done among the Galatians, and how they had conquered them, and brought them under tribute;³ And what they had done in the country of Spain, for the winning of the mines of the silver and gold which is there;⁴ And that by their policy and patience they had conquered all the place, though it were very far from them; and the kings also that came against them from the uttermost part of the earth, till they had discomfited them, and given them a great overthrow, so that the rest did give them tribute every year:⁵ Beside this, how they had discomfited in battle Payalayapawas, and Perseus, king of the Citims, with others that lifted up themselves against them, and had overcome them:⁶ How also Antiochus the great king of Asia, that came against them in battle, having an hundred and twenty elephants, with horsemen, and chariots, and a very great army, was discomfited by them;⁷ And how they took him alive, and covenanted that he and such as reigned after him should pay a great tribute, and give hostages, and that which was agreed upon,⁸ And the country of Hadaw, and Maday and Lawad and of the goodliest countries, which they took of him, and gave to king Eumenes:⁹ Moreover how the Grecians had determined to come and destroy them;¹⁰ And that they, having knowledge thereof sent against them a certain captain, and fighting with them slew many of them, and carried away captives their wives and their children, and spoiled them, and took possession of their lands, and pulled down their strong holds, and brought them to be their servants to this day:¹¹ It was told him besides, how they destroyed and brought under their dominion all other kingdoms and isles that at any time resisted them;¹² But with their friends and such as relied upon them they kept amity: and that they had conquered kingdoms both far and nigh, insomuch as all that heard of their name were afraid of them:¹³ Also that, whom they would help to a kingdom, those reign; and whom again they would, they displace: finally, that they were greatly exalted:¹⁴ Yet for all this none of them wore a crown or was clothed in purple, to be magnified thereby:¹⁵ Moreover how they had made for themselves a senate house, wherein three hundred and twenty men sat in council daily, consulting alway for the people, to the end they might be well ordered:¹⁶ And that they committed their government to one man every year, who ruled over all their country, and that all were obedient to that one, and that there was neither envy nor emulation among them.¹⁷ In consideration of these things, Yahawadah chose Eupolemus the son of Yawachanan, the son of Accos, and Jason the son of Alaizar, and sent them to Rome, to make a league of amity and confederacy with them,

¹⁸ And to intreat them that they would take the yoke from them; for they saw that the kingdom of the Grecians did oppress Yasharaal with servitude. ¹⁹ They went therefore to Rome, which was a very great journey, and came into the senate, where they spoke and said. ²⁰ Yahawadah Maccabeus with his brethren, and the people of the Jews, have sent us to you, to make a confederacy and peace with you, and that we might be registered your confederates and friends. ²¹ So that matter pleased the Romans well. ²² And this is the copy of the epistle which the senate wrote back again in tables of brass, and sent to Yarawashalam, that there they might have by them a memorial of peace and confederacy: ²³ Good success be to the Romans, and to the people of the Jews, by sea and by land for ever: the sword also and enemy be far from them, ²⁴ If there come first any war upon the Romans or any of their confederates throughout all their dominion, ²⁵ The people of the Jews shall help them, as the time shall be appointed, with all their heart: ²⁶ Neither shall they give any thing to them that make war upon them, or aid them with victuals, weapons, money, or ships, as it has seemed good to the Romans; but they shall keep their covenants without taking any thing therefore. ²⁷ In the same manner also, if war come first upon the nation of the Jews, the Romans shall help them with all their heart, according as the time shall be appointed them: ²⁸ Neither shall victuals be given to them that take part against them, or weapons, or money, or ships, as it has seemed good to the Romans; but they shall keep their covenants, and that without deceit. ²⁹ According to these articles did the Romans make a covenant with the people of the Jews. ³⁰ Howbeit if hereafter the one party or the other shall think to meet to add or diminish any thing, they may do it at their pleasures, and whatsoever they shall add or take away shall be ratified. ³¹ And as touching the evils that Demetrius does to the Jews, we have written to him, saying, Therefore you made your yoke heavy upon our friends and confederates the Jews? ³² If therefore they complain any more against you, we will do them justice, and fight with you by sea and by land.

9 Furthermore, when Demetrius heard that Nicanor and his host were slain in battle, he sent Bacchides and Alcimus into the land of Yahawadah the second time, and with them the chief strength of his host: ² Who went forth by the way that leads to Galgala, and pitched their tents before Masaloth, which is in Arbela, and after they had won it, they slew much people. ³ Also the first month of the hundred fifty and second year they encamped before Yarawashalam: ⁴ From whence they removed, and went to Berea, with twenty thousand footmen and two thousand horsemen. ⁵ Now Yahawadah had pitched his tents at Eleasa, and three thousand chosen men with him: ⁶ Who seeing the multitude of the other army to be so great were sore afraid; whereupon many conveyed themselves out of the host, insomuch as abode of them no more but eight hundred men. ⁷ When Yahawadah therefore saw that his host slipt away, and that the battle pressed upon him, he was sore troubled in mind, and much distressed, for that he had no time to gather them together. ⁸ Nevertheless to them that remained he said, Let us arise and go up against our enemies, if peradventure we may be able to fight with them. ⁹ But they dehorted him, saying, We shall never be able: let us now rather save our lives, and hereafter we will return with our brethren, and fight against them: for we are but few. ¹⁰ Then Yahawadah said, Alahayam forbid that I should do this thing, and flee away from them: if our time be come, let us die manfully for our brethren, and let us not stain our honour. ¹¹ With that the host of Bacchides removed out of their tents, and stood over against them, their horsemen being divided into two troops, and their slingers and archers going before the host and they that marched in the foreward were all mighty men. ¹² As for Bacchides, he was in the right wing: so the host drew near on the two parts, and sounded their trumpets. ¹³ They also of Yahawadah' side, even they sounded their trumpets also, so that the earth shook at the noise of the armies, and the battle continued from morning till night. ¹⁴ Now when Yahawadah perceived that Bacchides and the strength of his army were on the right side, he took with him all the hardy men, ¹⁵ Who discomfited the right wing, and pursued them to the mount

Azotus. ¹⁶ But when they of the left wing saw that they of the right wing were discomfited, they followed upon Yahawadah and those that were with him hard at the heels from behind: ¹⁷ Whereupon there was a sore battle, insomuch as many were slain on both parts. ¹⁸ Yahawadah also was killed, and the remnant fled. ¹⁹ Then Yahawanathan and Shamaian took Yahawadah their brother, and buried him in the sepulchre of his fathers in Modin. ²⁰ Moreover they bewailed him, and all Yasharaal made great lamentation for him, and mourned many days, saying, ²¹ How is the valiant man fallen, that delivered Yasharaal! ²² As for the other things concerning Yahawadah and his wars, and the noble acts which he did, and his greatness, they are not written: for they were very many. ²³ Now after the death of Yahawadah the wicked began to put forth their heads in all the coasts of Yasharaal, and there arose up all such as wrought iniquity. ²⁴ In those days also was there a very great famine, by reason whereof the country revolted, and went with them. ²⁵ Then Bacchides chose the wicked men, and made them lords of the country. ²⁶ And they made enquiry and search for Yahawadah' friends, and brought them to Bacchides, who took vengeance of them, and used them despitefully. ²⁷ So was there a great affliction in Yasharaal, the like whereof was not since the time that a prophet was not seen among them. ²⁸ For this cause all Yahawadah' friends came together, and said to Yahawanathan, ²⁹ Since your brother Yahawadah died, we have no man like him to go forth against our enemies, and Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are adversaries to us. ³⁰ Now therefore we have chosen you this day to be our prince and captain in his stead, that you may fight our battles. ³¹ Upon this Yahawanathan took the governance upon him at that time, and rose up instead of his brother Yahawadah. ³² But when Bacchides gat knowledge thereof, he sought for to slay him. ³³ Then Yahawanathan, and Shamaian his brother, and all that were with him, perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thecoe, and pitched their tents by the water of the pool Asphar. ³⁴ Which when Bacchides understood, he came near to Yaradan with all his host upon the sabbath day. ³⁵ Now Yahawanathan had sent his brother Yawachanan, a captain of the people, to pray his friends the Nabathites, that they might leave with them their carriage, which was much. ³⁶ But the children of Jambri came out of Medaba, and took Yawachanan, and all that he had, and went their way with it. ³⁷ After this came word to Yahawanathan and Shamaian his brother, that the children of Jambri made a great marriage, and were bringing the bride from Nadabatha with a great train, as being the daughter of one of the great princes of Chanaan. ³⁸ Therefore they remembered Yawachanan their brother, and went up, and hid themselves under the covert of the mountain: ³⁹ Where they lifted up their eyes, and looked, and, behold, there was much ado and great carriage: and the bridegroom came forth, and his friends and brethren, to meet them with drums, and instruments of musick, and many weapons. ⁴⁰ Then Yahawanathan and they that were with him rose up against them from the place where they lay in ambush, and made a slaughter of them in such sort, as many fell down dead, and the remnant fled into the mountain, and they took all their spoils. ⁴¹ Thus was the marriage turned into mourning, and the noise of their melody into lamentation. ⁴² So when they had avenged fully the blood of their brother, they turned again to the marsh of Yaradan. ⁴³ Now when Bacchides heard hereof, he came on the sabbath day to the banks of Yaradan with a great power. ⁴⁴ Then Yahawanathan said to his company, Let us go up now and fight for our lives, for it stands not with us to day, as in time past: ⁴⁵ For, behold, the battle is before us and behind us, and the water of Yaradan on this side and that side, the marsh likewise and wood, neither is there place for us to turn aside. ⁴⁶ Therefore cry you now to heaven, that you may be delivered from the hand of your enemies. ⁴⁷ With that they joined battle, and Yahawanathan stretched forth his hand to smite Bacchides, but he turned back from him. ⁴⁸ Then Yahawanathan and they that were with him leapt into Yaradan, and swam over to the other bank: howbeit the other passed not over Yaradan to them. ⁴⁹ So there were slain of Bacchides' side that day about a thousand men.⁵⁰ Afterward returned Bacchides to Yarawashalam and repaired the strong cities in Yahawadah; the fort in Yarayachaw, and Emmaus, and Bethhoron, and Bethel, and Thamnatha, Pharathoni, and Taphon, these did he strengthen with high walls, with gates and with bars.⁵¹ And in them he set a garrison, that they might work malice upon Yasharaal.⁵² He fortified also the city Bethsura, and Gazera, and the tower, and put forces in them, and provision of victuals.⁵³ Besides, he took the chief men's sons in the country for hostages, and put them into the tower at Yarawashalam to be kept.⁵⁴ Moreover in the hundred fifty and third year, in the second month, Alcimus commanded that the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary should be pulled down; he pulled down also the works of the prophets.⁵⁵ And as he began to pull down, even at that time was Alcimus plagued, and his enterprizes hindered: for his mouth was stopped, and he was taken with a palsy, so that he could no more speak any thing, nor give order concerning his house.⁵⁶ So Alcimus died at that time with great torment.⁵⁷ Now when Bacchides saw that Alcimus was dead, he returned to the king: whereupon the land of Yahawadah was in rest two years.⁵⁸ Then all the ungodly men held a council, saying, Behold, Yahawanathan and his company are at ease, and dwell without care: now therefore we will bring Bacchides here, who shall take them all in one night.⁵⁹ So they went and consulted with him.⁶⁰ Then removed he, and came with a great host, and sent letters privily to his adherents in Yahawadah, that they should take Yahawanathan and those that were with him: howbeit they could not, because their counsel was known to them.⁶¹ Therefore they took of the men of the country, that were authors of that mischief, about fifty persons, and slew them.⁶² Afterward Yahawanathan, and Shamaiwan, and they that were with him, got them away to Bethbasi, which is in the wilderness, and they repaired the decays thereof, and made it strong.⁶³ Which thing when Bacchides knew, he gathered together all his host, and sent word to them that were of Yahawadah.⁶⁴ Then went he and laid siege against Bethbasi; and they fought against it a long season and made engines of war.⁶⁵ But Yahawanathan left his brother Shamaiwan in the city, and went forth himself into the country, and with a certain number went he forth.⁶⁶ And he smote Odonarkes and his brethren, and the children of Phasiron in their tent.⁶⁷ And when he began to smite them, and came up with his forces, Shamaiwan and his company went out of the city, and burned up the engines of war.⁶⁸ And fought against Bacchides, who was discomfited by them, and they afflicted him sore: for his counsel and travail was in vain.⁶⁹ Therefore he was very wroth at the wicked men that gave him counsel to come into the country, inasmuch as he slew many of them, and purposed to return into his own country.⁷⁰ Whereof when Yahawanathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadors to him, to the end he should make peace with him, and deliver them the prisoners.⁷¹ Which thing he accepted, and did according to his demands, and swore to him that he would never do him harm all the days of his life.⁷² When therefore he had restored to him the prisoners that he had taken aforetime out of the land of Yahawadah, he returned and went his way into his own land, neither came he any more into their borders.⁷³ Thus the sword ceased from Yasharaal: but Yahawanathan dwelt at Machmas, and began to govern the people; and he destroyed the ungodly men out of Yasharaal.

10 In the hundred and sixtieth year Alexander, the son of Antiochus surnamed Epiphanes, went up and took Ptolemais: for the people had received him, by means whereof he reigned there.² Now when king Demetrius heard thereof, he gathered together an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight.³ Moreover Demetrius sent letters to Yahawanathan with loving words, so as he magnified him.⁴ For said he, Let us first make peace with him, before he join with Alexander against us.⁵ Else he will remember all the evils that we have done against him, and against his brethren and his people.⁶ Therefore he gave him authority to gather together an host, and to provide weapons, that he might aid him in battle: he commanded also that the hostages that were in the tower should be delivered him.⁷ Then came

Yahawanathan to Yarawashalam, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the tower:⁸ Who were sore afraid, when they heard that the king had given him authority to gather together an host.⁹ Whereupon they of the tower delivered their hostages to Yahawanathan, and he delivered them to their parents.¹⁰ This done, Yahawanathan settled himself in Yarawashalam, and began to build and repair the city.¹¹ And he commanded the workmen to build the walls and the mount Shayaan and about with square stones for fortification; and they did so.¹² Then the strangers, that were in the fortresses which Bacchides had built, fled away;¹³ Insomuch as every man left his place, and went into his own country.¹⁴ Only at Bethsura certain of those that had forsaken the law and the commandments remained still: for it was their place of refuge.¹⁵ Now when king Alexander had heard what promises Demetrius had sent to Yahawanathan: when also it was told him of the battles and noble acts which he and his brethren had done, and of the pains that they had endured,¹⁶ He said, Shall we find such another man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.¹⁷ Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it to him, according to these words, saying,¹⁸ King Alexander to his brother Yahawanathan sends greeting:¹⁹ We have heard of you, that you are a man of great power, and meet to be our friend.²⁰ Therefore now this day we ordain you to be the high priest of your nation, and to be called the king's friend; (and therewithal he sent him a purple robe and a crown of gold:) and require you to take our part, and keep friendship with us.²¹ So in the seventh month of the hundred and sixtieth year, at the feast of the tabernacles, Yahawanathan put on the holy robe, and gathered together forces, and provided much armour.²² Whereof when Demetrius heard, he was very sorry, and said,²³ What have we done, that Alexander has prevented us in making amity with the Jews to strengthen himself?²⁴ I also will write to them words of encouragement, and promise them dignities and gifts, that I may have their aid.²⁵ He sent to them therefore to this effect: King Demetrius to the people of the Jews sends greeting:²⁶ Whereas you have kept covenants with us, and continued in our friendship, not joining yourselves with our enemies, we have heard hereof, and are glad.²⁷ Therefore now continue you still to be faithful to us, and we will well recompense you for the things you do in our behalf.²⁸ And will grant you many immunities, and give you rewards.²⁹ And now do I free you, and for your sake I release all the Jews, from tributes, and from the customs of salt, and from crown taxes,³⁰ And from that which appertains to me to receive for the third part or the seed, and the half of the fruit of the trees, I release it from this day forth, so that they shall not be taken of the land of Yahawadah, nor of the three governments which are added thereunto out of the country of Shamarawan and Galayal, from this day forth for evermore.³¹ Let Yarawashalam also be holy and free, with the borders thereof, both from tenths and tributes.³² And as for the tower which is at Yarawashalam, I yield up authority over it, and give the high priest, that he may set in it such men as he shall choose to keep it.³³ Moreover I freely set at liberty every one of the Jews, that were carried captives out of the land of Yahawadah into any part of my kingdom, and I will that all my officers remit the tributes even of their cattle.³⁴ Furthermore I will that all the feasts, and sabbaths, and new moons, and solemn days, and the three days before the feast, and the three days after the feast shall be all of immunity and freedom for all the Jews in my realm.³⁵ Also no man shall have authority to meddle with or to molest any of them in any matter.³⁶ I will further, that there be enrolled among the king's forces about thirty thousand men of the Jews, to whom pay shall be given, as belongs to all king's forces.³⁷ And of them some shall be placed in the king's strong holds, of whom also some shall be set over the affairs of the kingdom, which are of trust: and I will that their overseers and governors be of themselves, and that they live after their own laws, even as the king has commanded in the land of Yahawadah.³⁸ And concerning the three governments that are added to Yahawadah from the country of Shamarawan, let them be joined with Yahawadah, that they may be reckoned to be under one, nor bound to obey other authority than the high priest's.³⁹ As for Ptolemais, and the land pertaining thereto, I give it as a free gift to the sanctuary at Yarawashalam for the necessary expences of the sanctuary.⁴⁰ Moreover I give every year fifteen thousand shekels of silver out of the king's accounts from the places appertaining.⁴¹ And all the overplus, which the officers payed not in as in former time, from henceforth shall be given toward the works of the temple.⁴² And beside this, the five thousand shekels of silver, which they took from the uses of the temple out of the accounts year by year, even those things shall be released, because they appertain to the priests that minister.⁴³ And whosoever they be that flee to the temple at Yarawashalam, or be within the liberties hereof, being indebted to the king, or for any other matter, let them be at liberty, and all that they have in my realm.⁴⁴ For the building also and repairing of the works of the sanctuary expences shall be given of the king's accounts.⁴⁵ Yea, and for the building of the walls of Yarawashalam, and the fortifying thereof round about, expences shall be given out of the king's accounts, as also for the building of the walls in Yahawadah.⁴⁶ Now when Yahawanathan and the people heard these words, they gave no credit to them, nor received them, because they remembered the great evil that he had done in Yasharaal; for he had afflicted them very sore.⁴⁷ But with Alexander they were well pleased, because he was the first that entreated of true peace with them, and they were confederate with him always.⁴⁸ Then gathered king Alexander great forces, and camped over against Demetrius.⁴⁹ And after the two kings had joined battle, Demetrius' host fled: but Alexander followed after him, and prevailed against them.⁵⁰ And he continued the battle very sore until the sun went down: and that day was Demetrius slain.⁵¹ Afterward Alexander sent ambassadors to Ptolemee king of Matzarayam with a message to this effect:⁵² Forasmuch as I am come again to my realm, and am set in the throne of my progenitors, and have gotten the dominion, and overthrown Demetrius, and recovered our country;⁵³ For after I had joined battle with him, both he and his host was discomfited by us, so that we sit in the throne of his kingdom:⁵⁴ Now therefore let us make a league of amity together, and give me now your daughter to wife: and I will be your son in law, and will give both you and her as according to your dignity.⁵⁵ Then Ptolemee the king gave answer, saying, Happy be the day wherein you did return into the land of your fathers, and sat in the throne of their kingdom.⁵⁶ And now will I do to you, as you have written: meet me therefore at Ptolemais, that we may see one another; for I will marry my daughter to you according to your desire.⁵⁷ So Ptolemee went out of Matzarayam with his daughter Cleopatra, and they came to Ptolemais in the hundred threescore and second year:⁵⁸ Where king Alexander meeting him, he gave to him his daughter Cleopatra, and celebrated her marriage at Ptolemais with great glory, as the manner of kings is.⁵⁹ Now king Alexander had written to Yahawanathan, that he should come and meet him.⁶⁰ Who thereupon went honourably to Ptolemais, where he met the two kings, and gave them and their friends silver and gold, and many presents, and found favour in their sight.⁶¹ At that time certain pestilent fellows of Yasharaal, men of a wicked life, assembled themselves against him, to accuse him: but the king would not hear them.⁶² Yea more than that, the king commanded to take off his garments, and clothe him in purple: and they did so.⁶³ And he made him sit by himself, and said into his princes, Go with him into the midst of the city, and make proclamation, that no man complain against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.⁶⁴ Now when his accusers saw that he was honored according to the proclamation, and clothed in purple, they fled all away.⁶⁵ So the king honoured him, and wrote him among his chief friends, and made him a duke, and partaker of his dominion.⁶⁶ Afterward Yahawanathan returned to Yarawashalam with peace and gladness.⁶⁷ Furthermore in the; hundred threescore and fifth year came Demetrius son of Demetrius out of Crete into the land of his fathers:⁶⁸ Whereof when king Alexander heard tell, he was right sorry, and returned into Antioch.⁶⁹ Then Demetrius made Apollonius the governor of Celosyria his general, who gathered together a great host, and camped in Jamnia, and sent to Yahawanathan the high priest, saying,⁷⁰ You alone lift up yourself against us, and I am laughed to scorn for your sake, and reproached: and why do you vaunt your power against us in the mountains?⁷¹ Now therefore, if you trust in your own strength, come down to us into the plain field, and there let us try the matter together: for with me is the power of the cities.⁷² Ask and learn who I am, and the rest that take our part, and they shall tell you that your foot is not able to flight in their own land.⁷³ Therefore now you shall not be able to abide the horsemen and so great a power in the plain, where is neither stone nor flint, nor place to flee to.⁷⁴ So when Yahawanathan heard these words of Apollonius, he was moved in his mind, and choosing ten thousand men he went out of Yarawashalam, where Shamaïwan his brother met him for to help him.⁷⁵ And he pitched his tents against Yapaw: but; they of Yapaw shut him out of the city, because Apollonius had a garrison there.⁷⁶ Then Yahawanathan laid siege to it: whereupon they of the city let him in for fear: and so Yahawanathan won Yapaw.⁷⁷ Whereof when Apollonius heard, he took three thousand horsemen, with a great host of footmen, and went to Azotus as one that journeyed, and therewithal drew him forth into the plain, because he had a great number of horsemen, in whom he put his trust.⁷⁸ Then Yahawanathan followed after him to Azotus, where the armies joined battle.⁷⁹ Now Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen in ambush.⁸⁰ And Yahawanathan knew that there was an ambushment behind him; for they had compassed in his host, and cast darts at the people, from morning till evening.⁸¹ But the people stood still, as Yahawanathan had commanded them: and so the enemies' horses were tired.⁸² Then brought Shamaïwan forth his host, and set them against the footmen, (for the horsemen were spent) who were discomfited by him, and fled.⁸³ The horsemen also, being scattered in the field, fled to Azotus, and went into Bethdagon, their idol's temple, for safety.⁸⁴ But Yahawanathan set fire on Azotus, and the cities round about it, and took their spoils; and the temple of Dagawan, with them that were fled into it, he burned with fire.⁸⁵ Thus there were burned and slain with the sword well nigh eight thousand men.⁸⁶ And from thence Yahawanathan removed his host, and camped against Ascalon, where the men of the city came forth, and met him with great pomp.⁸⁷ After this returned Yahawanathan and his host to Yarawashalam, having any spoils.⁸⁸ Now when king Alexander heard these things, he honoured Yahawanathan yet more.⁸⁹ And sent him a buckle of gold, as the use is to be given to such as are of the king's blood: he gave him also Accaron with the borders thereof in possession.

11 And the king of Matzarayam gathered together a great host, like the sand that lies upon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to get Alexander's kingdom, and join it to his own.² Whereupon he took his journey into Spain in peaceable manner, so as they of the cities opened to him, and met him: for king Alexander had commanded them so to do, because he was his brother in law.³ Now as Ptolemee entered into the cities, he set in every one of them a garrison of soldiers to keep it.⁴ And when he came near to Azotus, they showed him the temple of Dagawan that was burnt, and Azotus and the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies that were cast abroad and them that he had burnt in the battle; for they had made heaps of them by the way where he should pass.⁵ Also they told the king whatsoever Yahawanathan had done, to the intent he might blame him: but the king held his peace.⁶ Then Yahawanathan met the king with great pomp at Yapaw, where they saluted one another, and lodged.⁷ Afterward Yahawanathan, when he had gone with the king to the river called Eleutherus, returned again to Yarawashalam.⁸ King Ptolemee therefore, having gotten the dominion of the cities by the sea to Seleucia upon the sea coast, imagined wicked counsels against Alexander.⁹ Whereupon he sent ambassadors to king Demetrius, saying, Come, let us make a league betwixt us, and I will give you my daughter whom Alexander has, and you shall reign in your father's kingdom:¹⁰ For I repent that I gave my daughter to him, for he sought to slay me.¹¹ Thus did he slander him, because he was desirous of his kingdom.¹² Therefore he took his daughter from him, and gave her to Demetrius, and forsook Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.¹³ Then Ptolemee entered into Antioch, where he set two crowns upon his head, the crown of Asia, and of Matzarayam.¹⁴ In the mean season was king Alexander in Cilicia, because those that dwelt in those parts had revolted from him.¹⁵ But when Alexander heard of this, he came to war against him: whereupon king Ptolemee brought forth his host, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.¹⁶ So Alexander fled into Irab there to be defended; but king Ptolemee was exalted:¹⁷ For Zabadayaal the Arabian took off Alexander's head, and sent it to Ptolemee.¹⁸ King Ptolemee also died the third day after, and they that were in the strong holds were slain one of another.¹⁹ By this means Demetrius reigned in the hundred threescore and seventh year.²⁰ At the same time Yahawanathan gathered together them that were in Yahawadah to take the tower that was in Yarawashalam: and he made many engines of war against it.²¹ Then came ungodly persons, who hated their own people, went to the king, and told him that Yahawanathan besieged the tower,²² Whereof when he heard, he was angry, and immediately removing, he came to Ptolemais, and wrote to Yahawanathan, that he should not lay siege to the tower, but come and speak with him at Ptolemais in great haste.²³ Nevertheless Yahawanathan, when he heard this, commanded to besiege it still: and he chose certain of the elders of Yasharaal and the priests, and put himself in peril;²⁴ And took silver and gold, and raiment, and divers presents besides, and went to Ptolemais to the king, where he found favour in his sight.²⁵ And though certain ungodly men of the people had made complaints against him,²⁶ Yet the king entreated him as his predecessors had done before, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends,²⁷ And confirmed him in the high priesthood, and in all the honours that he had before, and gave him preeminence among his chief friends.²⁸ Then Yahawanathan desired the king, that he would make Yahawadah free from tribute, as also the three governments, with the country of Shamarawan; and he promised him three hundred talents.²⁹ So the king consented, and wrote letters to Yahawanathan of all these things after this manner:³⁰ King Demetrius to his brother Yahawanathan, and to the nation of the Jews, sends greeting:³¹ We send you here a copy of the letter which we did write to our cousin Lasthenes concerning you, that you might see it.³² King Demetrius to his father Lasthenes sends greeting:³³ We are determined to do good to the people of the Jews, who are our friends, and keep covenants with us, because of their good will toward us.³⁴ Therefore we have ratified to them the borders of Yahawadah, with the three governments of Apherema and Lydda and Ramathem, that are added to Yahawadah from the country of Shamarawan, and all things appertaining to them, for all such as do sacrifice in Yarawashalam, instead of the payments which the king received of them yearly aforetime out of the fruits of the earth and of trees.³⁵ And as for other things that belong to us, of the tithes and customs pertaining to us, as also the saltpits, and the crown taxes, which are due to us, we discharge them of them all for their relief.³⁶ And nothing hereof shall be revoked from this time forth for ever.³⁷ Now therefore see that you make a copy of these things, and let it be delivered to Yahawanathan, and set upon the holy mount in a conspicuous place.³⁸ After this, when king Demetrius saw that the land was quiet before him, and that no resistance was made against him, he sent away all his forces, every one to his own place, except certain bands of strangers, whom he had gathered from the isles of the heathen: therefore all the forces of his fathers hated him.³⁹ Moreover there was one Tryphon, that had been of Alexander's part afore, who, seeing that all the host murmured against Demetrius, went to Simalcue the Arabian that brought up Antiochus the young son of Alexander,⁴⁰ And lay sore upon him to deliver him this young Antiochus, that he might reign in his father's stead: he told him therefore all that Demetrius had done, and how his men of war were at enmity with him, and there he remained a long season.⁴¹ In the mean time Yahawanathan sent to king Demetrius, that he would cast those of the tower out of

Yarawashalam, and those also in the fortresses: for they fought against Yasharaal.⁴² So Demetrius sent to Yahawanathan, saying, I will not only do this for you and your people, but I will greatly honour you and your nation, if opportunity serve.⁴³ Now therefore you shall do well, if you send me men to help me; for all my forces are gone from me.⁴⁴ Upon this Yahawanathan sent him three thousand strong men to Antioch: and when they came to the king, the king was very glad of their coming.⁴⁵ Howbeit they that were of the city gathered themselves together into the midst of the city, to the number of an hundred and twenty thousand men, and would have slain the king.⁴⁶ Therefore the king fled into the court, but they of the city kept the passages of the city, and began to fight.⁴⁷ Then the king called to the Jews for help, who came to him all at once, and dispersing themselves through the city slew that day in the city to the number of an hundred thousand.⁴⁸ Also they set fire on the city, and gat many spoils that day, and delivered the king.⁴⁹ So when they of the city saw that the Jews had got the city as they would, their courage was abated: therefore they made supplication to the king, and cried, saying,⁵⁰ Grant us peace, and let the Jews cease from assaulting us and the city.⁵¹ With that they cast away their weapons, and made peace; and the Jews were honoured in the sight of the king, and in the sight of all that were in his realm; and they returned to Yarawashalam, having great spoils.⁵² So king Demetrius sat on the throne of his kingdom, and the land was quiet before him.⁵³ Nevertheless he dissembled in all that ever he spoke, and estranged himself from Yahawanathan, neither rewarded he him according to the benefits which he had received of him, but troubled him very sore.⁵⁴ After this returned Tryphon, and with him the young child Antiochus, who reigned, and was crowned.⁵⁵ Then there gathered to him all the men of war, whom Demetrius had put away, and they fought against Demetrius, who turned his back and fled.⁵⁶ Moreover Tryphon took the elephants, and won Antioch.⁵⁷ At that time young Antiochus wrote to Yahawanathan, saying, I confirm you in the high priesthood, and appoint you ruler over the four governments, and to be one of the king's friends.⁵⁸ Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be served in, and gave him leave to drink in gold, and to be clothed in purple, and to wear a golden buckle.⁵⁹ His brother Shamaian also he made captain from the place called The ladder of Tzar to the borders of Matzarayam.⁶⁰ Then Yahawanathan went forth, and passed through the cities beyond the water, and all the forces of Aram gathered themselves to him for to help him: and when he came to Ascalon, they of the city met him honourably.⁶¹ From whence he went to Izah, but they of Izah shut him out; therefore he laid siege to it, and burned the suburbs thereof with fire, and spoiled them.⁶² Afterward, when they of Izah made supplication to Yahawanathan, he made peace with them, and took the sons of their chief men for hostages, and sent them to Yarawashalam, and passed through the country to Damashaq.⁶³ Now when Yahawanathan heard that Demetrius' princes were come to Cades, which is in Galayal, with a great power, purposing to remove him out of the country,⁶⁴ He went to meet them, and left Shamaian his brother in the country.⁶⁵ Then Shamaian encamped against Bethsura and fought against it a long season, and shut it up:⁶⁶ But they desired to have peace with him, which he granted them, and then put them out from thence, and took the city, and set a garrison in it.⁶⁷ As for Yahawanathan and his host, they pitched at the water of Gennesar, from whence betimes in the morning they gat them to the plain of Nasor.⁶⁸ And, behold, the host of strangers met them in the plain, who, having laid men in ambush for him in the mountains, came themselves over against him.⁶⁹ So when they that lay in ambush rose out of their places and joined battle, all that were of Yahawanathan's side fled;⁷⁰ Insomuch as there was not one of them left, except Mattathias the son of Abashalawam, and Yahawadah the son of Calphi, the captains of the host.⁷¹ Then Yahawanathan rent his clothes, and cast earth upon his head, and prayed.⁷² Afterwards turning again to battle, he put them to flight, and so they ran away.⁷³ Now when his own men that were fled saw this, they turned again to him, and with him pursued them to Cades, even to their own tents, and there they camped.⁷⁴ So there were slain of the heathen that day about three thousand men: but Yahawanathan returned to Yarawashalam.

12 Now when Yahawanathan saw that time served him, he chose certain men, and sent them to Rome, for to confirm and renew the friendship that they had with them.² He sent letters also to the Lacedemonians, and to other places, for the same purpose.³ So they went to Rome, and entered into the senate, and said, Yahawanathan the high priest, and the people of the Jews, sent us to you, to the end you should renew the friendship, which you had with them, and league, as in former time.⁴ Upon this the Romans gave them letters to the governors of every place that they should bring them into the land of Yahawadah peaceably.⁵ And this is the copy of the letters which Yahawanathan wrote to the Lacedemonians:⁶ Yahawanathan the high priest, and the elders of the nation, and the priests, and the other of the Jews, to the Lacedemonians their brethren send greeting:⁷ There were letters sent in times past to Onias the high priest from Darayawash, who reigned then among you, to signify that you are our brethren, as the copy here underwritten does specify.⁸ At which time Onias entreated the ambassador that was sent honourably, and received the letters, wherein declaration was made of the league and friendship.⁹ Therefore we also, albeit we need none of these things, that we have the holy books of scripture in our hands to comfort us,¹⁰ Have nevertheless attempted to send to you for the renewing of brotherhood and friendship, lest we should become strangers to you altogether: for there is a long time passed since you sent to us.¹¹ We therefore at all times without ceasing, both in our feasts, and other convenient days, do remember you in the sacrifices which we offer, and in our prayers, as reason is, and as it becomes us to think upon our brethren:¹² And we are right glad of your honour.¹³ As for ourselves, we have had great troubles and wars on every side, forso much as the kings that are round about us have fought against us.¹⁴ Howbeit we would not be troublesome to you, nor to others of our confederates and friends, in these wars:¹⁵ For we have help from heaven that succoureth us, so as we are delivered from our enemies, and our enemies are brought under foot.¹⁶ For this cause we chose Numenius the son of Antiochus, and Antipater he son of Jason, and sent them to the Romans, to renew the amity that we had with them, and the former league.¹⁷ We commanded them also to go to you, and to salute and to deliver you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.¹⁸ Therefore now you shall do well to give us an answer thereto.¹⁹ And this is the copy of the letters which Oniares sent.²⁰ Areus king of the Lacedemonians to Onias the high priest, greeting:²¹ It is found in writing, that the Lacedemonians and Jews are brethren, and that they are of the stock of Abraham:²² Now therefore, since this is come to our knowledge, you shall do well to write to us of your prosperity.²³ We do write back again to you, that your cattle and goods are our's, and our's are your's, we do command therefore our ambassadors to make report to you on this wise.²⁴ Now when Yahawanathan heard that Demebius' princes were come to fight against him with a greater host than afore,²⁵ He removed from Yarawashalam, and met them in the land of Amathis: for he gave them no respite to enter his country.²⁶ He sent spies also to their tents, who came again, and told him that they were appointed to come upon them in the night season.²⁷ Therefore so soon as the sun was down, Yahawanathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in arms, that all the night long they might be ready to fight: also he sent forth centinels round about the host.²⁸ But when the adversaries heard that Yahawanathan and his men were ready for battle, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and they kindled fires in their camp.²⁹ Howbeit Yahawanathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the lights burning.³⁰ Then Yahawanathan pursued after them, but overtook them not: for they were gone over the river Eleutherus.³¹ Therefore Yahawanathan turned to the Arabians, who were called Zabadeans, and smote them, and took their spoils.³² And removing thence, he came to Damashaq, and so passed through all the country,³³ Shamaian also went forth, and passed through the country to Ascalon, and the

holds there adjoining, from whence he turned aside to Yapaw, and won it.³⁴ For he had heard that they would deliver the hold to them that took Demetrius' part; therefore he set a garrison there to keep it.³⁵ After this came Yahawanathan home again, and calling the elders of the people together, he consulted with them about building strong holds in Yahawadah,³⁶ And making the walls of Yarawashalam higher, and raising a great mount between the tower and the city, for to separate it from the city, that so it might be alone, that men might neither sell nor buy in it.³⁷ Upon this they came together to build up the city, forasmuch as part of the wall toward the brook on the east side was fallen down, and they repaired that which was called Capphenatha.³⁸ Shamaian also set up Adida in Sephela, and made it strong with gates and bars.³⁹ Now Tryphon went about to get the kingdom of Asia, and to kill Antiochus the king, that he might set the crown upon his own head.⁴⁰ Howbeit he was afraid that Yahawanathan would not suffer him, and that he would fight against him; therefore he sought a way how to take Yahawanathan, that he might kill him. So he removed, and came to Bethsan.⁴¹ Then Yahawanathan went out to meet him with forty thousand men chosen for the battle, and came to Bethsan.⁴² Now when Tryphon saw Yahawanathan came with so great a force, he durst not stretch his hand against him;⁴³ But received him honourably, and commended him to all his friends, and gave him gifts, and commanded his men of war to be as obedient to him, as to himself.⁴⁴ To Yahawanathan also he said, Why have you brought all this people to so great trouble, seeing there is no war betwixt us?⁴⁵ Therefore send them now home again, and choose a few men to wait on you, and come you with me to Ptolemais, for I will give it you, and the rest of the strong holds and forces, and all that have any charge: as for me, I will return and depart: for this is the cause of my coming.⁴⁶ So Yahawanathan believing him did as he bade him, and sent away his host, who went into the land of Yahawadah.⁴⁷ And with himself he retained but three thousand men, of whom he sent two thousand into Galayal, and one thousand went with him.⁴⁸ Now as soon as Yahawanathan entered into Ptolemais, they of Ptolemais shut the gates and took him, and all them that came with him they slew with the sword.⁴⁹ Then sent Tryphon an host of footmen and horsemen into Galayal, and into the great plain, to destroy all Yahawanathan's company.⁵⁰ But when they knew that Yahawanathan and they that were with him were taken and slain, they encouraged one another; and went close together, prepared to fight.⁵¹ They therefore that followed upon them, perceiving that they were ready to fight for their lives, turned back again.⁵² Whereupon they all came into the land of Yahawadah peaceably, and there they bewailed Yahawanathan, and them that were with him, and they were sore afraid; therefore all Yasharaal made great lamentation.⁵³ Then all the heathen that were round about then sought to destroy them: for said they, They have no captain, nor any to help them: now therefore let us make war upon them, and take away their memorial from among men.

13 Now when Shamaian heard that Tryphon had gathered together a great host to invade the land of Yahawadah, and destroy it,² And saw that the people was in great trembling and fear, he went up to Yarawashalam, and gathered the people together,³ And gave them exhortation, saying, You yourselves know what great things I, and my brethren, and my father's house, have done for the laws and the sanctuary, the battles also and troubles which we have seen.⁴ By reason whereof all my brethren are slain for Yasharaal's sake, and I am left alone.⁵ Now therefore be it far from me, that I should spare mine own life in any time of trouble: for I am no better than my brethren.⁶ Doubtless I will avenge my nation, and the sanctuary, and our wives, and our children: for all the heathen are gathered to destroy us of very malice.⁷ Now as soon as the people heard these words, their spirit revived.⁸ And they answered with a loud voice, saying, You shall be our leader instead of Yahawadah and Yahawanathan your brother.⁹ Fight you our battles, and whatsoever, you command us, that will we do.¹⁰ So then he gathered together all the men of war, and made haste to finish the walls of Yarawashalam, and he fortified it round about.¹¹ Also he sent Yahawanathan the son of Absolom, and with him a great power, to Yapaw: who casting out them that were therein remained there in it.¹² So Tryphon removed from Ptolemaus with a great power to invade the land of Yahawadah, and Yahawanathan was with him in ward.¹³ But Shamaian pitched his tents at Adida, over against the plain.¹⁴ Now when Tryphon knew that Shamaian was risen up instead of his brother Yahawanathan, and meant to join battle with him, he sent messengers to him, saying,¹⁵ Whereas we have Yahawanathan your brother in hold, it is for money that he is owing to the king's treasure, concerning the business that was committed to him.¹⁶ Therefore now send an hundred talents of silver, and two of his sons for hostages, that when he is at liberty he may not revolt from us, and we will let him go.¹⁷ Hereupon Shamaian, albeit he perceived that they spoke deceitfully to him yet sent he the money and the children, lest peradventure he should procure to himself great hatred of the people:¹⁸ Who might have said, Because I sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Yahawanathan dead.¹⁹ So he sent them the children and the hundred talents: howbeit Tryphon dissembled neither would he let Yahawanathan go.²⁰ And after this came Tryphon to invade the land, and destroy it, going round about by the way that leads to Adora: but Shamaian and his host marched against him in every place, wheresoever he went.²¹ Now they that were in the tower sent messengers to Tryphon, to the end that he should hasten his coming to them by the wilderness, and send them victuals.²² Therefore Tryphon made ready all his horsemen to come that night: but there fell a very great snow, by reason whereof he came not. So he departed, and came into the country of Galaad.²³ And when he came near to Bascama he slew Yahawanathan, who was buried there.²⁴ Afterward Tryphon returned and went into his own land.²⁵ Then sent Shamaian, and took the bones of Yahawanathan his brother, and buried them in Modin, the city of his fathers.²⁶ And all Yasharaal made great lamentation for him, and bewailed him many days.²⁷ Shamaian also built a monument upon the sepulchre of his father and his brethren, and raised it aloft to the sight, with hewn stone behind and before.²⁸ Moreover he set up seven pyramids, one against another, for his father, and his mother, and his four brethren.²⁹ And in these he made cunning devices, about the which he set great pillars, and upon the pillars he made all their armour for a perpetual memory, and by the armour ships carved, that they might be seen of all that sail on the sea.³⁰ This is the sepulchre which he made at Modin, and it stands yet to this day.³¹ Now Tryphon dealt deceitfully with the young king Antiochus, and slew him.³² And he reigned in his stead, and crowned himself king of Asia, and brought a great calamity upon the land.³³ Then Shamaian built up the strong holds in Yahawadah, and fenced them about with high towers, and great walls, and gates, and bars, and laid up victuals therein.³⁴ Moreover Shamaian chose men, and sent to king Demetrius, to the end he should give the land an immunity, because all that Tryphon did was to spoil.³⁵ To whom king Demetrius answered and wrote after this manner:³⁶ King Demetrius to Shamaian the high priest, and friend of kings, as also to the elders and nation of the Jews, sends greeting:³⁷ The golden crown, and the scarlet robe, which you sent to us, we have received: and we are ready to make a stedfast peace with you, yea, and to write to our officers, to confirm the immunities which we have granted.³⁸ And whatsoever covenants we have made with you shall stand; and the strong holds, which you have builded, shall be your own.³⁹ As for any oversight or fault committed to this day, we forgive it, and the crown tax also, which you owe us: and if there were any other tribute paid in Yarawashalam, it shall no more be paid.⁴⁰ And look who are meet among you to be in our court, let then be enrolled, and let there be peace betwixt us.⁴¹ Thus the yoke of the heathen was taken away from Yasharaal in the hundred and seventieth year.⁴² Then the people of Yasharaal began to write in their instruments and contracts, In the first year of Shamaian the high priest, the governor and leader of the Jews.⁴³ In those days Shamaian camped against Izah and besieged it round about; he made also an engine of war, and set it by the city, and battered a certain tower, and took it.⁴⁴ And they that were in the engine leaped into the city; whereupon there was a great uproar in the city:⁴⁵ Insomuch as the people of the city rent their clothes, and climbed upon the walls with their wives and children, and cried with a loud voice, beseeching Shamaian to grant them peace.⁴⁶ And they said, Deal not with us according to our wickedness, but according to your mercy.⁴⁷ So Shamaian was appeased toward them, and fought no more against them, but put them out of the city, and cleansed the houses wherein the idols were, and so entered into it with songs and thanksgiving.⁴⁸ Yea, he put all uncleanness out of it, and placed such men there as would keep the law, and made it stronger than it was before, and built therein a dwellingplace for himself.⁴⁹ They also of the tower in Yarawashalam were kept so strait, that they could neither come forth, nor go into the country, nor buy, nor sell: therefore they were in great distress for want of victuals, and a great number of them perished through famine.⁵⁰ Then cried they to Shamaian, beseeching him to be at one with them: which thing he granted them; and when he had put them out from thence, he cleansed the tower from pollutions:⁵¹ And entered into it the three and twentieth day of the second month in the hundred seventy and first year, with thanksgiving, and branches of palm trees, and with harps, and cymbals, and with viols, and hymns, and songs: because there was destroyed a great enemy out of Yasharaal.⁵² He ordained also that that day should be kept every year with gladness. Moreover the hill of the temple that was by the tower he made stronger than it was, and there he dwelt himself with his company.⁵³ And when Shamaian saw that Yawachanan his son was a valiant man, he made him captain of all the hosts; and he dwelt in Gazera.

14 Now in the hundred threescore and twelfth year king Demetrius gathered his forces together, and went into Maday to get him help to fight against Tryphone.² But when Arsaces, the king of Paras and Maday, heard that Demetrius was entered within his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive:³ Who went and smote the host of Demetrius, and took him, and brought him to Arsaces, by whom he was put in ward.⁴ As for the land of Yahawadah, that was quiet all the days of Shamaian; for he sought the good of his nation in such wise, as that evermore his authority and honour pleased them well.⁵ And as he was honourable in all his acts, so in this, that he took Yapaw for an haven, and made an entrance to the isles of the sea,⁶ And enlarged the bounds of his nation, and recovered the country,⁷ And gathered together a great number of captives, and had the dominion of Gazera, and Bethsura, and the tower, out of the which he took all uncleanness, neither was there any that resisted him.⁸ Then did they till their ground in peace, and the earth gave her increase, and the trees of the field their fruit.⁹ The ancient men sat all in the streets, communing together of good things, and the young men put on glorious and warlike apparel.¹⁰ He provided victuals for the cities, and set in them all manner of munition, so that his honourable name was renowned to the end of the world.¹¹ He made peace in the land, and Yasharaal rejoiced with great joy:¹² For every man sat under his vine and his fig tree, and there was none to fray them:¹³ Neither was there any left in the land to fight against them: yea, the kings themselves were overthrown in those days.¹⁴ Moreover he strengthened all those of his people that were brought low: the law he searched out; and every contemner of the law and wicked person he took away.¹⁵ He beautified the sanctuary, and multiplied vessels of the temple.¹⁶ Now when it was heard at Rome, and as far as Sparta, that Yahawanathan was dead, they were very sorry.¹⁷ But as soon as they heard that his brother Shamaian was made high priest in his stead, and ruled the country, and the cities therein:¹⁸ They wrote to him in tables of brass, to renew the friendship and league which they had made with Yahawadah and Yahawanathan his brethren:¹⁹ Which writings were read before the congregation at Yarawashalam.²⁰ And this is the copy of the letters that the Lacedemonians sent; The rulers of the Lacedemonians, with the city, to Shamaian the high priest, and the elders, and priests, and residue of the people of the Jews, our brethren, send greeting:

²¹ The ambassadors that were sent to our people certified us of your glory and honour: therefore we were glad of their coming, ²² And did register the things that they spoke in the council of the people in this manner; Numenius son of Antiochus, and Antipater son of Jason, the Jews' ambassadors, came to us to renew the friendship they had with us. ²³ And it pleased the people to entertain the men honourably, and to put the copy of their ambassage in publick records, to the end the people of the Lacedemonians might have a memorial thereof: furthermore we have written a copy thereof to Shamaiwan the high priest. ²⁴ After this Shamaiwan sent Numenius to Rome with a great shield of gold of a thousand pound weight to confirm the league with them. ²⁵ Whereof when the people heard, they said, What thanks shall we give to Shamaiwan and his sons? ²⁶ For he and his brethren and the house of his father have established Yasharaal, and chased away in fight their enemies from them, and confirmed their liberty. ²⁷ So then they wrote it in tables of brass, which they set upon pillars in mount Shayaan: and this is the copy of the writing; The eighteenth day of the month Alawal, in the hundred threescore and twelfth year, being the third year of Shamaiwan the high priest, ²⁸ At Saramel in the great congregation of the priests, and people, and rulers of the nation, and elders of the country, were these things notified to us. ²⁹ Forasmuch as oftentimes there have been wars in the country, wherein for the maintenance of their sanctuary, and the law, Shamaiwan the son of Mattathias, of the posterity of Yarayab, together with his brethren, put themselves in jeopardy, and resisting the enemies of their nation did their nation great honour: ³⁰ (For after that Yahawanathan, having gathered his nation together, and been their high priest, was added to his people, ³¹ Their enemies prepared to invade their country, that they might destroy it, and lay hands on the sanctuary: ³² At which time Shamaiwan rose up, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his own substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation and gave them wages, ³³ And fortified the cities of Yahawadah, together with Bethsura, that lies upon the borders of Yahawadah, where the armour of the enemies had been before; but he set a garrison of Jews there: ³⁴ Moreover he fortified Yapaw, which lies upon the sea, and Gazera, that borders upon Azotus, where the enemies had dwelt before: but he placed Jews there, and furnished them with all things convenient for the reparation thereof.) ³⁵ The people therefore sang the acts of Shamaiwan, and to what glory he thought to bring his nation, made him their governor and chief priest, because he had done all these things, and for the justice and faith which he kept to his nation, and for that he sought by all means to exalt his people. ³⁶ For in his time things prospered in his hands, so that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they also that were in the city of Dawad in Yarawashalam, who had made themselves a tower, out of which they issued, and polluted all about the sanctuary, and did much hurt in the holy place: ³⁷ But he placed Jews therein. and fortified it for the safety of the country and the city, and raised up the walls of Yarawashalam. ³⁸ King Demetrius also confirmed him in the high priesthood according to those things, ³⁹ And made him one of his friends, and honoured him with great honour. ⁴⁰ For he had heard say, that the Romans had called the Jews their friends and confederates and brethren; and that they had entertained the ambassadors of Shamaiwan honourably; ⁴¹ Also that the Jews and priests were well pleased that Shamaiwan should be their governor and high priest for ever, until there should arise a faithful prophet; ⁴² Moreover that he should be their captain, and should take charge of the sanctuary, to set them over their works, and over the country, and over the armour, and over the fortresses, that, I say, he should take charge of the sanctuary; ⁴³ Beside this, that he should be obeyed of every man, and that all the writings in the country should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple, and wear gold: ⁴⁴ Also that it should be lawful for none of the people or priests to break any of these things, or to gainsay his words, or to gather an assembly in the country without him, or to be clothed in purple, or wear a buckle of gold; ⁴⁵ And whosoever should do otherwise, or break any of these things, he should be punished. ⁴⁶ Thus it liked all the people to deal with Shamaiwan, and to do as has been said. ⁴⁷ Then Shamaiwan accepted hereof, and was well pleased to be high priest, and captain and governor of the Jews and priests, and to defend them all. ⁴⁸ So they commanded that this writing should be put in tables of brass, and that they should be set up within the compass of the sanctuary in a conspicuous place; ⁴⁹ Also that the copies thereof should be laid up in the treasury, to the end that Shamaiwan and his sons might have them.

15 Moreover Antiochus son of Demetrius the king sent letters from the isles of the sea to Shamaiwan the priest and prince of the Jews, and to all the people; ² The contents whereof were these: King Antiochus to Shamaiwan the high priest and prince of his nation, and to the people of the Jews, greeting: ³ Forasmuch as certain pestilent men have usurped the kingdom of our fathers, and my purpose is to challenge it again, that I may restore it to the old estate, and to that end have gathered a multitude of foreign soldiers together, and prepared ships of war; ⁴ My meaning also being to go through the country, that I may be avenged of them that have destroyed it, and made many cities in the kingdom desolate: ⁵ Now therefore I confirm to you all the oblations which the kings before me granted you, and whatsoever gifts besides they granted. ⁶ I give you leave also to coin money for your country with your own stamp. ⁷ And as concerning Yarawashalam and the sanctuary, let them be free; and all the armour that you have made, and fortresses that you have built, and keep in your hands, let them remain to you. ⁸ And if anything be, or shall be, owing to the king, let it be forgiven you from this time forth for evermore. ⁹ Furthermore, when we have obtained our kingdom, we will honour you, and your nation, and your temple, with great honour, so that your honour shall be known throughout the world. ¹⁰ In the hundred threescore and fourteenth year went Antiochus into the land of his fathers: at which time all the forces came together to him, so that few were left with Tryphon. ¹¹ Therefore being pursued by king Antiochus, he fled to Dora, which lies by the sea side: ¹² For he saw that troubles came upon him all at once, and that his forces had forsaken him. ¹³ Then camped Antiochus against Dora, having with him an hundred and twenty thousand men of war, and eight thousand horsemen. ¹⁴ And when he had compassed the city round about, and joined ships close to the town on the sea side, he vexed the city by land and by sea, neither suffered he any to go out or in. ¹⁵ In the mean season came Numenius and his company from Rome, having letters to the kings and countries; wherein were written these things: ¹⁶ Lucius, consul of the Romans to king Ptolemee, greeting: ¹⁷ The Jews' ambassadors, our friends and confederates, came to us to renew the old friendship and league, being sent from Shamaiwan the high priest, and from the people of the Jews: ¹⁸ And they brought a shield of gold of a thousand pound. ¹⁹ We thought it good therefore to write to the kings and countries, that they should do them no harm, nor fight against them, their cities, or countries, nor yet aid their enemies against them. ²⁰ It seemed also good to us to receive the shield of them. ²¹ If therefore there be any pestilent fellows, that have fled from their country to you, deliver them to Shamaiwan the high priest, that he may punish them according to their own law. ²² The same things wrote he likewise to Demetrius the king, and Attalus, to Ariarathes, and Arsaces, ²³ And to all the countries and to Sampsames, and the Lacedemonians, and to Delus, and Myndus, and Sicyon, and Caria, and Samos, and Pamphylia, and Lycia, and Halicarnassus, and Rhodus, and Aradus, and Cos, and Side, and Aradus, and Gortyna, and Cnidus, and Cyprus, and Cyrene. ²⁴ And the copy hereof they wrote to Shamaiwan the high priest. ²⁵ So Antiochus the king camped against Dora the second day, assaulting it continually, and making engines, by which means he shut up Tryphon, that he could neither go out nor in. ²⁶ At that time Shamaiwan sent him two thousand chosen men to aid him; silver also, and gold, and much armour. ²⁷ Nevertheless he would not receive them, but broke all the covenants which he had made with him afore, and became strange to him. ²⁸ Furthermore he sent to him Athenobius, one of his friends, to commune with him, and say, You withhold Yapaw and Gazera; with the tower that is in

Yarawashalam, which are cities of my realm.²⁹ The borders thereof you have wasted, and done great hurt in the land, and got the dominion of many places within my kingdom.³⁰ Now therefore deliver the cities which you have taken, and the tributes of the places, whereof you have gotten dominion without the borders of Yahawadah:³¹ Or else give me for them five hundred talents of silver; and for the harm that you have done, and the tributes of the cities, other five hundred talents: if not, we will come and fight against you.³² So Athenobius the king's friend came to Yarawashalam: and when he saw the glory of Shamaïwan, and the cupboard of gold and silver plate, and his great attendance, he was astonished, and told him the king's message.³³ Then answered Shamaïwan, and said to him, We have neither taken other men's land, nor holden that which appertains to others, but the inheritance of our fathers, which our enemies had wrongfully in possession a certain time.³⁴ Therefore we, having opportunity, hold the inheritance of our fathers.³⁵ And whereas you demand Yapaw and Gazera, albeit they did great harm to the people in our country, yet will we give you an hundred talents for them. Hereunto Athenobius answered him not a word;³⁶ But returned in a rage to the king, and made report to him of these speeches, and of the glory of Shamaïwan, and of all that he had seen: whereupon the king was exceeding wroth.³⁷ In the mean time fled Tryphon by ship to Orthosias.³⁸ Then the king made Cendebeus captain of the sea coast, and gave him an host of footmen and horsemen,³⁹ And commanded him to remove his host toward Yahawadah; also he commanded him to build up Cedron, and to fortify the gates, and to war against the people; but as for the king himself, he pursued Tryphon.⁴⁰ So Cendebeus came to Jamnia and began to provoke the people and to invade Yahawadah, and to take the people prisoners, and slay them.⁴¹ And when he had built up Cedrou, he set horsemen there, and an host of footmen, to the end that issuing out they might make outroads upon the ways of Yahawadah, as the king had commanded him.

16 Then came up Yawachanan from Gazera, and told Shamaïwan his father what Cendebeus had done.² Therefore Shamaïwan called his two eldest sons, Yahawadah and Yawachanan, and said to them, I, and my brethren, and my father's house, have ever from my youth to this day fought against the enemies of Yasharaal; and things have prospered so well in our hands, that we have delivered Yasharaal oftentimes.³ But now I am old, and you, by Alahayam's mercy, are of a sufficient age: be you instead of me and my brother, and go and fight for our nation, and the help from heaven be with you.⁴ So he chose out of the country twenty thousand men of war with horsemen, who went out against Cendebeus, and rested that night at Modin.⁵ And when as they rose in the morning, and went into the plain, behold, a mighty great host both of footmen and horsemen came against them: howbeit there was a water brook betwixt them.⁶ So he and his people pitched over against them: and when he saw that the people were afraid to go over the water brook, he went first over himself, and then the men seeing him passed through after him.⁷ That done, he divided his men, and set the horsemen in the midst of the footmen: for the enemies' horsemen were very many.⁸ Then sounded they with the holy trumpets: whereupon Cendebeus and his host were put to flight, so that many of them were slain, and the remnant gat them to the strong hold.⁹ At that time was Yahawadah Yawachanan's brother wounded; but Yawachanan still followed after them, until he came to Cedron, which Cendebeus had built.¹⁰ So they fled even to the towers in the fields of Azotus; therefore he burned it with fire: so that there were slain of them about two thousand men. Afterward he returned into the land of Yahawadah in peace.¹¹ Moreover in the plain of Yarayachaw was Ptolemeus the son of Abubus made captain, and he had abundance of silver and gold:¹² For he was the high priest's son in law.¹³ Therefore his heart being lifted up, he thought to get the country to himself, and thereupon consulted deceitfully against Shamaïwan and his sons to destroy them.¹⁴ Now Shamaïwan was visiting the cities that were in the country, and taking care for the good ordering of them; at which time he came down himself to Yarayachaw with his sons, Mattathias and Yahawadah, in the hundred threescore and seventeenth year, in the eleventh month, called Sabat:¹⁵ Where the son of Abubus receiving them deceitfully into a little hold, called Docus, which he had built, made them a great banquet: howbeit he had hid men there.¹⁶ So when Shamaïwan and his sons had drunk largely, Ptolemee and his men rose up, and took their weapons, and came upon Shamaïwan into the banqueting place, and slew him, and his two sons, and certain of his servants.¹⁷ In which doing he committed a great treachery, and recompensed evil for good.¹⁸ Then Ptolemee wrote these things, and sent to the king, that he should send him an host to aid him, and he would deliver him the country and cities.¹⁹ He sent others also to Gazera to kill Yawachanan: and to the tribunes he sent letters to come to him, that he might give them silver, and gold, and rewards.²⁰ And others he sent to take Yarawashalam, and the mountain of the temple.²¹ Now one had run afore to Gazera and told Yawachanan that his father and brethren were slain, and, quoth he, Ptolemee has sent to slay you also.²² Hereof when he heard, he was sore astonished: so he laid hands on them that were come to destroy him, and slew them; for he knew that they sought to make him away.²³ As concerning the rest of the acts of Yawachanan, and his wars, and worthy deeds which he did, and the building of the walls which he made, and his doings,²⁴ Behold, these are written in the chronicles of his priesthood, from the time he was made high priest after his father.

1 The brethren, the Jews that be at Yarawashalam and in the land of Yahawadah, wish to the brethren, the Jews that are throughout Matzarayam health and peace: ² Alahayam be gracious to you, and remember his covenant that he made with Abaraham, Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab, his faithful servants; ³ And give you all an heart to serve him, and to do his will, with a good courage and a willing mind; ⁴ And open your hearts in his law and commandments, and send you peace, ⁵ And hear your prayers, and be at one with you, and never forsake you in time of trouble. ⁶ And now we be here praying for you. ⁷ What time as Demetrius reigned, in the hundred threescore and ninth year, we the Jews wrote to you in the extremity of trouble that came upon us in those years, from the time that Jason and his company revolted from the holy land and kingdom, ⁸ And burned the porch, and shed innocent blood: then we prayed to the Adanay, and were heard; we offered also sacrifices and fine flour, and lighted the lamps, and set forth the loaves. ⁹ And now see that you keep the feast of tabernacles in the month Casleu. ¹⁰ In the hundred fourscore and eighth year, the people that were at Yarawashalam and in Yahawadah, and the council, and Yahawadah, sent greeting and health to Aristobulus, king Ptolemeus' master, who was of the stock of the anointed priests, and to the Jews that were in Matzarayam: ¹¹ Inasmuch as Alahayam has delivered us from great perils, we thank him highly, as having been in battle against a king. ¹² For he cast them out that fought within the holy city. ¹³ For when the leader was come into Paras, and the army with him that seemed invincible, they were slain in the temple of Nanea by the deceit of Nanea's priests. ¹⁴ For Antiochus, as though he would marry her, came into the place, and his friends that were with him, to receive money in name of a dowry. ¹⁵ Which when the priests of Nanea had set forth, and he was entered with a small company into the compass of the temple, they shut the temple as soon as Antiochus was come in: ¹⁶ And opening a privy door of the roof, they threw stones like thunderbolts, and struck down the captain, hewed them in pieces, smote off their heads and cast them to those that were without. ¹⁷ Blessed be our Alahayam in all things, who has delivered up the ungodly. ¹⁸ Therefore whereas we are now purposed to keep the purification of the temple upon the five and twentieth day of the month Casleu, we thought it necessary to certify you thereof, that you also might keep it, as the feast of the tabernacles, and of the fire, which was given us when Neemias offered sacrifice, after that he had builded the temple and the altar. ¹⁹ For when our fathers were led into Paras, the priests that were then devout took the fire of the altar privily, and hid it in an hollow place of a pit without water, where they kept it sure, so that the place was unknown to all men. ²⁰ Now after many years, when it pleased Alahayam, Neemias, being sent from the king of Paras, did send of the posterity of those priests that had hid it to the fire: but when they told us they found no fire, but thick water; ²¹ Then commanded he them to draw it up, and to bring it; and when the sacrifices were laid on, Neemias commanded the priests to sprinkle the wood and the things laid thereupon with the water. ²² When this was done, and the time came that the sun shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that every man marvelled. ²³ And the priests made a prayer whilst the sacrifice was consuming, I say, both the priests, and all the rest, Yahawanathan beginning, and the rest answering thereunto, as Neemias did. ²⁴ And the prayer was after this manner; O Adanay, Adanay Alahayam, Creator of all things, who art fearful and strong, and righteous, and merciful, and the only and gracious King, ²⁵ The only giver of all things, the only just, almighty, and everlasting, you that deliver Yasharaal from all trouble, and did choose the fathers, and sanctify them: ²⁶ Receive the sacrifice for your whole people Yasharaal, and preserve your own portion, and sanctify it. ²⁷ Gather those together that are scattered from us, deliver them that serve among the heathen, look upon them that are despised and abhorred, and let the heathen know that you are our Alahayam. ²⁸ Punish them that oppress us, and with pride do us wrong. ²⁹ Plant your people again in your holy place, as Mashah has spoken. ³⁰ And the priests sung psalms of thanksgiving. ³¹ Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Neemias commanded the water that was left to be poured on the great stones. ³² When this was done, there was kindled a flame: but it was consumed by the light that shined from the altar. ³³ So when this matter was known, it was told the king of Paras, that in the place, where the priests that were led away had hid the fire, there appeared water, and that Neemias had purified the sacrifices therewith. ³⁴ Then the king, inclosing the place, made it holy, after he had tried the matter. ³⁵ And the king took many gifts, and bestowed thereof on those whom he would gratify. ³⁶ And Neemias called this thing Naphthar, which is as much as to say, a cleansing; but many men call it Nephi.

2 It is also found in the records, that Jeremy the prophet commanded them that were carried away to take of the fire, as it has been signified: ² And how that the prophet, having given them the law, charged them not to forget the commandments of the Adanay, and that they should not err in their minds, when they see images of silver and gold, with their ornaments. ³ And with other such speeches exhorted he them, that the law should not depart from their hearts. ⁴ It was also contained in the same writing, that the prophet, being warned of Alahayam, commanded the tabernacle and the ark to go with him, as he went forth into the mountain, where Mashah climbed up, and saw the heritage of Alahayam. ⁵ And when Jeremy came there, he found an hollow cave, wherein he laid the tabernacle, and the ark, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the door. ⁶ And some of those that followed him came to mark the way, but they could not find it. ⁷ Which when Jeremy perceived, he blamed them, saying, As for that place, it shall be unknown until the time that Alahayam gather his people again together, and receive them to mercy. ⁸ Then shall the Adanay show them these things, and the glory of the Adanay shall appear, and the cloud also, as it was showed under Mashah, and as when Shalamah desired that the place might be honourably sanctified. ⁹ It was also declared, that he being wise offered the sacrifice of dedication, and of the finishing of the temple. ¹⁰ And as when Mashah prayed to the Adanay, the fire came down from heaven, and consumed the sacrifices: even so prayed Shalamah also, and the fire came down from heaven, and consumed the burnt offerings. ¹¹ And Mashah said, Because the sin offering was not to be eaten, it was consumed. ¹² So Shalamah kept those eight days. ¹³ The same things also were reported in the writings and commentaries of Neemias; and how he founding a library gathered together the acts of the kings, and the prophets, and of Dawad, and the epistles of the kings concerning the holy gifts. ¹⁴ In like manner also Yahawadah gathered together all those things that were lost by reason of the war we had, and they remain with us, ¹⁵ Therefore if you have need thereof, send some to fetch them to you. ¹⁶ Whereas we then are about to celebrate the purification, we have written to you, and you shall do well, if you keep the same days. ¹⁷ We hope also, that the Alahayam, that delivered all his people, and gave them all an heritage, and the kingdom, and the priesthood, and the sanctuary, ¹⁸ As he promised in the law, will shortly have mercy upon us, and gather us together out of every land under heaven into the holy place: for he has delivered us out of great troubles, and has purified the place. ¹⁹ Now as concerning Yahawadah Maccabeus, and his brethren, and the purification of the great temple, and the dedication of the altar,²⁰ And the wars against Antiochus Epiphanes, and Eupator his son,²¹ And the manifest signs that came from heaven to those that behaved themselves manfully to their honour for Judaism: so that, being but a few, they overcame the whole country, and chased barbarous multitudes,²² And recovered again the temple renowned all the world over, and freed the city, and upheld the laws which were going down, the Adanay being gracious to them with all favour:²³ All these things, I say, being declared by Jason of Cyrene in five books, we will assay to abridge in one volume.²⁴ For considering the infinite number, and the difficulty which they find that desire to look into the narrations of the story, for the variety of the matter,²⁵ We have been careful, that they that will read may have delight, and that they that are desirous to commit to memory might have ease, and that all into whose hands it comes might have profit.²⁶ Therefore to us, that have taken upon us this painful labour of abridging, it was not easy, but a matter of sweat and watching;²⁷ Even as it is no ease to him that prepares a banquet, and seeks the benefit of others: yet for the pleasuring of many we will undertake gladly this great pains;²⁸ Leaving to the author the exact handling of every particular, and labouring to follow the rules of an abridgement.²⁹ For as the master builder of a new house must care for the whole building; but he that undertakes to set it out, and paint it, must seek out fit things for the adorning thereof: even so I think it is with us.³⁰ To stand upon every point, and go over things at large, and to be curious in particulars, belongs to the first author of the story:³¹ But to use brevity, and avoid much labouring of the work, is to be granted to him that will make an abridgment.³² Here then will we begin the story: only adding thus much to that which has been said, that it is a foolish thing to make a long prologue, and to be short in the story itself.

3 Now when the holy city was inhabited with all peace, and the laws were kept very well, because of the godliness of Onias the high priest, and his hatred of wickedness,² It came to pass that even the kings themselves did honour the place, and magnify the temple with their best gifts;³ Insomuch that Seleucus of Asia of his own revenues bore all the costs belonging to the service of the sacrifices.⁴ But one Shamaiwan of the tribe of Banayaman, who was made governor of the temple, fell out with the high priest about disorder in the city.⁵ And when he could not overcome Onias, he gat him to Apollonius the son of Thraseas, who then was governor of Celosyria and Phenice,⁶ And told him that the treasury in Yrawashalam was full of infinite sums of money, so that the multitude of their riches, which did not pertain to the account of the sacrifices, was innumerable, and that it was possible to bring all into the king's hand.⁷ Now when Apollonius came to the king, and had showed him of the money whereof he was told, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandment to bring him the foresaid money.⁸ So forthwith Heliodorus took his journey; under a colour of visiting the cities of Celosyria and Phenice, but indeed to fulfil the king's purpose.⁹ And when he was come to Yrawashalam, and had been courteously received of the high priest of the city, he told him what intelligence was given of the money, and declared therefore he came, and asked if these things were so indeed.¹⁰ Then the high priest told him that there was such money laid up for the relief of widows and fatherless children:¹¹ And that some of it belonged to Hircanus son of Tobias, a man of great dignity, and not as that wicked Shamaiwan had misinformed: the sum whereof in all was four hundred talents of silver, and two hundred of gold:¹² And that it was altogether impossible that such wrongs should be done to them, that had committed it to the holiness of the place, and to the majesty and inviolable sanctity of the temple, honoured over all the world.¹³ But Heliodorus, because of the king's commandment given him, said, That in any wise it must be brought into the king's treasury.¹⁴ So at the day which he appointed he entered in to order this matter: therefore there was no small agony throughout the whole city.¹⁵ But the priests, prostrating themselves before the altar in their priests' vestments, called to heaven upon him that made a law concerning things given to he kept, that they should safely be preserved for such as had committed them to be kept.¹⁶ Then whoso had looked the high priest in the face, it would have wounded his heart: for his countenance and the changing of his colour declared the inward agony of his mind.¹⁷ For the man was so compassed with fear and horror of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked upon him, what sorrow he had now in his heart.¹⁸ Others ran flocking out of their houses to the general supplication, because the place was like to come into contempt.¹⁹ And the women, girt with sackcloth under their breasts, abounded in the streets, and the virgins that were kept in ran, some to the gates, and some to the walls, and others looked out of the windows.²⁰ And all, holding their hands toward heaven, made supplication.²¹ Then it would have pitied a man to see the falling down of the multitude of all sorts, and the fear of the high priest being in such an agony.²² They then called upon the Shaday Adanay to keep the things committed of trust safe and sure for those that had committed them.²³ Nevertheless Heliodorus executed that which was decreed.²⁴ Now as he was there present himself with his guard about the treasury, the Adanay of spirits, and the Prince of all power, caused a great apparition, so that all that presumed to come in with him were astonished at the power of Alahayam, and fainted, and were sore afraid.²⁵ For there appeared to them an horse with a terrible rider upon him, and adorned with a very fair covering, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his forefeet, and it seemed that he that sat upon the horse had complete harness of gold.²⁶ Moreover two other young men appeared before him, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, and comely in apparel, who stood by him on either side; and scourged him continually, and gave him many sore stripes.²⁷ And Heliodorus fell suddenly to the ground, and was compassed with great darkness: but they that were with him took him up, and put him into a litter.²⁸ Thus him, that lately came with a great train and with all his guard into the said treasury, they carried out, being unable to help himself with his weapons: and manifestly they acknowledged the power of Alahayam.²⁹ For he by the hand of Alahayam was cast down, and lay speechless without all hope of life.³⁰ But they praised the Adanay, that had miraculously honoured his own place: for the temple; which a little afore was full of fear and trouble, when the Shaday Adanay appeared, was filled with joy and gladness.³¹ Then straightways certain of Heliodorus' friends prayed Onias, that he would call upon the most High to grant him his life, who lay ready to give up the ghost.³² So the high priest, suspecting lest the king should misconceive that some treachery had been done to Heliodorus by the Jews, offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.³³ Now as the high priest was making an atonement, the same young men in the same clothing appeared and stood beside Heliodorus, saying, Give Onias the high priest great thanks, insomuch as for his sake the Adanay has granted you life:³⁴ And seeing that you have been scourged from heaven, declare to all men the mighty power of Alahayam. And when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.³⁵ So Heliodorus, after he had offered sacrifice to the Adanay, and made great vows to him that had saved his life, and saluted Onias, returned with his host to the king.³⁶ Then testified he to all men the works of the great Alahayam, which he had seen with his eyes.³⁷ And when the king Heliodorus, who might be a fit man to be sent yet once again to Yrawashalam, he said,³⁸ If you have any enemy or traitor, send him there, and you shall receive him well scourged, if he escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is an especial power of Alahayam.³⁹ For he that dwells in heaven has his eye on that place, and defends it; and he beats and destroys them that come to hurt it.⁴⁰ And the things concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasury, fell out on this sort.

4 This Shamaiwan now, of whom we spoke afore, having been a betrayer of the money, and of his country, slandered Onias, as if he had terrified Heliodorus, and been the worker of these evils.² Thus was he bold to call him a traitor, that had deserved well of the city, and tendered his own nation, and was so zealous of the laws.³ But when their hatred went so far, that by one of Shamaiwan's faction murders were committed,⁴ Onias seeing the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as being the governor of Celosyria and Phenice, did rage, and increase Shamaiwan's malice,⁵ He went to the king, not to be an accuser of his countrymen, but seeking the good of all, both publick and private:⁶ For he saw that it was impossible that the state should continue quiet, and Shamaiwan leave his folly, unless the king did look thereunto.⁷ But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus, called Epiphanes, took the kingdom, Jason the brother of Onias laboured underhand to be high priest,⁸ Promising to the king by intercession three hundred and threescore talents of silver, and of another revenue eighty talents:⁹ Beside this, he promised to assign an hundred and fifty more, if he might have licence to set him up a place for exercise, and for the training up of youth in the fashions of the heathen, and to write them of Yawashalam by the name of Antiochians.¹⁰ Which when the king had granted, and he had gotten into his hand the rule he forthwith brought his own nation to Greekish fashion.¹¹ And the royal privileges granted of special favour to the Jews by the means of Yawachanan the father of Eupolemus, who went ambassador to Rome for amity and aid, he took away; and putting down the governments which were according to the law, he brought up new customs against the law:¹² For he built gladly a place of exercise under the tower itself, and brought the chief young men under his subjection, and made them wear a hat.¹³ Now such was the height of Greek fashions, and increase of heathenish manners, through the exceeding profaneness of Jason, that ungodly wretch, and no high priest;¹⁴ That the priests had no courage to serve any more at the altar, but despising the temple, and neglecting the sacrifices, hastened to be partakers of the unlawful allowance in the place of exercise, after the game of Discus called them forth;¹⁵ Not setting by the honours of their fathers, but liking the glory of the Grecians best of all.¹⁶ By reason whereof sore calamity came upon them: for they had them to be their enemies and avengers, whose custom they followed so earnestly, and to whom they desired to be like in all things.¹⁷ For it is not a light thing to do wickedly against the laws of Alahayam: but the time following shall declare these things.¹⁸ Now when the game that was used every faith year was kept at Tzar, the king being present,¹⁹ This ungracious Jason sent special messengers from Yawashalam, who were Antiochians, to carry three hundred drachms of silver to the sacrifice of Hercules, which even the bearers thereof thought fit not to bestow upon the sacrifice, because it was not convenient, but to be reserved for other charges.²⁰ This money then, in regard of the sender, was appointed to Hercules' sacrifice; but because of the bearers thereof, it was employed to the making of gallies.²¹ Now when Apollonius the son of Menestheus was sent into Matzarayam for the coronation of king Ptolemus Philometor, Antiochus, understanding him not to be well affected to his affairs, provided for his own safety: whereupon he came to Yapaw, and from thence to Yawashalam:²² Where he was honourably received of Jason, and of the city, and was brought in with torch alight, and with great shoutings: and so afterward went with his host to Phenice.²³ Three years afterward Jason sent Menelaus, the aforesaid Shamaiwan's brother, to bear the money to the king, and to put him in mind of certain necessary matters.²⁴ But he being brought to the presence of the king, when he had magnified him for the glorious appearance of his power, got the priesthood to himself, offering more than Jason by three hundred talents of silver.²⁵ So he came with the king's mandate, bringing nothing worthy the high priesthood, but having the fury of a cruel tyrant, and the rage of a savage beast.²⁶ Then Jason, who had undermined his own brother, being undermined by another, was compelled to flee into the country of the Imawan.²⁷ So Menelaus got the principality: but as for the money that he had promised to the king, he took no good order for it, albeit Sostratis the ruler of the castle required it:²⁸ For to him appertained the gathering of the customs. Therefore they were both called before the king.²⁹ Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his stead in the priesthood; and Sostratus left Crates, who was governor of the Cyprians.

³⁰ While those things were in doing, they of Tarsus and Mallos made insurrection, because they were given to the king's concubine, called Antiochus.³¹ Then came the king in all haste to appease matters, leaving Andronicus, a man in authority, for his deputy.³² Now Menelaus, supposing that he had gotten a convenient time, stole certain vessels of gold out of the temple, and gave some of them to Andronicus, and some he sold into Tzar and the cities round about.³³ Which when Onias knew of a surety, he reproved him, and withdrew himself into a sanctuary at Daphne, that lies by Antiochia.³⁴ Therefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed, him to get Onias into his hands; who being persuaded thereunto, and coming to Onias in deceit, gave him his right hand with oaths; and though he were suspected by him, yet persuaded he him to come forth of the sanctuary: whom forthwith he shut up without regard of justice.³⁵ For the which cause not only the Jews, but many also of other nations, took great indignation, and were much grieved for the unjust murder of the man.³⁶ And when the king was come again from the places about Cilicia, the Jews that were in the city, and certain of the Greeks that abhorred the fact also, complained because Onias was slain without cause.³⁷ Therefore Antiochus was heartily sorry, and moved to pity, and wept, because of the sober and modest behaviour of him that was dead.³⁸ And being kindled with anger, forthwith he took away Andronicus his purple, and rent off his clothes, and leading him through the whole city to that very place, where he had committed impiety against Onias, there slew he the cursed murderer. Thus the Adanay rewarded him his punishment, as he had deserved.³⁹ Now when many sacrileges had been committed in the city by Lysimachus with the consent of Menelaus, and the fruit thereof was spread abroad, the multitude gathered themselves together against Lysimachus, many vessels of gold being already carried away.⁴⁰ Whereupon the common people rising, and being filled with rage, Lysimachus armed about three thousand men, and began first to offer violence; one Auranus being the leader, a man far gone in years, and no less in folly.⁴¹ They then seeing the attempt of Lysimachus, some of them caught stones, some clubs, others taking handfuls of dust, that was next at hand, cast them all together upon Lysimachus, and those that set upon them.⁴² Thus many of them they wounded, and some they struck to the ground, and all of them they forced to flee: but as for the churchrobber himself, him they killed beside the treasury.⁴³ Of these matters therefore there was an accusation laid against Menelaus.⁴⁴ Now when the king came to Tzar, three men that were sent from the senate pleaded the cause before him:⁴⁵ But Menelaus, being now convicted, promised Ptolemee the son of Dorymenes to give him much money, if he would pacify the king toward him.⁴⁶ Whereupon Ptolemee taking the king aside into a certain gallery, as it were to take the air, brought him to be of another mind:⁴⁷ Insomuch that he discharged Menelaus from the accusations, who notwithstanding was cause of all the mischief: and those poor men, who, if they had told their cause, yea, before the Scythians, should have been judged innocent, them he condemned to death.⁴⁸ Thus they that followed the matter for the city, and for the people, and for the holy vessels, did soon suffer unjust punishment.⁴⁹ Therefore even they of Tzar, moved with hatred of that wicked deed, caused them to be honourably buried.⁵⁰ And so through the covetousness of them that were of power Menelaus remained still in authority, increasing in malice, and being a great traitor to the citizens.

5 About the same time Antiochus prepared his second voyage into Matzarayam:² And then it happened, that through all the city, for the space almost of forty days, there were seen horsemen running in the air, in cloth of gold, and armed with lances, like a band of soldiers,³ And troops of horsemen in array, encountering and running one against another, with shaking of shields, and multitude of pikes, and drawing of swords, and casting of darts, and glittering of golden ornaments, and harness of all sorts.⁴ Therefore every man prayed that that apparition might turn to good.⁵ Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Jason took at the least a thousand men, and suddenly made an assault upon the city; and they that were upon the walls being put back, and the city at length taken, Menelaus fled into the castle: ⁶ But Jason slew his own citizens without mercy, not considering that to get the day of them of his own nation would be a most unhappy day for him; but thinking they had been his enemies, and not his countrymen, whom he conquered. ⁷ Howbeit for all this he obtained not the principality, but at the last received shame for the reward of his treason, and fled again into the country of the Imawan. ⁸ In the end therefore he had an unhappy return, being accused before Aretas the king of the Arabians, fleeing from city to city, pursued of all men, hated as a forsaker of the laws, and being had in abomination as an open enemy of his country and countrymen, he was cast out into Matzarayam. ⁹ Thus he that had driven many out of their country perished in a strange land, retiring to the Lacedemonians, and thinking there to find succour by reason of his kindred: ¹⁰ And he that had cast out many unburied had none to mourn for him, nor any solemn funerals at all, nor sepulchre with his fathers. ¹¹ Now when this that was done came to the king's ear, he thought that Yahawadah had revolted: whereupon removing out of Matzarayam in a furious mind, he took the city by force of arms, ¹² And commanded his men of war not to spare such as they met, and to slay such as went up upon the houses. ¹³ Thus there was killing of young and old, making away of men, women, and children, slaying of virgins and infants. ¹⁴ And there were destroyed within the space of three whole days fourscore thousand, whereof forty thousand were slain in the conflict; and no fewer sold than slain. ¹⁵ Yet was he not content with this, but presumed to go into the most holy temple of all the world; Menelaus, that traitor to the laws, and to his own country, being his guide: ¹⁶ And taking the holy vessels with polluted hands, and with profane hands pulling down the things that were dedicated by other kings to the augmentation and glory and honour of the place, he gave them away. ¹⁷ And so haughty was Antiochus in mind, that he considered not that the Adanay was angry for a while for the sins of them that dwelt in the city, and therefore his eye was not upon the place. ¹⁸ For had they not been formerly wrapped in many sins, this man, as soon as he had come, had forthwith been scourged, and put back from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasury. ¹⁹ Nevertheless Alahayam did not choose the people for the place's sake, but the place for the people's sake. ²⁰ And therefore the place itself, that was partaker with them of the adversity that happened to the nation, did afterward communicate in the benefits sent from the Adanay: and as it was forsaken in the wrath of the Shaday, so again, the great Adanay being reconciled, it was set up with all glory. ²¹ So when Antiochus had carried out of the temple a thousand and eight hundred talents, he departed in all haste to Antiochia, weening in his pride to make the land navigable, and the sea passable by foot: such was the haughtiness of his mind. ²² And he left governors to vex the nation: at Yarawashalam, Payalayapawas, for his country a Phrygian, and for manners more barbarous than he that set him there; ²³ And at Garizim, Andronicus; and besides, Menelaus, who worse than all the rest bore an heavy hand over the citizens, having a malicious mind against his countrymen the Jews. ²⁴ He sent also that detestable ringleader Apollonius with an army of two and twenty thousand, commanding him to slay all those that were in their best age, and to sell the women and the younger sort: ²⁵ Who coming to Yarawashalam, and pretending peace, did forbear till the holy day of the sabbath, when taking the Jews keeping holy day, he commanded his men to arm themselves. ²⁶ And so he slew all them that were gone to the celebrating of the sabbath, and running through the city with weapons slew great multitudes. ²⁷ But Yahawadah Maccabeus with nine others, or thereabout, withdrew himself into the wilderness, and lived in the mountains after the manner of beasts, with his company, who fed on herbs continually, lest they should be partakers of the pollution.

6 Not long after this the king sent an old man of Athens to compel the Jews to depart from the laws of their fathers, and not to live after the laws of Alahayam: ² And to pollute also the temple in

Yarawashalam, and to call it the temple of Jupiter Olympius; and that in Garizim, of Jupiter the Defender of strangers, as they did desire that dwelt in the place. ³ The coming in of this mischief was sore and grievous to the people: ⁴ For the temple was filled with riot and revelling by the Gentiles, who dallied with harlots, and had to do with women within the circuit of the holy places, and besides that brought in things that were not lawful. ⁵ The altar also was filled with profane things, which the law forbiddeth. ⁶ Neither was it lawful for a man to keep sabbath days or ancient fasts, or to profess himself at all to be a Yahawaday. ⁷ And in the day of the king's birth every month they were brought by bitter constraint to eat of the sacrifices; and when the fast of Bacchus was kept, the Jews were compelled to go in procession to Bacchus, carrying ivy. ⁸ Moreover there went out a decree to the neighbour cities of the heathen, by the suggestion of Ptolemee, against the Jews, that they should observe the same fashions, and be partakers of their sacrifices: ⁹ And whoso would not conform themselves to the manners of the Gentiles should be put to death. Then might a man have seen the present misery. ¹⁰ For there were two women brought, who had circumcised their children; whom when they had openly led round about the city, the babes hanging at their breasts, they cast them down headlong from the wall. ¹¹ And others, that had run together into caves near by, to keep the sabbath day secretly, being discovered by Payalayapawas, were all burnt together, because they made a conscience to help themselves for the honour of the most sacred day. ¹² Now I beseech those that read this book, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they judge those punishments not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation. ¹³ For it is a token of his great goodness, when wicked doers are not suffered any long time, but forthwith punished. ¹⁴ For not as with other nations, whom the Adanay patiently forbearth to punish, till they be come to the fulness of their sins, so dealeth he with us, ¹⁵ Lest that, being come to the height of sin, afterwards he should take vengeance of us. ¹⁶ And therefore he never withdraws his mercy from us: and though he punish with adversity, yet does he never forsake his people. ¹⁷ But let this that we at spoken be for a warning to us. And now will we come to the declaring of the matter in a few words. ¹⁸ Alaizar, one of the principal scribes, an aged man, and of a well favoured countenance, was constrained to open his mouth, and to eat swine's flesh. ¹⁹ But he, choosing rather to die gloriously, than to live stained with such an abomination, spit it forth, and came of his own accord to the torment. ²⁰ As it behoved them to come, that are resolute to stand out against such things, as are not lawful for love of life to be tasted. ²¹ But they that had the charge of that wicked feast, for the old acquaintance they had with the man, taking him aside, besought him to bring flesh of his own provision, such as was lawful for him to use, and make as if he did eat of the flesh taken from the sacrifice commanded by the king; ²² That in so doing he might be delivered from death, and for the old friendship with them find favour. ²³ But he began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellency of his ancient years, and the honour of his gray head, whereon was come, and his most honest education from a child, or rather the holy law made and given by Alahayam: therefore he answered accordingly, and willed them straightways to send him to the grave. ²⁴ For it becomes not our age, said he, in any wise to dissemble, whereby many young persons might think that Alaizar, being fourscore years old and ten, were now gone to a strange religion; ²⁵ And so they through mine hypocrisy, and desire to live a little time and a moment longer, should be deceived by me, and I get a stain to mine old age, and make it abominable. ²⁶ For though for the present time I should be delivered from the punishment of men: yet should I not escape the hand of the Shaday, neither alive, nor dead. ²⁷ Therefore now, manfully changing this life, I will show myself such an one as mine age requires, ²⁸ And leave a notable example to such as be young to die willingly and courageously for the honourable and holy laws. And when he had said these words, immediately he went to the torment: ²⁹ They that led him changing the good will they bore him a little before into hatred, because the foresaid speeches proceeded, as they thought, from a desperate mind.³⁰ But when he was ready to die with stripes, he groaned, and said, It is manifest to the Adanay, that has the holy knowledge, that whereas I might have been delivered from death, I now endure sore pains in body by being beaten: but in soul am well content to suffer these things, because I fear him.³¹ And thus this man died, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorial of virtue, not only to young men, but to all his nation.

7 It came to pass also, that seven brethren with their mother were taken, and compelled by the king against the law to taste swine's flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.² But one of them that spoke first said thus, What would you ask or learn of us? we are ready to die, rather than to transgress the laws of our fathers.³ Then the king, being in a rage, commanded pans and caldrons to be made hot:⁴ Which forthwith being heated, he commanded to cut out the tongue of him that spoke first, and to cut off the utmost parts of his body, the rest of his brethren and his mother looking on.⁵ Now when he was thus maimed in all his members, he commanded him being yet alive to be brought to the fire, and to be fried in the pan: and as the vapour of the pan was for a good space dispersed, they exhorted one another with the mother to die manfully, saying thus,⁶ The Adanay Alahayam looks upon us, and in truth has comfort in us, as Mashah in his song, which witnessed to their faces, declared, saying, And he shall be comforted in his servants.⁷ So when the first was dead after this number, they brought the second to make him a mocking stock: and when they had pulled off the skin of his head with the hair, they asked him, Will you eat, before you be punished throughout every member of your body?⁸ But he answered in his own language, and said, No. Therefore he also received the next torment in order, as the former did.⁹ And when he was at the last gasp, he said, You like a fury take us out of this present life, but the King of the world shall raise us up, who have died for his laws, to everlasting life.¹⁰ After him was the third made a mocking stock: and when he was required, he put out his tongue, and that right soon, holding forth his hands manfully.¹¹ And said courageously, These I had from heaven; and for his laws I despise them; and from him I hope to receive them again.¹² Insomuch that the king, and they that were with him, marvelled at the young man's courage, for that he nothing regarded the pains.¹³ Now when this man was dead also, they tormented and mangled the fourth in like manner.¹⁴ So when he was ready to die he said thus, It is good, being put to death by men, to look for hope from Alahayam to be raised up again by him: as for you, you shall have no resurrection to life.¹⁵ Afterward they brought the fifth also, and mangled him.¹⁶ Then looked he to the king, and said, You have power over men, you are corruptible, you do what you will; yet think not that our nation is forsaken of Alahayam;¹⁷ But abide a while, and behold his great power, how he will torment you and your seed.¹⁸ After him also they brought the sixth, who being ready to die said, Be not deceived without cause: for we suffer these things for ourselves, having sinned against our Alahayam: therefore marvellous things are done to us.¹⁹ But think not you, that take in hand to strive against Alahayam, that you shall escape unpunished.²⁰ But the mother was marvellous above all, and worthy of honourable memory: for when she saw her seven sons slain within the space of one day, she bore it with a good courage, because of the hope that she had in the Adanay.²¹ Yea, she exhorted every one of them in her own language, filled with courageous spirits; and stirring up her womanish thoughts with a manly stomach, she said to them,²² I cannot tell how you came into my womb: for I neither gave you breath nor life, neither was it I that formed the members of every one of you;²³ But doubtless the Creator of the world, who formed the generation of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his own mercy give you breath and life again, as you now regard not your own selves for his laws' sake.²⁴ Now Antiochus, thinking himself despised, and suspecting it to be a reproachful speech, whilst the youngest was yet alive, did not only exhort him by words, but also assured him with oaths, that he would make him both a rich and a happy man, if he would turn from the laws of his fathers; and that also he would take him for his friend, and trust him with affairs.²⁵ But when the young man would in no case hearken to him, the king called his mother, and exhorted her that she would counsel the young man to save his life.²⁶ And when he had exhorted her with many words, she promised him that she would counsel her son.²⁷ But she bowing herself toward him, laughing the cruel tyrant to scorn, spoke in her country language on this manner; O my son, have pity upon me that bore you nine months in my womb, and gave you such three years, and nourished you, and brought you up to this age, and endured the troubles of education.²⁸ I beseech you, my son, look upon the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that Alahayam made them of things that were not; and so was mankind made likewise.²⁹ Fear not this tormentor, but, being worthy of your brethren, take your death that I may receive you again in mercy with your brethren.³⁰ Whiles she was yet speaking these words, the young man said, Whom wait you for? I will not obey the king's commandment: but I will obey the commandment of the law that was given to our fathers by Mashah.³¹ And you, that have been the author of all mischief against the Hebrews, shall not escape the hands of Alahayam.³² For we suffer because of our sins.³³ And though the living Adanay be angry with us a little while for our chastening and correction, yet shall he be at one again with his servants.³⁴ But you, O godless man, and of all other most wicked, be not lifted up without a cause, nor puffed up with uncertain hopes, lifting up your hand against the servants of Alahayam:³⁵ For you have not yet escaped the judgment of Shaday Alahayam, who sees all things.³⁶ For our brethren, who now have suffered a short pain, are dead under Alahayam's covenant of everlasting life: but you, through the judgment of Alahayam, shall receive just punishment for your pride.³⁷ But I, as my brethren, offer up my body and life for the laws of our fathers, beseeching Alahayam that he would speedily be merciful to our nation; and that you by torments and plagues may confess, that he alone is Alahayam;³⁸ And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Shaday, which is justly brought upon our nation, may cease.³⁹ Than the king' being in a rage, handed him worse than all the rest, and took it grievously that he was mocked.⁴⁰ So this man died undefiled, and put his whole trust in the Adanay.⁴¹ Last of all after the sons the mother died.⁴² Let this be enough now to have spoken concerning the idolatrous feasts, and the extreme tortures.

8 Then Yahawadah Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went privily into the towns, and called their kinsfolks together, and took to them all such as continued in the Jews' religion, and assembled about six thousand men.² And they called upon the Adanay, that he would look upon the people that was trodden down of all; and also pity the temple profaned of ungodly men;³ And that he would have compassion upon the city, sore defaced, and ready to be made even with the ground; and hear the blood that cried to him,⁴ And remember the wicked slaughter of harmless infants, and the blasphemies committed against his name; and that he would show his hatred against the wicked.⁵ Now when Maccabeus had his company about him, he could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Adanay was turned into mercy.⁶ Therefore he came at unawares, and burnt up towns and cities, and got into his hands the most commodious places, and overcame and put to flight no small number of his enemies.⁷ But specially took he advantage of the night for such privy attempts, insomuch that the fruit of his holiness was spread every where.⁸ So when Payalayapawas saw that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him still more and more, he wrote to Ptolemeus, the governor of Celosyria and Phenice, to yield more aid to the king's affairs.⁹ Then forthwith choosing Nicanor the son of Patroclus, one of his special friends, he sent him with no fewer than twenty thousand of all nations under him, to root out the whole generation of the Jews; and with him he joined also Gorgias a captain, who in matters of war had great experience.¹⁰ So Nicanor undertook to make so much money of the captive Jews, as should defray the tribute of two thousand talents, which the king was to pay to the Romans.¹¹ Therefore immediately he sent to the cities upon the sea coast, proclaiming a sale of the captive Jews, and promising that they should have fourscore and ten bodies for one talent, not expecting the vengeance that was to follow upon him from the Shaday Alahayam.¹² Now when word was brought to Yahawadah of Nicanor's coming, and he had imparted to those that were with him that the army was at hand,¹³ They that were fearful, and distrusted the justice of Alahayam, fled, and conveyed themselves away.¹⁴ Others sold all that they had left, and withal besought the Adanay to deliver them, sold by the wicked Nicanor before they met together:¹⁵ And if not for their own sakes, yet for the covenants he had made with their fathers, and for his holy and glorious name's sake, by which they were called.¹⁶ So Maccabeus called his men together to the number of six thousand, and exhorted them not to be stricken with terror of the enemy, nor to fear the great multitude of the heathen, who came wrongly against them; but to fight manfully,¹⁷ And to set before their eyes the injury that they had unjustly done to the holy place, and the cruel handling of the city, whereof they made a mockery, and also the taking away of the government of their forefathers:¹⁸ For they, said he, trust in their weapons and boldness; but our confidence is in the Shaday who at a beck can cast down both them that come against us, and also all the world.¹⁹ Moreover, he recounted to them what helps their forefathers had found, and how they were delivered, when under Sanacharayab an hundred fourscore and five thousand perished.²⁰ And he told them of the battle that they had in Babal with the Galatians, how they came but eight thousand in all to the business, with four thousand Macedonians, and that the Macedonians being perplexed, the eight thousand destroyed an hundred and twenty thousand because of the help that they had from heaven, and so received a great booty.²¹ Thus when he had made them bold with these words, and ready to die for the law and the country, he divided his army into four parts;²² And joined with himself his own brethren, leaders of each band, to wit Shamaiwan, and Yawasap, and Yahawanathan, giving each one fifteen hundred men.²³ Also he appointed Alaizar to read the holy book: and when he had given them this watchword, The help of Alahayam; himself leading the first band,²⁴ And by the help of the Shaday they slew above nine thousand of their enemies, and wounded and maimed the most part of Nicanor's host, and so put all to flight;²⁵ And took their money that came to buy them, and pursued them far: but lacking time they returned:²⁶ For it was the day before the sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.²⁷ So when they had gathered their armour together, and spoiled their enemies, they occupied themselves about the sabbath, yielding exceeding praise and thanks to the Adanay, who had preserved them to that day, which was the beginning of mercy distilling upon them.²⁸ And after the sabbath, when they had given part of the spoils to the maimed, and the widows, and orphans, the residue they divided among themselves and their servants.²⁹ When this was done, and they had made a common supplication, they besought the merciful Adanay to be reconciled with his servants for ever.³⁰ Moreover of those that were with Timotheus and Bacchides, who fought against them, they slew above twenty thousand, and very easily got high and strong holds, and divided among themselves many spoils more, and made the maimed, orphans, widows, yea, and the aged also, equal in spoils with themselves.³¹ And when they had gathered their armour together, they laid them up all carefully in convenient places, and the remnant of the spoils they brought to Yarawashalam.³² They slew also Philarches, that wicked person, who was with Timotheus, and had annoyed the Jews many ways.³³ Furthermore at such time as they kept the feast for the victory in their country they burnt Callisthenes, that had set fire upon the holy gates, who had fled into a little house; and so he received a reward meet for his wickedness.³⁴ As for that most ungracious Nicanor, who had brought a thousand merchants to buy the Jews,³⁵ He was through the help of the Adanay brought down by them, of whom he made least account; and putting off his glorious apparel, and discharging his company, he came like a fugitive servant through the midland to Antioch having very great dishonour, for that his host was destroyed.³⁶ Thus he, that took upon him to make good to the Romans their tribute by means of captives in Yarawashalam, told abroad, that the Jews had Alahayam to fight for them, and therefore they could not be hurt, because they followed the laws that he gave them.

9 About that time came Antiochus with dishonour out of the country of Paras.² For he had entered the city called Persepolis, and went about to rob the temple, and to hold the city; whereupon the multitude running to defend themselves with their weapons put them to flight; and so it happened, that Antiochus being put to flight of the inhabitants returned with shame.³ Now when he came to Ecbatane, news was brought him what had happened to Nicanor and Timotheus.⁴ Then swelling with anger, he thought to avenge upon the Jews the disgrace done to him by those that made him flee. Therefore commanded he his chariotman to drive without ceasing, and to dispatch the journey, the judgment of Alahayam now following him. For he had spoken proudly in this sort, That he would come to Yarawashalam and make it a common burying place of the Jews.⁵ But the Adanay Shaday, the Alahayam of Isreal, smote him with an incurable and invisible plague: or as soon as he had spoken these words, a pain of the bowels that was remediless came upon him, and sore torments of the inner parts;⁶ And that most justly: for he had tormented other men's bowels with many and strange torments.⁷ Howbeit he nothing at all ceased from his bragging, but still was filled with pride, breathing out fire in his rage against the Jews, and commanding to haste the journey: but it came to pass that he fell down from his chariot, carried violently; so that having a sore fall, all the members of his body were much pained.⁸ And thus he that a little afore thought he might command the waves of the sea, (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and weigh the high mountains in a balance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in an horselitter, shewing forth to all the manifest power of Alahayam.⁹ So that the worms rose up out of the body of this wicked man, and whiles he lived in sorrow and pain, his flesh fell away, and the filthiness of his smell was noisome to all his army.¹⁰ And the man, that thought a little afore he could reach to the stars of heaven, no man could endure to carry for his intolerable stink.¹¹ Here therefore, being plagued, he began to leave off his great pride, and to come to the knowledge of himself by the scourge of Alahayam, his pain increasing every moment.¹² And when he himself could not abide his own smell, he said these words, It is meet to be subject to Alahayam, and that a man that is mortal should not proudly think of himself if he were Alahayam.¹³ This wicked person vowed also to the Adanay, who now no more would have mercy upon him, saying thus,¹⁴ That the holy city (to the which he was going in haste to lay it even with the ground, and to make it a common buryingplace,) he would set at liberty:¹⁵ And as touching the Jews, whom he had judged not worthy so much as to be buried, but to be cast out with their children to be devoured of the fowls and wild beasts, he would make them all equals to the citizens of Athens:¹⁶ And the holy temple, which before he had spoiled, he would garnish with goodly gifts, and restore all the holy vessels with many more, and out of his own revenue defray the charges belonging to the sacrifices:¹⁷ Yea, and that also he would become a Yahawaday himself, and go through all the world that was inhabited, and declare the power of Alahayam.¹⁸ But for all this his pains would not cease: for the just judgment of Alahayam was come upon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote to the Jews the letter underwritten, containing the form of a supplication, after this manner:¹⁹ Antiochus, king and governor, to the good Jews his citizens wishes much joy, health, and prosperity:²⁰ If you and your children fare well, and your affairs be to your contentment, I give very great thanks to Alahayam, having my hope in heaven.²¹ As for me, I was weak, or else I would have remembered kindly your honour and good will returning out of Paras, and being taken with a grievous disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safety of all:²² Not distrusting mine health, but having great hope to escape this sickness.²³ But considering that even my father, at what time he led an army into the high countries, appointed a successor,²⁴ To the end that, if any thing fell out contrary to expectation, or if any tidings were brought that were grievous, they of the land, knowing to whom the state was left, might not be troubled: ²⁵ Again, considering how that the princes that are borderers and neighbours to my kingdom wait for opportunities, and expect what shall be the event, I have appointed my son Antiochus king, whom I often committed and commended to many of you, when I went up into the high provinces; to whom I have written as follows: ²⁶ Therefore I pray and request you to remember the benefits that I have done to you generally, and in special, and that every man will be still faithful to me and my son. ²⁷ For I am persuaded that he understanding my mind will favourably and graciously yield to your desires. ²⁸ Thus the murderer and blasphemer having suffered most grievously, as he entreated other men, so died he a miserable death in a strange country in the mountains. ²⁹ And Payalayapawas, that was brought up with him, carried away his body, who also fearing the son of Antiochus went into Matzarayam to Ptolemeus Philometor.

10 Now Maccabeus and his company, the Adanay guiding them, recovered the temple and the city: ² But the altars which the heathen had built in the open street, and also the chapels, they pulled down. ³ And having cleansed the temple they made another altar, and striking stones they took fire out of them, and offered a sacrifice after two years, and set forth incense, and lights, and shewbread. ⁴ When that was done, they fell flat down, and besought the Adanay that they might come no more into such troubles; but if they sinned any more against him, that he himself would chasten them with mercy, and that they might not be delivered to the blasphemous and barbarous nations. ⁵ Now upon the same day that the strangers profaned the temple, on the very same day it was cleansed again, even the five and twentieth day of the same month, which is Casleu. ⁶ And they kept the eight days with gladness, as in the feast of the tabernacles, remembering that not long afore they had held the feast of the tabernacles, when as they wandered in the mountains and dens like beasts. ⁷ Therefore they bore branches, and fair boughs, and palms also, and sang psalms to him that had given them good success in cleansing his place. ⁸ They ordained also by a common statute and decree, that every year those days should be kept of the whole nation of the Jews. ⁹ And this was the end of Antiochus, called Epiphanes. ¹⁰ Now will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, who was the son of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the wars. ¹¹ So when he was come to the crown, he set one Lysias over the affairs of his realm, and appointed him his chief governor of Celosyria and Phenice. ¹² For Ptolemeus, that was called Macron, choosing rather to do justice to the Jews for the wrong that had been done to them, endeavoured to continue peace with them. ¹³ Whereupon being accused of the king's friends before Eupator, and called traitor at every word because he had left Cyprus, that Philometor had committed to him, and departed to Antiochus Epiphanes, and seeing that he was in no honourable place, he was so discouraged, that he poisoned himself and died. ¹⁴ But when Gorgias was governor of the holds, he hired soldiers, and nourished war continually with the Jews: ¹⁵ And therewithall the Idumeans, having gotten into their hands the most commodious holds, kept the Jews occupied, and receiving those that were banished from Yarawashalam, they went about to nourish war. ¹⁶ Then they that were with Maccabeus made supplication, and besought Alahayam that he would be their helper; and so they ran with violence upon the strong holds of the Idumeans, ¹⁷ And assaulting them strongly, they won the holds, and kept off all that fought upon the wall, and slew all that fell into their hands, and killed no fewer than twenty thousand. ¹⁸ And because certain, who were no less than nine thousand, were fled together into two very strong castles, having all manner of things convenient to sustain the siege, ¹⁹ Maccabeus left Shamaiwan and Yawasap, and Zaccheus also, and them that were with him, who were enough to besiege them, and departed himself to those places which more needed his help. ²⁰ Now they that were with Shamaiwan, being led with covetousness, were persuaded for money through certain of those that were in the castle, and took seventy thousand drachms, and let some of them escape. ²¹ But when it was told Maccabeus what was done, he called the governors of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for money, and set their enemies free to fight against them. ²² So he slew those that were found traitors, and immediately took the two castles. ²³ And having good success with his weapons in all things he took in hand, he slew in the two holds more than twenty thousand. ²⁴ Now Timotheus, whom the Jews had overcome before, when he had gathered a great multitude of foreign forces, and horses out of Asia not a few, came as though he would take Yahawad by force of arms. ²⁵ But when he drew near, they that were with Maccabeus turned themselves to pray to Alahayam, and sprinkled earth upon their heads, and girded their loins with sackcloth, ²⁶ And fell down at the foot of the altar, and besought him to be merciful to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and an adversary to their adversaries, as the law declares. ²⁷ So after the prayer they took their weapons, and went on further from the city: and when they drew near to their enemies, they kept by themselves. ²⁸ Now the sun being newly risen, they joined both together; the one part having together with their virtue their refuge also to the Adanay for a pledge of their success and victory: the other side making their rage leader of their battle. ²⁹ But when the battle waxed strong, there appeared to the enemies from heaven five comely men upon horses, with bridles of gold, and two of them led the Jews, ³⁰ And took Maccabeus betwixt them, and covered him on every side weapons, and kept him safe, but shot arrows and lightnings against the enemies: so that being confounded with blindness, and full of trouble, they were killed. ³¹ And there were slain of footmen twenty thousand and five hundred, and six hundred horsemen. ³² As for Timotheus himself, he fled into a very strong hold, called Gawra, where Chereas was governor. ³³ But they that were with Maccabeus laid siege against the fortress courageously four days. ³⁴ And they that were within, trusting to the strength of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and uttered wicked words. ³⁵ Nevertheless upon the fifth day early twenty young men of Maccabeus' company, inflamed with anger because of the blasphemies, assaulted the wall manly, and with a fierce courage killed all that they met withal. ³⁶ Others likewise ascending after them, whiles they were busied with them that were within, burnt the towers, and kindling fires burnt the blasphemers alive; and others broke open the gates, and, having received in the rest of the army, took the city, ³⁷ And killed Timotheus, that was hid in a certain pit, and Chereas his brother, with Apolophanes. ³⁸ When this was done, they praised the Adanay with psalms and thanksgiving, who had done so great things for Yasharaal, and given them the victory.

11 Not long after the, Lysias the king's protector and cousin, who also managed the affairs, took sore displeasure for the things that were done. ² And when he had gathered about fourscore thousand with all the horsemen, he came against the Jews, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles, ³ And to make a gain of the temple, as of the other chapels of the heathen, and to set the high priesthood to sale every year: ⁴ Not at all considering the power of Alahayam but puffed up with his ten thousands of footmen, and his thousands of horsemen, and his fourscore elephants. ⁵ So he came to Yahawadah, and drew near to Bethsura, which was a strong town, but distant from Yarawashalam about five furlongs, and he laid sore siege to it. ⁶ Now when they that were with Maccabeus heard that he besieged the holds, they and all the people with lamentation and tears besought the Adanay that he would send a good angel to deliver Yasharaal. ⁷ Then Maccabeus himself first of all took weapons, exhorting the other that they would jeopard themselves together with him to help their brethren: so they went forth together with a willing mind. ⁸ And as they were at Yarawashalam, there appeared before them on horseback one in white clothing, shaking his armour of gold. ⁹ Then they praised the merciful Alahayam all together, and took heart, insomuch that they were ready not only to fight with men, but with most cruel beasts, and to pierce through walls of iron. ¹⁰ Thus they marched forward in their armour, having an helper from heaven: for the Adanay was merciful to them.¹¹ And giving a charge upon their enemies like lions, they slew eleven thousand footmen, and sixteen hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.¹² Many of them also being wounded escaped naked; and Lysias himself fled away shamefully, and so escaped.¹³ Who, as he was a man of understanding, casting with himself what loss he had had, and considering that the Hebrews could not be overcome, because the Shaday Alahayam helped them, he sent to them,¹⁴ And persuaded them to agree to all reasonable conditions, and promised that he would persuade the king that he must needs be a friend to them.¹⁵ Then Maccabeus consented to all that Lysias desired, being careful of the common good; and whatsoever Maccabeus wrote to Lysias concerning the Jews, the king granted it.¹⁶ For there were letters written to the Jews from Lysias to this effect: Lysias to the people of the Jews sends greeting:¹⁷ Yawachanan and Absolom, who were sent from you, delivered me the petition subscribed, and made request for the performance of the contents thereof.¹⁸ Therefore what things soever were meet to be reported to the king, I have declared them, and he has granted as much as might be.¹⁹ And if then you will keep yourselves loyal to the state, hereafter also will I endeavour to be a means of your good.²⁰ But of the particulars I have given order both to these and the other that came from me, to commune with you.²¹ Fare you well. The hundred and eight and fortieth year, the four and twentieth day of the month Dioscorinthius.²² Now the king's letter contained these words: King Antiochus to his brother Lysias sends greeting:²³ Since our father is translated to the gods, our will is, that they that are in our realm live quietly, that every one may attend upon his own affairs.²⁴ We understand also that the Jews would not consent to our father, for to be brought to the custom of the Gentiles, but had rather keep their own manner of living: for the which cause they require of us, that we should suffer them to live after their own laws.²⁵ Therefore our mind is, that this nation shall be in rest, and we have determined to restore them their temple, that they may live according to the customs of their forefathers.²⁶ You shall do well therefore to send to them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our mind, they may be of good comfort, and ever go cheerfully about their own affairs.²⁷ And the letter of the king to the nation of the Jews was after this manner: King Antiochus sends greeting to the council, and the rest of the Jews:²⁸ If you fare well, we have our desire; we are also in good health.²⁹ Menelaus declared to us, that your desire was to return home, and to follow your own business:³⁰ Therefore they that will depart shall have safe conduct till the thirtieth day of Xanthicus with security.³¹ And the Jews shall use their own kind of meats and laws, as before; and none of them any manner of ways shall be molested for things ignorantly done.³² I have sent also Menelaus, that he may comfort you.³³ Fare you well. In the hundred forty and eighth year, and the fifteenth day of the month Xanthicus.³⁴ The Romans also sent to them a letter containing these words: Quintus Memmius and Titus Manlius, ambassadors of the Romans, send greeting to the people of the Jews.³⁵ Whatsoever Lysias the king's cousin has granted, therewith we also are well pleased.³⁶ But touching such things as he judged to be referred to the king, after you have advised thereof, send one forthwith, that we may declare as it is convenient for you: for we are now going to Antioch.³⁷ Therefore send some with speed, that we may know what is your mind.³⁸ Farewell. This hundred and eight and fortieth year, the fifteenth day of the month Xanthicus.

12 When these covenants were made, Lysias went to the king, and the Jews were about their husbandry.² But of the governours of several places, Timotheus, and Apollonius the son of Genneus, also Hieronymus, and Demophon, and beside them Nicanor the governor of Cyprus, would not suffer them to be quiet and live in peace.³ The men of Yapaw also did such an ungodly deed: they prayed the Jews that dwelt among them to go with their wives and children into the boats which they had prepared, as though they had meant them no hurt.⁴ Who accepted of it according to the common decree of the city, as being desirous to live in peace, and suspecting nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deep, they drowned

no less than two hundred of them.⁵ When Yahawadah heard of this cruelty done to his countrymen, he commanded those that were with him to make them ready.⁶ And calling upon Alahayam the righteous Judge, he came against those murderers of his brethren, and burnt the haven by night, and set the boats on fire, and those that fled there he slew.⁷ And when the town was shut up, he went backward, as if he would return to root out all them of the city of Yapaw.⁸ But when he heard that the Jamnites were minded to do in like manner to the Jews that dwelt among them,⁹ He came upon the Jamnites also by night, and set fire on the haven and the navy, so that the light of the fire was seen at Yarawashalam two hundred and forty furlongs off.¹⁰ Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs in their journey toward Timotheus, no fewer than five thousand men on foot and five hundred horsemen of the Arabians set upon him.¹¹ Whereupon there was a very sore battle; but Yahawadah' side by the help of Alahayam got the victory; so that the Nomades of Irab, being overcome, besought Yahawadah for peace, promising both to give him cattle, and to pleasure him otherwise.¹² Then Yahawadah, thinking indeed that they would be profitable in many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shook hands, and so they departed to their tents.¹³ He went also about to make a bridge to a certain strong city, which was fenced about with walls, and inhabited by people of divers countries; and the name of it was Caspis.¹⁴ But they that were within it put such trust in the strength of the walls and provision of victuals, that they behaved themselves rudely toward them that were with Yahawadah, railing and blaspheming, and uttering such words as were not to be spoken.¹⁵ Therefore Yahawadah with his company, calling upon the great Adanay of the world, who without rams or engines of war did cast down Yarayachaw in the time of Yahawashai, gave a fierce assault against the walls,¹⁶ And took the city by the will of Alahayam, and made unspeakable slaughters, insomuch that a lake two furlongs broad near adjoining thereunto, being filled full, was seen running with blood.¹⁷ Then departed they from thence seven hundred and fifty furlongs, and came to Characa to the Jews that are called Tubieni.¹⁸ But as for Timotheus, they found him not in the places: for before he had dispatched any thing, he departed from thence, having left a very strong garrison in a certain hold.¹⁹ Howbeit Dositheus and Sosipater, who were of Maccabeus' captains, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortress, above ten thousand men.²⁰ And Maccabeus ranged his army by bands, and set them over the bands, and went against Timotheus, who had about him an hundred and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and five hundred horsemen.²¹ Now when Timotheus had knowledge of Yahawadah' coming, he sent the women and children and the other baggage to a fortress called Carnion: for the town was hard to besiege, and uneasy to come to, by reason of the straitness of all the places.²² But when Yahawadah his first band came in sight, the enemies, being smitten with fear and terror through the appearing of him who sees all things, fled amain, one running into this way, another that way, so as that they were often hurt of their own men, and wounded with the points of their own swords.²³ Yahawadah also was very earnest in pursuing them, killing those wicked wretches, of whom he slew about thirty thousand men.²⁴ Moreover Timotheus himself fell into the hands of Dositheus and Sosipater, whom he besought with much craft to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Jews' parents, and the brethren of some of them, who, if they put him to death, should not be regarded.²⁵ So when he had assured them with many words that he would restore them without hurt, according to the agreement, they let him go for the saving of their brethren.²⁶ Then Maccabeus marched forth to Carnion, and to the temple of Atargatis, and there he slew five and twenty thousand persons.²⁷ And after he had put to flight and destroyed them, Yahawadah removed the host toward Iparawan, a strong city, wherein Lysias abode, and a great multitude of divers nations, and the strong young men kept the walls, and defended them mightily: wherein also was great provision of engines and darts.²⁸ But when Yahawadah and his company had called upon

Shaday Alahayam, who with his power breaks the strength of his enemies, they won the city, and slew twenty and five thousand of them that were within.²⁹ From thence they departed to Scythopolis, which lies six hundred furlongs from Yarawashalam.³⁰ But when the Jews that dwelt there had testified that the Scythopolitans dealt lovingly with them, and entreated them kindly in the time of their adversity;³¹ They gave them thanks, desiring them to be friendly still to them: and so they came to Yarawashalam, the feast of the weeks approaching.³² And after the feast, called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the governor of Adawam,³³ Who came out with three thousand men of foot and four hundred horsemen.³⁴ And it happened that in their fighting together a few of the Jews were slain.³⁵ At which time Dositheus, one of Bacenor's company, who was on horseback, and a strong man, was still upon Gorgias, and taking hold of his coat drew him by force; and when he would have taken that cursed man alive, a horseman of Thracia coming upon him smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled to Marisa.³⁶ Now when they that were with Gorgias had fought long, and were weary, Yahawadah called upon the Adanay, that he would show himself to be their helper and leader of the battle.³⁷ And with that he began in his own language, and sung psalms with a loud voice, and rushing unawares upon Gorgias' men, he put them to flight.³⁸ So Yahawadah gathered his host, and came into the city of Odollam, And when the seventh day came, they purified themselves, as the custom was, and kept the sabbath in the same place.³⁹ And upon the day following, as the use had been, Yahawadah and his company came to take up the bodies of them that were slain, and to bury them with their kinsmen in their fathers' graves.⁴⁰ Now under the coats of every one that was slain they found things consecrated to the idols of the Jamnites, which is forbidden the Jews by the law. Then every man saw that this was the cause therefore they were slain.⁴¹ All men therefore praising the Adanay, the righteous Judge, who had opened the things that were hid,⁴² Betook themselves to prayer, and besought him that the sin committed might wholly be put out of remembrance. Besides, that noble Yahawadah exhorted the people to keep themselves from sin, forso much as they saw before their eyes the things that came to pass for the sins of those that were slain.⁴³ And when he had made a gathering throughout the company to the sum of two thousand drachms of silver, he sent it to Yarawashalam to offer a sin offering, doing therein very well and honestly, in that he was mindful of the resurrection:⁴⁴ For if he had not hoped that they that were slain should have risen again, it had been superfluous and vain to pray for the dead.⁴⁵ And also in that he perceived that there was great favour laid up for those that died godly, it was an holy and good thought. Whereupon he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be delivered from sin.

13 In the hundred forty and ninth year it was told Yahawadah, that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Yahawadah,² And with him Lysias his protector, and ruler of his affairs, having either of them a Grecian power of footmen, an hundred and ten thousand, and horsemen five thousand and three hundred, and elephants two and twenty, and three hundred chariots armed with hooks.³ Menelaus also joined himself with them, and with great dissimulation encouraged Antiochus, not for the safeguard of the country, but because he thought to have been made governor.⁴ But the King of kings moved Antiochus' mind against this wicked wretch, and Lysias informed the king that this man was the cause of all mischief, so that the king commanded to bring him to Berea, and to put him to death, as the manner is in that place.⁵ Now there was in that place a tower of fifty cubits high, full of ashes, and it had a round instrument which on every side hanged down into the ashes.⁶ And whosoever was condemned of sacrilege, or had committed any other grievous crime, there did all men thrust him to death.⁷ Such a death it happened that wicked man to die, not having so much as burial in the earth; and that most justly:⁸ For inasmuch as he had committed many sins about the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy, he received his death in ashes.⁹ Now the king came with a barbarous and haughty mind to do far worse to the Jews, than had been done in his father's time.¹⁰ Which things when Yahawadah perceived, he commanded the multitude to call upon the Adanay night and day, that if ever at any other time, he would now also help them, being at the point to be put from their law, from their country, and from the holy temple:¹¹ And that he would not suffer the people, that had even now been but a little refreshed, to be in subjection to the blasphemous nations.¹² So when they had all done this together, and besought the merciful Adanay with weeping and fasting, and lying flat upon the ground three days long, Yahawadah, having exhorted them, commanded they should be in a readiness.¹³ And Yahawadah, being apart with the elders, determined, before the king's host should enter into Yahawadah, and get the city, to go forth and try the matter in fight by the help of the Adanay.¹⁴ So when he had committed all to the Creator of the world, and exhorted his soldiers to fight manfully, even to death, for the laws, the temple, the city, the country, and the commonwealth, he camped by Modin:¹⁵ And having given the watchword to them that were about him, Victory is of Alahayam; with the most valiant and choice young men he went in into the king's tent by night, and slew in the camp about four thousand men, and the chiefest of the elephants, with all that were upon him.¹⁶ And at last they filled the camp with fear and tumult, and departed with good success.¹⁷ This was done in the break of the day, because the protection of the Adanay did help him.¹⁸ Now when the king had taken a taste of the manliness of the Jews, he went about to take the holds by policy,¹⁹ And marched toward Bethsura, which was a strong hold of the Jews: but he was put to flight, failed, and lost of his men:²⁰ For Yahawadah had conveyed to them that were in it such things as were necessary.²¹ But Rhodocus, who was in the Jews' host, disclosed the secrets to the enemies; therefore he was sought out, and when they had gotten him, they put him in prison.²² The king treated with them in Bethsum the second time, gave his hand, took their's, departed, fought with Yahawadah, was overcome;²³ Heard that Payalayapawas, who was left over the affairs in Antioch, was desperately bent, confounded, intreated the Jews, submitted himself, and swore to all equal conditions, agreed with them, and offered sacrifice, honoured the temple, and dealt kindly with the place,²⁴ And accepted well of Maccabeus, made him principal governor from Ptolemais to the Gerrenians;²⁵ Came to Ptolemais: the people there were grieved for the covenants; for they stormed, because they would make their covenants void:²⁶ Lysias went up to the judgment seat, said as much as could be in defence of the cause, persuaded, pacified, made them well affected, returned to Antioch. Thus it went touching the king's coming and departing.

14 After three years was Yahawadah informed, that Demetrius the son of Seleucus, having entered by the haven of Tripolis with a great power and navy,² Had taken the country, and killed Antiochus, and Lysias his protector.³ Now one Alcimus, who had been high priest, and had defiled himself wilfully in the times of their mingling with the Gentiles, seeing that by no means he could save himself, nor have any more access to the holy altar,⁴ Came to king Demetrius in the hundred and one and fiftieth year, presenting to him a crown of gold, and a palm, and also of the boughs which were used solemnly in the temple: and so that day he held his peace.⁵ Howbeit having gotten opportunity to further his foolish enterprize, and being called into counsel by Demetrius, and asked how the Jews stood affected, and what they intended, he answered thereunto:⁶ Those of the Jews that he called Assideans, whose captain is Yahawadah Maccabeus, nourish war and are seditious, and will not let the rest be in peace.⁷ Therefore I, being deprived of mine ancestors' honour, I mean the high priesthood, am now come here:⁸ First, truly for the unfeigned care I have of things pertaining to the king; and secondly, even for that I intend the good of mine own countrymen: for all our nation is in no small misery through the unadvised dealing of them aforesaid.⁹ Therefore, O king, seeing know all these things, be careful for the country, and our nation, which is pressed on every side, according to the clemency that you readily show to all.¹⁰ For as long as Yahawadah lives, it is not possible that the state should be quiet.¹¹ This was no sooner spoken of him, but others of the king's friends, being maliciously set against Yahawadah, did more incense Demetrius.¹² And forthwith calling Nicanor, who had been master of the elephants, and making him governor over Yahawadah, he sent him forth,¹³ Commanding him to slay Yahawadah, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus high priest of the great temple.¹⁴ Then the heathen, that had fled out of Yahawadah from Yahawadah, came to Nicanor by flocks, thinking the harm and calamities of the Jews to be their welfare.¹⁵ Now when the Jews heard of Nicanor's coming, and that the heathen were up against them, they cast earth upon their heads, and made supplication to him that had established his people for ever, and who always helps his portion with manifestation of his presence.¹⁶ So at the commandment of the captain they removed straightways from thence, and came near to them at the town of Dessau.¹⁷ Now Shamaiwan, Yahawadah's brother, had joined battle with Nicanor, but was somewhat discomfited through the sudden silence of his enemies.¹⁸ Nevertheless Nicanor, hearing of the manliness of them that were with Yahawadah, and the courageousness that they had to fight for their country, durst not try the matter by the sword.¹⁹ Therefore he sent Posidonius, and Theodotus, and Mattathias, to make peace.²⁰ So when they had taken long advisement thereupon, and the captain had made the multitude acquainted therewith, and it appeared that they were all of one mind, they consented to the covenants,²¹ And appointed a day to meet in together by themselves: and when the day came, and stools were set for either of them,²² Ludas placed armed men ready in convenient places, lest some treachery should be suddenly practised by the enemies: so they made a peaceable conference.²³ Now Nicanor abode in Yarawashalam, and did no hurt, but sent away the people that came flocking to him.²⁴ And he would not willingly have Yahawadah out of his sight: for he love the man from his heart.²⁵ He prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so he married, was quiet, and took part of this life.²⁶ But Alcimus, perceiving the love that was betwixt them, and considering the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius, and told him that Nicanor was not well affected toward the state; for that he had ordained Yahawadah, a traitor to his realm, to be the king's successor.²⁷ Then the king being in a rage, and provoked with the accusations of the most wicked man, wrote to Nicanor, signifying that he was much displeased with the covenants, and commanding him that he should send Maccabeus prisoner in all haste to Antioch.²⁸ When this came to Nicanor's hearing, he was much confounded in himself, and took it grievously that he should make void the articles which were agreed upon, the man being in no fault.²⁹ But because there was no dealing against the king, he watched his time to accomplish this thing by policy.³⁰ Notwithstanding, when Maccabeus saw that Nicanor began to be churlish to him, and that he entreated him more roughly than he was wont, perceiving that such sour behaviour came not of good, he gathered together not a few of his men, and withdrew himself from Nicanor.³¹ But the other, knowing that he was notably prevented by Yahawadah's policy, came into the great and holy temple, and commanded the priests, that were offering their usual sacrifices, to deliver him the man.³² And when they swore that they could not tell where the man was whom he sought,³³ He stretched out his right hand toward the temple, and made an oath in this manner: If you will not deliver me Yahawadah as a prisoner, I will lay this temple of Alahayam even with the ground, and I will break down the altar, and erect a notable temple to Bacchus.³⁴ After these words he departed. Then the priests lifted up their hands toward heaven, and besought him that was ever a defender of their nation, saying in this manner;³⁵ You, O Adanay of all things, who have need of nothing, were pleased that the temple of your habitation should be among us:³⁶ Therefore now, O holy Adanay of all holiness, keep this house ever undefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop every unrighteous mouth.³⁷ Now was there accused to Nicanor one Razis, one of the elders of Yarawashalam, a lover of his countrymen, and a man of very good report, who for his kindness was called a father of the Jews.³⁸ For in the former times, when they mingled not themselves with the Gentiles, he had been accused of Judaism, and did boldly jeopard his body and life with all vehemency for the religion of the Jews.³⁹ So Nicanor, willing to declare the hate that he bore to the Jews, sent above five hundred men of war to take him:⁴⁰ For he thought by taking him to do the Jews much hurt.⁴¹ Now when the multitude would have taken the tower, and violently broken into the outer door, and bade that fire should be brought to burn it, he being ready to be taken on every side fell upon his sword;⁴² Choosing rather to die manfully, than to come into the hands of the wicked, to be abused otherwise than beseemed his noble birth:⁴³ But missing his stroke through haste, the multitude also rushing within the doors, he ran boldly up to the wall, and cast himself down manfully among the thickest of them.⁴⁴ But they quickly giving back, and a space being made, he fell down into the midst of the void place.⁴⁵ Nevertheless, while there was yet breath within him, being inflamed with anger, he rose up; and though his blood gushed out like spouts of water, and his wounds were grievous, yet he ran through the midst of the throng; and standing upon a steep rock,⁴⁶ When as his blood was now quite gone, he plucked out his bowels, and taking them in both his hands, he cast them upon the throng, and calling upon the Adanay of life and spirit to restore him those again, he thus died.

15 But Nicanor, hearing that Yahawadah and his company were in the strong places about Samaritan, resolved without any danger to set upon them on the sabbath day.² Nevertheless the Jews that were compelled to go with him said, O destroy not so cruelly and barbarously, but give honour to that day, which he, that sees all things, has honoured with holiness above all other days.³ Then the most ungracious wretch demanded, if there were a Mighty one in heaven, that had commanded the sabbath day to be kept.⁴ And when they said, There is in heaven a living Adanay, and mighty, who commanded the seventh day to be kept:⁵ Then said the other, And I also am mighty upon earth, and I command to take arms, and to do the king's business. Yet he obtained not to have his wicked will done.⁶ So Nicanor in exceeding pride and haughtiness determined to set up a publick monument of his victory over Yahawadah and them that were with him.⁷ But Maccabeus had ever sure confidence that the Adanay would help him:⁸ Therefore he exhorted his people not to fear the coming of the heathen against them, but to remember the help which in former times they had received from heaven, and now to expect the victory and aid, which should come to them from the Shaday.⁹ And so comforting them out of the law and the prophets, and withal putting them in mind of the battles that they won afore, he made them more cheerful.¹⁰ And when he had stirred up their minds, he gave them their charge, shewing them therewithall the falsehood of the heathen, and the breach of oaths.¹¹ Thus he armed every one of them, not so much with defence of shields and spears, as with comfortable and good words: and beside that, he told them a dream worthy to be believed, as if it had been so indeed, which did not a little rejoice them.¹² And this was his vision: That Onias, who had been high priest, a virtuous and a good man, reverend in conversation, gentle in condition, well spoken also, and exercised from a child in all points of virtue, holding up his hands prayed for the whole body of the Jews.¹³ This done, in like manner there appeared a man with gray hairs, and exceeding glorious, who was of a wonderful and excellent majesty.¹⁴ Then Onias answered, saying, This is a lover of the brethren, who prays much for the people, and for the holy city, to wit, Jeremias the prophet of Alahayam.¹⁵ Whereupon Jeremias holding forth his right hand gave to Yahawadah a sword of gold, and in giving it spoke thus,¹⁶ Take this holy sword, a gift from Alahayam, with the which you shall wound the adversaries.¹⁷ Thus being well comforted by the words of Yahawadah, which were very good, and able to stir them up to valour, and to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined not to pitch camp, but courageously to set upon them, and manfully to try the matter by conflict, because the city and the sanctuary and the temple were in danger.¹⁸ For the care that they took for their wives, and their children, their brethren, and folks, was in least account with them: but the greatest and principal fear was for the holy temple.¹⁹ Also they that were in the city took not the least care, being troubled for the conflict abroad.²⁰ And now, when as all looked what should be the trial, and the enemies were already come near, and the army was set in array, and the beasts conveniently placed, and the horsemen set in wings,²¹ Maccabeus seeing the coming of the multitude, and the divers preparations of armour, and the fierceness of the beasts, stretched out his hands toward heaven, and called upon the Adanay that works wonders, knowing that victory comes not by arms, but even as it seems good to him, he gives it to such as are worthy:²² Therefore in his prayer he said after this manner; O Adanay, you did send your angel in the time of Ezekias king of Yahawadah, and did slay in the host of Sanacharayab an hundred fourscore and five thousand:²³ Therefore now also, O Adanay of heaven, send a good angel before us for a fear and dread to them;²⁴ And through the might of your arm let those be stricken with terror, that come against your holy people to blaspheme. And he ended thus.²⁵ Then Nicanor and they that were with him came forward with trumpets and songs.²⁶ But Yahawadah and his company encountered the enemies with invocation and prayer.²⁷ So that fighting with their hands, and praying to Alahayam with their hearts, they slew no less than thirty and five thousand men: for through the appearance of Alahayam they were greatly cheered.²⁸ Now when the battle was done, returning again with joy, they knew that Nicanor lay dead in his harness.²⁹ Then they made a great shout and a noise, praising the Shaday in their own language.³⁰ And Yahawadah, who was ever the chief defender of the citizens both in body and mind, and who continued his love toward his countrymen all his life, commanded to strike off Nicanor's head, and his hand with his shoulder, and bring them to Yarawashalam.³¹ So when he was there, and called them of his nation together, and set the priests before the altar, he sent for them that were of the tower,³² And showed them vile Nicanor's head, and the hand of that blasphemer, which with proud brags he had stretched out against the holy temple of the Shaday.³³ And when he had cut out the tongue of that ungodly Nicanor, he commanded that they should give it by pieces to the fowls, and hang up the reward of his madness before the temple.³⁴ So every man praised toward the heaven the glorious Adanay, saying, Blessed be he that has kept his own place undefiled.³⁵ He hanged also Nicanor's head upon the tower, an evident and manifest sign to all of the help of the Adanay.³⁶ And they ordained all with a common decree in no case to let that day pass without solemnity, but to celebrate the thirtieth day of the twelfth month, which in the Syrian tongue is called Adar, the day before Mardocheus' day.³⁷ Thus went it with Nicanor: and from that time forth the Hebrews had the city in their power. And here will I make an end.³⁸ And if I have done well, and as is fitting the story, it is that which I desired: but if slenderly and meanly, it is that which I could attain to.³⁹ For as it is hurtful to drink wine or water alone; and as wine mingled with water is pleasant, and delights the taste: even so speech finely framed delights the ears of them that read the story. And here shall be an end.

1 The words of the blessing of Chanawak, wherewith he blessed the elect and righteous, who will be living in the day of tribulation, when all the wicked and godless are to be removed. ² And he took up his parable and said--Chanawak a righteous man, whose eyes were opened by Alahayam, saw the vision of the Holy One in the heavens, which the angels showed me, and from them I heard everything, and from them I understood as I saw, but not for this generation, but for a remote one which is for to come. ³ Concerning the elect I said, and took up my parable concerning them: The Holy Great One will come forth from His dwelling, ⁴ And the eternal Alahayam will tread upon the earth, (even) on Mount Sayanay, And appear from His camp And appear in the strength of His might from the heaven of heavens. ⁵ And all shall be smitten with fear And the Watchers shall quake, And great fear and trembling shall seize them to the ends of the earth. ⁶ And the high mountains shall be shaken, And the high hills shall be made low, And shall melt like wax before the flame ⁷ And the earth shall be wholly rent in sunder, And all that is upon the earth shall perish, And there shall be a judgement upon all (men). ⁸ But with the righteous He will make peace. And will protect the elect, And mercy shall be upon them. And they shall all belong to Alahayam, And they shall be prospered, And they shall all be blessed. And He will help them all, And light shall appear to them, And He will make peace with them. ⁹ And behold! He comes with ten thousands of His holy ones To execute judgement upon all, And to destroy all the ungodly: And to convict all flesh Of all the works of their ungodliness which they have ungodly committed, And of all the hard things which ungodly sinners have spoken against Him.

2 Observe you everything that takes place in the heaven, how they do not change their orbits, and the luminaries which are in the heaven, how they all rise and set in order each in its season, and transgress not against their appointed order. ² Behold you the earth, and give heed to the things which take place upon it from first to last, how steadfast they are, how none of the things upon earth change, but all the works of Alahayam appear to you. ³ Behold the summer and the winter, how the whole earth is filled with water, and clouds and dew and rain lie upon it.

3 Observe and see how (in the winter) all the trees seem as though they had withered and shed all their leaves, except fourteen trees, which do not lose their foliage but retain the old foliage from two to three years till the new comes.

4 And again, observe you the days of summer how the sun is above the earth over against it. And you seek shade and shelter by reason of the heat of the sun, and the earth also burns with growing heat, and so you cannot tread on the earth, or on a rock by reason of its heat.

5 Observe you how the trees cover themselves with green leaves and bear fruit: therefore give you heed and know with regard to all His works, and recognize how He that lives for ever has made them so. ² And all His works go on thus from year to year for ever, and all the tasks which they accomplish for Him, and ■their tasks■ change not, but according as Alahayam has ordained so is it done. ³ And behold how the sea and the rivers in like manner accomplish and change not their tasks from His commandments. ⁴ But you--you have not been steadfast, nor done the commandments of the Adanay, But you have turned away and spoken proud and hard words With your impure mouths against His greatness. Oh, you hard-hearted, you shall find no peace. ⁵ Therefore shall you execrate your days, And the years of your life shall perish, And the years of your destruction shall be multiplied in eternal execration, And you shall find no mercy. [5:6a] In those days you shall make your names an eternal execration to all the righteous, b. And by you shall all who curse, curse, And all the sinners and godless shall imprecate by you, [5:7c] And for you the godless there shall be a curse. [5:6d] And all the . . . shall rejoice, e. And there shall be forgiveness of sins, f. And every mercy and peace and forbearance: g. There shall be salvation to them, a goodly light. i. And for all of you sinners there shall be no salvation, j But on you all shall abide a curse. [5:7a] But for the elect there shall be light and joy and peace, b. And they shall inherit the earth. ⁸ And then there shall be bestowed upon the elect wisdom, And they shall all live and never again sin, Either through ungodliness or through pride: But they who are wise shall be humble. ⁹ And they shall not again transgress, Nor shall they sin all the days of their life, Nor shall they die of (the divine) anger or wrath, But they shall complete the number of the days of their life. And their lives shall be increased in peace, And the years of their joy shall be multiplied, In eternal gladness and peace, All the days of their life.

6 And it came to pass when the children of men had multiplied that in those days were born to them beautiful and comely daughters. ² And the angels, the children of the heaven, saw and lusted after them, and said to one another: 'Come, let us choose us wives from among the children of men and beget us children.' ³ And Semjâzâ, who was their leader, said to them: 'I fear you will not indeed agree to do this deed, and I alone shall have to pay the penalty of a great sin.' ⁴ And they all answered him and said: 'Let us all swear an oath, and all bind ourselves by mutual imprecations not to abandon this plan but to do this thing.' ⁵ Then swore they all together and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. ⁶ And they were in all two hundred; who descended in the days of Yarad on the summit of Mount Charamawan, and they called it Mount Charamawan, because they had sworn and bound themselves by mutual imprecations upon it. ⁷ And these are the names of their leaders: Sêmîazâz, their leader, Arâkîba, Râmêêl, Kôkabîêl, Tâmiêl, Râmîêl, Dânêl, Êzêqêêl, Barâqîjâl, Asâêl, Armârôs, Batârêl, Anânêl, Zaqîêl, Samsâpêêl, Satarêl, Tûrêl, Jômjâêl, Sariêl. ⁸ These are their chiefs of tens.

7 And all the others together with them took to themselves wives, and each chose for himself one, and they began to go in to them and to defile themselves with them, and they taught them charms and enchantments, and the cutting of roots, and made them acquainted with plants. ² And they became pregnant, and they bore great giants, whose height was three thousand ells: ³ Who consumed all the acquisitions of men. And when men could no longer sustain them, ⁴ the giants turned against them and devoured mankind. ⁵ And they began to sin against birds, and beasts, and reptiles, and fish, and to devour one another's flesh, and drink the blood. ⁶ Then the earth laid accusation against the lawless ones.

8 And Azâzêl taught men to make swords, and knives, and shields, and breastplates, and made known to them the metals of the earth and the art of working them, and bracelets, and ornaments, and the use of antimony, and the beautifying of the eyelids, and all kinds of costly stones, and all colouring tinctures. ² And there arose much godlessness, and they committed fornication, and they were led astray, and became corrupt in all their ways. Semjâzâ taught enchantments, and root-cuttings, Armârôs the resolving of enchantments, Barâqîjâl, (taught) astrology, Kôkabêl the constellations, Ezêqêêl the knowledge of the clouds, Araqiêl the signs of the earth, Shamsiêl the signs of the sun, and Sariêl the course of the moon. And as men perished, they cried, and their cry went up to heaven . . .

9 And then Mayakaal, Awarayaal, Raphael, and Gabarayaal looked down from heaven and saw much blood being shed upon the earth, and all lawlessness being wrought upon the earth.² And they said one to another: 'The earth made without inhabitant cries the voice of their crying up to the gates of heaven.'³ And now to you, the holy ones of heaven, the souls of men make their suit, saying, 'Bring our cause before the Ilayawan.'⁴ And they said to the Adanay of the ages: 'Adanay of lords, Alahayam of gods, King of kings, and Alahayam of the ages, the throne of Your glory (stands) to all the generations of the ages, and Your name holy and glorious and blessed to all the ages!⁵ You have made all things, and power over all things have you: and all things are naked and open in Your sight, and You see all things, and nothing can hide itself from You.⁶ You see what Azâzêl has done, who has taught all unrighteousness on earth and revealed the eternal secrets which were (preserved) in heaven, which men were striving to learn:⁷ And Semjâzâ, to whom You have given authority to bear rule over his associates.⁸ And they have gone to the daughters of men upon the earth, and have slept with the women, and have defiled themselves, and revealed to them all kinds of sins.⁹ And the women have borne giants, and the whole earth has thereby been filled with blood and unrighteousness.¹⁰ And now, behold, the souls of those who have died are crying and making their suit to the gates of heaven, and their lamentations have ascended: and cannot cease because of the lawless deeds which are wrought on the earth.¹¹ And You know all things before they come to pass, and You see these things and You do suffer them, and You do not say to us what we are to do to them in regard to these.'

10 Then said the Ilayawan, the Holy and Great One spoke, and sent Awarayaal to the son of Lamak, and said to him: ² 'Go to Nach and tell him in my name "Hide yourself!" and reveal to him the end that is approaching: that the whole earth will be destroyed, and a deluge is about to come upon the whole earth, and will destroy all that is on it.³ And now instruct him that he may escape and his seed may be preserved for all the generations of the world.'⁴ And again the Adanay said to Raphael: 'Bind Azâzêl hand and foot, and cast him into the darkness: and make an opening in the desert, which is in Dûdâêl, and cast him therein.⁵ And place upon him rough and jagged rocks, and cover him with darkness, and let him abide there for ever, and cover his face that he may not see light.⁶ And on the day of the great judgement he shall be cast into the fire. And heal the earth which the angels have corrupted, and proclaim the healing of the earth, that they may heal the plague, and that all the children of men may not perish through all the secret things that the Watchers have disclosed and have taught their sons.⁸ And the whole earth has been corrupted through the works that were taught by Azâzêl: to him ascribe all sin.'⁹ And to Gabarayaal said the Adanay: 'Proceed against the bastards and the reprobates, and against the children of fornication: and destroy the children of fornication and the children of the Watchers from amongst men and cause them to go forth: send them one against the other that they may destroy each other in battle: for length of days shall they not have.¹⁰ And no request that they (i.e. their fathers) make of you shall be granted to their fathers on their behalf; for they hope to live an eternal life, and that each one of them will live five hundred years.'¹¹ And the Adanay said to Mayakaal: 'Go, bind Semjâzâ and his associates who have united themselves with women so as to have defiled themselves with them in all their uncleanness.¹² And when their sons have slain one another, and they have seen the destruction of their beloved ones, bind them fast for seventy generations in the valleys of the earth, till the day of their judgement and of their consummation, till the judgement that is for ever and ever is consummated.¹³ In those days they shall be led off to the abyss of fire: and to the torment and the prison in which they shall be confined for ever. And whosoever shall be condemned and destroyed will from thenceforth be bound together with them to the end of all generations.¹⁵ And destroy all the spirits of the reprobate and the children of the Watchers, because they have wronged mankind. Destroy all wrong from the face of the earth and let every evil work come to an end: and let the plant of righteousness and truth appear: and it shall prove a blessing; the works of righteousness and truth shall be planted in truth and joy for evermore.¹⁷ And then shall all the righteous escape, And shall live till they beget thousands of children, And all the days of their youth and their old age shall they complete in peace.¹⁸ And then shall the whole earth be tilled in righteousness, and shall all be planted with trees and be full of blessing.¹⁹ And all desirable trees shall be planted on it, and they shall plant vines on it: and the vine which they plant thereon shall yield wine in abundance, and as for all the seed which is sown thereon each measure (of it) shall bear a thousand, and each measure of olives shall yield ten presses of oil.²⁰ And cleanse you the earth from all oppression, and from all unrighteousness, and from all sin, and from all godlessness: and all the uncleanness that is wrought upon the earth destroy from off the earth.²¹ And all the children of men shall become righteous, and all nations shall offer adoration and shall praise Me, and all shall worship Me. And the earth shall be cleansed from all defilement, and from all sin, and from all punishment, and from all torment, and I will never again send (them) upon it from generation to generation and for ever.

11 And in those days I will open the store chambers of blessing which are in the heaven, so as to send them down upon the earth over the work and labour of the children of men.² And truth and peace shall be associated together throughout all the days of the world and throughout all the generations of men.'

12 Before these things Chanawak was hidden, and no one of the children of men knew where he was hidden, and where he abode, and what had become of him.² And his activities had to do with the Watchers, and his days were with the holy ones.³ And I, Chanawak was blessing the Adanay of majesty and the King of the ages, and lo! the Watchers called me--Chanawak the scribe--and said to me:⁴ 'Chanawak, you scribe of righteousness, go, declare to the Watchers of the heaven who have left the high heaven, the holy eternal place, and have defiled themselves with women, and have done as the children of earth do, and have taken to themselves wives: "You have wrought great destruction on the earth:⁵ And you shall have no peace nor forgiveness of sin: and inasmuch as they delight themselves in their children,⁶ The murder of their beloved ones shall they see, and over the destruction of their children shall they lament, and shall make supplication to eternity, but mercy and peace shall you not attain.'"

13 And Chanawak went and said: 'Azâzêl, you shall have no peace: a severe sentence has gone forth against you to put you in bonds:² And you shall not have toleration nor request granted to you, because of the unrighteousness which you have taught, and because of all the works of godlessness and unrighteousness and sin which you have shown to men.'³ Then I went and spoke to them all together, and they were all afraid, and fear and trembling seized them.⁴ And they besought me to draw up a petition for them that they might find forgiveness, and to read their petition in the presence of the Adanay of heaven.⁵ For from thenceforward they could not speak (with Him) nor lift up their eyes to heaven for shame of their sins for which they had been condemned.⁶ Then I wrote out their petition, and the prayer in regard to their spirits and their deeds individually and in regard to their requests that they should have forgiveness and length of days.⁷ And I went off and sat down at the waters of Wadan, in the land of Wadan, to the south of the west of Charamawan: I read their petition till I fell asleep.⁸ And behold a dream came to me, and visions fell down upon me, and I saw visions of chastisement, and a voice came bidding (me) I to tell it to the sons of heaven, and reprimand them.⁹ And when I awaked, I came to them, and they were all sitting gathered together, weeping in 'Abelsjâil, which is between Labanawan and Sênêsêr, with their faces covered.¹⁰ And I recounted before them all the visions which I had seen in sleep, and I began to speak the words of righteousness, and to reprimand the heavenly Watchers.

14 The book of the words of righteousness, and of the reprimand of the eternal Watchers in accordance with the command of the Holy Great One in that vision. ² I saw in my sleep what I will now say with a tongue of flesh and with the breath of my mouth: which the Great One has given to men to converse therewith and understand with the heart. ³ As He has created and given to man the power of understanding the word of wisdom, so has He created me also and given me the power of reprimanding the Watchers, the children of heaven. ⁴ I wrote out your petition, and in my vision it appeared thus, that your petition will not be granted to you throughout all the days of eternity, and that judgement has been finally passed upon you: yea (your petition) will not be granted to you. ⁵ And from henceforth you shall not ascend into heaven to all eternity, and in bonds of the earth the decree has gone forth to bind you for all the days of the world. ⁶ And (that) previously you shall have seen the destruction of your beloved sons and you shall have no pleasure in them, but they shall fall before you by the sword. ⁷ And your petition on their behalf shall not be granted, nor yet on your own: even though you weep and pray and speak all the words contained in the writing which I have written. ⁸ And the vision was shown to me thus: Behold, in the vision clouds invited me and a mist summoned me, and the course of the stars and the lightnings sped and hastened me, and the winds in the vision caused me to fly and lifted me upward, and bore me into heaven. ⁹ And I went in till I drew nigh to a wall which is built of crystals and surrounded by tongues of fire: and it began to affright me. And I went into the tongues of fire and drew nigh to a large house which was built of crystals: and the walls of the house were like a tessellated floor (made) of crystals, and its groundwork was of crystal. ¹¹ Its ceiling was like the path of the stars and the lightnings, and between them were fiery cherubim, and their heaven was (clear as) water. ¹² A flaming fire surrounded the walls, and its portals blazed with fire. ¹³ And I entered into that house, and it was hot as fire and cold as ice: there were no delights of life therein: fear covered me, and trembling got hold upon me. ¹⁴ And as I quaked and trembled, I fell upon my face. ¹⁵ And I beheld a vision, And lo! there was a second house, greater than the former, and the entire portal stood open before me, and it was built of flames of fire. ¹⁶ And in every respect it so excelled in splendour and magnificence and extent that I cannot describe to you its splendour and its extent. ¹⁷ And its floor was of fire, and above it were lightnings and the path of the stars, and its ceiling also was flaming fire. ¹⁸ And I looked and saw therein a lofty throne: its appearance was as crystal, and the wheels thereof as the shining sun, and there was the vision of cherubim. ¹⁹ And from underneath the throne came streams of flaming fire so that I could not look thereon. ²⁰ And the Great Glory sat thereon, and His raiment shone more brightly than the sun and was whiter than any snow. ²¹ None of the angels could enter and could behold His face by reason of the magnificence and glory and no flesh could behold Him. ²² The flaming fire was round about Him, and a great fire stood before Him, and none around could draw nigh Him: ten thousand times ten thousand (stood) before Him, yet He needed no counselor. ²³ And the most holy ones who were nigh to Him did not leave by night nor depart from Him. ²⁴ And until then I had been prostrate on my face, trembling: and the Adanay called me with His own mouth, and said to me: 'Come here, Chanawak, and hear my word.' ²⁵ And one of the holy ones came to me and waked me, and He made me rise up and approach the door: and I bowed my face downwards.

15 And He answered and said to me, and I heard His voice: 'Fear not, Chanawak, you righteous man and scribe of righteousness: approach here and hear my voice. ² And go, say to the Watchers of heaven, who have sent you to intercede for them: "You should intercede" for men, and not men for you: ³ Therefore have you left the high, holy, and eternal heaven, and lain with women, and defiled yourselves with the daughters of men and taken to yourselves wives, and done like the children of earth, and begotten giants (as your) sons? ⁴ And though you were holy, spiritual, living the eternal life, you have defiled yourselves with the blood of women, and have begotten (children) with the blood of flesh, and, as the children of men, have lusted after flesh and blood as those also do who die and perish. ⁵ Therefore have I given them wives also that they might impregnate them, and beget children by them, that thus nothing might be wanting to them on earth. ⁶ But you were formerly spiritual, living the eternal life, and immortal for all generations of the world. ⁷ And therefore I have not appointed wives for you; for as for the spiritual ones of the heaven, in heaven is their dwelling. ⁸ And now, the giants, who are produced from the spirits and flesh, shall be called evil spirits upon the earth, and on the earth shall be their dwelling. ⁹ Awayal spirits have proceeded from their bodies; because they are born from men, and from the holy Watchers is their beginning and primal origin; they shall be evil spirits on earth, and evil spirits shall they be called. ¹⁰ As for the spirits of heaven, in heaven shall be their dwelling, but as for the spirits of the earth which were born upon the earth, on the earth shall be their dwelling. ¹¹ And the spirits of the giants afflict, oppress, destroy, attack, do battle, and work destruction on the earth, and cause trouble: they take no food, but nevertheless hunger and thirst, and cause offences. And these spirits shall rise up against the children of men and against the women, because they have proceeded from them.

16 From the days of the slaughter and destruction and death of the giants, from the souls of whose flesh the spirits, having gone forth, shall destroy without incurring judgement--thus shall they destroy until the day of the consummation, the great judgement in which the age shall be consummated, over the Watchers and the godless, yea, shall be wholly consummated." ² And now as to the Watchers who have sent you to intercede for them, who had been aforesaid in heaven, (say to them): "You have been in heaven, but all the mysteries had not yet been revealed to you, and you knew worthless ones, and these in the hardness of your hearts you have made known to the women, and through these mysteries women and men work much evil on earth." ⁴ Say to them therefore: "You have no peace."

17 And they took and brought me to a place in which those who were there were like flaming fire, and, when they wished, they appeared as men. ² And they brought me to the place of darkness, and to a mountain the point of whose summit reached to heaven. ³ And I saw the places of the luminaries and the treasures of the stars and of the thunder and in the uttermost depths, where were a fiery bow and arrows and their quiver, and a fiery sword and all the lightnings. ⁴ And they took me to the living waters, and to the fire of the west, which receives every setting of the sun. ⁵ And I came to a river of fire in which the fire flows like water and discharges itself into the great sea towards the west. ⁶ I saw the great rivers and came to the great river and to the great darkness, and went to the place where no flesh walks. ⁷ I saw the mountains of the darkness of winter and the place whence all the waters of the deep flow. ⁸ I saw the mouths of all the rivers of the earth and the mouth of the deep.

18 I saw the treasures of all the winds: I saw how He had furnished with them the whole creation and the firm foundations of the earth. ² And I saw the corner-stone of the earth: I saw the four winds which bear the earth and the firmament of the heaven. ³ And I saw how the winds stretch out the vaults of heaven, and have their station between heaven and earth: these are the pillars of the heaven. ⁴ I saw the winds of heaven which turn and bring the circumference of the sun and all the stars to their setting. ⁵ I saw the winds on the earth carrying the clouds: I saw the paths of the angels. I saw at the end of the earth the firmament of the heaven above. And I proceeded and saw a place which burns day and night, where there are seven mountains of magnificent stones, three towards the east, and three towards the south. ⁷ And as for those towards the east, one was of coloured stone, and one of pearl, and one of jacinth, and those towards the south of red stone. ⁸ But the middle one reached to heaven like the throne of Alahayam, of alabaster, and the summit of the throne was of sapphire. ⁹ And I saw a flaming fire. And beyond these mountains ¹⁰ is a region the end of the great earth: there the heavens were completed.¹¹ And I saw a deep abyss, with columns of heavenly fire, and among them I saw columns of fire fall, which were beyond measure alike towards the height and towards the depth.¹² And beyond that abyss I saw a place which had no firmament of the heaven above, and no firmly founded earth beneath it: there was no water upon it, and no birds, but it was a waste and horrible place.¹³ I saw there seven stars like great burning mountains, and to me, when I inquired regarding them,¹⁴ The angel said: 'This place is the end of heaven and earth: this has become a prison for the stars and the host of heaven.¹⁵ And the stars which roll over the fire are they which have transgressed the commandment of the Adanay in the beginning of their rising, because they did not come forth at their appointed times.¹⁶ And He was wroth with them, and bound them till the time when their guilt should be consummated (even) for ten thousand years.'

19 And Awarayaal said to me: 'Here shall stand the angels who have connected themselves with women, and their spirits assuming many different forms are defiling mankind and shall lead them astray into sacrificing to demons as gods, (here shall they stand,) till the day of the great judgement in which they shall be judged till they are made an end of.² And the women also of the angels who went astray shall become sirens.'³ And I, Chanawak, alone saw the vision, the ends of all things: and no man shall see as I have seen.

20 And these are the names of the holy angels who watch.² Awarayaal, one of the holy angels, who is over the world and over Tartarus.³ Raphael, one of the holy angels, who is over the spirits of men.⁴ Raiwaal, one of the holy angels who takes vengeance on the world of the luminaries.⁵ Mayakaal, one of the holy angels, to wit, he that is set over the best part of mankind and over chaos.⁶ Saraqâel, one of the holy angels, who is set over the spirits, who sin in the spirit.⁷ Gabarayaal, one of the holy angels, who is over Paradise and the serpents and the Cherubim.⁸ Remiel, one of the holy angels, whom Alahayam set over those who rise.

21 And I proceeded to where things were chaotic.² And I saw there something horrible: I saw neither a heaven above nor a firmly founded earth, but a place chaotic and horrible.³ And there I saw seven stars of the heaven bound together in it, like great mountains and burning with fire.⁴ Then I said: 'For what sin are they bound, and on what account have they been cast in here?'⁵ Then said Awarayaal, one of the holy angels, who was with me, and was chief over them, and said: 'Chanawak, why do you ask, and why are you eager for the truth?'⁶ These are of the number of the stars of heaven, which have transgressed the commandment of the Adanay, and are bound here till ten thousand years, the time entailed by their sins, are consummated.'⁷ And from thence I went to another place, which was still more horrible than the former, and I saw a horrible thing: a great fire there which burnt and blazed, and the place was cleft as far as the abyss, being full of great descending columns of fire: neither its extent or magnitude could I see, nor could I conjecture.⁸ Then I said: 'How fearful is the place and how terrible to look upon!'⁹ Then Awarayaal answered me, one of the holy angels who was with me, and said to me: 'Chanawak, why have you such fear and affright?' And I answered: 'Because of this fearful place, and because of the spectacle of the pain.'¹⁰ And he said to me: 'This place is the prison of the angels, and here they will be imprisoned for ever.'

22 And thence I went to another place, and he showed me in the west another great and high mountain and of hard rock. *E*² And there was in it four hollow places, deep and wide and very smooth. How smooth are the hollow places and deep and dark to look at. *Gg*³ Then Raphael answered, one of the holy angels who was with me, and said to me: 'These hollow places have been created for this very purpose, that the spirits of the souls of the dead should assemble therein, yea that all the souls of the children of men should assemble here. And these places have been made to receive them till the day of their judgement and till their appointed period ■till the period appointed■, till the great judgement (comes) upon them.'⁵ E I saw the spirits of the children of men who were dead, and their voice went forth to heaven and made suit.⁶ Then I asked Raphael the angel who was with me, and I said to him: 'This spirit--whose is it whose voice goes forth and makes suit?' *Gg*⁷ And he answered me saying: 'This is the spirit which went forth from Habal, whom his brother Qayan slew, and he makes his suit against him till his seed is destroyed from the face of the earth, and his seed is annihilated from amongst the seed of men.'⁸ E Then I asked regarding it, and regarding all the hollow places: 'Why is one separated from the other?'⁹ And he answered me and said to me: 'These three have been made that the spirits of the dead might be separated. And such a division has been made for the spirits of the righteous, in which there is the bright spring of water.¹⁰ And such has been made for sinners when they die and are buried in the earth and judgement has not been executed on them in their lifetime.¹¹ Here their spirits shall be set apart in this great pain till the great day of judgement and punishment and torment of those who curse for ever, and retribution for their spirits. There He shall bind them for ever.'¹² And such a division has been made for the spirits of those who make their suit, who make disclosures concerning their destruction, when they were slain in the days of the sinners.¹³ Such has been made for the spirits of men who were not righteous but sinners, who were complete in transgression, and of the transgressors. they shall be companions: but their spirits shall not be slain in the day of judgement nor shall they be raised from thence.¹⁴ Then I blessed the Adanay of glory and said: 'Blessed be my Adanay, the Adanay of righteousness, who rules for ever.'¹⁵ Gg

23 From thence I went to another place to the west of the ends of the earth.² And I saw a burning fire which ran without resting, and paused not from its course day or night but (ran) regularly.³ And I asked saying: 'What is this which rests not?'⁴ Then Raiwaal, one of the holy angels who was with me, answered me and said to me: 'This course of fire which you have seen is the fire in the west which persecutes all the luminaries of heaven.'

24 And from thence I went to another place of the earth, and he showed me a mountain range of fire which burnt day and night.² And I went beyond it and saw seven magnificent mountains all differing each from the other, and the stones (thereof) were magnificent and beautiful, magnificent as a whole, of glorious appearance and fair exterior: three towards the east, one founded on the other, and three towards the south, one upon the other, and deep rough ravines, no one of which joined with any other.³ And the seventh mountain was in the midst of these, and it excelled them in height, resembling the seat of a throne: and fragrant trees encircled the throne.⁴ And amongst them was a tree such as I had never yet smelt, neither was any amongst them nor were others like it: it had a fragrance beyond all fragrance, and its leaves and blooms and wood wither not for ever: and its fruit is beautiful, and its fruit resembles the dates of a palm.⁵ Then I said: 'How beautiful is this tree, and fragrant, and its leaves are fair, and its blooms very delightful in appearance.'⁶ Then answered Mayakaal, one of the holy and honoured angels who was with me, and was their leader.

25 And he said to me: 'Chanawak, why do you ask me regarding the fragrance of the tree, and why do you wish to learn the truth?' Then I answered him saying: 'I wish to know about everything, but especially about this tree.' And he answered saying: 'This high mountain which you have seen, whose summit is like the throne of Alahayam, is His throne, where the Holy Great One, the Adanay of Glory, the Eternal King, will sit, when He shall come down to visit the earth with goodness.⁴ And as for this fragrant tree no mortal is permitted to touch it till the great judgement, when He shall take vengeance on all and bring (everything) to its consummation for ever. It shall then be given to the righteous and holy.⁵ Its fruit shall be for food to the elect: it shall be transplanted to the holy place, to the temple of the Adanay, the Eternal King.⁶ Then shall they rejoice with joy and be glad, And into the holy place shall they enter; And its fragrance shall be in their bones, And they shall live a long life on earth, Such as your fathers lived: And in their days shall no sorrow or plague Or torment or calamity touch them.'

26 And I went from thence to the middle of the earth, and I saw a blessed place in which there were trees with branches abiding and blooming of a dismembered tree. ² And there I saw a holy mountain, and underneath the mountain to the east there was a stream and it flowed towards the south. ³ And I saw towards the east another mountain higher than this, and between them a deep and narrow ravine: in it also ran a stream underneath the mountain. ⁴ And to the west thereof there was another mountain, lower than the former and of small elevation, and a ravine deep and dry between them: and another deep and dry ravine was at the extremities of the three mountains. ⁵ And all the ravines were deep and narrow, (being formed) of hard rock, and trees were not planted upon them. ⁶ And I marvelled at the rocks, and I marvelled at the ravine, yea, I marvelled very much.

27 Then said I: 'For what object is this blessed land, which is entirely filled with trees, and this accursed valley between?' ² Then Awarayaal, one of the holy angels who was with me, answered and said: 'This accursed valley is for those who are accursed for ever: here shall all the accursed be gathered together who utter with their lips against the Adanay unseemly words and of His glory speak hard things. E Here shall they be gathered together, and here shall be their place of judgement. ³ In the last days there shall be upon them the spectacle of righteous judgement in the presence of the righteous for ever: here shall the merciful bless the Adanay of glory, the Eternal King. Gg Here shall they be gathered together, and here shall be the place of their habitation. ⁴ In the days of judgement over the former, they shall bless Him for the mercy in accordance with which He has assigned them (their lot).' ⁵ Then I blessed the Adanay of Glory and set forth His glory and lauded Him gloriously.

28 And thence I went towards the east, into the midst of the mountain range of the desert, and I saw a wilderness and it was solitary, full of trees and plants. ² And water gushed forth from above. ³ Rushing like a copious watercourse which flowed towards the north-west it caused clouds and dew to ascend on every side.

29 And thence I went to another place in the desert, and approached to the east of this mountain range. ² And there I saw aromatic trees exhaling the fragrance of frankincense and myrrh, and the trees also were similar to the almond tree.

30 And beyond these, I went afar to the east, and I saw another place, a valley (full) of water. ² And therein there was a tree, the colour (?) of fragrant trees such as the mastic. ³ And on the sides of those valleys I saw fragrant cinnamon. And beyond these I proceeded to the east.

31 And I saw other mountains, and amongst them were ■groves of ■ trees, and there flowed forth from them nectar, which is named sarara and galbanum. ² And beyond these mountains I saw another mountain to the east of the ends of the earth, whereon were aloë trees, and all the trees were full of stacte, being like almond-trees. ³ And when one burnt it, it smelt sweeter than any fragrant odour. E

32 And after these fragrant odours, as I looked towards the north over the mountains I saw seven mountains full of choice nard and fragrant trees and cinnamon and pepper. Gg ² And thence I went over the summits of all these mountains, far towards the east ■of the earth■, and passed above the Erythraean sea and went far from it, and passed over the angel Zotiël. E ³ And I came to the Garden of Righteousness, and saw beyond those trees many large trees growing there and of goodly fragrance, large, very beautiful and glorious, and the tree of wisdom whereof they eat and know great wisdom. Gg ⁴ That tree is in height like the fir, and its leaves are like (those of) the Carob tree: and its fruit is like the clusters of the vine, very beautiful: and the fragrance of the tree penetrates afar. ⁵ Then I said: 'How beautiful is the tree, and how attractive is its look!' ⁶ Then Raphael the holy angel, who was with me, answered me and said: 'This is the tree of wisdom, of which your father old (in years) and your aged mother, who were before you, have eaten, and they learnt wisdom and their eyes were opened, and they knew that they were naked and they were driven out of the garden.'

33 And from thence I went to the ends of the earth and saw there great beasts, and each differed from the other; and (I saw) birds also differing in appearance and beauty and voice, the one differing from the other. ² And to the east of those beasts I saw the ends of the earth whereon the heaven rests, and the portals of the heaven open. ³ And I saw how the stars of heaven come forth, and I counted the portals out of which they proceed, and wrote down all their outlets, of each individual star by itself, according to their number and their names, their courses and their positions, and their times and their months, as Awarayaal the holy angel who was with me showed me. ⁴ He showed all things to me and wrote them down for me: also their names he wrote for me, and their laws and their companies.

34 And from thence I went towards the north to the ends of the earth, and there I saw a great and glorious device at the ends of the whole earth. ² And here I saw three portals of heaven open in the heaven: through each of them proceed north winds: when they blow there is cold, hail, frost, snow, dew, and rain. ³ And out of one portal they blow for good: but when they blow through the other two portals, it is with violence and affliction on the earth, and they blow with violence.

35 And from thence I went towards the west to the ends of the earth, and saw there three portals of the heaven open such as I had seen in the east, the same number of portals, and the same number of outlets.

36 And from thence I went to the south to the ends of the earth, and saw there three open portals of the heaven: and thence there come dew, rain, and wind. ² And from thence I went to the east to the ends of the heaven, and saw here the three eastern portals of heaven open and small portals above them. ³ Through each of these small portals pass the stars of heaven and run their course to the west on the path which is shown to them. ⁴ And as often as I saw I blessed always the Adanay of Glory, and I continued to bless the Adanay of Glory who has wrought great and glorious wonders, to show the greatness of His work to the angels and to spirits and to men, that they might praise His work and all His creation: that they might see the work of His might and praise the great work of His hands and bless Him for ever.

37 The second vision which he saw, the vision of wisdom--which Chanawak the son of Yarad, the son of Mahalalal, the son of Qayanan, the son of Anawash, the son of Shath, the son of Adam, saw. ² And this is the beginning of the words of wisdom which I lifted up my voice to speak and say to those which dwell on earth: Hear, you men of old time, and see, you that come after, the words of the Holy One which I will speak before the Adanay of Spirits. ³ It were better to declare (them only) to the men of old time, but even from those that come after we will not withhold the beginning of wisdom. ⁴ Till the present day such wisdom has never been given by the Adanay of Spirits as I have received according to my insight, according to the good pleasure of the Adanay of Spirits by whom the lot of eternal life has been given to me. ⁵ Now three parables were imparted to me, and I lifted up my voice and recounted them to those that dwell on the earth.

38 The First Parable. When the congregation of the righteous shall appear, And sinners shall be judged for their sins, And shall be driven from the face of the earth: ² And when the Righteous One shall appear before the eyes of the righteous, Whose elect works hang upon the Adanay of Spirits, And light shall appear to the righteous and the elect who dwell on the earth, Where then will be the dwelling of the sinners, And where the resting-place of those who have denied the Adanay of Spirits? It had been good for them if they had not been born.³ When the secrets of the righteous shall be revealed and the sinners judged, And the godless driven from the presence of the righteous and elect,⁴ From that time those that possess the earth shall no longer be powerful and exalted: And they shall not be able to behold the face of the holy, For the Adanay of Spirits has caused His light to appear On the face of the holy, righteous, and elect.⁵ Then shall the kings and the mighty perish And be given into the hands of the righteous and holy.⁶ And thenceforward none shall seek for themselves mercy from the Adanay of Spirits For their life is at an end.

39 And it shall come to pass in those days that elect and holy children will descend from the high heaven, and their seed will become one with the children of men.² And in those days Chanawak received books of zeal and wrath, and books of disquiet and expulsion. And mercy shall not be accorded to them, says the Adanay of Spirits.³ And in those days a whirlwind carried me off from the earth, And set me down at the end of the heavens.⁴ And there I saw another vision, the dwelling-places of the holy, And the resting-places of the righteous.⁵ Here mine eyes saw their dwellings with His righteous angels, And their resting-places with the holy. And they petitioned and interceded and prayed for the children of men, And righteousness flowed before them as water, And mercy like dew upon the earth: Thus it is amongst them for ever and ever. [39:6a] And in that place mine eyes saw the Elect One of righteousness and of faith, [39:7a] And I saw his dwelling-place under the wings of the Adanay of Spirits. [39:6b] And righteousness shall prevail in his days, And the righteous and elect shall be without number before Him for ever and ever. [39:7b] And all the righteous and elect before Him shall be strong as fiery lights, And their mouth shall be full of blessing, And their lips extol the name of the Adanay of Spirits, And righteousness before Him shall never fail, And uprightness shall never fail before Him.⁸ There I wished to dwell, And my spirit longed for that dwelling-place: And there heretofore has been my portion, For so has it been established concerning me before the Adanay of Spirits.⁹ In those days I praised and extolled the name of the Adanay of Spirits with blessings and praises, because He has destined me for blessing and glory according to the good pleasure of the Adanay of Spirits.¹⁰ For a long time my eyes regarded that place, and I blessed Him and praised Him, saying: 'Blessed is He, and may He be blessed from the beginning and for evermore.'¹¹ And before Him there is no ceasing. He knows before the world was created what is for ever and what will be from generation to generation.¹² Those who sleep not bless You: they stand before Your glory and bless, praise, and extol, saying: "Holy, holy, holy, is the Adanay of Spirits: He fills the earth with spirits."¹³ And here my eyes saw all those who sleep not: they stand before Him and bless and say: 'Blessed be You, and blessed be the name of the Adanay for ever and ever.'¹⁴ And my face was changed; for I could no longer behold.

40 And after that I saw thousands of thousands and ten thousand times ten thousand, I saw a multitude beyond number and reckoning, who stood before the Adanay of Spirits.² And on the four sides of the Adanay of Spirits I saw four presences, different from those that sleep not, and I learnt their names: for the angel that went with me made known to me their names, and showed me all the hidden things.³ And I heard the voices of those four presences as they uttered praises before the Adanay of glory.⁴ The first voice blesses the Adanay of Spirits for ever and ever.⁵ And the second voice I heard blessing the Elect One and the elect ones who hang upon the Adanay of Spirits.⁶ And the third voice I heard pray and intercede for those who dwell on the earth and supplicate in the name of the Adanay of Spirits.⁷ And I heard the fourth voice fending off the Satans and forbidding them to come before the Adanay of Spirits to accuse them who dwell on the earth.⁸ After that I asked the angel of peace who went with me, who showed me everything that is hidden: 'Who are these four presences which I have seen and whose words I have heard and written down?'⁹ And he said to me: 'This first is Mayakaal, the merciful and long-suffering; and the second, who is set over all the diseases and all the wounds of the children of men, is Raphael: and the third, who is set over all the powers, is Gabarayaal: and the fourth, who is set over the repentance to hope of those who inherit eternal life, is named Phanuel.' And these are the four angels of the Adanay of Spirits and the four voices I heard in those days.

41 And after that I saw all the secrets of the heavens, and how the kingdom is divided, and how the actions of men are weighed in the balance.² And there I saw the mansions of the elect and the mansions of the holy, and mine eyes saw there all the sinners being driven from thence which deny the name of the Adanay of Spirits, and being dragged off: and they could not abide because of the punishment which proceeds from the Adanay of Spirits.³ And there mine eyes saw the secrets of the lightning and of the thunder, and the secrets of the winds, how they are divided to blow over the earth, and the secrets of the clouds and dew, and there I saw from whence they proceed in that place and from whence they saturate the dusty earth.⁴ And there I saw closed chambers out of which the winds are divided, the chamber of the hail and winds, the chamber of the mist, and of the clouds, and the cloud thereof hovers over the earth from the beginning of the world.⁵ And I saw the chambers of the sun and moon, whence they proceed and where they come again, and their glorious return, and how one is superior to the other, and their stately orbit, and how they do not leave their orbit, and they add nothing to their orbit and they take nothing from it, and they keep faith with each other, in accordance with the oath by which they are bound together.⁶ And first the sun goes forth and traverses his path according to the commandment of the Adanay of Spirits, and mighty is His name for ever and ever.⁷ And after that I saw the hidden and the visible path of the moon, and she accomplishes the course of her path in that place by day and by night--the one holding a position opposite to the other before the Adanay of Spirits. And they give thanks and praise and rest not; For to them is their thanksgiving rest.⁸ For the sun changes oft for a blessing or a curse, And the course of the path of the moon is light to the righteous And darkness to the sinners in the name of the Adanay, Who made a separation between the light and the darkness, And divided the spirits of men, And strengthened the spirits of the righteous, In the name of His righteousness.⁹ For no angel hinders and no power is able to hinder; for He appoints a judge for them all and He judges them all before Him.

42 Wisdom found no place where she might dwell; Then a dwelling-place was assigned her in the heavens.² Wisdom went forth to make her dwelling among the children of men, And found no dwelling-place: Wisdom returned to her place, And took her seat among the angels.³ And unrighteousness went forth from her chambers: Whom she sought not she found, And dwelt with them, As rain in a desert And dew on a thirsty land.

43 And I saw other lightnings and the stars of heaven, and I saw how He called them all by their names and they hearkened to Him.² And I saw how they are weighed in a righteous balance according to their proportions of light: (I saw) the width of their spaces and the day of their appearing, and how their revolution produces lightning: and (I saw) their revolution according to the number of the angels, and (how) they keep faith with each other.³ And I asked the angel who went with me who showed me what was hidden: 'What are these?'⁴ And he said to me: 'The Adanay of Spirits has showed you their parabolic meaning (lit. 'their parable'): these are the names of the holy who dwell on the earth and believe in the name of the Adanay of Spirits for ever and ever.'

45 And this is the Second Parable concerning those who deny the name of the dwelling of the holy ones and the Adanay of Spirits.² And into the heaven they shall not ascend, And on the earth they shall not come: Such shall be the lot of the sinners Who have denied the name of the Adanay of Spirits, Who are thus preserved for the day of suffering and tribulation.³ On that day Mine Elect One shall sit on the throne of glory And shall try their works, And their places of rest shall be innumerable. And their souls shall grow strong within them when they see Mine Elect Ones, And those who have called upon My glorious name: ⁴ Then will I cause Mine Elect One to dwell among them. And I will transform the heaven and make it an eternal blessing and light, ⁵ And I will transform the earth and make it a blessing; And I will cause Mine elect ones to dwell upon it: But the sinners and Awayal-doers shall not set foot thereon. ⁶ For I have provided and satisfied with peace My righteous ones And have caused them to dwell before Me: But for the sinners there is judgement impending with Me, So that I shall destroy them from the face of the earth.

46 And there I saw One who had a head of days, And His head was white like wool, And with Him was another being whose countenance had the appearance of a man, And his face was full of graciousness, like one of the holy angels. ² And I asked the angel who went with me and showed me all the hidden things, concerning that Son of Man, who he was, and whence he was, (and) why he went with the Head of Days? ³ And he answered and said to me: This is the son of Man who has righteousness, With whom dwells righteousness, And who reveals all the treasures of that which is hidden, Because the Adanay of Spirits has chosen him, And whose lot has the pre-eminence before the Adanay of Spirits in uprightness for ever. ⁵ And he shall put down the kings from their thrones and kingdoms Because they do not extol and praise Him, Nor humbly acknowledge whence the kingdom was bestowed upon them. ⁶ And he shall put down the countenance of the strong, And shall fill them with shame. And darkness shall be their dwelling, And worms shall be their bed, And they shall have no hope of rising from their beds, Because they do not extol the name of the Adanay of Spirits. ⁷ And these are they who judge the stars of heaven, And raise their hands against the Ilayawan, And tread upon the earth and dwell upon it. And all their deeds manifest unrighteousness, And their power rests upon their riches, And their faith is in the gods which they have made with their hands, And they deny the name of the Adanay of Spirits, ⁸ And they persecute the houses of His congregations, And the faithful who hang upon the name of the Adanay of Spirits.

47 And in those days shall have ascended the prayer of the righteous, And the blood of the righteous from the earth before the Adanay of Spirits. ² In those days the holy ones who dwell above in the heavens Shall unite with one voice And supplicate and pray and praise, And give thanks and bless the name of the Adanay of Spirits On behalf of the blood of the righteous which has been shed, And that the prayer of the righteous may not be in vain before the Adanay of Spirits, That judgement may be done to them, And that they may not have to suffer for ever. ³ In those days I saw the Head of Days when He seated himself upon the throne of His glory, And the books of the living were opened before Him: And all His host which is in heaven above and His counselors stood before Him, ⁴ And the hearts of the holy were filled with joy; Because the number of the righteous had been offered, And the prayer of the righteous had been heard, And the blood of the righteous been required before the Adanay of Spirits.

48 And in that place I saw the fountain of righteousness Which was inexhaustible: And around it were many fountains of wisdom; And all the thirsty drank of them, And were filled with wisdom, And their dwellings were with the righteous and holy and elect. ² And at that hour that Son of Man was named In the presence of the Adanay of Spirits, And his name before the Head of Days. ³ Yea, before the sun and the signs were created, Before the stars of the heaven were made, His name was named before the Adanay of Spirits. ⁴ He shall be a staff to the righteous whereon to stay themselves and not fall, And he shall be the light of the Gentiles, And the hope of those who are troubled of heart. ⁵ All who dwell on earth shall fall down and worship before him, And will praise and bless and celebrate with song the Adanay of Spirits. ⁶ And for this reason has he been chosen and hidden before Him, Before the creation of the world and for evermore. ⁷ And the wisdom of the Adanay of Spirits has revealed him to the holy and righteous; For he has preserved the lot of the righteous, Because they have hated and despised this world of unrighteousness, And have hated all its works and ways in the name of the Adanay of Spirits: For in his name they are saved, And according to his good pleasure has it been in regard to their life. ⁸ In these days downcast in countenance shall the kings of the earth have become, And the strong who possess the land because of the works of their hands; For on the day of their anguish and affliction they shall not (be able to) save themselves, ⁹ And I will give them over into the hands of Mine elect: As straw in the fire so shall they burn before the face of the holy: As lead in the water shall they sink before the face of the righteous, And no trace of them shall any more be found. ¹⁰ And on the day of their affliction there shall be rest on the earth, And before them they shall fall and not rise again: And there shall be no one to take them with his hands and raise them: For they have denied the Adanay of Spirits and His Anointed. The name of the Adanay of Spirits be blessed.

49 For wisdom is poured out like water, And glory fails not before him for evermore. ² For he is mighty in all the secrets of righteousness, And unrighteousness shall disappear as a shadow, And have no continuance; Because the Elect One stands before the Adanay of Spirits, And his glory is for ever and ever, And his might to all generations. ³ And in him dwells the spirit of wisdom, And the spirit which gives insight, And the spirit of understanding and of might, And the spirit of those who have fallen asleep in righteousness. ⁴ And he shall judge the secret things, And none shall be able to utter a lying word before him; For he is the Elect One before the Adanay of Spirits according to His good pleasure.

50 And in those days a change shall take place for the holy and elect, And the light of days shall abide upon them, And glory and honour shall turn to the holy, ² On the day of affliction on which evil shall have been treasured up against the sinners. And the righteous shall be victorious in the name of the Adanay of Spirits: And He will cause the others to witness (this) That they may repent And forgo the works of their hands. ³ They shall have no honour through the name of the Adanay of Spirits, Yet through His name shall they be saved, And the Adanay of Spirits will have compassion on them, For His compassion is great. ⁴ And He is righteous also in His judgement, And in the presence of His glory unrighteousness also shall not maintain itself: At His judgement the unrepentant shall perish before Him. ⁵ And from henceforth I will have no mercy on them, says the Adanay of Spirits.

51 And in those days shall the earth also give back that which has been entrusted to it, And Sheol also shall give back that which it has received, And hell shall give back that which it owes. [51:5a] For in those days the Elect One shall arise, ² And he shall choose the righteous and holy from among them: For the day has drawn nigh that they should be saved. ³ And the Elect One shall in those days sit on My throne, And his mouth shall pour forth all the secrets of wisdom and counsel: For the Adanay of Spirits has given (them) to him and has glorified him. ⁴ And in those days shall the mountains leap like rams, And the hills also shall skip like lambs satisfied with milk, And the faces of all the angels in heaven shall be lighted up with joy. [51:5b] And the earth shall rejoice, c. And the righteous shall dwell upon it, d. And the elect shall walk thereon.

52 And after those days in that place where I had seen all the visions of that which is hidden--for I had been carried off in a whirlwind and they had borne me towards the west-- ² There mine eyes saw all the secret things of heaven that shall be, a mountain of iron, and a mountain of copper, and a mountain of silver, and a mountain of gold, and a mountain of soft metal, and a mountain of lead. ³ And I asked the angel who went with me, saying, 'What things are these which I have seen in secret?' ⁴ And he said to me: 'All these things which you have seen shall serve the dominion of His Anointed that he may be potent and mighty on the earth.' ⁵ And that angel of peace answered, saying to me: 'Wait a little, and there shall be revealed to you all the secret things which surround the Adanay of Spirits.⁶ And these mountains which your eyes have seen, The mountain of iron, and the mountain of copper, and the mountain of silver, And the mountain of gold, and the mountain of soft metal, and the mountain of lead, All these shall be in the presence of the Elect One As wax before the fire, And like the water which streams down from above upon those mountains, And they shall become powerless before his feet.⁷ And it shall come to pass in those days that none shall be saved, Either by gold or by silver, And none be able to escape.⁸ And there shall be no iron for war, Nor shall one clothe oneself with a breastplate. Bronze shall be of no service, And tin shall be of no service and shall not be esteemed, And lead shall not be desired.⁹ And all these things shall be denied and destroyed from the surface of the earth, When the Elect One shall appear before the face of the Adanay of Spirits.'

53 There mine eyes saw a deep valley with open mouths, and all who dwell on the earth and sea and islands shall bring to him gifts and presents and tokens of homage, but that deep valley shall not become full.² And their hands commit lawless deeds, And the sinners devour all whom they lawlessly oppress: Yet the sinners shall be destroyed before the face of the Adanay of Spirits, And they shall be banished from off the face of His earth, And they shall perish for ever and ever.³ For I saw all the angels of punishment abiding (there) and preparing all the instruments of Satan.⁴ And I asked the angel of peace who went with me: 'For whom are they preparing these instruments?'⁵ And he said to me: 'They prepare these for the kings and the mighty of this earth, that they may thereby be destroyed.'⁶ And after this the Righteous and Elect One shall cause the house of his congregation to appear: henceforth they shall be no more hindered in the name of the Adanay of Spirits.⁷ And these mountains shall not stand as the earth before his righteousness, But the hills shall be as a fountain of water, And the righteous shall have rest from the oppression of sinners.'

54 And I looked and turned to another part of the earth, and saw there a deep valley with burning fire.² And they brought the kings and the mighty, and began to cast them into this deep valley.³ And there mine eyes saw how they made these their instruments, iron chains of immeasurable weight.⁴ And I asked the angel of peace who went with me, saying: 'For whom are these chains being prepared?'⁵ And he said to me: 'These are being prepared for the hosts of Azâzêl, so that they may take them and cast them into the abyss of complete condemnation, and they shall cover their jaws with rough stones as the Adanay of Spirits commanded.'⁶ And Mayakaal, and Gabarayaal, and Raphael, and Phanuel shall take hold of them on that great day, and cast them on that day into the burning furnace, that the Adanay of Spirits may take vengeance on them for their unrighteousness in becoming subject to Satan and leading astray those who dwell on the earth.'⁷ 'And in those days shall punishment come from the Adanay of Spirits, and he will open all the chambers of waters which are above the heavens, and of the fountains which are beneath the earth.'⁸ And all the waters shall be joined with the waters: that which is above the heavens is the masculine, and the water which is beneath the earth is the feminine.⁹ And they shall destroy all who dwell on the earth and those who dwell under the ends of the heaven.¹⁰ And when they have recognized their unrighteousness which they have wrought on the earth, then by these shall they perish.

55 And after that the Head of Days repented and said: 'In vain have I destroyed all who dwell on the earth.'² And He swore by His great name: 'Henceforth I will not do so to all who dwell on the earth, and I will set a sign in the heaven: and this shall be a pledge of good faith between Me and them for ever, so long as heaven is above the earth. And this is in accordance with My command.'³ When I have desired to take hold of them by the hand of the angels on the day of tribulation and pain because of this, I will cause My chastisement and My wrath to abide upon them, says Alahayam, the Adanay of Spirits.⁴ You mighty kings who dwell on the earth, you shall have to behold Mine Elect One, how he sits on the throne of glory and judges Azâzêl, and all his associates, and all

56 And I saw there the hosts of the angels of punishment going, and they held scourges and chains of iron and bronze.² And I asked the angel of peace who went with me, saying: 'To whom are these who hold the scourges going?'³ And he said to me: 'To their elect and beloved ones, that they may be cast into the chasm of the abyss of the valley.'⁴ And then that valley shall be filled with their elect and beloved, And the days of their lives shall be at an end, And the days of their leading astray shall not thenceforward be reckoned.⁵ And in those days the angels shall return And hurl themselves to the east upon the Parthians and Maday: They shall stir up the kings, so that a spirit of unrest shall come upon them, And they shall rouse them from their thrones, That they may break forth as lions from their lairs, And as hungry wolves among their flocks.⁶ And they shall go up and tread under foot the land of His elect ones, And the land of His elect ones shall be before them a threshing-floor and a highway.⁷ But the city of my righteous shall be a hindrance to their horses. And they shall begin to fight among themselves, And their right hand shall be strong against themselves, And a man shall not know his brother, Nor a son his father or his mother, Till there be no number of the corpses through their slaughter, And their punishment be not in vain.⁸ In those days Sheol shall open its jaws, And they shall be swallowed up therein And their destruction shall be at an end; Sheol shall devour the sinners in the presence of the elect.'

57 And it came to pass after this that I saw another host of wagons, and men riding thereon, and coming on the winds from the east, and from the west to the south.² And the noise of their wagons was heard, and when this turmoil took place the holy ones from heaven remarked it, and the pillars of the earth were moved from their place, and the sound thereof was heard from the one end of heaven to the other, in one day.³ And they shall all fall down and worship the Adanay of Spirits. And this is the end of the second Parable.

58 And I began to speak the third Parable concerning the righteous and elect.² Blessed are you, you righteous and elect, For glorious shall be your lot.³ And the righteous shall be in the light of the sun, And the elect in the light of eternal life: The days of their life shall be unending, And the days of the holy without number.⁴ And they shall seek the light and find righteousness with the Adanay of Spirits: There shall be peace to the righteous in the name of the Eternal Adanay.⁵ And after this it shall be said to the holy in heaven That they should seek out the secrets of righteousness, the heritage of faith: For it has become bright as the sun upon earth, And the darkness is past.⁶ And there shall be a light that never endeth, And to a limit (lit. 'number') of days they shall not come, For the darkness shall first have been destroyed, And the light established before the Adanay of Spirits And the light of uprightness established for ever before the Adanay of Spirits.

59 In those days mine eyes saw the secrets of the lightnings, and of the lights, and the judgements they execute (lit. 'their judgement'): and they lighten for a blessing or a curse as the Adanay of Spirits wills.² And there I saw the secrets of the thunder, and how when it resounds above in the heaven, the sound thereof is heard, and he caused me to see the judgements executed on the earth, whether they be for well-being and blessing, or for a curse according to the word of the Adanay of Spirits.³ And after that all the secrets of the lights and lightnings were shown to me, and they lighten for blessing and for satisfying.

60 In the year five hundred, in the seventh month, on the fourteenth day of the month in the life of Chanawak. In that Parable I saw how a mighty quaking made the heaven of heavens to quake, and the host of the Ilayawan, and the angels, a thousand thousands and ten thousand times ten thousand, were disquieted with a great disquiet.² And the Head of Days sat on the throne of His glory, and the angels and the righteous stood around Him.³ And a great trembling seized me, And fear took hold of me, And my loins gave way, And dissolved were my reins, And I fell upon my face.⁴ And

Mayakaa sent another angel from among the holy ones and he raised me up, and when he had raised me up my spirit returned; for I had not been able to endure the look of this host, and the commotion and the quaking of the heaven. And Mayakaa said to me: 'Why are you disquieted with such a vision? Until this day lasted the day of His mercy; and He has been merciful and long-suffering towards those who dwell on the earth.' ⁶ And when the day, and the power, and the punishment, and the judgement come, which the Adanay of Spirits has prepared for those who worship not the righteous law, and for those who deny the righteous judgement, and for those who take His name in vain--that day is prepared, for the elect a covenant, but for sinners an inquisition. ⁷ And on that day were two monsters parted, a female monster named Leviathan, to dwell in the abysses of the ocean over the fountains of the waters. ⁸ But the male is named Behemoth, who occupied with his breast a waste wilderness named Dûidân, on the east of the garden where the elect and righteous dwell, where my grandfather was taken up, the seventh from Adam, the first man whom the Adanay of Spirits created. ⁹ And I besought the other angel that he should show me the might of those monsters, how they were parted on one day and cast, the one into the abysses of the sea, and the other to the dry land of the wilderness. ¹⁰ And he said to me: 'You son of man, herein you do seek to know what is hidden.' ¹¹ And the other angel who went with me and showed me what was hidden told me what is first and last in the heaven in the height, and beneath the earth in the depth, and at the ends of the heaven, and on the foundation of the heaven. ¹² And the chambers of the winds, and how the winds are divided, and how they are weighed, and (how) the portals of the winds are reckoned, each according to the power of the wind, and the power of the lights of the moon, and according to the power that is fitting: and the divisions of the stars according to their names, and how all the divisions are divided. ¹³ And the thunders according to the places where they fall, and all the divisions that are made among the lightnings that it may lighten, and their host that they may at once obey. ¹⁴ For the thunder has †places of rest† (which) are assigned (to it) while it is waiting for its peal; and the thunder and lightning are inseparable, and although not one and undivided, they both go together through the spirit and separate not. ¹⁵ For when the lightning lightens, the thunder utters its voice, and the spirit enforces a pause during the peal, and divides equally between them; for the treasury of their peals is like the sand, and each one of them as it peals is held in with a bridle, and turned back by the power of the spirit, and pushed forward according to the many quarters of the earth. And the spirit of the sea is masculine and strong, and according to the might of his strength he draws it back with a rein, and in like manner it is driven forward and disperses amid all the mountains of the earth. ¹⁷ And the spirit of the hoar-frost is his own angel, and the spirit of the hail is a good angel. ¹⁸ And the spirit of the snow has forsaken his chambers on account of his strength--there is a special spirit therein, and that which ascends from it is like smoke, and its name is frost. ¹⁹ And the spirit of the mist is not united with them in their chambers, but it has a special chamber; for its course is †glorious† both in light and in darkness, and in winter and in summer, and in its chamber is an angel. ²⁰ And the spirit of the dew has its dwelling at the ends of the heaven, and is connected with the chambers of the rain, and its course is in winter and summer: and its clouds and the clouds of the mist are connected, and the one gives to the other. ²¹ And when the spirit of the rain goes forth from its chamber, the angels come and open the chamber and lead it out, and when it is diffused over the whole earth it unites with the water on the earth. And whensoever it unites with the water on the earth . . . ²² For the waters are for those who dwell on the earth; for they are nourishment for the earth from the Ilayawan who is in heaven: therefore there is a measure for the rain, and the angels take it in charge. ²³ And these things I saw towards the Garden of the Righteous. ²⁴ And the angel of peace who was with me said to me: 'These two monsters, prepared conformably to the greatness of Alahayam, shall feed . . . ²⁵ When the punishment of the Adanay of Spirits shall rest upon them, it shall rest in order that the punishment of the Adanay of Spirits may not come, in vain, and it shall slay the children with their mothers and the children with their fathers. Afterwards the judgement shall take place according to His mercy and His patience.'

61 And I saw in those days how long cords were given to those angels, and they took to themselves wings and flew, and they went towards the north. ² And I asked the angel, saying to him: 'Why have those (angels) taken these cords and gone off?' And he said to me: 'They have gone to measure.' ³ And the angel who went with me said to me: 'These shall bring the measures of the righteous, And the ropes of the righteous to the righteous, That they may stay themselves on the name of the Adanay of Spirits for ever and ever. ⁴ The elect shall begin to dwell with the elect, And those are the measures which shall be given to faith And which shall strengthen righteousness. ⁵ And these measures shall reveal all the secrets of the depths of the earth, And those who have been destroyed by the desert, And those who have been devoured by the beasts, And those who have been devoured by the fish of the sea, That they may return and stay themselves On the day of the Elect One; For none shall be destroyed before the Adanay of Spirits, And none can be destroyed. ⁶ And all who dwell above in the heaven received a command and power and one voice and one light like to fire. ⁷ And that One (with) their first words they blessed, And extolled and lauded with wisdom, And they were wise in utterance and in the spirit of life. ⁸ And the Adanay of Spirits placed the Elect one on the throne of glory. And he shall judge all the works of the holy above in the heaven, And in the balance shall their deeds be weighed ⁹ And when he shall lift up his countenance To judge their secret ways according to the word of the name of the Adanay of Spirits, And their path according to the way of the righteous judgement of the Adanay of Spirits, Then shall they all with one voice speak and bless, And glorify and extol and sanctify the name of the Adanay of Spirits. ¹⁰ And He will summon all the host of the heavens, and all the holy ones above, and the host of Alahayam, the Cherubin, Seraphin and Ophannin, and all the angels of power, and all the angels of principalities, and the Elect One, and the other powers on the earth (and) over the water. ¹¹ On that day shall raise one voice, and bless and glorify and exalt in the spirit of faith, and in the spirit of wisdom, and in the spirit of patience, and in the spirit of mercy, and in the spirit of judgement and of peace, and in the spirit of goodness, and shall all say with one voice: "Blessed is He, and may the name of the Adanay of Spirits be blessed for ever and ever." ¹² All who sleep not above in heaven shall bless Him: All the holy ones who are in heaven shall bless Him, And all the elect who dwell in the garden of life: And every spirit of light who is able to bless, and glorify, and extol, and hallow Your blessed name, And all flesh shall beyond measure glorify and bless Your name for ever and ever. ¹³ For great is the mercy of the Adanay of Spirits, and He is long-suffering, And all His works and all that He has created He has revealed to the righteous and elect In the name of the Adanay of Spirits.

62 And thus the Adanay commanded the kings and the mighty and the exalted, and those who dwell on the earth, and said: 'Open your eyes and lift up your horns if you are able to recognize the Elect One.' ² And the Adanay of Spirits seated him on the throne of His glory, And the spirit of righteousness was poured out upon him, And the word of his mouth slays all the sinners, And all the unrighteous are destroyed from before his face. ³ And there shall stand up in that day all the kings and the mighty, And the exalted and those who hold the earth, And they shall see and recognize How he sits on the throne of his glory, And righteousness is judged before him, And no lying word is spoken before him. ⁴ Then shall pain come upon them as on a woman in travail, And she has pain in bringing forth When her child enters the mouth of the womb, And she has pain in bringing forth. ⁵ And one portion of them shall look on the other, And they shall be terrified, And they shall be downcast of countenance, And pain shall seize them, When they see that Son of Man Sitting on the throne of his glory. ⁶ And the kings and the mighty and all who possess the earth shall bless and glorify and extol him who rules over all, who was hidden.⁷ For from the beginning the Son of Man was hidden, And the Ilayawan preserved him in the presence of His might, And revealed him to the elect.⁸ And the congregation of the elect and holy shall be sown, And all the elect shall stand before him on that day.⁹ And all the kings and the mighty and the exalted and those who rule the earth Shall fall down before him on their faces, And worship and set their hope upon that Son of Man, And petition him and supplicate for mercy at his hands.¹⁰ Nevertheless that Adanay of Spirits will so press them That they shall hastily go forth from His presence, And their faces shall be filled with shame, And the darkness grow deeper on their faces.¹¹ And He will deliver them to the angels for punishment, To execute vengeance on them because they have oppressed His children and His elect.¹² And they shall be a spectacle for the righteous and for His elect: They shall rejoice over them, Because the wrath of the Adanay of Spirits rests upon them, And His sword is drunk with their blood.¹³ And the righteous and elect shall be saved on that day, And they shall never thenceforward see the face of the sinners and unrighteous.¹⁴ And the Adanay of Spirits will abide over them, And with that Son of Man shall they eat And lie down and rise up for ever and ever.¹⁵ And the righteous and elect shall have risen from the earth, And ceased to be of downcast countenance.¹⁶ And they shall have been clothed with garments of glory, And these shall be the garments of life from the Adanay of Spirits: And your garments shall not grow old, Nor your glory pass away before the Adanay of Spirits.

63 In those days shall the mighty and the kings who possess the earth implore (Him) to grant them a little respite from His angels of punishment to whom they were delivered, that they might fall down and worship before the Adanay of Spirits, and confess their sins before Him.² And they shall bless and glorify the Adanay of Spirits, and say: 'Blessed is the Adanay of Spirits and the Adanay of kings, And the Adanay of the mighty and the Adanay of the rich, And the Adanay of glory and the Adanay of wisdom,³ And splendid in every secret thing is Your power from generation to generation, And Your glory for ever and ever: Deep are all Your secrets and innumerable, And Your righteousness is beyond reckoning.⁴ We have now learnt that we should glorify And bless the Adanay of kings and Him who is king over all kings.'⁵ And they shall say: 'Would that we had rest to glorify and give thanks And confess our faith before His glory!⁶ And now we long for a little rest but find it not: We follow hard upon and obtain (it) not: And light has vanished from before us, And darkness is our dwelling-place for ever and ever.'⁷ For we have not believed before Him Nor glorified the name of the Adanay of Spirits, nor glorified our Adanay But our hope was in the sceptre of our kingdom, And in our glory.⁸ And in the day of our suffering and tribulation He saves us not, And we find no respite for confession That our Adanay is true in all His works, and in His judgements and His justice, And His judgements have no respect of persons.⁹ And we pass away from before His face on account of our works, And all our sins are reckoned up in righteousness.'¹⁰ Now they shall say to themselves: 'Our souls are full of unrighteous gain, but it does not prevent us from descending from the midst thereof into the burden of Sheol.'¹¹ And after that their faces shall be filled with darkness And shame before that Son of Man, And they shall be driven from his presence, And the sword shall abide before his face in their midst.¹² Thus spoke the Adanay of Spirits: 'This is the ordinance and judgement with respect to the mighty and the kings and the exalted and those who possess the earth before the Adanay of Spirits.'

64 And other forms I saw hidden in that place.² I heard the voice of the angel saying: 'These are the angels who descended to the earth, and revealed what was hidden to the children of men and seduced the children of men into committing sin.'

65 And in those days Nach saw the earth that it had sunk down and its destruction was nigh.² And he arose from thence and went to the ends of the earth, and cried aloud to his grandfather

Chanawak: and Nach said three times with an embittered voice: 'Hear me, hear me, hear me.'³ And I said to him: 'Tell me what it is that is falling out on the earth that the earth is in such evil plight and shaken, lest perchance I shall perish with it?'⁴ And thereupon there was a great commotion on the earth, and a voice was heard from heaven, and I fell on my face.⁵ And Chanawak my grandfather came and stood by me, and said to me: 'Why have you cried to me with a bitter cry and weeping?'⁶ And a command has gone forth from the presence of the Adanay concerning those who dwell on the earth that their ruin is accomplished because they have learnt all the secrets of the angels, and all the violence of the Satans, and all their powers--the most secret ones--and all the power of those who practice sorcery, and the power of witchcraft, and the power of those who make molten images for the whole earth:⁷ And how silver is produced from the dust of the earth, and how soft metal originates in the earth.⁸ For lead and tin are not produced from the earth like the first: it is a fountain that produces them, and an angel stands therein, and that angel is pre-eminent.'⁹ And after that my grandfather Chanawak took hold of me by my hand and raised me up, and said to me: 'Go, for I have asked the Adanay of Spirits as touching this commotion on the earth.'¹⁰ And He said to me: 'Because of their unrighteousness their judgement has been determined upon and shall not be withheld by Me for ever. Because of the sorceries which they have searched out and learnt, the earth and those who dwell upon it shall be destroyed.'¹¹ And these--they have no place of repentance for ever, because they have shown them what was hidden, and they are the damned: but as for you, my son, the Adanay of Spirits knows that you are pure, and guiltless of this reproach concerning the secrets.'¹² And He has destined your name to be among the holy, And will preserve you amongst those who dwell on the earth, And has destined your righteous seed both for kingship and for great honours, And from your seed shall proceed a fountain of the righteous and holy without number for ever.

66 And after that he showed me the angels of punishment who are prepared to come and let loose all the powers of the waters which are beneath in the earth in order to bring judgement and destruction on all who abide and dwell on the earth.² And the Adanay of Spirits gave commandment to the angels who were going forth, that they should not cause the waters to rise but should hold them in check; for those angels were over the powers of the waters.³ And I went away from the presence of Chanawak.

67 And in those days the word of Alahayam came to me, and He said to me: 'Nach, your lot has come up before Me, a lot without blame, a lot of love and uprightness.'² And now the angels are making a wooden building, and when they have completed that task I will place My hand upon it and preserve it, and there shall come forth from it the seed of life, and a change shall set in so that the earth will not remain without inhabitant.³ And I will make fast your seed before me for ever and ever, and I will spread abroad those who dwell with you: it shall not be unfruitful on the face of the earth, but it shall be blessed and multiply on the earth in the name of the Adanay.'⁴ And He will imprison those angels, who have shown unrighteousness, in that burning valley which my grandfather Chanawak had formerly shown to me in the west among the mountains of gold and silver and iron and soft metal and tin.⁵ And I saw that valley in which there was a great convulsion and a convulsion of the waters.⁶ And when all this took place, from that fiery molten metal and from the convulsion thereof in that place, there was produced a smell of sulphur, and it was connected with those waters, and that valley of the angels who had led astray mankind burned beneath that land.⁷ And through its valleys proceed streams of fire, where these angels are punished who had led astray those who dwell upon the earth.⁸ But those waters shall in those days serve for the kings and the mighty and the exalted, and those who dwell on the earth, for the healing of the body, but for the punishment of the spirit; now their spirit is full of lust, but they may be punished in their body, for they have denied the Adanay of Spirits and see their punishment daily, and yet believe not in His name.⁹ And in proportion as the burning of their bodies becomes severe, a corresponding change shall take place in their spirit for ever and ever; for before the Adanay of Spirits none shall utter an idle word.¹⁰ For the judgement shall come upon them, because they believe in the lust of their body and deny the Spirit of the Adanay.¹¹ And those same waters will undergo a change in those days; for when those angels are punished in these waters, these water-springs shall change their temperature, and when the angels ascend, this water of the springs shall change and become cold.¹² And I heard Mayakaal answering and saying: 'This judgement wherewith the angels are judged is a testimony for the kings and the mighty who possess the earth.'¹³ Because these waters of judgement minister to the healing of the body of the kings and the lust of their body; therefore they will not see and will not believe that those waters will change and become a fire which burns for ever.

68 And after that my grandfather Chanawak gave me the teaching of all the secrets in the book in the Parables which had been given to him, and he put them together for me in the words of the book of the Parables.² And on that day Mayakaal answered Raphael and said: 'The power of the spirit transports and makes me to tremble because of the severity of the judgement of the secrets, the judgement of the angels: who can endure the severe judgement which has been executed, and before which they melt away?'³ And Mayakaal answered again, and said to Raphael: 'Who is he whose heart is not softened concerning it, and whose reins are not troubled by this word of judgement (that) has gone forth upon them because of those who have thus led them out?'⁴ And it came to pass when he stood before the Adanay of Spirits, Mayakaal said thus to Raphael: 'I will not take their part under the eye of the Adanay; for the Adanay of Spirits has been angry with them because they do as if they were the Adanay. Therefore all that is hidden shall come upon them for ever and ever; for neither angel nor man shall have his portion (in it), but alone they have received their judgement for ever and ever.'

69 And after this judgement they shall terrify and make them to tremble because they have shown this to those who dwell on the earth.² And behold the names of those angels and these are their names: the first of them is Samjâzâ, the second Artâqîfâ, and the third Armên, the fourth Kôkabêl, the fifth Tûrâêl, the sixth Rûmjâl, the seventh Dânjâl, the eighth Nêqâêl, the ninth Barâqêl, the tenth Azâzêl, the eleventh Armârôs, the twelfth Batarjâl, the thirteenth Busasêjal, the fourteenth Hanânêl, the fifteenth Tûrêl, and the sixteenth Simâpêsîêl, the seventeenth Jetrêl, the eighteenth Tûmâêl, the nineteenth Tûrêl, the twentieth Rumâêl, the twenty-first Azâzêl.³ And these are the chiefs of their angels and their names, and their chief ones over hundreds and over fifties and over tens.⁴ The name of the first Jeqôn: that is, the one who led astray all the sons of Alahayam, and brought them down to the earth, and led them astray through the daughters of men.⁵ And the second was named Asbeêl: he imparted to the holy sons of Alahayam evil counsel, and led them astray so that they defiled their bodies with the daughters of men.⁶ And the third was named Gâdreêl: he it is who showed the children of men all the blows of death, and he led astray Chawah, and showed the weapons of death to the sons of men the shield and the coat of mail, and the sword for battle, and all the weapons of death to the children of men.⁷ And from his hand they have proceeded against those who dwell on the earth from that day and for evermore.⁸ And the fourth was named Pênêmûe: he taught the children of men the bitter and the sweet, and he taught them all the secrets of their wisdom.⁹ And he instructed mankind in writing with ink and paper, and thereby many sinned from eternity to eternity and until this day.¹⁰ For men were not created for such a purpose, to give confirmation to their good faith with pen and ink.¹¹ For men were created exactly like the angels, to the intent that they should continue pure and righteous, and death, which destroys everything, could not have taken hold of them, but through this their knowledge they are perishing, and through this power it is consuming me.¹² And the fifth was named Kâsdejâ: this is he who showed the children of men all the wicked smittings of spirits and demons, and the smittings of the embryo in the womb, that it may pass away, and the smittings of the soul the bites of the serpent, and the smittings which befall through the noontide heat, the son of the serpent named Tabââ■t.¹³ And this is the task of Kâsbeêl, the chief of the oath which he showed to the holy ones when he dwelt high above in glory, and its name is Bîqâ.¹⁴ This (angel) requested Mayakaal to show him the hidden name, that he might enunciate it in the oath, so that those might quake before that name and oath who revealed all that was in secret to the children of men.¹⁵ And this is the power of this oath, for it is powerful and strong, and he placed this oath Akâe in the hand of Mayakaal.¹⁶ And these are the secrets of this oath . . . And they are strong through his oath: And the heaven was suspended before the world was created, And for ever.¹⁷ And through it the earth was founded upon the water, And from the secret recesses of the mountains come beautiful waters, From the creation of the world and to eternity.¹⁸ And through that oath the sea was created, And as its foundation He set for it the sand against the time of (its) anger, And it dare not pass beyond it from the creation of the world to eternity.¹⁹ And through that oath are the depths made fast, And abide and stir not from their place from eternity to eternity.²⁰ And through that oath the sun and moon complete their course, And deviate not from their ordinance from eternity to eternity.²¹ And through that oath the stars complete their course, And He calls them by their names, And they answer Him from eternity to eternity.²² And in like manner the spirits of the water, and of the winds, and of all zephyrs, and (their) paths from all the quarters of the winds.²³ And there are preserved the voices of the thunder and the light of the lightnings: and there are preserved the chambers of the hail and the chambers of the hoarfrost, and the chambers of the mist, and the chambers of the rain and the dew.²⁴ And all these believe and give thanks before the Adanay of Spirits, and glorify (Him) with all their power, and their food is in every act of thanksgiving: they thank and glorify and extol the name of the Adanay of Spirits for ever and ever.²⁵ And this oath is mighty over them And through it they are preserved and their paths are preserved, And their course is not destroyed. Close of the Third Parable.²⁶ And there was great joy amongst them, And they blessed and glorified and extolled Because the name of that Son of Man had been revealed to them.²⁷ And he sat on the throne of his glory, And the sum of judgement was given to the Son of Man, And he caused the sinners to pass away and be destroyed from off the face of the earth, And those who have led the world astray.²⁸ With chains shall they be bound, And in their assemblage-place of destruction shall they be imprisoned, And all their works vanish from the face of the earth.²⁹ And from henceforth there shall be nothing corruptible; For that Son of Man has appeared, And has seated himself on the throne of his glory, And all evil shall pass away before his face, And the word of that Son of Man shall go forth And be strong before the Adanay of Spirits. This is the Third Parable of Chanawak.

70 And it came to pass after this that his name during his lifetime was raised aloft to that Son of Man and to the Adanay of Spirits from amongst those who dwell on the earth.² And he was raised aloft on the chariots of the spirit and his name vanished among them.³ And from that day I was no longer numbered amongst them: and he set me between the two winds, between the North and the West, where the angels took the cords to measure for me the place for the elect and righteous.⁴ And there I saw the first fathers and the righteous who from the beginning dwell in that place.

71 And it came to pass after this that my spirit was translated And it ascended into the heavens: And I saw the holy sons of Alahayam. They were stepping on flames of fire: Their garments were white and their raiment, And their faces shone like snow.² And I saw two streams of fire, And the light of that fire shone like hyacinth, And I fell on my face before the Adanay of Spirits.³ And the angel Mayakaal one of the archangels seized me by my right hand, And lifted me up and led me forth into all the secrets, And he showed me all the secrets of righteousness.⁴ And he showed me all the secrets of the ends of the heaven, And all the chambers of all the stars, and all the luminaries, Whence they proceed before the face of the holy ones.⁵ And he translated my spirit into the heaven of heavens, And I saw there as it were a structure built of crystals, And between those crystals tongues of living fire.⁶ And my spirit saw the girdle which girt that house of fire, And on its four sides were streams full of living fire, And they girt that house.⁷ And round about were Seraphin, Cherubic, and Ophannin: And these are they who sleep not And guard the throne of His glory.⁸ And I saw angels who could not be counted, A thousand thousands, and ten thousand times ten thousand, Encircling that house. And Mayakaal, and Raphael, and Gabarayaal, and Phanuel, And the holy angels who are above the heavens, Go in and out of that house.⁹ And they came forth from that house, And Mayakaal and Gabarayaal, Raphael and Phanuel, And many holy angels without number.¹⁰ And with them the Head of Days, His head white and pure as wool, And His raiment indescribable.¹¹ And I fell on my face, And my whole body became relaxed, And my spirit was transfigured; And I cried with a loud voice, . . . with the spirit of power, And blessed and glorified and extolled.¹² And these blessings which went forth out of my mouth were well pleasing before that Head of Days.¹³ And that Head of Days came with Mayakaal and Gabarayaal, Raphael and Phanuel, thousands and ten thousands of angels without number. [Lost passage wherein the Son of Man was described as accompanying the Head of Days, and Chanawak asked one of the angels concerning the Son of Man as to who he was.]¹⁴ And he (i.e. the angel) came to me and greeted me with His voice, and said to me: 'This is the Son of Man who is born to righteousness; And righteousness abides over him, And the righteousness of the Head of Days forsakes him not.'¹⁵ And he said to me: 'He proclaims to you peace in the name of the world to come; For from hence has proceeded peace since the creation of the world, And so shall it be to you for ever and for ever and ever.¹⁶ And all shall walk in his ways since righteousness never forsakes him: With him will be their dwelling-places, and with him their heritage, And they shall not be separated from him for ever and ever and ever.¹⁷ And so there shall be length of days with that Son of Man, And the righteous shall have peace and an upright way In the name of the Adanay of Spirits for ever and ever.'

72 The book of the courses of the luminaries of the heaven, the relations of each, according to their classes, their dominion and their seasons, according to their names and places of origin, and according to their months, which Awarayaal, the holy angel, who was with me, who is their guide, showed me; and he showed me all their laws exactly as they are, and how it is with regard to all the years of the world and to eternity, till the new creation is accomplished which lasts till eternity.² And this is the first law of the luminaries: the luminary the Sun has its rising in the eastern portals of the heaven, and its setting in the western portals of the heaven.³ And I saw six portals in which the sun rises, and six portals in which the sun sets: and the moon rises and sets in these portals, and the leaders of the stars and those whom they lead: six in the east and six in the west, and all following each other in accurately corresponding order: also many windows to the right and left of these portals.⁴ And first there goes forth the great luminary, named the Sun, and his circumference is like the circumference of the heaven, and he is quite filled with illuminating and heating fire.⁵ The chariot on which he ascends, the wind drives, and the sun goes down from the heaven and returns through the north in order to reach the east, and is so guided that he comes to the appropriate (lit. 'that') portal and shines in the face of the heaven.⁶ In this way he rises in the first month in the great portal, which is the fourth those six portals in the east.⁷ And in that fourth portal from which the sun rises in the first month are twelve window-openings, from which proceed a flame when they are opened in their season.⁸ When the sun rises in the heaven, he comes forth through that fourth portal thirty mornings in succession, and sets accurately in the fourth portal in the west of the heaven.⁹ And during this period the day becomes daily longer and the night nightly shorter to the thirtieth morning.¹⁰ On that day the day is longer than the night by a ninth part, and the day amounts exactly to ten parts and the night to eight parts.¹¹ And the sun rises from that fourth portal, and sets in the fourth and returns to the fifth portal of the east thirty mornings, and rises from it and sets in the fifth portal.¹² And then the day becomes longer by two parts and amounts to eleven parts, and the night becomes shorter and amounts to seven parts.¹³ And it returns to the east and enters into the sixth portal, and rises and sets in the sixth portal one and thirty mornings on account of its sign.¹⁴ On that day the day becomes longer than the night, and the day becomes double the night, and the day becomes twelve parts, and the night is shortened and becomes six parts.¹⁵ And the sun mounts up to make the day shorter and the night longer, and the sun returns to the east and enters into the sixth portal, and rises from it and sets thirty mornings.¹⁶ And when thirty mornings are accomplished, the day decreases by exactly one part, and becomes eleven parts, and the night seven.¹⁷ And the sun goes forth from that sixth portal in the west, and goes to the east and rises in the fifth portal for thirty mornings, and sets in the west again in the fifth western portal.¹⁸ On that day the day decreases by two parts, and amounts to ten parts and the night to eight parts.¹⁹ And the sun goes forth from that fifth portal and sets in the fifth portal of the west, and rises in the fourth portal for one and thirty mornings on account of its sign, and sets in the west.²⁰ On that day the day is equalized with the night, and becomes of equal length, and the night amounts to nine parts and the day to nine parts.²¹ And the sun rises from that portal and sets in the west, and returns to the east and rises thirty mornings in the third portal and sets in the west in the third portal.²² And on that day the night becomes longer than the day, and night becomes longer than night, and day shorter than day till the thirtieth morning, and the night amounts exactly to ten parts and the day to eight parts.²³ And the sun rises from that third portal and sets in the third portal in the west and returns to the east, and for thirty mornings rises in the second portal in the east, and in like manner sets in the second portal in the west of the heaven.²⁴ And on that day the night amounts to eleven parts and the day to seven parts.²⁵ And the sun rises on that day from that second portal and sets in the west in the second portal, and returns to the east into the first portal for one and thirty mornings, and sets in the first portal in the west of the heaven.²⁶ And on that day the night becomes longer and amounts to the double of the day: and the night amounts exactly to twelve parts and the day to six.²⁷ And the sun has (therewith) traversed the divisions of his orbit and turns again on those divisions of his orbit, and enters that portal thirty mornings and sets also in the west opposite to it.²⁸ And on that night has the night decreased in length by a ninth part, and the night has become eleven parts and the day seven parts.²⁹ And the sun has returned and entered into the second portal in the east, and returns on those his divisions of his orbit for thirty mornings, rising and setting.³⁰ And on that day the night decreases in length, and the night amounts to ten parts and the day to eight.³¹ And on that day the sun rises from that portal, and sets in the west, and returns to the east, and rises in the third portal for one and thirty mornings, and sets in the west of the heaven.³² On that day the night decreases and amounts to nine parts, and the day to nine parts, and the night is equal to the day and the year is exactly as to its days three hundred and sixty-four.³³ And the length of the day and of the night, and the shortness of the day and of the night arise--through the course of the sun these distinctions are made (lit. 'they are separated').³⁴ So it comes that its course becomes daily longer, and its course nightly shorter.³⁵ And this is the law and the course of the sun, and his return as often as he returns sixty times and rises, i.e. the great luminary which is named the Sun, for ever and ever.³⁶ And that which (thus) rises is the great luminary, and is so named according to its appearance, according as the Adanay commanded.³⁷ As he rises, so he sets and decreases not, and rests not, but runs day and night, and his light is sevenfold brighter than that of the moon; but as regards size they are both equal.

73 And after this law I saw another law dealing with the smaller luminary, which is named the Moon. ² And her circumference is like the circumference of the heaven, and her chariot in which she rides is driven by the wind, and light is given to her in (definite) measure. ³ And her rising and setting change every month; and her days are like the days of the sun, and when her light is uniform (i.e. full) it amounts to the seventh part of the light of the sun. ⁴ And thus she rises. And her first phase in the east comes forth on the thirtieth morning; and on that day she becomes visible, and constitutes for you the first phase of the moon on the thirtieth day together with the sun in the portal where the sun rises. ⁵ And the one half of her goes forth by a seventh part, and her whole circumference is empty, without light, with the exception of one-seventh part of it, (and) the fourteenth part of her light. ⁶ And when she receives one-seventh part of the half of her light, her light amounts to one-seventh part and the half thereof. ⁷ And she sets with the sun, and when the sun rises the moon rises with him and receives the half of one part of light, and in that night in the beginning of her morning in the commencement of the lunar day the moon sets with the sun, and is invisible that night with the fourteen parts and the half of one of them. ⁸ And she rises on that day with exactly a seventh part, and comes forth and recedes from the rising of the sun, and in her remaining days she becomes bright in the (remaining) thirteen parts.

74 And I saw another course, a law for her, (and) how according to that law she performs her monthly revolution. ² And all these Awarayaal, the holy angel who is the leader of them all, showed to me, and their positions, and I wrote down their positions as he showed them to me, and I wrote down their months as they were, and the appearance of their lights till fifteen days were accomplished. ³ In single seventh parts she accomplishes all her light in the east, and in single seventh parts accomplishes all her darkness in the west. ⁴ And in certain months she alters her settings, and in certain months she pursues her own peculiar course. ⁵ In two months the moon sets with the sun in those two middle portals the third and the fourth. ⁶ She goes forth for seven days, and turns about and returns again through the portal where the sun rises, and accomplishes all her light: and she recedes from the sun, and in eight days enters the sixth portal from which the sun goes forth. ⁷ And when the sun goes forth from the fourth portal she goes forth seven days, until she goes forth from the fifth and turns back again in seven days into the fourth portal and accomplishes all her light: and she recedes and enters into the first portal in eight days. ⁸ And she returns again in seven days into the fourth portal from which the sun goes forth. ⁹ Thus I saw their position--how the moons rose and the sun set in those days. ¹⁰ And if five years are added together the sun has an overplus of thirty days, and all the days which accrue to it for one of those five years, when they are full, amount to 364 days. ¹¹ And the overplus of the sun and of the stars amounts to six days: in 5 years 6 days every year come to 30 days: and the moon falls behind the sun and stars to the number of 30 days. ¹² And the sun and the stars bring in all the years exactly, so that they do not advance or delay their position by a single day to eternity; but complete the years with perfect justice in 364 days. ¹³ In 3 years there are 1092 days, and in 5 years 1820 days, so that in 8 years there are 2912 days. ¹⁴ For the moon alone the days amount in 3 years to 1062 days, and in 5 years she falls 50 days behind: i.e. to the sum (of 1770) there is to be added (1000 and) 62 days. ¹⁵ And in 5 years there are 1770 days, so that for the moon the days in 8 years amount to 2832 days. ¹⁶ For in 8 years she falls behind to the amount of 80 days, all the days she falls behind in 8 years are 80. ¹⁷ And the year is accurately completed in conformity with their world-stations and the stations of the sun, which rise from the portals through which it (the sun) rises and sets 30 days.

75 And the leaders of the heads of the thousands, who are placed over the whole creation and over all the stars, have also to do with the four intercalary days, being inseparable from their office, according to the reckoning of the year, and these render service on the four days which are not reckoned in the reckoning of the year.

² And owing to them men go wrong therein, for those luminaries truly render service on the world-stations, one in the first portal, one in the third portal of the heaven, one in the fourth portal, and one in the sixth portal, and the exactness of the year is accomplished through its separate three hundred and sixty-four stations. ³ For the signs and the times and the years and the days the angel Awarayaal showed to me, whom the Adanay of glory has set for ever over all the luminaries of the heaven, in the heaven and in the world, that they should rule on the face of the heaven and be seen on the earth, and be leaders for the day and the night, i.e. the sun, moon, and stars, and all the ministering creatures which make their revolution in all the chariots of the heaven. ⁴ In like manner twelve doors Awarayaal showed me, open in the circumference of the sun's chariot in the heaven, through which the rays of the sun break forth: and from them is warmth diffused over the earth, when they are opened at their appointed seasons. ⁵ And for the winds and the spirit of the dew when they are opened, standing open in the heavens at the ends. ⁶ As for the twelve portals in the heaven, at the ends of the earth, out of which go forth the sun, moon, and stars, and all the works of heaven in the east and in the west, ⁷ There are many windows open to the left and right of them, and one window at its (appointed) season produces warmth, corresponding (as these do) to those doors from which the stars come forth according as He has commanded them, and wherein they set corresponding to their number. ⁸ And I saw chariots in the heaven, running in the world, above those portals in which revolve the stars that never set. ⁹ And one is larger than all the rest, and it is that that makes its course through the entire world.

76 And at the ends of the earth I saw twelve portals open to all the quarters (of the heaven), from which the winds go forth and blow over the earth. ² Three of them are open on the face (i.e. the east) of the heavens, and three in the west, and three on the right (i.e. the south) of the heaven, and three on the left (i.e. the north). ³ And the three first are those of the east, and three are of the north, and three after those on the left of the south, and three of the west. ⁴ Through four of these come winds of blessing and prosperity, and from those eight come hurtful winds: when they are sent, they bring destruction on all the earth and on the water upon it, and on all who dwell thereon, and on everything which is in the water and on the land. ⁵ And the first wind from those portals, called the east wind, comes forth through the first portal which is in the east, inclining towards the south: from it come forth desolation, drought, heat, and destruction. ⁶ And through the second portal in the middle comes what is fitting, and from it there come rain and fruitfulness and prosperity and dew; and through the third portal which lies toward the north come cold and drought. ⁷ And after these come forth the south winds through three portals: through the first portal of them inclining to the east comes forth a hot wind. ⁸ And through the middle portal next to it there come forth fragrant smells, and dew and rain, and prosperity and health. ⁹ And through the third portal lying to the west come forth dew and rain, locusts and desolation. ¹⁰ And after these the north winds: from the seventh portal in the east come dew and rain, locusts and desolation. ¹¹ And from the middle portal come in a direct direction health and rain and dew and prosperity; and through the third portal in the west come cloud and hoar-frost, and snow and rain, and dew and locusts. ¹² And after these four are the west winds: through the first portal adjoining the north come forth dew and hoar-frost, and cold and snow and frost. And from the middle portal come forth dew and rain, and prosperity and blessing; and through the last portal which adjoins the south come forth drought and desolation, and burning and destruction. ¹⁴ And the twelve portals of the four quarters of the heaven are therewith completed, and all their laws and all their plagues and all their benefactions have I shown to you, my son Mathawashalach.

77 And the first quarter is called the east, because it is the first: and the second, the south, because the Ilayawan will descend there, yea, there in quite a special sense will He who is blessed for ever descend. ² And the west quarter is named the diminished, because there all the luminaries of the heaven wane and go down. ³ And the fourth quarter, named the north, is divided into three parts: the first of them is for the dwelling of men: and the second contains seas of water, and the abysses and forests and rivers, and darkness and clouds; and the third part contains the garden of righteousness.⁴ I saw seven high mountains, higher than all the mountains which are on the earth: and thence comes forth hoar-frost, and days, seasons, and years pass away.⁵ I saw seven rivers on the earth larger than all the rivers: one of them coming from the west pours its waters into the Great Sea.⁶ And these two come from the north to the sea and pour their waters into the Erythraean Sea in the east.⁷ And the remaining four come forth on the side of the north to their own sea, two of them to the Erythraean Sea, and two into the Great Sea and discharge themselves there and some say: into the desert.⁸ Seven great islands I saw in the sea and in the mainland: two in the mainland and five in the Great Sea.

78 And the names of the sun are the following: the first Orjârês, and the second Tômâs.² And the moon has four names: the first name is Asônjâ, the second Eblâ, the third Banâsê, and the fourth Erâe.³ These are the two great luminaries: their circumference is like the circumference of the heaven, and the size of the circumference of both is alike.⁴ In the circumference of the sun there are seven portions of light which are added to it more than to the moon, and in definite measures it is transferred till the seventh portion of the sun is exhausted.⁵ And they set and enter the portals of the west, and make their revolution by the north, and come forth through the eastern portals on the face of the heaven.⁶ And when the moon rises one-fourteenth part appears in the heaven: the light becomes full in her: on the fourteenth day she accomplishes her light.⁷ And fifteen parts of light are transferred to her till the fifteenth day (when) her light is accomplished, according to the sign of the year, and she becomes fifteen parts, and the moon grows by (the addition of) fourteenth parts.⁸ And in her waning (the moon) decreases on the first day to fourteen parts of her light, on the second to thirteen parts of light, on the third to twelve, on the fourth to eleven, on the fifth to ten, on the sixth to nine, on the seventh to eight, on the eighth to seven, on the ninth to six, on the tenth to five, on the eleventh to four, on the twelfth to three, on the thirteenth to two, on the fourteenth to the half of a seventh, and all her remaining light disappears wholly on the fifteenth.⁹ And in certain months the month has twenty-nine days and once twenty-eight.¹⁰ And Awarayaal showed me another law: when light is transferred to the moon, and on which side it is transferred to her by the sun.¹¹ During all the period during which the moon is growing in her light, she is transferring it to herself when opposite to the sun during fourteen days her light is accomplished in the heaven, and when she is illumined throughout, her light is accomplished full in the heaven.¹² And on the first day she is called the new moon, for on that day the light rises upon her.¹³ She becomes full moon exactly on the day when the sun sets in the west, and from the east she rises at night, and the moon shines the whole night through till the sun rises over against her and the moon is seen over against the sun.¹⁴ On the side whence the light of the moon comes forth, there again she wanes till all the light vanishes and all the days of the month are at an end, and her circumference is empty, void of light.¹⁵ And three months she makes of thirty days, and at her time she makes three months of twenty-nine days each, in which she accomplishes her waning in the first period of time, and in the first portal for one hundred and seventy-seven days.¹⁶ And in the time of her going out she appears for three months (of) thirty days each, and for three months she appears (of) twenty-nine each.¹⁷ At night she appears like a man for twenty days each time, and by day she appears like the heaven, and there is nothing else in her save her light.

79 And now, my son, I have shown you everything, and the law of all the stars of the heaven is completed.² And he showed me all the laws of these for every day, and for every season of bearing rule, and for every year, and for its going forth, and for the order prescribed to it every month and every week:³ And the waning of the moon which takes place in the sixth portal: for in this sixth portal her light is accomplished, and after that there is the beginning of the waning:⁴ And the waning which takes place in the first portal in its season, till one hundred and seventy-seven days are accomplished: reckoned according to weeks, twenty-five (weeks) and two days.⁵ She falls behind the sun and the order of the stars exactly five days in the course of one period, and when this place which you see has been traversed.⁶ Such is the picture and sketch of every luminary which Awarayaal the archangel, who is their leader, showed to me.

80 And in those days the angel Awarayaal answered and said to me: 'Behold, I have shown you everything, Chanawak, and I have revealed everything to you that you should see this sun and this moon, and the leaders of the stars of the heaven and all those who turn them, their tasks and times and departures.² And in the days of the sinners the years shall be shortened, And their seed shall be tardy on their lands and fields, And all things on the earth shall alter, And shall not appear in their time: And the rain shall be kept back And the heaven shall withhold (it).³ And in those times the fruits of the earth shall be backward, And shall not grow in their time, And the fruits of the trees shall be withheld in their time.⁴ And the moon shall alter her order, And not appear at her time.⁵ And in those days the sun shall be seen and he shall journey in the evening on the extremity of the great chariot in the west And shall shine more brightly than accords with the order of light.⁶ And many chiefs of the stars shall transgress the order (prescribed). And these shall alter their orbits and tasks, And not appear at the seasons prescribed to them.⁷ And the whole order of the stars shall be concealed from the sinners, And the thoughts of those on the earth shall err concerning them, And they shall be altered from all their ways, Yea, they shall err and take them to be gods.⁸ And evil shall be multiplied upon them, And punishment shall come upon them So as to destroy all.'

81 And he said to me: 'Observe, Chanawak, these heavenly tablets, And read what is written thereon, And mark every individual fact.'² And I observed the heavenly tablets, and read everything which was written (thereon) and understood everything, and read the book of all the deeds of mankind, and of all the children of flesh that shall be upon the earth to the remotest generations.³ And forthwith I blessed the great Adanay the King of glory for ever, in that He has made all the works of the world, And I extolled the Adanay because of His patience, And blessed Him because of the children of men.⁴ And after that I said: 'Blessed is the man who dies in righteousness and goodness, Concerning whom there is no book of unrighteousness written, And against whom no day of judgement shall be found.'⁵ And those seven holy ones brought me and placed me on the earth before the door of my house, and said to me: 'Declare everything to your son Mathawashalach, and show to all your children that no flesh is righteous in the sight of the Adanay, for He is their Creator.'⁶ One year we will leave you with your son, till you give your (last) commands, that you may teach your children and record (it) for them, and testify to all your children; and in the second year they shall take you from their midst.⁷ Let your heart be strong, For the good shall announce righteousness to the good; The righteous with the righteous shall rejoice, And shall offer congratulation to one another.⁸ But the sinners shall die with the sinners, And the apostate go down with the apostate.⁹ And those who practice righteousness shall die on account of the deeds of men, And be taken away on account of the doings of the godless.'¹⁰ And in those days they ceased to speak to me, and I came to my people, blessing the Adanay of the world.

82 And now, my son Mathawashalach, all these things I am recounting to you and writing down for you, and I have revealed to you everything, and given you books concerning all these: so preserve, my son Mathawashalach, the books from your father's hand, and (see) that you deliver them to the generations of the world.² I have given Wisdom to you and to your children, And your children that shall be to you, That they may give it to their children for generations, This wisdom (namely) that passes their thought.³ And those who understand it shall not sleep, But shall listen with the ear that they may learn this wisdom, And it shall please those that eat thereof better than good food.⁴ Blessed are all the righteous, blessed are all those who walk in the way of righteousness and sin not as the sinners, in the reckoning of all their days in which the sun traverses the heaven, entering into and departing from the portals for thirty days with the heads of thousands of the order of the stars, together with the four which are intercalated which divide the four portions of the year, which lead them and enter with them four days.⁵ Owing to them men shall be at fault and not reckon them in the whole reckoning of the year: yea, men shall be at fault, and not recognize them accurately.⁶ For they belong to the reckoning of the year and are truly recorded (thereon) for ever, one in the first portal and one in the third, and one in the fourth and one in the sixth, and the year is completed in three hundred and sixty-four days.⁷ And the account thereof is accurate and the recorded reckoning thereof exact; for the luminaries, and months and festivals, and years and days, has Awarayaal shown and revealed to me, to whom the Adanay of the whole creation of the world has subjected the host of heaven.⁸ And he has power over night and day in the heaven to cause the light to give light to men--sun, moon, and stars, and all the powers of the heaven which revolve in their circular chariots.⁹ And these are the orders of the stars, which set in their places, and in their seasons and festivals and months.¹⁰ And these are the names of those who lead them, who watch that they enter at their times, in their orders, in their seasons, in their months, in their periods of dominion, and in their positions.¹¹ Their four leaders who divide the four parts of the year enter first; and after them the twelve leaders of the orders who divide the months; and for the three hundred and sixty (days) there are heads over thousands who divide the days; and for the four intercalary days there are the leaders which sunder the four parts of the year.¹² And these heads over thousands are intercalated between leader and leader, each behind a station, but their leaders make the division.¹³ And these are the names of the leaders who divide the four parts of the year which are ordained: Mîlkî'êl, Hêl'emmêlêk, and Mêl'êjal, and Nârêl.¹⁴ And the names of those who lead them: Adnâr'êl, and Îjâsûsa'êl, and 'Elômê'êl--these three follow the leaders of the orders, and there is one that follows the three leaders of the orders which follow those leaders of stations that divide the four parts of the year.¹⁵ In the beginning of the year Melkejâl rises first and rules, who is named Tam'âinî and sun, and all the days of his dominion whilst he bears rule are ninety-one days.¹⁶ And these are the signs of the days which are to be seen on earth in the days of his dominion: sweat, and heat, and calms; and all the trees bear fruit, and leaves are produced on all the trees, and the harvest of wheat, and the rose-flowers, and all the flowers which come forth in the field, but the trees of the winter season become withered.¹⁷ And these are the names of the leaders which are under them: Berka'êl, Zêlebs'êl, and another who is added a head of a thousand, called Hîlûjâs^{ph}: and the days of the dominion of this (leader) are at an end.¹⁸ The next leader after him is Hêl'emmêlêk, whom one names the shining sun, and all the days of his light are ninety-one days.¹⁹ And these are the signs of (his) days on the earth: glowing heat and dryness, and the trees ripen their fruits and produce all their fruits ripe and ready, and the sheep pair and become pregnant, and all the fruits of the earth are gathered in, and everything that is in the fields, and the winepress: these things take place in the days of his dominion.²⁰ These are the names, and the orders, and the leaders of those heads of thousands: Gîdâ'îjal, Kê'êl, and Hê'êl, and the name of the head of a thousand which is added to them, Asfâ'êl: and the days of his dominion are at an end.

83 And now, my son Mathawashalach, I will show you all my visions which I have seen, recounting them before you.² Two visions I saw before I took a wife, and the one was quite unlike the other: the first when I was learning to write: the second before I took your mother, (when) I saw a terrible vision. And regarding them I prayed to the Adanay.³ I had laid me down in the house of my grandfather Mahalalaal, (when) I saw in a vision how the heaven collapsed and was borne off and fell to the earth.⁴ And when it fell to the earth I saw how the earth was swallowed up in a great abyss, and mountains were suspended on mountains, and hills sank down on hills, and high trees were rent from their stems, and hurled down and sunk in the abyss.⁵ And thereupon a word fell into my mouth, and I lifted up (my voice) to cry aloud, and said: 'The earth is destroyed.'⁶ And my grandfather Mahalalaal waked me as I lay near him, and said to me: 'Why do you cry so, my son, and why do you make such lamentation?'⁷ And I recounted to him the whole vision which I had seen, and he said to me: 'A terrible thing have you seen, my son, and of grave moment is your dream-vision as to the secrets of all the sin of the earth: it must sink into the abyss and be destroyed with a great destruction.'⁸ And now, my son, arise and make petition to the Adanay of glory, since you are a believer, that a remnant may remain on the earth, and that He may not destroy the whole earth.⁹ My son, from heaven all this will come upon the earth, and upon the earth there will be great destruction.¹⁰ After that I arose and prayed and implored and besought, and wrote down my prayer for the generations of the world, and I will show everything to you, my son Mathawashalach.¹¹ And when I had gone forth below and seen the heaven, and the sun rising in the east, and the moon setting in the west, and a few stars, and the whole earth, and everything as He had known it in the beginning, then I blessed the Adanay of judgement and extolled Him because He had made the sun to go forth from the windows of the east, and he ascended and rose on the face of the heaven, and set out and kept traversing the path shown to him.

84 And I lifted up my hands in righteousness and blessed the Holy and Great One, and spoke with the breath of my mouth, and with the tongue of flesh, which Alahayam has made for the children of the flesh of men, that they should speak therewith, and He gave them breath and a tongue and a mouth that they should speak therewith:² 'Blessed be You, O Adanay, King, Great and mighty in Your greatness, Adanay of the whole creation of the heaven, King of kings and Alahayam of the whole world. And Your power and kingship and greatness abide for ever and ever, And throughout all generations Your dominion; And all the heavens are Your throne for ever, And the whole earth Your footstool for ever and ever.³ For You have made and You rule all things, And nothing is too hard for You, Wisdom departs not from the place of Your throne, Nor turns away from Your presence. And You know and see and hear everything, And there is nothing hidden from You for You see everything.⁴ And now the angels of Your heavens are guilty of trespass, And upon the flesh of men abides Your wrath until the great day of judgement.⁵ And now, O Alahayam and Adanay and Great King, I implore and beseech You to fulfil my prayer, To leave me a posterity on earth, And not destroy all the flesh of man, And make the earth without inhabitant, So that there should be an eternal destruction.⁶ And now, my Adanay, destroy from the earth the flesh which has aroused Your wrath, But the flesh of righteousness and uprightness establish as a plant of the eternal seed, And hide not Your face from the prayer of Your servant, O Adanay.'

85 And after this I saw another dream, and I will show the whole dream to you, my son.² And Chanawak lifted up (his voice) and spoke to his son Mathawashalach: 'To you, my son, will I speak: hear my words--incline your ear to the dream-vision of your father.'³ Before I took your mother Edna, I saw in a vision on my bed, and behold a bull came forth from the earth, and that bull was white; and after it came forth a heifer, and along with this (latter) came forth two bulls, one of them black and the other red.⁴ And that black bull gored the red one and pursued him over the earth, and thereupon I could no longer see that red bull.⁵ But that black bull grew and that heifer went with him, and I saw that many oxen proceeded from him which resembled and followed him.⁶ And that cow, that first one, went from the presence of that first bull in order to seek that red one, but found him not, and lamented with a great lamentation over him and sought him.⁷ And I looked till that first bull came to her and quieted her, and from that time onward she cried no more.⁸ And after that she bore another white bull, and after him she bore many bulls and black cows.⁹ And I saw in my sleep that white bull likewise grow and become a great white bull, and from Him proceeded many white bulls, and they resembled him. And they began to beget many white bulls, which resembled them, one following the other, (even) many.

86 And again I saw with mine eyes as I slept, and I saw the heaven above, and behold a star fell from heaven, and it arose and eat and pastured amongst those oxen.² And after that I saw the large and the black oxen, and behold they all changed their stalls and pastures and their cattle, and began to live with each other.³ And again I saw in the vision, and looked towards the heaven, and behold I saw many stars descend and cast themselves down from heaven to that first star, and they became bulls amongst those cattle and pastured with them amongst them.⁴ And I looked at them and saw, and behold they all let out their privy members, like horses, and began to cover the cows of the oxen, and they all became pregnant and bore elephants, camels, and asses.⁵ And all the oxen feared them and were affrighted at them, and began to bite with their teeth and to devour, and to gore with their horns.⁶ And they began, moreover, to devour those oxen; and behold all the children of the earth began to tremble and quake before them and to flee from them.

87 And again I saw how they began to gore each other and to devour each other, and the earth began to cry aloud.² And I raised mine eyes again to heaven, and I saw in the vision, and behold there came forth from heaven beings who were like white men: and four went forth from that place and three with them.³ And those three that had last come forth grasped me by my hand and took me up, away from the generations of the earth, and raised me up to a lofty place, and showed me a tower raised high above the earth, and all the hills were lower.⁴ And one said to me: 'Remain here till you see everything that befalls those elephants, camels, and asses, and the stars and the oxen, and all of them.'

88 And I saw one of those four who had come forth first, and he seized that first star which had fallen from the heaven, and bound it hand and foot and cast it into an abyss: now that abyss was narrow and deep, and horrible and dark.² And one of them drew a sword, and gave it to those elephants and camels and asses: then they began to smite each other, and the whole earth quaked because of them.³ And as I was beholding in the vision, lo, one of those four who had come forth stoned (them) from heaven, and gathered and took all the great stars whose privy members were like those of horses, and bound them all hand and foot, and cast them in an abyss of the earth.

89 And one of those four went to that white bull and instructed him in a secret, without his being terrified: he was born a bull and became a man, and built for himself a great vessel and dwelt thereon; and three bulls dwelt with him in that vessel and they were covered in.² And again I raised mine eyes towards heaven and saw a lofty roof, with seven water torrents thereon, and those torrents flowed with much water into an enclosure.³ And I saw again, and behold fountains were opened on the surface of that great enclosure, and that water began to swell and rise upon the surface, and I saw that enclosure till all its surface was covered with water.⁴ And the water, the darkness, and mist increased upon it; and as I looked at the height of that water, that water had risen above the height of that enclosure, and was streaming over that enclosure, and it stood upon the earth.⁵ And all the cattle of that enclosure were gathered together until I saw how they sank and were swallowed up and perished in that water.⁶ But that vessel floated on the water, while all the oxen and elephants and camels and asses sank to the bottom with all the animals, so that I could no longer see them, and they were not able to escape, (but) perished and sank into the depths.⁷ And again I saw in the vision till those water torrents were removed from that high roof, and the chasms of the earth were levelled up and other abysses were opened.⁸ Then the water began to run down into these, till the earth became visible; but that vessel settled on the earth, and the darkness retired and light appeared.⁹ But that white bull which had become a man came out of that vessel, and the three bulls with him, and one of those three was white like that bull, and one of them was red as blood, and one black: and that white bull departed from them.¹⁰ And they began to bring forth beasts of the field and birds, so that there arose different genera: lions, tigers, wolves, dogs, hyenas, wild boars, foxes, squirrels, swine, falcons, vultures, kites, eagles, and ravens; and among them was born a white bull.¹¹ And they began to bite one another; but that white bull which was born amongst them begat a wild ass and a white bull with it, and the wild asses multiplied.¹² But that bull which was born from him begat a black wild boar and a white sheep; and the former begat many boars, but that sheep begat twelve sheep.¹³ And when those twelve sheep had grown, they gave up one of them to the asses, and those asses again gave up that sheep to the wolves, and that sheep grew up among the wolves.¹⁴ And the Adanay brought the eleven sheep to live with it and to pasture with it among the wolves: and they multiplied and became many flocks of sheep.¹⁵ And the wolves began to fear them, and they oppressed them until they destroyed their little ones, and they cast their young into a river of much water: but those sheep began to cry aloud on account of their little ones, and to complain to their Adanay.¹⁶ And a sheep which had been saved from the wolves fled and escaped to the wild asses; and I saw the sheep how they lamented and cried, and besought their Adanay with all their might, till that Adanay of the sheep descended at the voice of the sheep from a lofty abode, and came to them and pastured them.¹⁷ And He called that sheep which had escaped the wolves, and spoke with it concerning the wolves that it should admonish them not to touch the sheep.¹⁸ And the sheep went to the wolves according to the word of the Adanay, and another sheep met it and went with it, and the two went and entered together into the assembly of those wolves, and spoke with them and admonished them not to touch the sheep from henceforth.¹⁹ And thereupon I saw the wolves, and how they oppressed the sheep exceedingly with all their power; and the sheep cried aloud.²⁰ And the Adanay came to the sheep and they began to smite those wolves: and the wolves began to make lamentation; but the sheep became quiet and forthwith ceased to cry out.²¹ And I saw the sheep till they departed from amongst the wolves; but the eyes of the wolves were blinded, and those wolves departed in pursuit of the sheep with all their power.²² And the Adanay of the sheep went with them, as their leader, and all His sheep followed Him: and his face was dazzling and glorious and terrible to behold.²³ But the wolves began to pursue those sheep till they reached a sea of water.²⁴ And that sea was divided, and the water stood on this side and on that before their face, and their Adanay led them and placed Himself between them and the wolves.²⁵ And as those wolves did not yet see the sheep, they proceeded into the midst of that sea, and the wolves followed the sheep, and those wolves ran after them into that sea.²⁶ And when they saw the Adanay of the sheep, they turned to flee before His face, but that sea gathered itself together, and became as it had been created, and the water swelled and rose till it covered those wolves.²⁷ And I saw till all the wolves who pursued those sheep perished and were drowned.²⁸ But the sheep escaped from that water and went forth into a wilderness, where there was no water and no grass; and they began to open their eyes and to see; and I saw the Adanay of the sheep pasturing them and giving them water and grass, and that sheep going and leading them.²⁹ And that sheep ascended to the summit of that lofty rock, and the Adanay of the sheep sent it to them.³⁰ And after that I saw the Adanay of the sheep who stood before them, and His appearance was great and terrible and majestic, and all those sheep saw Him and were afraid before His face.³¹ And they all feared and trembled because of Him, and they cried to that sheep with them which was amongst them: "We are not able to stand before our Adanay or to behold Him."³² And that sheep which led them again ascended to the summit of that rock, but the sheep began to be blinded and to wander from the way which he had showed them, but that sheep wot not thereof.³³ And the Adanay of the sheep was wrathful exceedingly against them, and that sheep discovered it, and went down from the summit of the rock, and came to the sheep, and found the greatest part of them blinded and fallen away.³⁴ And when they saw it they feared and trembled at its presence, and desired to return to their folds.³⁵ And that sheep took other sheep with it, and came to those sheep which had fallen away, and began to slay them; and the sheep feared its presence, and thus that sheep brought back those sheep that had fallen away, and they returned to their folds.³⁶ And I saw in this vision till that sheep became a man and built a house for the Adanay of the sheep, and placed all the sheep in that house.³⁷ And I saw till this sheep which had met that sheep which led them fell asleep: and I saw till all the great sheep perished and little ones arose in their place, and they came to a pasture, and approached a stream of water.³⁸ Then that sheep, their leader which had become a man, withdrew from them and fell asleep, and all the sheep sought it and cried over it with a great crying.³⁹ And I saw till they left off crying for that sheep and crossed that stream of water, and there arose the two sheep as leaders in the place of those which had led them and fallen asleep (lit. "had fallen asleep and led them").⁴⁰ And I saw till the sheep came to a goodly place, and a pleasant and glorious land, and I saw till those sheep were satisfied; and that house stood amongst them in the pleasant land.⁴¹ And sometimes their eyes were opened, and sometimes blinded, till another sheep arose and led them and brought them all back, and their eyes were opened.⁴² And the dogs and the foxes and the wild boars began to devour those sheep till the Adanay of the sheep raised up another sheep a ram from their midst, which led them.⁴³ And that ram began to butt on either side those dogs, foxes, and wild boars till he had destroyed them all.⁴⁴ And that sheep whose eyes were opened saw that ram, which was amongst the sheep, till it forsook its glory and began to butt those sheep, and trampled upon them, and behaved itself unseemly.⁴⁵ And the Adanay of the sheep sent the lamb to another lamb and raised it to being a ram and leader of the sheep instead of that ram which had forsaken its glory.⁴⁶ And it went to it and spoke to it alone, and raised it to being a ram, and made it the prince and leader of the sheep; but during all these things those dogs oppressed the sheep.⁴⁷ And the first ram pursued that second ram, and that second ram arose and fled before it; and I saw till those dogs pulled down the first ram.⁴⁸ And that second ram arose and led the little sheep.⁴⁹ And those sheep grew and multiplied; but all the dogs, and foxes, and wild boars feared and fled before it, and that ram butted and killed the wild beasts, and those wild beasts had no longer any power among the sheep and robbed them no more of aught. [89:48b] And that ram begat many sheep and fell asleep; and a little sheep became ram in its stead, and became prince and leader of those sheep.⁵⁰ And that house became great and broad, and it was built for those sheep: and a tower lofty and great was built on the house for the Adanay of the sheep, and that house was low, but the tower was elevated and lofty, and the Adanay of the sheep stood on that tower and they offered a full table before Him.⁵¹ And again I saw those sheep that they again erred and went many ways, and forsook that their house, and the Adanay of the sheep called some from amongst the sheep and sent them to the sheep, but the sheep began to slay them.⁵² And one of them was saved and was not slain, and it sped away and cried aloud over the sheep; and they sought to slay it, but the Adanay of the sheep saved it from the sheep, and brought it up to me, and caused it to dwell there.⁵³ And many other sheep He sent to those sheep to testify to them and lament over them.⁵⁴ And after that I saw that when they forsook the house of the Adanay and His tower they fell away entirely, and their eyes were blinded; and I saw the Adanay of the sheep how He wrought much slaughter amongst them in their herds until those sheep invited that slaughter and betrayed His place.⁵⁵ And He gave them over into the hands of the lions and tigers, and wolves and hyenas, and into the hand of the foxes, and to all the wild beasts, and those wild beasts began to tear in pieces those sheep.⁵⁶ And I saw that He forsook that their house and their tower and gave them all into the hand of the lions, to tear and devour them, into the hand of all the wild beasts.⁵⁷ And I began to cry aloud with all my power, and to appeal to the Adanay of the sheep, and to represent to Him in regard to the sheep that they were devoured by all the wild beasts.⁵⁸ But He remained unmoved, though He saw it, and rejoiced that they were devoured and swallowed and robbed, and left them to be devoured in the hand of all the beasts.⁵⁹ And He called seventy shepherds, and cast those sheep to them that they might pasture them, and He spoke to the shepherds and their companions: "Let each individual of you pasture the sheep henceforward, and everything that I shall command you that do you."⁶⁰ And I will deliver them over to you duly numbered, and tell you which of them are to be destroyed--and them destroy you." And He gave over to them those sheep.⁶¹ And He called another and spoke to him: "Observe and mark everything that the shepherds will do to those sheep; for they will destroy more of them than I have commanded them."⁶² And every excess and the destruction which will be wrought through the shepherds, record (namely) how many they destroy according to my command, and how many according to their own caprice: record against every individual shepherd all the destruction he effects.⁶³ And read out before me by number how many they destroy, and how many they deliver over for destruction, that I may have this as a testimony against them, and know every deed of the shepherds, that I may comprehend and see what they do, whether or not they abide by my command which I have commanded them.⁶⁴ But they shall not know it, and you shall not declare it to them, nor admonish them, but only record against each individual all the destruction which the shepherds effect each in his time and lay it all before me."⁶⁵ And I saw till those shepherds pastured in their season, and they began to slay and to destroy more than they were bidden, and they delivered those sheep into the hand of the lions.⁶⁶ And the lions and tigers eat and devoured the greater part of those sheep, and the wild boars eat along with them; and they burnt that tower and demolished that house.⁶⁷ And I became exceedingly sorrowful over that tower because that house of the sheep was demolished, and afterwards I was unable to see if those sheep entered that house.⁶⁸ And the shepherds and their associates delivered over those sheep to all the wild beasts, to devour them, and each one of them received in his time a definite number: it was written by the other in a book how many each one of them destroyed of them.⁶⁹ And each one slew and destroyed many more than was prescribed; and I began to weep and lament on account of those sheep.⁷⁰ And thus in the vision I saw that one who wrote, how he wrote down every one that was destroyed by those shepherds, day by day, and carried up and laid down and showed actually the whole book to the Adanay of the sheep--(even) everything that they had done, and all that each one of them had made away with, and all that they had given over to destruction.⁷¹ And the book was read before the Adanay of the sheep, and He took the book from his hand and read it and sealed it and laid it down.⁷² And forthwith I saw how the shepherds pastured for twelve hours, and behold three of those sheep turned back and came and entered and began to build up all that had fallen down of that house; but the wild boars tried to hinder them, but they were not able.⁷³ And they began again to build as before, and they reared up that tower, and it was named the high tower; and they began again to place a table before the tower, but all the bread on it was polluted and not pure.⁷⁴ And as touching all this the eyes of those sheep were blinded so that they saw not, and (the eyes of) their shepherds likewise; and they delivered them in large numbers to their shepherds for destruction, and they trampled the sheep with their feet and devoured them.⁷⁵ And the Adanay of the sheep remained unmoved till all the sheep were dispersed over the field and mingled with them (i.e. the beasts), and they (i.e. the shepherds) did not save them out of the hand of the beasts.⁷⁶ And this one who wrote the book carried it up, and showed it and read it before the Adanay of the sheep, and implored Him on their account, and besought Him on their account as he showed Him all the doings of the shepherds, and gave testimony before Him against all the shepherds. And he took the actual book and laid it down beside Him and departed.

90 And I saw till that in this manner thirty-five shepherds undertook the pasturing (of the sheep), and they severally completed their periods as did the first; and others received them into their hands, to pasture them for their period, each shepherd in his own period.² And after that I saw in my vision all the birds of heaven coming, the eagles, the vultures, the kites, the ravens; but the eagles led all the birds; and they began to devour those sheep, and to pick out their eyes and to devour their flesh.³ And the sheep cried out because their flesh was being devoured by the birds, and as for me I looked and lamented in my sleep over that shepherd who pastured the sheep.⁴ And I saw until those sheep were devoured by the dogs and eagles and kites, and they left neither flesh nor skin nor sinew remaining on them till only their bones stood there: and their bones too fell to the earth and the sheep became few.⁵ And I saw until that twenty-three had undertaken the pasturing and completed in their several periods fifty-eight times.⁶ But behold lambs were borne by those white sheep, and they began to open their eyes and to see, and to cry to the sheep.⁷ Yea, they cried to them, but they did not hearken to what they said to them, but were exceedingly deaf, and their eyes were very exceedingly blinded.⁸ And I saw in the vision how the ravens flew upon those lambs and took one of those lambs, and dashed the sheep in pieces and devoured them.⁹ And I saw till horns grew upon those lambs, and the ravens cast down their horns; and I saw till there sprouted a great horn of one of those sheep, and their eyes were opened.¹⁰ And it looked at them and their eyes opened, and it cried to the sheep, and the rams saw it and all ran to it.¹¹ And notwithstanding all this those eagles and vultures and ravens and kites still kept tearing the sheep and swooping down upon them and devouring them: still the sheep remained silent, but the rams lamented and cried out.¹² And those ravens fought and battled with it and sought to lay low its horn, but they had no power over it.¹³ And I saw till the shepherds and eagles and those vultures and kites came, and they cried to the ravens that they should break the horn of that ram, and they battled and fought with it, and it battled with them and cried that its help might come.¹⁴ And I saw till that man, who wrote down the names of the shepherds and carried up into the presence of the Adanay of the sheep came and helped it and showed it everything: he had come down for the help of that ram.¹⁵ And I saw till the Adanay of the sheep came to them in wrath, and all who saw Him fled, and they all fell into His shadow from before His face.¹⁶ All the eagles and vultures and ravens and kites were gathered together, and there came with them all the sheep of the field, yea, they all came together, and helped each other to break that horn of the ram.¹⁷ And I saw that man, who wrote the book according to the command of the Adanay, till he opened that book concerning the destruction which those twelve last shepherds had wrought, and showed that they had destroyed much more than their predecessors, before the Adanay of the sheep.¹⁸ And I saw till the Adanay of the sheep came to them and took in His hand the staff of His wrath, and smote the earth, and the earth clave asunder, and all the beasts and all the birds of the heaven fell from among those sheep, and were swallowed up in the earth and it covered them.¹⁹ And I saw till a great sword was given to the sheep, and the sheep proceeded against all the beasts of the field to slay them, and all the beasts and the birds of the heaven fled before their face.²⁰ And I saw till a throne was erected in the pleasant land, and the Adanay of the sheep sat Himself thereon, and the other took the sealed books and opened those books before the Adanay of the sheep.²¹ And the Adanay called those men the seven first white ones, and commanded that they should bring before Him, beginning with the first star which led the way, all the stars whose privy members were like those of horses, and they brought them all before Him.²² And He said to that man who wrote before Him, being one of those seven white ones, and said to him: "Take those seventy shepherds to whom I delivered the sheep, and who taking them on their own authority slew more than I commanded them."²³ And behold they were all bound, I saw, and they all stood before Him.²⁴ And the judgement was held first over the stars, and they were judged and found guilty, and went to the place of condemnation, and they were cast into an abyss, full of fire and flaming, and full of pillars of fire.²⁵ And those seventy shepherds were judged and found guilty, and they were cast into that fiery abyss.²⁶ And I saw at that time how a like abyss was opened in the midst of the earth, full of fire, and they brought those blinded sheep, and they were all judged and found guilty and cast into this fiery abyss, and they burned; now this abyss was to the right of that house.²⁷ And I saw those sheep burning and their bones burning.²⁸ And I stood up to see till they folded up that old house; and carried off all the pillars, and all the beams and ornaments of the house were at the same time folded up with it, and they carried it off and laid it in a place in the south of the land.²⁹ And I saw till the Adanay of the sheep brought a new house greater and loftier than that first, and set it up in the place of the first which had been folded up: all its pillars were new, and its ornaments were new and larger than those of the first, the old one which He had taken away, and all the sheep were within it.³⁰ And I saw all the sheep which had been left, and all the beasts on the earth, and all the birds of the heaven, falling down and doing homage to those sheep and making petition to and obeying them in every thing.³¹ And thereafter those three who were clothed in white and had seized me by my hand who had taken me up before, and the hand of that ram also seizing hold of me, they took me up and set me down in the midst of those sheep before the judgement took place.³² And those sheep were all white, and their wool was abundant and clean.³³ And all that had been destroyed and dispersed, and all the beasts of the field, and all the birds of the heaven, assembled in that house, and the Adanay of the sheep rejoiced with great joy because they were all good and had returned to His house.³⁴ And I saw till they laid down that sword, which had been given to the sheep, and they brought it back into the house, and it was sealed before the presence of the Adanay, and all the sheep were invited into that house, but it held them not.³⁵ And the eyes of them all were opened, and they saw the good, and there was not one among them that did not see.³⁶ And I saw that that house was large and broad and very full.³⁷ And I saw that a white bull was born, with large horns and all the beasts of the field and all the birds of the air feared him and made petition to him all the time.³⁸ And I saw till all their generations were transformed, and they all became white bulls; and the first among them became a lamb, and that lamb became a great animal and had great black horns on its head; and the Adanay of the sheep rejoiced over it and over all the oxen.³⁹ And I slept in their midst: and I awoke and saw everything.⁴⁰ This is the vision which I saw while I slept, and I awoke and blessed the Adanay of righteousness and gave Him glory.⁴¹ Then I wept with a great weeping and my tears stayed not till I could no longer endure it: when I saw, they flowed on account of what I had seen; for everything shall come and be fulfilled, and all the deeds of men in their order were shown to me.⁴² On that night I remembered the first dream, and because of it I wept and was troubled--because I had seen that vision.'

91 'And now, my son Mathawashalach, call to me all your brothers And gather together to me all the sons of your mother; For the word calls me, And the spirit is poured out upon me, That I may show you everything That shall befall you for ever.'² And there upon Mathawashalach went and summoned to him all his brothers and assembled his relatives.³ And he spoke to all the children of righteousness and said: 'Hear, you sons of Chanawak, all the words of your father, And hearken aright to the voice of my mouth; For I exhort you and say to you, beloved: Love uprightness and walk therein.'⁴ And draw not nigh to uprightness with a double heart, And associate not with those of a double heart, But walk in righteousness, my sons. And it shall guide you on good paths, And righteousness shall be your companion.'⁵ For I know that violence must increase on the earth, And a great chastisement be executed on the earth, And all unrighteousness come to an end: Yea, it shall be cut off from its roots, And its whole structure be destroyed.⁶ And unrighteousness shall again be consummated on the earth, And all the deeds of unrighteousness and of violence And transgression shall prevail in a twofold degree.⁷ And when sin and unrighteousness and blasphemy And violence in all kinds of deeds increase, And apostasy and transgression and uncleanness increase, A great chastisement shall come from heaven upon all these, And the holy Adanay will come forth with wrath and chastisement To execute judgement on earth.⁸ In those days violence shall be cut off from its roots, And the roots of unrighteousness together with deceit, And they shall be destroyed from under heaven.⁹ And all the idols of the heathen shall be abandoned, And the temples burned with fire, And they shall remove them from the whole earth, And they (i.e. the heathen) shall be cast into the judgement of fire, And shall perish in wrath and in grievous judgement for ever.¹⁰ And the righteous shall arise from their sleep, And wisdom shall arise and be given to them.¹¹ And after that the roots of unrighteousness shall be cut off, and the sinners shall be destroyed by the sword . . . shall be cut off from the blasphemers in every place, and those who plan violence and those who commit blasphemy shall perish by the sword.¹² And after that there shall be another, the eighth week, that of righteousness, And a sword shall be given to it that a righteous judgement may be executed on the oppressors, And sinners shall be delivered into the hands of the righteous.¹³ And at its close they shall acquire houses through their righteousness, And a house shall be built for the Great King in glory for evermore, [91:14d] And all mankind shall look to the path of uprightness, [91:14a] And after that, in the ninth week, the righteous judgement shall be revealed to the whole world, b. And all the works of the godless shall vanish from all the earth, c. And the world shall be written down for destruction.¹⁵ And after this, in the tenth week in the seventh part, There shall be the great eternal judgement, In which He will execute vengeance amongst the angels.¹⁶ And the first heaven shall depart and pass away, And a new heaven shall appear, And all the powers of the heavens shall give sevenfold light.¹⁷ And after that there will be many weeks without number for ever, And all shall be in goodness and righteousness, And sin shall no more be mentioned for ever.¹⁸ And now I tell you, my sons, and show you The paths of righteousness and the paths of violence. Yea, I will show them to you again That you may know what will come to pass.¹⁹ And now, hearken to me, my sons, And walk in the paths of righteousness, And walk not in the paths of violence; For all who walk in the paths of unrighteousness shall perish for ever.'

92 The book written by Chanawak--Chanawak indeed wrote this complete doctrine of wisdom, (which is) praised of all men and a judge of all the earth for all my children who shall dwell on the earth. And for the future generations who shall observe uprightness and peace.² Let not your spirit be troubled on account of the times; For the Holy and Great One has appointed days for all things.³ And the righteous one shall arise from sleep, Shall arise and walk in the paths of righteousness, And all his path and conversation shall be in eternal goodness and grace.⁴ He will be gracious to the righteous and give him eternal uprightness, And He will give him power so that he shall be (endowed) with goodness and righteousness. And he shall walk in eternal light.⁵ And sin shall perish in darkness for ever, And shall no more be seen from that day for evermore.

93 And after that Chanawak both gave and began to recount from the books. And Chanawak said: 'Concerning the children of righteousness and concerning the elect of the world, And concerning the plant of uprightness, I will speak these things, Yea, I Chanawak will declare (them) to you, my sons: According to that which appeared to me in the heavenly vision, And which I have known through the word of the holy angels, And have learnt from the heavenly tablets.'³ And Chanawak began to recount from the books and said: 'I was born the seventh in the first week, While judgement and righteousness still endured.⁴ And after me there shall arise in the second week great wickedness, And deceit shall have sprung up; And in it there shall be the first end. And in it a man shall be saved; And after it is ended unrighteousness shall grow up, And a law shall be made for the sinners.⁵ And after that in the third week at its close A man shall be elected as the plant of righteous judgement, And his posterity shall become the plant of righteousness for evermore.⁶ And after that in the fourth week, at its close, Visions of the holy and righteous shall be seen, And a law for all generations and an enclosure shall be made for them.⁷ And after that in the fifth week, at its close, The house of glory and dominion shall be built for ever.⁸ And after that in the sixth week all who live in it shall be blinded, And the hearts of all of them shall godlessly forsake wisdom. And in it a man shall ascend; And at its close the house of dominion shall be burnt with fire, And the whole race of the chosen root shall be dispersed.⁹ And after that in the seventh week shall an apostate generation arise, And many shall be its deeds, And all its deeds shall be apostate.¹⁰ And at its close shall be elected The elect righteous of the eternal plant of righteousness, To receive sevenfold instruction concerning all His creation.¹¹ For who is there of all the children of men that is able to hear the voice of the Holy One without being troubled? And who can think His thoughts? and who is there that can behold all the works of heaven?¹² And how should there be one who could behold the heaven, and who is there that could understand the things of heaven and see a soul or a spirit and could tell thereof, or ascend and see all their ends and think them or do like them?¹³ And who is there of all men that could know what is the breadth and the length of the earth, and to whom has been shown the measure of all of them?¹⁴ Or is there any one who could discern the length of the heaven and how great is its height, and upon what it is founded, and how great is the number of the stars, and where all the luminaries rest?

94 And now I say to you, my sons, love righteousness and walk therein; For the paths of righteousness are worthy of acceptance, But the paths of unrighteousness shall suddenly be destroyed and vanish.² And to certain men of a generation shall the paths of violence and of death be revealed, And they shall hold themselves afar from them, And shall not follow them.³ And now I say to you the righteous: Walk not in the paths of wickedness, nor in the paths of death, And draw not nigh to them, lest you be destroyed.⁴ But seek and choose for yourselves righteousness and an elect life, And walk in the paths of peace, And you shall live and prosper.⁵ And hold fast my words in the thoughts of your hearts, And suffer them not to be effaced from your hearts; For I know that sinners will tempt men to evilly-entreat wisdom, So that no place may be found for her, And no manner of temptation may minish.⁶ Woe to those who build unrighteousness and oppression And lay deceit as a foundation; For they shall be suddenly overthrown, And they shall have no peace.⁷ Woe to those who build their houses with sin; For from all their foundations shall they be overthrown, And by the sword shall they fall. And those who acquire gold and silver in judgement suddenly shall perish.⁸ Woe to you, you rich, for you have trusted in your riches, And from your riches shall you depart, Because you have not remembered the Ilayawan in the days of your riches.⁹ You have committed blasphemy and unrighteousness, And have become ready for the day of slaughter, And the day of darkness and the day of the great judgement.¹⁰ Thus I speak and declare to you: He who has created you will overthrow you, And for your fall there shall be no compassion, And your Creator will rejoice at your destruction.¹¹ And your righteous ones in those days shall be A reproach to the sinners and the godless.

95 Oh that mine eyes were a cloud of waters That I might weep over you, And pour down my tears as a cloud of waters: That so I might rest from my trouble of heart!² Who has permitted you to practice reproaches and wickedness? And so judgement shall overtake you, sinners.³ Fear not the sinners, you righteous; For again will the Adanay deliver them into your hands, That you may execute judgement upon them according to your desires.⁴ Woe to you who fulminate anathemas which cannot be reversed: Healing shall therefore be far from you because of your sins.⁵ Woe to you who requite your neighbour with evil; For you shall be requited according to your works.⁶ Woe to you, lying witnesses, And to those who weigh out injustice, For suddenly shall you perish.⁷ Woe to you, sinners, for you persecute the righteous; For you shall be delivered up and persecuted because of injustice, And heavy shall its yoke be upon you.

96 Be hopeful, you righteous; for suddenly shall the sinners perish before you, And you shall have lordship over them according to your desires.² And in the day of the tribulation of the sinners, Your children shall mount and rise as eagles, And higher than the vultures will be your nest, And you shall ascend and enter the crevices of the earth, And the clefts of the rock for ever as coneys before the unrighteous, And the sirens shall sigh because of you and weep.³ Therefore fear not, you that have suffered; For healing shall be your portion, And a bright light shall enlighten you, And the voice of rest you shall hear from heaven.⁴ Woe to you, you sinners, for your riches make you appear like the righteous, But your hearts convict you of being sinners, And this fact shall be a testimony against you for a memorial of (your) evil deeds.⁵ Woe to you who devour the finest of the wheat, And drink wine in large bowls, And tread under foot the lowly with your might.⁶ Woe to you who drink water from every fountain, For suddenly shall you be consumed and wither away, Because you have forsaken the fountain of life.⁷ Woe to you who work unrighteousness And deceit and blasphemy: It shall be a memorial against you for evil.⁸ Woe to you, you mighty, Who with might oppress the righteous; For the day of your destruction is coming. In those days many and good days shall come to the righteous—in the day of your judgement.

97 Believe, you righteous, that the sinners will become a shame And perish in the day of unrighteousness.² Be it known to you (you sinners) that the Ilayawan is mindful of your destruction, And the angels of heaven rejoice over your destruction.³ What will you do, you sinners, And where will you flee on that day of judgement, When you hear the voice of the prayer of the righteous?⁴ Yea, you shall fare like to them, Against whom this word shall be a testimony: "You have been companions of sinners."⁵ And in those days the prayer of the righteous shall reach to the Adanay, And for you the days of your judgement shall come.⁶ And all the words of your unrighteousness shall be read out before the Great Holy One, And your faces shall be covered with shame, And He will reject every work which is grounded on unrighteousness.⁷ Woe to you, you sinners, who live on the mid ocean and on the dry land, Whose remembrance is evil against you.⁸ Woe to you who acquire silver and gold in unrighteousness and say: "We have become rich with riches and have possessions; And have acquired everything we have desired."⁹ And now let us do what we purposed: For we have gathered silver, [97:9d] And many are the husbandmen in our houses." [97:9e] And our granaries are (brim) full as with water,¹⁰ Yea and like water your lies shall flow away; For your riches shall not abide But speedily ascend from you; For you have acquired it all in unrighteousness, And you shall be given over to a great curse.

98 And now I swear to you, to the wise and to the foolish, For you shall have manifold experiences on the earth.² For you men shall put on more adornments than a woman, And coloured garments more than a virgin: In royalty and in grandeur and in power, And in silver and in gold and in purple, And in splendour and in food they shall be poured out as water.³ Therefore they shall be wanting in doctrine and wisdom, And they shall perish thereby together with their possessions; And with all their glory and their splendour, And in shame and in slaughter and in great destitution, Their spirits shall be cast into the furnace of fire.⁴ I have sworn to you, you sinners, as a mountain has not become a slave, And a hill does not become the handmaid of a woman, Even so sin has not been sent upon the earth, But man of himself has created it, And under a great curse shall they fall who commit it.⁵ And barrenness has not been given to the woman, But on account of the deeds of her own hands she dies without children.⁶ I have sworn to you, you sinners, by the Holy Great One, That all your evil deeds are revealed in the heavens, And that none of your deeds of oppression are covered and hidden.⁷ And do not think in your spirit nor say in your heart that you do not know and that you do not see that every sin is every day recorded in heaven in the presence of the Ilayawan.

⁸ From henceforth you know that all your oppression wherewith you oppress is written down every day till the day of your judgement.⁹ Woe to you, you fools, for through your folly shall you perish: and you transgress against the wise, and so good hap shall not be your portion.¹⁰ And now, know you that you are prepared for the day of destruction: therefore do not hope to live, you sinners, but you shall depart and die; for you know no ransom; for you are prepared for the day of the great judgement, for the day of tribulation and great shame for your spirits.¹¹ Woe to you, you obstinate of heart, who work wickedness and eat blood: Whence have you good things to eat and to drink and to be filled? From all the good things which the Adanay the Ilayawan has placed in abundance on the earth; therefore you shall have no peace.¹² Woe to you who love the deeds of unrighteousness: therefore do you hope for good hap to yourselves? know that you shall be delivered into the hands of the righteous, and they shall cut off your necks and slay you, and have no mercy upon you.¹³ Woe to you who rejoice in the tribulation of the righteous; for no grave shall be dug for you.¹⁴ Woe to you who set at naught the words of the righteous; for you shall have no hope of life.¹⁵ Woe to you who write down lying and godless words; for they write down their lies that men may hear them and act godlessly towards (their) neighbour.¹⁶ Therefore they shall have no peace but die a sudden death.

99 Woe to you who work godlessness, And glory in lying and extol them: You shall perish, and no happy life shall be yours.² Woe to them who pervert the words of uprightness, And transgress the eternal law, And transform themselves into what they were not into sinners: They shall be trodden under foot upon the earth.³ In those days make ready, you righteous, to raise your prayers as a memorial, And place them as a testimony before the angels, That they may place the sin of the sinners for a memorial before the Ilayawan.⁴ In those days the nations shall be stirred up, And the families of the nations shall arise on the day of destruction.⁵ And in those days the destitute shall go forth and carry off their children, And they shall abandon them, so that their children shall perish through them: Yea, they shall abandon their children (that are still) sucklings, and not return to them, And shall have no pity on their beloved ones.⁶ And again I swear to you, you sinners, that sin is prepared for a day of unceasing bloodshed.⁷ And they who worship stones, and grave images of gold and silver and wood and stone and clay, and those who worship impure spirits and demons, and all kinds of idols not according to knowledge, shall get no manner of help from them.⁸ And they shall become godless by reason of the folly of their hearts, And their eyes shall be blinded through the fear of their hearts And through visions in their dreams.⁹ Through these they shall become godless and fearful; For they shall have wrought all their work in a lie, And shall have worshiped a stone: Therefore in an instant shall they perish.¹⁰ But in those days blessed are all they who accept the words of wisdom, and understand them, And observe the paths of the Ilayawan, and walk in the path of His righteousness, And become not godless with the godless; For they shall be saved.¹¹ Woe to you who spread evil to your neighbours; For you shall be slain in Sheol.¹² Woe to you who make deceitful and false measures, And (to them) who cause bitterness on the earth; For they shall thereby be utterly consumed.¹³ Woe to you who build your houses through the grievous toil of others, And all their building materials are the bricks and stones of sin; I tell you you shall have no peace.¹⁴ Woe to them who reject the measure and eternal heritage of their fathers And whose souls follow after idols; For they shall have no rest.¹⁵ Woe to them who work unrighteousness and help oppression, And slay their neighbours until the day of the great judgement.¹⁶ For He shall cast down your glory, And bring affliction on your hearts, And shall arouse His fierce indignation, And destroy you all with the sword; And all the holy and righteous shall remember your sins.

100 And in those days in one place the fathers together with their sons shall be smitten And brothers one with another shall fall in death Till the streams flow with their blood.² For a man shall not withhold his hand from slaying his sons and his sons' sons, And the sinner shall not withhold his hand from his honoured brother: From dawn till sunset they shall slay one another.³ And the horse shall walk up to the breast in the blood of sinners, And the chariot shall be submerged to its height.⁴ In those days the angels shall descend into the secret places And gather together into one place all those who brought down sin And the Ilayawan will arise on that day of judgement To execute great judgement amongst sinners.⁵ And over all the righteous and holy He will appoint guardians from amongst the holy angels To guard them as the apple of an eye, Until He makes an end of all wickedness and all sin, And though the righteous sleep a long sleep, they have nought to fear.⁶ And (then) the children of the earth shall see the wise in security, And shall understand all the words of this book, And recognize that their riches shall not be able to save them In the overthrow of their sins.⁷ Woe to you, sinners, on the day of strong anguish, You who afflict the righteous and burn them with fire: You shall be requited according to your works.⁸ Woe to you, you obstinate of heart, Who watch in order to devise wickedness: Therefore shall fear come upon you And there shall be none to help you.⁹ Woe to you, you sinners, on account of the words of your mouth, And on account of the deeds of your hands which your godlessness as wrought, In blazing flames burning worse than fire shall you burn.¹⁰ And now, know you that from the angels He will inquire as to your deeds in heaven, from the sun and from the moon and from the stars in reference to your sins because upon the earth you execute judgement on the righteous.¹¹ And He will summon to testify against you every cloud and mist and dew and rain; for they shall all be withheld because of you from descending upon you, and they shall be mindful of your sins.¹² And now give presents to the rain that it be not withheld from descending upon you, nor yet the dew, when it has received gold and silver from you that it may descend.¹³ When the hoar-frost and snow with their chilliness, and all the snow-storms with all their plagues fall upon you, in those days you shall not be able to stand before them.

101 Observe the heaven, you children of heaven, and every work of the Ilayawan, and fear you Him and work no evil in His presence.² If He closes the windows of heaven, and withholds the rain and the dew from descending on the earth on your account, what will you do then?³ And if He sends His anger upon you because of your deeds, you cannot petition Him; for you spoke proud and insolent words against His righteousness: therefore you shall have no peace.⁴ And see you not the sailors of the ships, how their ships are tossed to and fro by the waves, and are shaken by the winds, and are in sore trouble?⁵ And therefore do they fear because all their goodly possessions go upon the sea with them, and they have evil forebodings of heart that the sea will swallow them and they will perish therein.⁶ Are not the entire sea and all its waters, and all its movements, the work of the Ilayawan, and has He not set limits to its doings, and confined it throughout by the sand?⁷ And at His reproof it is afraid and dries up, and all its fish die and all that is in it; But you sinners that are on the earth fear Him not.⁸ Has He not made the heaven and the earth, and all that is therein? Who has given understanding and wisdom to everything that moves on the earth and in the sea?⁹ Do not the sailors of the ships fear the sea? Yet sinners fear not the Ilayawan.

102 In those days when He has brought a grievous fire upon you, Where will you flee, and where will you find deliverance? And when He launches forth His Word against you Will you not be affrighted and fear?² And all the luminaries shall be affrighted with great fear, And all the earth shall be affrighted and tremble and be alarmed.³ And all the angels shall execute their commands And shall seek to hide themselves from the presence of the Great Glory, And the children of earth shall tremble and quake; And you sinners shall be cursed for ever, And you shall have no peace.⁴ Fear you not, you souls of the righteous, And be hopeful you that have died in righteousness.⁵ And grieve not if your soul into Sheol has descended in grief, And that in your life your body fared not according to your goodness, But wait for the day of the judgement of sinners And for the day of cursing and chastisement.⁶ And yet when you die the sinners speak over you: "As we die, so die the righteous, And what benefit do they reap for their deeds?"⁷ Behold, even as we, so do they die in grief and darkness, And what have they more than we? From henceforth we are equal.⁸ And what will they receive and what will they see for ever? Behold, they too have died, And henceforth for ever shall they see no light."⁹ I tell you, you sinners, you are content to eat and drink, and rob and sin, and strip men naked, and acquire wealth and see good days.¹⁰ Have you seen the righteous how their end falls out, that no manner of violence is found in them till their death?¹¹ "Nevertheless they perished and became as though they had not been, and their spirits descended into Sheol in tribulation."

103 Now, therefore, I swear to you, the righteous, by the glory of the Great and Honoured and Mighty One in dominion, and by His greatness I swear to you:² I know a mystery And have read the heavenly tablets, And have seen the holy books, And have found written therein and inscribed regarding them:³ That all goodness and joy and glory are prepared for them, And written down for the spirits of those who have died in righteousness, And that manifold good shall be given to you in recompense for your labours, And that your lot is abundantly beyond the lot of the living.⁴ And the spirits of you who have died in righteousness shall live and rejoice, And their spirits shall not perish, nor their memorial from before the face of the Great One To all the generations of the world: therefore no longer fear their contumely.⁵ Woe to you, you sinners, when you have died, If you die in the wealth of your sins, And those who are like you say regarding you: 'Blessed are the sinners: they have seen all their days.'⁶ And how they have died in prosperity and in wealth, And have not seen tribulation or murder in their life; And they have died in honour, And judgement has not been executed on them during their life."⁷ Know you, that their souls will be made to descend into Sheol And they shall be wretched in their great tribulation.⁸ And into darkness and chains and a burning flame where there is grievous judgement shall your spirits enter; And the great judgement shall be for all the generations of the world. Woe to you, for you shall have no peace.⁹ Say not in regard to the righteous and good who are in life: "In our troubled days we have toiled laboriously and experienced every trouble, And met with much evil and been consumed, And have become few and our spirit small."¹⁰ And we have been destroyed and have not found any to help us even with a word: We have been tortured and destroyed, and not hoped to see life from day to day.¹¹ We hoped to be the head and have become the tail: We have toiled laboriously and had no satisfaction in our toil; And we have become the food of the sinners and the unrighteous, And they have laid their yoke heavily upon us.¹² They have had dominion over us that hated us and smote us; And to those that hated us we have bowed our necks But they pitied us not.¹³ We desired to get away from them that we might escape and be at rest, But found no place whereunto we should flee and be safe from them.¹⁴ And are complained to the rulers in our tribulation, And cried out against those who devoured us, But they did not attend to our cries And would not hearken to our voice.¹⁵ And they helped those who robbed us and devoured us and those who made us few; and they concealed their oppression, and they did not remove from us the yoke of those that devoured us and dispersed us and murdered us, and they concealed their murder, and remembered not that they had lifted up their hands against us.

104 I swear to you, that in heaven the angels remember you for good before the glory of the Great One: and your names are written before the glory of the Great One.² Be hopeful; for aforesaid you were put to shame through ill and affliction; but now you shall shine as the lights of heaven, you shall shine and you shall be seen, and the portals of heaven shall be opened to you.³ And in your cry, cry for judgement, and it shall appear to you; for all your tribulation shall be visited on the rulers, and on all who helped those who plundered you.⁴ Be hopeful, and cast not away your hopes for you shall have great joy as the angels of heaven.⁵ What shall you be obliged to do? You shall not have to hide on the day of the great judgement and you shall not be found as sinners, and the eternal judgement shall be far from you for all the generations of the world.⁶ And now fear not, you righteous, when you see the sinners growing strong and prospering in their ways: be not companions with them, but keep afar from their violence; for you shall become companions of the hosts of heaven.⁷ And, although you sinners say: "All our sins shall not be searched out and be written down," nevertheless they shall write down all your sins every day.⁸ And now I show to you that light and darkness, day and night, see all your sins.⁹ Be not godless in your hearts, and lie not and alter not the words of uprightness, nor charge with lying the words of the Holy Great One, nor take account of your idols; for all your lying and all your godlessness issue not in righteousness but in great sin.¹⁰ And now I know this mystery, that sinners will alter and pervert the words of righteousness in many ways, and will speak wicked words, and lie, and practice great deceits, and write books concerning their words.¹¹ But when they write down truthfully all my words in their languages, and do not change or minish ought from my words but write them all down truthfully--all that I first testified concerning them.¹² Then, I know another mystery, that books will be given to the righteous and the wise to become a cause of joy and uprightness and much wisdom.¹³ And to them shall the books be given, and they shall believe in them and rejoice over them, and then shall all the righteous who have learnt therefrom all the paths of uprightness be recompensed.'

105 In those days the Adanay bade (them) to summon and testify to the children of earth concerning their wisdom: Show (it) to them; for you are their guides, and a recompense over the whole earth.² For I and My son will be united with them for ever in the paths of uprightness in their lives; and you shall have peace: rejoice, you children of uprightness. Amen.

106 And after some days my son Mathawashalach took a wife for his son Lamak, and she became pregnant by him and bore a son.² And his body was white as snow and red as the blooming of a rose, and the hair of his head and his long locks were white as wool, and his eyes beautiful. And when he opened his eyes, he lighted up the whole house like the sun, and the whole house was very bright.³ And thereupon he arose in the hands of the midwife, opened his mouth, and conversed with the Adanay of righteousness.⁴ And his father Lamak was afraid of him and fled, and came to his father Mathawashalach.⁵ And he said to him: 'I have begotten a strange son, diverse from and unlike man, and resembling the sons of the Alahayam of heaven; and his nature is different and he is not like us, and his eyes are as the rays of the sun, and his countenance is glorious.⁶ And it seems to me that he is not sprung from me but from the angels, and I fear that in his days a wonder may be wrought on the earth.⁷ And now, my father, I am here to petition you and implore you that you may go to Chanawak, our father, and learn from him the truth, for his dwelling-place is amongst the angels.'⁸ And when Mathawashalach heard the words of his son, he came to me to the ends of the earth; for he had heard that I was there, and he cried aloud, and I heard his voice and I came to him. And⁹ And he answered and said: 'Because of a great cause of anxiety have I come to you, and because of a disturbing vision have I approached.¹⁰ And now, my father, hear me: to Lamak my son there has been born a son, the like of whom there is none, and his nature is not like man's nature, and the colour of his body is whiter than snow and redder than the bloom of a rose, and the hair of his head is whiter than white wool, and his eyes are like the rays of the sun, and he opened his eyes and thereupon lighted up the whole house.¹¹ And he arose in the hands of the midwife, and opened his mouth and blessed the Adanay of heaven.¹² And his father Lamak became afraid and fled to me, and did not believe that he was sprung from him, but that he was in the likeness of the angels of heaven; and behold I have come to you that you may make known to me the truth.'¹³ And I, Chanawak, answered and said to him:

'The Adanay will do a new thing on the earth, and this I have already seen in a vision, and make known to you that in the generation of my father Yarad some of the angels of heaven transgressed the word of the Adanay.¹⁴ And behold they commit sin and transgress the law, and have united themselves with women and commit sin with them, and have married some of them, and have begot children by them.¹⁵ Yea, there shall come a great destruction over the whole earth, and there shall be a deluge and a great destruction for one year.¹⁶ And this son who has been born to you shall be left on the earth, and his three children shall be saved with him: when all mankind that are on the earth shall die [he and his sons shall be saved].¹⁷ And they shall produce on the earth giants not according to the spirit, but according to the flesh, and there shall be a great punishment on the earth, and the earth shall be cleansed from all impurity.¹⁸ And now make known to your son Lamak that he who has been born is in truth his son, and call his name Nach; for he shall be left to you, and he and his sons shall be saved from the destruction, which shall come upon the earth on account of all the sin and all the unrighteousness, which shall be consummated on the earth in his days.¹⁹ And after that there shall be still more unrighteousness than that which was first consummated on the earth; for I know the mysteries of the holy ones; for He, the Adanay, has showed me and informed me, and I have read (them) in the heavenly tablets.

107 And I saw written on them that generation upon generation shall transgress, till a generation of righteousness arises, and transgression is destroyed and sin passes away from the earth, and all manner of good comes upon it.² And now, my son, go and make known to your son Lamak that this son, which has been born, is in truth his son, and that (this) is no lie.'³ And when Mathawashalach had heard the words of his father Chanawak--for he had shown to him everything in secret--he returned and showed (them) to him and called the name of that son Nach; for he will comfort the earth after all the destruction.

108 Another book which Chanawak wrote for his son Mathawashalach and for those who will come after him, and keep the law in the last days.² You who have done good shall wait for those days till an end is made of those who work evil; and an end of the might of the transgressors.³ And wait you indeed till sin has passed away, for their names shall be blotted out of the book of life and out of the holy books, and their seed shall be destroyed for ever, and their spirits shall be slain, and they shall cry and make lamentation in a place that is a chaotic wilderness, and in the fire shall they burn; for there is no earth there.⁴ And I saw there something like an invisible cloud; for by reason of its depth I could not look over, and I saw a flame of fire blazing brightly, and things like shining mountains circling and sweeping to and fro.⁵ And I asked one of the holy angels who was with me and said to him: 'What is this shining thing? for it is not a heaven but only the flame of a blazing fire, and the voice of weeping and crying and lamentation and strong pain.'⁶ And he said to me: 'This place which you see--here are cast the spirits of sinners and blasphemers, and of those who work wickedness, and of those who pervert everything that the Adanay has spoken through the mouth of the prophets--(even) the things that shall be.'⁷ For some of them are written and inscribed above in the heaven, in order that the angels may read them and know that which shall befall the sinners, and the spirits of the humble, and of those who have afflicted their bodies, and been recompensed by Alahayam; and of those who have been put to shame by wicked men:⁸ Who love Alahayam and loved neither gold nor silver nor any of the good things which are in the world, but gave over their bodies to torture.⁹ Who, since they came into being, longed not after earthly food, but regarded everything as a passing breath, and lived accordingly, and the Adanay tried them much, and their spirits were found pure so that they should bless His name.¹⁰ And all the blessings destined for them I have recounted in the books. And he has assigned them their recompense, because they have been found to be such as loved heaven more than their life in the world, and though they were trodden under foot of wicked men, and experienced abuse and reviling from them and were put to shame, yet they blessed Me.

¹¹ And now I will summon the spirits of the good who belong to the generation of light, and I will transform those who were born in darkness, who in the flesh were not recompensed with such honour as their faithfulness deserved. ¹² And I will bring forth in shining light those who have loved My holy name, and I will seat each on the throne of his honour. ¹³ And they shall be resplendent for times without number; for righteousness is the judgement of Alahayam; for to the faithful He will give faithfulness in the habitation of upright paths. ¹⁴ And they shall see those who were, born in darkness led into darkness, while the righteous shall be resplendent. ¹⁵ And the sinners shall cry aloud and see them resplendent, and they indeed will go where days and seasons are prescribed for them.'

1 There was a wise man, a great artificer, and the Adanay conceived love for him and received him, that he should behold the uppermost dwellings and be an eye-witness of the wise and great and inconceivable and immutable realm of Al Shaday, of the very wonderful and glorious and bright and many-eyed station of the Adanay's servants, and of the inaccessible throne of the Adanay, and of the degrees and manifestations of the incorporeal hosts, and of the ineffable ministration of the multitude of the elements, and of the various apparition and inexpressible singing of the host of Cherubim, and of the boundless light. ² At that time, he said, when my one hundred and sixty-fifth year was completed, I begat my son Mathusal (Mathawashalach). ³ After this too I lived two hundred years and completed of all the years of my life three hundred and sixty-five years. ⁴ On the first day of the month I was in my house alone and was resting on my bed and slept. ⁵ And when I was asleep, great distress came up into my heart, and I was weeping with my eyes in sleep, and I could not understand what this distress was, or what would happen to me. ⁶ And there appeared to me two men, exceeding big, so that I never saw such on earth; their faces were shining like the sun, their eyes too (were) like a burning light, and from their lips was fire coming forth with clothing and singing of various kinds in appearance purple, their wings (were) brighter than gold, their hands whiter than snow. ⁷ They were standing at the head of my bed and began to call me by my name. ⁸ And I arose from my sleep and saw clearly those two men standing in front of me. ⁹ And I saluted them and was seized with fear and the appearance of my face was changed from terror, and those men said to me: ¹⁰ Have courage, Chanawak, do not fear; the eternal Alahayam sent us to you, and lo! You shall today ascend with us into heaven, and you shall tell your sons and all your household all that they shall do without you on earth in your house, and let no one seek you till the Adanay return you to them. ¹¹ And I made haste to obey them and went out from my house, and made to the doors, as it was ordered me, and summoned my sons Mathusal (Mathawashalach) and Regim and Gaidad and made known to them all the marvels those (men) had told me.

2 Listen to me, my children, I know not where I go, or what will befall me; now therefore, my children, I tell you: turn not from Alahayam before the face of the vain, who made not Heaven and earth, for these shall perish and those who worship them, and may the Adanay make confident your hearts in the fear of him. And now, my children, let no one think to seek me, until the Adanay return me to you.

3 It came to pass, when Chanawak had told his sons, that the angels took him on to their wings and bore him up on to the first heaven and placed him on the clouds. And there I looked, and again I looked higher, and saw the ether, and they placed me on the first heaven and showed me a very great Sea, greater than the earthly sea.

4 They brought before my face the elders and rulers of the stellar orders, and showed me two hundred angels, who rule the stars and (their) services to the heavens, and fly with their wings and come round all those who sail.

5 And here I looked down and saw the treasure-houses of the snow, and the angels who keep their terrible store-houses, and the clouds whence they come out and into which they go.

6 They showed me the treasure-house of the dew, like oil of the olive, and the appearance of its form, as of all the flowers of the earth; further many angels guarding the treasurehouses of these (things), and how they are made to shut and open.

7 And those men took me and led me up on to the second heaven, and showed me darkness, greater than earthly darkness, and there I saw prisoners hanging, watched, awaiting the great and boundless judgment, and these angels (spirits) were dark-looking, more than earthly darkness, and incessantly making weeping through all hours. ² And I said to the men who were with me: Therefore are these incessantly tortured? They answered me: These are Alahayam's apostates, who obeyed not Alahayam's commands, but took counsel with their own will, and turned away with their prince, who also (is) fastened on the fifth heaven. ³ And I felt great pity for them, and they saluted me, and said to me: Man of Alahayam, pray for us to the Adanay; and I answered to them: Who am I, a mortal man, that I should pray for angels (spirits)? Who knows where I go, or what will befall me? Or who will pray for me?

8 And those men took me thence, and led me up on to the third heaven, and placed me there; and I looked downwards, and saw the produce of these places, such as has never been known for goodness. ² And I saw all the sweet-flowering trees and beheld their fruits, which were sweetsmelling, and all the foods borne (by them) bubbling with fragrant exhalation. ³ And in the midst of the trees that of life, in that place whereon the Adanay rests, when he goes up into paradise; and this tree is of ineffable goodness and fragrance, and adorned more than every existing thing; and on all sides (it is) in form gold-looking and vermilion and fire-like and covers all, and it has produce from all fruits. ⁴ Its root is in the garden at the earth's end. ⁵ And paradise is between corruptibility and incorruptibility. ⁶ And two springs come out which send forth honey and milk, and their springs send forth oil and wine, and they separate into four parts, and go round with quiet course, and go down into the PARADISE OF EDEN, between corruptibility and incorruptibility. ⁷ And thence they go forth along the earth, and have a revolution to their circle even as other elements. ⁸ And here there is no unfruitful tree, and every place is blessed. ⁹ And (there are) three hundred angels very bright, who keep the garden, and with incessant sweet singing and never-silent voices serve the Adanay throughout all days and hours. ¹⁰ And I said: How very sweet is this place, and those men said to me:

9 This place, O Chanawak, is prepared for the righteous, who endure all manner of offence from those that exasperate their souls, who avert their eyes from iniquity, and make righteous judgment, and give bread to the hungering, and cover the naked with clothing, and raise up the fallen, and help injured orphans, and who walk without fault before the face of the Adanay, and serve him alone, and for them is prepared this place for eternal inheritance.

10 And those two men led me up on to the Northern side, and showed me there a very terrible place, and (there were) all manner of tortures in that place: cruel darkness and unilluminated gloom, and there is no light there, but murky fire constantly flaming aloft, and (there is) a fiery river coming forth, and that whole place is everywhere fire, and everywhere (there is) frost and ice, thirst and shivering, while the bonds are very cruel, and the angels (spirits) fearful and merciless, bearing angry weapons, merciless torture, and I said: ² Woe, woe, how very terrible is this place. ³ And those men said to me: This place, O Chanawak, is prepared for those who dishonor Alahayam, who on earth practice sin against nature, which is child-corruption after the sodomitic fashion, magic-making, enchantments and devilish witchcrafts, and who boast of their wicked deeds, stealing, lies, calumnies, envy, rancor, fornication, murder, and who, accursed, steal the souls of men, who, seeing the poor take away their goods and themselves wax rich, injuring them for other men's goods; who being able to satisfy the empty, made the hungering to die; being able to clothe, stripped the naked; and who knew not their creator, and bowed to the soulless (and lifeless) gods, who cannot see nor hear, vain gods, (who also) built hewn images and bow down to unclean handiwork, for all these is prepared this place among these, for eternal inheritance.

11 Those men took me, and led me up on to the fourth heaven, and showed me all the successive goings, and all the rays of the light of sun and moon.² And I measure their goings, and compared their light, and saw that the sun's light is greater than the moon's.³ Its circle and the wheels on which it goes always, like the wind going past with very marvelous speed, and day and night it has no rest.⁴ Its passage and return (are accompanied by) four great stars, (and) each star has under it a thousand stars, to the right of the sun's wheel, (and by) four to the left, each having under it a thousand stars, altogether eight thousand, issuing with the sun continually.⁵ And by day fifteen myriads of angels attend it, and by night A thousand.⁶ And six-winged ones issue with the angels before the sun's wheel into the fiery flames, and a hundred angels kindle the sun and set it alight.

12 And I looked and saw other flying elements of the sun, whose names (are) Phoenixes and Chalkydri, marvelous and wonderful, with feet and tails in the form of a lion, and a crocodile's head, their appearance (is) empurpled, like the rainbow; their size (is) nine hundred measures, their wings (are like) those of angels, each (has) twelve, and they attend and accompany the sun, bearing heat and dew, as it is ordered them from Alahayam.² Thus (the sun) revolves and goes, and rises under the heaven, and its course goes under the earth with the light of its rays incessantly.

13 Those men bore me away to the east, and placed me at the sun's gates, where the sun goes forth according to the regulation of the seasons and the circuit of the months of the whole year, and the number of the hours day and night.² And I saw six gates open, each gate having sixty-one stadia and A quarter of one stadium, and I measured (them) truly, and understood their size (to be) so much, through which the sun goes forth, and goes to the west, and is made even, and rises throughout all the months, and turns back again from the six gates according to the succession of the seasons; thus (the period) of the whole year is finished after the returns of the four seasons.

14 And again those men led me away to the western parts, and showed me six great gates open corresponding to the eastern gates, opposite to where the sun sets, according to the number of the days three hundred and sixty-five and A quarter.² Thus again it goes down to the western gates, (and) draws away its light, the greatness of its brightness, under the earth; for since the crown of its shining is in heaven with the Adanay, and guarded by four hundred angels, while the sun goes round on wheel under the earth, and stands seven great hours in night, and spends half (its course) under the earth, when it comes to the eastern approach in the eighth hour of the night, it brings its lights, and the crown of shining, and the sun flames forth more than fire.

15 Then the elements of the sun, called Phoenixes and Chalkydri break into song, therefore every bird flutters with its wings, rejoicing at the giver of light, and they broke into song at the command of the Adanay.² The giver of light comes to give brightness to the whole world, and the morning guard takes shape, which is the rays of the sun, and the sun of the earth goes out, and receives its brightness to light up the whole face of the earth, and they showed me this calculation of the sun's going.³ And the gates which it enters, these are the great gates of the calculation of the hours of the year; for this reason the sun is a great creation, whose circuit (lasts) twenty-eight years, and begins again from the beginning.

16 Those men showed me the other course, that of the moon, twelve great gates, crowned from west to east, by which the moon goes in and out of the customary times.² It goes in at the first gate to the western places of the sun, by the first gates with (thirty)-one

(days) exactly, by the second gates with thirty-one days exactly, by the third with thirty days exactly, by the fourth with thirty days exactly, by the fifth with thirty-one days exactly, by the sixth with thirty-one days exactly, by the seventh with thirty days exactly, by the eighth with thirty-one days perfectly, by the ninth with thirty-one days exactly, by the tenth with thirty days perfectly, by the eleventh with thirty-one days exactly, by the twelfth with twenty-eight days exactly.³ And it goes through the western gates in the order and number of the eastern, and accomplishes the three hundred and sixty-five and a quarter days of the solar year, while the lunar year has three hundred fifty-four, and there are wanting (to it) twelve days of the solar circle, which are the lunar epacts of the whole year.⁴ Thus, too, the great circle contains five hundred and thirty-two years.⁵ The quarter (of a day) is omitted for three years, the fourth fulfills it exactly.⁶ Therefore they are taken outside of heaven for three years and are not added to the number of days, because they change the time of the years to two new months towards completion, to two others towards diminution.⁷ And when the western gates are finished, it returns and goes to the eastern to the lights, and goes thus day and night about the heavenly circles, lower than all circles, swifter than the heavenly winds, and spirits and elements and angels flying; each angel has six wings.⁸ It has a sevenfold course in nineteen years.

17 In the midst of the heavens I saw armed soldiers, serving the Adanay, with tympana and organs, with incessant voice, with sweet voice, with sweet and incessant (voice) and various singing, which it is impossible to describe, and (which) astonishes every mind, so wonderful and marvellous is the singing of those angels, and I was delighted listening to it.

18 The men took me on to the fifth heaven and placed me, and there I saw many and countless soldiers, called Grigori, of human appearance, and their size (was) greater than that of great giants and their faces withered, and the silence of their mouths perpetual, and their was no service on the fifth heaven, and I said to the men who were with me:² Therefore are these very withered and their faces melancholy, and their mouths silent, and (therefore) is there no service on this heaven?³ And they said to me: These are the Grigori, who with their prince Satanail (Satan) rejected the Adanay of light, and after them are those who are held in great darkness on the second heaven, and three of them went down on to earth from the Adanay's throne, to the place Ermon, and broke through their vows on the shoulder of the hill Ermon and saw the daughters of men how good they are, and took to themselves wives, and befouled the earth with their deeds, who in all times of their age made lawlessness and mixing, and giants are born and marvelous big men and great enmity.⁴ And therefore Alahayam judged them with great judgment, and they weep for their brethren and they will be punished on the Adanay's great day.⁵ And I said to the Grigori: I saw your brethren and their works, and their great torments, and I prayed for them, but the Adanay has condemned them (to be) under earth till (the existing) heaven and earth shall end for ever.⁶ And I said: Therefore do you wait, brethren, and do not serve before the Adanay's face, and have not put your services before the Adanay's face, lest you anger your Adanay utterly?⁷ And they listened to my admonition, and spoke to the four ranks in heaven, and lo! As I stood with those two men four trumpets trumpeted together with great voice, and the Grigori broke into song with one voice, and their voice went up before the Adanay pitifully and affectingly.

19 And thence those men took me and bore me up on to the sixth heaven, and there I saw seven bands of angels, very bright and very glorious, and their faces shining more than the sun's shining, glistening, and there is no difference in their faces, or behaviour, or manner of dress; and these make the orders, and learn the goings of the stars, and the alteration of the moon, or revolution of the sun, and the good government of the world.² And when they see evildoing they make commandments and instruction, and sweet and loud singing, and all (songs) of praise.³ These are the archangels who are above angels, measure all life in heaven and on earth, and the angels who are (appointed) over seasons and years, the angels who are over rivers and sea, and who are over the fruits of the earth, and the angels who are over every grass, giving food to all, to every living thing, and the angels who write all the souls of men, and all their deeds, and their lives before the Adanay's face; in their midst are six Phoenixes and six Cherubim and six six-winged ones continually with one voice singing one voice, and it is not possible to describe their singing, and they rejoice before the Adanay at his footstool.

20 And those two men lifted me up thence on to the seventh heaven, and I saw there a very great light, and fiery troops of great archangels, incorporeal forces, and dominions, orders and governments, Cherubim and seraphim, thrones and many-eyed ones, nine regiments, the Ioanit stations of light, and I became afraid, and began to tremble with great terror, and those men took me, and led me after them, and said to me: ² Have courage, Chanawak, do not fear, and showed me the Adanay from afar, sitting on His very high throne. For what is there on the tenth heaven, since the Adanay dwells there? ³ On the tenth heaven is Alahayam, in the Hebrew tongue he is called Aravat. ⁴ And all the heavenly troops would come and stand on the ten steps according to their rank, and would bow down to the Adanay, and would again go to their places in joy and felicity, singing songs in the boundless light with small and tender voices, gloriously serving him.

21 And the Cherubim and seraphim standing about the throne, the six-winged and manyeyed ones do not depart, standing before the Adanay's face doing his will, and cover his whole throne, singing with gentle voice before the Adanay's face: Holy, holy, holy, Adanay Ruler of Sabaoth, heavens and earth are full of Your glory. ² When I saw all these things, those men said to me: Chanawak, thus far is it commanded us to journey with you, and those men went away from me and thereupon I saw them not. ³ And I remained alone at the end of the seventh heaven and became afraid, and fell on my face and said to myself: Woe is me, what has befallen me? ⁴ And the Adanay sent one of his glorious ones, the archangel Gabarayaal, and (he) said to me: Have courage, Chanawak, do not fear, arise before the Adanay's face into eternity, arise, come with me. ⁵ And I answered him, and said in myself: My Adanay, my soul is departed from me, from terror and trembling, and I called to the men who led me up to this place, on them I relied, and (it is) with them I go before the Adanay's face. ⁶ And Gabarayaal caught me up, as a leaf caught up by the wind, and placed me before the Adanay's face. ⁷ And I saw the eighth heaven, which is called in the Hebrew tongue Muzaloth, changer of the seasons, of drought, and of wet, and of the twelve constellations of the circle of the firmament, which are above the seventh heaven. ⁸ And I saw the ninth heaven, which is called in Hebrew Kuchavim, where are the heavenly homes of the twelve constellations of the circle of the firmament.

22 On the tenth heaven, (which is called) Aravoth, I saw the appearance of the Adanay's face, like iron made to glow in fire, and brought out, emitting sparks, and it burns. ² Thus (in a moment of eternity) I saw the Adanay's face, but the Adanay's face is ineffable, marvellous and very awful, and very, very terrible. ³ And who am I to tell of the Adanay's unspeakable being, and of his very wonderful face? And I cannot tell the quantity of his many instructions, and various voices, the Adanay's throne (is) very great and not made with hands, nor the quantity of those standing round him, troops of Cherubim and seraphim, nor their incessant singing, nor his immutable beauty, and who shall tell of the ineffable greatness of his glory. ⁴ And I fell prone and bowed down to the Adanay, and the Adanay with his lips said to me: ⁵ Have courage, Chanawak, do not fear, arise and stand before my face into eternity. ⁶ And the archistrateges Mayakaal lifted me up, and led me to before the Adanay's face. ⁷ And the Adanay said to his servants tempting them: Let Chanawak stand before my face into eternity, and the glorious ones bowed down to the Adanay, and said: Let Chanawak go according to Your word. ⁸ And the Adanay said to Mayakaal: Go and take Chanawak from out (of) his earthly garments, and anoint him with my sweet ointment, and put him into the garments of My glory. ⁹ And Mayakaal did thus, as the Adanay told him. He anointed me, and dressed me, and the appearance of that ointment is more than the great light, and his ointment is like sweet dew, and its smell mild, shining like the sun's ray, and I looked at myself, and (I) was like (transfigured) one of his glorious ones. ¹⁰ And the Adanay summoned one of his archangels by name Pravuil, whose knowledge was quicker in wisdom than the other archangels, who wrote all the deeds of the Adanay; and the Adanay said to Pravuil: Bring out the books from my store-houses, and a reed of quick-writing, and give (it) to Chanawak, and deliver to him the choice and comforting books out of your hand.

23 And he was telling me all the works of heaven, earth and sea, and all the elements, their passages and goings, and the thunders of the thunders, the sun and moon, the goings and changes of the stars, the seasons, years, days, and hours, the risings of the wind, the numbers of the angels, and the formation of their songs, and all human things, the tongue of every human song and life, the commandments, instructions, and sweet-voiced singings, and all things that it is fitting to learn. ² And Pravuil told me: All the things that I have told you, we have written. Sit and write all the souls of mankind, however many of them are born, and the places prepared for them to eternity; for all souls are prepared to eternity, before the formation of the world. ³ And all double thirty days and thirty nights, and I wrote out all things exactly, and wrote three hundred and sixty-six books.

24 And the Adanay summoned me, and said to me: Chanawak, sit down on my left with Gabarayaal. ² And I bowed down to the Adanay, and the Adanay spoke to me: Chanawak, beloved, all (that) you see, all things that are standing finished I tell to you even before the very beginning, all that I created from Nawan-being, and visible (physical) things from invisible (spiritual). ³ Hear, Chanawak, and take in these my words, for not to My angels have I told my secret, and I have not told them their rise, nor my endless realm, nor have they understood my creating, which I tell you to-day. ⁴ For before all things were visible (physical), I alone used to go about in the invisible (spiritual) things, like the sun from east to west, and from west to east. ⁵ But even the sun has peace in itself, while I found no peace, because I was creating all things, and I conceived the thought of placing foundations, and of creating visible (physical) creation.

25 I commanded in the very lowest (parts), that visible (physical) things should come down from invisible (spiritual), and Adoil came down very great, and I beheld him, and lo! He had a belly of great light. ² And I said to him: Become undone, Adoil, and let the visible (physical) (come) out of you. ³ And he came undone, and a great light came out. And I (was) in the midst of the great light, and as there is born light from light, there came forth a great age, and showed all creation, which I had thought to create. ⁴ And I saw that (it was) good. ⁵ And I placed for myself a throne, and took my seat on it, and said to the light: Go thence up higher and fix yourself high above the throne, and be A foundation to the highest things. ⁶ And above the light there is nothing else, and then I bent up and looked up from my throne.

26 And I summoned the very lowest a second time, and said: Let Archas come forth hard, and he came forth hard from the invisible (spiritual). ² And Archas came forth, hard, heavy, and very red. ³ And I said: Be opened, Archas, and let there be born from you, and he came undone, an age came forth, very great and very dark, bearing the creation of all lower things, and I saw that (it was) good and said to him: ⁴ Go thence down below, and make yourself firm, and be a foundation for the lower things, and it happened and he went down and fixed himself, and became the foundation for the lower things, and below the darkness there is nothing else.

27 And I commanded that there should be taken from light and darkness, and I said: Be thick, and it became thus, and I spread it out with the light, and it became water, and I spread it out over the darkness, below the light, and then I made firm the waters, that is to say the bottomless, and I made foundation of light around the water, and created seven circles from inside, and imaged (the water) like crystal wet and dry, that is to say like glass, (and) the circumcession of the waters and the other elements, and I showed each one of them its road, and the seven stars each one of them in its heaven, that they go thus, and I saw that it was good.² And I separated between light and between darkness, that is to say in the midst of the water here and there, and I said to the light, that it should be the day, and to the darkness, that it should be the night, and there was evening and there was morning the first day.

28 And then I made firm the heavenly circle, and (made) that the lower water which is under heaven collect itself together, into one whole, and that the chaos become dry, and it became so.² Out of the waves I created rock hard and big, and from the rock I piled up the dry, and the dry I called earth, and the midst of the earth I called abyss, that is to say the bottomless. I collected the sea in one place and bound it together with a yoke.³ And I said to the sea: Behold I give you (your) eternal limits, and you shall not break loose from your component parts.⁴ Thus I made fast the firmament. This day I called me the first-created [Sunday].

29 And for all the heavenly troops I imaged the image and essence of fire, and my eye looked at the very hard, firm rock, and from the gleam of my eye the lightning received its wonderful nature, (which) is both fire in water and water in fire, and one does not put out the other, nor does the one dry up the other, therefore the lightning is brighter than the sun, softer than water and firmer than hard rock.² And from the rock I cut off a great fire, and from the fire I created the orders of the incorporeal ten troops of angels, and their weapons are fiery and their raiment a burning flame, and I commanded that each one should stand in his order.³ And one from out the order of angels, having turned away with the order that was under him, conceived an impossible thought, to place his throne higher than the clouds above the earth, that he might become equal in rank to my power.⁴ And I threw him out from the height with his angels, and he was flying in the air continuously above the bottomless.

30 On the third day I commanded the earth to make grow great and fruitful trees, and hills, and seed to sow, and I planted Paradise, and enclosed it, and placed as armed (guardians) flaming angels, and thus I created renewal.² Then came evening, and came morning the fourth day.³ [Wednesday]. On the fourth day I commanded that there should be great lights on the heavenly circles.⁴ On the first uppermost circle I placed the stars, Kruno, and on the second Aphrodit, on the third Aris, on the fifth Zoues, on the sixth Ermis, on the seventh lesser the moon, and adorned it with the lesser stars.⁵ And on the lower I placed the sun for the illumination of day, and the moon and stars for the illumination of night.⁶ The sun that it should go according to each constellation, twelve, and I appointed the succession of the months and their names and lives, their thunderings, and their hourmarkings, how they should succeed.⁷ Then evening came and morning came the fifth day.⁸ [Thursday]. On the fifth day I commanded the sea, that it should bring forth fishes, and feathered birds of many varieties, and all animals creeping over the earth, going forth over the earth on four legs, and soaring in the air, male sex and female, and every soul breathing the spirit of life.⁹ And there came evening, and there came morning the sixth day.¹⁰ [Friday]. On the sixth day I commanded my wisdom to create man from seven consistencies: one, his flesh from the earth; two, his blood from the dew; three, his eyes from the sun; four, his bones from stone; five, his intelligence from the swiftness of the angels and from cloud; six, his veins and his hair from the grass of the earth; seven, his soul from my breath and from the wind.¹¹ And I gave him seven natures: to the flesh hearing, the eyes for sight, to the soul smell, the veins for touch, the blood for taste, the bones for endurance, to the intelligence sweetness [enjoyment].¹² I conceived a cunning saying to say, I created man from invisible (spiritual) and from visible (physical) nature, of both are his death and life and image, he knows speech like some created thing, small in greatness and again great in smallness, and I placed him on earth, a second angel, honourable, great and glorious, and I appointed him as ruler to rule on earth and to have my wisdom, and there was none like him of earth of all my existing creatures.¹³ And I appointed him a name, from the four component parts, from east, from west, from south, from north, and I appointed for him four special stars, and I called his name Adam, and showed him the two ways, the light and the darkness, and I told him:¹⁴ This is good, and that bad, that I should learn whether he has love towards me, or hatred, that it be clear which in his race love me.¹⁵ For I have seen his nature, but he has not seen his own nature, therefore (through) not seeing he will sin worse, and I said After sin (what is there) but death?¹⁶ And I put sleep into him and he fell asleep. And I took from him A rib, and created him a wife, that death should come to him by his wife, and I took his last word and called her name mother, that is to say, Eva (Chawah).

31 Adam has life on earth, and I created a garden in Idan in the east, that he should observe the testament and keep the command.² I made the heavens open to him, that he should see the angels singing the song of victory, and the gloomless light.³ And he was continuously in paradise, and the devil understood that I wanted to create another world, because Adam was lord on earth, to rule and control it.⁴ The devil is the evil spirit of the lower places, as a fugitive he made Sotona from the heavens as his name was Satanail (Satan), thus he became different from the angels, (but his nature) did not change (his) intelligence as far as (his) understanding of righteous and sinful (things).⁵ And he understood his condemnation and the sin which he had sinned before, therefore he conceived thought against Adam, in such form he entered and seduced Eva (Chawah), but did not touch Adam.⁶ But I cursed ignorance, but what I had blessed previously, those I did not curse, I cursed not man, nor the earth, nor other creatures, but man's evil fruit, and his works.

32 I said to him: Earth you are, and into the earth whence I took you you shall go, and I will not ruin you, but send you whence I took you.² Then I can again receive you at My second presence.³ And I blessed all my creatures visible (physical) and invisible (spiritual). And Adam was five and half hours in paradise.⁴ And I blessed the seventh day, which is the Sabbath, on which he rested from all his works.

33 And I appointed the eighth day also, that the eighth day should be the first-created after my work, and that (the first seven) revolve in the form of the seventh thousand, and that at the beginning of the eighth thousand there should be a time of not-counting, endless, with neither years nor months nor weeks nor days nor hours.² And now, Chanawak, all that I have told you, all that you have understood, all that you have seen of heavenly things, all that you have seen on earth, and all that I have written in books by my great wisdom, all these things I have devised and created from the uppermost foundation to the lower and to the end, and there is no counsellor nor inheritor to my creations.³ I am self-eternal, not made with hands, and without change.⁴ My thought is my counsellor, my wisdom and my word are made, and my eyes observe all things how they stand here and tremble with terror.⁵ If I turn away my face, then all things will be destroyed.⁶ And apply your mind, Chanawak, and know him who is speaking to you, and take thence the books which you yourself have written.⁷ And I give you Samuil and Raguil, who led you up, and the books, and go down to earth, and tell your sons all that I have told you, and all that you have seen, from the lower heaven up to my throne, and all the troops.⁸ For I created all forces, and there is none that resists me or that does not subject himself to me. For all subject themselves to my monarchy, and labour for my sole rule.⁹ Give them the books of the handwriting, and they will read (them) and will know me for the creator of all things, and will understand how there is no other Alahayam but me.¹⁰ And let them distribute the books of your handwriting—children to children, generation to generation, nations to nations.¹¹ And I will give you, Chanawak, my intercessor, the archistrateger Mayakaal, for the handwritings of your fathers Adam, Shath, Anawash, Qayanan, Mahaleleel, and Yarad your father.

34 They have rejected my commandments and my yoke, worthless seed has come up, not fearing Alahayam, and they would not bow down to me, but have begun to bow down to vain gods, and denied my unity, and have laden the whole earth with untruths, offences, abominable lecheries, namely one with another, and all manner of other unclean wickedness, which are disgusting to relate.² And therefore I will bring down a deluge upon the earth and will destroy all men, and the whole earth will crumble together into great darkness.

35 Behold from their seed shall arise another generation, much afterwards, but of them many will be very insatiate.² He who raises that generation, (shall) reveal to them the books of your handwriting, of your fathers, (to them) to whom he must point out the guardianship of the world, to the faithful men and workers of my pleasure, who do not acknowledge my name in vain.³ And they shall tell another generation, and those (others) having read shall be glorified thereafter, more than the first.

36 Now, Chanawak, I give you the term of thirty days to spend in your house, and tell your sons and all your household, that all may hear from my face what is told them by you, that they may read and understand, how there is no other Alahayam but me.² And that they may always keep my commandments, and begin to read and take in the books of your handwriting.³ And after thirty days I shall send my angel for you, and he will take you from earth and from your sons to me.

37 And the Adanay called upon one of the older angels, terrible and menacing, and placed him by me, in appearance white as snow, and his hands like ice, having the appearance of great frost, and he froze my face, because I could not endure the terror of the Adanay, just as it is not possible to endure A stove's fire and the sun's heat, and the frost of the air.² And the Adanay said to me: Chanawak, if your face be not frozen here, no man will be able to behold your face.

38 And the Adanay said to those men who first led me up: Let Chanawak go down on to earth with you, and await him till the determined day.² And they placed me by night on my bed.³ And Mathusal (Mathawashalach) expecting my coming, keeping watch by day and by night at my bed, was filled with awe when he heard my coming, and I told him, Let all my household come together, that I tell them everything.

39 Oh my children, my beloved ones, hear the admonition of your father, as much as is according to the Adanay's will.² I have been let come to you to-day, and announce to you, not from my lips, but from the Adanay's lips, all that is and was and all that is now, and all that will be till judgmentday.³ For the Adanay has let me come to you, you hear therefore the words of my lips, of a man made big for you, but I am one who has seen the Adanay's face, like iron made to glow from fire it sends forth sparks and burns.

40 And now, my children, I know all things, for this (is) from the Adanay's lips, and this my eyes have seen, from beginning to end.

² I know all things, and have written all things into books, the heavens and their end, and their plenitude, and all the armies and their marchings.³ I have measured and described the stars, the great countless multitude (of them).⁴ What man has seen their revolutions, and their entrances? For not even the angels see their number, while I have written all their names.⁵ And I measured the sun's circle, and measured its rays, counted the hours, I wrote down too all things that go over the earth, I have written the things that are nourished, and all seed sown and unsown, which the earth produces and all plants, and every grass and every flower, and their sweet smells, and their names, and the dwelling-places of the clouds, and their composition, and their wings, and how they bear rain and raindrops.⁶ And I investigated all things, and wrote the road of the thunder and of the lightning, and they showed me the keys and their guardians, their rise, the way they go; it is let out (gently) in measure by a chain, lest by A heavy chain and violence it hurl down the angry clouds and destroy all things on earth.⁷ I wrote the treasure-houses of the snow, and the store-houses of the cold and the frosty airs, and I observed their season's key-holder, he fills the clouds with them, and does not exhaust the treasure-houses.⁸ And I wrote the resting-places of the winds and observed and saw how their keyholders bear weighing-scales and measures; first, they put them in (one) weighing-scale, then in the other the weights and let them out according to measure cunningly over the whole earth, lest by heavy breathing they make the earth to rock.⁹ And I measured out the whole earth, its mountains, and all hills, fields, trees, stones, rivers, all existing things I wrote down, the height from earth to the seventh heaven, and downwards to the very lowest hell, and the judgment-place, and the very great, open and weeping hell.¹⁰ And I saw how the prisoners are in pain, expecting the limitless judgment.¹¹ And I wrote down all those being judged by the judge, and all their judgment (and sentences) and all their works.

41 And I saw all forefathers from (all) time with Adam and Eva (Chawah), and I sighed and broke into tears and said of the ruin of their dishonour:² Woe is me for my infirmity and (for that) of my forefathers, and thought in my heart and said:³ Blessed (is) the man who has not been born or who has been born and shall not sin before the Adanay's face, that he come not into this place, nor bring the yoke of this place.

42 I saw the key-holders and guards of the gates of hell standing, like great serpents, and their faces like extinguishing lamps, and their eyes of fire, their sharp teeth, and I saw all the Adanay's works, how they are right, while the works of man are some (good), and others bad, and in their works are known those who lie evilly.

43 I, my children, measured and wrote out every work and every measure and every righteous judgment.² As (one) year is more honourable than another, so is (one) man more honourable than another, some for great possessions, some for wisdom of heart, some for particular intellect, some for cunning, one for silence of lip, another for cleanliness, one for strength, another for comeliness, one for youth, another for sharp wit, one for shape of body, another for sensibility, let it be heard everywhere, but there is none better than he who fears Alahayam, he shall be more glorious in time to come.

44 The Adanay with his hands having created man, in the likeness of his own face, the Adanay made him small and great.² Whoever reviles the ruler's face, and abhors the Adanay's face, has despised the Adanay's face, and he who vents anger on any man without injury, the Adanay's great anger will cut him down, he who spits on the face of man reproachfully, will be cut down at the Adanay's great judgment.³ Blessed is the man who does not direct his heart with malice against any man, and helps the injured and condemned, and raises the broken down, and shall do charity to the needy, because on the day of the great judgment every weight, every measure and every makeweight (will be) as in the market, that is to say (they are) hung on scales and stand in the market, (and every one) shall learn his own measure, and according to his measure shall take his reward.

45 Whoever hastens to make offerings before the Adanay's face, the Adanay for his part will hasten that offering by granting of his work.² But whoever increases his lamp before the Adanay's face and make not true judgment, the Adanay will (not) increase his treasure in the realm of the highest.³ When the Adanay demands bread, or candles, or (the)flesh (of beasts), or any other sacrifice, then that is nothing; but Alahayam demands pure hearts, and with all that (only) tests the heart of man.

46 Hear, my people, and take in the words of my lips.² If any one bring any gifts to an earthly ruler, and have disloyal thoughts in his heart, and the ruler know this, will he not be angry with him, and not refuse his gifts, and not give him over to judgment?³ Or (if) one man make himself appear good to another by deceit of tongue, but (have) evil in his heart, then will not (the other) understand the treachery of his heart, and himself be condemned, since his untruth was plain to all?⁴ And when the Adanay shall send a great light, then there will be judgment for the just and the unjust, and there no one shall escape notice.

47 And now, my children, lay thought on your hearts, mark well the words of your father, which are all (come) to you from the Adanay's lips.² Take these books of your father's handwriting and read them.³ For the books are many, and in them you will learn all the Adanay's works, all that has been from the beginning of creation, and will be till the end of time.⁴ And if you will observe my handwriting, you will not sin against the Adanay; because there is no other except the Adanay, neither in heaven, nor in earth, nor in the very lowest (places), nor in the (one) foundation.⁵ The Adanay has placed the foundations in the unknown, and has spread forth heavens visible (physical) and invisible (spiritual); he fixed the earth on the waters, and created countless creatures, and who has counted the water and the foundation of the unfixed, or the dust of the earth, or the sand of the sea, or the drops of the rain, or the morning dew, or the wind's breathings? Who has filled earth and sea, and the indissoluble winter?⁶ I cut the stars out of fire, and decorated heaven, and put it in their midst.

48 That the sun go along the seven heavenly circles, which are the appointment of one hundred and eighty-two thrones, that it go down on a short day, and again one hundred and eighty-two, that it go down on a big day, and he has two thrones on which he rests, revolving here and there above the thrones of the months, from the seventeenth day of the month Tsivan it goes down to the month Thevan, from the seventeenth of Thevan it goes up.² And thus it goes close to the earth, then the earth is glad and makes grow its fruits, and when it goes away, then the earth is sad, and trees and all fruits have no florescence.³ All this he measured, with good measurement of hours, and fixed A measure by his wisdom, of the visible (physical) and the invisible (spiritual).⁴ From the invisible (spiritual) he made all things visible (physical), himself being invisible (spiritual).⁵ Thus I make known to you, my children, and distribute the books to your children, into all your generations, and amongst the nations who shall have the sense to fear Alahayam, let them receive them, and may they come to love them more than any food or earthly sweets, and read them and apply themselves to them.⁶ And those who understand not the Adanay, who fear not Alahayam, who accept not, but reject, who do not receive the (books), a terrible judgment awaits these.⁷ Blessed is the man who shall bear their yoke and shall drag them along, for he shall be released on the day of the great judgment.

49 I swear to you, my children, but I swear not by any oath, neither by heaven nor by earth, nor by any other creature which Alahayam created.² The Adanay said: There is no oath in me, nor injustice, but truth.³ If there is no truth in men, let them swear by the words, Yea, yea, or else, Nay, nay.⁴ And I swear to you, yea, yea, that there has been no man in his mother's womb, (but that) already before, even to each one there is a place prepared for the repose of that soul, and a measure fixed how much it is intended that a man be tried in this world.⁵ Yea, children, deceive not yourselves, for there has been previously prepared a place for every soul of man.

50 I have put every man's work in writing and none born on earth can remain hidden nor his works remain concealed.² I see all things.³ Now therefore, my children, in patience and meekness spend the number of your days, that you inherit endless life.⁴ Endure for the sake of the Adanay every wound, every injury, every evil word and attack.⁵ If ill-requitals befall you, return (them) not either to neighbour or enemy, because the Adanay will return (them) for you and be your avenger on the day of great judgment, that there be no avenging here among men.⁶ Whoever of you spends gold or silver for his brother's sake, he will receive ample treasure in the world to come.⁷ Injure not widows nor orphans nor strangers, lest Alahayam's wrath come upon you.

51 Stretch out your hands to the poor according to your strength.² Hide not your silver in the earth.³ Help the faithful man in affliction, and affliction will not find you in the time of your trouble.⁴ And every grievous and cruel yoke that come upon you bear all for the sake of the Adanay, and thus you will find your reward in the day of judgment.⁵ It is good to go morning, midday, and evening into the Adanay's dwelling, for the glory of your creator.⁶ Because every breathing (thing) glorifies him, and every creature visible (physical) and invisible (spiritual) returns him praise.

52 Blessed is the man who opens his lips in praise of Alahayam of Sabaoth and praises the Adanay with his heart.² Cursed every man who opens his lips for the bringing into contempt and calumny of his neighbour, because he brings Alahayam into contempt.³ Blessed is he who opens his lips blessing and praising Alahayam.⁴ Cursed is he before the Adanay all the days of his life, who opens his lips to curse and abuse.⁵ Blessed is he who blesses all the Adanay's works.⁶ Cursed is he who brings the Adanay's creation into contempt.⁷ Blessed is he who looks down and raises the fallen.⁸ Cursed is he who looks to and is eager for the destruction of what is not his.⁹ Blessed is he who keeps the foundations of his fathers made firm from the beginning.¹⁰ Cursed is he who perverts the decrees of his forefathers.¹¹ Blessed is he who imparts peace and love.¹² Cursed is he who disturbs those that love their neighbours.¹³ Blessed is he who speaks with humble tongue and heart to all.¹⁴ Cursed is he who speaks peace with his tongue, while in his heart there is no peace but a sword.¹⁵ For all these things will be laid bare in the weighing-scales and in the books, on the day of the great judgment.

53 And now, my children, do not say: Our father is standing before Alahayam, and is praying for our sins, for there is there no helper of any man who has sinned.² You see how I wrote all works of every man, before his creation, (all) that is done amongst all men for all time, and none can tell or relate my handwriting, because the Adanay see all imaginings of man, how they are vain, where they lie in the treasure-houses of the heart.³ And now, my children, mark well all the words of your father, that I tell you, lest you regret, saying: Why did our father not tell us?

54 At that time, not understanding this let these books which I have given you be for an inheritance of your peace.² Hand them to all who want them, and instruct them, that they may see the Adanay's very great and marvellous works.

55 My children, behold, the day of my term and time have approached.² For the angels who shall go with me are standing before me and urge me to my departure from you; they are standing here on earth, awaiting what has been told them.³ For to-morrow I shall go up on to heaven, to the uppermost Yarawashalam to my eternal inheritance.⁴ Therefore I bid you do before the Adanay's face all (his) good pleasure.

56 Mathosalam having answered his father Chanawak, said: What is agreeable to your eyes, father, that I may make before your face, that you may bless our dwellings, and your sons, and that your people may be made glorious through you, and then (that) you may depart thus, as the Adanay said? ² Chanawak answered to his son Mathosalam (and) said: Hear, child, from the time when the Adanay anointed me with the ointment of his glory, (there has been no) food in me, and my soul remembers not earthly enjoyment, neither do I want anything earthly.

57 My child Methosalam, summon all your brethren and all your household and the elders of the people, that I may talk to them and depart, as is planned for me. ² And Methosalam made haste, and summoned his brethren, Regim, Riman, Uchan, Chermion, Gaidad, and all the elders of the people before the face of his father Chanawak; and he blessed them, (and) said to them:

58 Listen to me, my children, to-day. ² In those days when the Adanay came down on to earth for Adam's sake, and visited all his creatures, which he created himself, after all these he created Adam, and the Adanay called all the beasts of the earth, all the reptiles, and all the birds that soar in the air, and brought them all before the face of our father Adam. ³ And Adam gave the names to all things living on earth. ⁴ And the Adanay appointed him ruler over all, and subjected to him all things under his hands, and made them dumb and made them dull that they be commanded of man, and be in subjection and obedience to him. ⁵ Thus also the Adanay created every man lord over all his possessions. ⁶ The Adanay will not judge a single soul of beast for man's sake, but adjudges the souls of men to their beasts in this world; for men have a special place. ⁷ And as every soul of man is according to number, similarly beasts will not perish, nor all souls of beasts which the Adanay created, till the great judgment, and they will accuse man, if he feed them ill.

59 Whoever defiles the soul of beasts, defiles his own soul. ² For man brings clean animals to make sacrifice for sin, that he may have cure of his soul. ³ And if they bring for sacrifice clean animals, and birds, man has cure, he cures his soul. ⁴ All is given you for food, bind it by the four feet, that is to make good the cure, he cures his soul. ⁵ But whoever kills beast without wounds, kills his own souls and defiles his own flesh. ⁶ And he who does any beast any injury whatsoever, in secret, it is evil practice, and he defiles his own soul.

60 He who works the killing of a man's soul, kills his own soul, and kills his own body, and there is no cure for him for all time. ² He who puts a man in any snare, shall stick in it himself, and there is no cure for him for all time. ³ He who puts a man in any vessel, his retribution will not be wanting at the great judgment for all time. ⁴ He who works crookedly or speaks evil against any soul, will not make justice for himself for all time.

61 And now, my children, keep your hearts from every injustice, which the Adanay hates. Just as a man asks something for his own soul from Alahayam, so let him do to every living soul, because I know all things, how in the great time to come there is much inheritance prepared for men, good for the good, and bad for the bad, without number many. ² Blessed are those who enter the good houses, for in the bad houses there is no peace nor return from them. ³ Hear, my children, small and great! When man puts a good thought in his heart, brings gifts from his labours before the Adanay's face and his hands made them not, then the Adanay will turn away his face from the labour of his hand, and (that) man cannot find the labour of his hands. ⁴ And if his hands made it, but his heart murmur, and his heart cease not making murmur incessantly, he has not any advantage.

62 Blessed is the man who in his patience brings his gifts with faith before the Adanay's face, because he will find forgiveness of sins. ² But if he take back his words before the time, there is no repentance for him; and if the time pass and he do not of his own will what is promised, there is no repentance after death. ³ Because every work which man does before the time, is all deceit before men, and sin before Alahayam.

63 When man clothes the naked and fills the hungry, he will find reward from Alahayam. ² But if his heart murmur, he commits a double evil; ruin of himself and of that which he gives; and for him there will be no finding of reward on account of that. ³ And if his own heart is filled with his food and his own flesh, clothed with his own clothing, he commits contempt, and will forfeit all his endurance of poverty, and will not find reward of his good deeds. ⁴ Every proud and magniloquent man is hateful to the Adanay, and every false speech, clothed in untruth; it will be cut with the blade of the sword of death, and thrown into the fire, and shall burn for all time.

64 When Chanawak had spoken these words to his sons, all people far and near heard how the Adanay was calling Chanawak. They took counsel together: ² Let us go and kiss Chanawak, and two thousand men came together and came to the place Achuzan where Chanawak was, and his sons. ³ And the elders of the people, the whole assembly, came and bowed down and began to kiss Chanawak and said to him: ⁴ Our father Chanawak, (may) you (be) blessed of the Adanay, the eternal ruler, and now bless your sons and all the people, that we may be glorified to-day before your face. ⁵ For you shall be glorified before the Adanay's face for all time, since the Adanay chose you, rather than all men on earth, and designated you writer of all his creation, visible (physical) and invisible (spiritual), and redeemed of the sins of man, and helper of your household.

65 And Chanawak answered all his people saying: Hear, my children, before that all creatures were created, the Adanay created the visible (physical) and invisible (spiritual) things. ² And as much time as there was and went past, understand that after all that he created man in the likeness of his own form, and put into him eyes to see, and ears to hear, and heart to reflect, and intellect wherewith to deliberate. ³ And the Adanay saw all man's works, and created all his creatures, and divided time, from time he fixed the years, and from the years he appointed the months, and from the months he appointed the days, and of days he appointed seven. ⁴ And in those he appointed the hours, measured them out exactly, that man might reflect on time and count years, months, and hours, (their) alternation, beginning, and end, and that he might count his own life, from the beginning until death, and reflect on his sin and write his work bad and good; because no work is hidden before the Adanay, that every man might know his works and never transgress all his commandments, and keep my handwriting from generation to generation. ⁵ When all creation visible (physical) and invisible (spiritual), as the Adanay created it, shall end, then every man goes to the great judgment, and then all time shall perish, and the years, and thenceforward there will be neither months nor days nor hours, they will be adhered together and will not be counted. ⁶ There will be one aeon, and all the righteous who shall escape the Adanay's great judgment, shall be collected in the great aeon, for the righteous the great aeon will begin, and they will live eternally, and then too there will be amongst them neither labour, nor sickness, nor humiliation, nor anxiety, nor need, nor brutality, nor night, nor darkness, but great light. ⁷ And they shall have a great indestructible wall, and a paradise bright and incorruptible (eternal), for all corruptible (mortal) things shall pass away, and there will be eternal life.

66 And now, my children, keep your souls from all injustice, such as the Adanay hates. ² Walk before his face with terror and trembling and serve him alone. ³ Bow down to the true Alahayam, not to dumb idols, but bow down to his similitude, and bring all just offerings before the Adanay's face. The Adanay hates what is unjust. ⁴ For the Adanay sees all things; when man takes thought in his heart, then he counsels the intellects, and every thought is always before the Adanay, who made firm the earth and put all creatures on it. ⁵ If you look to heaven, the Adanay is there; if you take thought of the sea's deep and all the under-earth, the Adanay is there. ⁶ For the Adanay created all things. Bow not down to things made by man, leaving the Adanay of all creation, because no work can remain hidden before the Adanay's face.⁷ Walk, my children, in long-suffering, in meekness, honesty, in provocation, in grief, in faith and in truth, in (reliance on) promises, in illness, in abuse, in wounds, in temptation, in nakedness, in privation, loving one another, till you go out from this age of ills, that you become inheritors of endless time.⁸ Blessed are the just who shall escape the great judgment, for they shall shine forth more than the sun sevenfold, for in this world the seventh part is taken off from all, light, darkness, food, enjoyment, sorrow, paradise, torture, fire, frost, and other things; he put all down in writing, that you might read and understand.

67 When Chanawak had talked to the people, the Adanay sent out darkness on to the earth, and there was darkness, and it covered those men standing with Chanawak, and they took Chanawak up on to the highest heaven, where the Adanay (is); and he received him and placed him before his face, and the darkness went off from the earth, and light came again.² And the people saw and understood not how Chanawak had been taken, and glorified Alahayam, and found a roll in which was traced The Invisible (spiritual) Alahayam; and all went to their dwelling places.

68 Chanawak was born on the sixth day of the month Tsivan, and lived three hundred and sixty-five years.² He was taken up to heaven on the first day of the month Tsivan and remained in heaven sixty days.³ He wrote all these signs of all creation, which the Adanay created, and wrote three hundred and sixty-six books, and handed them over to his sons and remained on earth thirty days, and was again taken up to heaven on the sixth day of the month Tsivan, on the very day and hour when he was born.⁴ As every man's nature in this life is dark, so are also his conception, birth, and departure from this life.⁵ At what hour he was conceived, at that hour he was born, and at that hour too he died.⁶ Methosalam and his brethren, all the sons of Chanawak, made haste, and erected an altar at that place called Achuzan, whence and where Chanawak had been taken up to heaven.⁷ And they took sacrificial oxen and summoned all people and sacrificed the sacrifice before the Adanay's face.⁸ All people, the elders of the people and the whole assembly came to the feast and brought gifts to the sons of Chanawak.⁹ And they made a great feast, rejoicing and making merry three days, praising Alahayam, who had given them such a sign through Chanawak, who had found favour with him, and that they should hand it on to their sons from generation to generation, from age to age.¹⁰ Amen.

1 THE Copy of the Testament of Raawaban, even the commands which he gave his sons before he died in the hundred and twenty-fifth year of his life. ² Two years after the death of Yawasap his brother, when Raawaban fell ill, his sons and his sons' sons were gathered together to visit him. ³ And he said to them: My children, behold I am dying, and go the way of my fathers. ⁴ And seeing there Yahawadah, and Gad, and Ashar, his brethren, he said to them: Raise me up that I may tell to my brethren and to my children what things I have hidden in my heart, for behold now at length I am passing away. ⁵ And he arose and kissed them, and said to them: Hear, my brethren, and do you my children, give ear to Raawaban your father, in the commands which I give to you. ⁶ And behold I call to witness against you this day the Alahayam of heaven, that you walk not in the sins of youth and fornication, wherein I was poured out, and defiled the bed of my father Yaiqab. ⁷ And I tell you that he smote me with a sore plague in my loins for seven months; and had not my father Jamb prayed for me to the Adanay, the Adanay would have destroyed me. ⁸ For I was thirty years old when I wrought the evil thing before the Adanay, and for seven months I was sick to death. ⁹ And after this I repented with set purpose of my soul for seven years before the Adanay. ¹⁰ And wine and strong drink I drank not, and flesh entered not into my mouth, and I ate no pleasant food; but I mourned over my sin, for it was great, such as had not been in Yasharaal. ¹¹ And now hear me, my children, what things I saw concerning the seven spirits of deceit, when I repented. ¹² Seven spirits therefore are appointed against man, and they are the leaders in the works of youth. ¹³ And seven other spirits are given to him at his creation, that through them should be done every work of man. ¹⁴ The first is the spirit of life, with which the constitution of man is created. ¹⁵ The second is the sense of sight, with which arises desire. ¹⁶ The third is the sense of hearing, with which comes teaching. ¹⁷ The fourth is the sense of smell, with which tastes are given to draw air and breath. ¹⁸ The fifth is the power of speech, with which comes knowledge. ¹⁹ The sixth is the sense of taste, with which comes the eating of meats and drinks; and by it strength is produced, for in food is the foundation of strength. ²⁰ The seventh is the power of procreation and sexual intercourse, with which through love of pleasure sins enter in. ²¹ Therefore it is the last in order of creation, and the first in that of youth, because it is filled with ignorance, and leads the youth as a blind man to a pit, and as a beast to a precipice. ²² Besides all these there is an eighth spirit of sleep, with which is brought about the trance of nature and the of death. ²³ With these spirits are mingled the spirits of error. ²⁴ First, the spirit of fornication is seated in the nature and in the senses; ²⁵ The second, the spirit of insatiableness in the belly; ²⁶ The third, the spirit of fighting, in the liver and gall. ²⁷ The fourth is the spirit of obsequiousness and chicanery, that through officious attention one may be fair in seeming. ²⁸ The fifth is the spirit of pride, that one may be boastful and arrogant. ²⁹ The sixth is the spirit of lying, in perdition and jealousy to practise deceits, and concealments from kindred and friends. ³⁰ The seventh is the spirit of injustice, with which are thefts and acts of rapacity, that a man may fulfil the desire of his heart; for injustice works together with the other spirits by the taking of gifts. ³¹ And with all these the spirit of sleep is joined which is that of error and fantasy. ³² And so perisheth every young man, darkening his mind from the truth, and not understanding the law of Alahayam, nor obeying the admonitions of his fathers, as befell me also in my youth. ³³ And now, my children, love the truth, and it will preserve you: hear you the words of Raawaban your father. ³⁴ Pay no heed to the face of a woman, ³⁵ Nor associate with another man's wife, ³⁶ Nor meddle with affairs of womankind. ³⁷ For had I not seen Balahah bathing in a covered place, I had not fallen into this great iniquity. ³⁸ For my mind taking in the thought of the woman's nakedness, suffered me not to sleep until I had wrought the abominable thing. ³⁹ For while Yaiqab our father had gone to Yatzachaq his father, when we were in Idar, near to Aparathah in Bayathalacham, Balahah became drunk and was asleep uncovered in her chamber. ⁴⁰ Having therefore gone in and beheld her nakedness, I wrought the impiety without her perceiving it, and leaving her sleeping departed. ⁴¹ And forthwith an angel of Alahayam revealed to my father concerning my impiety, and he came and mourned over me, and touched her no more. ---

2 PAY no heed, therefore, my children, to the beauty of women, nor set your mind--on their affairs; but walk in singleness of heart in the fear of the Adanay, and expend labour on good works, and on study and on your flocks, until the Adanay give you a wife, whom He will, that you suffer not as I did. ² For until my father's death I had not boldness to look in his face, or to speak to any of my brethren, because of the reproach. ³ Even until now my conscience causes me anguish on account of my impiety. ⁴ And yet my father comforted me much, and prayed for me to the Adanay, that the anger of the Adanay might pass from me, even as the Adanay showed. ⁵ And thenceforth until now I have been on my guard and sinned not. ⁶ Therefore, my children, I say to you, observe all things whatsoever I command you, and you shall not sin. ⁷ For a pit to the soul is the sin of fornication, separating it from Alahayam, and bringing it near to idols, because it deceives the mind and understanding, and leads down young men into Hades before their time. ⁸ For many has fornication destroyed; because, though a man be old or noble, or rich or poor, he brings reproach upon himself with the sons of men and derision with Beliar. ⁹ For you heard regarding Yawasap how he guarded himself from a woman, and purged his thoughts from all fornication, and found favour in the sight of Alahayam and men. ¹⁰ For the Matzarayam woman did many things to him, and summoned magicians, and offered him love potions, but the purpose of his soul admitted no evil desire. ¹¹ Therefore the Alahayam of your fathers delivered him from every evil and hidden death. ¹² For if fornication overcomes not your mind, neither can Beliar overcome you. ¹³ For evil are women, my children; and since they have no power or strength over man, they use wiles by outward attractions, that they may draw him to themselves. ¹⁴ And whom they cannot bewitch by outward attractions, him they overcome by craft. ¹⁵ For moreover, concerning them, the angel of the Adanay told me, and taught me, that women are overcome by the spirit of fornication more than men, and in their heart they plot against men; and by means of their adornment they deceive first their minds, and by the glance of the eye instil the poison, and then through the accomplished act they take them captive. ¹⁶ For a woman cannot force a man openly, but by a harlot's bearing she beguiles him. ¹⁷ Flee, therefore, fornication, my children, and command your wives and your daughters, that they adorn not their heads and faces to deceive the mind: because every woman who useth these wiles hath been reserved for eternal punishment. ¹⁸ For thus they allured the Watchers 1 who were before the flood; for as these continually beheld them, they lusted after them, and they conceived the act in their mind; for they changed themselves into the shape of men, and appeared to them when they were with their husbands. ¹⁹ And the women lusting in their minds after their forms, gave birth to giants, for the Watchers appeared to them as reaching even to heaven. ²⁰ Beware, therefore, of fornication; and if you wish to be pure in mind, guard your senses from every woman. ²¹ And command the women likewise not to associate with men, that they also may be pure in mind.²² For constant meetings, even though the ungodly deed be not wrought, are to them an irremediable disease, and to us a destruction of Beliar and an eternal reproach.²³ For in fornication there is neither understanding nor godliness, and all jealousy dwells in the lust thereof.²⁴ Therefore, then I say to you, you will be jealous against the sons of Laway, and will seek to be exalted over them; but you shall not be able.²⁵ For Alahayam will avenge them, and you shall die by an evil death. For to Laway Alahayam gave the sovereignty and to Yahawadah with him and to me also, and to Wadan and Yawasap, that we should be for rulers.²⁶ Therefore I command you to hearken to Laway, because he shall know the law of the Adanay, and shall give ordinances for judgement and shall sacrifice for all Yasharaal until the consummation of the times, as the anointed High Priest, of whom the Adanay spoke.²⁷ I adjure you by the Alahayam of heaven to do truth each one to his neighbour and to entertain love each one for his brother.²⁸ And draw you near to Laway in humbleness, of heart, that you may receive a blessing from his mouth.²⁹ For he shall bless Yasharaal and Yahawadah, because him has the Adanay chosen to be king over all the nation.³⁰ And bow down before his seed, for on our behalf it will die in wars visible and invisible, and will be among you an eternal king.³¹ And Raawaban died, having given these commands to his sons. And they placed him in a coffin until they carried him up from Matzarayam, and buried him in Chabarawan in the cave where his father was.

1 THE copy of the words of Shamaïwan, the things which he spoke to his sons before he died, in the hundred and twentieth year of his life, at which time Yawasap, his brother, died. ² For when Shamaïwan was sick, his sons came to visit him. and he strengthened himself and sat up and kissed them, and said:-- ³ Hearken, my children, to Shamaïwan your father and I will declare to you what things I have in my heart. ⁴ I was born of Yaiqab as my father's second son; and my mother Laah called me Shamaïwan, because the Adanay had heard her prayer. ⁵ Moreover, I became strong exceedingly; I shrank from no achievement nor was I afraid of ought. For my heart was hard, and my liver was immovable, and my bowels without compassion. ⁶ Because valour also has been given from the Ilayawan to men in soul and body. ⁷ For in the time of my youth I was jealous in many things of Yawasap, because my father loved him beyond all. ⁸ And I set my mind against him to destroy him because the prince of deceit sent forth the spirit of jealousy and blinded my mind, so that I regarded him not as a brother, nor did I spare even Yaiqab my father. ⁹ But his Alahayam and the Alahayam of his fathers sent forth His angel, and delivered him out of my hands. ¹⁰ For when I went to Shakam to bring ointment for the flocks, and Raawaban to Dathan, where were our necessities and all our stores, Yahawadah my brother sold him to the Ishmaelites. ¹¹ And when Raawaban heard these things he was grieved, for he wished to restore him to his father. ¹² But on hearing this I was exceedingly wroth against Yahawadah in that he let him go away alive, and for five months I continued wrathful against him. ¹³ But the Adanay restrained me, and withheld from me the power of my hands; for my right hand was half withered for seven days. ¹⁴ And I knew, my children, that because of Yawasap this had befallen me, and I repented and wept; and I besought the Adanay Alahayam that my hand might be restored and that I might hold aloof from all pollution and envy and from all folly. ¹⁵ For I knew that I had devised an evil thing before the Adanay and Yaiqab my father, on account of Yawasap my brother, in that I envied him. ¹⁶ And now, my children, hearken to me and beware of the spirit of deceit and envy. ¹⁷ For envy rules over the whole mind of a man, and suffers him neither to eat nor to drink, nor to do any good thing. But it ever suggests to him to destroy him that he envies; and so long as he that is envied flourishes, he that envies fades away. ¹⁸ Two years therefore I afflicted my soul with fasting in the fear of the Adanay, and I learnt that deliverance from envy comes by the fear of Alahayam. ¹⁹ For if a man flee to the Adanay, the evil spirit runs away from him and his mind is lightened. ²⁰ And henceforward he sympathises with him whom he envied and forgives those who are hostile to him, and so ceases from his envy. ---

2 AND my father asked concerning me, because he saw that I was sad; and I said to him, I am pained in my liver. ² For I mourned more than they all, because I was guilty of the selling of Yawasap. ³ And when we went down into Matzarayam, and he bound me as a spy, I knew that I was suffering justly, and I grieved not. ⁴ Now Yawasap was a good man, and had the Spirit of Alahayam within him: being compassionate and pitiful, he bore no malice against me; but loved me even as the rest of his brethren. ⁵ Beware, therefore, my children, of all jealousy and envy, and walk in singleness of heart, that Alahayam may give you also grace and glory, and blessing upon your heads, even as you saw in Joseph's case. ⁶ All his days he reproached us not concerning this thing, but loved us as his own soul, and beyond his own sons glorified us, and gave us riches, and cattle and fruits. ⁷ Do you also, my children, love each one his brother with a good heart, and the spirit of envy will withdraw from you. ⁸ For this makes savage the soul and destroys the body; it causes anger and war in the mind, and stirs up to deeds of blood, and leads the mind into frenzy, and causes tumult to the soul and trembling to the body. ⁹ For even in sleep malicious jealousy gnaws, and with wicked spirits disturbs the soul, and causes the body to be troubled, and wakes the mind from sleep in confusion; and as a wicked and poisonous spirit, so appears it to men. ¹⁰ Therefore was Yawasap comely in appearance, and goodly to look upon, because no wickedness dwelt in him; for some of the trouble of the spirit the face manifesteth. ¹¹ And now, my children, make your hearts good before the Adanay, and your ways straight before men, and you shall find grace before the Adanay and men. ¹² Beware, therefore, of fornication, for fornication is mother of all evils, separating from Alahayam, and bringing near to Beliar. ¹³ For I have seen it inscribed in the writing of Chanawak that your sons shall be corrupted in fornication, and shall do harm to the sons of Laway with the sword. ¹⁴ But they shall not be able to withstand Laway; for he shall wage the war of the Adanay, and shall conquer all your hosts. ¹⁵ And they shall be few in number, divided in Laway and Yahawadah, and there shall be none of you for sovereignty, even as also our father prophesied in his blessings. ---

3 BEHOLD I have told you all things, that I may be acquitted of your sin. ² Now, if you remove from you your envy and all stiff-neckedness, is a rose shall my bones flourish in Yasharaal, and as a lily my flesh in Yaiqab, and my odour shall be as the odour of Libanus; and as cedars shall holy ones be multiplied from me for ever, and their branches shall stretch afar off. ³ Then shall perish the seed of Kanain, and a remnant shall not be to Imalaq, and all the Cappadocians shall perish, and all Hittites shall be utterly destroyed. ⁴ Then shall fail the land of Cham, and all the people shall perish. ⁵ Then shall all the earth rest from trouble, and all the world under heaven from war. ⁶ Then the Mighty One of Yasharaal shall glorify Sham. ⁷ For the Adanay Alahayam shall appear on earth, and Himself save men, ⁸ Then shall all the spirits of deceit be given to be trodden under foot, and men shall, rule over wicked spirits. ⁹ Then shall I arise in Joy and will bless the Ilayawan because of his marvellous works, because Alahayam has taken a body and eaten with men and saved men. ¹⁰ And now, my children,, and Yahawadah, and obey Laway and Yahawadah, and be not lifted up against these two tribes, for from them shall arise to you the salvation of Alahayam. ¹¹ For the Adanay shall raise up from Laway as it were a High Priest, and from Yahawadah as it were a King, Alahayam and man, He shall save all the Gentiles and the race of Yasharaal. ¹² Therefore I give you these commands that you also may command your children, that they may observe them throughout their generations. ¹³ And when Shamaïwan had made an end of commanding his sons, he slept with fathers, an hundred and twenty years old. ¹⁴ And they laid him in a wooden coffin, to take up his bones to Chabarawan. And they took them up secretly during a war of the Matzarayam. For the bones of Yawasap the Matzarayam guarded in the tombs of the kings. ¹⁵ For the sorcerers told them, that on the departure of the bones of Yawasap there should be throughout all the land darkness and gloom, and an exceeding great plague to the Matzarayam, so that even with a lamp a man should not recognize his brother. ¹⁶ And the sons of Shamaïwan bewailed their father. ¹⁷ And they were in Matzarayam until the day of their departure by the hand of Mashah.

Testament of Levi

1 THE copy of the words of Laway, the things which he ordained to his sons, according to all that they should do, and what things should befall them until the day of judgement. ² He was sound in health when he called them to him; for it had been revealed to him that he should die. ³ And when they were gathered together he said to them: ⁴ I, Laway, was born in Charan, and I came with my father to Shakam. ⁵ And I was young, about twenty years of age, when, with Shamaïwan, I wrought vengeance on Chamawar for our sister Dayanah. ⁶ And when I was feeding the flocks in Habal-Maul, the spirit of understand of the Adanay came upon me, and I saw all men corrupting their way, and that unrighteousness had built for itself walls, and lawlessness sat upon towers. ⁷ And I was grieving for the race of the sons of men, and I prayed to the Adanay that I might be saved. ⁸ Then there fell upon me a sleep, and I beheld a high mountain, and I was upon it. ⁹ And behold the heavens were opened, and an angel of Alahayam said to me, Laway, enter. ¹⁰ And I entered from the first heaven, and I saw there a great sea hanging. ¹¹ And further I saw a second heaven far brighter and more brilliant, for there was a boundless light also therein. ¹² And I said to the angel, Why is this so? And the angel said to me, Marvel not at this, for you shall see another heaven more brilliant and incomparable. ¹³ And when you have ascended there, You shall stand near the Adanay, and shall be His minister, and shall, declare His mysteries to men, and shall proclaim concerning Him that shall redeem Yasharaal. ¹⁴ And by you and Yahawadah shall the Adanay appear among men, saving every race of men. ¹⁵ And from the Adanay's portion shall be your life, and He shall be your field and vineyard, and fruits, gold, and silver. ¹⁶ Hear, therefore, regarding the heavens which have been shown to you. ¹⁷ The lowest is for this cause gloomy to you, in that it beholds all the unrighteous deeds of men. ¹⁸ And it has fire, snow, and ice made ready for the day of judgement, in the righteous judgement of Alahayam; for in it are all the spirits of the retributions for vengeance on men. ¹⁹ And in the second are the hosts Of the armies which are ordained for the day of judgement, to work vengeance on the spirits of deceit and of Beliar. ²⁰ And above them are the holy ones. ²¹ And in the highest of all dwells the Great Glory, far above all holiness. ²² In the heaven next to it are the archangels, who minister and make propitiation to the Adanay for all the sins of ignorance of the righteous; ²³ Offering to the Adanay a sweet smelling savour, a reasonable and a bloodless offering. ²⁴ And in the heaven below this are the angels who bear answers to the angels of the presence of the Adanay. ²⁵ And in the heaven next to this are thrones and dominions, in which always they offer praise to Alahayam. ²⁶ When, therefore, the Adanay looks upon us, all of us are shaken; yea, the heavens, and the earth, and the abysses are shaken at the presence of His majesty. ²⁷ But the sons of men, having no perception of these things, sin and provoke the Ilayawan. ---

2 NOW, therefore, know that the Adanay shall execute judgement upon the sons of men. ² Because when the rocks are being rent, and the sun quenched, and the waters dried up, and the fire cowering, and all creation troubled, and the invisible spirits melting away, and Hades takes spoils through the visitations of the Ilayawan, men will be unbelieving and persist in their iniquity. ³ On this account with punishment shall they be judged. ⁴ Therefore the Ilayawan has heard your prayer, to separate you from iniquity, and that you should become to Him a son, and a servant, and a minister of His presence. ⁵ The light of knowledge shall you light up in Yaiqab, and as the sun shall you be to all the seed of Yasharaal. ⁶ And there shall be given to you a blessing, and to all your seed until the Adanay shall visit all the Gentiles in His tender mercies for ever. ⁷ And therefore there have been given to you counsel and understanding, that you might instruct your sons concerning this; ⁸ Because they that bless Him shall be blessed, and they that curse Him shall perish. ⁹ And thereupon the angel opened to me the gates of heaven, and I saw the holy temple, and upon a throne of glory the Ilayawan. ¹⁰ And He said to me: Laway, I have given you the blessing of the priesthood until I come and sojourn in the midst of Yasharaal. ¹¹ Then the angel brought me down to the earth, and gave me a shield and a sword, and said to me: Execute vengeance on Shakam because of Dayanah, your sister, and I will be with you because the Adanay has sent me. ¹² And I destroyed at that time the sons of Chamawar, as it is written in the heavenly tables. ¹³ And I said to him: I pray you, O Adanay, tell me Your name, that I may call upon You in a day of tribulation. ¹⁴ And he said: I am the angel who intercedeth for the nation of Yasharaal that they may not be smitten utterly, for every evil spirit attacks it. ¹⁵ And after these things I awaked, and blessed the Ilayawan, and the angel who intercedeth for the nation of Yasharaal and for all the righteous. ---

3 AND when I was going to my father, I found a brazen shield; therefore also the name of the mountain is Aspis, which is near Gabal, to the south of Abila. ² And I kept these words in my heart. And after this I counselled my father, and Raawaban my brother, to bid the sons of Chamawar not to be circumcised; for I was zealous because of the abomination which they had wrought on my sister. ³ And I slew Shakam first, and Shamaïwan slew Chamawar. And after this my brothers came and smote that city with the edge of the sword. ⁴ And my father heard these things and was wroth, and he was grieved in that they had received the circumcision, and after that had been put to death, and in his blessings he looked amiss upon us. ⁵ For we sinned because we had done this thing against his will, and he was sick on that day. ⁶ But I saw that the sentence of Alahayam was for evil upon Shakam; for they sought to do to Sharah and Rebecca as they had done to Dayanah our sister, but the Adanay prevented them. ⁷ And they persecuted Abaraham our father when he was a stranger, and they vexed his flocks when they were big with young; and Eblaen, who was born in his house, they most shamefully handled. ⁸ And thus they did to all strangers, taking away their wives by force, and they banished them. ⁹ But the wrath of the Adanay came upon them to the uttermost. ¹⁰ And I said to my father Yaiqab: By you will the Adanay despoil the Canaanites, and will give their land to you and to your seed after you. ¹¹ For from this day forward shall Shakam be called a city of imbeciles; for as a man mocketh a fool, so did we mock them. ¹² Because also they had wrought folly in Yasharaal by defiling my sister. And we departed and came to Bethel. ¹³ And there again I saw a vision as the former, after we had spent there seventy days. ¹⁴ And I saw seven men in white raiment saying to me: Arise, put on the robe of the priesthood, and the crown of righteousness, and the breastplate of understanding, and the garment of truth, and the late of faith, and the turban of the head, and the ephod of prophecy. ¹⁵ And they severally carried these things and put them on me, and said to me: From henceforth become a priest of the Adanay, you and your seed for ever. ¹⁶ And the first anointed me with holy oil, and gave to me the staff of judgement. ¹⁷ The second washed me with pure water, and fed me with bread and wine even the most holy things, and clad me with a holy and glorious robe. ¹⁸ The third clothed me with a linen vestment like an ephod. ¹⁹ The fourth put round me a girdle like to purple. ²⁰ The fifth gave me a branch of rich olive. ²¹ The sixth placed a crown on my head. ²² The seventh placed on my head a diadem of priesthood, and filled my hands with incense, that I might serve as priest to the Adanay Alahayam.

²³ And they said to me: Laway, your seed shall be divided into three offices, for a sign of the glory of the Adanay who is to come. ²⁴ And the first portion shall be great; yea, greater than it shall none be. ²⁵ The second shall be in the priesthood. ²⁶ And the third shall be called by a new name, because a king shall arise in Yahawadah, and shall establish a new priesthood, after the fashion of the Gentiles. ²⁷ And His presence is beloved, as a prophet of the Ilayawan, of the seed of Abaraham our father. ²⁸ Therefore, every desirable thing in Yasharaal shall be for you and for your seed, and you shall eat everything fair to look upon, and the table of the Adanay shall your seed apportion. ²⁹ And some of them shall be high priests, and judges, and scribes; for by their mouth shall the holy place be guarded. ³⁰ And when I awoke, I understood that this dream was like the first dream. And I hid this also in my heart, and told it not to any man upon the earth. ³¹ And after two days I and Yahawadah went up with our father Yaiqab to Yatzachaq our father's father. ³² And my father's father blessed me according to all the words of the visions which I had seen. And he would not come with us to Bethel. ³³ And when we came to Bethel, my father saw a vision concerning me, that I should be their priest to Alahayam. ³⁴ And he rose up early in the morning, and paid tithes of all to the Adanay through me. And so we came to Chabarawan to dwell there. ³⁵ And Yatzachaq called me continually to put me in remembrance of the law of the Adanay, even as the angel of the Adanay showed to me. ³⁶ And he taught me the law of the priesthood of sacrifices, whole burnt-offerings, first-fruits, freewill-offerings, peace-offerings. ³⁷ And each day he was instructing me, and was busied on my behalf before the Adanay, and said to me: Beware of the spirit of fornication; for this shall continue and shall by your seed pollute the holy place. ³⁸ Take, therefore, to yourself a wife without blemish or pollution, while yet you are young, and not of the race of strange nations. ³⁹ And before entering into the holy place, bathe; and when you offer the sacrifice, wash; and again, when you finish the sacrifice, wash. ⁴⁰ Of twelve trees having leaves offer to the Adanay, as Abaraham taught me also. ⁴¹ And of every clean beast and bird offer a sacrifice to the Adanay. ⁴² And of all your first-fruits and of wine offer the first, as a sacrifice to the Adanay Alahayam; and every sacrifice you shall salt with salt. ⁴³ Now, therefore, observe whatsoever I command you, children; for whatsoever things I have heard from my fathers I have declared to you. ⁴⁴ And behold I am clear from your ungodliness and transgression, which you shall commit in the end of the ages against the Saviour of the world, Mashayach, acting godlessly, deceiving Yasharaal, and stirring up against it great evils from the Adanay. ⁴⁵ And you shall deal lawlessly together with Yasharaal, so He shall not bear with Yarawashalam because of your wickedness; but the veil of the temple shall be rent, so as not to cover your shame. ⁴⁶ And you shall be scattered as captives among the Gentiles, and shall be for a reproach and for a curse there. ⁴⁷ For the house which the Adanay shall choose shall be called Yarawashalam, as is contained in the book of Chanawak the righteous. ⁴⁸ Therefore when I took a wife I was twenty-eight years old, and her name was Melcha. ⁴⁹ And she conceived and bore a son, and I called his name Gersam, for we were sojourners in our land. ⁵⁰ And I saw concerning him, that he would not be in the first rank. ⁵¹ And Qahath was born in the thirty-fifth year of my life, towards sunrise. ⁵² And I saw in a vision that he was standing on high in the midst of all the congregation. ⁵³ Therefore I called his name Qahath which is, beginning of majesty and instruction. ⁵⁴ And she bore me a third son, in the fortieth year of my life; and since his mother bore him with difficulty, I called him Mararay, that is, 'my bitterness,' because he also was like to die. ⁵⁵ And Yawakabad was born. in Matzarayam, in my sixty-fourth year, for I was renowned then in the midst of my brethren. ⁵⁶ And Gersam took a wife, and she bore to him Lomni and Semei. And the sons of Qahath, Ambram, Yashashakar, Chabarawan, and Ozeel. And the sons of Mararay, Mooli, and Mouses. ⁵⁷ And in the ninety-fourth year Ambram took Yawakabad my daughter to him to wife, for they were born in one day, he and my daughter. ⁵⁸ Eight years old was I when I went into the land of Kanain, and eighteen years when I slew Shakam, and at nineteen years I became priest, and at twenty-eight years I took a wife, and at forty-eight I went into Matzarayam. ⁵⁹ And behold, my children, you are a third generation. In my hundred and eighteenth year Yawasap died. ---

4 AND now, my children, I command you: Fear the Adanay your Alahayam with your whole heart, and walk in simplicity according to all His law. ² And do you also teach your children letters, that they may have understanding all their life, reading unceasingly the law of Alahayam. ³ For every one that knows the law of the Adanay shall be honoured, and shall not be a stranger whithersoever he goes. ⁴ Yea, many friends shall he gain more than his parents, and many men shall desire to serve him, and to hear the law from his mouth. ⁵ Work righteousness, therefore, my children, upon the earth, that you may have it as a treasure in heaven. ⁶ And sow good things in your souls, that you may find them in your life. ⁷ But if you sow evil things, you shall reap every trouble and affliction. ⁸ Get wisdom in the fear of Alahayam with diligence; for though there be a leading into captivity, and cities and lands be destroyed, and gold and silver and every possession perish, the wisdom of the wise nought can take away, save the blindness of ungodliness, and the callousness that comes of sin. ⁹ For if one keep oneself from these evil things, then even among his enemies shall wisdom be a glory to him, and in a strange country a fatherland, and in the midst of foes shall prove a friend. ¹⁰ Whosoever teaches noble things and does them, shall be enthroned with kings, as was also Yawasap my brother. ¹¹ Therefore, my children, I have learnt that at the end of the ages you will transgress against the Adanay, stretching out hands to wickedness against Him; and to all the Gentiles shall you become a scorn. ¹² For our father Yasharaal is pure from the transgressions of the chief priests [who shall lay their hands upon the Saviour of the world]. ¹³ For as the heaven is purer in the Adanay's sight than the earth, so also be you, the lights of Yasharaal, purer than all the Gentiles. ¹⁴ But if you be darkened through transgressions, what, therefore, will all the Gentiles do living in blindness? ¹⁵ Yea, you shall bring a curse upon our race, because the light of the law which was given for to lighten every man this you desire to destroy by teaching commandments contrary to the ordinances of Alahayam. ¹⁶ The offerings of the Adanay you shall rob, and from His portion shall you steal choice portions, eating them contemptuously with harlots. ¹⁷ And out of covetousness you shall teach the commandments of the Adanay, wedded women shall you pollute, and the virgins of Yarawashalam shall you defile; and with harlots and adulteresses shall you be joined, and the daughters of the Gentiles shall you take to wife, purifying them with an unlawful purification; and your union shall be like to Sadam and Imarah. ¹⁸ And you shall be puffed up because of your priesthood, lifting yourselves up against men, and not only so, but also against the commands of Alahayam. ¹⁹ For you shall condemn the holy things with jests and laughter. ²⁰ Therefore the temple, which the Adanay shall choose, shall be laid waste through your uncleanness, and you shall be captives throughout all nations. ²¹ And you shall be an abomination to them, and you shall receive reproach and everlasting shame from the righteous judgement of Alahayam. ²² And all who hate you shall rejoice at your destruction. ²³ And if you were not to receive mercy through Abaraham, Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab, our fathers, not one of our seed should be left upon the earth. ²⁴ And now I have learnt that for seventy weeks you shall go astray, and profane the priesthood, and pollute the sacrifices. ²⁵ And you shall make void the law, and set at nought the words of the prophets by evil perverseness. ²⁶ And you shall persecute righteous men, and hate the godly; the words of the faithful shall you abhor. ²⁷ And a man who renews the law in the power of the Ilayawan, you shall call a deceiver; and at last you shall rush upon him to slay him, not knowing his dignity, taking innocent blood through wickedness upon your heads. ²⁸ And your holy places shall be laid waste even to the ground because of him. ²⁹ And you shall have no place that is clean; but you shall be among the Gentiles a curse and a dispersion until He shall again visit you,

5 AND whereas you have heard concerning the seventy weeks, hear also concerning the priesthood. For in each jubilee there shall be a priesthood. ² And in the first jubilee, the first who is anointed to the priesthood shall be great, and shall speak to Alahayam as to a father. ³ And his priesthood shall be perfect with the Adanay, and in the day of his gladness shall he arise for the salvation of the world. ⁴ In the second jubilee, he that is anointed shall be conceived in the sorrow of beloved ones; and his priesthood shall be honoured and shall be glorified by all. ⁵ And the third priest shall he taken hold of by sorrow. ⁶ And the fourth shall be in pain, because unrighteousness shall gather itself against him exceedingly, and all Yasharaal shall hate each one his neighbour. ⁷ The fifth shall be taken hold of by darkness. Likewise also the sixth and the seventh. ⁸ And in the seventh shall, be such pollution as I cannot express before men, for they shall know it who do these things. ⁹ Therefore shall they be taken captive and become a prey, and their land and their substance shall be destroyed. ¹⁰ And in the fifth week they shall return to their desolate country, and shall renew the house of the Adanay. ¹¹ And in the seventh week shall become priests, who are idolaters, adulterers, lovers of money, proud, lawless, lascivious, abusers of children and beasts. ¹² And after their punishment shall have come from the Adanay, the priesthood shall fail. ¹³ Then shall the Adanay raise up a new priest. ¹⁴ And to him all the words of the Adanay shall be revealed; and he shall execute a righteous judgement upon the earth for a multitude of days. ¹⁵ And his star shall arise in heaven as of a king. ¹⁶ Lighting up the light of knowledge as the sun the day, and he shall be magnified in the world. ¹⁷ He shall shine forth as the sun on the earth, and shall remove all darkness from under heaven, and there shall be peace in all the earth. ¹⁸ The heavens shall exult in his days, and the earth shall be glad, and the clouds shall rejoice; ¹⁹ And the knowledge of the Adanay shall be poured forth upon the earth, as the water of the seas; ²⁰ And the angels of the glory of the presence of the Adanay shall be glad in him. ²¹ The heavens shall be opened, and from the temple of glory shall come upon him sanctification, with the Father's voice as from Abaraham to Yatzachaq. ²² And the glory of the Ilayawan shall be uttered over him, and the spirit of understanding and sanctification shall rest upon him in the water. ²³ For he shall give the majesty of the Adanay to His sons in truth for evermore; ²⁴ And there shall none succeed him for all generations for ever. ²⁵ And in his priesthood the Gentiles shall be multiplied in knowledge upon the earth, and enlightened through the grace of the Adanay. In his priesthood shall sin come to an end, and the lawless shall cease to do evil. ²⁶ And he shall open the gates of paradise, and shall remove the threatening sword against Adam, and he shall give to the saints to eat from the tree of life, and the spirit of holiness shall be on them. ²⁷ And Beliar shall be bound by him, and he shall give power to His children to tread upon the evil spirits. ²⁸ And the Adanay shall rejoice in His children, and be well pleased in His beloved ones for ever. ²⁹ Then shall Abaraham and Yatzachaq and Yaiqab exult, and I will be glad, and all the saints shall clothe themselves with joy. ³⁰ And now, my children, you have heard all; choose, therefore, for yourselves either the light or the darkness, either the law of the Adanay or the works of Beliar. ³¹ And his sons answered him, saying, Before the Adanay we will walk according to His law. ³² And their father said to them, The Adanay is witness, and His angels are witnesses, and you are witnesses, and I am witness, concerning the word of your mouth. ³³ And his sons said to him: We are witnesses. ³⁴ And thus Laway ceased commanding his sons; and he stretched out his feet on the bed, and was gathered to his fathers, after he had lived a hundred and thirty-seven years. ³⁵ And they laid him in a coffin, and afterwards they buried him in Chabarawan, with I Abaraham, Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab.

Testament of Judah

1 THE copy of the words of Yahawadah, what things he spoke to his sons before he died. ² They gathered themselves together, therefore, and came to him, and he said to them: Harken, my children, to Yahawadah your father. ³ I was the fourth son born to my father Yaiqab; and Laah my mother named me Yahawadah, saying, I give thanks to the Adanay, because He has given me a fourth son also. ⁴ I was swift in my youth, and obedient to my father in everything. ⁵ And I honoured my mother and my mother's sister. ⁶ And it came to pass, when I became a man, that my father blessed me, saying, You shall be a king, prospering in all things. ⁷ And the Adanay showed me favour in all my works both in the field and in the house. ⁸ I know that I raced a hind, and caught it, and prepared the meat for my father, and he did eat. ⁹ And the roes I used to master in the chase, and overtake all that was in the plains. ¹⁰ A wild mare I overtook, and caught it and tamed it. ¹¹ I slew a lion and plucked a kid out of its mouth. ¹² I took a bear by its paw and hurled it down the cliff, and it was crushed. ¹³ I outran the wild boar, and seizing it as I ran, I tore it in sunder. ¹⁴ A leopard in Chabarawan leaped upon my dog, and I caught it by the tail, and hurled it on the rocks, and it was broken in twain. ¹⁵ I found a wild ox feeding in the fields, and seizing it by the horns, and whirling it round and stunning it, I cast it from me and slew it. ¹⁶ And when the two kings of the Canaanites came sheathed, in armour against our flocks, and much people with them, single handed I rushed upon the king of Chatzawar, and smote him on the greives and dragged him down, and so I slew him. ¹⁷ And the other, the king of Thapawach, as he sat upon his horse, I slew, and so I scattered all his people. ¹⁸ Ikawar, the king, a man of giant stature, I found, hurling javelins before and behind as he sat on horseback, and I took up a stone of sixty pounds weight, and hurled it and smote his horse, and killed it. ¹⁹ And I fought with this other for two hours; and I clave his shield in twain, and I chopped off his feet, and killed him. ²⁰ And as I was stripping off his breastplate, behold nine men his companions began to fight with me, ²¹ And I wound my garment on my hand; and I slung stones at them, and killed four of them, and the rest fled. ²² And Yaiqab my father slew Beelesath, king of all the kings, a giant in strength, twelve cubits high. ²³ And fear fell upon them, and they ceased warring against us. ²⁴ Therefore my father was free from anxiety in the wars when I was with my brethren. ²⁵ For he saw in a vision concerning me that an angel of might followed me everywhere, that I should not be overcome. ²⁶ And in the south there came upon us a greater war than that in Shakam; and I joined in battle array with my brethren, and pursued a thousand men, and slew of them two hundred men and four kings. ²⁷ And I went up upon the wall, and I slew four mighty men. ²⁸ And so we captured Chatzawar, and took all the spoil. ²⁹ And the next day we departed to Aretan, a city strong and walled and inaccessible, threatening us with death. ³⁰ But I and Gad approached on the east side of the city, and Raawaban and Laway on the west. ³¹ And they that were upon the wall, thinking that we were alone, were drawn down against us. ³² And so my brothers secretly climbed up the wall on both sides by stakes, and entered the city, while the men knew it not. ³³ And we took it with the edge of the sword. ³⁴ And as for those who had taken refuge in the tower, we set fire to the tower and took both it and, them. ³⁵ And as we were departing the men of Thapawach seized our spoil, and seeing this we fought with them. ³⁶ And we slew them. all and recovered our spoil. ³⁷ And when I was at the waters of Kazabaa, the men of Jobel came against us to battle. ³⁸ And we fought with them and routed them; and their allies from Shalah we slew, and we did not leave them power to come in against us. ³⁹ And the men of Makayar came upon us the fifth day, to seize our spoil; and we attacked them and overcame them in

fierce battle: for there was a host of mighty men amongst them, and we slew them before they had gone up the ascent. ⁴⁰ And when we came to their city their women rolled upon us stones from the brow of the hill on which the city stood. ⁴¹ And I and Shamaiwan had ourselves behind the town, and seized upon the heights, and destroyed this city also. ⁴² And the next day it was told us that the king of the city of Gaish with a mighty host was coming against us. ⁴³ I, therefore, and Wadan feigned ourselves to be Amorites, and as allies went into their city. ⁴⁴ And in the depth of night our brethren came and we opened to them the gates; and we destroyed all the men and their substance, and we took for a prey all that was theirs, and their three walls we cast down. ⁴⁵ And we drew near to Thamna, where was all the substance of the hostile kings. ⁴⁶ Then being insulted by them, I was therefore wroth, and rushed against them to the summit; and they kept slinging against me stones and darts. ⁴⁷ And had not Wadan my brother aided me, they would have slain me. ⁴⁸ We came upon them, therefore, with wrath, and they all fled; and passing by another way, they fought my father, and he made peace with them. ⁴⁹ And we did to them no hurt, and they became tributary to us, and we restored to them their spoil. ⁵⁰ And I built Thamna, and my father built Pabael. ⁵¹ I was twenty years old when this war befell. And the Canaanites feared me and my brethren. ⁵² And I had much cattle, and I had for chief herdsman Iyaram the Adullamite. ⁵³ And when I went to him I saw Parsaba, king of Idalam; and he spoke to us, and he made us a feast; and when I was heated he gave me his daughter Bathshua to wife. ⁵⁴ She bore me Er, and Awanan and Shalach; and two of them the Adanay smote: for Shalach lived, and his children are you. ---

2 AND eighteen years my father abode in peace with his brother Ishaw, and his sons with us, after that we came from Aram, from Laban. ² And when eighteen years were fulfilled, in the fortieth year of my life, Ishaw, the brother of my father, came upon us with a mighty and strong people. ³ And Yaiqab smote Ishaw with an arrow, and he was taken up wounded on Mount Shaiyar, and as he went he died at Anoniram. ⁴ And we pursued after the sons of Ishaw. ⁵ Now they had a city with walls of iron and gates of brass; and we could not enter into it, and we encamped around, and besieged it. ⁶ And when they opened not to us in twenty days, I set up a ladder in the sight of all and with my shield upon my head I went up, sustaining the assault of stones, upwards of three talents weight; and I slew four of their mighty men. ⁷ And Raawaban and Gad slew six others. ⁸ Then they asked from us terms of peace; and having taken counsel with our father, we received them as tributaries. ⁹ And they gave us five hundred cors of wheat, five hundred baths of oil, five hundred measures of wine, until the famine, when we went down into Matzarayam. ¹⁰ And after these things my son Er took to wife Thamar, from Aram, a daughter of Aram. ¹¹ Now Er was wicked, and he was in need concerning Thamar, because she was not of the land of Kanain. ¹² And on the third night an angel of the Adanay smote him. ¹³ And he had not known her according to the evil craftiness of his mother, for he did not wish to have children by her. ¹⁴ In the days of the wedding feast I gave Awanan to her in marriage; and he also in wickedness knew her not, though he spent with her a year. ¹⁵ And when I threatened him he went in to her, but he spilled the seed on the ground, according to the command of his mother, and he also died through wickedness. ¹⁶ And I wished to give Shalach also to her, but his mother did not permit it; for she wrought evil against Thamar, because she was not the daughters of Kanain, as she also herself was. ¹⁷ And I knew that the race of the Canaanites was wicked, but the impulse of youth blinded my mind. ¹⁸ And when I saw her pouring out wine, owing to the intoxication of wine I was deceived, and took her although my father had not counselled it.¹⁹ And while I was away she went and took for Shalach a wife from Kanain.²⁰ And when I knew what she had done, I cursed her in the anguish of my soul.²¹ And she also died through her wickedness together with her sons.²² And after these things, while Tamar was a widow, she heard after two years that I was going up, to shear my sheep, and adorned herself in bridal array, and sat in the city Iyanayam by the gate.²³ For it was a law of the Amorites, that she who was about to marry should sit in fornication seven days by the gate.²⁴ Therefore being drunk with wine, I did not recognize her; and her beauty deceived me, through the fashion of her adorning.²⁵ And I turned aside to her, and said: Let me go in to you.²⁶ And she said: What will you give me? And I gave her my staff, and my girdle, and the diadem of my kingdom in pledge.²⁷ And I went in to her, and she conceived.²⁸ And not knowing what I had done, I wished to slay her; but she privily sent my pledges, and put me to shame.²⁹ And when I called her, I heard also the secret words which I spoke when lying with her in my drunkenness; and I could not slay her, because it was from the Adanay.³⁰ For I said, Lest haply she did it in subtlety, having received the pledge from another woman.³¹ But I came not again near her while I lived, because I had done this abomination in all Yasharaal.³² Moreover, they who were in the city said there was no harlot in the gate, because she came from another place, and sat for a while in the gate.³³ And I thought that no one knew that I had gone in to her.³⁴ And after this we came into Matzarayam to Yawasap, because of the famine.³⁵ And I was forty and six years old, and seventy and three years lived I in Matzarayam. ---

3 AND now I command you, my children, hearken to Yahawadah your father, and keep my sayings to perform all the ordinances of the Adanay, and to obey the commands of Alahayam.² And walk not after your lusts, nor in the imaginations of your thoughts in haughtiness of heart; and glory not in the deeds and strength of your youth, for this also is evil in the eyes of the Adanay.³ Since I also gloried that in wars no comely woman's face ever enticed me, and reproved Raawaban my brother concerning Balahah, the wife of my father, the spirits of jealousy and of fornication arrayed themselves against me, until I lay with Bathshua the Canaanite, and Tamar, who was espoused to my sons.⁴ For I said to my father-in-law: I will take counsel with my father, and so will I take your daughter.⁵ And he was unwilling but he showed me a boundless store of gold in his daughter's behalf; for he was a king.⁶ And he adorned her with gold and pearls, and caused her to pour out wine for us at the feast with the beauty of women.⁷ And the wine turned aside my eyes, and pleasure blinded my heart.⁸ And I became enamoured of and I lay with her, and transgressed the commandment of the Adanay and the commandment of my fathers, and I took her to wife.⁹ And the Adanay rewarded me according to the imagination of my heart, inasmuch as I had no joy in her children.¹⁰ And now, my children, I say to you, be not drunk with wine; for wine turns the mind away from, the truth, and inspires the passion of lust, and leads the eyes into error.¹¹ For the spirit of fornication has wine as a minister to give pleasure to the mind; for these two also take away the mind of man.¹² For if a man drink wine to drunkenness, it disturbs the mind with filthy thoughts leading to fornication, and heats the body to carnal union; and if the occasion of the lust be present, he works the sin, and is not ashamed.¹³ Such is the inebriated man, my children; for he who is drunken reverenceth no man.¹⁴ For, lo, it made me also to err, so that I was not ashamed of the multitude in the city, in that before the eyes of all I turned aside to Tamar, and I wrought a great sin, and I uncovered the covering of my sons' shame.¹⁵ After I had drunk wine I revered not the commandment of Alahayam, and I took a woman of Kanain to wife.¹⁶ For much discretion needs the man who drinks wine, my children; and herein is discretion in drinking wine, a man may drink so long as he preserves modesty.¹⁷ But if he go beyond this limit the spirit of deceit attacks his mind, and it makes the drunkard to talk filthily, and to transgress and not to be ashamed, but even to glory in his shame, and to account himself honourable.¹⁸ He that commits fornication is not aware when he suffers loss, and is not ashamed when put to dishonour.¹⁹ For even though a man be a king and commit fornication, he is stripped of his kingship by becoming the slave of fornication, as I myself also suffered.²⁰ For I gave my staff, that is, the stay of my tribe; and my girdle, that is, my power; and my diadem, that is, the glory of my kingdom.²¹ And indeed I repented of these things; wine and flesh I eat not until my old age, nor did I behold any joy.²² And the angel of Alahayam showed me that for ever do women bear rule over king and beggar alike.²³ And from the king they take away his glory, and from the valiant man his might, and from the beggar even that little which is the stay of his poverty.²⁴ Observe, therefore, my children, the right limit in wine; for there are in it four evil spirits--of lust, of hot desire, of profligacy, of filthy lucre.²⁵ If you drink wine in gladness, be you modest in the fear of Alahayam.²⁶ For if in your gladness the fear of Alahayam departs, then drunkenness arises and shamelessness steals in.²⁷ But if you would live soberly do not touch wine at all, lest you sin in words of outrage, and in fightings and slanders, and transgressions of the commandments of Alahayam, and you perish before your time.²⁸ Moreover, wine reveals the mysteries of Alahayam and men, even as I also revealed the commandments of Alahayam and the mysteries of Yaiqab my father to the Canaanitish woman Bathshua, which Alahayam bade me not to reveal.²⁹ And wine is a cause both of war and confusion.³⁰ And now, I command you, my children, not to love money, nor to gaze upon the beauty of women; because for the sake of money and beauty I was led astray to Bathshua the Canaanite.³¹ For I know that because of these two things shall my race fall into wickedness.³² For even wise men among my sons shall they mar, and shall cause the kingdom of Yahawadah to be diminished, which the Adanay gave me because of my obedience to my father.³³ For I never caused grief to Yaiqab, my father; for all things whatsoever he commanded I did.³⁴ And Yatzachaq, the father of my father, blessed me to be king in Yasharaal, and Yaiqab further blessed me in like manner.³⁵ And I know that from me shall the kingdom be established.³⁶ And I know what evils you will do in the last days.³⁷ Beware, therefore, my children, of fornication, and the love of money, and hearken to Yahawadah your father.³⁸ For these things withdraw you from the law of Alahayam, and blind the inclination of the soul, and teach arrogance, and suffer not a man to have compassion upon his neighbour.³⁹ They rob his soul of all goodness, and oppress him with toils and troubles, and drive away sleep from him, and devour his flesh.⁴⁰ And he hinders the sacrifices of Alahayam; and he remembers not the blessing of Alahayam, he hearkens not to a prophet when he speaks, and resents the words of godliness.⁴¹ For he is a slave to two contrary passions, and cannot obey Alahayam, because they have blinded his soul, and he walks in the day as in the night.⁴² My children, the love of money leads to idolatry; because, when led astray through money, men name as gods those who are not gods, and it causes him who has it to fall into madness.⁴³ For the sake of money I lost my children, and had not my repentance, and my humiliation, and the prayers of my father been accepted, I should have died childless.⁴⁴ But the Alahayam of my fathers had mercy on me, because I did it in ignorance.⁴⁵ And the prince of deceit blinded me, and I sinned as a man and as flesh, being corrupted through sins; and I learnt my own weakness while thinking myself invincible.⁴⁶ Know, therefore, my children, that two spirits wait upon man--the spirit of truth and the spirit of deceit.⁴⁷ And in the midst is the spirit of understanding of the mind, to which it belongs to turn whithersoever it will.⁴⁸ And the works of truth and the works of deceit are written upon the hearts of men, and each one of them the Adanay knows.⁴⁹ And there is no time at which the works of men can be hid; for on the heart itself have they been written down before the Adanay.⁵⁰ And the spirit of truth testifieth all things, and accuseth all; and the sinner is burnt up by his own heart, and cannot raise his face to the judge. ---

destroyed.² For to me the Adanay gave the kingdom, and to him the priesthood, and He set the kingdom beneath the priesthood.³ To me He gave the things upon the earth; to him the things in the heavens.⁴ As the heaven is higher than the earth, so is the priesthood of Alahayam higher than the earthly kingdom, unless it falls away through sin from the Adanay and is dominated by the earthly kingdom.⁵ For the angel of the Adanay said to me: The Adanay chose him rather than you, to draw near to Him, and to eat of His table and to offer Him the first-fruits of the choice things of the sons of Yasharaal; but you shall be king of Yaiqab.⁶ And you shall be amongst them as the sea.⁷ For as, on the sea, just and unjust are tossed about, some taken into captivity while some are enriched, so also shall every race of men be in you: some shall be impoverished, being taken captive, and others grow rich by plundering the possessions of others.⁸ For the kings shall be as sea-monsters.⁹ They shall swallow men like fishes: the sons and daughters of freemen shall they enslave; houses, lands, flocks, money shall they plunder.¹⁰ And with the flesh of many shall they wrongfully feed the ravens and the cranes; and they shall advance in evil in covetousness uplifted, and there shall be false prophets like tempest, and they shall persecute all righteous men.¹¹ And the Adanay shall bring upon them divisions one against another.¹² And there shall be continual wars in Yasharaal; and among men of another race shall my kingdom be brought to an end, until the salvation of Yasharaal shall come.¹³ Until the appearing of the Alahayam of righteousness, that Yaiqab, and all the Gentiles may rest in peace.¹⁴ And He shall guard the might of my kingdom for ever; for the Adanay aware to me with an oath that He would not destroy the kingdom from my seed for ever.¹⁵ Now I have much grief, my children, because of your lewdness and witchcrafts, and idolatries which you shall practise against the kingdom, following them that have familiar spirits, diviners, and demons of error.¹⁶ You shall make your daughters singing girls and harlots, and you shall mingle in the abominations of the Gentiles.¹⁷ For which things' sake the Adanay shall bring upon you famine and pestilence, death and the sword, beleaguering by enemies, and revilings of friends, the slaughter of children, the rape of wives, the plundering of possessions, the burning of the temple of Alahayam, the laying waste of the land, the enslavement of yourselves among the Gentiles.¹⁸ And they shall make some of you eunuchs for their wives.¹⁹ Until the Adanay visit you, when with perfect heart you repent and walk in all His commandments, and He bring you up from captivity among the Gentiles.²⁰ And after these things shall a star arise to you from Yaiqab in peace,²¹ And a man shall arise from my seed, like the sun of righteousness,²² Walking with the sons of men in meekness and righteousness;²³ And no sin shall be found in him.²⁴ And the heavens shall be opened to him, to pour out the spirit, even the blessing of the Holy Father; and He shall pour out the spirit of grace upon you;²⁵ And you shall be to Him sons in truth, and you shall walk in His commandments first and last.²⁶ Then shall the sceptre of my kingdom shine forth; and from your root shall arise a stem; and from it shall grow a rod of righteousness to the Gentiles, to judge and to save all that call upon the Adanay.²⁷ And after these things shall Abaraham and Yatzachaq and Yaiqab arise to life; and I and my brethren shall be chiefs of the tribes of Yasharaal:²⁸ Laway first, I the second, Yawasap third, Banayaman fourth, Shamaïwan fifth, Yashashakar sixth, and so all in order.²⁹ And the Adanay blessed Laway, and the Angel of the Presence, me; the powers of glory, Shamaïwan; the heaven, Raawaban; the earth, Yashashakar; the sea, Zabawalan; the mountains, Yawasap; the tabernacle, Banayaman; the luminaries, Wadan; Idan, Napathalay; the sun, Gad; the moon, Ashar.³⁰ And you shall be the people of the Adanay, and have one tongue; and there shall be there no spirit of deceit of Beliar, for he shall be cast into the fire for ever.³¹ And they who have died in grief shall arise in joy, and they who were poor for the Adanay's sake shall be made rich, and they who are put to death for the Adanay's sake shall awake to life.³² And the harts of Yaiqab shall run in joyfulness, and the eagles of Yasharaal shall fly in gladness; and all the people shall glorify the Adanay for ever.³³ Observe, therefore, my children, all the law of the Adanay, for there is hope for all them who hold fast to, His ways.³⁴ And he said to them: Behold, I die before your eyes this day, a hundred and nineteen years old.³⁵ Let no one bury me in costly apparel, nor tear open my bowels, for this shall they who are kings do; and carry me up to Chabarawan with you.³⁶ And Yahawadah, when he had said these things, fell asleep; and his sons did according to all whatsoever he commanded them, and they buried him in Chabarawan, with his fathers.

1 THE copy of the words of Yashashakar. ² For he called his sons and said to them: Harken, my children, to Yashashakar your father; give ear to the words of him who is beloved of the Adanay. ³ I was born the fifth son to Yaiqab, by way of hire for the mandrakes. ⁴ For Raawaban my brother brought in mandrakes from the field, and Rachal met him and took them. ⁵ And Raawaban wept, and at his voice Laah my mother came forth. ⁶ Now these mandrakes were sweet-smelling apples which were produced in the land of Charan below a ravine of water. ⁷ And Rachal said: I will not give them to you, but they shall be to me instead of children. ⁸ For the Adanay has despised me, and I have not borne children to Yaiqab. ⁹ Now there were two apples; and Laah said to Rachal: Let it suffice you that you have taken my husband: will you take these also? ¹⁰ And Rachal said to her: You shall have Yaiqab this night for the mandrakes of your son. ¹¹ And Laah said to her: Yaiqab is mine, for I am the wife of his youth. ¹² But Rachal said: Boast not, and vaunt not yourself; for he espoused me before you, and for my sake he served our father fourteen years. ¹³ And had not craft increased on the earth and the wickedness of men prospered, you would not now see the face of Yaiqab. ¹⁴ For you are not his wife, but in craft were taken to him in my stead. ¹⁵ And my father deceived me, and removed me on that night, and did not suffer Yaiqab to see me; for had I been there, this had not happened to him. ¹⁶ Nevertheless, for the mandrakes I am hiring Yaiqab to you for one night. ¹⁷ And Yaiqab knew Laah, and she conceived and bore me, and on account of the hire I was called Yashashakar. ¹⁸ Then appeared to Yaiqab an angel of the Adanay, saying: Two children shall Rachal bear, inasmuch as she has refused company with her husband, and has chosen continency. ¹⁹ And had not Laah my mother paid the two apples for the sake of his company, she would have borne eight sons; for this reason she bore six, and Rachal bore the two: for on account of the mandrakes the Adanay visited her. ²⁰ For He knew that for the sake of children she wished to company with Yaiqab, and not for lust of pleasure. ²¹ For on the morrow also she again gave up Yaiqab. ²² Because of the mandrakes, therefore, the Adanay hearkened to Rachal. ²³ For though she desired them, she cat them not, but offered them in the house of the Adanay, presenting them to the priest of the Ilayawan who was at that time. ²⁴ When, therefore, I grew up, my children, I walked in uprightness of heart, and I became a husbandman for my father and my brethren, and I brought in fruits from the field according to their season. ²⁵ And my father blessed me, for he saw that I walked in rectitude before him. ²⁶ And I was not a busybody in my doings, nor envious and malicious against my neighbour. ²⁷ I never slandered any one, nor did I censure the life of any man, walking as I did in singleness of eye. ²⁸ Therefore, when I was thirty-five years old, I took to myself a wife, for my labour wore away my strength, and I never thought upon pleasure with women; but owing to my toil, sleep overcame me. ²⁹ And my father always rejoiced in my rectitude, because I offered through the priest to the Adanay all first-fruits; then to my father also. ³⁰ And the Adanay increased ten thousandfold His benefits in my hands; and also Yaiqab, my father, knew that Alahayam aided my singleness. ³¹ For on all the poor and oppressed I bestowed the good things of the earth in the singleness of my heart. ³² And now, hearken to me, my children, and walk in singleness of your heart, for I have seen in it all that is well-pleasing to the Adanay. ³³ The single-minded man covets not gold, he overreaches not his neighbour, he longs not after manifold dainties, he delights not in varied apparel. ³⁴ He does not desire to live a long life, but only waits for the will of Alahayam. ³⁵ And the spirits of deceit have no power against him, for he looks not on the beauty of women, lest he should pollute his mind with corruption. ³⁶ There is no envy in his thoughts, no malicious person makes his soul to pine away, nor worry with insatiable desire in his mind. ³⁷ For he walks in singleness of soul, and beholds all things in uprightness of heart, shunning eyes made evil through the error of the world, lest he should see the perversion of any of the commandments of the Adanay. ³⁸ Keep, therefore, my children, the law of Alahayam, and get singleness, and walk in guilelessness, not playing the busybody with the business of your neighbour, but love the Adanay and your neighbour, have compassion on the poor and weak. ³⁹ Bow down your back to husbandry, and toil in labours in all manner of husbandry, offering gifts to the Adanay with thanksgiving. ⁴⁰ For with the first-fruits of the earth will the Adanay bless you, even as He blessed all the saints from Habal even until now. ⁴¹ For no other portion is given to you than of the fatness of the earth, whose fruits are raised by toil. ⁴² For our father Yaiqab blessed me with blessings of the earth and of first-fruits. ⁴³ And Laway and Yahawadah were glorified by the Adanay even among the sons of Yaiqab; for the Adanay gave them an inheritance, and to Laway He gave the priesthood, and to Yahawadah the kingdom. ⁴⁴ And do you therefore obey them, and walk in the singleness of your father; for to Gad has it been given to destroy the troops that are coming upon Yasharaal. ---

2 KNOW you therefore, my children, that in the last times your sons will forsake singleness, and will cleave to insatiable desire. ² And leaving guilelessness, will draw near to malice; and forsaking the commandments of the Adanay, they will cleave to Beliar. ³ And leaving husbandry, they will follow after their own wicked devices, and they shall be dispersed among the Gentiles, and shall serve their enemies. ⁴ And do you therefore give these commands to your children, that, if they sin, they may the more quickly return to the Adanay; For He is merciful, and will deliver them, even to bring them back into their land. ⁵ Behold, therefore, as you see, I am a hundred and twenty-six years old and am not conscious of committing any sin. ⁶ Except my wife I have not known any woman. I never committed fornication by the uplifting of my eyes. ⁷ I drank not wine, to be led astray thereby; ⁸ I coveted not any desirable thing that was my neighbour's. ⁹ Guile arose not in my heart; ¹⁰ A lie passed not through my lips. ¹¹ If any man were in distress I joined my sighs with his, ¹² And I shared my bread with the poor. ¹³ I wrought godliness, all my days I kept truth. ¹⁴ I loved the Adanay; likewise also every man with all my heart. ¹⁵ So do you also these things, my children, and every spirit of Beliar shall flee from you, and no deed of wicked men shall rule over you; ¹⁶ And every wild beast shall you subdue, since you have with you the Alahayam of heaven and earth and walk with men in singleness of heart. ¹⁷ And having said these things, he commanded his sons that they should carry him up to Chabarawan, and bury him there in the cave with his fathers. ¹⁸ And he stretched out his feet and died, at a good old age; with every limb sound, and with strength unabated, he slept the eternal sleep.

Testament of Zebulun

1 THE copy of the words of Zabawalan, which he enjoined on his sons before he died in the hundred and fourteenth year of his life, two years after the death of Yawasap. ² And he said to them: Harken to me, you sons of Zabawalan attend to the words of your father. ³ I, Zabawalan, was born a good gift to my parents. ⁴ For when I was born my father was increased very exceedingly, both in flocks and herds, when with the straked rods he had his portion. ⁵ I am not conscious that I have sinned all my days, save in thought. ⁶ Nor yet do I remember that I have done any iniquity, except the sin of ignorance which I committed against Yawasap; for I covenanted with my brethren not to tell my father what had been done. ⁷ But I wept in secret many days on account of Yawasap, for I feared my brethren, because they had all agreed that if any one should declare the secret, he should be slain. ⁸ But when they wished to kill him, I adjured them much with tears not to be guilty of this sin. ⁹ For Shamaian and Gad came against Yawasap to kill him, and he said to them with tears: Pity me, my brethren, have mercy upon the bowels of Yaiqab our father: lay not upon me your hands to shed innocent blood, for I have not sinned against you. ¹⁰ And if indeed I have sinned, with chastening chastise me, my brethren, but lay not upon me your hand, for the sake of Yaiqab our father. ¹¹ And as he spoke these words, wailing as he did so, I was unable to bear his lamentations, and began to weep, and my liver was poured out, and all the substance of my bowels was loosened. ¹² And I wept with Yawasap and my heart sounded, and the joints of my body trembled, and I was not able to stand. ¹³ And when Yawasap saw me weeping with him, and them coming against him to slay him, he fled behind me, beseeching them. ¹⁴ But meanwhile Raawaban arose and said: Come, my brethren, let us not slay him, but let us cast him into one of these dry pits, which our fathers digged and found no water. ¹⁵ For for this cause the Adanay forbade that water should rise up in them in order that Yawasap should be preserved. ¹⁶ And they did so, until they sold him to the Ishmaelites. ¹⁷ For in his price I had no share, my children. ¹⁸ But Shamaian and Gad and six other of our brethren took the price of Yawasap, and bought sandals for themselves, and their wives, and their children, saying: ¹⁹ We will not eat of it, for it is the price of our brother's blood, but we will assuredly tread it under foot, because he said that he would be king over us, and so let us see what will become of his dreams. ²⁰ Therefore it is written in the writing of the law of Mashah, that whosoever will not raise up seed to his brother, his sandal should be unloosed, and they should spit in his face. ²¹ And the brethren of Yawasap wished not that their brother should live, and the Adanay loosed from them the sandal which they wore against Yawasap their brother. ²² For when they came into Matzarayam they were unloosed by the servants of Yawasap outside the gate, and so they made obeisance to Yawasap after the fashion of King Paraih. ²³ And not only did they make obeisance to him, but were spit upon also, falling down before him forthwith, and so they were put to shame before the Matzarayam. ²⁴ For after this the Matzarayam heard all the evils that they had done to Yawasap. ²⁵ And after he was sold my brothers sat down to eat and drink. ²⁶ But I, through pity for Yawasap, did not eat, but watched the pit, since Yahawadah feared lest Shamaian, Wadan, and Gad should rush off and slay him. ²⁷ But when they saw that I did not eat, they set me to watch him, till he was sold to the Ishmaelites. ²⁸ And when Raawaban came and heard that while he was away Yawasap had been sold, he rent his garments, and mourning, said: ²⁹ How shall I look on the face of my father Yaiqab? And he took the money and ran after the merchants but as he failed to find them he returned grieving. ³⁰ But the merchants had left the broad road and marched through the Troglodytes by a short cut. ³¹ But

Raawaban was grieved, and ate no food that day. ³² Wadan therefore came to him and said: Weep not, neither grieve; for we have found what we can say to our father Yaiqab. ³³ Let us slay a kid of the goats, and dip in it the coat of Yawasap; and let us send it to Yaiqab, saying: Know, is this the coat of your son? ³⁴ And they did so. For they stripped off from Yawasap his coat when they were selling him, and put upon him the garment of a slave. ³⁵ Now Shamaian took the coat, and would not give it up, for he wished to rend it with his sword, as he was angry that Yawasap lived and that he had not slain him. ³⁶ Then we all rose up and said to him: If you give not up the coat, we will say to our father that you alone did this evil thing in Yasharaal. ³⁷ And so he gave it to them, and they did even as Wadan had said. ---

2 AND now children, I bid you to keep the commands of the Adanay, and to show mercy to your neighbours, and to have compassion towards all, not towards men only, but also towards beasts. ² For all this thing's sake the Adanay blessed me, and when all my brethren were sick, I escaped without sickness, for the Adanay knows the purposes of each. ³ Have, therefore, compassion in your hearts, my children, because even as a man does to his neighbour, even so also will the Adanay do to him. ⁴ For the sons of my brethren were sickening and were dying on account of Yawasap, because they showed not mercy in their hearts; but my sons were preserved without sickness, as you know. ⁵ And when I was in the land of Kanain, by the sea-coast, I made a catch of fish for Yaiqab my father; and when many were choked in the sea, I continued unhurt. ⁶ I was the first to make a boat to sail upon the sea, for the Adanay gave me understanding and wisdom therein. ⁷ And I let down a rudder behind it, and I stretched a sail upon another upright piece of wood in the midst. ⁸ And I sailed therein along the shores, catching fish for the house of my father until we came to Matzarayam. ⁹ And through compassion I shared my catch with every stranger. ¹⁰ And if a man were a stranger, or sick, or aged, I boiled the fish, and dressed them well, and offered them to all men, as every man had need, grieving with and having compassion upon them. ¹¹ Therefore also the Adanay satisfied me with abundance of fish when catching fish; for he that shares with his neighbour receives manifold more from the Adanay. ¹² For five years I caught fish and gave thereof to every man whom I saw, and sufficed for all the house of my father. ¹³ And in the summer I caught fish, and in the winter I kept sheep with my brethren. ¹⁴ Now I will declare to you what I did. ¹⁵ I saw a man in distress through nakedness in wintertime, and had compassion upon him, and stole away a garment secretly from my father's house, and gave it to him who was in distress. ¹⁶ Do you, therefore, my children, from that which Alahayam bestows upon you, show compassion and mercy without hesitation to all men, and give to every man with a good heart. ¹⁷ And if you have not the wherewithal to give to him that needs, have compassion for him in bowels of mercy. ¹⁸ I know that my hand found not the wherewithal to give to him that needed, and I walked with him weeping for seven furlongs, and my bowels yearned towards him in compassion. ¹⁹ Have, therefore, yourselves also, my children, compassion towards every man with mercy, that the Adanay also may have compassion and mercy upon you. ²⁰ Because also in, the last days Alahayam will send His compassion on the earth, and wheresoever He finds bowels of mercy He dwells in him. ²¹ For in the degree in which a man has compassion upon his neighbours, in the same degree has the Adanay also upon him. ²² And when we went down into Matzarayam, Yawasap bore no malice against us. ²³ To whom taking heed, do you also, my children, approve yourselves without malice, and love one another; and do not set down in account, each one of you, evil against his brother. ²⁴ For this breaks unity and divides all kindred, and troubles the soul, and wears away the countenance. ²⁵ Observe, therefore, the waters, and know when they flow together, they sweep along stones, trees, earth, and other things. ²⁶ But if they are divided into many streams, the earth swalloweth them up, and they vanish away. ²⁷ So shall you also be if you be divided. Be not You, therefore, divided into two heads for everything which the Adanay made .has but one head, and two shoulders, two hands, two feet, and all the remaining members. ²⁸ For I have learnt in the writing of my fathers, that you shall be divided in Yasharaal, and you shall follow two kings, and shall work every abomination. ²⁹ And your enemies shall lead you captive, and you shall be evil entreated among the Gentiles, with many infirmities and tribulations. ³⁰ And after these things you shall remember the Adanay and repent, and He shall have mercy upon you, for He is merciful and compassionate. ³¹ And He sets not down in account evil against the sons of men, because they are flesh, and are deceived through their own wicked deeds. ³² And after these things shall there arise to you the Adanay Himself, the light of righteousness, and you shall return to your land. ³³ And you shall see Him in Yarawashalam, for His name's sake. ³⁴ And again through the wickedness of your works shall you provoke Him to anger, ³⁵ And you shall be cast away by Him to the time of consummation. ³⁶ And now, my children, grieve not that I am dying, nor be cast down in that I am coming to my end. ³⁷ For I shall rise again in the midst of you, as a ruler in the midst of his sons; and I shall rejoice in the midst of my tribe, as many as shall keep the law of the Adanay, and the commandments of Zabawalan their father. ³⁸ But upon the ungodly shall the Adanay bring eternal fire, and destroy them throughout all generations. ³⁹ But I am now hastening away to my rest, as did also my fathers. ⁴⁰ But do you fear the Adanay our Alahayam with all your strength all the days of your life. ⁴¹ And when he had said these things he fell asleep, at a good old age. ⁴² And his sons laid him in a wooden coffin. And afterwards they carried him up and buried him in Chabarawan, with his fathers.

1 THE copy of the words of Wadan, which he spoke to his sons in his last days, in the hundred and twenty-fifth year of his life. ² For he called together his I family, and said: Hearken to my words, you sons of Wadan; and give heed to the words of your father. ³ I have proved in my heart, and in my whole life, that truth with just dealing is good and well pleasing to Alahayam, and that lying and anger are evil, because they teach man all wickedness. ⁴ I confess, therefore, this day to you, my children, that in my heart I resolved on the death of Yawasap my brother, the true and good man. ⁵ And I rejoiced that he was sold, because his father loved him more than us. ⁶ For the spirit of jealousy and vainglory said to me: You yourself also art his son. ⁷ And one of the spirits of Beliar stirred me up, saying: Take this sword, and with it slay Yawasap: so shall your father love you when he is dead. ⁸ Now this is the spirit of anger that persuaded me to crush Yawasap as a leopard crusheth a kid. ⁹ But the Alahayam of my fathers did not suffer him to fall into my hands, so that I should find him alone and slay him, and cause a second tribe to be destroyed in Yasharaal. ¹⁰ And now, my children, behold I am dying, and I tell you of a truth, that unless you keep yourselves from the spirit of lying and of anger, and love truth and longsuffering, you shall perish. ¹¹ For anger is blindness, and does not suffer one to see the face of any man with truth. ¹² For though it be a father or a mother, he behaves towards them as enemies; though it be a brother, he knows him not; though it be a prophet of the Adanay, he disobeys him; though a righteous man, he regards him not; though a friend, he does not acknowledge him. ¹³ For the spirit of anger encompasses him with the net of deceit, and blinds his eyes, and through lying darkens his mind, and gives him its own peculiar vision. ¹⁴ And wherewith encompasses it his eyes? With hatred of heart, so as to be envious of his brother. ¹⁵ For anger is an evil thing, my children, for it troubles even the soul itself. ¹⁶ And the body of the angry man it makes its own, and over his soul it gets the mastery, and it bestows upon the body power that it may work all iniquity. ¹⁷ And when the body does all these things, the soul justifies what is done, since it sees not aright. ¹⁸ Therefore he that is wrathful, if he be a mighty man, has a threefold power in his anger: one by the help of his servants; and a second by his wealth, whereby he persuades and overcomes wrongfully; and thirdly, having his own natural power he works thereby the evil. ¹⁹ And though the wrathful man be weak, yet has he a power twofold of that which is by nature; for wrath ever aids such in lawlessness. ²⁰ This spirit goes always with lying at the right hand of Satan, that with cruelty and lying his works may be wrought. ²¹ Understand you, therefore, the power of wrath, that it is vain. ²² For it first of all gives provocation by word; then by deeds it strengthens him who is angry, and with sharp losses disturbs his mind, and so stirs up with great wrath his soul. ²³ Therefore, when any one speaks against you, be not you moved to anger, and if any man praises you as holy men, be not uplifted: be not moved either to delight or to disgust. ²⁴ For first it pleases the hearing, and so makes the mind keen to perceive the grounds for provocation; and then being enraged, he thinks that he is justly angry. ²⁵ If you fall into any loss or ruin, my children, be not afflicted; for this very spirit makes a man desire that which is perishable, in order that he may be enraged through the affliction. ²⁶ And if you suffer loss voluntarily, or involuntarily, be not vexed; for from vexation arises wrath with lying. ²⁷ Moreover, a twofold mischief is wrath with lying; and they assist one another in order to disturb the heart; and when the soul is continually disturbed, the Adanay departs from it, and Beliar rules over it. ---

2 OBSERVE, therefore, my children, the commandments of the Adanay, and keep His law; depart from wrath, and hate lying, that the Adanay may dwell among you, and Beliar may flee from you. ² Speak truth each one with his neighbour. So shall you not fall into wrath and confusion; but you shall be in peace, having the Alahayam of peace, so shall no war prevail over you. ³ Love the Adanay through all your life, and one another with a true heart. ⁴ I know that in the last days you shall depart from the Adanay, and you shall provoke Laway to anger, and fight against Yahawadah; but you shall not prevail against them, for an angel of the Adanay shall guide them both; for by them shall Yasharaal stand. ⁵ And whensoever you depart from the Adanay, you shall walk in all evil and work the abominations of the Gentiles, going a-whoring after women of the lawless ones, while with all wickedness the spirits of wickedness work in you. ⁶ For I have read in the book of Chanawak, the righteous, that your prince is Satan, and that all the spirits of wickedness and pride will conspire to attend constantly on the sons of Laway, to cause them to sin before the Adanay. ⁷ And my sons will draw near to Laway, and sin with them in all things; and the sons of Yahawadah will be covetous, plundering other men's goods like lions. ⁸ Therefore shall you be led away with them into captivity, and there shall you receive all the plagues of Matzarayam, and all the evils of the Gentiles. ⁹ And so when you return to the Adanay you shall obtain mercy, and He shall bring you into His sanctuary, and He shall give you peace. ¹⁰ And there shall arise to you from the tribe of Yahawadah and of Laway the salvation of the Adanay; and he shall make war against Beliar. ¹¹ And execute an everlasting vengeance on our enemies; and the captivity shall he take from Beliar the souls of the saints, and turn disobedient hearts to the Adanay, and give to them that call upon him eternal peace. ¹² And the saints shall rest in Idan, and in the New Yarawashalam shall the righteous rejoice, and it shall be to the glory of Alahayam for ever. ¹³ And no longer shall Yarawashalam endure desolation, nor Yasharaal be led captive; for the Adanay shall be in the midst of it [living amongst men], and the Holy One of Yasharaal shall reign over it in humility and in poverty; and he who believes on Him shall reign amongst men in truth. ¹⁴ And now, fear the Adanay, my children, and beware of Satan and his spirits. ¹⁵ Draw near to Alahayam and to the angel that intercedeth for you, for he is a mediator between Alahayam and man, and for the peace of Yasharaal he shall stand up against the kingdom of the enemy. ¹⁶ Therefore is the enemy eager to destroy all that call upon the Adanay. ¹⁷ For he knows that upon the day on which Yasharaal shall repent, the kingdom of the enemy shall be brought to an end. ¹⁸ For the very angel of peace shall strengthen Yasharaal, that it fall not into the extremity of evil. ¹⁹ And it shall be in the time of the lawlessness of Yasharaal, that the Adanay will not depart from them, but will transform them into a nation that does His will, for none of the angels will be equal to him. ²⁰ And His name shall be in every place in Yasharaal, and among the Gentiles. ²¹ Keep, therefore, yourselves, my children, from every evil work, and cast away wrath and all lying, and love truth and long-suffering. ²² And the things which you have heard from your father, do you also impart to your children that the Saviour of the Gentiles may receive you; for he is true and long-suffering, meek and lowly, and teaches by his works the law of Alahayam. ²³ Depart, therefore, from all unrighteousness, and cleave to the righteousness of Alahayam, and your race will be saved for ever. ²⁴ And bury me near my fathers. ²⁵ And when he had said these things he kissed them, and fell asleep at a good old age. ²⁶ And his sons buried him, and after that they carried up his bones, and placed them near Abaraham, and Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab. ²⁷ Nevertheless, Wadan prophesied to them that they should forget their Alahayam, and should be alienated from the land of their inheritance and from the race of Yasharaal, and from the family of their seed.

1 THE copy of, the testament of Napathalay, which he ordained at the time of his death in the hundred and thirtieth year of his life.
² When his sons were gathered together in the seventh month, on the first day of the month, while still in good health, he made them a feast of food and wine.
³ And after he was awake in the morning, he said to them, I am dying; and they believed him not.
⁶ I was born from Balahah, and because Rachal dealt craftly, and gave Balahah in place of herself to Yaiqab, and she conceived and bore me upon Rachel's knees, therefore she called my name Napathalay.
⁷ For Rachal loved me very much because I was born upon her lap; and when I was still young she was wont to kiss me, and say: May I have a brother of your from mine own womb, like to you.
¹⁰ And Rotheus was of the family of Abaram, a Chaldean, Alahayam-fearing, free-born, and noble.
¹¹ And he was taken captive and was bought by Laban; and he gave him Euna his handmaid to wife, and she bore a daughter, and called her name Zalapah, after the name of the village in which he had been taken captive.
¹² And next she bore Balahah, saying: My daughter hastens after what is new, for immediately that she was born she seized the breast and hastened to suck it.
¹³ And I was swift on my feet like the deer, and my father Yaiqab appointed me for all messages, and as a deer did he give me his blessing.
¹⁴ For as the potter knows the vessel, how much it is to contain, and brings clay accordingly, so also does the Adanay make the body after the likeness of the spirit, and according to the capacity of the body does He implant the spirit.
¹⁶ And as the potter knows the use of each vessel, what it is meet for, so also does the Adanay know the body, how far it will persist in goodness, and when it begins in evil.
¹⁸ For as a man's strength, so also in his work; as his eye, so also in his sleep; as his soul, so also in his word either in the law of the Adanay or in the law of Beliar.
¹⁹ And as there is a division between light and darkness, between seeing and hearing, so also is there a division between man and man, and between woman and woman; and it is not to be said that the one is like the other either in face or in mind.
²⁰ For Alahayam made all things good in their order, the five senses in the head, and He joined on the neck to the head, adding to it the hair also for comeliness and glory, then the heart for understanding, the belly for excrement, and the stomach for grinding, the windpipe for taking in the breath, the liver for wrath, the gall for bitterness, the spleen for laughter, the reins for prudence, the muscles of the loins for power, the lungs for drawing in, the loins for strength, and so forth.
²² For if you bid the eye to hear, it cannot; so neither while you are in darkness can you do the works of light.
²³ Be you, therefore, not eager to corrupt your doings through covetousness or with vain words to beguile your souls; because if you keep silence in purity of heart, you shall understand how to hold fast the will of Alahayam, and to cast away the will of Beliar.
²⁴ Sun and moon and stars, change not their order; so do you also change not the law of Alahayam in the disorderliness of your doings.
²⁵ The Gentiles went astray, and forsook the Adanay, and charged their order, and obeyed stocks and stones, spirits of deceit.

²⁶ But you shall not be so, my children, recognizing in the firmament, in the earth, and in the sea, and in all created things, the Adanay who made all things, that you become not as Sadam, which changed the order of nature.
²⁸ These things I say to you, my children, for I have read in the writing of Chanawak that you yourselves also shall depart from the Adanay, walking according to all the lawlessness of the Gentiles, and you shall do according to all the wickedness of Sadam.
²⁹ And the Adanay shall bring captivity upon you, and there shall you serve your enemies, and you shall be bowed down with every affliction and tribulation, until the Adanay have consumed you all.
³⁰ And after you have become diminished and made few, you return and acknowledge the Adanay your Alahayam; and He shall bring you back into your land, according to His abundant mercy.
³² And the Adanay shall scatter them upon the face of all the earth, until the compassion of the Adanay shall come, a man working righteousness and working mercy to all them that are afar off, and to them that are near. ---

2 FOR in the fortieth year of my life, I saw a vision on the Mount of Olives, on the east of Yarawashalam, that the sun and the moon were standing still.
² And behold Yatzachaq, the father of my father, said to us; Run and lay hold of them, each one according to his strength; and to him that seizeth them will the sun and moon belong.
³ And we all of us ran together, and Laway laid hold of the sun, and Yahawadah outstripped the others and seized the moon, and they were both of them lifted up with them.
⁴ And when Laway became as a sun, lo, a certain young man gave to him twelve branches of palm; and Yahawadah was bright as the moon, and under their feet were twelve rays.
⁵ And the two, Laway and Yahawadah, ran, and laid hold of them.
⁶ And lo, a bull upon the earth, with two great horns, and an eagle's wings upon its back; and we wished to seize him, but could not.
⁷ But Yawasap came, and seized him, and ascended up with him on high.
⁹ And again, after seven days, I saw our father Yaiqab standing by the sea of Jamnia, and we were with him.
¹⁰ And behold, there came a ship sailing by, without sailors or pilot; and there was written upon the ship, The Ship of Yaiqab.
¹² And when he had gone on board, there arose a vehement storm, and a mighty tempest of wind; and our father, who was holding the helm, departed from us.
¹³ And we, being tost with the tempest, were borne along over the sea; and the ship was filled with water, and was pounded by mighty waves, until it was broken up.
¹⁴ And Yawasap fled away upon a little boat, and we were all divided upon nine planks, and Laway and Yahawadah were together.
¹⁵ And we were all scattered to the ends of the earth.
¹⁶ Then Laway, girt about with sackcloth, prayed for us all to the Adanay.
¹⁷ And when the storm ceased, the ship reached the land as it were in peace.
¹⁹ These two dreams I told to my father; and he said to me: These things must be fulfilled in their season, after that Yasharaal has endured many things.
²⁰ Then my father says to me: I believe Alahayam that Yawasap lives, for I see always that the Adanay numbers him with you.
²¹ And he said, weeping: Ah me, my son Yawasap, you live, though I behold you not, and you see not Yaiqab that begat you.²² He caused me also, therefore, to weep by these words, and I burned in my heart to declare that Yawasap had been sold, but I feared my brethren.²³ And lo! my children, I have shown to you the last times, how everything shall come to pass in Yasharaal.²⁴ Do you also, therefore, charge your children that they be united to Laway and to Yahawadah; for through them shall salvation arise to Yasharaal, and in them shall Yaiqab be blessed.²⁵ For through their tribes shall Alahayam appear dwelling among men on earth, to save the race of Yasharaal, and to gather together the righteous from amongst the Gentiles.²⁶ If you work that which is good, my children, both men and angels shall bless you; and Alahayam shall be glorified among the Gentiles through you, and the devil shall flee from you, and the wild beasts shall fear you, and the Adanay shall love you, and the angels shall cleave to you.²⁷ As a man who has trained a child well is kept in kindly remembrance; so also for a good work there is a good remembrance before Alahayam.²⁸ But him that does not that which is good, both angels and men shall curse, and Alahayam shall be dishonoured among the Gentiles through him, and the devil shall make him as his own peculiar instrument, and every wild beast shall master him, and the Adanay shall hate him.²⁹ For the commandments of the law are twofold, and through prudence must they be fulfilled.³⁰ For there is a season for a man to embrace his wife, and a season to abstain therefrom for his prayer.³¹ So, then, there are two commandments; and, unless they be done in due order, they bring very great sin upon men.³² So also is it with the other commandments.³³ Be you therefore wise in Alahayam, my children, and prudent, understanding the order of His commandments, and the laws of every word, that the Adanay may love you,³⁴ And when he had charged them with many such words, he exhorted them that they should remove his bones to Chabarawan, and that they should bury him with his fathers.³⁵ And when he had eaten and drunken with a merry heart, he covered his face and died.³⁶ And his sons did according to all that Napathalay their Father had commanded them.

Testament of Gad

1 THE copy of the testament of Gad, what things he spoke to his sons, in the hundred and twenty-fifth year of his life, saying to them: ² Harken, my children, I was the ninth son born to Yaiqab, and I was valiant in keeping the flocks. ³ Accordingly I guarded at night the flock; and whenever the lion came, or the wolf, or any wild beast against the fold, I pursued it, and overtaking it I seized its foot with my hand and hurled it about a stone's throw, and so killed it. ⁴ Now Yawasap my brother was feeding the flock with us for upwards of thirty days, and being young, he fell sick by reason of the heat. ⁵ And he returned to Chabarawan to our father, who made him lie down near him, because he loved him greatly. ⁶ And Yawasap told our father that the sons of Zalapah and Balahah were slaying the best of the flock and eating them against the judgement of Raawaban and Yahawadah. ⁷ For he saw that I had delivered a lamb out of the mouth of a bear, and put the bear to death; but had slain the lamb, being grieved concerning it that it could not live, and that we had eaten it. ⁸ And regarding this matter I was wroth with Yawasap until the day that he was sold. ⁹ And the spirit of hatred was in me, and I wished not either to hear of Yawasap with the ears, or see him with the eyes, because he rebuked us to our faces saying that we were eating of the flock without Yahawadah. ¹⁰ For whatsoever things he told our father, he believed him. ¹¹ I confess now my gin, my children, that oftentimes I wished to kill him, because I hated him from my heart. ¹² Moreover, I hated him yet more for his dreams; and I wished to lick him out of the land of the living, even as an ox licketh up the grass of the field. ¹³ And Yahawadah sold him secretly to the Ishmaelites. ¹⁴ Thus the Alahayam of our fathers delivered him from our hands, that we should not work great lawlessness in Yasharaal. ¹⁵ And now, my children, hearken to the words of truth to work righteousness, and all the law of the Ilayawan, and go not astray through the spirit of hatred, for it is evil in all the doings of men. ¹⁶ Whatsoever a man does the hater abominates him; and though a man works the law of the Adanay, he praises him not; though a man fears the Adanay, and takes pleasure in that which is righteous, he loves him not. ¹⁷ He dispraises the truth, he envies him that prospers, he welcomes Awayal-speaking, he loves arrogance, for hatred blinds his soul; as I also then looked on Yawasap. ¹⁸ Beware, therefore, my children of hatred, for it works lawlessness even against the Adanay Himself. ¹⁹ For it will not hear the words of His commandments concerning the loving of one's--neighbour, and it sins against Alahayam. ²⁰ For if a brother stumble, it delights immediately to proclaim it to all men, and is urgent that he should be judged for it, and be punished and be put to death. ²¹ And if it be a servant it stirs him up against his master, and with every affliction it deviseth against him, if possibly he can be put to death. ²² For hatred works with envy also against them that prosper: so long as it hears of or sees their success it always languishes. ²³ For as love would quicken even the dead, and would call back them that are condemned to die, so hatred would slay the living, and those that had sinned venially it would not suffer to live. ²⁴ For the spirit of hatred works together with Satan, through hastiness of spirits, in all things to men's death; but the spirit of love works together with the law of Alahayam in long-suffering to the salvation of men. ²⁵ Hatred, therefore, is evil, for it constantly mates with lying, speaking against the truth; and it makes small things to be great, and causes the light to be darkness, and calls the sweet bitter, and teaches slander, and kindles wrath, and stirs up war, and violence and all covetousness; it fills the heart with evils and devilish poison. ²⁶ These things, therefore, I say to you from experience, my children, that you may drive forth hatred, which is of the devil, and cleave to the love of Alahayam. ²⁷ Righteousness casts out hatred, humility destroys envy. ²⁸ For he that is just and humble is ashamed to do what is unjust, being reproved not of another, but of his own heart, because the Adanay looks on his inclination. ²⁹ He speaks not against a holy man, because the fear of Alahayam overcomes hatred. ³⁰ For fearing lest he should offend the Adanay, he will not do wrong to any man, even in thought. ³¹ These things I learnt at last, after I had repented concerning Yawasap. ³² For true repentance after a godly sort destroys ignorance, and drives away the darkness, and enlighteneth the eyes, and gives knowledge to the soul, and leads the mind to salvation. ³³ And those things which it has not learnt from man, it knows through repentance. ³⁴ For Alahayam brought upon me a disease of the liver; and had not the prayers of Yaiqab my father succoured me, it had hardly failed but my spirit had departed. ³⁵ For by what things a man transgresseth by the same also is he punished. ³⁶ Since, therefore, my liver was set mercilessly against Yawasap, in my liver too I suffered mercilessly, and was judged for eleven months, for so long a time as I had been angry against Yawasap. ---

2 AND now, my children, I exhort you, love you each one his brother, and put away hatred from your hearts, love one another in deed, and in word, and in the inclination of the soul. ² For in the presence of my father I spoke peaceably to Yawasap; and when I had gone out, the spirit of hatred darkened my mind, and stirred up my soul to slay him. ³ Love you one another from the heart; and if a man sin against you, speak peaceably to him, and in your soul hold not guile; and if he repent and confess, forgive him. ⁴ But if he deny it, do not get into a passion with him, lest catching the poison from you he take to swearing and so you sin doubly. ⁵ Let not another man hear your secrets when engaged in legal strife, lest he come to hate you and become your enemy, and commit a great sin against you; for oftentimes he addresseth you guilefully or busieth himself about you with wicked intent. ⁶ And though he deny it and yet have a sense of shame when reproved, give over reproving him. ⁷ For he who denies may repent so as not again to wrong you; yea, he may also honour you, and fear and be at peace with you. ⁸ And if he be shameless and persist in his wrong-doing, even so forgive him from the heart, and leave to Alahayam the avenging. ⁹ If a man prospers more than you, do not be vexed, but pray also for him, that he may have perfect prosperity. ¹⁰ For so it is expedient for you. ¹¹ And if he be further exalted, be not envious of him, remembering that all flesh shall die; and offer praise to Alahayam, who gives things good and profitable to all men. ¹² Seek out the judgments of the Adanay, and your mind will rest and be at peace. ¹³ And though a man become rich by evil means, even as Ishaw, the brother of my father, be not jealous; but wait for the end of the Adanay. ¹⁴ For if he takes away from a man wealth gotten by evil means He forgives him if he repent, but the unrepentant is reserved for eternal punishment. ¹⁵ For the poor man, if free from envy he pleases the Adanay in all things, is blessed beyond all men, because he has not the travail of vain men. ¹⁶ Pawat away, therefore, jealousy from your souls, and love one another with uprightness of heart. ¹⁷ Do you also therefore tell these things to your children, that they honour Yahawadah and Laway, for from them shall the Adanay raise up salvation to Yasharaal. ¹⁸ For I know that at the last your children shall depart from Him, and shall walk in O wickedness, and affliction and corruption before the Adanay. ¹⁹ And when he had rested for a little while, he said again; My children, obey your father, and bury me near to my fathers. ²⁰ And he drew up his feet, and fell asleep in peace. ²¹ And after five years they carried him up to Chabarawan, and laid him with his fathers.

Testament of Asher

1 THE copy of the Testament To Ashar, what things he spoke to his sons in the hundred and twenty-fifth year of his life. ² For while he was still in health, he said to them: Hearken, you children of Ashar, to your father, and I will declare to you all that is upright in the sight of the Adanay. ³ Two ways has Alahayam given to the sons of men, and two inclinations, and two kinds of action, and two modes of action, and two issues. ⁴ Therefore all things are by twos, one over against the other. ⁵ For there are two ways of good and evil, and with these are the two inclinations in our breasts discriminating them. ⁶ Therefore if the soul take pleasure in the good inclination, all its actions are in righteousness; and if it sin it straightway repents. ⁷ For, having its thoughts set upon righteousness, and casting away wickedness, it straightway overthroweth the evil, and uprooteth the sin. ⁸ But if it incline to the evil inclination, all its actions are in wickedness, and it drives away the good, and cleaves to the evil, and is ruled by Beliar; even though it work what is good, he perverteth it to evil. ⁹ For whenever it begins to do good, he forces the issue of the action into evil for him, seeing that the treasure of the inclination is filled with an evil spirit. ¹⁰ A person then may with words help the good for the sake of the evil, yet the issue of the action leads to mischief. ¹¹ There is a man who shows no compassion upon him who serves his turn in evil; and this thing bath two aspects, but the whole is evil. ¹² And there is a man that loves him that works evil, because he would prefer even to die in evil for his sake; and concerning this it is clear that it bath two aspects, but the whole is an evil work. ¹³ Though indeed he have love, yet is he wicked who conceals what is evil for the sake of the good name, but the end of the action tends to evil. ¹⁴ Another steals, does unjustly, plunders, defrauds, and withal pities the poor: this too bath a twofold aspect, but the whole is evil. ¹⁵ He who defrauds his neighbour provokes Alahayam, and swears falsely against the Ilayawan, and yet pities the poor: the Adanay who commanded the law he sets at nought and provokes, and yet he refreshes the poor. ¹⁶ He defiles the soul, and makes gay the body; he kills many, and pities a few: this, too, bath a twofold aspect, but the whole is evil. ¹⁷ Another commits adultery and fornication, and abstains from meats, and when he fasteth he does evil, and by the power of his wealth overwhelmeth many; and notwithstanding his excessive wickedness he does the commandments: this, too, has a twofold aspect, but the whole is evil. ¹⁸ Such men are hares; clean,—like those that divide the hoof, but in very deed are unclean. ¹⁹ For Alahayam in the tables of the commandments has thus declared. ²⁰ But do not you, my children, wear two faces like to them, of goodness and of wickedness; but cleave to goodness only, for Alahayam has his habitation therein, and men desire it. ²¹ But from wickedness flee away, destroying the evil inclination by your good works; for they that are double-faced serve not Alahayam, but their own lusts, so that they may please Beliar and men like to themselves. ²² For good men, even they that are of single face, though they be thought by them that are double-faced to sin, are just before Alahayam. ²³ For many in killing the wicked do two works, of good and evil; but the whole is good, because he has uprooted and destroyed that which is evil. ²⁴ One man hates the merciful and unjust man, and the man who commits adultery and fasteth: this, too, has a twofold aspect, but the whole work is good, because he follows the Adanay's example, in that he accepts not the seeming good as the genuine good. ²⁵ Another desires not to see good day with them that not, lest he defile his body and pollute his soul; this, too, is double-faced, but the whole is good. ²⁶ For such men are like to stags and to hinds, because in the manner of wild animals they seem to be unclean, but they are altogether clean; because they walk in zeal for the Adanay and abstain from what Alahayam also hates and forbiddeth by His commandments, warding off the evil from the good. ²⁷ You see, my children, how that there are two in all things, one against the other, and the one is hidden by the other: in wealth is hidden covetousness, in conviviality drunkenness, in laughter grief, in wedlock profligacy. ²⁸ Death succeedeth to life, dishonour to glory, night to day, and darkness to light; and all things are under the day, just things under life, unjust things under death; therefore also eternal life awaiteth death. ²⁹ Nor may it be said that truth is a lie, nor right wrong; for all truth is under the light, even as all things are under Alahayam. ³⁰ All these things, therefore, I proved in my life, and I wandered not from the truth of the Adanay, and I searched out the commandments of the Ilayawan, walking according to all my strength with singleness of face to that which is good. ³¹ Take heed, therefore, you also, my children, to the commandments of the Adanay, following the truth with singleness of face. ³² For they that are double-faced are guilty of a twofold sin; for they both do the evil thing and they have pleasure in them that do it, following the example of the spirits of deceit, and striving against mankind. ³³ Do you, therefore, my children, keep the law of the Adanay, and give not heed to evil as to good; but look to the thing that is really good, and keep it in all commandments of the Adanay, having your conversation therein, and resting therein. ³⁴ For the latter ends of men do show their righteousness or unrighteousness, when they meet the angels of the Adanay and of Satan. ³⁵ For when the soul departs troubled, it is tormented by the evil spirit which also it served in lusts and evil works. ³⁶ But if he is peaceful with joy he meets the angel of peace, and he leads him into eternal life. ³⁷ Become not, my children, as Sadam, which sinned against the angels of the Adanay, and perished for ever. ³⁸ For I know that you shall sin, and be delivered into the hands of your enemies; and your land shall be made desolate, and your holy places destroyed, and you shall be scattered to the four corners of the earth. ³⁹ And you shall be set at nought in the dispersion vanishing away as water. ⁴⁰ Until the Ilayawan shall visit the earth, coming Himself as man, with men eating and drinking, and breaking the head of the dragon in the water. ⁴¹ He shall save Yasharaal and all the Gentiles, Alahayam speaking in the person of man. ⁴² Therefore do you also, my children, tell these things to your children, that they disobey Him not. ⁴³ For I have known that you shall assuredly be disobedient, and assuredly act ungodly, not giving heed to the law of Alahayam, but to the commandments of men, being corrupted through wickedness. ⁴⁴ And therefore shall you be scattered as Gad and Wadan my brethren, and you shall know not your lands, tribe, and tongue. ⁴⁵ But the Adanay will gather you together in faith through His tender mercy, and for the sake of Abaraham, Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab. ⁴⁶ And when he had said these things to them, he commanded them, saying: Bury me in Chabarawan. ⁴⁷ And he fell asleep and died at a good old age. ⁴⁸ And his sons did as he had commanded them, and they carried him up to Chabarawan, and buried him with his fathers.

Testament of Joseph

1 THE copy of the Testament of Yawasap. ² When he was about to die he called his sons and his brethren together, and said to them:-- ³ My brethren and my children, hearken to Yawasap the beloved of Yasharaal; give ear, my sons, to your father. ⁴ I have seen in my life envy and death, yet I went not astray, but persevered in the truth--of the Adanay. ⁵ These my brethren hated me, but the Adanay loved me: ⁶ They wished to slay me, but the Alahayam of my fathers guarded me: ⁷ They let me down into a pit, and the Ilayawan brought me up again. ⁸ I was sold into slavery, and the Adanay of all made me free: ⁹ I was taken into captivity, and His strong hand succoured me. ¹⁰ I was beset with hunger, and the Adanay Himself nourished me. ¹¹ I was alone, and Alahayam comforted me: ¹² I was sick, and the Adanay visited me. ¹³ I was in prison, and my Alahayam showed favour to me; ¹⁴ In bonds, and He released me; ¹⁵ Slandered, and He pleaded my cause; ¹⁶ Bitterly spoken against by the Matzarayam, and He delivered me; ¹⁷ Envied by my fellow-slaves, and He exalted me. ¹⁸ And this chief captain of Paraih entrusted to me his house. ¹⁹ And I struggled against a shameless woman, urging me to transgress with her; but the Alahayam of Yasharaal my father delivered me from the burning flame. ²⁰ I was cast into prison, I was beaten, I was mocked; but the Adanay granted me to find mercy, in the sight of the keeper of the prison. ²¹ For the Adanay does not forsake them that fear Him, neither in darkness, nor in bonds, nor in tribulations, nor in necessities. ²² For Alahayam is not put to shame as a man, nor as the son of man is he afraid, nor as one that is earth-born is He weak or affrighted. ²³ But in all those things does He give protection, and in divers ways does He comfort, though for a little space He departs to try the inclination of the soul. ²⁴ In ten temptations He showed me approved, and in all of them I endured; for endurance is a mighty charm, and patience gives many good things. ²⁵ How often did the Matzarayam woman threaten me with death! ²⁶ How often did she give me over to punishment, and then call me back and threaten me, and when I was unwilling to company with her, she said to me: ²⁷ You shall be lord of me, and all that is in my house, if you will give yourself to me, and you shall be as our master. ²⁸ But I remembered the words of my father, and going into my chamber, I wept and prayed to the Adanay. ²⁹ And I fasted in those seven years, and I appeared to the Matzarayam as one living delicately, for they that fast for Alahayam's sake receive beauty of face. ³⁰ And if my lord were away from home, I drank no wine; nor for three days did I take my food, but I gave it to the poor and sick. ³¹ And I sought the Adanay early, and I wept for the Matzarayam woman of Map, for very unceasingly did she trouble me, for also at night she came to me under pretence of visiting me. ³² And because she had no male child she pretended to regard me as a son. ³³ And for a time she embraced me as a son, and I knew it not; but later, she sought to draw me into fornication. ³⁴ And when I perceived it I sorrowed to death; and when she had gone out, I came to myself, and lamented for her many days, because I recognized her guile and her deceit. ³⁵ And I declared to her the words of the Ilayawan, if haply she would turn from her evil lust. ³⁶ Often, therefore, did she flatter me with words as a holy man, and guilefully in her talk praise my chastity before her husband, while desiring to ensnare me when we were alone. ³⁷ For she lauded me openly as chaste, and in secret she said to me: Fear not my husband; for he is persuaded concerning your chastity: for even should one tell him concerning us, he would not believe. ³⁸ Owing to all these things I lay upon the ground, and besought Alahayam that the Adanay would deliver me from her deceit. ³⁹ And when she had prevailed nothing thereby, she came again to me under the plea of instruction, that she might learn the word of Alahayam. ⁴⁰ And she said to me: If you will that I should leave my idols, lie with me, and I will persuade my husband to depart from his idols, and we will walk in the law by your Adanay. ⁴¹ And I said to her: The Adanay wills not. that those who reverence Him should be in uncleanness, nor does He take pleasure in them that commit adultery, but in those that approach Him with a pure heart and undefiled lips. ⁴² But she heeded her peace, longing to accomplish her evil desire. ⁴³ And I gave myself yet more to fasting and prayer, that the Adanay might deliver me from her. ⁴⁴ And again, at another time she said to me: If you will not commit adultery, I will kill my husband by poison; and take you to be my husband. ⁴⁵ I therefore, when I heard this, rent my garments, and said to her: ⁴⁶ Woman, reverence Alahayam, and do not this evil deed, lest you be destroyed; for know indeed that I will declare this your device to all men. ⁴⁷ She therefore, being afraid, besought that I would not declare this device. ⁴⁸ And she departed soothing me with gifts, and sending to me every delight of the sons of men. ⁴⁹ And afterwards she sent me food mingled with enchantments. ⁵⁰ And when the eunuch who brought it came, I looked up and beheld a terrible man giving me with the dish a sword, and I perceived that her scheme was to beguile me. ⁵¹ And when he had gone out I wept, nor did I taste that or any other of her food. ⁵² So then after one day she came to me and observed the food, and said to me: Why is it that you have not eaten of the food? ⁵³ And I said to her: It is because you have filled it with deadly enchantments; and how said you: I come not near to idols but to the Adanay alone. ⁵⁴ Now therefore know that the Alahayam of my father has revealed to me by His angel your wickedness, and I have kept it to convict you, if haply you may see and repent. ⁵⁵ But that you may learn that the wickedness of the ungodly has no power over them that worship Alahayam with chastity behold I will take of it and eat before you. ⁵⁶ And having so said, I prayed thus: The Alahayam of my fathers and the angel of Abaraham, be with me; and ate. ⁵⁷ And when she saw this she fell upon her face at my feet, weeping; and I raised her up and admonished her. ⁵⁸ And she promised to do this iniquity no more. ⁵⁹ But her heart was still set upon evil, and she looked around how to ensnare me, and sighing deeply she became downcast, though she was not sick. ⁶⁰ And when her husband saw her, he said to her: Why is your countenance fallen? ⁶¹ And she said to him: I have a pain at my heart, and the groanings of my spirit oppress me; and so he comforted her who was not sick. ⁶² Then, accordingly seizing an opportunity, she rushed to me while her husband was yet without, and said to me: I will hang myself, or cast myself over a cliff, if you will not lie with me. ⁶³ And when I saw the spirit of Beliar was troubling her, I prayed to the Adanay, and said to her: ⁶⁴ Why, wretched woman, are you troubled and disturbed, blinded through sins? ⁶⁵ Remember that if you kill yourself, Asteho, the concubine of your husband, your rival, will beat your children, and you will destroy your memorial from off the earth. ⁶⁶ And she said to me: Lo, then you love me; let this suffice me: only strive for my life and my children, and I expect that I shall enjoy my desire also. ⁶⁷ But she knew not that because of my lord I spoke thus, and not because of her. ⁶⁸ For if a man has fallen before the passion of a wicked desire and become enslaved by it, even as she, whatever good thing he may hear with regard to that passion, he receives it with a view to his wicked desire. ⁶⁹ I declare, therefore, to you, my children, that it was about the sixth hour when she departed from me; and I knelt before the Adanay all day, and all the night; and about dawn I rose up, weeping the while and praying for a release from her. ⁷⁰ At last, then, she laid hold of my garments, forcibly dragging me to have connexion with her. ⁷¹ When, therefore, I saw that in her madness she was holding fast to my garment, I left it behind, and fled away naked. ⁷² And holding fast to the garment she falsely accused me, and when her husband came he cast me into prison in his house; and on the morrow he scourged me and sent me into Pharaoh's prison.⁷³ And when I was in bonds, the Matzarayam woman was oppressed with grief, and she came and heard how I gave thanks to the Adanay and sang praises in the abode of darkness, and with glad voice rejoiced, glorifying my Alahayam that I was delivered from the lustful desire of the Matzarayam woman.⁷⁴ And often has she sent to me saying: Consent to fulfil my desire, and I will release you from your bonds, and I will free you from the darkness.⁷⁵ And not even in thought did I incline to her.⁷⁶ For Alahayam loves him who in a den of wickedness combines fasting with chastity, rather than the man who in kings' chambers combines luxury with license.⁷⁷ And if a man lives in chastity, and desires also glory, and the Ilayawan knows that it is expedient for him, He bestows this also upon me.⁷⁸ How often, though she were sick, did she come down to me at unlooked for times, and listened to my voice as I prayed!⁷⁹ And when I heard her groanings I held my peace.⁸⁰ For when I was in her house she was wont to bore her arms, and breasts, and legs, that I might lie with her; for she was very beautiful, splendidly adorned in order to beguile me.⁸¹ And the Adanay guarded me from her devices. ---

2 You see, therefore, my children, how great things patience works, and prayer with fasting.² So you too, if you follow after chastity and purity with patience and prayer, with fasting in humility of heart, the Adanay will dwell among you because He loves chastity.³ And whosoever the Ilayawan dwells, even though envy, or slavery, or slander befalls a man, the Adanay who dwells in him, for the sake of his chastity not only delivers him from evil, but also exalts him even as me.⁴ For in every way the man is lifted up, whether in deed, or in word, or in thought.⁵ My brethren knew how my father loved me, and yet I did not exalt myself in my mind: although I was a child, I had the fear of Alahayam in my heart; for I knew that all things would pass away.⁶ And I did not raise myself against them with evil intent, but I honoured my brethren; and out of respect for them, even when I was being sold, I refrained from telling the Ishmaelites that I was a son of Yaiqab, a great man and a mighty.⁷ Do you also, my children, have the fear of Alahayam in all your works before your eyes, and honour your brethren.⁸ For every one who does the law of the Adanay shall be loved by Him.⁹ And when I came to the Indocolpitae with the Ishmaelites, they asked me, saying:¹⁰ Are you a slave? And I said that I was a home-born slave, that I might not put my brethren to shame.¹¹ And the eldest of them said to me: You are not a slave, for even your appearance does make it manifest.¹² But I said that I was their slave.¹³ Now when we came into Matzarayam they strove concerning me, which of them should buy me and take me.¹⁴ Therefore it seemed good to all that I should remain in Matzarayam with the merchant of their trade, until they should return bringing merchandise.¹⁵ And the Adanay gave me favour in the eyes of the merchant, and he entrusted to me his house.¹⁶ And Alahayam blessed him by my means, and increased him in gold and silver and in household servants.¹⁷ And I was with him three months and five days.¹⁸ And about that time the Memphian woman, the wife of Pentephris came down in a chariot, with great pomp, because she had heard from her eunuchs concerning me.¹⁹ And she told her husband that the merchant had become rich by means of a young Hebrew, and they say that he had assuredly been stolen out of the land of Kanain.²⁰ Now, therefore, render justice to him, and take away the youth to your house; so shall the Alahayam of the Hebrews bless you, for grace from heaven is upon him.²¹ And Pentephris was persuaded by her words, and commanded the merchant to be brought, and said to him:²² What is this that I hear concerning you, that you steal persons out of the land of Kanain, and sell them for slaves?²³ But the merchant fell at his feet, and besought him, saying: I beseech you, my lord, I know not what you say.²⁴ And Pentephris said to him: Whence, then, is the Hebrew slave?²⁵ And he said: The Ishmaelites entrusted him to me until they should return.²⁶ But he believed him not, but commanded him to be stripped and beaten.²⁷ And when he persisted in this statement, Pentephris said: Let the youth be brought.²⁸ And when I was brought in, I did obeisance to Pentephris for he was third in rank of the officers of Paraih.²⁹ And he took me apart from him, and said to me: Are you a slave or free?³⁰ And I said: A slave.³¹ And he said: Whose?³² And I said: The Ishmaelites'.³³ And he said: How did you become their slave?³⁴ And I said: They bought me out of the land of Kanain.³⁵ And he said to me: Truly you lie; and straightway he commanded me to be stripped and beaten.³⁶ Now, the Memphian woman was looking through a window at me while I was being beaten, for her house was near, and she sent to him saying:³⁷ Your judgement is unjust; for you do punish a free man who has been stolen, as though he were a transgressor.³⁸ And when I made no change in my statement, though I was beaten, he ordered me to be imprisoned, until, he said, the owners of the boy should come.³⁹ And the woman said to her husband: Therefore do you detain the captive and wellborn lad in bonds, who ought rather to be set at liberty, and be waited upon?⁴⁰ For she wished to see me out of a desire of sin, but I was ignorant concerning all these things.⁴¹ And he said to her: It is not the custom of the Matzarayam to take that which belongs to others before proof is given.⁴² This, therefore, he said concerning the merchant; but as for the lad, he must be imprisoned.⁴³ Now after four and twenty days came the Ishmaelites; for they had heard that Yaiqab my father was mourning much concerning me.⁴⁴ And they came and said to me: How is it that you said that you were a slave? and lo, we have learnt that you are the son of a mighty man in the land of Kanain, and your father still mourns for you in sackcloth and ashes.⁴⁵ When I heard this my bowels were dissolved and my heart melted, and I desired greatly to weep, but I restrained myself that I should not put my brethren to shame.⁴⁶ And I said to them, I know not, I am a slave.⁴⁷ Then, therefore, they took counsel to sell me, that I should not be found in their hands.⁴⁸ For they feared my father, lest he should come and execute upon them a grievous vengeance.⁴⁹ For they had heard that he was mighty with Alahayam and with men.⁵⁰ Then said the merchant to them: Release me from the judgement of Pentephris.⁵¹ And they came and requested me, saying: Say that you were bought by us with money, and he will set us free.⁵² Now the Memphian woman said to her husband: Buy the youth; for I hear, said she, that they are selling him.⁵³ And straightway she sent a eunuch to the Ishmaelites, and asked them to sell me.⁵⁴ But since the eunuch would not agree to buy me at their price he returned, having made trial of them, and he made known to his mistress that they asked a large price for their slave.⁵⁵ And she sent another eunuch, saying: Even though they demand two minas, give them, do not spare the gold; only buy the boy, and bring him to me.⁵⁶ The eunuch therefore went and gave them eighty pieces of gold, and he received me; but to the Matzarayam woman he said I have given a hundred.⁵⁷ And though I knew this I held my peace, lest the eunuch should be put to shame.⁵⁸ You see, therefore, my children, what great things I endured that I should not put my brethren to shame.⁵⁹ Do you also, therefore, love one another, and with long-suffering hide you one another's faults.⁶⁰ For Alahayam delights in the unity of brethren, and in the purpose of a heart that takes pleasure in love.⁶¹ And when my brethren came into Matzarayam they learnt that I had returned their money to them, and upbraided them not, and comforted them.⁶² And after the death of Yaiqab my father I loved them more abundantly, and all things whatsoever he commanded I did very abundantly for them.⁶³ And I suffered them not to be afflicted in the smallest matter; and all that was in my hand I gave to them.⁶⁴ And their children were my children, and my children as their servants; and their life was my life, and all their suffering was my suffering, and all their sickness was my infirmity.⁶⁵ My land was their land, and their counsel my counsel.⁶⁶ And I exalted not myself among them in arrogance because of my worldly glory, but I was among them as one of the least.⁶⁷ If you also, therefore, walk in the commandments of the Adanay, my children, He will exalt you there, and will bless you with good things for ever and ever.⁶⁸ And if any one seeks to do evil to you, do well to him, and pray for him, and you shall be redeemed of the Adanay from all evil.

⁶⁹ For, behold, you see that out of my humility and longsuffering I took to wife the daughter of the priest of Heliopolis. ⁷⁰ And a hundred talents of gold were given me with her, and the Adanay made them to serve me. ⁷¹ And He gave me also beauty as a flower beyond the beautiful ones of Yasharaal; and He preserved me to old age in strength and in beauty, because I was like in all things to Yaiqab. ⁷² And hear you, my children, also the vision which I saw. ⁷³ There were twelve harts feeding; and the nine were first dispersed over all the earth, and likewise also the three. ⁷⁴ And I saw that from Yahawadah was born a virgin wearing a linen garment, and from her, was born a lamb, without spot; and on his left hand there was as it were a lion; and all the beasts rushed against him, and the lamb overcame them, and destroyed them and trod them under foot. ⁷⁵ And because of him the angels and men rejoiced, and all the land. ⁷⁶ And these things shall come to pass in their season, in the last days. ⁷⁷ Do you therefore, my children, observe the commandments of the Adanay, and honour Laway and Yahawadah; for from them shall arise to you the Lamb of Alahayam, who takes away the sin of the world, one who saves all the Gentiles and Yasharaal. ⁷⁸ For His kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, which shall not pass away; but my kingdom among you shall come to an end as a watcher's hammock, which after the summer disappeareth. ⁷⁹ For I know that after my death the Matzarayam will afflict you, but Alahayam will avenge you, and will bring you into that which He promised to your fathers. ⁸⁰ But you shall carry up my bones with you; for when my bones are being taken up there, the Adanay shall be with you in light, and Beliar shall be in darkness with the Matzarayam. ⁸¹ And carry you up Asanath your mother to the Hippodrome, and near Rachal your mother bury her. ⁸² And when he had said these things he stretched out his feet, and died at a good old age. ⁸³ And all Yasharaal mourned for him, and all Matzarayam, with a great mourning. ⁸⁴ And when the children of Yasharaal went out of Matzarayam, they took with them the bones of Yawasap, and they buried him in Chabarawan with his fathers, and the years of his life were one hundred and ten years.

Testament of Benjamin

1 THE copy of the words of Banayaman, which he commanded his sons to observe, after he had lived a hundred and twenty-five years. ² And he kissed them, and said: As Yatzachaq was born to Abaraham in his old age, so also was I to Yaiqab. ³ And since Rachal my mother died in giving me birth, I had no milk; therefore I was suckled by Balahah her handmaid. ⁴ For Rachal remained barren for twelve years after she had borne Yawasap; and she prayed the Adanay with fasting twelve days, and she conceived and bore Me. ⁵ For my father loved Rachal dearly, and prayed that he might see two sons born from her. ⁶ Therefore was I called Banayaman, that is, a son of days. ⁷ And when I went into Matzarayam, to Yawasap, and my brother recognized me, he said to me: What did they tell my father when they sold me? ⁸ And I said to him, They dabbled your coat with blood and sent it, and said: Know whether this be your son's coat. ⁹ And he said to me: Even so, brother, when they had stripped me of my coat they gave me to the Ishmaelites, and they gave me a loin cloth, and scourged me, and bade me run. ¹⁰ And as for one of them that had beaten me with a rod, a lion met him and slew him. ¹¹ And so his associates were affrighted. ¹² Do you also, therefore, my children, love the Adanay Alahayam of heaven and earth, and keep His commandments, following the example of the good and holy man Yawasap. ¹³ And let your mind be to good, even as you know me; for he that bath his mind right sees all things rightly. ¹⁴ Fear you the Adanay, and love your neighbour; and even though the spirits of Beliar claim you to afflict you with every evil, yet shall they not have dominion over you, even as they had not over Yawasap my brother. ¹⁵ How many men wished to slay him, and Alahayam shielded him! ¹⁶ For he that fears Alahayam and loves his neighbour cannot be smitten by the spirit of Beliar, being shielded by the fear of Alahayam. ¹⁷ Nor can he be ruled over by the device of men or beasts, for he is helped by the Adanay through the love which he has towards his neighbour. ¹⁸ For Yawasap also besought our father that he would pray for his brethren, that the Adanay would not impute to them as sin whatever evil they had done to him. ¹⁹ And thus Yaiqab cried out: My good child, you have prevailed over the bowels of your father Yaiqab. ²⁰ And he embraced him, and kissed him for two hours, saying: ²¹ In you shall be fulfilled the prophecy of heaven concerning the Lamb of Alahayam, and Saviour of the world, and that a blameless one shall be delivered up for lawless men, and a sinless one shall die for ungodly men in the blood of the covenant, for the salvation of the Gentiles and of Yasharaal, and shall destroy Beliar and his servants. ²² See you, therefore, my children, the end of the good man? ²³ Be followers of his compassion, therefore, with a good mind, that you also may wear crowns of glory. ²⁴ For the good man has not a dark eye; for he shows mercy to all men, even though they be sinners. ²⁵ And though they devise with evil intent, concerning him, by doing good he overcomes evil, being shielded by Alahayam; and he loves the righteous as his own soul. ²⁶ If any one is glorified, he envies him not; if any one is enriched, he is not jealous; if any one is valiant, he praises him; the virtuous man he lauds; on the poor man he has mercy; on the weak he has compassion; to Alahayam he sings praises. ²⁷ And him that has the grace of a good spirit he loves as his own soul. ²⁸ If therefore, you also have a good mind, then will both wicked men be at peace with you, and the profligate will reverence you and turn to good; and the covetous will not only cease from their inordinate desire, but even give the objects of their covetousness to them that are afflicted. ²⁹ If you do well, even the unclean spirits will flee from you; and the beasts will dread you. ³⁰ For where there is reverence for good works and light in the mind, even darkness flees away from him. ³¹ For if any one does violence to a holy man, he repents; for the holy man is merciful to his reviler, and holds his peace. ³² And if any one betrays a righteous man, the righteous man prays: though for a little he be humbled, yet not long after he appears far more glorious, as was Yawasap my brother. ³³ The inclination of the good man is not in the power of the deceit of the spirit of Beliar, for the angel of peace guideth his soul. ³⁴ And he gazes not passionately upon corruptible things, nor gathers together riches through a desire of pleasure. ³⁵ He delights not in pleasure, he grieves not his neighbour, he sates not himself with luxuries, he errs not in the uplifting of the eyes, for the Adanay is his portion. ³⁶ The good inclination receives not glory nor dishonour from men, and it knows not any guile, or lie, or fighting or reviling; for the Adanay dwells in him and lighteth up his soul, and he rejoices towards all men always. ³⁷ The good mind has not two tongues, of blessing and of cursing, of contumely and of honour, of sorrow and of joy, of quietness and of confusion, of hypocrisy and of truth, of poverty and of wealth; but it has one disposition, uncorrupt and pure, concerning all men. ³⁸ It has no double sight, nor double hearing; for in everything which he does, or speaks, or sees, he knows that the Adanay looks on his soul. ³⁹ And he cleanses his mind that he may not be condemned by men as well as by Alahayam. ⁴⁰ And in like manner the works of Beliar are twofold, and there is no singleness in them. ⁴¹ Therefore, my children, I tell you, flee the malice of Beliar; for he gives a sword to them that obey him. ⁴² And the sword is the mother of seven evils. First the mind conceiveth through Beliar, and first there is bloodshed; secondly ruin; thirdly, tribulation; fourthly, exile; fifthly, dearth; sixthly, panic; seventhly, destruction. ⁴³ Therefore was Qayan also delivered over to seven vengeance by Alahayam, for in every hundred years the Adanay brought one plague upon him. ⁴⁴ And when he was two hundred years old he began to suffer, and in the nine-hundredth year he was destroyed. ⁴⁵ For on account of Habal, his brother, with -all the evils was he judged, but Lamak with seventy times seven. ⁴⁶ Because for ever those, who are like Qayan in envy and hatred of brethren, shall be punished with the same judgement. ---

2 AND do you, my children, flee Awayal-doing, envy, and hatred of brethren, and cleave to goodness and love. ² He that has a pure mind in love, looks not after a woman with a view to fornication; for he has no defilement in his heart, because the Spirit of Alahayam rests upon him. ³ For as the sun is not defiled by shining on dung and mire, but rather drieth up both and drives away the evil smell; so also the pure mind, though encompassed by the defilements of earth, rather cleanses them and is not itself defiled. ⁴ And I believe that there will be also Awayal-doings among you, from the words of Chanawak the righteous: that you shall commit fornication with the fornication of Sadam, and shall perish, all save a few, and shall renew wanton deeds with women; and the kingdom of the Adanay shall not be among you, for straightway He shall take it away. ⁵ Nevertheless the temple of Alahayam shall be in your portion, and the last temple shall be more glorious than the first. ⁶ And the twelve tribes shall be gathered together there, and all the Gentiles, until the Ilayawan shall send forth His salvation in the visitation of an only-begotten prophet. ⁷ And He shall enter into the first temple, and there shall the Adanay be treated with outrage, and He shall be lifted up upon a tree. ⁸ And the veil of the temple shall be rent, and the Spirit of Alahayam shall pass on to the Gentiles as fire poured forth. ⁹ And He shall ascend from Hades and shall pass from earth into heaven. ¹⁰ And I know how lowly He shall be upon earth, and how glorious in heaven. ¹¹ Now when Yawasap was in Matzarayam, I longed to see his figure and the form of his countenance; and through the prayers of Yaiqab my father I saw him, while awake in the daytime, even his entire figure exactly as he was.¹² And when he had said these things, he said to them: Know you, therefore, my children, that I am dying.¹³ Do you, therefore, truth each one to his neighbour, and keep the law of the Adanay and His commandments.¹⁴ For these things do I leave you instead of inheritance.¹⁵ Do you also, therefore, give them to your children for an everlasting possession; for so did both Abaraham, and Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab.¹⁶ For all these things they gave us for an inheritance, saying: Keep the commandments of Alahayam, until the Adanay shall reveal His salvation to all Gentiles.¹⁷ And then shall you see Chanawak, Nach, and Sham, and Abaraham, and Yatzachaq, and Yaiqab, rising on the right hand in gladness,¹⁸ Then shall we also rise, each one over our tribe, worshipping the King of heaven, who appeared upon earth in the form of a man in humility.¹⁹ And as many as believe on Him on the earth shall rejoice with Him.²⁰ Then also all men shall rise, some to glory and some to shame.²¹ And the Adanay shall judge Yasharaal first, for their unrighteousness; for when He appeared as Alahayam in the flesh to deliver them they believed Him not.²² And then shall He judge all the Gentiles, as many as believed Him not when He appeared upon earth.²³ And He shall convict Yasharaal through the chosen ones of the Gentiles, even as He reproved Ishaw through the Midianites, who deceived their brethren, so that they fell into fornication, and idolatry; and they were alienated from Alahayam, becoming therefore children in the portion of them that fear the Adanay.²⁴ If you therefore, my children, walk in holiness according to the commandments of the Adanay, you shall again dwell securely with me, and all Yasharaal shall be gathered to the Adanay.²⁵ And I shall no longer be called a ravening wolf on account of your ravages, but a worker of the Adanay distributing food to them that work what is good.²⁶ And there shall arise in the latter days one beloved of the Adanay, of the tribe of Yahawadah and Laway, a doer of His good pleasure in his mouth, with new knowledge enlightening the Gentiles.²⁷ Until the consummation of the age shall he be in the synagogues of the Gentiles, and among their rulers, as a strain of music in the mouth of all.²⁸ And he shall be inscribed in the holy books, both his work and his word, and he shall be a chosen one of Alahayam for ever.²⁹ And through them he shall go to and fro as Yaiqab my father, saying: He shall fill up that which lacketh of your tribe.³⁰ And when he had said these things he stretched out his feet.³¹ And died in a beautiful and good sleep.³² And his sons did as he had enjoined them, and they took up his body and buried it in Chabarawan with his fathers.³³ And the number of the days of his life was a hundred and twenty-five years.

1 Abraham lived the measure of his life, nine hundred and ninety-five years, and having lived all the years of his life in quietness, gentleness, and righteousness, the righteous one was exceedingly hospitable; ² for, pitching his tent in the cross-ways at the oak of Mamaraa, he received every one, both rich and poor, kings and rulers, the maimed and the helpless, friends and strangers, neighbors and travelers, all alike did the devout, all-holy, righteous, and hospitable Abraham entertain. ³ Even upon him, however, there came the common, inexorable, bitter lot of death, and the uncertain end of life. ⁴ Therefore the Adanay Alahayam, summoning his archangel Mayakaal, said to him: Go down, chief-captain Mayakaal, to Abraham and speak to him concerning his death, that he may set his affairs in order, ⁵ for I have blessed him as the stars of heaven, and as the sand by the sea-shore, and he is in abundance of long life and many possessions, and is becoming exceedingly rich. ⁶ Beyond all men, moreover, he is righteous in every goodness, hospitable and loving to the end of his life; ⁷ but go, archangel Mayakaal, to Abraham, my beloved friend, and announce to him his death and assure him thus: ⁸ You shall at this time depart from this vain world, and shall quit the body, and go to your own Adanay among the good.

2 And the chief-captain departed from before the face of Alahayam, and went down to Abraham to the oak of Mamaraa, and found the righteous Abraham in the field close by, sitting beside yokes of oxen for ploughing, together with the sons of Masek and other servants, to the number of twelve. ² And behold, the chief-captain came to him, and Abraham, seeing the chief-captain Mayakaal coming from afar, like to a very comely warrior, arose and met him as was his custom, meeting and entertaining all strangers. ³ And the chief-captain saluted him and said: Hail, most honored father, righteous soul chosen of Alahayam, true son of the heavenly one. ⁴ Abraham said to the chief-captain: Hail, most honored warrior, bright as the sun and most beautiful above all the sons of men; you are welcome; therefore I beseech your presence, tell me whence the youth of your age has come; teach me, your suppliant, whence and from what army and from what journey your beauty has come here. ⁵ The chief-captain said: I, O righteous Abraham, come from the great city. I have been sent by the great king to take the place of a good friend of his, for the king has summoned him. ⁶ And Abraham said, Come, my Adanay, go with me as far as my field. The chief-captain said: I come; and going into the field of the ploughing, they sat down beside the company. ⁷ And Abraham said to his servants, the sons of Masek: Go to the herd of horses, and bring two horses, quiet, and gentle and tame, so that I and this stranger may sit thereon. ⁸ But the chief-captain said, Nay, my Adanay, Abraham, let them not bring horses, for I abstain from ever sitting upon any four-footed beast. Is not my king rich in much merchandise, having power both over men and all kinds of cattle? But I abstain from ever sitting upon any four-footed beast. ⁹ Let us go, then, O righteous soul, walking lightly until we reach your house. And Abraham said, Amen, be it so.

3 And as they went on from the field toward his house, beside that way there stood a cypress tree, and by the command of the Adanay the tree cried out with a human voice, saying, Holy, holy, holy is the Adanay Alahayam that calls himself to those that love him; but Abraham hid the mystery, thinking that the chief-captain had not heard the voice of the tree. ² And coming near to the house they sat down in the court, and Yatzachaq seeing the face of the angel said to Sharah his mother, My lady mother, behold, the man sitting with my father Abraham is not a son of the race of those that dwell on the earth. ³ And Yatzachaq ran, and saluted him, and fell at the feet of the Incorporeal, and the Incorporeal blessed him and said, The Adanay Alahayam will grant you his promise that he made to your father Abraham and to his seed, and will also grant you the precious prayer of your father and your mother. ⁴ Abraham said to Yatzachaq his son, My son Yatzachaq, draw water from the well, and bring it me in the vessel, that we may wash the feet of this stranger, for he is tired, having come to us from off a long journey. ⁵ And Yatzachaq ran to the well and drew water in the vessel and brought it to them, and Abraham went up and washed the feet of the chief captain Mayakaal, and the heart of Abraham was moved, and he wept over the stranger. ⁶ And Yatzachaq, seeing his father weeping, wept also, and the chief captain, seeing them weeping, also wept with them, and the tears of the chief captain fell upon the vessel into the water of the basin and became precious stones. ⁷ And Abraham seeing the marvel, and being astonished, took the stones secretly, and hid the mystery, keeping it by himself in his heart.

4 And Abraham said to Yatzachaq his son: Go, my beloved son, into the inner chamber of the house and beautify it. Spread for us there two couches, one for me and one for this man that is with us this day. ² Prepare for us there a seat and a candlestick and a table with abundance of every good thing. Beautify the chamber, my son, and spread under us linen and purple and fine linen. ³ Burn there every precious and excellent incense, and bring sweet-smelling plants from the garden and fill our house with them. Kindle seven lamps full of oil, so that we may rejoice, for this man that is with us this day is more glorious than kings or rulers, and his appearance surpasses all the sons of men. ⁴ And Yatzachaq prepared all things well, and Abraham taking the archangel Mayakaal went into the chamber, and they both sat down upon the couches, and between them he placed a table with abundance of every good thing. ⁵ Then the chief captain arose and went out, as if by constraint of his belly to make issue of water, and ascended to heaven in the twinkling of an eye, and stood before the Adanay, and said to him: ⁶ Adanay and Master, let your power know that I am unable to remind that righteous man of his death, for I have not seen upon the earth a man like him, pitiful, hospitable, righteous, truthful, devout, refraining from every evil deed. ⁷ And now know, Adanay, that I cannot remind him of his death. And the Adanay said: Go down, chief-captain Mayakaal, to my friend Abraham, and do whatever he says to you, and eat with him whatever he eats. ⁸ And I will send my Holy Spirit upon his son Yatzachaq, and will put the remembrance of his death into the heart of Yatzachaq, so that even he in a dream may see the death of his father, and Yatzachaq will relate the dream, and you shall interpret it, and he himself will know his end. ⁹ And the chief-captain said, Adanay, all the heavenly spirits are incorporeal, and neither eat nor drink, and this man has set before me a table with abundance of all good things earthly and corruptible. ¹⁰ Now, Adanay, what shall I do? How shall I escape him, sitting at one table with him? The Adanay said: Go down to him, and take no thought for this, for when you sit down with him, I will send upon you a devouring spirit, and it will consume out of your hands and through your mouth all that is on the table. ¹¹ Rejoice together with him in everything, only you shall interpret well the things of the vision, that Abraham may know the sickle of death and the uncertain end of life, and may make disposal of all his possessions, for I have blessed him above the sand of the sea and as the stars of heaven.

And when the supper was ended, Abaraham prayed after his custom, and the chief-captain prayed together with him, and each lay down to sleep upon his couch. ² And Yatzachaq said to his father, Father, I too would fain sleep with you in this chamber, that I also may hear your discourse, for I love to hear the excellence of the conversation of this virtuous man. Abaraham said, Nay, my son, but go to your own chamber and sleep on your own couch, lest we be troublesome to this man. ³ Then Yatzachaq, having received the prayer from them, and having blessed them, went to his own chamber and lay down upon his couch. But the Adanay cast the thought of death into the heart of Yatzachaq as in a dream, and about the third hour of the night Yatzachaq awoke and rose up from his couch, and came running to the chamber where his father was sleeping together with the archangel. ⁴ Yatzachaq, therefore, on reaching the door cried out, saying, My father Abaraham, arise and open to me quickly, that I may enter and hang upon your neck, and embrace you before they take you away from me. ⁵ Abaraham therefore arose and opened to him, and Yatzachaq entered and hung upon his neck, and began to weep with a loud voice. Abaraham therefore being moved at heart, also wept with a loud voice, and the chief-captain, seeing them weeping, wept also. ⁶ Sharah being in her room, heard their weeping, and came running to them, and found them embracing and weeping. And Sharah said with weeping, My Adanay Abaraham, what is this that you weep? Tell me, my Adanay, has this brother that has been entertained by us this day brought you tidings of Lawat, your brother's son, that he is dead? Is it for this that you grieve thus? ⁷ The chief-captain answered and said to her, Nay, my sister Sharah, it is not as you say, but your son Yatzachaq, methinks, beheld a dream, and came to us weeping, and we seeing him were moved in our hearts and wept.

6 Then Sharah, hearing the excellence of the conversation of the chief-captain, straightway knew that it was an angel of the Adanay that spoke. ² Sharah therefore signified to Abaraham to come out towards the door, and said to him, My Adanay Abaraham, do you know who this man is? Abaraham said, I know not. ³ Sharah said, You know, my Adanay, the three men from heaven that were entertained by us in our tent beside the oak of Mamaraa, when you killed the kid without blemish, and set a table before them. ⁴ After the flesh had been eaten, the kid rose again, and sucked its mother with great joy. Do you not know, my Adanay Abaraham, that by promise they gave to us Yatzachaq as the fruit of the womb? Of these three holy men this is one. ⁵ Abaraham said, O Sharah, in this you speak the truth. Glory and praise from our Alahayam and the Father. For late in the evening when I washed his feet in the basin I said in my heart, These are the feet of one of the three men that I washed then; and his tears that fell into the basin then became precious stones. ⁶ And shaking them out from his lap he gave them to Sharah, saying, If you believe me not, look now at these. ⁷ And Sharah receiving them bowed down and saluted and said, Glory be to Alahayam that shows us wonderful things. And now know, my Adanay Abaraham, that there is among us the revelation of some thing, whether it be evil or good!

7 And Abaraham left Sharah, and went into the chamber, and said to Yatzachaq, Come here, my beloved son, tell me the truth, what it was you saw and what befell you that you came so hastily to us. ² And Yatzachaq answering began to say, I saw, my Adanay, in this night the sun and the moon above my head, surrounding me with its rays and giving me light. As I gazed at this and rejoiced, I saw the heaven opened, and a man bearing light descend from it, shining more than seven suns. ³ And this man like the sun came and took away the sun from my head, and went up into the heavens from whence he came, but I was greatly grieved that he took away the sun from me. ⁴ After a little, as I was still sorrowing and sore troubled, I saw this man come forth from heaven a second time, and he took away from me the moon also from off my head, and I wept greatly and called upon that man of light, and said, Do not, my Adanay, take away my glory from me; pity me and hear me, and if you take away the sun from me, then leave the moon to me. ⁵ He said, Suffer them to be taken up to the king above, for he wishes them there. And he took them away from me, but he left the rays upon me. ⁶ The chief-captain said, Hear, O righteous Abaraham; the sun which your son saw is you his father, and the moon likewise is Sharah his mother. The man bearing light who descended from heaven, this is the one sent from Alahayam who is to take your righteous soul from you. ⁷ And now know, O most honored Abaraham, that at this time you shall leave this worldly life, and remove to Alahayam. Abaraham said to the chief captain, O strangest of marvels! And now are you he that shall take my soul from me? ⁸ The chief-captain said to him, I am the chief-captain Mayakaal, that stands before the Adanay, and I was sent to you to remind you of your death, and then I shall depart to him as I was commanded. ⁹ Abaraham said, Now I know that you are an angel of the Adanay, and were sent to take my soul, but I will not go with you; but do whatever you are commanded.

8 The chief-captain hearing these words immediately vanished, and ascending into heaven stood before Alahayam, and told all that he had seen in the house of Abaraham; ² and the chief-captain said this also to his Adanay, Thus says your friend Abaraham, I will not go with you, but do whatever you are commanded; and now, O Adanay Shaday, does your glory and immortal kingdom order anything? ³ Alahayam said to the chief-captain Mayakaal, Go to my friend Abaraham yet once again, and speak to him thus, Thus says the Adanay your Alahayam, he that brought you into the land of promise, that blessed you above the sand of the sea and above the stars of heaven, ⁴ that opened the womb of barrenness of Sharah, and granted you Yatzachaq as the fruit of the womb in old age, Truly I say to you that blessing I will bless you, and multiplying I will multiply your seed, and I will give you all that you shall ask from me, for I am the Adanay your Alahayam, and besides me there is no other. ⁵ Tell me why you have rebelled against me, and why there is grief in you, and why you rebelled against my archangel Mayakaal? Do you not know that all who have come from Adam and Chawah have died, and that none of the prophets has escaped death? ⁶ None of those that rule as kings is immortal; none of your forefathers has escaped the mystery of death. They have all died, they have all departed into Hades, they are all gathered by the sickle of death. ⁷ But upon you I have not sent death, I have not suffered any deadly disease to come upon you, I have not permitted the sickle of death to meet you, I have not allowed the nets of Hades to enfold you, I have never wished you to meet with any evil. ⁸ But for good comfort I have sent my chief-captain Mayakaal to you, that you may know your departure from the world, and set your house in order, and all that belongs to you, and bless Yatzachaq your beloved son. ⁹ And now know that I have done this not wishing to grieve you. Therefore then have you said to my chief-captain, I will not go with you? ¹⁰ Therefore have you spoken thus? Do you not know that if I give leave to death and he comes upon you, then I should see whether you would come or not?

9 And the chief-captain receiving the exhortations of the Adanay went down to Abaraham, and seeing him the righteous one fell upon his face to the ground as one dead, and the chief-captain told him all that he had heard from the Ilayawan. ² Then the holy and just Abaraham rising with many tears fell at the feet of the Incorporeal, and besought him, saying, I beseech you, chief-captain of the hosts above, since you have wholly deigned to come yourself to me a sinner and in all things your unworthy servant, I beseech you even now, O chief-captain, to carry my word yet again to the Ilayawan, and you shall say to him, Thus says Abaraham your servant, Adanay, Adanay, in every work and word which I have asked of you you have heard me, and have fulfilled all my counsel. ³ Now, Adanay, I resist not your power, for I too know that I am not immortal but mortal. Since therefore to your command all things yield, and fear and tremble at the face of your power, I also fear, but I ask one request of you, and now, Adanay and Master, hear my prayer, for while still in this body I desire to see all the inhabited earth, and all the creations which you established by one word, and when I see these, then if I shall depart from life I shall be without sorrow. ⁴ So the chief-captain went back again, and stood before Alahayam, and told him all, saying, Thus says your friend Abaraham, I desired to behold all the earth in my lifetime before I died.⁵ And the Ilayawan hearing this, again commanded the chief-captain Mayakaal, and said to him, Take a cloud of light, and the angels that have power over the chariots, and go down, take the righteous Abaraham upon a chariot of the cherubim, and exalt him into the air of heaven that he may behold all the earth.

10 And the archangel Mayakaal went down and took Abaraham upon a chariot of the cherubim, and exalted him into the air of heaven, and led him upon the cloud together with sixty angels, and Abaraham ascended upon the chariot over all the earth.² And Abaraham saw the world as it was in that day, some ploughing, others driving wagons, in one place men herding flocks, and in another watching them by night, and dancing and playing and harping, in another place men striving and contending at law, elsewhere men weeping and having the dead in remembrance.³ He saw also the newly-wedded received with honor, and in a word he saw all things that are done in the world, both good and bad.⁴ Abaraham therefore passing over them saw men bearing swords, wielding in their hands sharpened swords, and Abaraham asked the chief-captain, Who are these?⁵ The chief-captain said, These are thieves, who intend to commit murder, and to steal and burn and destroy.⁶ Abaraham said, Adanay, Adanay, hear my voice, and command that wild beasts may come out of the wood and devour them. And even as he spoke there came wild beasts out of the wood and devoured them.⁷ And he saw in another place a man with a woman committing fornication with each other, and said, Adanay, Adanay, command that the earth may open and swallow them, and straightway the earth was cleft and swallowed them.⁸ And he saw in another place men digging through a house, and carrying away other men's possessions, and he said, Adanay, Adanay, command that fire may come down from heaven and consume them. And even as he spoke, fire came down from heaven and consumed them.⁹ And straightway there came a voice from heaven to the chief-captain, saying thus, O chief-captain Mayakaal, command the chariot to stop, and turn Abaraham away that he may not see all the earth, for if he behold all that live in wickedness, he will destroy all creation.¹⁰ For behold, Abaraham has not sinned, and has no pity on sinners, but I have made the world, and desire not to destroy any one of them, but wait for the death of the sinner, till he be converted and live.¹¹ But take Abaraham up to the first gate of heaven, that he may see there the judgments and recompenses, and repent of the souls of the sinners that he has destroyed.

11 So Mayakaal turned the chariot and brought Abaraham to the east, to the first gate of heaven; and Abaraham saw two ways, the one narrow and contracted, the other broad and spacious, and there he saw two gates, the one broad on the broad way, and the other narrow on the narrow way.² And outside the two gates there he saw a man sitting upon a gilded throne, and the appearance of that man was terrible, as of the Adanay.³ And they saw many souls driven by angels and led in through the broad gate, and other souls, few in number, that were taken by the angels through the narrow gate.⁴ And when the wonderful one who sat upon the golden throne saw few entering through the narrow gate, and many entering through the broad one, straightway that wonderful one tore the hairs of his head and the sides of his beard, and threw himself on the ground from his throne, weeping and lamenting.⁵ But when he saw many souls entering through the narrow gate, then he arose from the ground and sat upon his throne in great joy, rejoicing and exulting.⁶ And Abaraham asked the chief-captain, My Adanay chief-captain, who is this most marvelous man, adorned with such glory, and sometimes he weeps and laments, and sometimes he rejoices and exults?⁷ The incorporeal one said: This is the first-created Adam who is in such glory, and he looks upon the world because all are born from him, and when he sees many souls going through the narrow gate, then he arises and sits upon his throne rejoicing and exulting in joy, because this narrow gate is that of the just, that leads to life, and they that enter through it go into Paradise.⁸ For this, then, the first-created Adam rejoices, because he sees the souls being saved. But when he sees many souls entering through the broad gate, then he pulls out the hairs of his head, and casts himself on the ground weeping and lamenting bitterly, for the broad gate is that of sinners, which leads to destruction and eternal punishment.⁹ And for this the first-formed Adam falls from his throne weeping and lamenting for the destruction of sinners, for they are many that are lost, and they are few that are saved, for in seven thousand there is scarcely found one soul saved, being righteous and undefiled.

12 While he was yet saying these things to me, behold two angels, fiery in aspect, and pitiless in mind, and severe in look, and they drove on thousands of souls, pitilessly lashing them with fiery thongs.² The angel laid hold of one soul, and they drove all the souls in at the broad gate to destruction.³ So we also went along with the angels, and came within that broad gate, and between the two gates stood a throne terrible of aspect, of terrible crystal, gleaming as fire, and upon it sat a wondrous man bright as the sun, like to the Son of Alahayam.⁴ Before him stood a table like crystal, all of gold and fine linen, and upon the table there was lying a book, the thickness of it six cubits, and the breadth of it ten cubits, and on the right and left of it stood two angels holding paper and ink and pen.⁵ Before the table sat an angel of light, holding in his hand a balance, and on his left sat an angel all fiery, pitiless, and severe, holding in his hand a trumpet, having within it all-consuming fire with which to try the sinners.⁶ The wondrous man who sat upon the throne himself judged and sentenced the souls, and the two angels on the right and on the left wrote down, the one on the right the righteousness and the one on the left the wickedness.⁷ The one before the table, who held the balance, weighed the souls, and the fiery angel, who held the fire, tried the souls.⁸ And Abaraham asked the chief-captain Mayakaal, What is this that we behold?⁹ And the chief-captain said, These things that you see, holy Abaraham, are the judgment and recompense.¹⁰ And behold the angel holding the soul in his hand, and he brought it before the judge, and the judge said to one of the angels that served him, Open me this book, and find me the sins of this soul.¹¹ And opening the book he found its sins and its righteousness equally balanced, and he neither gave it to the tormentors, nor to those that were saved, but set it in the midst.

13 And Abaraham said, My Adanay chief-captain, who is this most wondrous judge? And who are the angels that write down? And who is the angel like the sun, holding the balance? And who is the fiery angel holding the fire?² The chief-captain said, Do you see, most holy Abaraham, the terrible man sitting upon the throne? This is the son of the first created Adam, who is called Habal, whom the wicked Qayan killed, and he sits thus to judge all creation, and examines righteous men and sinners.³ For Alahayam has said, I shall not judge you, but every man born of man shall be judged. Therefore he has given to him judgment, to judge the world until his great and glorious coming, and then, O righteous Abaraham, is the perfect judgment and recompense, eternal and unchangeable, which no one can alter.⁴ For every man has come from the first-created, and therefore they are first judged here by his son, and at the second coming they shall be judged by the twelve tribes of Yasharaal, every breath and every creature. But the third time they shall be judged by the Adanay Alahayam of all, and then, indeed, the end of that judgment is near, and the sentence terrible, and there is none to deliver.⁵ And now by three tribunals the judgment of the world and the recompense is made, and for this reason a matter is not finally confirmed by one or two witnesses, but by three witnesses shall everything be established.⁶ The two angels on the right hand and on the left, these are they that write down the sins and the righteousness, the one on the right hand writes down the righteousness, and the one on the left the sins.⁷ The angel like the sun, holding the balance in his hand, is the archangel, Dokieli the just weigher, and he weighs the righteousnesses and sins with the righteousness of Alahayam.⁸ The fiery and pitiless angel, holding the fire in his hand, is the archangel Puruel, who has power over fire, and tries the works of men through fire, and if the fire consume the work of any man, the angel of judgment immediately seizes him, and carries him away to the place of sinners, a most bitter place of punishment.⁹ But if the fire approves the work of anyone, and does not seize upon it, that man is justified, and the angel of righteousness takes him and carries him up to be saved in the lot of the just.¹⁰ And thus, most righteous Abraham, all things in all men are tried by fire and the balance.

14 And Abraham said to the chief-captain, My Adanay the chief-captain, the soul which the angel held in his hand, why was it adjudged to be set in the midst?² The chief-captain said, Listen, righteous Abraham. Because the judge found its sins and its righteousnesses equal, he neither committed it to judgment nor to be saved, until the judge of all shall come.³ Abraham said to the chief-captain, And what yet is wanting for the soul to be saved? The chief-captain said, If it obtains one righteousness above its sins, it enters into salvation.⁴ Abraham said to the chief-captain, Come here, chief-captain Mayakaal, let us make prayer for this soul, and see whether Alahayam will hear us. The chief-captain said, Amen, be it so; and they made prayer and entreaty for the soul, and Alahayam heard them, and when they rose up from their prayer they did not see the soul standing there.⁵ And Abraham said to the angel, Where is the soul that you held in the midst? And the angel answered, It has been saved by your righteous prayer, and behold an angel of light has taken it and carried it up into Paradise.⁶ Abraham said, I glorify the name of Alahayam, the Ilayawan, and his immeasurable mercy.⁷ And Abraham said to the chief-captain, I beseech you, archangel, hearken to my prayer, and let us yet call upon the Adanay, and supplicate his compassion, and entreat his mercy for the souls of the sinners whom I formerly, in my anger, cursed and destroyed, whom the earth devoured, and the wild beasts tore in pieces, and the fire consumed through my words.⁸ Now I know that I have sinned before the Adanay our Alahayam. Come then, O Mayakaal, chief-captain of the hosts above, come, let us call upon Alahayam with tears that he may forgive me my sin, and grant them to me.⁹ And the chief-captain heard him, and they made entreaty before the Adanay, and when they had called upon him for a long space, there came a voice from heaven saying,¹⁰ Abraham, Abraham, I have hearkened to your voice and your prayer, and forgive you your sin, and those whom you think that I destroyed I have called up and brought them into life by my exceeding kindness, because for a season I have requited them in judgment, and those whom I destroy living upon earth, I will not requite in death.

15 And the voice of the Adanay said also to the chief-captain Mayakaal, Mayakaal, my servant, turn back Abraham to his house, for behold his end has come near, and the measure of his life is fulfilled, that he may set all things in order, and then take him and bring him to me.² So the chief-captain, turning the chariot and the cloud, brought Abraham to his house, and going into his chamber he sat upon his couch.³ And Sarah his wife came and embraced the feet of the Incorporeal, and spoke humbly, saying, I give you thanks, my Adanay, that you have brought my Adanay Abraham, for behold we thought he had been taken up from us.⁴ And his son Yatzachaq also came and fell upon his neck, and in the same way all his men-slaves and women-slaves surrounded Abraham and embraced him, glorifying Alahayam.⁵ And the Incorporeal one said to them, Hearken, righteous Abraham. Behold your wife Sarah, behold also your beloved son Yatzachaq, behold also all your men-servants and maid-servants round about you.⁶ Make disposition of all that you have, for the day has come near in which you shall depart from the body and go to the Adanay once for all.⁷ Abraham said, Has the Adanay said it, or do you say this of yourself?⁸ The chief-captain answered, Hearken, righteous Abraham. The Adanay has commanded, and I tell it you. Abraham said, I will not go with you.⁹ The chief-captain, hearing these words, straightway went forth from the presence of Abraham, and went up into the heavens, and stood before Alahayam the Ilayawan, and said, Adanay Shaday, behold I have hearkened to Your friend Abraham in all he has said to You, and have fulfilled his requests.¹⁰ I have shown to him Your power, and all the earth and sea that is under heaven. I have shown to him judgment and recompense by means of cloud and chariots, and again he says, I will not go with you.¹¹ And the Ilayawan said to the angel, Does my friend Abraham say thus again, I will not go with you?¹² The archangel said, Adanay Shaday, he says thus, and I refrain from laying hands on him, because from the beginning he is Your friend, and has done all things pleasing in Your sight.¹³ There is no man like him on earth, not even Ayawab the wondrous man, and therefore I refrain from laying hands on him. Command, therefore, Immortal King, what shall be done.

16 Then the Ilayawan said, Call me here Death that is called the shameless countenance and the pitiless look.² And Mayakaal the Incorporeal went and said to Death, Come here; the Adanay of creation, the immortal king, calls you.³ And Death, hearing this, shivered and trembled, being possessed with great terror, and coming with great fear it stood before the invisible father, shivering, groaning and trembling, awaiting the command of the Adanay.⁴ Therefore the invisible Alahayam said to Death, Come here, you bitter and fierce name of the world, hide your fierceness, cover your corruption, and cast away your bitterness from you, and put on your beauty and all your glory, and go down to Abraham my friend, and take him and bring him to me.⁵ But now also I tell you not to terrify him, but bring him with fair speech, for he is my own friend.⁶ Having heard this, Death went out from the presence of the Ilayawan, and put on a robe of great brightness, and made his appearance like the sun, and became fair and beautiful above the sons of men, assuming the form of an archangel, having his cheeks flaming with fire, and he departed to Abraham.⁷ Now the righteous Abraham went out of his chamber, and sat under the trees of Mamaraa, holding his chin in his hand, and awaiting the coming of the archangel Mayakaal.⁸ And behold, a smell of sweet odor came to him, and a flashing of light, and Abraham turned and saw Death coming towards him in great glory and beauty.⁹ And Abraham arose and went to meet him, thinking that it was the chief-captain of Alahayam, and Death beholding him saluted him, saying, Rejoice, precious Abraham, righteous soul, true friend of the Ilayawan Alahayam, and companion of the holy angels.¹⁰ Abraham said to Death, Hail you of appearance and form like the sun, most glorious helper, bringer of light, wondrous man, from whence does your glory come to us, and who are you, and whence do you come?¹¹ Then Death said, Most righteous Abraham, behold I tell you the truth. I am the bitter lot of death.¹² Abraham said to him, Nay, but you are the comeliness of the world, you are the glory and beauty of angels and men, you are fairer in form than every other, and do you say, I am the bitter lot of death, and not rather, I am fairer than every good thing.¹³ Death said, I tell you the truth. What the Adanay has named me, that also I tell you.¹⁴ Abraham said, For what are you come here?¹⁵ Death said, For your holy soul am I come.¹⁶ Then Abraham said, I know what you mean, but I will not go with you; and Death was silent and answered him not a word.

17 Then Abraham arose, and went into his house, and Death also accompanied him there.² And Abraham went up into his chamber, and Death went up with him. And Abraham lay down upon his couch, and Death came and sat by his feet.³ Then Abraham said, Depart, depart from me, for I desire to rest upon my couch. Death said, I will not depart until I take your spirit from you.⁴ Abraham said to him, By the immortal Alahayam I charge you to tell me the truth. Are you death? Death said to him, I am Death. I am the destroyer of the world.⁵ Abraham said, I beseech you, since you are Death, tell me if you come thus to all in such fairness and glory and beauty?⁶ Death said, Nay, my Adanay Abraham, for your righteousnesses, and the boundless sea of your hospitality, and the greatness of your love towards Alahayam has become a crown upon my head, and in beauty and great peace and gentleness I approach the righteous,⁷ but to sinners I come in great corruption and fierceness and the greatest bitterness and with fierce and pitiless look.⁸ Abraham said, I beseech you, hearken to me, and show me your fierceness and all your corruption and bitterness.

And Death said, You can not behold my fierceness, most righteous Abaraham.⁹ Abaraham said, Yes, I shall be able to behold all your fierceness by means of the name of the living Alahayam, for the might of my Alahayam that is in heaven is with me.¹⁰ Then Death put off all his comeliness and beauty, and all his glory and the form like the sun with which he was clothed, and put upon himself a tyrant's robe, and made his appearance gloomy and fiercer than all kind of wild beasts, and more unclean than all uncleanness.¹¹ And he showed to Abaraham seven fiery heads of serpents and fourteen faces, (one) of flaming fire and of great fierceness, and a face of darkness, and a most gloomy face of a viper, and a face of a most terrible precipice, and a face fiercer than an asp, and a face of a terrible lion, and a face of a cerastes and basilisk.¹² He showed him also a face of a fiery scimitar, and a sword-bearing face, and a face of lightning, lightening terribly, and a noise of dreadful thunder.¹³ He showed him also another face of a fierce stormy sea, and a fierce rushing river, and a terrible three-headed serpent, and a cup mingled with poisons, and in short he showed to him great fierceness and unendurable bitterness, and every mortal disease as of the odor of Death.¹⁴ And from the great bitterness and fierceness there died servants and maid-servants in number about seven thousand, and the righteous Abaraham came into indifference of death so that his spirit failed him.

18 And the all-holy Abaraham, seeing these things thus, said to Death, I beseech you, all-destroying Death, hide your fierceness, and put on your beauty and the shape which you had before.² And straightway Death hid his fierceness, and put on his beauty which he had before.³ And Abaraham said to Death, Why have you done this, that you have slain all my servants and maidservants? Has Alahayam sent you here for this end this day? ⁴ Death said, Nay, my Adanay Abaraham, it is not as you say, but on your account was I sent here.⁵ Abaraham said to Death, How then have these died? Has the Adanay not spoken it? ⁶ Death said, Believe, most righteous Abaraham, that this also is wonderful, that you also were not taken away with them.⁷ Nevertheless I tell you the truth, for if the right hand of Alahayam had not been with you at that time, you also would have had to depart from this life.⁸ The righteous Abaraham said, Now I know that I have come into indifference of death, so that my spirit fails, but I beseech you, all-destroying Death, since my servants have died before their time, come let us pray to the Adanay our Alahayam that he may hear us and raise up those who died by your fierceness before their time.⁹ And Death said, Amen, be it so.¹⁰ Therefore Abaraham arose and fell upon the face of the ground in prayer, and Death together with him, and the Adanay sent a spirit of life upon those that were dead and they were made alive again.¹¹ Then the righteous Abaraham gave glory to Alahayam.

19 And going up into his chamber he lay down, and Death came and stood before him. And Abaraham said to him, Depart from me, for I desire to rest, because my spirit is in indifference.² Death said, I will not depart from you until I take your soul. And Abaraham with an austere countenance and angry look said to Death, Who has ordered you to say this? You say these words of yourself boastfully, and I will not go with you until the chief-captain Mayakaal come to me, and I shall go with him.³ But this also I tell you, if you desire that I shall accompany you, explain to me all your changes, the seven fiery heads of serpents and what the face of the precipice is, and what the sharp sword, and what the loud-roaring river, and what the tempestuous sea that rages so fiercely.⁴ Teach me also the unendurable thunder, and the terrible lightning, and the Awayal-smelling cup mingled with poisons. Teach me concerning all these.⁵ And Death answered, Listen, righteous Abaraham. For seven ages I destroy the world and lead all down to Hades, kings and rulers, rich and poor, slaves and free men, I convoy to the bottom of Hades, and for this I showed you the seven heads of serpents.⁶ The face of fire I showed you because many die consumed by fire, and behold death through a face of fire.⁷ The face of the precipice I showed you, because many men die descending from the tops of trees or terrible precipices and losing their life, and see death in the shape of a terrible precipice.⁸ The face of the sword I showed you because many are slain in wars by the sword, and see death as a sword.⁹ The face of the great rushing river I showed you because many are drowned and perish snatched away by the crossing of many waters and carried off by great rivers, and see death before their time.¹⁰ The face of the angry raging sea I showed you because many in the sea falling into great surges and becoming shipwrecked are swallowed up and behold death as the sea.¹¹ The unendurable thunder and the terrible lightning I showed you because many men in the moment of anger meet with unendurable thunder and terrible lightning coming to seize upon men, and see death thus.¹² I showed you also the poisonous wild beasts, asps and basilisks, leopards and lions and lions' cubs, bears and vipers, and in short the face of every wild beast I showed you, most righteous one, because many men are destroyed by wild beasts,¹³ and others by poisonous snakes, serpents and asps and cerastes and basilisks and vipers, breathe out their life and die.¹⁴ I showed you also the destroying cups mingled with poison, because many men being given poison to drink by other men straightway depart unexpectedly.

20 Abaraham said, I beseech you, is there also an unexpected death? Tell me.² Death said, Truly, truly, I tell you in the truth of Alahayam that there are seventy-two deaths. One is the just death, buying its fixed time, and many men in one hour enter into death being given over to the grave.³ Behold, I have told you all that you have asked, now I tell you, most righteous Abaraham, to dismiss all counsel, and cease from asking anything once for all, and come, go with me, as the Alahayam and judge of all has commanded me.⁴ Abaraham said to Death, Depart from me yet a little, that I may rest on my couch, for I am very faint at heart, for since I have seen you with my eyes my strength has failed me, all the limbs of my flesh seem to me a weight as of lead, and my spirit is distressed exceedingly.⁵ Depart for a little; for I have said I cannot bear to see your shape. Then Yatzachaq his son came and fell upon his breast weeping, and his wife Sharah came and embraced his feet, lamenting bitterly.⁶ There came also his men slaves and women slaves and surrounded his couch, lamenting greatly. And Abaraham came into indifference of death, and Death said to Abaraham, Come, take my right hand, and may cheerfulness and life and strength come to you.⁷ For Death deceived Abaraham, and he took his right hand, and straightway his soul adhered to the hand of Death.⁸ And immediately the archangel Mayakaal came with a multitude of angels and took up his precious soul in his hands in a divinely woven linen cloth, and they tended the body of the just Abaraham with divine ointments and perfumes until the third day after his death, and buried him in the land of promise, the oak of Mamaraa,⁹ but the angels received his precious soul, and ascended into heaven, singing the hymn of "thrice holy" to the Adanay the Alahayam of all, and they set it there to worship the Alahayam and Father.¹⁰ And after great praise and glory had been given to the Adanay, and Abaraham bowed down to worship, there came the undefiled voice of the Alahayam and Father saying thus, Take therefore my friend Abaraham into Paradise, where are the tabernacles of my righteous ones, and the abodes of my saints Yatzachaq and Yaiqab in his bosom,¹¹ where there is no trouble, nor grief, nor sighing, but peace and rejoicing and life unending.¹² (And let us, too, my beloved brethren, imitate the hospitality of the patriarch Abaraham, and attain to his virtuous way of life, that we may be thought worthy of the life eternal, glorifying the Father, Son and Holy Ghost; to whom be glory and power forever. Amen.)

Testament of Isaac

1 Now Yatzachaq the patriarch writes his testament and addresses his words of instruction to his son Yaiqab and to all those gathered round him. ² The blessings of the patriarch will be on those who come after us, even those who listen to these words, to these words of instruction and these medicines of life, so that the grace of Alahayam may be with all those who believe. ³ This is the end of obedience, as it is written. You have heard a word, let it abide with you—which means that a man should strive patiently with what he hears. ⁴ Alahayam gives grace to those who believe: he who believes the words of Alahayam and of his saints will be an inheritor of the Kingdom of Alahayam. ⁵ Alahayam has been with the generations gone by, which have passed away, because of their innocence and their faith towards Alahayam. He will be with the generations to come also.

2 Now it came to pass, when the time had come for the Patriarch Yatzachaq to go forth from the body, Alahayam sent to him the angel of his father Abaraham at dawn on the twenty-second of Mesore. ² He said to him, Hail, son of promise! (Now it was the daily custom of the righteous old man Yatzachaq to converse with the angels.) He lifted his face up to the face of the angel: he saw him assuming the likeness of his father Abaraham; and he opened his mouth and raised his voice and cried out in great joy, I have seen your face like someone who has seen the face of Alahayam. ³ The angel said to him, Listen, my beloved Yatzachaq: I have been sent for you by Alahayam to take you to the heavens and set you beside your father Abaraham, so that you can see all the saints; for your father is expecting you and is coming for you himself. ⁴ Behold, a throne has been set up for you close to your father Abaraham, and your lot and your beloved son Jacob's lot will surpass that of all others in the whole of Alahayam's creation that is why you have been given for evermore the name of Patriarch and Father of the World. ⁵ But the Alahayam-loving old man Yatzachaq said to the angel, 'I am astonished by you, for you are my father'. The angel answered, my beloved Yatzachaq, I am the angel that ministers to your father Abaraham. ⁶ But rejoice now, for I am to take you out of sorrow into gladness, out of suffering to rest for ever. I am to transport you from prison to a place where you can range at will—to a place of joy and gladness: I am to take you to where there is light and merriment and rejoicing and abundance that never fails. ⁷ So then, draw up your testament and a statement for your household, for I am to translate you to rest for all eternity. Blessed is your father who begot you: blessed are you also: blessed is your son Yaiqab; and blessed are your descendants that will come after you.

3 Now Yaiqab heard them talking together, but he said nothing. Our father Yatzachaq said to the angel with a heavy heart. What shall I do about the light of my eyes, my beloved son Yaiqab? For I am afraid of what Ishaw might do to him - you know the situation. ² The angel said to him: 'My beloved Yatzachaq, if all the nations on earth were gathered together, they would not be able to bring these blessings pronounced over Yaiqab to nothing. When you blessed him, the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit blessed him; and Mayakaal and Gabarayaal and all the angels and all the heavenly ones and the spirits of all the righteous and your father Abaraham all answered Amen. ³ The sword therefore, shall not touch his body; but he shall be held in high honour and grow great and spread far and wide, and twelve thrones shall spring from him'. Our father Yatzachaq said to the angel: 'You have given me much comfort, but do not let Yaiqab know in case he is distressed'. ⁴ The angel said to him: 'My beloved Yatzachaq, blessed is every righteous man who goes forth from the body: blessed are they when they meet with Alahayam. Woe, woe, woe, three times woe to the sinner, because he has been born into this world: great sufferings will come to him. ⁵ Yatzachaq, beloved of Alahayam, give these instructions, therefore, to your sons, and the instructions your father has given you. Hide nothing from Yaiqab, so that he can write them as instructions for the generations that will come after you. and those who love Alahayam may live their lives in accordance with them. ⁶ And take care that I am able to fetch you with joy, without delay. The peace of my Adanay that he has given me, I give to you, as I go to him who sent me'.

4 And when the angel had said this, he rose from the bed on which Yatzachaq was sleeping. He went back to the worlds on high while our father Yatzachaq watched him go, astonished at the vision he had seen. ² And he said: 'I shall not see daylight before I am sent for'. And while he was thinking this, behold, Yaiqab got up and came to the door of the room. The angel had cast a sleep over him so that he should not hear them; and he got up and ran to where his father slept and said to him: 'My father, whom have you been talking to?'. ³ Our father Yatzachaq said to him: 'You have heard, my son: your aged father has been sent for to be taken from you', and Yaiqab put his arms round his father's neck and wept, saying: 'Ah me! My strength has left me: today you have made me an orphan, my father'. ⁴ Our father Yatzachaq embraced his son Yaiqab and wept; and both wept together until they could weep no more. And Yaiqab said: 'Take me with you, father Yatzachaq'. But Yatzachaq replied: 'I would not have it so, my son; wait until you are sent for, my loved one. ⁵ I remember on the day when the whole earth was shaken from end to end talking to my lord and father Abaraham, and I had no strength to do anything. What Alahayam has ordained, he has ordained for each one by sure authority: his ordinances are immutable. ⁶ But I know, and I am glad that I am to go to Alahayam, and I am strengthened by a guiding spirit; for this is a way that no one can escape. Listen, my son, Where is the first creation of the hands of Alahayam - our father Adam and our mother Chawah? Where is Habal, and after him Mahalalaal, and Yarad, and our father Chanawak, and Mathawashalach, and our father Nach, and his sons Sham, Cham, and Yapath? ⁷ After these Arpachshad, and Qayanan, and Shalach, and Ibar, and Raiw, and Sharawag, and Nachawar, and Tharach, and my blessed father Abaraham, and Lawat his brother? All these experienced death except the perfect one, our father Chanawak.' ⁸ After these, forty-two generations more shall pass until Mashayach comes, born of a pure virgin called Marayam. He will spend thirty years preaching in the world. At the end of all this, he will choose twelve men and reveal to them his mysteries and teach them about the archetype of his body and his true blood by means of bread and wine: and the bread will become the body of Alahayam and the wine will become the blood of Alahayam. ⁹ And then he will ascend the tree of the cross and die for the whole creation, and rise on the third day and despoil hell, and deliver all mankind from the enemy. ¹⁰ The generations to come will be saved by his body and by his blood until the end of time. The sacrifices of Christians will not cease until the end of time, whether offered secretly or openly; and the Antichrist will not appear so long as they offer up their sacrifice. ¹¹ Blessed is every man who performs that service and believes in it, because the archetypal service is in the heavens; and they shall celebrate with the Son of Alahayam in his kingdom.

5 While the Alahayam-loving old man, our father Yatzachaq, was saying this, all his household gathered round him and wept. ² His son told all his relations, and they came to him in tears. Now our father Yatzachaq had made for himself a bedroom in his house; and when his sight began to fail he withdrew into it and remained there for a hundred years, fasting daily until evening, and offering for himself and his household a young animal for their soul.³ And he spent half the night in prayer and praise of Alahayam. Thus he lived an ascetic life for a hundred years.⁴ And he kept three periods of forty days as fasts each year, neither drinking wine nor eating fruit nor sleeping on his bed. And he prayed and gave thanks to Alahayam continually.

6 Now when it became generally known that the man of Alahayam had regained his sight, people gathered to him from everywhere, listening to his words of life; for they realized that a holy spirit of Alahayam was speaking in him.² The great ones who came said to him: 'You can now see clearly enough: how comes it that after your sight had failed you have now regained it?'³ The Alahayam-loving old man smiled and said to them: 'My sons and brothers, the Alahayam of my father Abaraham has brought this about to comfort me in my old age.⁴ But the priest of Alahayam said to him: 'Tell me what I ought to do, my father Yatzachaq'. Our father Yatzachaq said to him: 'Keep your body holy, for the temple of Alahayam is set in it. Do not engage in controversy with other men in case an angry word escapes your mouth. Be on your guard against Awayal-speaking, against vainglory, and against uttering any thoughtless word; and see that your hands do not reach out after what is not yours.⁵ Do not offer a sacrifice with a blemish in it; and wash yourself with water when you approach the altar. Do not mix the thoughts of the world with the thoughts of Alahayam when you stand before him. Do your utmost to be at peace with everyone.⁶ When you stand before Alahayam and offer your sacrifice, when you come to offer it on the altar, you should recite privately a hundred prayers to Alahayam and make this confession to Alahayam saying: 'Oh Alahayam, the incomprehensible, the unfathomable, the unattainable, the pure treasure, purify me in love; for I am flesh and blood and I run defiled to you, that you may purify me.⁷ I come burdened, and I ask that you may lighten my burden: a fire will burn wood, and your mercy will take away mine iniquities. Forgive me, me that am a sinner: I forgive the whole creation that you have made, I have no complaint against anyone: I am at peace with all that is made in your image: I am unmoved by all the evil reasonings that have been brought before me.⁸ I am your servant and the son of your maidservant: I am the one who sins, you are the one who forgives: forgive me and enable me to stand in your holy place. Let my sacrifice be acceptable before you: do not reject me because of my sins; but receive me to you, in spite of my many sins, like a sheep that has gone astray.⁹ Alahayam who have been with our father Adam, and Habal, and Nach, and our father Abaraham, and his son Yatzachaq, who have been with Yaiqab, be you with me also, and receive my sacrifice from my hand'.¹⁰ As you recite all this, take your sacrifice and offer it; and strive heavenwards because of the sacrifice of Alahayam, so that you do not displease him. For the work of the priest is no small thing.

7 Every priest today (and till the end of time) must be temperate as regards his food and drink and sleep; neither should he talk about events connected with this world, nor listen to anyone who is talking about them.² Rather should he spend his whole life occupied with prayer and vigils and recitation until our Alahayam sends for him in peace.³ Every man on earth, be he priest or monk (for after a long time they will love the life of holy retreat), must renounce the world and all its evil cares and join in the holy service the angels render in purity to Alahayam.⁴ And they will be honoured before Alahayam and his angels because of their holy sacrifices and their angelic service, which is like the archetype that is rendered in the heavens.⁵ And the angels will be their friends, because of their perfect faith and their purity; and great is their honour before Alahayam. In a word, whether great or small, sinlessness is required of us.⁶ The chief sins worthy of repentance are these: You shall not kill with the sword; You shall not kill with the tongue either: You shall not commit fornication with your body; You shall not commit fornication with your thoughts; You shall not go in to the young to defile them; You shall not be envious; You shall not be angry until the sun has set; You shall not be proud in disposition; You shall not rejoice over your neighbour's fall: You shall not slander; You shall not look at a woman with a lustful eye; and do not readily listen to slander.⁷ We need to beware of these things, and of others like them, till each one of us is secure from the wrath that shall be revealed from heaven.

8 Now when the people gathered about him heard him, they cried out aloud saying, This is meet and right. Amen.² But the Alahayam-loving old man was silent: he drew up his blanket: he covered his face. And the people and the priest were silent, so that he could rest himself a little.³ But the angel of his father Abaraham came to him and took him up into the heavens. He saw terrors and tumults spread abroad on this side and on that; and it was a terror and a tumult fearful to behold.⁴ Some had the face of a camel, others had the face of a lion: some had the face of a dog, others had but one eye and had tongs in their hands, three ells long, all of iron.⁵ I looked, and behold, a man was brought, and those who brought him went with him. When they reached the beasts, those who went with him withdrew to one side: the lion advanced towards him, tore him apart into little pieces, and swallowed him; it then vomited him up, and he became like himself again; and the next beast treated him in just the same way.⁶ In short, they passed him on from one to the other; each one would tear him into pieces, swallow him, and then vomit him up; and he would become like himself again.⁷ I said to the angel: What sin has this man committed, my lord, that all this is done to him?⁸ The angel said to me: This man you are looking at now had a quarrel with his neighbour, and he died without their being reconciled. See, he has been handed over to five chief tormentors: they spend a year tormenting him for every hour he spent Quarreling with his neighbour.⁹ The angel also said to me: My beloved Yatzachaq, do you think these are the only ones? Believe me Yatzachaq, beloved of Alahayam, there are six hundred thousand tormentors.¹⁰ They spend a year tormenting a man for every hour that he spends sinning – if he did not repent, that is, before he went forth from the body.

9 He led me on and brought me to a fiery river, the waters of which were an ell high, and its noise like the noise of heaven's thunder.² And I saw a host of souls submerged in it; and those who were in that river cried out and wept aloud, and there was a great commotion and much groaning.³ But it is a discerning fire that does not touch the righteous, yet burns up sinners and boils them in the stench that surrounds them.⁴ I saw also the pit of the abyss, the smoke of which went up in clouds; I saw men sunk in it grinding their teeth, crying out and wailing, and each one was groaning.⁵ The angel said to me, Look and see these others too. And when I had looked at them, the angel said to me, These are those who have committed the sin of Sadam; these are indeed in great distress.⁶ I saw also pits full of worms that do not sleep; I saw Abdemerouchos who is in charge of the punishments, made all of fire, threatening the tormentors in hell and saying, Beat them until they know that Alahayam is.⁷ I saw a house built of fiery stone, and there were grown men underneath it, crying out and wailing. The angel said to me, Look with your eyes and contemplate the punishments.⁸ I said to the angel, My eyes could not endure it; for how long must these punishments go on? He said to me, Until the merciful Alahayam has pity.

10 After this the angel took me up into the heavens; I saw my father, Abaraham and I made obeisance to him. He saluted me, with all the saints, and the saints honoured me because of my father; I they walked with me and took me to my Father, I worshipped him with all the saints.² Songs of praise rang out, You are holy, you are holy, you are holy. King, Adanay Sabaoth: the heavens and the earth are full of your holy glory.³ The Adanay said to my father from the holy place, Is good that you have come, Abaraham, your righteous root and faithful saint: it is good that you have come to our city. Whatever you may want to ask now, make your requests in the name of your beloved son Yatzachaq, and they shall be yours indeed.⁴ My father Abaraham said. Your is the power, Oh Adanay

Shaday. The Adanay said to Abaraham, As for all those who are given the name of my beloved Yatzachaq, let each one of them copy out his testament and honour it, and feed a poor man with bread in the name of my beloved Yatzachaq on the day of his holy commemoration; to you will I grant them as sons in my kingdom. ⁵ Abaraham said, My Adanay Shaday, if a man cannot copy out his testament, can'st you not in your mercy accept him, for you are merciful and compassionate? ⁶ The Adanay said to Abaraham: Let him feed a poor man with bread, and I will give him to you as a gift and as a son in my kingdom, and he shall come with you to the first hour of the thousand years. Abaraham said, Suppose he is poor and has no means of getting bread? ⁷ The Adanay said, Let him spend the night of my beloved Yatzachaq's commemoration without sleep, and I will give him to you as a gift and an inheritor in my kingdom. My father Abaraham said Suppose he is weak and has no strength, can'st you not in your mercy accept him in love? ⁸ The Adanay said to him, Let him offer up a little incense in the name of your beloved son Yatzachaq, and I will give him to you as a son in my kingdom. If he has no means of getting incense, let him seek out a copy of his testament and read it on my beloved Yatzachaq's day. If he cannot read it, let him go and listen to others who can. ⁹ If he is unable to do any of these things, let him go into his house and say a hundred prayers, and I will give him to you as a son in my kingdom. But the most essential thing of all is that he should offer a sacrifice in my beloved Isaac's name, For his body was offered as a sacrifice. ¹⁰ Yet not only will I give you everyone called by my beloved Isaac's name as a son in my Kingdom; I will give you also everyone who does one of the things I have mentioned. ¹¹ And I will give you everyone who concerns himself about Isaac's life and his testament, or does any compassionate act, such as giving someone a cup of water to drink, or who copies out his testament with his own hand, and those who read it with all their heart in faith, believing everything that I have said. ¹² My power and the power of my beloved Son and the Holy Spirit shall be with them, and I will give them to you as sons in my kingdom. Peace to all of you, all my saints.

11 Now when he had said this, songs of praise rang out, You are holy, you are holy, you are holy. King, Adanay Sabaoth; the heavens and the earth are full of your holy glory. ² The Father said to Mayakaal from the holy place: Mayakaal, my steward, go quickly and gather together the angels and all the saints, so that they may come and meet my beloved Yatzachaq. ³ And Mayakaal sounded the trumpet at once. All the saints gathered with the angels and came to the couch of our father Yatzachaq; the Adanay mounted his chariot, and the seraphim were in front of him with the angels. ⁴ And when they came to our father Isaac's couch, our father Yatzachaq beheld our Adanay's face immediately turned towards him full of joy. He cried out: It is good that you have come, my Adanay, and your great archangel Mayakaal: it is good that you have come, my father Abaraham, and all the saints.

12 Now when he had said this, Yaiqab embraced his Father; he kissed his mouth and wept. ² Our father Yatzachaq fixed his eyes on him and motioned to him to be silent. ³ Our father Yatzachaq said to the Adanay: Remember my beloved Yaiqab. The Adanay said to him: My power shall be with him; and when the time comes and I become man and die and rise from the dead on the third day, I will put your name in everyone's mind, and they will invoke you as their father. ⁴ Yatzachaq said to Yaiqab: My beloved son, this is the last commandment I give you today; keep a sharp eye on yourself. Do not dishonour the image of Alahayam; for what you do to the image of man, you do to the image of Alahayam, and Alahayam will do it to you too in the place where you will meet him. ⁵ This is the beginning and the end. Now when he had said this, our Adanay brought his soul out of his body, and it was white as snow. He greeted it: he set it on the chariot with him: he took it up into the heavens, with the seraphim making music before him, and all the angels and the saints. ⁶ He freely granted him the good things of his kingdom for ever, and all the requests our father Abaraham had asked of the Adanay he freely granted him as a covenant for ever.

13 This is the going forth from the body of our father Yatzachaq, the patriarch, on the twenty-fourth of the month Mesore. ² And the day on which his father Abaraham offered him as a sacrifice is the eighteenth of Machayar (12 February). ³ The heavens and the earth were full of the soothing odour of our father Yatzachaq, like choice silver: this is the sacrifice of our father Yatzachaq the patriarch. ⁴ When Abaraham offered him as a sacrifice to Alahayam, the soothing odour of Isaac's sacrifice went up into the heavens. ⁵ Blessed is every man who performs an act of mercy in the name of these patriarchs, for they will be their sons in the kingdom of the heavens. ⁶ For our Adanay has made with them a covenant for ever, that everyone who performs an act of mercy on the day of their commemoration shall be given to them as a son in the kingdom of the heavens forever. ⁷ And they shall come to the first hour of the thousand years, in accordance with the promise of our Adanay, even our Alahayam and our Saviour Yashawai Mashayach, through whom every glory is due to him and his good Father and the Holy Spirit, the giver of life to all creation and one in being with the Father and the Son, now and always, for ever and ever. Amen.

Testament of Jacob

1 Now it came to pass when the time had come for our beloved father Yaiqab the patriarch, the son of Yatzachaq, the son of Abaraham, to go forth from the body (and the Alahayam-loving Yaiqab was well on in years), the Adanay sent Mayakaal the archangel to him. ² And he said to him, "Yasharaal, my beloved, you righteous root, write your words of instruction for your sons, and draw up your testament for them, and concern yourself about those of your household, for the time has come for you to go to your fathers and rejoice with them for ever." ³ And when the Alahayam-loving Yaiqab heard this from the angel, he answered and said to him, "My lord" — for it was his daily custom to talk to angels. He said to him, "May the will of the Adanay be done."

2 And Alahayam blessed our father Yaiqab. He made for himself a place apart, to which he withdrew and offered his prayers to Alahayam day and night, while the angels visited him and guarded him and kept him safe and gave him strength in everything. Alahayam blessed him; and his people increased greatly in numbers in the land of Matzarayam. ² For at the time he went down to Matzarayam to his son Yawasap, his sight was failing as a result of continual weeping and worrying over his son Yawasap; but after he arrived in Matzarayam and had seen his son Joseph's face, he saw everything clearly again. ³ And Yaiqab Yasharaal flung on his son Joseph's neck; he greeted him with tears and said: 'Now let me die, for I have seen your face once more while you are still alive, my beloved.' ⁴ And Yawasap ruled over the whole of Matzarayam. Yaiqab lived in the land of Gashan for seventeen years. He became very old and attained a great age: he kept all the commandments and lived always in the fear of the Adanay: and his sight failed so that he could see no one because of extreme old age.

3 He lifted his eyes towards the radiance of the angel who was speaking to him, who was in appearance and in face like his father Yatzachaq: he was afraid and troubled. ² The angel said to him, "Do not be afraid, Yaiqab: I am the angel who has been with you from your youth. I chose you to receive your father Isaac's blessing, and your mother Rebecca's. I am with you, Yasharaal, in everything you do and everything you have seen." ³ It was I who delivered you from Laban when he pursued you; I blessed you, and all your wives, and your sons, and all your cattle. It was I too who rescued you from Ishaw. It was I too who brought you down into the land of Matzarayam, Yasharaal; and I have spread you out far and wide.

⁷ Blessed is every nation which emulates your purity, and your virtues, and your righteousness, and your good works. Blessed is the man who commemorates you on your honoured festival. Blessed is he who does a charitable deed in your name, or gives a man a cup of cold water, or brings a perfect offering to your place, or to any place, in your name, or receives a stranger, or visits the sick, or comforts an orphan, or clothes someone who is naked, in your name. ⁸ He shall lack no good thing in this world; and in the world to come he shall have eternal life. And further, whoever writes an account of your life with its labours, or whoever makes a copy of it with his hands, or whoever reads it attentively, and whoever listens to it with faith and a resolute heart, and whoever emulates your manner of life — they shall be forgiven all their sins, and they shall be freely granted you in the kingdom of the heavens.

⁹ So get up now, for you are to exchange trouble and sorrow for eternal rest, and you are to be borne away to a repose that never ceases, to a rest that never ends, and to a light that never sets, and to pleasure and gladness and spiritual joy. ¹⁰ So now, give your commands to your sons, and peace be with you; for I am about to go to him who sent me."

4 And when he had said this to him, the angel left him in peace and returned to the heavens, while Yaiqab gazed after him. And those who were in the house heard him giving thanks to the Adanay and glorifying him with praises. ² And all his sons gathered round him, from the youngest to the eldest of them, all in tears and in great distress, saying, "He is about to go away and leave us." ³ And they said to him, "What shall we do, beloved father, for we are aliens in a foreign land?" ⁴ And Yaiqab said to them, "Do not be afraid, for Alahayam appeared to me in Aram saying: 'I am the Alahayam of your fathers: do not be afraid: I am with you for ever, and with your descendants that shall come after you for ever: the land on which you are standing I will give to you and your descendants for ever.' ⁵ And again he said to me, 'Do not be afraid to go down into Matzarayam; I will go with you down to Matzarayam; and I will increase your numbers, and your descendants shall flourish for ever, and Yawasap shall lay his hands upon your eyes.' ⁶ And your people shall increase greatly in Matzarayam; and then they shall return to me here, and I will do them good because of you. But now you must leave this place.'

5 And after this the time drew near for Yaiqab Yasharaal to go forth from the body. He called Yawasap and spoke to him as follows: 'If I have found favour with you, then put your blessed hand upon my thigh and swear to me on oath before the Adanay to lay my body in my father's grave.' ² And Yawasap said to him, 'I will do as you ask, my Alahayam-loving father.' His father said to him, 'I would have you swear'; and Yawasap swore the oath to Yaiqab his father that he would take his body to his father's grave. ³ And Yaiqab bowed himself upon his son's neck.

6 Now after this it was reported to Yawasap, "Behold, your father is in a sorry state." He took his two sons, Aparayam and Manashah, and came to his father Yasharaal. ² When Yasharaal saw them, he said to Yawasap, "Who are these, my son?" Yawasap said to his father Yaiqab Yasharaal, "These are my sons that Alahayam has given me in the land of my humiliation." ³ Yasharaal said, "Bring them near to me." Now Israel's sight had failed because of his great age, and he could hardly see. And Yawasap brought them close to him; and he kissed them. ⁴ When Yasharaal had embraced them, he said, "Alahayam will add to your descendants." And Yawasap made his two sons, Aparayam and Manashah, do obeisance to him on the ground: Yawasap put Manashah under his right hand and Aparayam under his left hand. ⁵ But Yasharaal changed his hands: he laid his right hand on Aparayam's head and his left hand on Manashah's head. And he blessed them; he gave them their patrimony, saying: "The Alahayam who approved my fathers Abaraham and Yatzachaq, The Alahayam who has looked after me from my childhood till today, The angel who rescues me from all my tribulations, Bless these lads who are my sons. With whom is left my name, And the name of my holy fathers Abaraham and Yatzachaq. They shall multiply; they shall increase; They shall become a great people on the earth."⁶ Afterwards Yasharaal said to Yawasap, "I am dying; but you will return to the land of your fathers, and Alahayam will be with you. Behold, you have been more favoured than your brothers, for I have taken the Amorites with my bow and my sword."

7 Yaiqab called all his sons and said to them, "Come to me, all of you, so that I can tell you what will happen to you, and also what will happen to each one of you at the end of time."² All Israel's sons gathered round him, from the youngest to the eldest of them. Yaiqab Yasharaal answered and said to his sons: "Listen, sons of Yaiqab, listen to Yasharaal your father, from Raawaban my first-born to Banayaman."³ He told his sons what would

8 He was taken up into the heavens to visit the resting-places. And behold, a host of tormentors came out. The appearance of each one was different; and they were ready to torment the sinners - that is the fornicators, and the harlots, and the catamites, and the sodomites, and the adulterers, and those who have corrupted Alahayam's creation, and the magicians, and the sorcerers, and the unrighteous, and the idol worshippers, and the astrologers, and the slanderers and the double-tongued.² In short, many are the punishments for all the sins we have mentioned; the unquenchable fire, the outer darkness, the place where there shall be weeping and grinding of teeth, and the worm that does not sleep.³ And it is a terrible thing for you to be brought before the judge, and it is a terrible thing to come into the hands of the living Alahayam. Woe to all sinful men for whom these tortures and these tormentors are prepared.⁴ And again afterwards he took me and showed me the place where my fathers Abaraham and Yatzachaq were, a place that was all light; and they were glad and rejoiced in the kingdom of the heavens, in the city of the beloved.⁵ And he showed me all the resting places and all the good things prepared for the righteous, and the things that eye has not seen nor ear heard, and have not come into the heart of men, that Alahayam has prepared for those who love him and do his will on earth (for if they end well, they do his will).

9 After this, Yaiqab said to his sons: 'Behold, I am about to be taken away and laid to rest with my people; lay my body with my people in the double grave in the field of Iparawan the Hittite, where Abaraham and his wife Sarah were buried, where Yatzachaq was buried, in the path of the field and the grave that is in it, which was bought from the sons of Chath.'² And when Yaiqab had finished saying this, he drew his feet up on to his bed; he went forth from the body like every man.³ And the Adanay came from heaven with Mayakaal and Gabarayaal accompanying him, and many legions of angels singing before him. They took the soul of Yaiqab Yasharaal to abodes of light with his holy fathers Abaraham and Yatzachaq.⁴ Such was the life of Yaiqab Yasharaal the patriarch. Yawasap presented him to Paraih when he was a hundred and thirty years old and he spent another seventeen years in Matzarayam; together this makes a hundred and forty-seven years.⁵ He went to his rest in a ripe old age, perfect in every virtue and spiritual grace; and he glorified Alahayam in all his ways, in the peace of Alahayam. Amen.

10 Yawasap threw himself upon his father, kissing him and weeping for him. And Yawasap instructed his servants, the embalmers, saying: 'Embalm my father in accordance with the best Matzarayam practice.'² They spent forty days embalming Yasharaal; and when the forty days of Israel's embalming were over, they spent another eight days mourning for him.³ And when the days of Pharaoh's mourning were over (for he had been weeping for Yaiqab because of his love for Yawasap), Yawasap spoke with Pharaoh's great ones and said to them: 'If I may claim this favour from you, speak on my behalf to Paraih the king saying: My father made me take an oath when he was about to go forth from the body, saying: Bury my body in my father's grave in the land of Kanain. So now I ask to be allowed to go and bury my father there and come back again.'⁴ Paraih the king said to Yawasap the wise: 'Go in peace and bury your father as he made you swear to do; take with you chariots and wagons, and all the great ones of my kingdom, and as many of my servants as you need.'⁵ Yawasap worshipped Alahayam in Pharaoh's presence and went out from him.⁶ And Yawasap set out to bury his father. Many of Pharaoh's servants went with him, and the elders of Matzarayam as well as all Joseph's household, and his brothers, and the whole of Israel's household.⁷ And there went up with him chariots and horsemen; they were a very great company.⁸ And they stopped at the threshing floor of Gadad, which is on the bank on the other side of Yaranan. They mourned for him there with a great and bitter mourning; and they mourned for him for seven days.⁹ Those in the lowland heard the mourning at the threshing-floor of Gadad, and they said: 'This great mourning is a mourning of the Matzarayam, so that that place is called The Mourning of Matzarayam to this day.'¹⁰ They took Yasharaal and buried him in the land of Kanain in the double grave that Abaraham had bought as a burial-place for silver from Iparawan the Hittite, opposite Mamaraa.¹¹ And Yawasap returned to Matzarayam together with his brothers and the party from Pharaoh's household. After his father's death Yawasap lived for many more years and was king over Matzarayam. But Yaiqab Yasharaal died and was laid with his people.

11 Behold now, we have told you these things as best we could in order to instruct you about the going forth from the body of our father the patriarch Yaiqab Yasharaal. It is written in the divinely inspired scriptures and the ancient books of our fathers the apostles, even I, Athanasius your father.² If you want confirmation of this testament of the patriarch Yaiqab, take the book of Genesis of the prophet Mashah, the lawgiver, and read what is in it: your mind will be enlightened: you will find this, and more, written about it.³ And again, you will find mention of Alahayam and his angels, for Alahayam was a friend to the patriarchs while they were yet in the body and spoke with them many times in many passages of scripture.⁴ And you will find that he spoke too in many passages in scripture with the patriarch Yaiqab, saying, "I will bless your descendants and make them as many as the stars of heaven."⁵ And again, Yaiqab spoke with his son Yawasap saying, "My Alahayam appeared to me in the land of Kanain at Lawaz: he blessed me saying: 'I will bless you and make you too many to be counted, and peoples and nations shall spring from you; I will give this land to your descendants after you as a possession for all time.'"

12 See then, my beloved, we have heard these things about our fathers the patriarchs.² Let us therefore emulate their deeds and their virtues, and their love of Alahayam and their love of men, and their hospitality, that we may be worthy to become their sons in the kingdom of the heavens, and that they may pray for us to Alahayam that he may save us from punishments in hell which the holy patriarch Yaiqab spoke about in his words full of all sweetness, when he taught his sons about the punishments and called them the sword of the Adanay Alahayam.³ These are the river of fire that is prepared, and which engulfs sinners in its waves and those that have defiled themselves.⁴ These are the things the patriarch Yaiqab revealed when he taught the rest of his sons, that those that love instruction should listen to him and do what is good at all times, and love one another, and strive after love and pity.⁵ For pity triumphs over judgement and love covers a multitude of sins; and again, he who has pity on a poor man lends on usury to Alahayam.

13 So now, my sons, let neither prayer nor fasting be lacking, and persist in them continually; for they drive away the demons.² My sons, keep yourselves from fornication, and anger, and adultery, and every evil thing, and especially from violence, and blasphemy, and theft.³ For no man of violence will inherit the kingdom of the heavens, neither will any fornicator, nor catamite, nor sodomite, nor blasphemer, nor covetous man, nor curser, nor anyone who is defiled.⁴ In short, these and the others we have mentioned will not inherit the kingdom of Alahayam.⁵ My sons, honour the saints, for it is they who pray for you, that your descendants may prosper and that the land may be yours as an inheritance for ever. ⁶ My sons, be hospitable, that you may share the lot of our father Abaraham, the great patriarch. ⁷ My sons, love the poor, that as you do to the poor man here, so Alahayam may give you the bread of eternal life in the heavens to the end. He who feeds a poor man with bread here, Alahayam will feed him from the tree of life. ⁸ Clothe the poor man who is naked here on earth, that Alahayam may put on you a robe of glory in the heavens, and so you may become a true son of our holy fathers the patriarchs, Abaraham and Yatzachaq and Yaiqab, in the heavens for ever. ⁹ Call to mind the word of Alahayam here and remember the saints, and take care that copies of their memoirs and their hymns are made for the encouragement of those who hear them, so that your name also may be written in the book of life in the heavens, and you too may be numbered with the number of Alahayam's saints who have pleased him in their generation, and take part in the chorus with the angels in the land of the living. ¹⁰ We commemorate the saints, our fathers the patriarchs, at this very time every year; our father Abaraham the patriarch on the twenty-eighth of Mesore, also our father Yatzachaq the patriarch on the twenty-eighth of Mesore, and again our father Yaiqab on the twenty-eighth of this same month Mesore, as we have found it written in the ancient books of our holy fathers who were pleasing to Alahayam. ¹¹ Through their supplication and their prayers may all of us together be granted to share their lot in the kingdom of our Adanay and our Alahayam and our Saviour Yashawai Mashayach, through whom is the glory of the Father with him and the Holy life-giving Spirit now and always and for ever. Amen. ¹² Remember me, that Alahayam may forgive me all my sins and give me understanding and give me stability without sin. Amen.
